

Union Noon Forum Traces History Of Art

Literal and non-literal art have existed since primitive times, according to Mr. and Mrs. Meredith E. Aker, speakers at the Tech Union's Noon Forum Wednesday.

The Akers developed the topic historically, from primitive to modern times. Literal art was defined as "an aspect of art which corresponds to the external world," while non-literal art "does not correspond to the external world."

In primitive times, according to Mrs. Aker, everything was associated with the dance. Many of the dances were abstract, which led to other abstract arts.

The literary art of the Middle Ages reveals a "neglect of the material world. The artists lacked imagination and were not realistic in their work, especially in the Middle Age paintings."

During this time when the Black Plague reigned over millions of people, the church created "the dance of death." This dance was performed first in the church, then in the graveyard, and finally in the village square, they said. The death figure was described as "an ambiguous figure, who plays such parts as a fool, a devil, or a messenger."

The development of drama during the 15th century included more realism and a more detailed plot. The dramatic plays were presented in festivals where authors competed for the best play.

SAE's Schedule Watermelon Bust

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity will sponsor its second Watermelon Bust Saturday 2:00 to 4:30 p.m. in the Science Quadrangle.

A Watermelon Bust Queen selected from campus sorority representatives will be crowned at that time.

A Lubbock band, the "Expressions," will provide musical entertainment.

After the Middle Ages, artists produced a wider variety of art. Humanism and satire became popular, as men like DeVinci studied and created in such fields as painting, architecture, mathematics, and engineering.

The Noon Forum is open to everyone. At each session a $1 buffet dinner is served. Those wishing to eat must sign up and pay in the program office of Tech Union before 5 p.m. of the previous day.

The Forum is sponsored by the Ideas and Issues Committee of Tech Union.

Activity Slow At Counseling, Testing Center

The Texas Tech Testing and Counseling Center has three new part-time staff members but, at the present, not enough students are taking advantage of them.

Dr. James Kuntz, head of the center, said the staff hopes to spread out the "rush" this year. Most students wait until mid-semester grades come out before going to the center for help.

Kuntz said the center wouldn't have time to accommodate everyone at mid-semester. A long waiting list is usually needed at that time.

The center is able to help more students now, especially those who are undecided about their major or who are considering changing it.

The three new part-time staff members are Dr. Deore Cannon, William Rickman and James Billo. The staff now includes five.

The additions were made as a result of the $3 increase in the student activity fee, $1 of which went to the Testing and Counseling Center.

Students are not charged for the center's professional help because of the activity fee increase.

COMPUTER COUNTING—Lynn Wyatt, Women's Service Organization member from Plainview, aids in the counting of ballots from Wednesday's campus elections.

Use of the IBM computer has taken much of the work out of the post-election process.

Run - Offs Set Friday

Tech students narrowed down the field of election candidates considerably at the polls Wednesday, but they have to return Friday to cast their ballots in run-offs.

Five freshmen men students were elected to the Freshman Council outright. Run-offs are necessary for the Student Senate seats in both the School of Business Administration and School of Home Economics and for the remaining 28 Freshman Council positions.

Approximately 1,350 freshmen voted, 256 cast ballots in BA, and 172 voted in Home Ec.

Elected to the Freshman Council were Larry Lee, Carpenter Hall; Gaylon Lovelady, Thompson Hall; Everett Urech, Sneed Hall; Ronnie Thrash, Gordon Hall; and Wesley Wallace, off-campus.

Mac Blakney, 81 votes; Scott Murray, 37 votes; Vicki Nickols, 73 votes; and Roger Thraikill, 69 votes, are in the run-off for the two Student Senate seats in BA.

Virginia Fry, 51 votes; and Michal Martin, 37 votes, made the run-off for Student Senator from Home Ec.

The following are in the run-off for Freshman Council positions:

Drane Hall, Donna Andrews, Clare Smith; Gates Hall, Immy Lou Gibson, Kay Hayden, Norma Larsen, Ann Reeder; Knapp Hall, Carol Ann Dawson, Chrissie Odom; Horn Hall, Barbara Kelly; Marianne Keuge, Patty O'Rear; Wall Hall, Janie Fisher, Sally Halley, Suzi Smith, Claudia Welch; Men's No. 9, Dick Bowen, John Scarbrough; Gaston Hall, C. W. DeWitt, Ben Hill Turner; Wells Hall, David McDougal, Billy Payne; Men's No. 10, Ronald H. Cliff, John Wilcof; Bledsoe Hall, Jimmy Cox, Carl Mark Goettsche.

