Traffic Laws

SPECIAL OFFENSES BY MINORS

Minors from 14 to 17 years of age can be tried in adult courts for Driving While Under the Influence of Alcohol, Reckless Driving or Speeding, and if found guilty may be fined up to $50.

NOTICE TO APPEAR

An officer often issues a ticket, or Notice to Appear, to a violator of the traffic laws, rather than require him to appear immediately in court. If, after signing the Notice to Appear, the violator fails to appear, he is on most violations subject to a charge of Failure to Appear regardless of the disposition of the original charge.

PENALTIES

Most of the traffic violations are misdemeanors for which the maximum penalty is a fine not to exceed $200 plus court costs. Regardless of the amount of a fine the court costs cannot be less than $15.50 in Justice of the Peace courts. All traffic fines and court costs in a Justice of the Peace court, or other State court, go to various county funds in the county where a case is tried. The penalty for Driving While Intoxicated, first offense, is a fine of from $50 to $500 and a jail sentence of 3 days to 2 years. Second offense DWI is a felony and may be punished by a fine of from $100 to $5,000, or by a jail sentence of 10 days to 2 years or by both fine and jail sentence, or by a penitentiary sentence of up to 5 years. If a DWI causes death he may be charged with Murder Without Malice.

For first offense speeding the violator may draw a fine up to $200 plus court costs. For a second offense within one year, a fine up to $500 or a 60 day jail sentence or both fine and jail sentence may be assessed. For a third offense within one year after the second offense, the penalty may be a fine of $1,000 or a 6 month sentence or both.

If a driver through negligence causes the death of a person, the driver may be charged with Negligent Homicide. For injury less than death a driver may be charged with Aggravated Assault.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Parker returned home early last week from a weeks visit at Sanger. They brought a cousin of Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Lela Odum, home with them and she returned home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Craig of Abilene and their son, Paul, Jr., visiting them from Washington, D. C., visited here Sunday with the mother and grandmother, Mrs. Lula Taylor. Others visiting her and having dinner were Mrs. Annie Bowen and children of Coleman and Mrs. W. C. Sharp of Santa Anna.

SCORE CARD

Following are the scores of games played by members of District 9-A this season. Scores from the games played will be added each week. It is interesting to follow closely the scores of all teams concerned. You can just about determine what kind of competition to expect by comparing scores. Although these do not always determine the kind of game you will see.

Old Newspapers Still Wanted By Committee

Old newspapers are still being left at The News office for the committee on the Summer Recreation Wading Pool Committee. The paper is expected to be sold within the next few days and those having paper for the committee are requested to bring it by The News office as soon as possible.

Some of the paper left has not been rolled up properly, and it is likely the purchaser will not accept it. To roll the paper properly, you must lay all the paper flat, that is unfold all the pages of the paper, and then roll it into approximately ten pound bundles.

The committee has a request for 2,000 pounds of paper. There is an estimated 900 to 1,000 lbs. on hand now. Your help in getting the needed amount will be appreciated.

Budget To Be Reviewed At Board Meeting

Superintendent Cullen N. Perry announces the school board will meet in regular session on Tuesday, Oct. 1, at the high school office. An invitation is extended to anyone interested to attend the meeting.

Of primary importance will be a public hearing on the budget for the school term now underway. Along with reviewing the budget, the board will also take care of other business that comes before the regular meeting.

Mr. Perry said this budget hearing would become a part of the school law beginning next fall, but the board wants interested citizens to attend their meetings and they are extending the invitation this year.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p. m.

Community Chest Drive Set For Oct. 7-8

Jack Rucker To Speak To Methodist Men's Class Thurs.

Mrs. J. W. Price was moved recently from the Coleman Rest Home to one at Bangs. she seems to be getting along very well.

Local Bank Begins Remodeling Monday

Remodeling of the Santa Anna National Bank got underway Monday morning. It is expected to take about 90 days to complete the job. O. L. Cheaney, Executive Vice President of the bank, said plans were made several weeks ago for the remodeling.

The remodeling will include the lowering of the ceiling in the main lobby of the bank, installation of central air conditioning and heating throughout the building; a ladies lounge, community room and directors room on the second floor of the building. All the second story additions will be on the west side of the bank building. A stairway to the second floor will also be put in from inside the bank.

