Last Week's News

As I was away from home over the weekend last week I failed to get my news on Sunday as I usually try to do, so I just didn't get any.

ideas from other editors

From The Seville Chronicle, Seville, Ohio: Often, traveling along the back roads of that state of late, we've been impressed by the acreage required to dispose of man's refuse.

These organized rubbish heaps, usually surrounded by a pall of thick smoke as caretakers burn the combustibles available in all effort to conserve space, appall us. Man must be the only thing on earth that creates a mess that Mother Nature can't eventually disguise.

When he invented the tin can, he created a new industry for its manufacture and hundreds of industries for its disposal. Can openers, can flatteners, fleets of trucks, bulldozers, and stolid gentlemen with rakes have appeared in the wake of the can. Explorers who lowered an experimental camera 50,000 feet to the floor of the Mediterranean last year, at a cost of many thousands of dollars, proudly developed the first negative and found it was of a bare sand bottom, with a rusty tin can in the center of the picture.

Just as modern archaeologists dig through the ruins of ancient cities, and find out much of the life in prehistoric times from the shards of pottery around them, so will scientists of the future delve through today's tin cans, we suppose.

Interesting will be their conclusions about this strange race of creatures which had teeth strong enough to tear the tops from fruit and vegetables that apparently grew protected by a cylindrical metallic cover!

From the South Pasadena Review, South Pasadena, Calif.: When, at the dedication of his Memorial Library and Museum in Independence, former President Harry Truman pointed to the hundreds of gifts he had received during his White House years and was now turning over to the public, he said:

"I always remember that if I had stayed on my farm here in Missouri I wouldn't have had any of these gifts, so they belong to the people."

That simple bit of philosophy struck a much more responsive chord in the hearts of many Americans than did some of his cockier cracks—and, we like to think, was a truer measure of the man.

COUPLE OF FOREIGNERS

By Allen Wishert

GORDON COLEMAN and Maxine Shelton actually despised one another, yet, the following week they were to become man and wife.

They were of the same age, only three weeks separating their births. From the time they could stand alone and harbor a few thoughts the prevailing idea was vividly impressed upon them.

The parents of Gordon and Maxine possessed untold wealth, and they possessed the same plan; that of keeping the two fortunes intact.

Their parents weren't the least deluded, they were well aware of the animosity that existed between their progenies, that, however, was the least concern, the vast fortunes must be kept within the boundaries of their own estates.

The eve before the solemnized event was due, Gordon and Maxine sat facing each other. For nineteen years, so it seemed, they constantly had assumed that self-same position, and the close association had produced glaring enmity, however, their parents had been over-indulgent, every wish and whim had been gratified, and this step was the only request the parents had sought, and they expected obedience.

Finally, Gordon located his tongue. Prying it loose from the roof of his mouth, he said:

"This is a most deplorable situation. Sincerely, I wish I had been born a rag-picker's son."

"I can't understand," replied Maxine, "why my mother wasn't a washer-woman, then I could have married the trashman's boy and lived happily."

"Surely, there should be a way to avoid the dreadful affair."

"I wish I knew of just one. Have you a suggestion?"

"Yes," said Gordon. "Mayhem."

"That is being committed," replied Maxine, "when we stand before the minister."

A decision was reached; they would accede to their parents demands. After the ceremony, pledges being fulfilled, each would go their separate ways.

Their honeymoon, as planned by their parents, was to be spent abroad. Gordon could easily become confused and arrive at the pier long past sailing time, thereby, removing one basic element.

All the grandeur and pomposity that could be crowded into a church wedding was in full sway the following evening. The bride on the arm of her father hitch-stepped down the aisle. The groom and his best man, timed their entrance, joining the bride at the altar.

To the assembled throng the occasion was sublime, to Gordon and Maxine, hideous.

Complications had arisen, made so by the tactful minds of the participants, causing fateful delay. The ocean liner was moored to the pier, fagging at its lashings in an effort to free itself and get beyond the twelve mile limit.

