Council Boosts Activity Fee

Bought your activity ticket for the 1956-57 school year?

"Shell out now, and save later," say members of the student council who have launched an all-out campaign to help sell activity booklets during registration.

Figures on the activity book expenses as compared with buying tickets to the activities listed in the booklet show that purchasers save a total of $23—and $14 of that on athletic admissions alone.

The price which has been set on the activity booklet is $21, which includes both semesters. Students who do not plan to stay both semesters will be entitled to a refund at the close of the first semester.

Contents of Booklet

Included in the activity booklet are tickets to all home football and basketball games, dramatic productions of the speech department and the artist course attractions.

The Toreador is dependent upon activity fees to keep it operating. The paper is distributed free of charge over the campus, and each activity ticket purchased is the equivalent of a subscription to the Toreador.

Married students who purchase activity booklets may make arrangements with the athletic department, under Jones Stadium, for a reduced rate on a season football ticket for husbands or wives.

Special activities which are supported by the activity fee include the Student Religious Council which sponsors Religious Emphasis Week, the agricultural judging team which has brought recognition to Tech for many years, the International Relations Club which brings fascinating foreign visitors to the campus and the Saddle Tramps, Tech's service organization for men.

Fee Supports Choir, Band

Others drawing funds from the activity fee are the Tech Choir, the Red Raider Band, the Tech Forensics Union, the Engineering Open House, the Home Economics Open House, KTTC (Tech radio station) and the Association of Women Students.

The student council draws its funds from the activity booklet sales also, and acts as the student's "voice" in campus government. (See ACTIVITY FEE Page 5)

Meal Changes Set For Dormitories

Several changes and improvements in meal service in the dormitories have been instigated this year, in answer to requests from representatives of both boys and girls dorms.

Choices of fruit, beverages, entrees, salads, desserts, vegetables and occasionally meats will be available and meal serving hours will be extended.

Weekdays breakfast will be from 7 to 8; lunch, 11:45 to 12:30 and dinner, 5:30 to 6:15.

A copy of each day's menu will be posted on the bulletin board in the lobby of each dorm.

The Dormitory Food Service Staff, directed by Miss Shirley Schulz, is responsible for the revised service.

UNION TO SPONSOR FIRST PEP RALLY

The first pep-rally, designed to get Techsians "in the spirit" before the Texas Western game Saturday, has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Friday on the green behind the Ad Building. Sponsoring organization is the Tech Union Board.

Master of ceremonies for the rally will be Glen Cary, ex-president of the Student Council. A special speaker will also be on the agenda. Cheerleaders will be present.

The band will start off the pep-rally, under the direction of D. O. "Prof" Wiley, who has been working to get the band into shape by that time.

Following the rally, will be "Kick-off Capers," a special first game dance in the Tech Union. Dance music is to start about 8:30 p.m.

PUSHING THE FEE—Part of the Student Council Program to set a record in the sale of activity booklets this year is the erecting of signs about the campus, encouraging new students as well as old ones to "support Tech." Council members are anticipating the sale of about 5,000 booklets.

'56 Pre-Enrollment Figure Indicates Record High

Fall enrollment appears headed for an all-time record of 7,800, according to pre-registration figures from Registrar Warren P. Clements.

Hundreds of students were turned away because of lack of dormitory space, and almost 800 are still on the waiting list. Three girls have been placed in many rooms in girls' dormitories.

Clements said that the enrollment would have topped 8,200 if space had been available.

Tabulations are not complete yet, but present records show the following number of students in each dorm: West, 325; Bledsoe, 350; Gordon, 362; Doak, 325; Sneed, 320; Drane, 320; Horn, 372 and Knapp, 373.

Room reservation officials said all dorm space is taken, with a total of 2,747 students. It is expected that cancellations and drop-outs will reduce the number enough in the girls' dorms to avoid the use of triple arrangements, although temporarily three girls will remain in many of the rooms.

Full Turnout Sought For Class Pictures

Student pictures for the last two yearbooks have represented less than 60 per cent of the student body, according to figures from the La Ventana office.

