Traffic Laws and YOU

THREE CATEGORIES

Last week in a Houston traffic court, the judge, while addressing some 165 persons charged with traffic offenses, said: "Traffic offenders should be placed in three categories. These are Can't, Don't and Won't." He explained that those who "can't" are the aged and the ill, who cannot drive properly due to physical infirmities. The "don't" classification, which he described as by far the largest, is those who have the skill and ability to drive properly, but don't. The "won't" category is the worst, he said. "Here you find all the repeaters and habitual violators. These people break other laws too. The 'won't' group should be penalized most heavily, for it contains the repeaters."

Now, you may be wondering why we mention traffic conditions in a large city. Regardless of the size of the city, traffic conditions and violations run about the same the country over. The same three categories can be applied to the local conditions.

Which group would you be classified in?

The Texas Safety Association says, "Speed control is for your protection. Cooperate with your enforcement officers! All it takes to determine a safe speed is plain common sense."

TRAFFIC LAWS

Driving on the right side of a roadway is required, except in the following places:

1. When overtaking and passing a vehicle proceeding in the same direction.
2. When the right half of a roadway is closed to traffic. All traffic should share the half that is open to traffic. (However, when your side of the roadway is temporarily blocked, as by a standing vehicle, you must yield the use of the open lane to opposing traffic.)
3. When a roadway is designated and posted as one-way.
4. When the roadway is divided into three marked lanes for traffic. A vehicle may use the center lane for overtaking and passing or for preparing to turn left.

Driving on the left side of a two-way roadway (even when passing) is prohibited:

1. Within 100 feet of approach to a bridge.
2. Within 100 feet of approach to or while traversing an intersection.
3. Within 100 feet of approach to a tunnel.
4. Within 100 feet of approach to or while traversing a railroad crossing.
5. In any instance where the overtaking vehicle cannot return to the right-hand side of the roadway before coming within one hundred feet of any vehicle approaching from the opposite direction.
6. Within a marked no-passing zone. A no-passing zone is the area where a yellow line is in your lane. (A double yellow stripe in the center of the roadway prohibits driving on the left side of a roadway.)

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goodwin and sons, Bobbie Joe and Barton Lee, and the Aubrey Ray Goodwins and son of Brownwood, left early Sunday morning for Eunice, New Mexico, where they visited with James Goodwin and family. They returned home on Sunday night. Bobbie Joe left for San Diego, Calif., early on Tuesday morning by train where he is stationed with the Navy on the U. S. Prairie Ship.

New comers to Santa Anna are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fitzgerald, who came here from Alvin. He is working in the road improvement project. Mrs. Fitzgerald was down town Monday afternoon with her fine looking two weeks old baby.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Aldridge and boys of Jal, New Mexico, are visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Aldridge and Van.

Pictured above is Governor Price Daniel signing into law a bill sponsored in the Texas House of Representatives by A. J. Bishop, Jr., of Winters. Bishop represents this area in the lower house. On the left of the Governor is Sen. Charles Herring of Austin, sponsor of the bill in the Senate and Bishop is pictured on the right.

The new law provides that pickups registered with farm licenses may be used for additional purposes and family transportation for such functions as attending church, transporting school children, medical purposes and other services as afforded a passenger licensed car.

Planting Season For Guar Continues To July 15th

The bountiful drouth-breaking rains have resulted in unfavorable conditions for the timely planting of spring and early summer crops and many farmers are running far behind schedule compared to the normal plan of operations.

The wide and extensive range of planting season for guar will be of particular interest to farmers in Texas where, for many crops, planting deadlines are advancing rapidly and, in instances, have already passed. Guar, a soil-conditioning summer legume, can be planted through June and the forepart of July as a combination soil-improving and cash crop offering substantial returns to the grower.

Guar is strictly a hot weather crop and thrives when moisture is available for growth. The 1957 summer season promises excellent performance for guar and apparent assurance of crop production, even on lands following winter crops of small grain.