Gordon and Maxine after the ceremony, entered the waiting limousine amid the shower of rice and old shoes. The chauffeur had his instructions, he was to rush them to the pier. But as he shuf- forward he received another order. At the next corner he turned and headed in an entirely different direction.

"Gordon, why did you alter the drivers instructions?" asked Maxine.

"No need going abroad. I have become an alien in my own country."

"May I ask you to explain that remark?"

"When the minister pronounced us man and wife, we were no longer kids. I stepped into a different country."

"Then," replied Maxine, and she snuggled, Gordon drew her close. "I suppose, that makes me an alien, also."

The limousine's motor purred. Two fortunes were to be kept intact.

Recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Zachary were their son, Mr. and Mrs. James Zachary and their four children of Lake Jackson. They had been at Buchanan Dam for two weeks. Other members of the family here at the same time were Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Parker, Martha Lynn and Bill of Odessa.

Mrs. W. G. Lindsey of Fort Worth and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Sanford of Harlingen were week end visitors with their brother, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Yarborough. Mr. and Mrs. Yarborough had returned home last Thursday from a trip to New Mexico.

Attend church regularly.

Chirp Of Cricket Is Danger Signal

Last in a series on bug control prepared by the Home Insect Control Bureau for the Real-Kill Co.

Cricket

In China, the chirp of a cricket is considered a good omen. Many Chinese breed crickets, build elaborate cricket cages and even employ house-boys whose sole duty is to care for the family crickets.

But to the American housewife, the chirp of a cricket is a warning. Crickets are not attracted to food, but are especially fond of any clothing, bed linen or fur that has been soiled by perspiration.

Crickets, which are related to grasshoppers and locusts, are most often found in the basement of the house, but may also be seen on the first and second floors during the warm months of the year. They will hide in any crevice on or near the floor or baseboard.

How To Control Crickets

Spray along the outside foundation of the home, along the top of the basement foundation wall, and along the edge of the basement floor. Use a residual-type insecticide containing an effective killer such as Dieldrin. Sufficient quantities of such an insecticide will prevent insect infestations for as long as three months.

The Box Elder Bug Menace

A Johnny-Come-Lately bug menace, as far as many entomologists are concerned, is the box elder bug. They not only feed on box elder trees, but ash and maple trees as well. They damage seeds, flowers, tender twigs and foliage of almost all plants. From early fall to late spring they seek shelter in the home, garage or other buildings. They will eat anything, and even bite on occasions. The box elder bug constitutes a serious menace in the Middle and Far West.

Box Elder Bug

How To Control Box Elder Bugs

Inside the home, spray cracks and crevices with an effective residual-type insecticide containing a powerful chemical such as Dieldrin. Spray the upper and lower parts of the basement wall and all basement windows.

Outside the house, spray the foundation wall above the soil level, the crevices at the top of the foundation and the siding of the house up to the main floor windows.

It is wise to control these bugs in the spring and summer while they are still on the trees, using a water emulsion form of insecticide which kills by residual action; for example, emulsions containing Chlordane or Dieldrin.

The best insect control is, as always, preventive control. Spray thoroughly before an insect is seen. As a precautionary measure to keep down bug invasions, spray at least three times a year.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER
LABOR DAY

While it may be facetiously observed that Labor Day is not a day in which much labor is done, it is a great reminder of weighty problems that disturb the relations of capital and labor, and might be used to foster a harmonious relation between two great groups in our American life.

Let men in their churches today consecrate themselves unto God and seek his guidance as citizens of our country and laborers for the great King. For upon the right relation between capital and labor depends the welfare of a hundred and sixty million Americans.

The writer is not a member of any union and he never hopes to be a capitalist, nor to have anything above his daily needs, and he is not qualified to decide and advise in problems that arise between capital and labor. But he can point to a passage of Scripture about sitting where they sat. And there is another that tells that Jesus said, "Come unto me, all ye that labor, and are heavy-laden, and I will give you rest." Yes, the spirit of Christ, understanding and toleration should keep men together happily doing the world's work. So mote it be.

