omized under section 111, 112, and 113. Section 117 (a) provides that in the case of a taxpayer other than a corporation only the following percentages of the gain or loss recognized upon the sale or exchange of a capital asset shall be taken into account in computing net income: 100 percent if the capital asset has been held for not more than 1 year; 80 percent if the capital asset has been held for more than 1 year but not for more than 2 years; 60 percent if the capital asset has been held for more than 2 years but not for more than 5 years; 40 percent if the capital asset has been held for more than 5 years but not for more than 10 years; 30 percent if the capital asset has been held for more than 10 years.

These provisions are in general to the effect that, where property is acquired in an exchange and the property so acquired retains the old basis on which to compute gain or loss or where property is acquired from another person and the property retains the same basis on which to compute gain or loss as it had in the hands of the person from whom it was so acquired, the period for which the property disposed of in the exchange or the period during which the property was held by such former owner is also to be included in determining the period for which the property is held for the purpose of section 117 (a).

Beat yolks, add dry ingredients. Mix well and add vinegar and water. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until very thick and creamy. Add cabbage and serve. ## The Gold Decisions

It is not too much to say that any other decision by the Supreme Court would have created an almost impossible situation. To have upheld all the gold clauses, would have produced bankruptcies on a gigantic scale had the government permitted them to be enforced. To have upheld the gold clause on the government's own bonds would, if they had been paid, have put a terrific strain on the national credit. In the event, therefore, of an adverse decision on some or all of the cases, Congress would have been compelled to take measures to circumvent the court's decision. This would seriously have impaired the court's authority. It would have subjected the government to the charge of repudiation.

The alternative would have been an economic convulsion or a deliberate nullification of the court's decision by a Congress that would then be branded as a violator of the sanctity of contracts.

No constitutional system, embodying the principles of reason and practical wisdom could fail to be profoundly weakened if it brought about so unreasonable and so impractical a condition. It would have meant that legalism had rendered it impossible for the nation to protect its interests lawfully, and doubts of the most far-reaching and penetrating nature would have been raised as to whether lawyers and judges had not converted the Constitution into a straightjacket. The result would have been dangerous, for, as Burke one of the wisest of all conservatives, has said: "A state without the means of some change is without the means of its own conservation. Without such means it might even risk the loss of that part of the Constitution which it wished most religiously to preserve."

It was this consideration, rather than any minute hair-splitting about legal definitions, which was bound in the end to govern the opinions of the court, and a refusal to look at the question from this large and fundamental point of view would have signified that the court as now constituted, is no longer, as it was in the beginning

Band Suits Selected
All parents of the band students were invited to an ice-cream supper at Forsan Monday evening to take a vote on the type of band suits to be used. They selected white trousers and slacks with black capes and black and white hats. Over a hundred dollars has already been donated to buy the suits. The parents will pay what is not donated. The band entertained with a number of selections before ice cream and cake was served.

Mrs. Neely Entertains
Mrs. George Neely entertained a group of children Monday afternoon with a Valentine party at her home on the Gulf lease. After playing a number of games valentines were given out. Refreshments of sandwiches, hot chocolate and cake were served to: Laura Mae and Irene Willis, Lusia Ann Harter, Bill J. Phillips, Benny Cole, Ray Holt and R. L. Neely.

and has been in all its great phases, the guarding of the national interest. "A government," wrote Hamilton, "the constitution of which renders it unfit to be trusted with all the powers which a free people ought to delegate to any government, would be an unsafe and improper depository of the national interests." This government has been entrusted with the power to regulate the value of money, and a decision which held that private contracts or the contracts of one Congress could destroy that power, would have paralyzed at a particularly vital point the authority of the whole government.

It is possible to rejoice unreservedly in the outcome because, as it happens, the national authority has been sustained without inflicting any real injury on the individuals who brought the suit. Mr. Perry who had the best case of all, will receive in terms of actual wealth 1.7 times what he loaned to the government. His dollar in 1918, when the bond was purchased, was a much cheaper dollar than the 1935 dollar in which he will be paid back. Had he won his suit he would have been paid not only 1.7 times what he gave but 2.87 times as much. Thus, in fact he still makes a handsome profit, though he does not make the fantastic profit which he claimed.

