MIRACLE OF SIGHT!

AUSTIN — A man came into A. J. Bishop's dry cleaning shop, asked for his suit, then asked Bishop to confirm the color.

"I don't see well," the customer explained. "Will you take your money from this bill. Bishop did and handed him the change.

Turning, the man fumbled for the doorknob, stepped outside and walked to a car. Feeling for the door handle, he gropingly hung up the suit.

Then he got behind the wheel and drove away.

Last Day For Wading Pool Is Friday Afternoon

Mrs. Walker Tatum, chairman of the wading pool committee, announces that the pool will be open for the last time this summer on Friday afternoon, from 4:00 to 6:00 p. m. All children are invited to take advantage of the last day.

Mrs. Tatum wishes to express her and the committee's appreciation to all the mothers who have helped in taking care of the pool and the activities there. It has been a big job and has been well done.

The ladies are still collecting paper to sell in order to get money needed to help put a shade at the wading pool for next summer. Old newspapers are needed. The committee asks that anyone who has old newspapers they do not want, to donate them for this purpose.

The old newspapers should be unfolded to where they are completely flat and rolled into about 10 pound bundles, then tied with some kind of string. The old papers are being left at The News office.

The ladies would like to have about 2,000 pounds of paper as soon as they can get it.

3-Church Union Services To Be Completed Sunday

The Sunday night services at the Presbyterian Church were well attended by members of the cooperating churches: Presbyterian, Methodist and Christian Church, and others.

The host pastor, Dr. Ben H. Moore, presided in a fine way and conducted the devotions.

There was good singing of familiar hymns with Mrs. Jasper McClellan playing the accompaniment.

Rev. Jim Henderson brought the message on "The Holy Spirit in the Church". He read John 14:15-16, also a part of the 16th chapter and part of the 8th chapter of Romans. It was brought out "All who live by the Spirit of God are sons of God." A lack of this Spirit in individuals or churches can hinder Christian progress.

Rev. Frank L. Turner, Methodist pastor, on vacation, was missed in the service.

Rev. Henderson will again fill the pulpit at the Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday evening, and this will conclude the six union services.

A good attendance is urged. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Pat Henderson, brother of Rev. Jim Henderson, pastor of the First Christian Church, graduated from TCU Friday night. He majored in Education. He and his mother, who was in Ft. Fall School Term To Begin Tuesday Morning

Cardinals Win Championship Of Babe Ruth League

The Cardinals, under the direction of Donnie Simmons and Robert E. Lancaster, won the championship of the Babe Ruth League last Thursday night by defeating the Dodgers by a 7-3 score. The Dodgers were managed by E. E. Blanton and William R. Brown. The two teams were tied at the end of the regular season with 8 wins and 4 losses each. The Braves were close with a 7-5 record. The Cubs had a hard season, winning only one game out of 12.

In the All-Star games on Friday night, W. B. Gilbreath's team won over Walkers team by a 16-10 score and in the Babe Ruth League, Harris and Simmons won over Blanton and Moore by a 11-8 score.

Last week completed the baseball season for this year. On page 6 of this newspaper you will find a complete box score on each boy who participated in the summer program in both leagues. On the back page you will find the final tabulation of the Babe Ruth League. The Little League was completed last week.

The News wishes to express appreciation to A. D. Donham for the manner in which he has kept the records on the ball clubs and turned it in to us. He has had a big job and it has not been easy. We appreciate his efforts very much.

The lunchroom will operate on the same schedule as it has the past several years and meals will be the same price: 25 cents for students and 30 cents for teachers.

Mrs. Helen Hunter, Homemaking teacher, has asked to be relieved of her duties as soon as possible. However, filling this place at the present time is rather difficult and it is likely that Mrs. Hunter will remain until mid-term. There is over 20 vacancies in this area now and another teacher is not available at this time. She possibly can be replaced at mid-term.

One new bus chassis has been purchased and is due to be delivered here this week. It will be put in service on Route 18, the Trickham Route.

PARK OF THE WEEK

Goliad State Park serves dual historic purposes. It commemorates one of the tragic events of the Texas Revolution and preserves a record of a period when colonial life in New Spain was at its height.