The Chamber of Commerce offices will be the same as at present.

All the new second story addition will be centrally heated and air conditioned.

Cheaney said most of the work that will inconvenience customers will be out of the way within a few days.

Considerable improvements are also underway at the Post Office.

Mountaineers To Host Rochelle Friday Night

The Mountaineers will entertain the Rochelle Hornets on the local field Friday night, beginning at 8:00 p. m. This will be the fourth game of the season for the Mountaineers and will be the last non-conference game until November First.

The Mountaineers have enjoyed a rather successful season thus far. They have won two of three starts and are expected to continue their winning ways Friday night. The Mountaineers have a powerful Class B eleven last Friday night, the Robert Lee Steers, by a 12-7 score. Rochelle is also a Class B school but not expected to be as strong as Robert Lee.

Very little is known about the Rochelle eleven. They won their first game of the season, but since that time their record has escaped us. Last year the Mountaineers won over the Hornets by a 27-0 score.

MOUNTAINEER OUTLOOK

The outlook for the Mountaineers increases by the week. They are expected to win their next two games without much chance of a loss. That is with Rochelle and Rising Star. Then they meet the competition from the southern part of the district. Goldthwaite will be here on Oct. 11.

The Eagles were picked as one of the two top teams in this district to begin the season. They have lost two games, to Hamilton and San Saba, both strong Class AA teams, then last week the Eagles won over a weak Class AA Burnet eleven.

On October 25 the Mountaineers meet Cross Plains, picked to repeat as district champions this year. On paper, the Mountaineers are already one TD better than the Buffaloes. Cross Plains won over Baird 19-0; Robert Lee won over Baird 13-6 and the Mountaineers won over Robert Lee 12-7. In another vein the Mountaineers won over Bangs 45-0 and Baird won over Bangs 27-7 last week. These scores would indicate the local eleven is more than a TD stronger than the Buffaloes.

Mason, the only team in the district who has not suffered a loss this season, ecked out a slim 6-2 win over Junction last week. The week before Liano trounced Junction to the tune of 33-7.

With the Mountaineers continuing to show a lot of improvement with each game, the future looks good. It will require a lot of determined effort on the part of the coaches and boys, but we predict they will win some more mighty interesting games this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Calhoun and Debbie of Fort Worth, were week end visitors with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moseley, Charlotte and Jay Lynn.

Mrs. J. C. Walker visited a week recently with her mother, Mrs. C. W. Hutchinson at Cameron.

A meeting of the Precinct No. 2 Community Chest was held Monday morning and the dates for the drive were set, along with the budget for the coming year and the quota to be raised. The budget was set up for $3,000 with the principal part of the money to be raised in the Santa Anna area.

A. B. Carroll of the Shields Community, is general chairman of the drive. He is also president of the organization Vice Chairman and chairman of the Santa Anna drive is Rev. Frank L. Turner, Jr.

In setting up the budget, seven organizations were entered for funds. The Summer Recreation Program, sponsored by the ladies of the Santa Anna Parent-Teachers Association and the Quarterback Club, will receive $500, $200 going to the Quarterback Club program and $300 going to the P-TA program; the Red Cross will get $620; Salvation Army $500; Boy Scouts $330; Cancer Fund $200; Heart Fund $100; and the Contingency Fund $700, a total of $3,000.

One-half of the amount for the Red Cross remains in the local chapter fund and one-third of the amount for the Salvation Army remains in the local chapter fund.

The purpose of the Precinct No. 2 Community Chest is to combine all charitable organizations and other functions that annually put on drives for money, under one head, put on one drive throughout the entire area, and save the trouble of having so many drives. Every organization is included in the drive with the exception of the March of Dimes, which is held annually in January.

The Contingency fund is for the purpose of taking care of any emergency that may arise during the year that no drive has been made for. All expenses of operation will also be paid from this fund.

The drive is to be held on Monday and Tuesday, October 7 and 8. An attempt will be made to contact every family in the precinct on these two days. If all are not contacted during this time, an effort will be made to contact them before the drive closes. All are requested to be as considerate and liberal as possible in your contributions.

Juniors Win Over Blanket Tuesday, 13-0

The Junior Mountaineers won over the Blanket Tigers Tuesday night on the local field by a score of 13-0. This is the second win of the season for the Juniors. They also have one tie.

