

88 Enter Race For Class Positions

Tech's academic classes will choose leaders Wednesday in a campus-wide election of officers for the 1956-57 school year.

Nominations were made yesterday following convocation as all class meetings broke records in attendance. Eighty-eight persons were nominated and will appear on Wednesday's ballots.

Polls will be open in the Administration, Home - Economics, East Engineering, Agriculture and Student Union Buildings from 8 a. m. to 12 noon, and from 1 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Polls ordinarily close at 5 p. m.

but will remain open this time to permit persons who have afternoon labs to vote, according to Student Council members.

Identification cards will be necessary for obtaining ballots at the polls, and each student will be given a ballot according to his class.

Nominees are not limited in spending money for campaigns. Council members say, but if indiscriminate spending of money prevails during the election, a limit will be imposed before next year's elections.

Nominations for senior class president are Dale Roberts, Larry Glasgow and Dane Grant. Buck Johnson and Bob Laughlin received nominations for Senior Vice President.

Secretary nomination by the seniors included Jane Taylor, Pat Stooksberry and Lucinda Birteiel. AWS representatives nominees are Marianna Wilson, Beverly Wood and Polly Ann Kennedy.

Junior class president nominees were Richard Ligon and Barton Long. Bill Waddle, Jim Blackwood, Susie Miller and Bill Crenshaw will try for junior vice president.

Billy Sue Gregory, Mary Massey, Gerry Lewis, Jackie Brooks, Revis Jordan and Mary Ann Mattox are nominations for Junior Secretary. Four candidates for Junior AWS representative are Sara Sheveland, Mary Alice Richardson, Jane De Wald and Pat Curry.

Sophomore presidential nominations include Don Grimes, Milton Vaughn, Jerry Thompson; Wayne Gibbons, David Steinman, and Donnell Echols.

Vice presidential candidates are Frank Jones, Hollis Swathford, Richard Estes, Marilyn Adrian and Lloyd Morris. Kay Atkins, Sharla Pepper, Candy Parker, Toni Banister and Karen Williams will try for sophomore secretary.

Six candidates for sophomore AWS representative are Jean McQueen, Simone Smith, Roma Caviness, Peggy Donnell, Kay Alexander and Marilyn Miller.

Tech's frosh, largest group on campus this semester, nominated

39 persons for the four positions open to members of the Freshman class.

Eleven nominations for frosh president included Bob Kennedy, Mack Beavers, Mac Robertson, Richard Stewart, Walter (Dub) Heffington, Don Oliver, Norman Womack, Carl Cannon, Bill Dean, Joe House and Pete Dyson.

Vice-president nominations were Gordon Graves, Gordon Deering, Lloyd Lane, Bill Lyles, Joe Winston, Larry Todd, Kenneth Cummings, Joe Gilliland, Dewey Bryant and Buddy Whippo.

Included in an even dozen candidates for frosh secretary were Sandra Hendrix, Rosa Riojas, Boo Brown, Sandra Burt, Evelyn Whittenberg, Johanna Zournas, Margie Miller, C. V. Johnson, Kay Liner, Carolyn Porter, Jimmy Nolen and Ruth Swainland.

Frosh candidates to the AWS representative position are Kay Miller, Jeanette Gross, Jean Smith, Mary Sue Wilson, Ann Fish and Donna Pearson.

Speech Dept. Sets First Presentation

The first production of the Speech department for 1956 will be "Subway Circus," a fantasy by William Saroyan, to be presented Oct. 15-16.