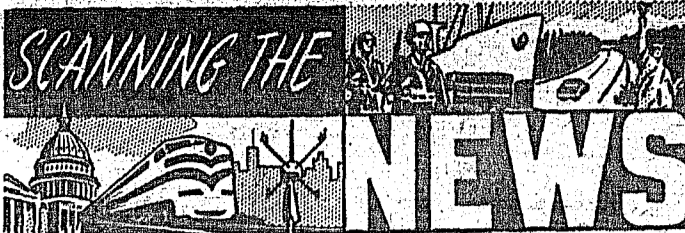

Col. James W. Fannin and his men fought off an attack of Mexican troops on the very ground of the park, firing from behind the walls of Mission Espiritu Santo de Zuniga, largest building in the park.

Historic La Bahia across the river from the park was where the same gallant band of men was imprisoned after their defeat in the battle of Perdido Creek in attempting to obey orders to abandon Goliad and join other units of the Texas Army. In the same vicinity is the mass grave where the Texans were buried after the massacre of Palm Sunday, March 27, 1836. A monument erected by the Texas Centennial Commission has carved in the stone the names of all but one of the 330 slain heroes.

Long before this massacre had given the slogan of "Remember Goliad" to the battling Texans, Goliad had an important place in Texas events. It was given its name by an Act of the Congress of Coahuila and Texas in 1829.

The name was coined by dropping the silent "H" and rearranging the other letters in the name Hidalgo, Mexican patriot. It was captured by Texans under command of James Collingsworth and Ben Milam within a week after the first shot of the revolution had been fired at GOVERNMENT spending is keeping the old mare going.

At the turn of the year inventories were at a new high record... business had added to inventory in late 1956 at a rate of $4 billions a year. In recent months there has been a scramble to unload these high inventories now at about a million-dollar-a-year clip. This same situation obtained last in 1953 and early in 1954 and brought on the 1953-54 recession. What is different in the picture today? Government spending makes the difference.

In 1953 and 1954 the Eisenhower administration was reducing expenditures. For instance between mid-1953 and early 1955 Government spending had dropped $9.7 billions... from $74.3 billions to $64.6 billions.

But spending at the end of fiscal year 1957 was $69.8 billion, up $3.3 in one year since fiscal 1956. Taxing was $70.7 billions, up $2.5 billion in one year. That's what the bookkeeping budget shows. Actually cash spending from accumulated funds in fiscal 1957 was $79.2 billions, up $7.2 billions in one year and cash taken in was $81.9 billions, up $4.8 billions in one year. So the records show that since mid-1954, the end of the first full Eisenhower fiscal year, cash spending is up $7.2 billions and cash income is up $10.1 billions. Which is why people have less to spend and why the economy keeps rolling with Federal money.

Building is the field wherein lies the greatest activity and again it is government money which is being spent largely. Home building is down, commercial building is down 4%; there is some increase in industrial expansion but largely with high rapid tax-write-offs. It is in the fields of hospitals, school buildings, highway and bridges and public buildings where the big increase in spending is going... all government money, either federal or state. From January 1, 1955 to January 1, 1957 installment credit jumped about $7.7 billions to around the $40 billion mark highest in history. But for the first five months of 1957 the increase was something less than $400 million. Which indicates that instead of buying new goods, people are paying off old debts. And it may be that this is a factor which some economists count on to increase buying later on this year. A lot of people may get out of debt, and able to plunge back in by buying more goods and wares.

Department store sales always considered as an indicator, are spotty. Good in suburban areas, down in the urban centers. Like Washington, up 6% in the new suburban centers—down 3% in the city; and Baltimore, up 10% in the outlying areas and down 3% in the downtown district; Boston up 8% in suburbs and down 1% in the city. The movement of people, too is having its effect on the buying in city and suburban areas. Millions of the well-to-do and higher income brackets are moving to suburban areas, leaving the lower income brackets to make up the bulk of the buyers in the downtown stores.

board foot of a chemical such as copperized chromated zinc chloride, will be resistant to termites, decay and burning for many decades.

Pole wood, continues Simmons, can be treated satisfactorily by simple and cheap methods. Long poles and house logs of most species can be treated green by the tire tube method. Plies can be treated by any of the processes. They can be seasoned with bark on and peel three times easier after seasoning. Too, they will soak up three to five times more of low cost chemicals, such as borax water sealed over by soaking again in lime water or chromated zinc chloride. If more poles from young sapwood trees were treated and used in simple types of construction, there would be no end to the supply of low cost materials. Creosote or penta treating are superior for wood to be used in the ground and for woods that are most difficult to treat, says Simmons.

