PARK OF THE WEEK

HUNTSVILLE STATE PARK is on a paved park road that leaves U. S. Highway 75 six miles south of Huntsville. The park now has a 300-acre lake behind a dam that was rebuilt last year. The spillway of the original dam was washed out by a heavy flood in 1940. Its replacement was financed by selling timber selectively cut in the park's 2,000-acre forest. During the idle period the lake was expertly managed to get the best fishing. It was opened to fishermen June 1, 1957.

HUNTSVILLE STATE PARK, which opened for fishing on June 1, is practically a new recreation area offered to the public by the Texas State Parks Board. The 2000-acre park in a wonderful forest setting is not new. It has been little used, however, since November 24, 1940, when a twelve-inched rainfall on the watershed of the three streams feeding into Lake Raven washed out the spillway of the original dam. A new dam designed to combat the causes of the 1940 failure was completed last year, but it was not until the recent heavy rains over Texas that the lake again filled. Meantime, advantage was taken of the drought to prepare the lake for ideal fishing conditions. Harmful acid growths in the lake bed were removed. A scattering of beneficial growth was left to aid fish propagation. All rough fish in the small stream coursing through the lake bed were killed. The lake then was restocked with black bass, bream and crappie. Using information furnished by soil tests conducted by Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College, the lake was fertilized under direction of the Game and Fish Commission. Test catches were taken from time to time. Then the experts set June 1 for fishing to begin. Temporarily there will be a catch limit of five bass. Restrictions on boating and swimming, needed to help fish growth, and the catch limit will be relaxed as conditions justify the changes.

A paved road leading from U. S. Highway 75, six miles south of Huntsville, is one of the most attractive park drives in the state. Timber was marketed from the park forest to finance the dam rebuilding but no trees were cut along the roadway nor in the used areas of the park.

The recreation building, with a terrace overlooking the lake, is one of the best designed structures of the initial state park installations. It has been maintained throughout the idle period of the park.

At nearby Huntsville are the Sam Houston Shrine and museum, Houston's grave and relics connected with his life activities.

A NEW APPROACH TO THE SCREW-WORM PROBLEM
Texas stockmen will be keenly interested in a new procedure for eradicating the screw-worm now being tested in the Florida cattle country.

In a joint Federal-state operation, a project is now underway involving the use of male screw-worm flies hatched under laboratory conditions and sterilized through radiation exposure to cobalt gamma rays.

It is believed that when the sterile male flies are released in a screw-worm infested area, a marked decrease in reproduction will result when many eggs produced by female flies in the area fail to hatch.

The Florida experiment, which is being directed by R. C. Bushland of the Entomology Research Division at Kerrville, is not an attempt at eradication of the screw-worm but merely a test to see if it can be accomplished.

The research project grew out of a similar operation held on the Caribbean Island of Curacao in which a complete eradication was accomplished. In the Curacao project, 400 male screw worm flies per square mile were released. The Florida experiment will employ a release of 500 males per square mile each week for four months. This will require a total of about 2,000,000 lab-reared flies a week when operations reach their peak in the area to be treated, which is 40 by 50 miles.

The screw-worm is the larvae, or maggot, of the fly Callitroga hominivorax which develop from eggs laid on open wounds on animals. The screw-worm has been known to exist in Texas since 1842, probably coming up from Mexico.

Because of the heavy Mexican infestation which migrates to the North through Texas, the time eradication measure being tested in Florida presently would not be too effective in the South.

Extension Service Publishes Handbook On Lawns

College Station — A beautiful, well-kept lawn adds to the material value of a home and is a basic requirement for an attractive yard. Too, says E. M. Trew, extension agronomist, a properly established and well-kept turf gives an aspect of spaciousness, provides a cool, restful cover and prevents soil blowing and washing.

Establishing and maintaining a beautiful home lawn requires careful management just as do growing crops or pastures, points out the specialist. As an aid to those interested in establishing a new lawn or renovating an old one, Trew has revised Texas Agricultural Extension Service publication, B-203, Home Lawns, and it is now available at the offices of local county extension agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Such subjects as the best turf grasses for Texas; the establishment of new lawns; management of established turfs and occasional turf problems are covered in the publication.

Trew points out that such basic fundamentals as the choice of adapted grasses, good drainage, proper watering, fertilizing and mowing cannot be ignored if a successful job is to be done in building and maintaining good turf. These fundamentals are all treated in the revised publication in an easy to read manner along with recommendations for doing the various lawn jobs.