Coach A. D. Donham said he has 36 boys coming out for football now. Most of the boys are still pretty green, but are progressing each week. He played 32 of the boys in Tuesday nights game. In this manner Coach Donham is giving all the boys he can some experience, that will be of great value to his team and future high school teams. There were two boys suited out Tuesday night that did not get to play, but that was because time ran out before Coach Donham could get them in the game.

The Juniors scored in the first and second quarters, then managed to keep the Blanket boys at bay through the remainder of the game. In the first period Blanket had possession of the ball for only one down.

The Junior Mountaineers beat Bangs in their opener 6-0, then tied May last week 0-0 and won over Blanket Tuesday night. Early has won over Bangs 21-0 and Tuesday night they beat May 15-0. The Mountaineers and Early jangle on the local field next Tuesday night. This will be the hardest game of the season for the local eleven.

A good crowd at the stadium will help the boys to win.

A RECENT report by Assistant Attorney General George Doub indicates the Civil Division of the Department of Justice has been quite busy. During the first six months of 1957, the report states, the Division brought to conclusion 5,425 cases, involving claims amounting to $153,000,000. The government fared well. On claims by the Government for $48,000,000 the Civil Division recovered $19,571,734, or approximately 41 per cent, by judgements or settlements. Suits against the United States Claimed $105,000,000, but recoveries by claimants were held to $5,537,848, or approximately 5 per cent.

The cases disposed of, however, failed to make a big dent in the work docket of the Division. During the same period, 5,548 new cases were received, leaving the Division's 180 attorneys a total of 15,000 active cases on file.

What type of claims against the government are outstanding? Still on file are 1,263 claims (the balance of an original 25,000 claims) by persons of Japanese ancestry for property losses sustained as the result of evacuation and exclusion from their homes during World War II. Numerous actions were instituted against the United States both as a result of last June's mid-air collision over the Grand Canyon between aircraft of Trans-World Airlines and United Airlines and the crash of a Northeast Airlines plane on Rykers Island, New York City, in February of this year. Damage resulting from explosions of related occurrences in connection with operations of the Atomic Energy Commission and claims for property losses allegedly caused by the breaking of the sound barrier by military aircraft also raised novel questions regarding the government's liability under the provisions of the Federal Tort Claims Act, Doub said.

What sort of a crime network exists behind the shrouded walls of the dope peddling business? Authorities have long recognized that the "pusher" who peddles his wares to habitual users and, whenever possible, to innocent, fun-seeking teen-agers, is a small cog in the heroin and opium rackets.

The dope business is big business—on a wide territorial scale. It is a national problem and not just the problem of a few large residential areas. Last July, a Federal Grand Jury in the Southern District of New York returned an indictment charging 46 defendants with conspiring to import heroin, cocaine, and opium into the United States from France and distribute it to wholesalers and peddlers in numerous cities. The areas involved include New York, Detroit, Washington, D.C., Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Boston, the State of California, and Canada.

The indictment also named 16 persons as co-conspirators but not as defendants. In furtherance of the conspiracy, one man is alleged to have paid $40,000 to one of the defendants and to have received $75,000 from another co-conspirator. Dope peddlers, apparently, don't play the game for "peanuts."

Investigation of this large-scale operation was made by the Federal Bureau of Narcotics with the assistance of the Department of Justice and the United States Customs Service.

FILING CABINET ROMANCE

By Don Wood

SAM SMITH slammed the drawer of his filing cabinet and slumped back in his office chair. He regarded the haggard visage that looked back at him from the mirror on the opposite wall. "You," he told his image "should go have your head examined."

He pulled himself from his chair and forced his feet back to the files. Grimly he began to finger through the long line of folders. "What one girl can file, one prosecuting attorney should be able to find," he told himself grimly.

His troubles had all begun that morning. He realized now that he had been busy, fretful, and impatient. Ellen Jones, his confidential secretary, had been a bit slow in finding the Smathers file.

"If you don't mind, I'd like to have that file before the moss gets too thick on it," he had snapped. Ellen had looked up in surprise. Apparently she too had been having her troubles. One thing led to two, and by noon they were not on cordial terms.