Seed is in plentiful supply from wholesale seed houses and available through retail seed dealers. Plant guar like milo or hegarl, but at only 5 to 6 pounds per acre, and cultivate to keep fields clean. It harvests readily with standard combines.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Zachary of Freeport came early last week for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Zachary. On Wednesday they visited with other members of the family, Mrs. E. W. Parker at Odessa. On Friday they went to Brownwood to visit her mother, Mrs. Fletcher and to attend the Freeman reunion at the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Wallace and children returned here on Saturday from Denver, Colorado, where they had visited her mother, Mrs. Haggas. After visiting with his mother, Mrs. W. E. Wallace, they were to return to their home in the Rio Grande Valley.

Mrs. Frank Thigpen and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Fletcher of Graham, visited here briefly with Ralph Thigpen. Saturday afternoon they also visited Mr. and Mrs. Willie Fletcher at Bangs.

Mrs. M. A. Pritchard left on last Wednesday for Grandbury, to attend the 25th wedding anniversary of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Blanton, on June 15th.

Mr. J. A. Vanderford of Fort Worth, visited in the W. E. Vanderford home Sunday.

Local Firemen, who attended the State Firemen's Convention meeting in Waco during last week were: Milton House, Monte Guthrie, A. D. Pettit, Cliff Herndon and Charles Wristen.

Jane Horne and Linda Riley are attending summer sessions at A. C. C. in Abilene.

Who Are We, Men The Fairer Sex Is Also Strongest!

Austin — It may come as a blow to the male ego, but the facts are inescapable: men belong to the weaker sex — outnumbered, outwitted, and out-lived by the sturdier female.

Are women biologically more resistant to disease and death than men? Is the male animal shortening his life by greater aggressiveness, greater exposure to stress and disease, or by ignoring the laws of health? Can anything be done to reduce male mortality?

Male birth rates — 106 boys for each 100 girls — as well as death rates have, always been higher than the female rate. It has long been assumed that women are biologically more resistant to disease, tolerating pain and illness better than men.

There are also striking sex differences in causes of death. Lung cancer kills six times more men than women. The male peptic ulcer rate is four times as high, and tuberculosis and syphilis are twice as high. Three times more men than women commit suicide or are murdered. The odd thing is that higher male mortality, compared with females, extends to most animal species as well as to humans.

If differences in longevity of men and women were due solely to female biological superiority, the difference in death rate should remain constant. But instead, the female death rate has actually declined more rapidly than the male rate. In 1900 the white American female averaged 1.9 more years of life than her male counterpart. In 1953, she was living 7.2 years longer than the male.

Men are helping shorten their own lives. They have insisted on carrying the greater responsibility and have had to develop aggressiveness to meet that responsibility. Result: more worries, more stress, more contact with disease and physical dangers.

Women, on the other hand, are more likely to release pressure through tears, rest when they feel poorly, consult their doctor early when ill, and follow medical instructions better than men.

Much can be done to reduce excessive male mortality. One investigator has suggested a nationwide inventory of the physical, mental, and emotional assets and liabilities of men in preparation for intensifying the attack on accidents and occupational diseases and the research into cardiovascular diseases and cancer.

Alleviating the stresses of competitive living in a materialistic age requires that the fragile male be continuously instructed in the laws of health and encouraged to follow them.

Civil Defense Arm Bands Arrive Here

The regulation Civil Defense arm bands which those on the list of Civil Defense workers are eligible to wear, have arrived and may be picked up. The Arm Bands should be kept at hand in case of emergency should be worn by those on duty, as a mark of identification and authority.

J. B. Weathers, head of the Rescue Team, has the arm bands and any one eligible may get one from him. The cost is 16 cents each. It is especially important for the area to block wardens and rescue team members to get the bands, keep them with them at all times and wear them in case of emergency or disaster.

Summer Program Fund Increased By Fire Department

The Santa Anna Fire Department increased the Summer Recreation Fund to $213.00 this week when they contributed $25.00 to the fund. Other organizations might like to take an interest in the summer program by contributing sums in any amount.

A very congenial bunch of fellows, the Santa Anna Fire Department takes great pride in their organization and seldom does a worthwhile project fail to receive some kind of aid from them. These "Fireboys" as they are known, are due a big pat on the back for their untiring efforts for Santa Anna.

The following three weeks will be used for the girls of school age to participate in swimming lessons.

Each child taking the lessons is requested to pay 10 cents each day for admission to the pool. All other expenses are being taken care of by the women who are sponsoring the program and by volunteer contributions by interested citizens and business houses.