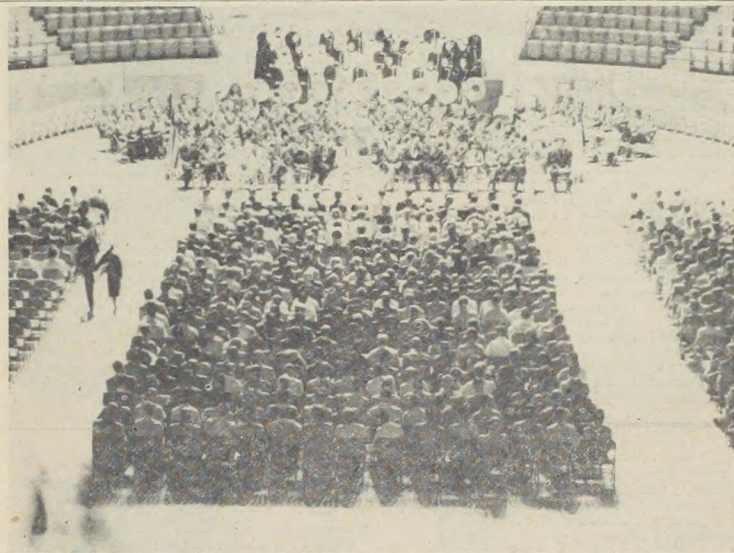

Admission has not been set but will be cash, as only one production per semester is covered by the activity fee.

On Dec. 3-8, the second production will be presented. This will be "The Merchant of Venice," by Shakespeare. This is the activity fee production.

Casting for "Subway Circus" has been completed, and rehearsals started on Sept. 27. The cast includes: Scene I: Questions and Answers; the boy, Roland Myers; the teacher, Rebecca Pierce; the principal, Jerry Adams; Scene II: "The Lovers" Stenographer, Marsha Riely; the Clerk. Scene VI: "Social Revolution" the lady, Barbara Van Horn; the Butler, Dale Karpe; the flunkey, Bill Martin; Guests, Darlene Darrell, Kay Fraizer, Nancy Henson, Jane Shawver, Jean Whiteley, Cecil Trainer, Louis Young.

This play is an experimental one, according to R. E. Schulz, assistant professor of speech who is directing it.

No casting has been done for "The Merchant of Venice," but will be done as soon as "Subway Circus" is over. Anyone interested in a part in "The Merchant of Venice," either in production or in acting, should contact Schulz.

UNDER ONE ROOF — Mighty Texas Tech almost got under one roof for the first time in its 31-year history Wednesday at the annual convocation. Some 5,000 of Tech's 8,000 students were on hand to hear a speech by Dr. E. N. Jones and various other speakers and activities.

Dr. Jones Challenges Tech To Be 'Best'

By NITA HEDLESTON
Toreador Staff Writer

"The challenge of Texas Tech, the state, nation and the world is to take advantage of the fifth freedom and be one's best." So spoke Tech's President E. N. Jones Wednesday morning before an all-college convocation crowd of more than 5,000 in colorful Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

In his speech President Jones emphasized the importance of staying at one's best only while a student but later as a citizen.

The president said that society has the right to expect the best of Texas Tech as an accredited institution of higher learning and Tech has the right to expect the best from its students. He added that the students should try to be the best mental children now, and later, the best possible alumni.

"The dream and prayer of all Tech students," spoke the president, "should be to have constant ambition and go higher and bring credit not only on ourselves but on our alma mater as alumni."

President Jones urged the students and faculty to keep up the tradition of friendliness on the campus by speaking not only to students and teachers but to strangers visiting Tech. He added that the "Eyes of Texas" will be on Tech this weekend in Dallas and he expressed hope that Tech students will demonstrate their spirit of pride in Tech while in Dallas.

Dr. Jones was introduced to students and faculty by Charles C.

Thompson, chairman of the Tech Board of Directors, after music provided by the Tech band and choir and an invocation given by Dr. A. W. Young, sponsor of the Student Religious Council.

"Prelude in E Minor" was played by the band under the direction of D. O. Wiley and the choir, under the direction of Dr. Gene Hemmle, sang "Battle Hymn of See DR. JONES Page 2

New Women's Dorm Planned For '57 Term

A new women's dormitory to be located northeast of Doak Hall will be ready for occupancy by the fall term of 1957, according to Tech vice president, M. L. Pennington.

Tech's eighth major dorm in its over 30 year history is to cost about $1,890,000, according to Pennington.

The building will follow the modified Spanish Renaissance architecture which is the theme of all of Tech's major buildings. It will be an L-shaped structure. Total capacity is to be 375 women. It will replace Casa Linda, women's cooperative dorm, and will cause the closing of the 14th St. entrance to the campus, Pennington said.