The greatest importance of the decision is that it establishes beyond the possibility of further dispute the power of the government to regulate the value of money, or putting it in the fashionable language of the day, to manage the currency. This power has always been held to be an attribute of sovereignty and was put into the Constitution as a matter of course. In the modern world, however, this power has become more important to the safety of society than it has ever been before. For modern society, with its myriad transactions expressed in money, its tendency to accumulate fixed charges, and its liability to violent fluctuations in the value of unmanaged gold or paper currency, cannot face the future without the power of conscious control over its money.

That power is now confirmed and impregably established in the United States.

FOUNDER'S DAY CELEBRATED AT EAST WARD P.-T.A. MEET

Nominating Committee Appointed; Birth-day Tea Served To Members And Visitors At Close Of Session

Mrs. Long's room gave the program for the members of the East Ward P.-T.A. Thursday afternoon when the association met for its Founder's Day program.

The meeting opened with the group singing "America the Beautiful."

ARE YOU RUNDOWN, WEAK?

MANY women of middle age who are passing through the "change of life" need a dependable tonic. Then there are those women who suffer from weakening drains. All such women need the tonic effect of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Mrs. C. C. Carson of 2812 Ave. E., Houston, Texas, says: "About three years ago I was in a rundown condition and suffered from irregularity, cramps and frequent headaches. I used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and regained my strength and had no more trouble of any kind."

Mrs. B. Reagan made an interesting talk on founders day. She said the P.T.A. was founded on the great need the parents felt to do the best they could for their children. When schools were small before the P.T.A. was organized, it was easier for the parents and teachers to know each other; but as the schools and communities grew and people did not meet so often it was necessary to organize the two groups into one. If the founders could look down through the years and see the beautiful school building and improvements of today they could surely feel some of their goals had been attained.

The influence of the P.T.A., she said, reached now beyond the community and into the state, where it succeeded in giving the child the best in health, education and recreation. Its main object, however, remained the promotion of cooperation between home and school. To do this parents must provide the right kind of homes. Her closing thought was that wrapped in each child was the possibility of a great character; it was for the home and the school to develop it.

The program given by Mrs. Long's pupils dealt with February holidays. John Anna Terry gave a reading, "Valentine." The room gave a tribute to Lincoln and there was a reading in concert about George Washington.

After the pledge to the flag and the song "Our Flag," Lorenz Brooks recited "Just Pretend." Three of Mrs. Bruce Frazer's pupils rendered piano solos. During the business session, Mrs. Woods announced that the district convention would meet here in April. The P.T.A. voted to donate funds to help entertain the visitors and each member was asked to bring an amount for this to the next meeting.

Appointed on the nominating committee to select officers for the next year were: Mrs. A. J. Cain, Mrs. J. L. Terry, Miss Sarah McClelland and Miss Audrey Phillips. Mrs. Long's room won the attendance contest.

After the meeting the candles were lighted on the birthday cake

Jolly Times Bridge Club Has Valentine Session

Mrs. C. B. Sullivan entertained for the Jolly Times bridge club Wednesday afternoon with a pretty Valentine motif. Heart mints were served during the games.

Mrs. James made high plus and received a candy jar. Mrs. Badgett was presented a picture for guest high.

At the tea hour Miss Devada Lee Moore, sister of the hostess was a guest. A sandwich plate was passed containing heart-shaped boxes of mints. Mrs. R. L. Badgett and Mrs. Odie Moore played with the following members: Meses, R. L. Fritchett, Jack Hall, H. V. Crocker, Milburt Barnett, E. W. Lowrimore and G. L. James.

There will be no meeting during the revival. The next session will be held on April 3rd.