La Ventana pictures will be taken at Koen's Studio, which has a new location at 1311 College especially for accommodating students.

The only requirement for having yearbook pictures made is that students present their registration receipt at the studio between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Barbara Pearce, 1956-57 La Ventana editor, has expressed hope that students will take advantage of the convenient facilities in order to have a near perfect representation in this year's annual.

AFROTC GETS PLANE FOR FLIGHT LESSONS

Tech has been assigned a four-place Navion plane to be used this year in giving flight experience to all Air Force ROTC cadets.

Pilots from the faculty will take cadets to bases and other Air Force installations in the area and will afford them opportunities to see diverse arms of the service in actual operation.

Raiders Face Tough Foes

Texas Tech inaugurates play as a new member of the Southwest Conference Saturday night with a weaker team than any of the past three years—all Border Conference championship seasons.

The Red Raiders are rebuilding at a critical time. The schedule they face this season is the toughest for a Raider eleven in recent years, even though they aren't eligible until 1960 for a SWC crown.

Sides, Walker, Herschman Lost
Coach DeWitt Weaver was met by only 19 returning lettermen at the first practice—the smallest number since 1951. Twenty-seven of the 52 who went through initial workouts were sophomores, further showing the lack of experience of 1956 squad.

Six of the Raiders lost by graduation were starters in several games on three successive Border Conference championship teams. Among the graduates were a pair of three-time all-conference per-

Positions Open On Tech Publications

Staff positions are open on both the annual and paper, according to La Ventana editor Barbara Pearce and Toreador editor Ross Short.

Students interested in working on the annual in art, layout or photography should come by the La Ventana office, room 205 in the journalism building.

Reporters, sports writers and society writers are needed on the Toreador. Interested persons should contact the editor.

Toreador issue editors are the only staff members appointed. They are Joan Abel, Cathy Dickinson and Floyd Wood.

For the first time in its 32-year history, The Toreador is going on a three-a-week basis, and will have a circulation of around (See PUBLICATIONS, Page 5)

NEW STYLE GOAL POSTS—Contrary to what some coaches would preach to their gridiron hopefuls, football and girls go together nicely—in pictures at least. These attractive goalposts, which will probably never replace the conventional uprights, are sophomores Sharla Pepper from Snyder and Jane Dewald of Lubbock.

CALL IT WHAT YOU LIKE... ... BUT READ IT, PLEASE

We're glad to see that you got your copy of the first edition of the 1956-57 Toreador.

Of course, you may not call it The Toreador, but may prefer to refer to it by one of its less sophisticated titles such as "El Cuspidor," "The Toilet Door," or just plain "that ol' rag."

We in the editorial rooms of The Toreador don't much care what you call it—just as long as you read it.

Newspapers everywhere, big, little, good and bad, have a habit of picking up nasty little pseudonyms which spring from an anonymous source.

The Toreador has been 32 years in collecting its present half-dozen or so nicknames. And though we are not particularly proud of the names, we are proud of the paper's history and standing.

It seems there is no end of changing The Toreador. Each year, the new staff comes up with all sorts of revolutionary ideas—and this year is no exception.

This time we are publishing three times weekly, for the first time in the history of the school.

Along with the stepped-up pace, we hope to present the news to you in a readable and accurate fashion. We also plan to keep the paper in high standing with other college papers over the nation.

In our editorials, we will take a stand on every campus controversy which arises during the year. A stand which is based as closely as possible on facts from every side of the question. Of course, we will not always be on the popular side of the question, nor will we aim for perfect agreement. Our "Letters to the Editor" column, which will appear on the editorial page, is open to every person at Texas Tech for the benefit of students who disagree with us.

We solicit your help and backing in making this year's Toreador both a useful and helpful instrument of the student body of Texas Tech during the 1956-57 school year.

—Ross Short

Our Fizzling Fish Program...

Freshman traditions at Tech, unlike those of other Southwest Conference colleges, are almost non-existent.