All candidates for off-campus positions will be on the run-off ballot. No representative will be named from West Hall to the Freshman Council because no votes were cast in that dorm.

Volcano Death Toll May Total 500

MANILLA (AP)—Rescue workers cautiously checking the Lake Taal island blackened by Mt. Taal's eruption Tuesday said Wednesday they found ashes and volcanic debris 30 feet deep in places. Only rooftops showed in a half dozen villages.

There was no immediate sign of human life on the 12.5-square-mile island, where 2,000 Filipinos had lived and farmed 40 miles south of Manila. Many had fled during the eruption to the lakeshore, 5 to 50 miles away, braving a rain of stones that sank frail boats.

The Red Cross said 184 bodies were recovered on the shore.

The Manila Daily Mirror said the eventual death toll may be 500.

However, it was unlikely that any accurate count will ever emerge. Those who were on the island said the area buried in ash and lava would be impossible to completely dig out. And many people drowned trying to flee.

The volcano continued to grow 48 hours after the eruption. Black smoke and steam billowed out of the newly formed crater on the edge of the island.

SCENE OF FILIPINE DISASTER—Taal Volcano rises peacefully from its island in this picture taken before Tuesday's eruption. The island stands in the middle of fresh-water Lake Taal on Luzon Island, the Philippines. The eruption destroyed six villages and took up to 500 lives.

Tech Rolls Out Carpet As Celebration Begins

Texas Tech rolls out its red carpet this weekend as the college commences into a month-long celebration commemorating its 40th anniversary.

Theme for the entire event will be one of recognition and honor for those people who were instrumental in establishing the college.

Special guests for this weekend include members of the 29th Legislature, which passed the law creating Texas Tech in 1923; members of the committee that decided to locate the college in Lubbock; members of the committee from Lubbock who were successful in getting the college; and members of Tech's original faculty.

Twenty-nine members of the 29th Legislature are still living, and 18 have been located and sent invitations.

The School of Engineering will conduct open house Saturday for Tech's special guests. Exhibits in the department of architecture, the computer center and the textile research laboratories will be featured.

Viet Cong Declare American Prisoners Will Be Executed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Communists hurled threats of war crimes trials and execution at American fighting men in Viet Nam Wednesday.

U.S. spokesmen at home called the threats a resort to savagery

House Rejects Johnson's Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House threw out President Johnson's home rule plan for the District of Columbia Wednesday and passed a substitute calling for a referendum and a charter commission to plan the city's form of government.

The House action left unclear the future chances of self-government for residents of the district.

The bill now goes back to the Senate, which had passed an entirely different bill in line with President Johnson's wishes to give the district residents self-government next year.

and a smokescreen for reprisals against the execution by South Viet Nam of persons convicted of being Viet Cong agents.

The threat of trials came from the North Vietnamese government in a letter to the International Red Cross at Geneva. It declared American and Vietnamese pilots captured in its territory would be treated as war criminals who must face tribunals.

An official Hanoi publication hinted that Americans captured on the ground in the future may be executed summarily.

In Miami, Asst. U. S. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester termed the Communist declaration "a resort to primeval savagery."

U.S. officials in Saigon had no official reaction but informants said they were concerned over the threats.

On the warfronts, U.S. advisers at Qui Nhon, 250 miles northeast of Saigon, reported three Viet Cong regiments—about 3,000 men—massing in an area where they fought bloody engagements with Vietnamese troops six days ago and again Tuesday night.

Elsewhere, U.S. Marines and Vietnamese forces clashed with the Viet Cong in scattered fights and U.S. planes, including B52s from Guam, pounded targets in South Viet Nam while other American aircraft raided in North Viet Nam.

The North Vietnamese letter to the Red Cross, dated Aug. 31, charged that hospitals, schools and villages in North Viet Nam had been targets of air and naval attacks and, consequently, all captured enemy pilots would be considered as war criminals and tried.

The letter was in reply to a Red Cross appeal to both sides to observe the Geneva convention for the protection of prisoners and civilians.

U.S. officials in Washington expressed disappointment over the apparent rejection by North Viet Nam of the Red Cross efforts.