"Joseph In Egypt" To Be Presented By Montgomery Ward

CHICAGO—Joseph in Egypt, to be treated as the second part of the story of Joseph and His Brethren will be presented by Montgomery Ward as the next of the "Immortal Dramas" series over an NBC-WFAP network Sunday, February 24 at 2 p. m. E. S. T.

This program follows the episode of the Coat of Many Colors which was produced last Sunday.

The narrative takes up at the point where Joseph is in the prison of Pharaoh and accurately interprets the dreams of his fellow captives who have fallen in ill favor with the king. Pharaoh, also perturbed by a dream which he has had, and finding his magicians at a loss to tell him what it means, is told of Joseph and seeks his counsel. Joseph interprets the dream to mean that there will be seven years of plenty in the land to be followed by seven years of famine and is promptly rewarded by being made Pharaoh's first man.

His subsequent meeting with his brothers and their happy reunion offer passages which will rival those already presented on this series for dramatic effectiveness.

MUSIC of such composers as Ravell and Schumann, together with modern classical and original compositions, will be scored in proper balance and played by a symphonic orchestra. Vocal choruses and chants by an A Capella choir will also be blended to the dramatic narrative.

Much time and effort has been given to the choice and arrangement of the music used in these "Immortal Dramas." Since surprisingly little classical music has been composed with stories from the Old Testament as the inspirational theme, it has been necessary to select a variety of compositions of the great masters which, because of their prevailing mood or tempo, are found suitable for the script.

After appropriate music has been chosen many hours of patient rehearsal are required for proper volume control and timing.

Of the programs thus far produced music of such composers as Tschanninoff, Respighi, Brahms and Liszt have found particular favor while music by the Russian group of Moussorgsky, Borodin, Glinka and Glazunov have also been used extensively.

The Faith Motif from Wagner's Parsifal is used in the introduction of each program.

son, F. C. Van Open and Gene Wilson.

here Sunday evening.

T. W. Baker and son C. J. are much improved since the sunshine has come out again. They have been ill of pneumonia.

Every one is invited to prayer meeting services each Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the Baptist church.

Rev. and Mrs. Ben Ferguson spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Lee McClaren Sunday.

The school here is doing extra good work this year, with Mrs. Boley and Mrs. Coffey as teachers.

MISS DORIS DONOVAN

Doris Donovan, above, will appear as singer with the Lloyd Wells orchestra at Hotel Settles ballroom Saturday evening beginning at 9 o'clock. Having previous professional experience with nationally-famous orchestras, including Hogan Hancock and Fisher's Hollywood, Miss Donovan is said to have qualities extraordinary. Lloyd Wells orchestra, having played at two previous dances at the Settles, is meeting with popular favor here.

Give the boy a hand—Vin Burge comments in one of the Beaumont papers:—"Of the new recruits a young giant named L. L. Brummett will bear watching. For Brummett is said to possess a high hard one that all but tears the catcher's glove off. Brummett, 20 years old, six feet one and a half inches tall and weighing 190 pounds, comes from the wide open spaces of West Texas, or Big Spring, to be more exact. Out there he has already established quite a reputation for himself. In the semipro leagues of that territory he is known throughout the country side for his blazing fast ball. One day last season he struck out 23 batters and since the opposition included several former coast leaguers the feat became more than passing interest. Maybe another Schoolboy he is, and maybe not. Speculations such as this are what make the spring training season which starts before long, now, so engrossing to the genuine baseball fan."

What A Pitching Pair, If—

If you could be certain that two of the Boston Red Sox pitchers could be counted on to win 49 games between them, you would be inclined to concede the American league pennant to Tom Yawkey's entry, wouldn't you? There is no way of being certain, however.

Over a period of four years starting in 1929, Lefty Grove and Wesley Ferrell together averaged 49 games per season. But there is little likelihood that they will match that mark now they are team-mates in Boston. On the strength of their last year's records the odds are greatly against their even approaching that figure.

Ferrell, with a late start due to a squabble with the Cleveland club, did well enough after he got under way and managed to finish the season with a respectable record, 14 victories against 5 defeats. He might possibly continue at the same pace this year and go well over the 20 game mark.