June 30 Is Deadline For Disability Insurance

More than one hundred thousand severely disabled people in communities all over the Nation will receive their first social security disability insurance checks in August, according to R. R. Tuley, Jr., district manager of the Abilene Social Security office, which services this county as part of its sixteen county district.

But many other eligible disabled workers 50 to 65 years of age, some of them no doubt living hereabouts, have so far failed to make application to the social security office. Those who have been disabled for work for a long time must apply before June 30, Tuley pointed out, or they will lose their rights to these new benefit payments.

Any severely disabled person who has worked under social security for at least 5 years and who has been disabled for 6 months or more should get in touch with his social security office right away, the social security district manager said.

If he is between 50 and 65 years of age, he may be eligible to have his social security record frozen to protect his future right to disability payments, and also his and his family's rights to old-age and survivors insurance benefits.

"Unfortunately there is a lot of misunderstanding," Tuley said, "as to how disabled a worker has to be to get social security disability insurance benefits or to have his social security record frozen. The rules in the social security law for deciding whether a person is 'disabled' are different from the rules in some other Government and private disability programs."

To be found "disabled" under the social security law, he said, a worker must have a disability which, in the words of the law, makes him unable "to engage in any substantial gainful activity." It must be the kind of physical or mental condition which shows up in the medical evidence, including his doctor's report, hospital reports, or special tests. It must have lasted for at least 6 months and be expected to continue for a long and indefinite time.

In general, he said, "substantial gainful activity" means the performance of a substantial amount of work with reasonable regularity in employment or self-employment. A person does not have to be completely helpless to qualify under the social security disability provisions, Tuley emphasized. Consideration is given to all of the facts in the individual's situation both medical and non-medical.

First consideration is, of course, given to the severity of his condition as shown by the medical evidence. This evidence must show that the person has a condition which makes him unable to perform significant functions such as moving about, handling objects, hearing speaking, understanding, or reasoning, so that he cannot with his training, education and work experience engage in any kind of substantial gainful activity.

Examples of some impairments which would, ordinarily be considered severe enough to prevent substantial gainful activity are:

1. Loss of two limbs.
2. Progressive disease which has resulted in the physical loss or atrophy of a limb; such as diabetes, multiple sclerosis, or Burger's disease.
3. Disease of heart, lungs or blood vessels which has resulted in major loss of heart or lung reserve as evidenced by x-ray, electrocardiogram or other objective findings so that, despite medical treatment, it produces breathlessness, pain or fatigue on slight exertion, such as walking several blocks, using public transportation or doing small chores.
4. Cancer which is inoperable and progressive.
5. Damage to the brain abnormality which has resulted in the severe loss of judgment, intellect, orientation or memory.
6. Mental disease (e. g., psychosis or severe psychoneurosis) requiring continued institutionalization or constant supervision of the affected individual.
7. Loss of diminution of vision to the extent that the affected individual has central visual acuity of no better than 20/200 in the better eye after best correction, or has an equivalent concentric contraction of his visual fields.
8. Permanent and total loss of speech.
9. Total deafness uncorrectof contempt of court for allegedly violating an injunction issued in connection with a labor dispute.

The Facts Are that the pending civil rights bill contains many provisions which were inserted by politicians because it appeared to be good vote bait to attract colored voters.

President Eisenhower has told Republican leaders he is opposed to making Federal Aid to School Construction permanent and appeared to be apprehensive about it. If approved, the President said he hoped it would serve its purpose and be ended before the expiration of his term.

This $2 billion bill will come before the House soon. The outcome at the moment appears to be in doubt. It will depend a lot on the public interest that is shown over the country. Most of the Texans appear to be opposed to the bill, and there will be very few if any Congressmen from our State who vote for it. At least, that is the way it looks now.

Tuley said most individuals with such serious disabilities are unable to work. There are cases, however, where a person with such a severe disability is working, or able to work, because of his special knowledge and skills. He would not be entitled to benefits, the district manager said, because he would be able to engage in substantial gainful activity.

A person might work occasionally, or intermittently and this would not necessarily mean that he was able to engage in substantial gainful activity. Both the nature of the work and the amount of money he earned would have to be considered.