The hint of execution for Americans captured by the Viet Cong came from the official Hanoi daily, Nhan Dan. The Communist publication said Capt. Humbert R. Versace of Baltimore and Sgt. Kenneth M. Roraback, whose wife lives at Fayetteville, N.C., and who were shot by the Viet Cong Sunday, "would have been put to death long ago had it not been for the lenient policy" of the Viet Cong.

Then the paper warned that the execution two weeks ago of three Viet Cong sympathizers by South Vietnamese gives Americans "no chance to continue enjoying that leniency."

The Communists indicated in a broadcast earlier this week that more Americans might be executed if the South Vietnamese government continued to execute Communist agents. In Saigon, U.S. officials said 38 American military personnel are missing and many of them are believed prisoners of the Viet Cong.

Air Force records in Washington list six pilots as prisoners and 29 other officers as missing. The Navy does not acknowledge that any of its pilots are captured but three of them listed as missing have appeared on Communist photographs or films in North Viet Nam.

A TECH WELCOME—Dr. Beatrix Cobb, professor of psychology, notes points of interest on the Tech campus for Maria Coelho, 27, of Gao, India. Miss Coelho, who speaks six languages, is the first international student to participate in the Rehabilitation Counselor Training Program at Tech, of which Dr. Cobb is director. The ten-year-old program, financed by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, is allotted $92,242 this year including $75,000 in student stipends.

Department Is Excellent, Says Indian Student

Rating Texas Tech's department of psychology as "excellent" is Maria Coelho, 27, from Goa, India.

Miss Coelho, of Portuguese descent, has added an international flavor to Tech's graduate Rehabilitation Counselor Training Program by her enrollment this fall.

The government-sponsored program in Tech's psychology department is to prepare rehabilitation counselors. Dr. Beatrix Cobb, professor of psychology, is program director.

A graduate of the University of Lisbon, Portugal, with a bachelor's degree in philosophy and history, Miss Coelho is the first foreign student to participate in Tech's program.

In her second year in the United States, Miss Coelho, who lived 17 years in Asia and 10 years in Europe, came to Tech from the University of New Mexico. She learned of the training program from a former Tech student.

The dark-haired student, one of 30 students working on advanced degrees in the program, will spend approximately two years here working on a doctorate, and specializing in rehabilitation.

Her interest, she says, is planning research in the international field of rehabilitation. Of special help to her, she believes, is her knowledge of six languages—Portuguese, English, French, Spanish, and Konkani (an Indian language), and "some Italian."

Applications Now Being Taken For Fellowships

Applications are being accepted at Texas Tech for the 1966-67 Rhodes Scholarships and the 1966-67 Woodrow Wilson national fellowships. Dr. David Vigness, professor and head of history at Tech, has announced.

The Woodrow Wilson fellowship is designed to attract men and women to the profession of college teaching. It annually awards fellowships to 1,000 prospective first-year graduate students planning to enter college teaching, and awards honorable mention to another 1,500 graduate students. A fellow is fully supported for one academic year at a U.S. or Canadian graduate school.

The Rhodes Scholarships, to Oxford University in England, are for at least two years and provide a stipend sufficient for expenses during term-time and vacations.

A Rhodes Scholarship recipient must be a male citizen of the United States, between the ages of 18 and 24 and have at least junior standing in a recognized degree-granting college or university in the U.S. at the time of making application.

Candidates for the Woodrow Wilson fellowships must be nominated by a faculty member no later than Oct. 31. The nomination should include the candidate's name, his current mailing address and proposed field of graduate study. A candidate for the Rhodes Scholarship must send in his application as early as possible, and no later than Nov. 2.

Additional information is available through Dr. Vigness, the faculty representative, Room 119 of the Social Sciences Bldg. on the Tech campus.

'Help' Is Their Policy

NOT TAKING ADVANTAGE of something worthwhile when it is offered is not just a mistake; it can be a disaster. Such is the case with Tech students and the Testing and Counseling Center.

Early Wednesday afternoon, Dr. James Kuntz, director of the center, called the Daily Toreador and asked for help.

"All our counselors and staff members are just sitting around with nothing to do," he said. "I know we'll be very busy later in the semester, especially when mid-term grades come out, but we would like to have students in here now who need help, because we will have more time to work with each case."

And help is the principal product offered by the Testing and Counseling Center.

"If any student is undecided about his major, he should contact us now because we can help him find what he is best suited for," Dr. Kuntz said.