It almost seems like the freshmen here think they are veteran upperclassmen. But it's not their fault. A laxity in the freshman program in past years is to blame.

Worst violation that goes unheeded is the apparent unconcern the fish show for their slime caps. Maybe they are ashamed to wear the little green beanies—something that should help them to feel more a part of Tech.

Another little classic which has gone by the boards is the annual freshman shoe race at homecoming game. The reason? It was too difficult to get the freshmen to cooperate by wearing their slime caps to the game so they could be identified.

These are just two examples. The list could easily be expanded. The point is that the freshmen would more quickly feel like a link in the chain of students if a little more attention were given them.

True, Tech is in the SWC. But there is still a long row to hoe before such things as our freshman program are on the same level as such schools at Texas A&M, Texas University or Rice.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

SHORT COMMENTS From The Editor's Desk

By ROSS SHORT
Toreador Editor

I wonder if the parking sticker on the rear window of my car is dry yet? I was exceptionally careful when I put it on my window this semester — mainly because it cost me the better part of a five-dollar bill.

I've heard several off-campus upperclassmen comment that they were seriously considering not buying a sticker at all—which means they'll have to either walk to class from home or park on College Avenue. That suits me just fine. If enough of the upperclassmen decide in favor of a move like that, it might mean that I would get to park behind the Administration Building at least one time, and maybe even twice, this semester.

Somehow though, I have a feeling that those parking stickers are going to sell like the proverbial hotcakes, despite the rise in price.

But I couldn't help wondering where all the money goes that is being laid across the counter for the various colored decals. The answer is very simple—it goes into the general college fund.

There is, however, a basis for the price set on parking privileges. For one thing, six new policemen have been hired to enforce parking and traffic laws on the campus. Maintenance of the parking lots in use also takes a sizeable chunk from the college fund.

Thorough investigation of the parking sticker price will undoubtedly reveal that your $3.50 hasn't been wasted. College officials are not notorious for swindling, and a look into the situation will undoubtedly reveal that the decal price has not been set up as a money making proposition at all—but rather as a financing program to improve the problem that inevitably arises when too many cars get into a given area.

As soon as possible, Toreador personnel will investigate the parking sticker price and let the student body know what is to be found out. You'll see our interpretation of the parking sticker price system in the editorial columns of The Toreador as soon as we are able to gather the information.

Let's Learn The Red Raider Song...

Texas Tech's cheerleaders, backbone of the student body spirit at football games this fall, are planning to make an all-out effort to teach the Red Raider Song to all Techsians who don't already know it.

Freshmen—even though they have never heard the song—will be expected to know the words and the tune by the time the first football game rolls around Saturday night.

In order to "really make it echo" in Jones Stadium Saturday when the Red Raiders make their first appearance as a Southwest Conference team, everybody must know the words. For the benefit of those who don't know those words, here's your copy of the RED RAIDER SONG.

Let's go Red Raiders, Let every man get in the fray
Let's go Red Raiders, We'll fight until we win the fray
The bells of victory will ring out
And every heart in Texas Tech is gonna sing out
We'll show the foe a Matador is master
We'll show the foe the meaning of disaster
They'll run like hell, We'll ring the bell
And show who wears the crown
When the Red Raiders go to town.

CHORUS:

Let's give a cheer boys send it down the field
Let's make it clear boys Tech will never yield,
We'll give the Raiders a greater fame,
We'll show the foe we're out to win the game—
Hi-Yi-Di-Yi! Red Raiders on the run,
Victory or die our battle will be won,
Hi-Yi-Di-Yi! They'll soon be bounding back,
Holding on high our glorious red and black.

THAT WE MAY BECOME RECONCILED

(To Increased Enrollments)

(Editor's Note: In general faculty meeting Monday there was considerable discussion on the problem of facing Tech's soaring enrollment. Following are excerpts from President E. N. Jones' address to the faculty on increasing enrollment.)

