Miss Mademoiselle

Pam Munson Wins Pageant

Petite 19-year old Pam Munson was crowned Miss Mademoiselle of 1966 before 500 persons Friday night in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

A sophomore education major from Lubbock, Miss Munson's main interests are dancing, modeling and water and snow skiing, and she is also a ballet instructor. Miss Munson was sponsored by Delta Delta Delta.

Joan Reynolds, a dark haired, brown-eyed beauty is Miss Playmate of 1966. Miss Reynolds is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Reynolds of Morton. Her hobbies include singing, modeling and horseback riding. Miss Reynolds also records for the Banner label. She was sponsored by Army ROTC.

"It's the greatest thing in my life," said Joan, "I'm so happy and I know my parents will be too."

Miss Munson's reaction was similar, "it's the most wonderful thing and I'm so excited."

Runners-up in the contest are: Shirley Stafford, sponsored by Alpha Phi sorority; Judy Formby, sponsored by Zeta Tau Alpha; Denise Humphries, Army ROTC; Jan Glenn, Wells Hall; Sherry Barton, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Sherrill Reagan, Gamma Phi Beta; Darlene Curtis, Home Management Residence House; Susan Logan, Army ROTC; and Miss Reynolds.

Miss Munson will be featured on the cover of the Mademoiselle magazine of the La Ventana. Miss Reynolds will be shown in a three-page foldout.

Sponsors of the contest are the La Ventana and Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism society.

37 Enter Competition For Miss Lubbock

Thirty-seven area girls will vie for the title of Miss Lubbock of 1966, Feb. 19.

The 37 entries, approximately 32 of which are Texas Tech coeds, began the pageant festivities Thursday night with a "Pepsi Cola" party at the home of former Mayor and Mrs. Jack Strong.

"We are trying to steer away from the word 'contest,'" said Mrs. Lou Key, production advisor, in favor of the word "pageant." It is not a contest in the sense that the word is usually used. The girls will be judged on beauty, talent and poise and this is actually the official elimination for the Miss America Pageant.

The theme this year is "Dog-patch" and instead of just a parade of girls it will be more of a show for the benefit of the audience."

The contestants are: Lynda Allen, Sterling City; Dana Adams, Abilene; Diane Etier, Deborah Kay Matern, Dallas; Nan Todd, Vernon; Jackie Kahanek, Pharr; Elvia Muniz, Lubbock; Marsha Greeley Gay, Mary Ester, Fla.; Susan Reed, Brownwood; Rebecca Shoemaker, Abilene; Karen Haynes, Lubbock; Irma Morrison, Lubbock; Susan Flowers, Midland; Darlene Curtis, Houston; Buff Rank, Amarillo; Betty Bergner, Stinnett; Judy Stewart, Lubbock;

Mary Wallace, Lubbock; Nancy Berchermann, San Antonio; Barbara Griffin, Abilene; Sharalla Payne, Cross Plains; Judith Garrett, Ballinger; Charlotte Henry, Sherry Cannon, Dallas; Carolyn Fincher, Abilene; Livvi Seibert, Ft. Worth; Shirley Schmidt, Santa Fe, N.M.; Shirley Stafford, Roaring Springs; Susan Speed, Lubbock; Patty Merritt, Richardson; Marcella Mason, Shallowater; Nana Kay Walters, Lubbock; Laura Lane Ely, Lubbock; Pam Munson, Lubbock; Laura Keith, Tahoka; and Susan Logan, San Angelo.

Allison To Meet With Senators

Al Allison, member of the Tech Board of Directors, will speak before the Student Senate 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Biology Auditorium.

This will be the first time a board member has appeared before the senate.

Allison was appointed to the board in 1961 by former Gov. Price Daniel. He graduated from Tech in 1930.

'Macbeth' Tells Many Themes

By MARGARET EASTMAN
Fine Arts Staff

The National Shakespeare Company will present "Macbeth" at 8:15 p.m. Monday in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

For more than 350 years, "Macbeth" has been one of the most popular of Shakespeare's tragedies. The poetic drama was written after Shakespeare had already established his reputation for tragedy with "Romeo and Juliet," "Julius Caesar," "Hamlet," "Othello" and "King Lear."

The tragedy has been analyzed for meanings of plot and theme, and critics have come up with many ideas. Some say the theme of "Macbeth" is, "Too much ambition leads to destruction." Others see the drama as a case history of a man and woman who, as thoroughly representative human beings, meet a temptation that is too strong for them to overcome.