Full information may be obtained by asking your county agent for the bulletin, "Low Cost Wood Treatments", and a list of chemical dealers.

Gonzales. A declaration of independence had been issued there as early as 1835 and a defiant new flag flown.

A tape recording of the stirring history of Goliad has been made at Television House of the University of Texas and is played for visitors to the restored Mission Espiritu Santo de Zuniga.

Nine units of construction have been planned, based on wide research, including translations of documents in Spain and in Mexico. The mission church is one of these units. It was the center of ranching empire that extended as far as San Antonio.

Another constructed unit is a museum in which there is shown the flag of Goliad, a wooden-wheeled cannon, the original door of La Bahia, arrowheads, bullet molds, bullets and other relics of the earlier days, as well as copies of documents pertaining to Goliad.

The park adjoins the city limits of Goliad which is on Texas Highway 30, 59 and 239 and on U. S. Highways 77A and 183.

CHEMICAL TREATMENT OF LUMBER ADVISABLE

College Station — The "big three" wood destroyers — termites, rot and fires — are making a "double-barreled" attack on homes across the nation.

The annual losses caused by these wood destroyers are estimated at several hundred millions of dollars. Losses caused by termites alone are estimated at 150 to 200 million dollars annually, according to C. W. Simmons, extension farm forester.

Termites and rot gain easy entrance into uprooted and carelessly built homes, warns Simmons. Millions of new homes have untreated foundations and are built too close to the ground. The soil sometimes is leveled above the grade, beam and concrete steps and porches are laid against untreated wood.

Lumber is still the most widely used construction material, says the forester. Sapwood and only sapwood can be treated with chemicals to provide permanent built-in construction at a lower cost than steel or stone. Lumber of this kind, when pressure treated to retain as much as two to four pounds per cubic foot or one-fourth pound per

GASOLINE TAX REFUND DEADLINE NEAR

You barely have time to make a last-minute rush to the Internal Revenue office for that gasoline tax refund!

The first day of September is the deadline for Texas farmers to apply for refunds on gasoline used for farming between July 1, 1956 and June 30, 1957. The rebate amounts to three cents per gallon on gas used in farm operations during that period.

The opportunity for a small return is also available on gasoline purchased during the first six months of 1956. The Dallas office of the Internal Revenue Service says that two cents will be repaid on each gallon used during that period.

Texas farmers are reminded, however, that only one refund claim per farm operator will be permitted. Each claimant is cautioned to make certain that his refund request includes all eligible fuel used.

Form 2240, for filing the 1957 tax refund claim, has been mailed to each farm and ranch operator who applied for the tax refund in 1956.

Farmers who desire to claim their refunds and have not received Form 2240 can probably obtain them from their county agent or from the nearest Internal Revenue office.

The procedure for filing is simple, but just to make it easier, a bulletin has been published explaining the methods. Publication 308, "Farmer's Gas Tax Refund," is available for those who request it.

The pamphlet also explains how the new federal excise law relieves farmers from federal excise taxes on diesel and special motor fuels.

But time's a wastin'! There are only a few days left!

THE SOUTHERN DIET

Nutritionally speaking, Texans and other southerners are eating better these days than they were twenty years ago.

Comparing the hang-over depression days of the thirties with present-day living conditions, people will not find this information too surprising. Still, foods need not be expensive to be nutritious, and the trend of southern families toward better-balanced diets as evidenced by a recent survey is most encouraging.

To illustrate, a study by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in 1936 showed about 49 percent of southern diets to be "poor." Judging from the same standards used in that study, a similar survey conducted in 1955 indicates only about 20 percent of southern family diets to be nutritionally deficient now.

This is not to say, however, that 20 percent of southern families are actually undernourished since the levels of nutrients recommended provide for a safety margin over average needs.

The most common fault among diets studied was a shortage of vitamin C, calcium, vitamin A, and riboflavin, in that order. About 80 percent of southern families were getting two-thirds of the vitamin C recommended, 90 percent had diets providing two-thirds of calcium and vitamin A recommendations, and other nutrients studied were being consumed at an even higher degree.

The most discouraging aspect of the study was the finding that southern diets, while greatly improved, are still below those of the United States as a whole, and that there is a more direct relationship between southern income level and nutritional quality of diets than in other regions of the country.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

If you are getting a divorce you probably won't be concerned about how much income tax it may cost or save you. Texas is a community property state and all the income of the husband and wife is ordinarily community income up to the date of divorce. All the deductions, expenses, and salaries of both husband and wife have to be divided up for income tax purposes. Let's hope that you don't have to get in to splitting your income and expenses as a part of divorce proceedings. But it might be better to get the blanket completely split, including your income tax, while the splitting is going on.