The bulletin is available at no cost from the above listed sources.

WHAT'S wrong with this picture? Wage increases are promptly labeled "inflationary" while price increases, with living costs now at highest point in history, are "gently chided."

Agricultural surpluses, instead of being used to provide adequate diets for millions of underfed Americans, and for starving people in other nations to strengthen the free world, are being used as a pretext for forcing farmers into poverty.

The President's budget adding up to a record $71.8 billion and on a par with wartime budgets, in terms of a 1955 dollar, would total only $30.6 billions of goods and services in terms of 1940 dollars.

Comparatively, in 1940 farmers spent $8.7 billion in cash on the operation of farms, while in 1955 they spent $21.7 billion, or more than three times as much in terms of 1955 dollars. Price increases took the first big upturn in 1953 immediately after price and wage controls were taken off the economy in this administration, and the hard money and tight credit policy was inaugurated by the Treasury Department, with the Federal Reserve Banking system, refusing to put on the brakes, as it had done in the past.

In 1957, the American people are paying at the rate of $425 billion dollars for goods and services which in terms of 1940 dollars would have cost only $194.5 billions. In other words the people pay $230.4 billions which added to the cost of things by inflation.

Take taxes—Personal taxes back in 1940 amounted to $2.6 billions. Today personal tax alone is running at the rate of $41 billions a year. President Eisenhower has tried to make a case for his super-budget. He points out that $41 billion goes for defense and that's not too high a price to pay for security. But he does not say why an airplane today costs three times as much as it did in 1940 or 1948, or why a submarine costs twice as much as it did seven years ago, or why Atomic Energy costs four times as much as it did in 1950.

Economists within the government say the reason for this picture is the so-called "wage-cost spiral" bringing about inflation. But inflation, real inflation is only brought about when total demand for goods and services far exceeds our productive powers, when the economy expands at an unusually fast pace, when unemployment is negligible and almost all prices and income spiral upward.

But today there is no shortage in anything. As a matter of fact total private and public demand for goods and services is far short of our productive capacities and the upward curve of our growth is flattening out. Soaring prices have not been caused by any excessive demand, nor justified by higher costs. And some economists outside the government see the cause as due to price fixing and profiteering, which is cutting into consumer purchasing power—which boils down to a factor of under-consumption of goods and services, rather than over-production. As a matter of fact, due to this under-consumption, production rate is on the down-grade rather than increasing. Growth in production rate has fallen from 4 1/2% a year in the 1947-53 period to about 2% from the fourth quarter 1955 to the fourth quarter 1956.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"I better hang up now, Gladys—I think Daddy wants to use the phone."

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

The So-Called Civil Rights bill, now being debated in the House, injects something new into American jurisprudence: it deprives a citizen of the right of trial by jury for certain alleged violations of existing laws, and makes him subject to trial by a Federal Judge who would make the final decision of guilt or innocence.

That is proposed by a rather clever gimmick injected into the bill, making the United States a party to all lawsuits concerning any alleged violations of the law if enacted. When the U. S., even technically, is a party to a suit, then under existing law the right of trial by jury is automatically denied to a citizen who it is contended has violated an injunction issued by a Federal Judge. If, on the other hand, the United States were not a party to the suit, then the right of trial by jury would remain inviolate.

Thus, in an appeal for colored votes, the Attorney General, who drafted that bill, would deprive a citizen of rights which are as dear to him as any civil right ever conceived.

Justly Proud — A constituent after reading the results of the questionnaire recently wrote me a note which contained this comment, which I think is well worth repeating: "The altruism, good sense and sincere interest in the stability and welfare of the nation above selfish consideration as reflected by a large majority of your constituents in response to your questionnaire undoubtedly made you justly proud, and it was in the restraints of modesty no doubt that you referred to them as 'good, average Americans' when you know they are far above average. In fact, as I see it, you enjoy the distinction of representing what remains of the true Americans."

Thanks to that constituent for a well-phrased and, I think, a well justified appraisal of the people in the 21st district.

Miss Pauline McCloskey of Dallas was here for the week end visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul McCloskey.

TELL US YOUR PROBLEM

AND LET US PASS IT ON TO HELP OTHERS IN SOLVING THEIRS.