FHA Hobo Party

PARK OF THE WEEK

Cynthia Ann Parker was kidnapped from the frontier fort of which the above is a replica in Old Fort Parker State Park. Her long stay with the Indians and marriage to a chieftan before her rescue by Texas Rangers is one of early Texas' most thrilling tales. The park is about midway between Mexia and Groesbeck on a spur road intersecting State Highway 14.—Photo Courtesy Texas Highway Department.

Old Fort Parker State Park occupies the site of the palisaded fort built by Elder John Parker's colonists who settled along the Navasota River. A replica of the fort is the main feature of the park.

It was from this fort that Cynthia Ann Parker was kidnaped by Comanches in a raid made May 19, 1836.

The fort was a rectangular enclosure made of posts planted in the ground and held together by connecting beams. Cabins were built backing against the palisade and facing a central compound. The fort was designed as a place where the colonists could leave their families while working the fields of their farms outside.

Most of the men were working in the fields when this attack took place. A few of the occupants of the fort escaped. Others were slain or carried off as prisoners. Cynthia Ann Parker, then nine years old, was among those taken. It was not until 1860 that she was recaptured and brought back to her kinsmen. In the meantime she had been reared as an Indian child, married Indian Chief Peta Nocona and became the mother of Comanche chiefs. Ten years after her return to life among the white people, she died. She is buried beside her famous son-in-law, Oklahoma. With past hatreds now buried, both white and Indian descendants gather alternately for reunions at Fort Parker and in Oklahoma.

The replica of the fort is on a spur road leading off State Highway 14 about midway between Groesbeck and Mexia. Souvenirs and booklets based on the story of the Indian raid, the life of Cynthia Ann Parker and the account of her recapture are available at a booth outside the enclosed fort. Soft drinks are also obtainable there. Recreational features are supplied at nearby Fort Parker State Park.

GOLDTHWAITE 2ND—

Cross Plains
9-A Favorite

San Angelo Standard Times
Three tough battles are predicted in District 9-A football this season with the biggest one being between Cross Plains and Goldthwaite which very likely will be for the title.

The other two skirmishes should develop between Mason and Llano for third place and Rising Star and Santa Anna for fifth place.

Two three-year backfield lettermen at Cross Plains give the Buffaloes a slight nod in the loop chase. Darvel Hutchins, 165-pounder, and Granvel Scott, 155-pounder, are touted as the best in the loop.

Cross Plains mentor James Alexander will have seven more returning regulars to go with the backfield duo.

16 LETTERMEN

Bill Gunn will have 16 returning lettermen to work with at Goldthwaite and quarterback Tilman Kirby could be the main machinery in bringing the crown to the Eagles.

Jerry Kight, a three-year letter winner at end will be the favorite target for triple-threatener Kirby. Two more regulars return to Gunn's backfield — fullback Jerry Hammond and halfback Phillip Edgerton, P. D. Head, 125-pound junior, will likely fill the other halfback slot.

In addition, Goldthwaite will have four two-year lettermen in the line. Gunn has only three spots to fill with new men: Head at halfback plus a center and a guard.

MASON LETTERMEN

Eleven lettermen were on hand to greet Mason coach Jimmy Walker for opening drills last Monday.

Walker's cowpunchers include plenty of top-notch reserves, but Mason lost heavily due to graduation.

LLANO SITUATION

Jim Moore has 11 returning lettermen at Llano, including five starters.

Fullback George Frazier and end Don Hopson are two of the more experienced gridlers in Moore's setup. A bit more weight and more all-over experience gives Llano a slight nod over Mason for third place.

Rising Star, considering going back to Class B ball and Santa Anna, trying to build grid fortunes under a new coach, should have their most exciting game when they decide the cellar team in the loop opener in Rising Star October 4.

Jack Rucker will direct the Santa Anna Mountaineers this fall with assistant Beecher Huff.