Most of the fixtures will be of a built-in type. Moveable furniture, such as desk chairs and dining room equipment should cost around $33,000.

"At present," Pennington stated, "we are awaiting approval of our application from the Housing and Home Finance Agency."

Also planned are two new men's dormitories scheduled for completion by 1958. These will be located west of the cinder track. They will have a capacity of 1,436 men and cost around six million dollars.

LA VENTANA SEEKS STUDENT PICTURES

Pictures for La Ventana, Tech's yearbook, have traditionally represented less than 60 per cent of the student body in past years.

In an effort to get near perfect representation for the 1957 version of the annual, La Ventana Editor Barbara Pearce has advised students to have their pictures made before long lines form at the studio after deadlines have been announced.

No deadline has been set, and pictures are being made at Koen Studio's new location at 1311 College. Registration receipts are necessary for identification when taking pictures.

Special Train Leaves Here Friday For Dallas Tech-Aggie Football Tilt

The special student train for the Tech-Texas A&M game leaves Friday at 10 p. m. for Dallas, and arrives in Dallas at 8:15 a. m. Saturday. The train will be composed of 12 cars.

Receipts will be given those students making the trip. Game tickets, will be given to every student with a receipt.

Upon arriving in Dallas, a pep rally will be held at the Fereis Plaza. After the rally, students may take buses to the fair grounds.

The band will march in the ing parade at 10 a. m. Saturday. Game time is 8 p. m. Saturday. The train leaves Dallas at midnight Saturday, and arrives in Lubbock 10:30 p. m. Sunday.

Sponsors for the trip are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wingfield, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers, Dean and Mrs. Lewis N. Jones, and Dean

Florence Phillips. Glynn McGee is in charge of the preparations.

Four Tech Students Get Scholarships

A quartet of Tech agronomy majors have received scholarships totaling $1,200 from the West Texas and Eastern New Mexico cotton ginners.

Dr. A. W. Young, head of the agronomy department, announced the scholarships which are divided into four $300 awards.

The scholarships were established by the Bigham Gin Supply Co. and the Anderson and Bigham Sheet Metal Works of Lubbock to be given by the ginners.

Letters To The Editor

Your editorial in the Sept 27 issue has caused me no little concern and I feel that, even though I did purchase an activity book, I must speak in behalf of those "poor sports" who have evidently cast a shroud of shame on our campus by not choosing to pay their $21.

In the very first place I failed miserably in weeding out any logic in Mr. Foraker's argument. How does a person necessarily show disloyalty to and shame for an institution merely by not taking advantage of an option given by that institution?

If I prefer football to basketball and care little for the Artist's Courses, why should I shell out $21, (which I may not have), for season tickets to all three when I can attend the five home games alone for little over $15?

If I carry no deep affection for basketball, I feel no personal loss of school loyalty by not attending the games. Indeed, Mr. Foraker's editorial would have us students believe that our first and greatest loyalty in school is to support student activities and athletic events—and that anything short of this is shameful disloyalty. And yet those alleged "poor sports" who, for their own reasons, did not pay the fee will continue to make our campus the "largest in the world" and play their own roles as students, campus leaders, student officers, engineers and what-have-you. Disloyal? Not by a long sight. Ashamed of Tech? I hardly think so. Poor sports? Poor leadership? That's pretty harsh judgement to pass on students whose college objectives and ambitions go quite a bit higher. I'm sure, than the buying of activity books.

I am a Georgian. Nevertheless, I'm proud to be called a Texan. But I cannot subscribe to your philosophy that I am more worthy of the name than those who didn't desire to or couldn't buy an activity book.

Loyalty is a gem of many facets. They also serve who only stand and wait.

Sincerely, Ronald Wetherington Doak Hall

Be not unduly concerned, Ronald. Ten years from now such momentous matters as student activity books will seem rather insignificant, no doubt.

I, too, am just a student... a small tater in the garden of watermelons. We students (at least the majority of us, judging from the more than 4100 activity books sold) seem to feel that the best way to show loyalty to a college is to support the extra-curricular activities. What else is there to support? One must go to class in order to pass a course. There's nothing outstanding about that. But it takes a person with some good old-fashioned deep-eyed school spirit to attend the functions of the school which he is not required to attend nor particularly enjoys attending.