Some critics say the tragedy centers around the manifestations of fear. Others see it as an illustration of a willful descent into hell in this life. Still others see the play as a morality tale of good and evil.

Shakespeare took the plot from British history, particularly from Ralph Holinshed's "Chronicles," but the story is not nearly as interested in historical accuracy as it is in the humanness of the characters. The play as a study of character and motivation is demonstrated in Macbeth's well-known soliloquy:

"Tomorrow, and tomorrow, and tomorrow, Creeps in this petty pace from day to day, To the last syllable of recorded time; And all our yesterdays have lighted fools the way to dusty death. Out, out, brief candle! Life's but a walking shadow, a poor player that struts and frets his hour upon the stage, And then is heard no more. It is a tale told by an idiot, full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."

Edith Sitwell, author of "A Notebook on William Shakespeare," said of the drama:

"In this vast world torn from the universe of night, there are three tragic themes. The first theme is that of the actual guilt and the separation in damnation of the two characters—the man ... and the woman ..."

"The second tragic theme of the play is the man's love for the woman whose damnation is of the earth, who is unable, until death is near, to conceive of the damnation of the spirit, and who in her blindness therefore strays away from him, leaving him for ever in his lonely hell."

The third tragic theme is the woman's despairing love for the man whose vision she cannot see, and whom she has helped to drive into damnation."

Harold C. Goddard, author of "The Meaning of Shakespeare," describes "Macbeth:"

"The opening scene and the closing act are given to war; the rest of the first act and the second to murder; the third and fourth to tyranny—with further murder. The play leaves us with the feeling that offensive war, crime and tyranny are merely different faces of the same monster. . . ."

"How did Shakespeare have the audacity to center a tragedy around a murderer and tyrant, a man so different in his appeal to our sympathies from a Romeo, a Brutus or a Hamlet? Doubts remain in many minds whether such a creature could ever have existed. But Macbeth is at bottom any man of noble intentions who gives way to his appetites."

Tickets for the Lubbock presentation of "Macbeth" are available at the Union downstairs ticket booth. Since the play is sponsored by Tech Artists Course, there is no charge for student tickets. Tickets for faculty and immediate families are $2. Admission is $4 for the general public.

FILM SERIES

"Hud," first in the Popular Film Series will be presented at the Union, at 8 p.m. in the Coronado Room. Sunday at 3 and 7 p.m. The film stars Paul Newman and Patricia Neal.

RELIGIOUS INTEREST COUNCIL

Religious Interest Council is having a general council meeting noon Monday, room 209 of the Student Union.

Orient Vies With Occident In August Moon Comedy

By BARBRA WORLEY
Fine Arts Editor

It was the East versus the West, and the victory wasn't exactly Occident when "Teahouse of the August Moon" took to the stage Thursday at the Lubbock Theater Center.

The Center's eighty-eighth production in nineteen seasons played to a capacity audience at its opening and charmed the viewers into an Oriental world invaded by the democracy-spreading propagandists of the American Occupation forces.

Villagers Versus Army

On the one side are the villagers of Tobiki, Okinawa, whose spokesman is the most delightful near-scoundrel since Falstaff. Sakini, played with charming agility by Roland Myers in eastern makeup, confiscated army boots and socks that fall down when he runs, is mediator not only between the eager Okinawans and the bumbling Americans but between the stage people and the audience.

"We don't have to worry about our culture," he says, "The Americans are bringing their culture to us."

Schoolhouse Plans Changed

Succeed he does, if not in carrying out the well-laid plans of mice and Congressmen, at least in endearing himself to the Tobikians by donning a bathrobe-turned-ki-mono and altering the schoolhouse plans into those for a teahouse.

How this all comes about, despite the strong and hilarious loud objections of Joe Riordan as Colonel Wainwright Purdy III (the III meaning son of a son of a son), from the story of this delightful post-war serviceman's comedy.

Director Burt French's casting is excellent, down to the last chattering villager and the sets, done by Tom Wigley and Jorge Barreto provide an atmosphere which takes the audience from an army GHQ to a Geisha house and really makes them feel as if they had been there.

Tickets are sold out for Saturday's performance of "Teahouse of the August Moon" at the Lubbock Theater Center.

There are still tickets remaining for the Sunday matinee and the 8:15 p.m. performance Friday, February 11. Mrs. Burt French, in charge of the box office at the Center, said chairs in the aisles might be made available for either or both of these performances if necessary.