On the other hand, some persons with conditions somewhat less severe than the ones listed above might be found unable to engage in substantial gainful activity because of the actual facts in their cases. If a person's condition coupled with his work background, his lack of education, training and other physical and mental resources does in fact prevent him from working, he would have a disability which prevents him from engaging in substantial gainful activity, and would therefore be found eligible under the social security disability provisions.

A post card or letter mailed immediately to Social Security Administration, Abilene, Texas, stating, "I want to file disability claim" bearing a signature and mailing address will keep any interested reader from losing out because of the deadline.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

HATCH AS HATCH CAN

By Don Wood

JIM BAGSBY shoved his fists deep into his coat pockets as he forced himself to climb the Colman County courthouse steps.

Hat jammed tight against the March wind, he told a passing sparrow, "If I never see another chicken it will be too soon."

Chickens and women, he glumly opined, made life frustrating. He made a mental note to leave full instructions for his successor before offering his resignation to the county supervisors.

Six weeks ago he had been a different man. His re-election as county Prosecuting Attorney had seemed assured.

That was before his secretary, who was to have soon been Mrs. Jim Bagsby, had attended a farm auction and had purchased a Rhode Island Red hen.

Installing the hen in the court house attic as a temporary measure had been Ellen's idea, he remembered. The arrival of six fluffy chicks some time later had been the hen's. He had stormed at the whole episode. It was downright unconstitutional. Ellen had been firm. Her ring, now resting in his pocket close to his fist, showed just how firm she had been.

"I won't let you move a mother at a time like this," she had said.

Some chickens might be discreet under these circumstances, Jim told himself savagely. Not Henrietta. She had gleefully clucked out her motherhood to the world. Ellen had aided and abetted the noise by rearranging a stack of sheet metal frames in the attic, to suit the hen's desires. The sheet metal, long an item of concern by the supervisors, was not a thing you willingly brought to their attention. The supervisors had purchased the frames for some unknown use years ago, and had tried in vain to sell them ever since.

Yesterday had been the final blow. A reporter from the Colman Banner had been in Jim's office, and the clucking noise upstairs had been at its usual peak. You couldn't expect a newsman to ignore the matter, even to save a prosecutor who was up for re-election.

He hadn't had the heart to buy a paper today. For that matter, he didn't need to. He could have written the headlines himself.

"County Prosecutor harbors refuge hen in court house attic."

He pushed hard on the court house door. It was jerked open from within. Someone called out, "Here he comes." A flashbulb blinded his eyes. From the crowded corridor he heard a voice say "The board is proud of you... fine work... your election is sure."

It was a long walk to his office. Ellen sat at her desk, a copy of the Banner spread before her. Over the shoulder of wellwishers he caught the headlines... "Prosecutor solves sale of surplus sheet metal. Proves frames ideal for chicken brooder use by unique research."

Jim closed the door on his last visitor. His arm was lame from being pumphaned. Ellen sat looking out the window.

He coughed, "Someone must have helped the Banner write that story. You?"

Ellen nodded, still not looking his way.

His arms slid around her shoulders. Her fingers squeezed his as he slipped her diamond back in place. "Is our June date back on the agenda?"

Ellen turned to let the light catch the glint of the ring. She slipped one dainty ankle over the other. "Might be, on certain conditions."

"Name 'em."

"Well, it seems to me that one good hen deserves another. I think I'd like to live in the country. Have a place large enough to put one of these brooders the supervisors are placing on sale."

Jim grinned. "Know something?"

"UM?"

"Suddenly I seem to have taken a liking to all chickens, including even Henrietta."

CARD OF THANKS

On Thursday of last week Mrs. H. B. Thompson of Dallas, drove her aunt, Miss Kathryn Baxter's car, from Waco to Santa Anna. Miss Baxter was not so well. Early Friday morning, Mrs. Norval Wylie, Mrs. P. B. Snook, who has been visiting here, Pete Wylie and Miss Baxter left for Mrs. Snook's home in Artesia, N. M. They also plan to visit in the E. E. Polk home in El Paso. Mrs. Thompson returned home by bus Friday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy McDonnell of Tokio, Texas, and children came on Monday of last week and visited through the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Lewellen. Mr. McDonnell is recuperating from a recent heart attack and is getting along fine.

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson declared Sunday that for the first time in history mankind faces the prospect of destruction not from war but from preparations for war.