But the center can also help with more than just majors; they are equipped to conduct extensive personal and vocational testing, and then counsel the individual students about possible actions.

And, best of all, there are no fees for using the center's facilities and trained personnel. Take your problems to the Testing and Counseling Center; they can help.

Sign Of The Times . . .

THE FIRST HARBINGER of fall swept onto the Tech campus yesterday in a cloud of dust—literally speaking.

All the weather we've had so far this year—torrential rains, a slightly-blue norther, searing heat and rampaging tornadoes—doesn't count at all. In West Texas, the true signs of the season are the nauseous clouds of rising dust on the horizon.

For everyone new to this part of the state, you can expect more and larger doses of the same as the semester progresses.

But, like the "native" who has suffered through either the fall or spring dust season, you will learn to live with them and understand them except, of course, when they come blowing in on the heels of a soaking rain.

Grimm Questions Bookstore Policy

Dear Editor,
I would like to call attention to a recent change in the policy of the Tech Bookstore.

Whereas in the past it has been possible for faculty members at Texas Tech to secure a 10 per cent discount on both charged and cash-paid purchases, the management of the bookstore has recently specified (on the "Courtesy Cards" mailed to faculty members) that the discount will henceforth be allowed only on charged purchases. No longer will cash payment entitle one to the "courtesy" of a discount.

I confess that the economic principle underlying this change in policy eludes my understanding. A number of my associates appear to be likewise mystified. My acquaintance with business practices here and elsewhere leads me to regard this policy as something of a novelty. (Have not discounts been given customarily as inducements to pay accounts promptly and in cash, in order to minimize book-keeping costs?)

Though I have no confidence that I will be able to comprehend or appreciate fully, I would be interested in reading the management's account of this subtle innovation—however intricate and lengthy it might be.

Clyde L. Grimm
English Department

P. S.—Can you tell me whether the "private" bookstores adjacent to the campus have established a similar "courtesy" policy?

EDITOR'S NOTE—The Daily Toreador contacted two "private" bookstores near the campus and found that both are continuing their policy of allowing faculty members a 10 per cent discount on both charged and cash-paid purchases. The manager at the Tech Bookstore had "no comment" on their new policy.

PRESIDENT'S HOSTESSES
Applications for President's Hostesses are now available in the office of the Dean of Women. Sophomore, junior, and senior women who have been at Tech one year and have a 2.50 grade-point both overall and for the previous semester, may apply. Deadline for returning applications is Wednesday.

Last year's President's Hostesses will meet at 5 p.m. today in the Weeks Hall formal lounge.

SENATE SENDS LBJ BILL ON MED CENTERS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate sent to President Johnson Wednesday a $340-million bill to help set up regional medical centers to take advantage of the latest techniques against major diseases.

The proposed centers link the efforts of medical schools, hospitals and research institutions.

Judd Dislikes Crossing Habits

Dear Editor,

I have been the operator of various makes and models of automobiles for 12 years and consider myself a capable, alert and defensive driver. I have driven over the nation's highways, byways, freeways and roads.

I try to control my emotions while behind the wheel of a piece of machinery capable of mass destruction. I also realize that pedestrians have the right of way. However, I feel that I am endangering my driving record each time I drive through the campus. I am amazed that the student-faculty population is not reduced by the automobile.

Why is it that tickets are freely given for illegal parking and various other offenses, but you never see a ticket given for jaywalking, crossing against the light or taking three to five minutes getting across the street?

Some of these people walk around as if in a daze or else just don't give a damn.

Therefore, if anyone sees a biege 1961 Chevrolet approaching with the driver grinning slightly, narrowing his eyes and gunning the engine . . . please step back.

Gerald F. Judd

(assistant managing editor's notes)

EVERYONE HAS to have someone or something he can pass the buck to, and around a newspaper it's a thing, or maybe it's an insect, called a type lice. No one has ever seen one, but nevertheless they are known to exist.

Well, to make a long story short, one of those type lice tossed a monkey wrench into The Daily Toreador's works Wednesday night. To be more specific, he (it?) hit this column with it.

That type lice carried off all the type following the paragraph reading "Well, you know what happened" and as a result left it kind of hanging in the air, and destroyed the meat of the thought.

So, here's one more attempt at the complete message, after calling on a crew of lice eradicators.

THE SECOND IDEA discussed by the panel which caught my attention concerned something known as school spirit. The panel agreed unanimously Tech's was the best they had ever been associated with.