Like you say, "Loyalty is a gem of many facets." And most gems can be cut to the number of facets desired; no, Ronald?

P. S. Welcome to Texas. —Paul Foraker

WHERE'S OUR FLAG?

There was something sadly lacking besides touchdowns at the Tech-Texas Western game played at Jones Stadium a week ago Saturday.

Where was our proud Texas flag? The flagpole was there, but the great flag of the Lone Star State was noticeably missing.

One hundred eight-seven men thought enough of our Texas flag to give their lives for it at the Alamo 120 years ago. Have we drifted so far from the spirit of Colonel Travis and James Bowie that we don't even bother to fly the flag for which these men died?

Could it be that someone thinks it unnecessary to fly the flag of the only state in the nation that was once a Republic? Is it possible that someone is so lacking in state pride that he hasn't taken the trouble to see that its flag was properly flown? Or was it just an oversight?

We sincerely hope that the latter is the case, and that our Lone Star Flag will be flying along with the Stars and Stripes at all future events at Jones Stadium.

—Paul C. Foraker

THE SEARCH FOR BRIDEY SIGAFOOS

It was a dullish evening at the Theta house. Mary Ellen Krumbald was sticking pins in an effigy of the house mother; Evelyn Zinsmaster was welding a manhole cover to her charm bracelet; Algelica McKeesport was writing a letter to Elvis Presley in blood. Like I say, it was a dullish evening.

Suddenly Dolores Vladnay stood up and stamped her foot. "Chaps," she said to her sorors, "this is too yawn-making! Let's do something gay and mad and wild and different and gasp-making. Anybody got an idea?"

"No," said the sorors, shaking their little sausage curls.

"Think, chaps, think!" said Dolores and passed Philip Morris Cigarettes to everybody, and if there ever was a think-making smoke, it is today's fresh and zestful and yummy Philip Morris. Things come clear when you puff a good, clean, natural Philip Morris—knots untie, dilemmas dissolve, problems evaporate, cobwebs vanish, fog disperses, and the benevolent sun pours radiance on a new and dewy world. Oh, happy world! Oh, Philip Morris! Oh, regular! Oh, long-size! Oh, get some already!

"One, two, three."

Now Geraldine Quidnunc, her drooping brain-cells revived by a good Philip Morris, leapt up and cried, "Oh, I have a perfect gasser of an idea! Let's hypnotize somebody!"

"Oh, capital!" cried the sorors. "Oh, tingle-making!" "Yes," said Dolores Vladnay, "it is a splendid idea, but hypnosis requires a pliant and malleable mind, and we are all so strong and well-adjusted."

At this point, in walked a young pledge named Alice Blugrown. "Excuse me, mistresses," said she, "I have finished making your beds, doing your homework, and ironing your pleats. Will there be anything else?"

"Yes," snapped Dolores Vladnay. "When I count to three, you will be hypnotized."

"Yes, excellency," said Alice, bobbing a curtsy.

"One, two, three," said Dolores.

Alice promptly went into a trance.

"Go back," said Dolores. "Go back to your fifth birthday, back to your birth, to before your birth, to your last incarnation. . . . Now, who are you?"

"My name is Bridey Sigafos," said Alice. "The year is 1818, and I am in County Cork."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"How old are you?" asked Dolores.

"I am seven," said Alice.

"Where is your mother?" asked Dolores.

"She got sold at the fair last year."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Tell us about yourself," said Dolores.

"I am five feet tall," said Alice. "I have brown eyes, and weigh 3200 pounds."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Isn't that rather heavy for a girl?" said Dolores.

"Who's a girl?" said Alice. "I'm a black and white guernsey."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Moo!" said Bridey Sigafos.

Tech Inter-Dorm Council Meeting Set

Tech's men's inter-dorm council will meet Thursday to elect officers for the 1956-57 school year.

The inter-dorm council replaced the inter-dorm senate during the spring semester of last year. Representative from women's dormitories were included in the old inter-dorm senate.