He had spent the first afternoon hours in court. When he came back to his office there was a note stuck in Ellen's typewriter. "Dear Mr. Smith," the note began. "I think it would be best if you found yourself a more competent secretary. You can consider this my letter of resignation."

Sam glumly dug away at his files. He knew that his impatience had cost him the best secretary in Wainville County. Ellen was discreet.

Phone calls to Ellen's home brought no results. Her mother, obviously caught in the middle of the affair, told him Ellen was not at home. Her tone showed she wished she could do something to help.

Sam found it hard to open his office door the next morning. It would soon become evident to the other county officers that Ellen was not here. He dreaded the thought of trying to explain. Sam Smith made a hurried trip to the downtown section, and re-entered the court house with a long box. He picked up the phone and called the county sheriff. "Sheriff, I want you to send a cruiser to Ellen Jones' home. Serve a subpoena if you have to, but get her to this office right away. This is official business."

Sam sat working hard as Ellen entered his inner office. The look on her face said all too clearly that she was not here of her own will. The blue-clad deputy, obviously enjoying his work, made elaborate efforts at holding her arm. Ellen jerked her arm free and gave the officer a menacing look.

"Well, Mr. Smith, what is it you wanted?"

Sam kept his eyes on his desk. Gruffly he replied. "Need the Smathers file. Can't seem to find it."

Ellen walked to the file cabinet. Her little gasp echoed across the room to him. She turned away from the cabinet holding a bouquet of roses.

"Read the card," Sam smiled. Ellen pursed her lips and read aloud. "Dear Miss Jones: I think it would be best if you came back to work. Your boss knows you are a fraud, and besides, he needs you."

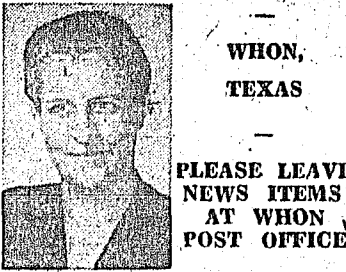

Ellen tried to look puzzled. Sam rose and placed both hands on Ellen's shoulders. "You knew I had a psychopathic case today. Also, you knew no secretary would look under 'S' to find it. You planted that note for me."

Sam looked from Ellen's blush to the door. The deputy stood grinning. Sam continued to keep his hands on Ellen's shoulders. Over her shoulder he winked at the officer.

"Close the door when you go out."

TODAY'S PROBLEM: Acidity.

"I AM not a Christian Scientist," says Harriett Morgan, 4023 Clarranald Avenue, Montreal, Canada, "though sometimes I wish I were. Faith in God is my bulwark for a future life, but I believe we are meant to take care of our earthly lives ourselves."

She developed sciatica and later arthritis but fortunately in a mild form. It began with a sharp pain in a big toe. She went to the doctor. "You've got an arthritic joint," said the doctor, "and there's nothing you can do about it; I've had one myself for years."

But a neighbor who had reared six children, and assisted with an even larger number of grandchildren, said, "I know a remedy; it won't hurt you even if it doesn't cure."

Harriett was ready to try anything that wouldn't hurt her. So, following the instructions of her experienced neighbor, she soaked her foot four times a day in hot water to which she had added half a cup of Epsom Salts. The last time, just before going to bed, she bound salt bacon around the thoroughly heated foot and went to bed. After three days of this, she no longer had any pain in her toe, and never has since. Later, however, she had the same trouble with her hands, but worse. She applied to her hands the same treatment; again it worked. She subscribed to the thought of Shakespeare in Hamlet, "There is nothing either good or bad but thinking makes it so." (Shakespeare in turn borrowed that thought from the Old Testament "As he thinketh in his heart so is he.")

So Harriett decided to think only beautiful, pleasant thoughts. When an unhappy one entered her mind she dismissed it peremptorily and substituted something pleasant. But, she says, "I supplemented my mental treatment and my doctoring with diet, leaving out all acid producing foods."

It was a matter of several weeks before she had entirely rid her system of the poisons that had caused her arthritis. Not until then did she tell her doctor about her treatment, her diet and her thoughts based on pleasant happenings. He approved of all three and added, "The heat treatment and salt you administered broke up the crystals."

Trickham News

BY MRS. ANNA YORK

Rev. Burgett, the Presbyterian pastor, from Weatherford, delivered the message at the morning worship service Sunday with night services dismissed.