The big question, of course, is what Lefty Grove will do. The lean left-hander had a disastrous season in 1934. Last spring he turned up at training camp with a sore arm. Dentists extracted his teeth and surgeons, yanked out his tonsils but the old left arm did not choose to respond. He did finally get around to doing a bit of tossing but all he could show for his season's work was eight wins against an equal number of losses.

In the earned run column, his mark of 6.52 placed him in 63rd position among the 65 listed. Quite a drop, indeed, for one who had ranked ahead of them all not so far back.

As far as his 1934 record is concerned, Lefty prefers to "skin it" and dwell on his chances in the coming campaign instead. He feels certain that his valuable left arm has regained its lost cunning and that he is a good bet to win at least 20 games this year. That prediction ought to put Mr. Grove in the optimist class, to say the least.

A winter of hunting, walking, bowling and working out on the rowing machine has put Grove in fine physical condition. Lean and limber, he looks ready to go to work right now. He insists that he has not felt the slightest pain in his left arm all during his winter vacation.

It's the common thing for ball players to visualize big seasons ahead before the race gets under way, so Lefty's enthusiasm might well be taken with a grain or two of salt. He will be 35 before the season starts and, too, there is no denying the fact that Grove has subjected his salary whip to more than ordinary strain on many occasions as he did in 1933 when he pitched nine games in twelve days—from April 20 to May 6.

His "iron man" acts were colorful at the time but they aren't going to enhance his come-back chances.

In spite of Lefty's unimpressive showing last year, Tom Yawkey and Eddie Collins have not lost confidence in their $125,000 purchase. Some reports have it that his new contract calls for the same amount he received last year, $25,000. More likely, Grove will be working on a scaled document and if he is to earn anything like last year's sum he will have to win a stipulated number of games.

Lefty Grove may yet supply the spark which will ignite the spirit of the pennant hungry Red Sox. All the team now needs is the idea that it can go places. Inspired teams win more pennants than the mechanically great ones.

The nice rain and snow, which fell several days ago was appreciated by all. There has been much sickness in these parts lately, mostly influenza and some pneumonia.

Mrs. W. E. Allison, who has been sick for some time, is reported much better.

Mrs. A. M. Whetsel is real sick this week.

High Holcombe, who has been expected to go to Oklahoma this week end.

Rev. Ben Ferguson filled his regular appointment at the Lees Baptist church Sunday and Sunday night, bringing two able sermons. A good attendance for Sunday school was reported. There were five new members present, four in the morning and one conversion at the evening service. The W. M. U. meets each Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the church. Every one is invited to attend.

Those who attended the birthday party given by Mrs. Williams honoring Mrs. McDonald, reported a good time.

Mrs. Dick Madison is operating a first class boarding house now, reporting a large number of "back-stays" who say the home-style cooking is great.

Ira Kirkpatrick and family spent last Sunday with friends in Monahan.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Phillips of Panther Draw attended church.

Home Season For Aggies To Close

COLLEGE STATION, (Sp.)—Anxious to stop their downward swing in Southwest Conference standing and to break a three-game losing streak, the Texas Aggie engers will close their home season Saturday night in a tilt with the cellar holding Texas Christian Horned Frogs. The Aggies last won two weeks ago when they downed the Frogs 40-36 at Ft. Worth and since have dropped two games to Southern Methodist and one to Rice.

The Aggies, however, have had to battle not only their opponents but also the "flu" in their past four games. Max Tobline, center, missed both the T. C. U. and Dallas S. M. U. tilts and played only a few minutes in the second S. M. U. tilt and little more than that in the Rice game. Tommy Hutto, forward, saw only momentary action in the latter two. Coach John Reid still is hopeful they will be back in top shape for Saturday night's game.