Tickets are $2.25 for adults and $1.15 for students, and reservations may be made by calling SH4-3681.

Music Dept. Schedules Programs

The Music Department will present Faculty Chamber Music Concert at 3 p.m. Sunday and Sandra Carpenter in a Senior Recital at 8:15 p.m. Monday.

The concert, under the sponsorship of the Friends of the Library, includes selections by Raphling, Dutilleu, Fasch and Bach. It will be presented in the foyer of the Tech library.

Miss Carpenter's recital is presented in partial fulfillment for the Bachelor of Music degree in Applied Music. It will be at the First Methodist Church.

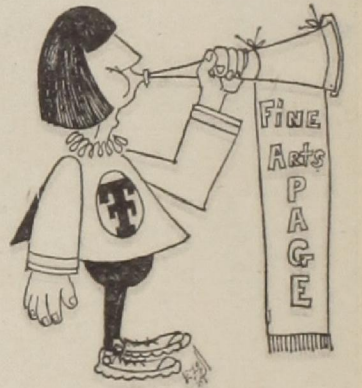

Both programs are admission-free.

Fine Arts Reminders

The Union is scheduling two dances today, each in conjunction with the Tech-Texas basketball game.

A Noon Dance from 12-2 p.m. will serve as a pep rally with the Velveteens providing the music. It will be in the Ballroom.

After the game, the Misfits will play for the second dance, also in the Ballroom. Both dances are admission-free and visitors are welcome.

David Tenniswood
B.S., Michigan State Univ.
M.S., Michigan State Univ.

Opportunity comes early at Ford Motor Company. Graduates who join us are often surprised at how quickly they receive personal assignments involving major responsibilities. This chance to demonstrate individual skills contrasts sharply with the experience of many young people entering the business world for the first time. At Ford Motor Company, for example, a graduate may initiate a project and carry it through to its final development. One who knows is David Tenniswood, of our research staff.

Dave joined Ford Motor Company in July, 1961.

Assigned to our steering and controls section, he helped develop a revolutionary steering system that will facilitate driving in future Ford-built cars. Currently a design engineer working on suspension design and analysis, Dave has been impressed by the extent to which management encourages personal initiative among recent graduates like himself. Here, management looks immediately to young engineers, like Dave, for fresh concepts that reflect their academic training and special abilities. Moreover, when the idea is accepted for development, the initiator is frequently given the opportunity to see the job through—from drawing board to production line!

The experience of Dave Tenniswood is not unusual. Ford Motor Company believes that early incentive is fundamental to individual growth and a successful career. If you are interested in a job that challenges your abilities and rewards enterprise, we urge you to contact our representative when he visits your campus.

To Right A Wrong...

IN COMPETITIVE team sports, a combined effort on the part of everyone involved is often the only difference between victory and defeat.

Also, if any member of a team chooses not to "play ball" with the rest of his teammates, the worth of that team is next to nothing.

Almost the same thing can be said about audiences and sports fans. If just a few hotheads or hecklers boo, throw paper cups, toss pennies or otherwise disrupt the action of a game, then the entire audience will be judged by those few and the fans lose their value as team supporters.

That is the situation Texas Tech faces this weekend. University of Texas Coach Harold Bradley has judged Tech fans by the actions of a few and has mistaken great school spirit as a form of intimidation.

We know he is wrong in most of his accusations, just as all Tech students know his claims are unjustified. However, the problem now is to prove to Coach Bradley—and to everyone who heard his comments—just how wrong he is.

And the best way to prove he is wrong is to go to the game tonight and follow the lead of the Saddle Tramps.

A Time For Change...

TECH'S REGISTRATION procedures may finally catch up with the size of the school.

After the disorder and confusion of spring registration and numerous student complaints, the administration is taking steps to inaugurate (not just discuss) an up-to-date and appropriate method for Tech registration.

Roland Anderson, Student Association President, in his "State of Texas Tech" address, mentioned a meeting with Dr. William Pearce, academic vice president, to discuss plans for a committee which would have the authority to plan and initiate a new registration system.

What's more, Tech students will have a say on this committee through student representatives selected from the Senate.

This action marks a big step forward for Tech and one long overdue. With any luck, Techsians will no longer have to go through the confusion and chaos that marked the recent spring registration. Such disorder was unreasonable for a university of Tech's stature. Many juniors and seniors were unable to take courses needed for their degree plans, and freshmen were at a complete loss when some 4,000 of them showed up with the same registration hour on the first day.