We had several visitors at church Sunday. We always welcome those who come to be with us.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Seward of Sherman and Mrs. Opal Williams of Colorado City spent the weekend with the ladies' sister, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Whitley.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat McShan, Jr., of Menard and Mrs. Pat McShan, Sr., of Brady, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chleo James Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Moore and son of Austin spent Friday night and Saturday with his aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Craig.

Those attending the football game at McMurry College in Abilene Saturday night were Mr. and Mrs. Grady McIver, Gayla and Terry and Misses Lea Mitchell, Peggy and Judy Ford.

Miss Lea Mitchell of Post and Mr. and Mrs. Damon Miller and baby of Stephenville spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Mitchell.

There were 16 present Wednesday night in the home of Mrs. Zona Stacy to hear a woman missionary from old Mexico speak on her work there. Those present enjoyed the service very much.

It seems I made a mistake on Mrs. Stacy's birthday and age, too. She says she was 79 years of age the 6th of September instead of the 81. I'm sorry for the mistake. It seems I always make a lot of those.

Mrs. G. K. Stearns and Sherman spent Saturday with her mother, Mrs. Mae Sharp in Santa Anna.

Mr. Ellis Weatherman of Brownwood was a dinner guest of Miss Wanda Stephens Sunday.

Doyle McIver and a friend, Drew Grubbs, whose home is in Bryant, Ark., and is attending McMurry College, Abilene, spent the weekend here with Mr. and Mrs. Grady McIver, Gayla and Terry.

Ben McIver, who is attending Texas Tech in Lubbock, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernice McIver. Mrs. Oil Martin told me Sunday they had moved her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McClatchey of Coleman, to Mrs. Bertie Allen's rest home in Bangs. They are both very poorly and need some one with them at all times.

Mrs. Minnie Craig went to Llano on Tuesday to attend the funeral of a brother-in-law there. She returned home Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady McIver were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Ford on Wednesday.

Mrs. Novella Stearns visited with Mrs. Casey Herring of the Cleveland Community Friday. Our sympathy goes out to the family of Mrs. Opal Watson, who passed away last week in Abilene. Her husband attended the Trickham school years ago and is well known here.

Visitors with Mrs. Beula Kingston last week were Mrs. R. D. Kirkpatrick and little grandson of Zephyr, Miss Dora Kirkpatrick of Santa Anna, Mrs. Glen Haynes, Mrs. H. B. James, Mrs. Harry Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Boenicke, Mrs. Clark Miller of the Cleveland Community, Mrs. Lonnie Bledsoe and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Wilson of Mt. Anna and Mr. and Mrs. Walview, Mrs. Key Bradley of Santer Stacy.

Mountaineers Take Tough Steers, 12-7

Just as we expected last week, the Robert Lee Steers were predicted to win over the Mountaineers by big majority (39-12). The Mountaineers upset the dopest's wagon and brought this game home by a 12-7 score. Both teams played a hard, rugged game of ball and it was only in the final minute of play that the Mountaineers completed a pass for 7 yards that won the game.

Outstanding in the game was Robert Perry and Buddy Wylie for their outstanding pass receiving; Eugene White at the quarterback slot; Donald Ray for his determined drive on ground plays; Floyd Haynes, Fellers, Densman and Johnson played outstanding on the line; and Bill Jennings did a good job of ball carrying and line backing. Jackie Dillingham was doing a fine job until he was injured just before the half and had to be taken out of the game.

Dillingham's ankle was hurt, but apparently not serious. He was taken to a doctor after the team returned home Friday night and returned to school Monday morning. He is expected to begin workouts by the end of the week.

THE GAME

The Mountaineers got a bad break on the second play of the game when they fumbled and Robert Lee recovered on the Santa Anna 15-yard line. However, four attempts only gained four yards for the Steers and the Mountaineers took over again. Unable to gain, the Mountaineers kicked on third down to their 37-yard line. The Steers made two first downs, driving the ball to the Santa Anna 4-yard line, then lost ground back to the Mountaineers 11-yard line. The local boys took over again and failed to gain the necessary 10 yards in three downs and kicked to their 41-yard line. In seven tries and three first downs, the Steers drove over their only TD of the evening early in the second period. Their try for extra point was good and the score stood at 7-0, which was the half-time score. Following the kick-off on the first play from scrimmage, Jennings got in the clear for a nice gain of about 15 yards then a hard tackle jarred him lose of the ball and the Steers recovered. Failing to gain, the Steers kicked to their 6-yard line where White took the ball and returned it to the Steer 20. As the first half ended the Mountaineers had made two first downs and had the ball on the Steer 46-yard line.