"... Today, as we start a new school year, it is in an atmosphere of concern with problems of large classes. As we anticipate the inevitable frustration of students unable to get classes they desire, we are brought face to face with the practical problems accompanying quantity... that other pillar (besides quality) which holds aloft the true greatness of American higher education.

"We must become reconciled to increased enrollments. This we can do more readily if we are helped to see some good in numbers instead of just a serious threat to quality.

"... In summary... may I remind you of the perfectly obvious fact that, by giving special attention and stimulus to our best students we strengthen the pillar of quantity. Both are essential to the continuation of our strength as a nation.

"In this plea to make the best of numbers, there is one type of student I urge you not to accept: ... the loafer and unproductive occupier of valuable space ... The student who will not work should not remain. Scholastic regulations will see to that.

"On the other hand, I do not, by this statement, mean to support such pedagogical philosophy as is sometimes announced near the first of a course that 'the tradition in this class is that 30 per cent of you will fail.' Fair and just grading as the semester progresses, will determine, I believe, the number who should fail rather than a preconceived setting of a given percentage in a given course."

Auditorium Is Scene Of Artists' Programs

Six of the tickets in the Student Activity booklet this year are for Artists' Courses attractions, all of which are scheduled in the new 3,200 seat Lubbock Municipal Auditorium on the campus.

Among outstanding personalities featured in this year's Artists' Course are Metropolitan Opera star Nadine Connor, South American baritone Herman Pelayo and world-famous pianist Artur Rubenstein.

Far Easterners Perform

Introducing the season Oct. 26 will be the To Yo Za "Theatre of the Far East." The troupe will perform ceremonial and dramatic dances of Japan, China, Mongolia, Bali, Cambodia and India. Elaborate costumes are largely gifts from Indian maharajas, and musical accompaniment was recorded by natives in the Far East.

Oct. 29 will bring Miss Nadine Connor who will sing from her repertoire of opera, concert, radio and television selections.

Herman Pelayo, considered by Latin American critics as South America's top baritone, will make his first North American appearance for the season Nov. 15.

Dublin Players Scheduled

The Dublin Players, well known in Lubbock, will be on the program for Jan. 11. Last year's production was G. B. Shaw's "Pygmalion," currently running as a musical, "My Fair Lady." Title of the 1956 performance has not been announced.

On the schedule for Mar. 14 is a performance by the chorus from the century-old Vienna Academy of Music. Each member of the 24-voice chorus must be an accomplished instrumentalist in order to join the group.

Last on the schedule, Mar. 26, will be Artur Rubenstein, acclaimed by Time magazine as the last of the great romantic performers in the tradition of Liszt and Anton Rubenstein. He will give a sample of his piano genius which has made him famous since his first concert at age six in Warsaw, Poland.

Tickets for persons who do not hold activity booklets may be bought at Adair Music Co., 1112 Main.

ACTIVITY FEE...

mental affairs. A breakdown of dollars and cents drawn from the activity fee fund is as follows:

Athletics draws 73,451 cents from every dollar paid into the fund. The Toreador draws 823 cents, the Artist's Course draws 7,08 cents, the band is allotted 4,159 cents and the Student Council fund amounts to 7,080 cents from each dollar.

All other activities draw their money from the Student Council fund.

Sales Low in '55

Last year's activity ticket sales totaled about 4,000 individual sales, or just more than half the student population.

Officials of the college as well as members of the student council have voiced hope that Tech's admittance to the Southwest Conference will stimulate this year's sales, and that an increased student population will give adequate financial backing to each of the organizations which are dependent.

PUBLICATIONS...

8,000 for the '56-'57 year.

Both Toreador and La Ventana have received high ratings from collegiate press services in past years. Early issues of the paper were printed in the West Engineering building. Even with limited facilities, the paper early earned high awards from the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association.

"The Toreador is something more than a newspaper," cited judges of that time. "It is an institution. Its function is not merely to bring together announcements of coming events and chronicle of the week's happening. A bulletin board could do that. Its immediate function is to make every student see and feel and think about the news that is worth seeing, feeling and thinking about."