Editor's note: This is the way things shape up to begin the season. We do not expect our new coaches to be miracle men nor do we expect them to field a miracle team. However we do feel that the outlook is some brighter than predicted, and in the following years Santa Anna should again be looked up to as one of the major powers in their conference.

GI Insurance Policy

Young veterans who first entered service after April 25, 1951 and who are now being discharged, cannot buy GI life insurance unless they have a service-connected disability.

Dr. George T. McMahan, manager of the Veterans Administration Center in Waco, said considerable misunderstanding exists on the subject.

According to Dr. McMahan, veterans leaving service with service-incurred disabilities and who are insurable except for those disabilities, may apply to VA for GI life insurance any time within one year after VA finds their disabilities are service-connected.

Further information is available at any VA office. Dr. McMahan said.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Klimer of Flacid visited with old friends here on Wednesday afternoon of last week. Mrs. Ann Kulp, Mrs. Oder and Mrs. Featherston.

M/Sgt and Mrs. Barry Sullivan and sons, Barry, Pat and Mike, of Austin, were weekend visitors here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Mossley. The boys have greatly enjoyed their vacation visits here with the grandparents.

THE ECONOMIC PRESSURE ON FARMS

The story of the cost-price squeeze on the nation's farmers has gradually slipped from the front pages of the newspapers. It has been an economic reality so long that it just isn't news anymore.

But it is still with the farmers, just the same. Somehow, the charts and graphs of rising prices and falling farm prices just doesn't have the same dramatic impact — except to those who are suffering from its effects.

Eliminating the cold charts for a moment, here's what it means to its victims!

Five years ago, it took 961 bushels of wheat at $2.06 a bushel to buy a 20-29 tractor at $1,960. Today, it takes 1,130 bushels at the prevailing price of $1.91 to buy that same tractor at the current cost of $2,160. This represents 179 more bushels of wheat the farmer must raise to get that tractor.

Here are a few more startling examples:

CORN: In 1952, 147 bushels at $1.73 bought a 2 bottom plow at $255. Today it takes 214 bushels at $1.22 for the same plow at $262, or 67 more bushels.

RYE: 1952, 866 bushels at $1.72 for a combine at $1,490. Today, 1,328 bushels at $1.04 for the combine at $1,590, or 692 more bushels.

MILK: 1952, 447 cwt. at $4.38 for a two-ton truck at $1,960. Today, 744 cwt. at $3.84 for the truck at $2,860, or an increase of 297 cwt., amounting to 2,650 more gallons.

MILK COWS: 1952, seven head at $254 to buy that 1,960 two-ton truck. Today, 17 head at $163 for that truck now costing $2,860, or 10 more head.

EGGS: 1952, 390 dozen at $0.338 for a wringer-type electric washer at $132. Today, 562 dozen at $0.249 for the same washer now costing $140, an increase of 172 dozen.

These few figures bring home the fact that the farmer must produce a great deal more at a reduced price to buy commodities which have increased in cost. It shows better than any chart how inflation combines with steadily falling farm prices to put a strangling squeeze on our farmers.

Vehicle Inspection Underway; To Last Through April 15

Inspection time has rolled around again for more than four million automobile and truck owners in Texas.

The inspection period has been lengthened this year under a provision of a state law setting September 1, 1957 until April 15, 1958 as the time in which all vehicles must be checked for mechanical defects.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, in announcing the opening of the inspection period, recommended that every owner have his cars and trucks inspected at the beginning of the period. This, he said, will enable vehicle owners to obtain inspection stickers before the holidays and before the last minute "log jam" at inspection stations.

Garrison said that more than 4,200 licensed inspection stations in the state would have stickers on hand by the starting date and would be equipped to check vehicles without delay.

4 Students Of Class of 1953 To Teach This Fall

Four members of the graduating class of Santa Anna High School in 1953 will enter the teaching profession this year, just four years after they graduated from high school.