The problem facing this new registration committee is a big one. Tech's registration program does not need just a few minor changes, but a complete overhaul.

It is indeed good to see a group set up with the authority to do something about Tech's registration program, but it will be even better to see a new system put into effect.

Tech Welcomes YR's...

MORE THAN 150 Young Republican executive officers from across the state will be visiting the Tech campus today.

We are glad they chose Texas Tech as their meeting place for this year's gathering, and we are glad to have them here.

It is through hosting such groups—and Tech is becoming more and more of a host each year—that Texas Tech will be better known and better understood across the state.

We hope they will be impressed with our campus and our people; we are proud of them, too.

Kissing Causes Tooth Decay 'Disease?'

(ACP)—From the University of Miami comes news which may revolutionize the dating habits in America, says the Daily Reveille, Louisiana State University.

Dental researchers there have discovered that tooth decay is a highly contagious disease rather than a hereditary defect.

At first, this may seem insignificant. However, upon closer examination, who would knowingly destroy his ivory smile or earn himself a premature set of false teeth simply because he had been kissing the wrong girl.

Dr. Doran D. Zinner, one of the researchers, confirmed that tooth decay was caused by certain types of mouth bacteria. The dentist-microbiologist asserts that these bacteria are transmitted by direct contact, using case histories of rats, hamsters and humans to prove it.

A person will now need to check a prospective date's dental history as well as other vital statistics. The question arises of how this may be done without arousing suspicion.

Zinner announced that the best tooth decay protection comes from the use of flourides. Here is a positive area for discrimination. Once a person knows where his date is from, he need merely check his pocket guide of flouridated water supplies in the United States. If the local supply is flouridated, then he can be sure by subtly plying her with water.

Another method which might prove helpful calls for a bit of sleuthing. By staking out in the drugstore, one could take note of what kind of toothpaste she buys.

With this social problem exposed, one can with proper precaution be sure before saying "Pucker up."

on House committees, regardless of the outcome of the fall elections.

This is inevitable because of the realignment of the Gulf coast districts now served by Reps. Clark Thompson of Galveston and Jack Brooks of Beaumont and east districts of Reps. Ray Roberts of McKinney and Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater.

Thompson is on the important Ways and Means Committee, which handles tax and social security legislation. Brooks is chairman of a Government Operations subcommittee and ranks high on the Judiciary Committee.

Since they are thrown into the same district, one won't be back. Ironically, Brooks is one of the most likely successors to Thompson on Ways and Means in the event the latter doesn't return. Seniority generally is the controlling factor in committee appointments.

Although several other Texans have seniority over Brooks, most of them are so high up on the seniority ladder in their present committees they would likely forego the chance to go on the tax levying committee.

Roberts is on the Public Works and Veterans Affairs Committees. Beckworth is on Foreign Affairs and the Post Office and Civil Service Committees. Since they, too, are thrown into the same district, vacancies will be created on the committees to which one or the other are assigned.

Aside from the direct affect the redistricting has on the congressmen, their constituents also will feel repercussions. In Dallas County, for example, where several new representatives are to be elected, much correspondence is sure to be inadvertently misdirected to the wrong congressman. In such cases the recipient will relay the letters to the proper member.

New GI Bill Expected

Favorable House action Monday would mean $100 to $150 a month to an undetermined number of Tech ex-servicemen effective June 1.

The House Veterans Committee Thursday unanimously approved a bill providing permanent education and loan benefits for servicemen who were in uniform since the 1955 cutoff date of the Korean GI Bill.

A more costly version of the so-called "Cold War GI Bill" won Senate approval last year.

Speaker of the House John W. McCormack, D-Mass., announced that the House version will be called up Monday under suspension of the rules—a procedure that requires a two-thirds majority for passage.

Major provisions of the bill include:

—All servicemen who were on duty for at least 180 days after Jan. 31, 1955, would be entitled to one month of education or training for each month spent in uniform, with a maximum of 36 months. Payments for full-time students would be $100 monthly for men without dependents, $125 a month for those with one dependent, and

Officer Program Offered

Lt. Cmdr. O. D. Brown, naval pilot from the Dallas Naval Air Reserve Station will be on campus Tuesday through Friday, in the library.