Following the T. C. U. engagement the Aggies will face a tough three-game road trip in closing their season. They will play the conference leading Arkansas Razorbacks March 1 and 2 at Fayetteville, Ark., and the University of Texas Longhorns March 6 at Austin. In their eight games to date this season the Aggies have won three times and lost five. They are now fifth in Southwest conference standing, a half-game ahead of the Baylor Bears.

Washington Favorite Not Cherry Pie but Mother's Gingerbread!

Gingerbread just like George Washington ate when he was a boy made from his own mother's private recipe is the brightest idea yet evolved for February 22nd menus!

Not cherry pie (sad reminder of a transgression) nor yet that combination cake-pie which has been given his name, were the favorite foods of our first President. George, just like our own Georges, liked gingerbread—warm, spicy chunks of it!

We are indebted to an attic-rummager for this historic fact, a happy and curious soul who unearthed Mary Washington's cook book, written in her own fine hand, from under a pile of forgotten rubbish. To the Daughters of the American Revolution of Fredericksburg, Virginia, we are indebted for the recipe, treasured for many years.

and delicious gingerbread, you can do so without a whit of trouble. For this 200-year old recipe of Mary Ball Washington is the very one used, by special permission, for the new gingerbread mix. If you want to have the gingerbread Washington—and Lafayette, too—enjoyed, just add a cup of water to the mix and bake! Serve it hot, cold, frosted or plain; serve it with whipped cream, fruit, or sauce. Or make festive party-cakes this way:

Gingerbread Flag-Cakes
Bake the gingerbread in the form of cup cakes, using muffin tins or paper cups; add only three-fourths cup of water to a package of mix for cup cakes. When done, split in two, fill with whipped cream to which crushed pineapple or nuts or chopped dates have been added. Replace top, garnish with additional whipped cream and put a miniature flag on top each one.

Use less cream for filling if you like, or frosted cakes and decorate with three candied cherries and a leaf.

Flem Hall explains about our boy Tack:—"A few days ago, in commenting on the squawk raised by Oklahoma University's track coach that other states have been grabbing Oklahoma's stars, we wrote: "What Jacobs forgot to mention was the athletes Oklahoma has gotten from other states," and in a list mentioned Tack Dennis, who went from Big Spring to Tulsa University.

Gently, John Young of Wink, a former player under Francis Schmidt at Tulsa when it was Kendall college, protests. He says:

"Tack Dennis was taken to Big Spring by Coach Obie Bristow, himself a former Oklahoma school athlete and that Tack was only returning to his native state when he went to Tulsa university."

Young misunderstood if he thought we were kicking about Oklahoma getting Texas athletes. Far from it. We're all for "free trade," and were only chiding the kettle for calling the pot black.

Johnny Neel of Hobbs, N. M., according to our old friend Cotton Clover, is planning to head a small army of golfers to Big Spring when the annual Country club invitation tournament is held. Hobbs is always well represented at Big Spring tourneys, and a number of the New Mexico boys manage to make the championship flight.

Whoopie! Work has been started on the tennis courts and soft ball diamond in the city park. Some of the enthusiasts are planning to build bleachers around the soft ball lay-out, and improve the lighting facilities, although the field was one of the best in West Texas last year. Soft balls are being made this year especially for night play.

San Angelo is to start spring football work some time the latter part of April. The City of Big Spring gridiron, and not since 1929 have the Bobcats defeated the Steers on the local field.

CCC Team To Play Weatherford Here

The local CCC basketball team will play a two out of three game series with Weatherford here, starting tonight at 6 o'clock in the high school gymnasium. The second game will be played Saturday morning at 10 a. m. and if a third game is necessary it will be played Saturday afternoon.

The Weatherford team is undefeated in twenty-two games. In a recent contest with Brownwood the locals won two straight.

NEW MEANEST THIEF WORKS IN GREENVILLE

DALLAS, (UP)—A new meanest thief was discovered here when Paul Dodd of Greenville reported to police that a thief reached through a window and took $40 from his traveling clothes while he was in another part of the house being married.

The couple didn't let the loss spoil their plans but took a wedding trip anyway.