Now, there's no doubt spirit was sky-high last week. For possibly the first time, those who are supposed-to-know-about-this-sort-of-thing conceded that Texas Technological College actually had a chance to beat that team from Austin.

Well, you know what happened. Which leaves the question: What about Tech's school spirit now, after it's been punctured? Can it be patched?

This Saturday will tell the story. It's certainly fortunate that Tech is playing who it is. After all, who ever heard of a Techsan who wouldn't turn out to see a bunch of Aggies bite the mud?

The way it rains around here on football nights, the Farmers just might find it a little too wet to plow. However, they'll have one consolation—their 28-inch boots should keep their feet dry. So much for the pep talk; here's one more thought.

IT'S NOT NECESSARY that we should all think exactly alike, but we should all think.

French Diplomat Says UN Must Avoid Force, Threats

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)— French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville said Wednesday the United Nations must avoid use of force in trying to keep world peace.

He said also it should not threaten any member nation with economic, diplomatic or military penalties.

"Resorting to force could only be an adventure," he said in a policy speech delivered to the 117-nation General Assembly.

Graduate Club Hears Visiting Professor

Dr. John P. Newport spoke to the Graduate English Club Wednesday on the "Religious Values in Contemporary Literature." Newport is philosophy professor at Southwestern Seminary, Fort Worth.

He explained the close relationship between philosophy, theology, and literature. Newport said, "The cross purpose of interest in arts and religion is a growing area in our time."

Anthony Dube, club president, said the organization's purpose is the exchange of scholarship between students, faculty members, and outside scholars such as Dr. Newport. During the year the club will bring well-known speakers to the campus, and plans to publish a newsletter. The idea for the club began with Dr. Everett Gillis, English department head, and it is sponsored by Dr. Truman Camp.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

The Scabbard and Blade's general business meeting is set for room 208 of the Tech Union, 8 p.m. today.

He also urged that Communist China be given the U.N. representation now held by the Chinese Nationalists, and expressed hope that the Viet Nam crisis could be settled by negotiation.

France had not delivered a policy speech in the assembly in five years, and the appearance of Couve de Murville was regarded as reflecting a somewhat warmer attitude toward the United Nations by President Charles de Gaulle.

But the French foreign minister made no mention of a voluntary financial contribution to the United Nations. Instead he proposed creation of a small committee of experts to examine the U.N. financial structure and how to effect economies.

France, the Soviet Union and 10 other countries have refused to pay for peacekeeping assessments in the Congo or the Middle East. The debts for those operations have put the United Nations near bankruptcy. Secretary-General U Thant has appealed for voluntary financial contributions.

Couve de Murville declared that use of force by the United Nations in peacekeeping operations would result only in promoting disunity among U.N. members. In addition, he said, the United Nations does not have the material means needed to wage any kind of war.

ROTC Chief Visits Campus

Col. E. H. Bauer, chief of ROTC division Fourth Army headquarters, Fort Sam Houston, was on the Texas Tech campus Wednesday visiting with Army ROTC officials.

Bauer said his visit was designed to assist the College Army ROTC program in any way possible as they begin a new school year.

"I found everything in order and I can report a definite increase in freshman enrollment in the program," Bauer said. He explained there is also an increase in enrollment in advanced Army ROTC classes.

The Tech visit was part of a trip which will take Col. Bauer to colleges and high schools over West Texas and New Mexico.

Government Studies Castro 'Promise' To Release Cubans

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Fidel Castro's promise to lift Cuba's curtain for refugees was studied cautiously Wednesday in Washington and viewed in some quarters as an attempt to embarrass the United States.

Top exile leaders in Miami, including the prime minister's sister, Juanita, denounced it as a trick, a trap and a propaganda stunt.

In a speech Tuesday night in Havana, Castro said any Cubans with relatives in the United States can leave the Communist island after Oct. 10 if they first notify the Interior Ministry.

Castro also said anyone in the United States, "no matter who it is," could go to the island by ship and bring relatives back "with all guarantees."

Sources in Washington said there would be no comment by the Johnson administration until a number of government agencies complete a careful scrutiny of Castro's speech.

Officials cautioned there is good reason to believe that Castro wants to designate those who will be permitted to leave Cuba.

The officials said he always has appeared willing to get rid of people such as the old and the ill, who are a drain on his country's shaky economy.