"No two scientists agree on the amount of risk involved in the nuclear test explosions," Senator Johnson pointed out. "But they all agree that there is some danger from what they call strontium-90 in the fallout."

The United States cannot stop such tests unless Russia also stops them, the Senator said, adding, "And we cannot assume they have stopped unless we have absolute, airtight safeguards."

Senator Johnson called American and Russian leaders to exchange uncensored views over television facilities in the two countries.

"I think that if the Russian people had the facts even Krushchev would be unable to continue the mad communist arms race," he said.

The "cold war" has cost the United States more than 416 billion dollars, Senator Johnson stated, and Congress has appropriated 44 billion dollars more that has not yet been spent. He declared that total is 100 billion dollars more than the cost to this country of World War II.

"Some way must be found to bring both the 'hot war' and the 'cold war' to an end," he declared.

Rules To Determine If A Tax Is Due On A Gift

North Texas taxpayers are plagued with whether money or other gifts are subject to income tax. Hundreds call Internal Revenue offices to assure themselves that they do not owe tax on a gift. The donor of the gift in some circumstances might be subject to a federal tax on the gift, but ordinarily the receiver of a gift owes no tax, according to Sam Homlett, Administrative Officer of the Brownwood office. Here are the simple rules, laid down by Mr. Homlett on how to determine whether a gift is taxable or not:

(1) No gift tax is due on gifts of present interests to any one person which does not exceed $3,000 in value. For example, a wealthy oil man might desire to give each of his five children and 20 grandchildren $3,000 each year. He would not be subject to a gift tax, and no gift tax return would be due. Furthermore, in Texas (a community property state) the wife could also give each of the children and grandchildren $3,000 apiece without being subject to a gift tax.

(2) In addition to the $3,000 annual exclusion, each giver or donor is entitled to a $30,000 lifetime specific exemption — all or any part of which may be used in any year as needed. For example, if a gift of $10,000 is made to an individual in 1957 and no other gifts were made, a gift tax return would be due for 1957. On the return the donor would take the $3,000 annual exclusion and $7,000 of his $30,000 exemption and no tax would be due. However, for 1958 and future years he would have only $23,000 of his $30,000 lifetime exemption left. His wife, of course, has a similar $30,000 lifetime exemption.

(3) Actually in a community property state, a husband and wife can give tax free to one child or person as much as $66,000 in one year. They would, of course, exhaust the entire $30,000 lifetime exemption to which each is entitled during the year and have available in the future only the $3,000 exclusion for the receiver or donee.

(4) Gift Tax Returns are due to be filed by the giver or donor by April 15th of the following year. The return should cover all gifts made during the previous year.

(5) Any recipient of gifts are also due to file an Information Return, Form 710, reporting the gifts received. Taxpayers do not need to report gifts less than $3,000 in any year.

(6) Any person receiving a gift does not include such gift for income tax purposes.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

The big question now is, "Will the Senate restore the soil bank program?" The House knocked the farm program higher than a kite by killing the acreage reserve plan after the end of the present crop year. The vote came on an Administration request for an advance pledge of funds for Acreage Reserve payments in the 1958 crop year which would have to come out of the 1959 fiscal year budget. This advance pledge is made by Congress when it is necessary for government authorities to contract for payments, before the budget can be approved for the fiscal year in which payments are to be made. In this case contracts for the 1958 crop year acreage reserve would have to be signed this Fall in the case of winter wheat. So the House refused to approve the advance pledge. It left the conservation reserve phase of the soil bank intact, at a maximum rate of $250 million per year in payments.

Actually the 1958 soil bank payments did not have the effect of increasing the farm income, nor did the soil bank in 1956 cut down on total production. For instance the average payment to corn farmers was $527 and the average set-aside per corn farm was 14 acres or about $37 per acre. The corn farmer certainly lost money on that deal. In the meantime Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson told the House Agriculture Committee that he wants a farm program for basics, the same as now in effect for soy beans and secondary feed grains. In other words he wants "full flexibility" which would give him the authority to cut supports as low as he wanted.

The House trimmed about $300 million out of the Benson budget and held funds for experiment stations, extension service and research at the 1957 level. Since 1952 the agricultural experiment station appropriations have been upped 133 per cent, from $12.7 to $29.5 million; the extension service has been boosted 50%, from $32.1 to $43.9 million. The House Committee in denying increases said: "To continue rapid intensification of agricultural production, with added depletion of the soil of the nation, seems to the Committee to be at cross purposes with other policies."