A program for pilot training leading to commissioned officer status is available to men who are within one year of receiving a degree and are between the ages of 19 and 26.

Students currently enrolled with 30 semester hours completed may apply for Aviation Reserve Officer Candidate (AVROC) training. The AVROC must complete two eight weeks training periods at Pensacola, Florida during the summers prior to graduation. The applicant will be commissioned and placed on active duty when he receives his degree.

Training is also offered in Aerial Navigation under the Naval Observer Program.

Interested students who pass a three hour Navy Flight Aptitude Examination may qualify for a trip to Dallas where physical examinations are given and formal application for one of the programs may be made. Students may take this examination without obligation.

$150 for those with more than one. The scale in the Senate bill is $10 a month higher in each category. Unlike the program in effect in World War II, tuition would not be paid.

—The education benefits would become effective on June 1 and would have to be completed within eight years of the date of discharge. In the case of men already discharged, the time limit would be eight years from June 1.

—The Veterans Administration would guarantee private home and farm purchase loans up to a maximum guarantee of $7,500 and could make direct loans up to $17,500 if private financing is not available.

The loan benefits would become effective upon enactment of the bill.

Veterans Committee Chairman Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., said the committee revised the bill's language to make it clear that persons volunteering to serve on active duty for six months and then go into the Reserves will not be eligible for benefits.

Tech Takes Honors In Plant Identification

Texas Tech's range plant identification team walked off with top honors in New Orleans Wednesday for the second consecutive year in judging competition with 10 other colleges and universities.

Jimmy Brown, a senior member of the Tech team from Wellington, was first among individual competitors with a score of 995 out of a possible 1,000. Darrell Ueckert, a senior from Merkel, and Sherman senior Jack Prichard were tied for fifth place with scores of 990.

George Mitchell, junior from Breckenridge, is the fourth member of the team. Dr. Joseph L. Schuster, an assistant professor of range management at Tech, is team coach.

Jet Airliner Plunges

TOKYO (AP)—A Boeing 727 jet airliner carrying 133 Japanese plunged into Tokyo Bay Friday night in a pillar of fire. An airline spokesman said hours later the wreckage showed no signs of survivors, making it the worst disaster involving a single plane.

Flying in perfect weather, the plane was minutes away from Tokyo Airport when its pilot radioed he would land visually without instruments. Then the airliner vanished from radar screens.

Villagers along the shore and the pilot of another plane said they saw flames stab the darkness of the bay at about 7 p.m.

Most passengers were returning from the annual winter carnival at Chitose, 600 miles north of Tokyo and point of origin for the flight.

Aviation's worst previous crash involved a Boeing 707. An Air France liner crashed June 3, 1962, in Paris killing 130. Before that the worst had been another Tokyo crash in 1953 of an Air Force C124 Globemaster that killed 129 U.S. servicemen.

The worst disaster was the death of 134 persons in the collision of two airliners over New York City, Dec. 16, 1960.

The All-Nippon Airway disaster was the fourth involving a Boeing 727 in the past six months. The other three, all in the United States, took 140 lives.

President Kaheiat Okazaki, said the line's other Boeing 727 would continue to fly unless the Japanese Civil Aviation Board grounds them.

In Washington, the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board offered the Japanese government technical assistance in looking into the crash. The Japanese authorities ordered an inquiry, and the Transport Ministry scheduled an initial hearing.

Army Officer School Available To Graduate

"Army Officer Candidate School is now available for graduating seniors for the first time in many years," said Col. B. W. Paden, professor of military science.

The College Graduate OCS Plan now makes it possible for any male student who will graduate no later than the summer of 1966 to attend OCS for the purpose of receiving a commission as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army.

One advantage of the new OCS plan is that the time spent in OCS training will count toward the two-year enlistment, in case for any reason the candidate fails the course.

Senate Position Now Open

A new interpretation of the Student Constitution has opened one position for a graduate student in the Student Senate.