Bill Jack Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Harris, will be the assistant coach at Temple; Betty Mitchell Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buck Mitchell of Trickham, will teach in the Stephenville school system; Peggy Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Ford of Trickham, will teach in the Coleman High School; and Donnie Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Simmons, will teach in the Coleman Junior High and be assistant coach.

New Game Laws Being Printed

Austin. — A half million copies of the new game law digest are now being printed and will be ready for distribution within a few days, according to the Director of Information and Education of the Game and Fish Commission.

This little handbook will cover the general laws pertaining to hunting and fishing. There is a digest supplement which will give information about areas under regulatory authority and also the migratory bird laws for the 1957-58 season.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"Mark my words—these things will be the ruin of this game!"

Today's MEDITATION from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Read 1 Thessalonians 1:1-10. Remember, before our God and Father your work of faith and labor of love and steadfastness of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ. (1 Thessalonians 1:3 RSV.)

A Christian young man visited the village on Sunday to teach the Bible to Zulu children. He had a handful of boys and girls at first. Gradually he not only had a big group of boys and girls, but of older people as well. They were very eager to learn. As a result, a church was built and services regularly held. Finally a school was also built.

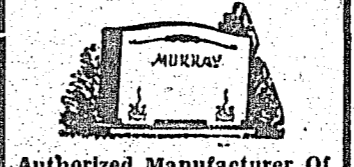

There are many such instances among our Zulu people, thanks to many servants of God. Their labors of love have been manifested in many hills and valleys in this southern Africa for the salvation of Africans.

There are still many souls that are lost. We need Christian young men and women in our midst to labor among us in the spirit of Christ. Who will come to us?

PRAYER
Our heavenly Father, help us to be so filled with Thy love that we will go out to preach Thy gospel. Use us to help other persons to be filled with Thy love. In the name of Jesus, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven... Amen."
THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
"Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he send forth laborers into his harvest."

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

Not many of us want to give away money to anybody. The Federal gift tax regulations allow a husband and wife in a community property state to give $3,000 each tax free during any one year. If you happen to have more money than you can use and you have a son who has a wife and five children, Mama and Papa together can give the son and family as much as $42,000 per year without owing any gift tax. Maybe the would-be giver should see a good tax practitioner on this!

SCANNING THE NEWS

FROM a humanitarian standpoint there can be no such thing as a clean atomic or hydrogen bomb in the megaton class. The only logical reason for producing a bomb without the so-called "fall-out" would be to prevent killing a few more civilians in a war-time bombing.

But the only logical excuse for dropping a bomb of any description, clean or dirty, would be for mass destruction in a heavy industrial area to knock-out enemy potential for making war. For this you need a megaton bomb. And in any heavy industrial area there is always heavy industrial civilian population, within a radius of ten or fifteen miles. A bomb of the size contemplated for such bombing would kill, maim or harm every living person, presumably within such a radius, clean or dirty. A half dozen such bombs dropped over New York City or Paris or Rome, or Moscow or Berlin would kill hundreds of thousands of civilians. This is mass bombing.

We do not need this size bombs for pin-point bombing, for instance to knock out a gun factory or a ship-building yard or a tank factory. And no matter how some folks might talk, you simply cannot build an atomic bomb or a hydrogen bomb that does not have plenty of deadly nuclear radiation in it when it explodes. You would not need a megaton bomb to sink a ship at sea.

What you do need in a nuclear war, if you want to be humanitarian about a war, is to concentrate on smaller tactical nuclear war heads and bombs and have such a stockpile, that will allow the free use of them, without depending on a few huge bombs running into the tons and tons of TNT equivalent.

Early on Thursday morning of last week, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Herring and Phil of Austin, came to see her mother, Mrs. A. L. Oder. The men went on to see Floyd's mother near Lubbock. Mrs. Herring returned home by bus in the afternoon.

Congressman Carl T. Durham, North Carolina, chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy was highly critical of the Atomic Energy Commission and the Department of Defense for the lack of small weapons, or tactical atomic bombs and war heads.