Many times we are content to perform only the necessary requirements of our faith. We have no reserves of love, patience, understanding. In the story which Jesus gave us of the ten virgins, all of them had lamps, but only five had brought enough extra oil to keep their lamps burning. Only the five wise virgins were ready when the call to the marriage came at midnight.

PRAYER

Our Father, help us in our prayer life, in our thinking, and in our actions, to be ready for the unexpected. Help us that we may never be caught without a reserve of patience, understanding and love. Help us to see the necessity of coming daily to Thy fountain of worship and drinking deeply of the eternal waters of strength. In Christ's name. Amen.

Thar's Coal In Them Thar Hills

BY MRS. JOHN HUNTER

While we are all hunting gold, oil or uranium we overlook the fact that coal was at one time mined at Rockwood, in the Southeast part of Coleman County.

In reminiscing of the yester-years with Mr. Bob Steward and Mr. Hyatt Moore, we learn coal prospecting begun in the 1880's. John Gibson of Coleman was one of the early prospectors. The drilling was with a diamond drill with horse power. The water pump was hand-operated. Mr. Moore recalls those days he worked pulling the lever, back and forth all day long, pumping water into the test holes being drilled.

A Mr. Slater also prospected and mined some coal. It was hauled by wagon and teams to Santa Anna over roads that were little more than cattle trails.

About 1900 a railroad leased land for drilling from Rockwood to Panther Creek. It is remembered about 1892 a test was drilled near Sweetwater. Salt water was hit at 227 feet and spouted 16 feet above the ground. Some opportunist came along, rigged an evaporative system and hauled salt to San Angelo to sell it.

As recalled, only two holes showed no coal from here to Panther Creek, which was west line of operations. It was about 520 feet to coal on the west line to around 58 feet just west of the Rockwood Methodist Church.

Sites of some of the mines, which have long been abandoned were Mrs. Bob Steward's, M. D. Bryan's, A. L. Crutcher's and Frank Bryan's farms. When the mines were operated at top efficiency, Mr. Steward paid $300 per ton for some of the coal to operate his gin.

Mr. Steward cooked for the drilling crews and Mr. Moore says he was the best dad-gummed cook in the county!

ideas from other editors

From The Independent, Fuquay Springs, N. C. It is a well known dictum that one man's right to swing his fists ends where his neighbor's nose begins. That is always the limiting factor on our individual liberties. These liberties precious as they are, should never be regarded as license to act exactly as we please no matter whom it hurts.

The idea of curbing our fist-swinging before we whack a neighbor has many applications. Some of them are especially pertinent during the summer months, when open windows and backyard chairs put us much closer to our neighbors than we are in the winter.

Consider Jones. He has a high fidelity phonograph, and he likes his Beethoven loud. On one side of Jones lives Brown, who hates classical music but enjoys the late movies—at full decibel strength. Nearby lives Plunkett, whose idea of a pleasant summer evening is to have several friends in for beer and loud chatter. And just beyond Plunkett there's Boling, who likes to sit quietly on his back porch reading philosophy. Jones' Beethoven at full volume is going to exasperate Brown. And when the late, late inanity begins to bellow forth from Brown's TV set, Jones will doubtless lie in bed clenching his fists and hoping that that Brown TV will blow a tubey. Both Jones and Brown may build up a towering rage against Plunkett if his guests insist upon wisecracking at the top of their voices long past midnight. And as for poor Boling, he will need all the philosophy he can muster, just to keep his temper.

Whether it is high fidelity Beethoven or low fidelity Hollywood, the old dictum remains valid: One man's right to swing his fists ends where his neighbor's nose begins.

From The Herington Advertiser-Times, Herington, Kansas: You can't plant oil. Only nature can do that and it takes her millions of years.

This simply means that when an oil well finally runs dry, as they all do, it must be replaced with a new well; if this country's known reserves are to be kept at the levels necessary to the national security and economic welfare. And replacement is a mighty expensive proposition. Since 1948, the cost of exploration has tripled—while, incidentally, crude oil prices have risen less than 20 per cent. To make matters riskier, of every nine wildcat wells drilled, eight turn out to be dry and worthless.