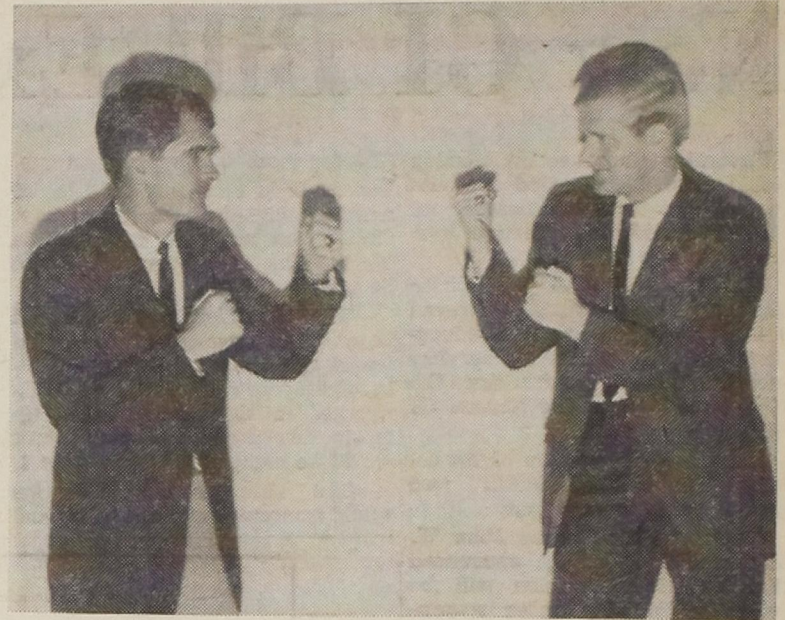

Any graduate student is eligible for this office. He can pick up his petition in the Student Senate office in the administration building on Feb. 8 and 9 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. All petitions are due before 5 p.m. on Feb. 10.

Vacancies in the Student Senate will be announced Feb. 8 by the council.

"The College Graduate OCS Plan will be an advantage for students during the current academic year who have not been able to participate in the Army ROTC program but still desire an Army commission," said Col. Paden.

Two orientation programs on the graduating seniors on Tuesday OCS Plan will be presented for from 2-3 p.m. and on Saturday from from 11-12 a.m. in room 22, Social Science Building.

Maj. Darrell B. Kampschrör, an OCS graduate and a member of the Tech Army ROTC staff, will explain the new program and will answer any questions.

GOP FIGHTS—There seems to be some debate as to which group of Young Republicans is larger and better, Tech's or the University of Texas'. Curtis Swenson, (left) president of Tech Young Republicans, and Eddy Kastarik, president of UT's, can't seem to agree so they decided to settle it the old fashioned way. More than 150 Young Republican officers from across the state will be visiting Tech today. (Staff Photo by John Palm)

Texas Challenges Tech

By GEORGE CHAFFEE
Assistant Sports Editor

Tech's Red Raiders, their fourth conference win tucked under their belts, face a speedy Longhorn crew in Municipal Coliseum tonight at 8.

Although Texas sports a poor 1-4 record, a fairly high scoring game is forecast for the conference tilt. Two 'Horns, Mickey White and Paul Olivier, hold scoring averages in the high teens. White ranks fifth in SWC scoring with an average of 19.2 points a game. Olivier is averaging 14.6 points a game.

Along with his high scoring, White also ranks high in rebounding and percentage shooting. Norman Reuther, who has done a good job on defense for the past three games, will guard White.

Longhorns Speedy

Although Texas has excellent shooting ability, their biggest threat lies in their speed. Talking with Raider coach Gene Gibson, you might think Tech was facing a track team rather than round-balls.

"This Olivier has terrific speed," he said. "Texas will fastbreak you all through a game and run a slow team crazy. They also do a fine job on the boards. Their main weakness lies in their lack of depth."

Gibson wasn't quite sure who would start for Texas since their lineup has been altered so much all through the season. In fact, Bob Ittner, a senior forward and team captain, will probably start on the bench.

It looks as though 'Horn coach Harold Bradley will start Olivier and Larry Lake at forward with White at center. Dale Dotson will start at guard with Billy Arnold or Noel Stout.

Usual Starters

Gibson will start his usual quintet of Dub Malaise and Bobby Measells at guard, Reuther and Billy Tapp at forward, and Bob Glover at center.

Despite Texas' poor conference record, Bradley has proved himself to be quite a successful coach. His career record shows 463 wins compared to 197 losses.

Bradley has brought quite a bit of publicity to this evening's game with his criticism of Texas Tech basketball fans who are, according to him, the "worst in the nation."

T'wixt Here 'n There In Sports

When you consider that two big drawing cards — Kentucky and Southern Methodist—were played, respectively, a few days after Texas Tech had closed for Christmas and between semesters, the average attendance figure of 8,477 for eight Texas Tech home games isn't so bad . . . That's fewer than 300 off the record-setting pace of last season. Kentucky drew 9,890 fans; SMU, 7,005.