In the late thirties and early forties the paper was stepped up to a semi-weekly, but dropped back to weekly during war years. The year 1945 saw a war-bond campaign and the initiation of the first women editors.

With increased financial help from activity fees and a growing student body, the Toreador began regular publication on a semi-weekly basis in 1955. The further step-up in 1956 is a long range effort to bring the paper toward daily publication, comparable to publications of schools with similar enrollment and standing.

Tech Sororities Pledge 227 In Fall Rush Week

Rush Week, a hectic week of constant partying, sleepless nights, and "silence" in regard to men, sorority members and alumni, ended in an exciting climax at 5:30 p.m. Saturday when 227 rushees received bids to Tech's ten national social sororities.

Each of the coeds received pledge ribbons in her sorority colors during special programs at Saturday night parties. At 9:30 p.m. the sorority groups met on the Horn Hall lawn for a sing song.

The rushees, most of them freshmen, although some upperclassmen participated, spent Rush Week, Sept. 9-15, in Drane and Horn Halls. About 350 sorority members and pledges lived in Knapp during the week.

Open Rush will be held on the campus Oct. 1-27. Girls wishing to participate in Open Rush may sign up in the Dean of Women's Office beginning Oct. 1, according to Dean Jacqueline Sterner, Panhellenic Advisor. In order to be eligible for open rush, girls must have an overall "C" average in college, and a "C" average in the preceding long term.

Girls who pledged during formal rush as well as those pledging during open rush will be initiated during the second semester, provided they maintain a "C" average this semester.

Formal rush for freshmen men is held at the beginning of the second semester.

Kappa Kappa Gamma led in Fall Rush with 29 pledges, followed by Kappa Alpha Theta with 27. Pi Beta Phi pledged 25; Delta Delta Delta and Delta Gamma, each pledged 24; Gamma Phi Beta, 23; Zeta Tau Alpha, 22; Alpha Chi Omega and Sigma Kappa, each 20, and Alpha Phi, 13.

The new pledges include:

The QUICKSILVER Co.

Campus AFROTC Sees Staff Shift

Three major shifts in Tech Air Force ROTC personnel have been announced by Gerald Rambo, AFROTC information officer.

Col. William A. Schulgen, air science professor is retiring after 28 years of military service. He has held many high level positions including membership on Gen. George C. Marshall's staff and base commander of Grandview AFB, Mo.

He came to Tech in August, 1954. Col. Schulgen and his wife plan to leave Lubbock about Sept. 25 and move to Tampa, Fla. Newly assigned adjutant of Tech's AFROTC Unit is Capt. Arnold L. Grover, who will act as assistant professor of air science II. He comes to Tech from duty at Itami AFB, Japan where he was engaged in weather reconnaissance.

1st Lt. Robert D. Palmquist is new assistant professor of air science I and advisor of Sabre Flight, Tech's AFROTC precision drill team.

Lt. Palmquist was recently stationed at James Connally AFB, Waco, after serving with the 8th Bomb Sq. in Korea. While in Korea he received the Distinguished Flying Cross.

$200 AWARDS GO TO 10 FRESHMEN

Ten $200 scholarships have been awarded Tech South Plains freshman by the Kuykendall Foundation of Lubbock.

The grants are awarded on a basis of scholarship, citizenship and character, with consideration given to need.

Winners are: Sunny Kathleen Barrow, Lamesa, journalism; Bill Boverie, Olton, electrical engineering; Kenneth L. Cummings, Lubbock, petroleum engineering; George A. Graves, Lubbock, petroleum engineering; John Walden Harrison, Kermit, physics; Bobby Loice Lemons, Fluvanna, agriculture; Charles Wesley Lewis, Donnell, agriculture; Jim Harmon Lindley, civil engineering; and Joe Ellis Wheeler, Ralls, pre-med.

Raider Guard Saw Chance In '54 Clash

Hal Broadfoot, burly 205 pound Tech guard, will probably recall fondly Saturday night another time he played against Texas Western's Miners.