A grassroots movement to curb inflation has moved into Washington in the National Citizens' Committee to Curb Inflation and has set up a national conference at the Mayflower Hotel for June 24 and 25. The movement is headed by Paul C. Stark, of the Stark Nurseries in Missouri, and is the outgrowth of a movement for local community improvement chaired by W. F. Rockwell, Jr., President of the Rockwell Manufacturing Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Some of the top financial men in and out of government, including government economists, will speak before the two-day conference, and a number of panels, manned by members of Congress and Business Leaders will hear various phases of the budget, inflation, efficiency, states rights and a half-dozen other subjects discussed. Non-partisan in nature, Stark and his committee members have been received by Congress with open arms, as the first group in years to come down to Washington, not to pressure Congress, but to save money.

GROWING IMPORTANCE OF IRRIGATION

Irrigation plays a much bigger part in Lone Star Agriculture than most Texans realize.

Nearly a half billion acres of Texas land are now irrigated. About one-fifth of the crop land harvested in the state is irrigated land.

Although many centuries old, the practice of irrigation is relatively new in the state. There were no definite reports on the amount of irrigated Texas acreage until 1940, when less than 895,000 acres were irrigated.

But with the advent of larger, more mechanized farms in recent years, irrigation systems have spread to all corners of the state.

Irrigation has fit well into the ever-changing agricultural picture. It has been the answer to problems of drought, low yields and cost-price squeeze. And there probably isn't a farmer in Texas today who hasn't given some thought to irrigation.

This is no wishful thinking on the farmer's part — to want "rain" at the right time in the right amount. Many farmers in the heavier rainfall sections of Texas are setting up irrigation systems for small tracts and increasing yields up to 200 percent.

Although 95 percent of the irrigated farms are located in just 78 counties, the scientific principles of irrigation are rapidly being applied in all areas of the state.

During the past year, numerous irrigation "clinics" and demonstrations have been held under auspices of county agents, Soil Conservation Districts and irrigation engineers and manufacturers.

Economical, low-cost sprinkler systems have been devised for use on small tracts. Many of these operated last summer in East and Central Texas.

All indications point to an even bigger role for irrigation in Texas agriculture's future.

Estate Tax Rules Listed By Internal Revenue Service

Thousands of taxpayers inquire each year of the Internal Revenue Service on whether they owe any Federal Estate Tax on inherited property, according to Jim Cheatham, Administrative Officer of the Brownwood office. Mr. Cheatham advised taxpayers of these simple rules for determining whether to file an Estate Tax Return and pay tax:

(1) No Estate Tax Return need be filed unless the gross estate exceeds $60,000.00.

(2) In Texas, a community property state, the total estate earned during the marriage would have to exceed $120,000 before an Estate Tax Return is due since one-half the estate belongs to the surviving spouse.

(3) The Estate Tax Return is due within 15 months after the date of death if the estate exceeds $60,000.00.

(4) A preliminary Estate Tax Notice is due within two months after the date of death if the gross estate exceeds $60,000.00.

(5) The gross estate (60,000.00 or more) means the value of the property before debts and expenses are paid and includes life insurance proceeds and gifts made by the decedent within three years of death.

(6) Property inherited or received by will is not subject to income tax.

(7) Earnings from inherited property are subject to income tax.

(8) The value of property for income tax purposes is changed in Texas and other community property states upon the death of the surviving spouse.

(9) The value of property for income tax purposes is ordinarily based upon the cost of the property.

(10) Upon the death of either the husband or wife in a community property state, the value or basis of the property for income tax purposes is based upon the fair market value of the assets as of the date of death.

(11) The income taxes or capital gain or loss upon future sales of either the decedent's or the surviving spouse's half of the property must be figured on this new fair market value basis.

This particular provision of the law is not clearly understood by the widows and widowers in Texas. For example, John and his wife bought the old homestead for $1,000.00 in 1920, had a tax base of $500.00 cost for John and $500.00 for the wife on the day before John's death; if either John or his wife sold their half they would have to pay taxes on any amount above the $500.00 cost. If the property is worth $200,000.00 on the date of John's death, and the wife sells her half of the old homestead the day after John's death for $100,000.00, she owes no taxes at all since both halves of the community property acquired a new cost basis on the date of death of either spouse. This has become very important because of the tremendous increase in the value of the property during the last few years.