Purpose of the council is to promote greater fellowship; unity and individual responsibility among members of the Tech men's dormitories; to sponsor functions and services which will benefit residents of the men's dormitories; to provide a means for them to participate in extracurricular activities with more harmony; to serve as a sounding board for problems which concern all dormitory residents; and to serve as a coordinator and liaison body among men's dormitories.

Membership is made up of the president, vice president, and an elected representative from each dormitory. The council meets every two weeks at a time and place to be chosen by its president.

One of the first activities for the council will be Dad's Day. The council will work with the AWS on this project. A Christmas social, probably a dance, is also being planned. The event will be for all resident of the men's dormitories.

Open Rush To Continue Here

Seven of Tech's ten national social sororities are now participating in informal rush, which began Monday and will continue through Oct. 27.

Sororities participating and the number of girls they can pledge include. Alpha Chi Omega, 17; Alpha Phi, 37; Delta Delta Delta, 1; Delta Gamma, 1; Gamma Phi Beta, 10; Sigma Kappa, 11; and Zeta Tau Alpha, 3. Kappa Kappa Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Pi Beta Phi filled their quotas during formal rush in September.

Rushees must be regularly enrolled in Tech for 12 or more hours to participate in rush. Any girl previously enrolled in any college must have a "C" average to be eligible. Girls interested may sign up in the Dean of Women's office at any time during this period.

Rushing will take place in form of coke dates, with a maximum of five sorority members with a rushee at one time. No sorority may pledge a girl until Monday, Oct. 15.

ROTC Units To Pick Sweethearts Today

The annual election of Air Force ROTC Sweethearts is to be held today at 4 p.m. in various assigned assemblies, according to Capt. Gerald Rambo, Information Officer. Army ROTC will meet in the Gym for its election.

Prospective sweethearts of Army ROTC will be introduced as nominations by their sponsors at 4 p.m., immediately preceding the election.

Air Force squadrons will assemble for elections as follows: Squadron A, Agriculture Engineering Auditorium; Squadron B, Administration building; Squadron S, West Engineering Building; Squadron D, main Aggie Auditorium.

Presentation of the Air Force Sweethearts will be held Sunday in the Student Union Building, Capt. Rambo said.

AWS Plans Busy Schedule

Campus co-eds may be kept busier than usual the next few months by following the full agenda planned by members of the AWS, campus organization for women students.

Margaret Gibson, Bryan, chairman of the freshman program committee announced there will be three more programs presented in the next few weeks, time and places to be announced. Pointers on good grooming, poise, fashion, and other items of interest will be the theme of the coming programs. Freshman women and all others interested are invited.

The Big and Little Sisters program is still in progress, reports Rebecca Wilson, Lubbock, vice president of AWS. Though the formal activities of this committee are over, big and little sisters are still counseling together in hopes that no stone will be left unturned to make co-eds new to Tech campus feel that this is truly their home.

Erma Lilly, Brownwood, chairman of the activities committee, discloses that work is now going on to "spread around the honors." In regard to the number of offices a girl may hold, the limit is now set at 15 points per person. This action is taken in order that no girl will find herself overworked with extra-curricular activities while another may be left with very few social responsibilities.

Tech Set For Aggie Tilt

Texas Tech's Red Raiders travel to Dallas this week for a game with Texas A&M Saturday night. It will be the 15th meeting of the two schools, with the Aggies holding a edge in the series, 11-3. According to the present outlook, A&M will be expected to increase this margin even more after Saturday's game.

The Cadets, only team to knock off powerful TCU last season, has begun this season with triumphs over Villanova and LSU. Tech, meanwhile, lost its first two games, to Texas Western and Baylor.

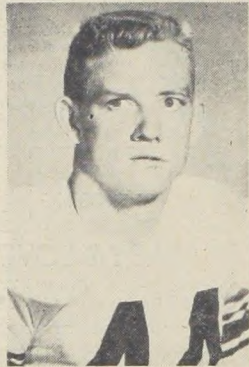

Coach DeWitt Weaver has reshuffled his starting lineup considerably as a result of Saturday's game and recent workouts. M. C. Northam is back at the right halfback slot, and Pat Hartsfield, recovered from his recent illness, is back at right end.