In 1954, against Texas Western, Broadfoot got a chance to prove himself a capable performer. Since that game he has been on the starting forward wall for the Techs and has earned all-conference honors twice.

In the third quarter of the '54 clash Coach DeWitt Weaver sent Broadfoot and Doug Campbell into the see-saw clash and the pair rushed the Miner passers enough to help Tech grab the contest 55-28.

The six foot, one inch senior was a comparative unknown until that game, having come to the Raiders after captaining Coach V. R. Leverett's Clyde Bulldogs. He played tackle in high school.

Broadfoot was named to the 1955 all-Border Conference first team and was a second-team 1954 selection.

Maybe the clinching vote for the most recent honor came from Hardin-Simmons University. Last year Broadfoot blocked a Cowboy punt which gave Tech a safety and a winning 16-14 margin. Broadfoot recalls this as his biggest thrill of his collegiate career.

The two-year letterman is 22 years old. His major is agriculture and he belongs to the Army ROTC. He is one of five starters and 19 lettermen returning for the 1956 campaign.

RECORD INDICATED IN TICKET SALES

Texas Tech's football season ticket sales are due to set a record of 7,200, according to Jimmie Wilson, business manager of athletics.

Although game tickets have been placed on sale, orders for season tickets will be taken through the day of Tech's opener with Texas Western Saturday.

Saturday night's opponent for the Red Raiders, Texas Western College, was formerly known as Texas School of Mines. First time the Miners met Tech under their present name was in 1948's 46-6 victory for the Raiders.

Tech Adds Oilers To Cage Schedule

The Phillips 66 Oilers have been added to the already attractive list of teams to be played in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum by the Red Raider basketballers this winter.

According to Coach Polk Robinson, Jim Reed, three years all-conference for the Raiders, is now employed in Phillips' Bartlesville, Okla., office and is a candidate for the AAU power's squad.

Tech Band Plans First Appearance

In spite of an early start to the 1956 football season, the Tech Band plans to make its first appearance of the year at the season opener in Jones Stadium Saturday night when the Raiders clash with the Texas Western Miners.

Band members are looking forward to one of their best seasons in recent years, since expanded enrollment figures will also mean a wider choice of band members.

In addition to playing and performing for all home games, the band will journey to Dallas when the Red Raiders meet the Texas Aggies in the Cotton Bowl on Oct. 6.

Also on the fall agenda is the annual trip to the Brownfield Harvest Festival in October.

First rehearsal of the year was held yesterday in the Music Building where D. O. "Prof" Wiley held the first rehearsal of old and prospective new band members.

Raiders Challenge Texas Western In '56 Opener

By BILLY ELLIS
Toreador Staff Writer

Texas Tech hosts the Miners of Texas Western College Saturday in the initial game for the Red Raiders under Southwest Conference banners. Kickoff is 8 p.m. in Jones Stadium.

True, the Raiders will not be competing for the official Conference crown until 1960, but for the Miners it will provide a chance to put Tech on the spot and show up the newest SWC member.

Actually, Western is in a good position to do just that.

Coach Mike Brumblow has seven starters returning from a team that tied Tech, 27-27 last year in El Paso.

Coach DeWitt Weaver, in to questions regarding his team's outlook against Baylor and Texas A&M, (Tech plays these two SWC powers on succeeding weekends after meeting Western.) has said to inquirers:

"I can't afford to think about Baylor or A&M just yet; we have to play Texas Western first, you know."

His respect for the team from the Border city can be borne out by the fact that Texas Western has given Weaver-coached teams their toughest times in Border Conference play.

Out of 22 games played with Border teams in the past five years, the Raiders' record was marred only by one loss and two ties.

One of those ties and the sole loss were to Texas Western.

To further complicate matters, the last time Texas Western opened a Tech schedule, in 1939, the Miners won 7-2. This was the first game Tech played following their 20-13 loss to St. Mary's in the 1939 Cotton Bowl game.