The official version of Castro's speech, published in Havana papers, said the new exit and entry policy would put an end to "imperialist propaganda" that persons are forbidden to leave Cuba.

One possible joker in the deck is the U. S. State Department ban on travel to Cuba, which would prevent exiles in this country from going to the island for relatives.

From Havana, Associated Press correspondent Isaac M. Flores reported that in the view of some there the United States would look bad in the eyes of the world if it did not relax the travel ban.

"I know that Fidel is not sincere," said his sister, who fled Cuba by way of Mexico last year. "His announcement is a demagogic trick and a dangerous adventure."

"In giving their names to the Interior Ministry, Fidel Castro will have a census of anti-Communists, and we know, by sad experience, the tortures, persecutions and vexations suffered in Cuba by those who love freedom."

Dr. Jose Alvarez Diaz, former Cuban treasury minister and chairman of the Cuban research project at the University of Miami, said: "I think Fidel Castro is putting in practice a new strategic move to place the United States in an embarrassing situation before Latin America and the Cuban people."

Nearly 300,000 Cuban exiles already are scattered throughout the United States and more arrive every month. Most now come by small boat across waters exiles call "Death Corridor."

Giants Will Get Best Deal Should Playoff Develop

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Warren Giles of the National League conducted a coin flip and a drawing Wednesday to determine playoff arrangements in the event of a tie, and the San Francisco Giants won favored positions.

If the Giants wind up in a tie with the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League pennant race, the first game of a best two-of-three series would be in Los Angeles Monday. Then the teams would shift to Candlestick Park in San Francisco for games Tuesday and Wednesday, if necessary.

Three-Way Tie

In the event of a three-way tie, that also would include the Cincinnati Reds, the Giants would open the double elimination playoffs with Los Angeles at Candlestick Park Monday.

The Reds would draw a bye in the first game and meet Los Angeles at Los Angeles Tuesday, while the Giants took a day off.

On the third day, San Francisco and the Reds would meet at Cincinnati.

At the end of the round-robin series, Giles said he would conduct a new drawing to settle further playoff arrangements.

Giles said a playoff would be conducted on a rigid schedule with no intervening dates for travel.

Series Opens Wednesday

The coin flip and draw were in the office of Dodger General Manager Buzzie Bavasi. Present were Giles, Bavasi and Phil Seghi, assistant general manager of the Reds.

Horace Stoneham, owner of the Giants, was in contact by telephone during the meeting.

The World Series, scheduled to open Wednesday, in Minneapolis, would be delayed in the event of a National League playoff.

Middle Of The Week Doo-Dads

MIKE LUTZ

IT WON'T BE EXACTLY like watching the Red Raiders perform on the hardwoods in Municipal Coliseum Saturday afternoon when the St. Louis Hawks and Philadelphia 76ers of National Basketball Association fame square off for a pro cage exhibition.

In addition to the likes of scoring king Wilt Chamberlain, Rookie of the Year in 1964 Lucious Jackson and former All-America Zelmo Beaty, there will be several rules in effect to which the average collegiate fan may not be accustomed.

Something New In Pro Ranks

The exhibition contest, which will be played by NBA rules, will be divided into four, 12-minute quarters.

The NBA 24-second clock will also be used. The 24-second rule affords the offensive team only 24 seconds to shoot. Failure to do so results in loss of the ball.

Another NBA rule applying to team fouls might be reviewed. Each team is allowed five team fouls per period and assessed an extra penalty on committing the sixth. The fouled club would be given two chances to make one shot if the foul came on a completed basket; three chances to make two shots if it was a two-shot violation when the shot missed and two shots if it was a one-shot violation with no shot attempted.

There is, in fact, a new rule passed Sept. 18, which may not be knowledgeable even to the veteran pro basketball observer.

The new rule prohibits a player from touching the ball or basket when the ball is on or within the basket, or on its downward flight toward the basket. The new rule applies both offensively and defensively.

TEXAS TECH IS NOT the only football team to employ the instant replay video system, although they did pioneer the TV setup two weeks ago against Kansas.

Last week, the Texas Longhorns had the cameras purring on the Raiders' maneuvers, then put them in reverse to study Tech's techniques. Judging from the outcome, looks like everything worked to perfection.

Anyhoo, the Raiders will install the TV screens again this week in their do-or-die effort against the Texas Aggies.

From a player standpoint, the TV setup means being shown what went wrong instead of being told.