He said it appeared to him the Department of Defense was gearring its weapons program to the amount of plutonium for bomb manufacture on the present amount of plutonium production from nuclear reactors which had been operating 14 years. He believed the Commission needs more plutonium reactors and to date the Commission has made no move to build more relying on the production at Savannah River and Hanford. So his new bill orders the Commission to build a new plutonium reactor at Hapford, Washington and provides the funds for its construction.

"I am disturbed over the lack of a realistic program for small weapons or any consideration of the necessity for ultimately establishing a stockpile of plutonium for weapons or peacetime purposes. Any such activity would require substantial increases in productive capacity," the Congressman said.

The joint committee on a strict party vote castigated the Commission also for what they termed a "bankrupt policy" on civilian uses of Atomic Energy and ordered the Commission to change its policies and program particularly toward Rural Cooperatives, as a policy of "subterfuge and force," in that after two years of negotiation not even one contract has yet been signed with a rural electrical cooperative for a nuclear power reactor. There are five applications.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Watson, Lonnie and Tommie, of San Antonio, have been recent visitors with Mrs. H. M. Smith, also Mr. and Mrs. Bob White and Carolyn of Fort Worth. They were taking the four grandchildren back to the Griffins at Killeen.

THE STARS

by LYN CONNELLY

THE silver screen is really out-doing itself in presenting the battle of the bosom... Marilyn started the brigade and now all of a sudden we have Mamie Van Doren, Jayne Mansfield, Diana Dors, Kim Novak, Anita Ekberg, Barbara Nichols, Sheree North, Sophia Loren and Gina Lollobrigida all in hot pursuit with tape measures and nothing more... certainly not talent... One thing we must say, the stock price on peroxide must be soaring these days.

Sorry to say, we can't see anything glamorous about these gals... There was a day when Greta Garbo could appear on the screen with a floor length gown and neckline up around her chin and cast an aura of glamour about her that has never been duplicated... She had no real figure to speak of, no platinum hair, people laughed at her big feet but she had a haunting beauty and mystery surrounding her that cast a spell on her audience and even today, 20 years after her last movie, when old clips are shown on TV, she scintillates through the old film.

PLATTER CHATTER

MERCURY:—David Carrol has come up with a double-barrelled disk that packs a wallop... Both instrumentals, one is the hauntingly beautiful "Fascination" backed by the exciting, lilting "Swinging Sweethearts"... Another instrumental is the beautiful ballad "Around the World in 80 Days" and Dick Contino gives it an excellent rendition on his accordion... The song occupies both sides of the platter and should go big for Dick.

CAPITOL:—While on instrumentals Nelson Riddle, no slouch at good arrangements, comes up with a beauty in "Tangi Tahiti"... Reverse has "Rue Madeleine" featuring a vocal group... The Four Preps, a very talented young group, have a natural in "Promise Me Baby" and they do right by it... "Again 'N' Again" "N" Again backs it.

THIS WEEK'S RECIPE

Ham and Apples

- 2 large slices ham
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 2 teaspoons vinegar
- 2 apples
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon fat

Ham should be boneless. Mix together mustard, vinegar; spread thinly on ham. Slice apples thin and spread 2 layers on ham. Sprinkle with brown sugar. Roll ham lengthwise. Tie with string or hold with skewers. Dot with fat and bake in a moderate (350° F.) oven for 25 to 30 minutes. Baste while baking with drippings. Allow 1/4 to 1/2 pound for each serving.

make a good salad with lime or lemon-flavored gelatin.

Wonderful for neighborly get-togethers are baking powder biscuit dough mixed with chopped prunes, grated orange rind and walnuts, dropped by spoonfuls into hot fat and fried until golden. Sprinkle with powdered sugar when done.

Cream cheese, chopped watercress and chopped olives make a wonderfully delicious filling for dainty tea sandwiches to be rolled and sliced thin.

When the children want a good snack beat together apricot nectar, ripe banana and ice cream. Serve with straws.

Add semi-sweet chocolate bits to your next quick bread that features bananas and walnuts. It gives flavor and texture interest.