Besides being between semesters, the SMU game was played on a day that began with minus three degree readings in Lubbock . . . fans had to cross ice and three inches of snow to get to the Coliseum . . . and all the time they could have stayed at home and watched the game on television. Doc Hayes' Mustangs have always been a good draw in Lubbock.

Dub Malaise is living testimony to the fact that you can still pass off frequently and not hurt your scoring output. Against SMU 14 of his passes led directly to Texas Tech baskets, and the 5-11 speedster himself accounted for 29 points. Against Midwestern Malaise had 26 points and 10 assists; against Baylor 16 points and 15 scoring passes.

Tech soph Bob Glover, the 6-7 Dallas Jefferson product, may be just now hitting his stride, but he wasn't exactly stumbling in December . . . in the Kansas State game he scored 28 points and gained 13 rebounds while holding his man, 7-1 Nick Pino, who fouled out, to four rebounds and six points . . . Pitted against Kentucky's Thad Jaracz, who got four rebounds and 10 points, Glover brought down 17 rebounds and scored 11. Glover's lowest point total, seven, came in the win over Arizona, but he pulled down 22 rebounds.

Toward More Quality

By MIKE LUTZ
Sports Editor

WHEN SEVERAL CUPS and paper wads began to shower down on the court at Municipal Coliseum Tuesday night at a tense moment in the Tech-TCU tussle, we were thankful Coach Bradley of the Texas Longhorns wasn't present to underscore his statement that Tech has "the worst crowd in the United States."

Because of Bradley's criticism of the Raiders gargantuan following, we may have a Southwest Conference first for today's game with the players watching to see what the crowd's gonna do. It's a fact that the crowd's got more publicity than the TT-UT cage clash.

Incident Regrettable

Tuesday's incident, although isolated, was regrettable and under no definition of the word sportsmanship will you find cup throwing a prerequisite. And if just one missile finds its way to the court in tonight's game, Bradley's contention will be given additional example.

We'd like to suggest that the entire student body get behind the Saddle Tramps in their campaign to set a good example for TTech supporters. The Tramps are rolling out the red carpet for the Longhorns and are planning other methods of showing the UT coach how wrong he is.

We'd like to compliment the Saddle Tramps for their efforts. This is exactly the way to quash Bradley's criticism.

It's quite obvious, even to the novice student of propaganda that Bradley made the statements in an attempt to twist the arms of tonight's officials into bending over backward to be fair to the Longhorns—and in the process, giving the UTs a few breaks.

But whatever Bradley's intentions, it's up to you, the crowd, to see that the Raiders are supported (and I mean really supported) well within the bounds of good sportsmanship. Let us suggest we support the Raiders not only in quantity, but also with quality.

From One Who Knows

AS ONE WHO frequently rode the bench during basketball season in his high school days, this typist knows what it's like to be thrust into a pressure-packed game and expected to produce without even the benefit of a few warmup shots.

So, we'd like to tip our hat to the Raiders' Dave Olsen, who had to do just that Tuesday night against the TCU Frogs.

Dave, a junior from Las Cruces, had been used sparsely this season and naturally was unaccustomed to performing under the intense pressure provided by the TCU game.

But when Coach Gene Gibson nodded Dave into the fight, Olsen responded by grabbing several key rebounds and eventually scoring two vital throws that put the Frogs under for good with but 1:17 remaining in the game. Another vital statistic on Dave is that his semester hours qualify him only as a junior meaning he'll be around for 1966-67 festivities.

Also becoming quite adept at clutch performances for Tech is Vernon Paul. The sophomore Oklahoman gave an outstanding relief performance against Rice last week, playing only eight minutes of the first half and scoring 11 points by halftime. His efforts against the Frogs were also commendable as were those of Russ Wilkinson.

But the fella really responsible for keeping the Raiders afloat against the Froggies was sharpshooter Bobby Measells, who pumped in 24 points to lead all scorers. Had it not been for several clutch buckets by Measells, the TTs might never have rallied to the heights they finally attained.

When two teams struggle throughout most of a game and suddenly, near the end, one unit breaks into a comfortable lead, it's sometimes difficult to observe if one team really surged or the other just slacked up.

CONFERENCE ACTION—New Mexico senior Dave Olsen fights an unidentified TCU cager for possession of the ball during the contest between the Southwest Conference contenders. Tech won the ball game for undisputed second place.