(12) This new fair market value basis applies to all estates for federal tax purposes regardless of the size of the estate and whether or not any federal estate taxes are paid.

PARK OF THE WEEK

LAKE WHITNEY STATE PARK is one of the nation's recreation areas pioneering in facilities for the air traveler. A landing strip 4,000 feet long ends in a turn-around at Fishermen's Inn, the park cafe. A cross strip of 3,000 feet ends at the park beach. The road into the park parallels the long airstrip. Markers direct traffic from Whitney, west of Hillsboro, to the park. Boats dock in sheltered Frazier Creek, just off one of the lake's famed fishing flats.—Photo by Edney Studo, Itasca.

Lake Whitney State Park receives its visitors by land, air and water. It is known popularly as the air-minded park. In cooperation with the Texas Aeronautics Commission, Park Concessioner C. E. Long has provided airstrips capable of handling airplanes of any size. One of the strips is 4,000 feet long; the other is 3,000 feet. From either, pilots can taxi right up to Fisherman's Inn or to the edge of the 1,000 foot sand beach of the lake.

Road traffic into the park follows a marked route from the town of Whitney and enters the recreation area parallel to the longer of the two airstrips.

Boats find a docking place on Frazier Creek. This is particularly convenient for fishermen because the best of the celebrated fishing flats of Lake Whitney lies right off the mouth of Frazier Creek.

Lake Whitney State Park is second largest of four recreational areas assigned to the Texas State Parks Board on reservoirs created by dams of the Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, and the International Boundary Commission. Not yet fully developed they provide the room for meeting the expanding park needs of Texas.

Overnight housing is not provided in Lake Whitney State Park, but the timbered land along the lake is provided with attractive camp sites fanned by cool breezes from off the lake. A fine network of gravelled roads reaches these campsites and picnic spots throughout the park.

A thousand-foot sand beach is one of the popular attractions of Lake Whitney State Park. Access to the beach is made easy by road approaches at numerous places.

The park is probably most notable for its excellent black bass fishing. The large bass here have been found by anglers offer sport which some declare superior to the joys of trout fishing in northern streams.

Lake Whitney State Park is within two and a half hours driving time for 1,500,000 Texans. More than a million of them, including residents of the Fort Worth-Dallas metropolitan area, can reach the park in two hours. Waco is but a short distance away.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read John 3:14-21. God commandeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. (Romans 5:8.)

Gloria had given vent to her temper by screaming while she pulled her bedding off her bed and tossed it on the floor.

Now, still pouting and miserable, she sat down on the porch beside her mother. Neither of them spoke. Finally, Gloria leaned her head against her mother's shoulder and said, "Does God love me, Mummy? Does He love me even now?"

"Yes," was the quiet reply. "God loves you very much even now, but He doesn't love the way you have acted and what you have done."

A few minutes more passed. Then Gloria crept within the circle of her mother's arm and cuddled up close to her.

After waiting a while longer, the mother looked down at the little daughter and said, "Shall we go in now and fix up your bed again?"

Looking up with a smile, Gloria said, "Yes, and I'm sorry for what I did and how I acted."

PRAYER

"Have mercy upon me, O God, according to thy loving kindness — Hide thy face from sins, and blot out all mine iniquities. Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me." In the Redeemer's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

God loves the sinner, but loathes his sin.

A NEW IDEA FOR ADVERTISERS IN NEWSPAPERS

Houston — For the first time in Texas newspaper history, aluminum foil in addition to newsprint is scheduled to roll through the Houston Chronicle presses.

Almost 100 miles of sparkling, pure Alcoa Wrap aluminum foil will form a separate page of metal in over 210,000 copies of The Houston Chronicle, Monday, 24.

This is only the second time in history that a newspaper has carried a page size sample of the aluminum foil. The first use of this new technique was in the Milwaukee Sentinel earlier this year.

This innovation in newspaper advertising and product merchandising offers the housewife something she can actually use. It is a 15 x 22 inch sheet of aluminum foil worth 3 to 4 cents. Laboratory tests show it to be perfectly satisfactory for cooking or wrapping foods.