Sophomore Milton (Rabbit) Vaughn has taken over the other halfback position, and Phil Williams was upped to first team tackle.

Paul (Bear) Bryant will throw up an experienced team against the Raiders, who won the last contest between the two, 41-9 in 1954. Stalwarts for the Aggies are fullback Jack Pardee, guard Dennis Goehring, and halfback John Crow.

The game, which is the official out-of-town trip sponsored by the Student Council, is the first to be played in Dallas by Tech since they met the Aggies there in 1951. Actually, the two teams have met each other on home grounds only four times in the previous 14 engagements. The 1932 game was played in Amarillo, with eight games, from 1943 to 1950 being played in San Antonio.

AGGIE SPARKPLUG—John Crow, halfback for the Texas A&M Aggies, is expected to be on hand for the game in Dallas Saturday to deal misery to Tech's Red Raiders.

PICADORS LOSE

Tyler Junior College's Apaches manhandled the Tech freshman footballers Saturday night, to the tune of 59-0.

The Picadors, absorbing their second defeat in as many outings, were dealt double misery. Officials penalized the Tech frosh 18 times for a total of 152 yards.

Union To Hold Ping-Pong Tourney

Table tennis players are invited to sign up now for the annual all-college tournament to be sponsored by the Student Union.

Entrants sign up at the newsstand in the Union building, and have until Friday to enter. There will be a men's singles and doubles tournament. Trophies will be presented to the winners in each division.

Play will start as soon as brackets have been drawn up. Rules will be posted simultaneously with the brackets. Contestants must contact their opponent, and arrange the time for the play-off.

Due to lack of interest shown last year, there will be no girls' tournament this year.

Texas Tech and Texas A&M met on the gridiron for the first time in 1927 with the Aggies winning 47-6. The next game, also an Aggie victory, was played in 1932 in Amarillo.

Football Deadline Set for Monday

Intramural touch football is less than two weeks away with the deadline for entries posted for Oct. 8 and play slated to begin Oct. 15.

The program consists of three leagues, Independent, Dormitory, and Fraternity, with each league winner at the close of play meeting in an elimination play-off to determine the overall champion.

The Independent and Dormitory League play on weekday afternoons from 5 to 6 p.m. behind the Tech Gym. The Fraternity League will have its action only on Sundays at 2 p.m. at the same spot.

Edsel Buchanan, director of intramurals, is urging all athletic team managers to turn in rosters for entries as soon as possible.

"Every year the majority of entries are usually made at the last minute and we don't want anyone to be left out this year," warned Buchanan.

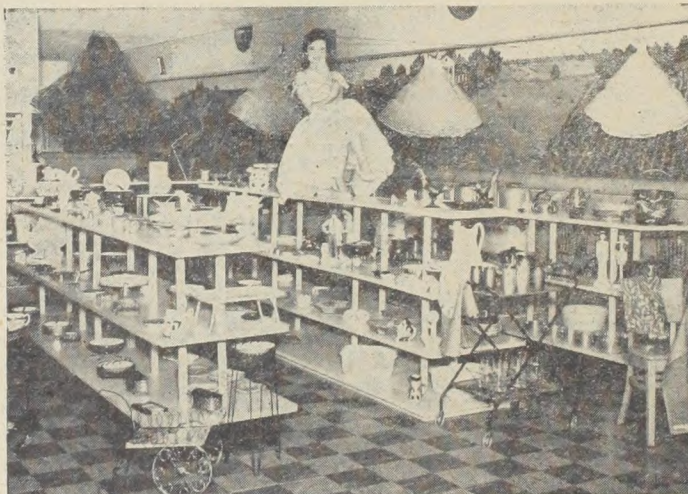

Team managers may turn in their entries at the intramural office in the gym anytime before the deadline date of Monday.

The National College Rules for touch football will be used in all games. The only difference between tackle and touch rules, other than the tackling aspect, is that no blocking or contact where a player leaves his feet is permitted.

Last year's champion was Baptist Student Union, from the Independent League. Sneed Hall captured the Dormitory title, as did Phi Gamma in the Fraternity League.