The Raiders' last outing was a 21-14 loss to Wyoming in the Sun Bowl.

Over the years, Tech holds the edge in the series with Texas Western. The Raiders have won 9, lost 4, and tied one, that being last year's contest.

Sept. 29—Baylor.....	at Waco
Oct. 6—Texas A&M.....	at Dallas (N)

SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE MEMBERSHIP has been attained by Texas Tech. Although the Red Raiders will not compete for the grid title until 1960 or for other championships until 1957-58, the big (8,000 enrollment) West Texas school at Lubbock will meet three Southwest Conference foes on this fall's rugged schedule. Above are Tech's Jones Stadium, capacity 28,000, scheduled for expansion, and the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium-Coliseum, which seats 10,000 for basketball. Pictured also is DeWitt Weaver, athletic director and head football coach, who in five seasons piloted Tech to four Border Conference titles and a Border record of 19 wins, one loss, and two ties.

Raiders Face Tough Schedule For '56

formers, fullback James Sides, and tackle Jerry Walker.

Also lost to the Raiders is Bill Hershman, third round draft choice of the San Francisco '49ers, who was picked as a College All-Star in the Chicago Tribune game.

Have Rough Schedule

Even a more experienced team would find the going rough against the 1956 schedule. Tech must play three teams generally selected for the top three berths in the Southwest Conference—Texas Christian, Texas A&M, and Baylor—as well as four Border Conference and three Missouri Valley teams, who would like nothing more than to show the Raiders they should have stayed in the Border Conference.

Coach Weaver, a rarity among coaches—an optimist—sees several bright sides to the picture. One is the hustle and spirit of the players.

"I'd rather have hustle, anyway, than experience," he maintains, although admitting that it wouldn't be bad to have both.

All-Conference Tackle Returns
Another is the strength at guard where the Raiders have six lettermen, among them last year's starters, Hal Broadfoot of Clyde and Doug Campbell of Pine Bluff, Ark., both seniors. Broadfoot was all-Border Conference last season.

Tech's lone senior tackle, Bob Kilcullen of St. Louis, could play on almost any Southwest Conference team. A pleasant surprise is the Raiders' captain, senior quarterback, Don Williams of Graham, whom some are calling Tech's most elusive runner since Weaver came here.

With most of Tech's ground power gone, the Raiders are expected to pass more. They have back their top passer of last season—Lubbock's Buddy Hill—and their top pass receivers of '55—ends Ken Vahey of San Antonio and Pat Hartsfield of Lubbock.

Casualties Are Light

Casualties to the Raiders in practice have been relatively light. Hill missed a few days of practice due to the effects of an operation this summer brought about by his injury in the Sun Bowl game. Hartsfield missed a week because of influenza, but is expected to be in the starting lineup when the Raiders open the season Saturday night in Jones Stadium against Texas Western.

Phil Williams is recovering from a sprained ankle. Aside from these, injuries have been minor, but according to Weaver, "We just can't afford to have any injuries this year; we're too short on experience."

Wide Intramural Program Set

At Texas Tech, the intramural program has a motto of "Sports activity, not for the spectator, but 100 per cent participation in some activity for all students," according to George Philbrick, director of intramural sports.

The intramural program includes 14 different sports beginning Sept. 20 with Touch Football and ending April 25 with Track.

Tennis, handball, basketball, bowling, swimming, fencing, badminton, volleyball, softball, ping pong, horseshoes and golf are other sports included in the intramural schedule.

Participation in these sports is purely voluntary, but members of the intramural staff are working toward a high per cent of student participation. Students interested in entering intramurals, or wishing to enter a team as a part of the program should contact either Coach Philbrick or some member of his staff who has offices in the gymnasium.

Participants in intramural sports last year totaled more than 3,000 students or almost half the student body.

Touch football, basketball and softball draw the largest number of participants. Twenty football teams entered into competition in 1954-55 along with 33 basketball teams and 20 softball teams. Participants in these sports alone totaled almost 2,000.