Totem poles are carved symbols depicting family or clan histories and legends.

Middle age is that time in life when the gleam in the eye is just a reflection of the sun off the glasses.

Record Enrollment Expected For Band And Twirling School

Abilene — The annual summer band and twirling school of McMurry College, one of the largest band clinics for teenagers in the southwest, will be held here on the McMurry campus July 14-27.

McMurry's ninth annual summer band and baton clinic is expected to top last year's record enrollment of 404 students, according to Raymond T. Bynum, general director.

Bynum, professor of music and director of the McMurry Indian Band, said that 261 boys and girls from 32 Texas towns and cities had pre-registered for the band and twirling school through June 7.

Participants will be housed in McMurry dormitories and will take their meals in the McMurry dining hall. Total cost is $50 for boarding students; $20 for students living off the campus.

Students will receive instruction in music theory, solo playing, choral music, actual practice with training and concert bands, baton twirling, precision ensemble twirling and marching, and drum majoring.

Two public concerts, faculty and student recitals, and numerous social and recreational activities are on the band school program.

Bynum said that anyone desiring a registration blank or other information on eligibility, instruction or cost is requested to contact him at the McMurry College Band Hall, Abilene, Tex.

Rest Prescribed For Texas Rangeland

College Station — Your rangeland needs a rest. Perennial grasses are slow to recover, and heavy grazing can hurt more now than during the drought. A deferred grazing system with proper use of supplemental pastures is essential for maximum range recovery.

Chances are your pastures currently have considerably more weeds than grasses, says Extension Range Specialist A. H. Walker. An abundance of weeds is always expected after a drought, he says, but properly-managed desirable plants will crowd them out.

From a range recovery standpoint, Walker says this is a poor time for restocking. Breeding back into the livestock business is a lot cheaper and safer than buying. Don't base stocking plans on spring growth, he warns, or it may cost plenty this fall and winter.

Keep livestock numbers in balance with expected feed for the coming year. A plentiful grass supply is your cheapest, safest bet for livestock profits.

See your county agent for local range management tips. Ask him for a copy of the "Range Management versus Drought" circular or write to the Agricultural Information Office at College Station. Ask for Bulletin C-320.

July Plentiful Foods Announced

College Station — Turkey and ice cream are the featured foods on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's July plentiful foods list. These two foods will get special promotions during the month — Mid-Summer Turkey Time, July 25-August 4 and Ice Cream Festival, July 1-31.

Turkeys have long been thought of in terms of Thanksgiving and Christmas, but the changes in production methods have made this old favorite available the year-round. Ice cream just goes with summer time and increased supplies of milk and butterfat have also increased the amount of ice cream available.

John J. Slaughter, southwest division chief of the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, says monthly surveys form the basis for determining the plentiful foods.

Fresh fruits are prominent on the July listing and include peaches, lemons and limes. Frozen strawberries will also be in good supply. Milk and other dairy products,

Hawaii is known as the "half-way house of the Pacific."

Forty years ago, in June of 1917, the Humble Company received its charter from the State of Texas.

The Company was formed through a merger of the properties of a number of independent oil operators. Its founding brought together a remarkable group of men who occupy an important place in the annals of the oil industry:

R. S. Sterling and his brother, F. P. Sterling, the principal organizers of Humble Oil Company from which the present company acquired its name; W. S. Farish and R. L. Blaffer composing Blaffer and Farish; H. C. Wiess with assets from Paraffine and Reliance Oil Companies; Walter W. Fondren and C. B. Goddard, producers; and L. A. Carlton and E. E. Townes as lawyers.

All of these men contributed greatly in adopting the principles, in shaping the policies, and in laying out procedures that have guided the Company's progress through these forty years. Their influence will survive as long as the Company continues.

They possessed courage and business judgment. They established high standards of performance. They built a strong organization of competent men and women.

The Company, as it stands today, is a tribute to the leadership, the vision, and the work of its founders.

But it is doubtful that these men, with all their foresight, visualized the changes that have occurred in the oil industry since 1917, or the size and complexity of Humble's present operations, or the extent of the Company's contributions through the years to the progress of our society.

To all who have made those contributions possible—employees, customers, shareholders and the people of the states in which the Company operates—Humble extends its thanks.