BY JOHN and JANE STRICKLAND

SAM CALVERT, 25 Agnew Avenue, Montgomery, Alabama, says his intentions always have been good. Anyway, he renewed them on every New Year's Day as it came along. But he admits that on December the 31st every year he finds he has not lived up to his good intentions. Was this due to lack of desire? Not at all. Was it due to forgetfulness? Just that.

So one New Year's Day he wrote down five of his deepest failings. The next day he went out and got a baseball, just an ordinary baseball with a split in it. The split he set down as his Big Lack. On the ball he wrote the numbers 1 to 5 and what they represented:

- 1—Worry
- 2—Procrastination
- 3—Talking too much
- 4—Late for appointments
- 5—Not pleasant at home.

Then he went over and over in his mind which one, each number represented, went over them so many times he could not possibly forget what those numbers stood for. Now he attached a string to the ball and hung it from the chandelier of his bedroom.

After that when he arose in the morning he twisted the ball and then caught it and brought it to a standstill. The number nearest his thumb, he took for his disciplinary theme that day. He put aside all the good intentions in connection with the other numbers and concentrated on this one. It wasn't long before he had a good day's practice at each and all of those disciplinary measures.

He says he kept this up for months and that he still has the ball that made a different man of him. Further, he says the ball hangs in its old place.

Mr. and Mrs. Ora Henderson and Ora Beth of Snyder, came Saturday for a week end visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Blue of Santa Anna and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Henderson of Brownwood. Mrs. A. E. Campbell, who is at Marlin taking the hot baths, writes to the home folks here that she thinks she is improving.

Rites For Mrs. Robert Turner Held Sunday

Mrs. Robert H. Turner, the former Ouida Vanderford, died on Friday, June 7, at 3:23 p. m. in a Sherman hospital following a long illness.

Services were held in Sherman at 10:00 a. m. on Saturday, after which the body was brought to the Hosch Funeral Home in Santa Anna where the body remained for the services at 2:00 p. m. Sunday. Dr. Ben H. Moore, Presbyterian pastor, officiated at the rites.

Mrs. Turner was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Vanderford, at Santa Anna on August 4, 1909, being 47 years, 10 months and 3 days old at time of death.

She graduated from Santa Anna High School with the class of 1927 and trained for a nurse in the Sealy Hospital, under Dr. T. Richard Sealy. She finished her training from the Physicians and Nurses Hospital in San Antonio in 1933.

She was married to Robert H. Turner on July 3, 1936, in Kerrville. She and her husband had been living at Denison, for a number of years. Mrs. Turner was a member of the Central Presbyterian Church of Sherman.

She is survived by the husband, Robert H. Turner of Denison, a son of Mrs. Fred Turner of Santa Anna. Also surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Vanderford of Santa Anna and four sisters, Mrs. R. F. Watson of Irving, Mrs. J. O. Mayo of Coleman, Mrs. Warren Aldridge and Mrs. W. A. Pritchard of Santa Anna. A number of nieces and nephews and other relatives survive — also a host of friends.

Pallbearers were nephews of the deceased: Joe Watson, R. C. Watson, Wayne Watson, Warren Aldridge, W. D. Aldridge and Winston Aldridge.

Friends of the deceased were in charge of the floral tributes and burial was in the Santa Anna Cemetery with Hosch Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

FHA Loans In County Are Over $62,000

More than $62,415.00 has been loaned to farmers in Coleman County during the ten months ended April 30, 1957, by Farmers Home Administration, the county agency's supervisor, John H. Curry, announced this week.

During the same ten months' period, Farmers Home Administration extended credit in operating, emergency and real estate loans to some 18,500 Texas farmers and ranchers for a total of $54,773,000, the agency's State Director, Walter T. McKay, reported. This is an increase over the same period last year of about $5,500,000. "This increase is due primarily to the demand from family-type farmers for credit needed to place their farming operations on an efficient basis," McKay explained. "In fact," he said, "agency records reveal that there has been a slight decline in the demand for emergency credit so far this year. Long-term credit, to develop balanced systems and make full use of resources available, has been extended to a number of operators of family-type farms who previously obtained emergency loan assistance."

McKay and members of his staff are meeting this week with National Administrator, Kermit Hansen, to go over agency operations for next year. This meeting is preparatory to training meetings to be held for county office staffs throughout the State. The objective of these meetings will be to insure that maximum service is rendered to Texas Farmers and ranchers promptly and efficiently.