The intramural program shows added participation each year, with new teams entering every sport. The Texas Tech Department of Health, Physical Education, has described its program as valuable in making friends, developing endurance and organic power and gaining activity necessary for proper functioning of the organs of the body.

All-American, Six All-Staters Head List of Prospective '56 Picadors

One high school all-American and six Texas all-staters are among the 55 Tech football players who reported to the campus Friday for opening of grid practice.

James Shurbert, former stand-out for Ralls High School, is the all-American choice.

The all-staters are Juan Delgado, Ozona; Bobby Allman, Albany; Duane Day, Graham; Shelby Hudson, McCamey; Joe Legette, and Billy Sisk, Lewisville.

Five of the future Picadors played in the North-South football game here in August that was a feature of the Texas High School Coaches School.

They included Robert Benton, Lubbock; Gene Bruerigam, Aubrey Conner, Waco; Delgado and Shurbert.

Some of the better known area players are David Bourland, Abilene; Charles Flanagan, Dumas; Tommy Pace, Amarillo; Duane Powell, Lamesa, and Homer Rosenbaum, Abilene.

Coach Tom Hamm will be making his debut as Picador coach this year. He held assistant coaching jobs at Vicksburg, Mississippi, and Enid, Oklahoma before coming to Tech. Hamm played his college ball at Mississippi State, 1948, and Tulsa University, 1950-1952. At Tulsa, he was named to the all-Missouri Valley Conference team as guard.

Only two games have been scheduled for the Picadors thus far. The frosh will challenge San Angelo Junior College at San Angelo September 21, and will meet the West Texas frosh at Canyon Sept. 28. The Picadors did not play either of these teams last year, but the San Angelo game will have the added attraction of several ex-Picadors playing for San Angelo.

Tech's Picadors compiled a 3-2 record last season with wins over Tyler Junior College, 13-12; Ardmore Air Force Base, 28-7; and the Hardin-Simmons Frosh, 33-21. The losses were to Fort Hood, 42-13, and Sheppard Air Force Base, 20-7.

Former Teammates To Meet Saturday

Former high school teammates will look across at each other from opposite sides of the scrimmage line Saturday in Jones Stadium in the season opener between Tech and Texas Western.

The most outstanding duel between ex-teammates will be that of a couple of Graham Steers. Guard Kenneth George, probably Texas Western's top lineman, and quarterback Don Williams, Tech's captain, both played together at Graham and are seniors now.

Tackles Glen Woods and Cullen Hunt of Tech both played at Abilene High with Texas Western tackle Dan Boyd. All three are sophomores.

Lubbock, home of seven Tech players, is where Miner tackle Robert Bobo played high school ball. Former Westerners in the Tech lineup are end Pat Hartsfield, halfback Jim Berly, tackle Jim Henderson, tackle Charlie Moore, tackle Phil Williams, end Bobby Young, and quarterback Buddy Hill.

In a sense, even the opposing head coaches were on the same "team." Mike Brumblow of Western and DeWitt Weaver of Tech were both assigned to the Pacific with the Navy in World War II.

Lubbock's finest department store . . . 1212 Ave. J.

We at Hemphill Wells get a big kick out of this time of year...this "old town" perks-up when the "Green Caps" start cropping-up...and things really start buzzing. WE LIKE IT!...and we hope all you new Freshmen will come to like us too. Drop by our downtown department store and let us meet you...We would like to invite you to make this your downtown headquarters..Use our Tea Room for a special coke date or a luncheon or as a meeting place. Meet many Tech students as well as many Tech Exes among our employees. Ask them to help you with your needs.

Just a word about the Green Fish Caps that you probably have already purchased in our store. We would like for you to know that the entire proceeds (not just the profit) from the sale of the Fish Caps is returned to the college. One half of it goes to the Student Loan Fund and the other half goes to help the Red Raiders.

We're happy to see all our old friends among the upperclassmen back in town, too.
A HAPPY YEAR TO ALL OF YOU!