When a play goes awry, the player who made the goof is merely taken behind the bench, where one of two television sets is waiting to play back the whole maneuver.

The other TV set is in the press box where coaches try to decipher the opposition.

Trying For Another 'First'

COACH J T KING AND Co. will be trying for another record Saturday against the Aggies and that'll be winning three times in a row.

Not since the A&M series began in 1927 have the Raiders been able to win more than two straight. The string currently reads, 10-0 in 1963 and 16-12 last season in favor of the Lubbockites. The Aggies lead in the series by a sizeable margin of 15-7-1.

EVEN A COUPLE OF average kickoff returns by Donny Anderson would give another SWC record to the 1964 All-American. If he can return 42 yards worth of Aggie kickoffs, he'll break the career standard of 885 yards set by Rice's Gene Fleming, 1962 through 1964.

ON SICK LEAVE FOR the Aggie game will be guard Doug Young for sure, and probably defensive end Joe Hurley and guard James Cecil. Young went out of the Texas game with pulled muscles in his right leg and may not be ready until the SMU contest. Cecil has an ankle sprain and Hurley a stomach injury.

The line of succession will fall on Mickey Merritt to replace Young for the Aggie encounter. Soph Phil Tucker will fill in for Cecil.

Pro Basketball Exhibition Scheduled In Coliseum Saturday

A veteran cast of professional basketball stars and two anxious coaches will be on hand in Municipal Coliseum Saturday afternoon at 3 p.m. when the St. Louis Hawks and Philadelphia 76ers hook up in an exhibition match.

The game, which features Wilt Chamberlain for the 76ers, and former All-American Zelmo Beaty for the Hawks, will precede the SWC football battle between the Red Raiders and Texas A&M at 7:30 p.m. in Jones Stadium.

Philadelphia coach Dolph Schayes and player-coach Richie Guerin of the Hawks both are optimistic about the upcoming National Basketball Association season. Their hopes are fed by pre-season training drills, which indicate the two teams will be battling for the division title. St. Louis will vie for the Western crown, where it has won five times and finished second four times.

The 76ers, who also have the services of former Little-All-American and Rookie of the Year, Lucious Jackson, will compete in the Eastern division.

"We're down to our regular 12 men with Paul Silas still in service and expected back in 10 days," Guerin said, "but we've looked so good in training that I hope we can continue to play this well against the other NBA clubs."

Real Test

"Any time you play against a Chamberlain club you get a real test because the big fellow goes all out to win every game. He plays 48 minutes and this year he'll have the help he's been lacking in the past."

Guerin complimented Philadelphia's sharpshooter Hal Greer as a "great outside shooter."

Schayes is in agreement with Guerin on most of his comments, but thinks he may have trouble at guard.

"Greer and Al Bianchi will start for me but I still want to give Billy Cunningham more work at a guard spot," the 76er mentor said.

"Billy's played forward throughout his basketball career and he could easily make a good one at that spot in the NBA. But we need a guard and I'll use him throughout the exhibitions at that spot."

Probable starters for the Hawks will be Cliff Hagan, a nine-year veteran, and three-year vet Bill Bridges at forward; Zelmo Beaty, who led the club in scoring and rebounding, will open at center; Guerin and Len Wilkens will start at guards.

Jackson and Dave Gambee will be the forwards for the 76ers. Chamberlain, naturally, will play at center, and Greer and Bianchi will go at guards.

The two teams play in Edinburg tonight, where Jackson played his college basketball at Pan American College.

With Chamberlain in charge, the 76ers will play a more deliberate game than the Hawks, who feature a fast-break type of play.

Tickets are still available and can be purchased in advance at the Sports Center No. 1.

WILT CHAMBERLAIN

The injury situation isn't completely dark, however. Tackle Bill Adams, sidelined for the Texas game, should be ready for action by game time Saturday.

LATEST STATISTICAL gatherings show halfback Johnny Agan to be the leading rusher for the Raiders with 114 yards in 28 tries for the two outings. Anderson is next with 87 yards for 24 attempts. Quarterback Tom Wilson is the total offense leader with 345 combined. He's amassed 24 by running and 321 by passing.

FOR THE RECORD—Fans attending the 76ers-Hawks exhibition Saturday should see plenty of Wilt Chamberlain, who usually plays the full 48 minutes of every game. And for a guy who makes something like $100,000 per season, that's the least he could do.