Coming back with renewed vigor for the second half, the Mountaineers kicked to the Steer 25-yard line. The Steers returned to ball to their 40 then lost 1 yard and failed to gain it back. The Steers kicked to the Santa Anna 27-yard line. The Mountaineers lost no time in getting a drive underway. An exchange of 5-yard penalties and a 4-yard pick-up gave the Mountaineers the ball on their own 31 yard line, a pass to Perry was good for 27 yards, 3 ground plays put the ball on the Steer 12-yard line, a 15-yard penalty moved the Mountaineers back to the Steer 29-yard line and a pass to Wylie was good for the 15 yards lost and a first down. Three plays later Ray went over from the 4-yard line for the first Mountaineer TD. The try for extra point failed. After the kick-off, the Steers got a good drive underway and went all the way to the Mountaineered 15-yard line before they fumbled and Santa Anna recovered. The Mountaineers made the drive from their 15-yard line to cross the goal in 19 tries, completing three nice passes, the last of which was from White to Perry for seven yards and the final score of the game. After the kick-off, the Steers tried desperately to score on long passes, but failed to make them click.

INFLUENZA

Influenza is an infectious disease. There are four known main types — A, B, C, and D, and each type has been seen in various strains, each of these somewhat different from the other. In 1957 a new strain of Type A appeared and since it first appeared in Asia it has been named the Asian strain.

A single case of influenza appears occasionally, but usually the disease occurs in lesser or greater epidemic form. People catch it from each other. They catch it so easily that it is not unusual for a large part of a community to come down with it within the first few days of an epidemic. Most epidemics of influenza last less than a month in one community but may appear in a number of places in one country or in the world at the same time or closely following one another.

SYMPTOMS

Influenza attacks the individual suddenly. The symptoms can be some or all of the following: Fever, chills, headache, sore throat, cough, and soreness and aches in the back and limbs. Although the fever usually lasts only 1 to 5 days, the patient is often as exhausted or weakened as if he had gone through a long illness.

THE CAUSE

The cause of influenza is a virus. Viruses are smaller in size than bacteria and can be seen only with powerful electron microscopes. When a person has influenza, or is just coming down with it, the fluids in his mouth and nose contain the viruses. The disease is spread when these viruses get into the noses and mouths of other people. There are many ways that this can happen. The most common is through sneezing or coughing virus-laden spray into the air for others to breathe. Some other ways in which the infection is passed from one to another are through the common use of drinking glasses, towels, or other objects and personal contact like kissing.

PRECAUTIONS

During an epidemic, when many people around you are becoming sick with influenza and the community air is so laden with viruses, it is almost impossible to avoid getting in the path of a few coughs and sneezes. However, there are a few sensible precautions to take at such times. Keep up your resistance to disease by practicing good health habits such as getting plenty of rest and eating regular, well-balanced meals. At school or at work try to keep your distance from people who do not cover their coughs and sneezes with a handkerchief or tissue.

If anyone in your family has influenza, keep his dishes and towels separate from the rest of the family's. Persuade him to cover his coughs and sneezes with paper tissue which he can drop at once into a paper bag. Replace these bags frequently and wash your hands after disposing of the used bags. When there is influenza (or any other "catching" disease) in the house, wash your hands thoroughly and often with soap. Always wash them well before handling food and after waiting on the patient.

Methods used by health departments to combat the spread of slower moving diseases are of little help against the swift attacks of an influenza epidemic. It is really up to you to understand how this disease spreads from one person to another, and to protect yourself sensibly during an epidemic. If you feel symptoms starting, do not forget that your illness is catching, and that those around you are in danger if you are careless. Influenza is most easily transmitted during the early stages of the illness.

The only medical preventive of practical value known to medical science is influenza vaccine. A new vaccine is being manufactured to combat the Asian strain of influenza. It should be noted that this new vaccine is different from the influenza vaccine which has been available for several years, because it is made specifically to combat the Asian strain of influenza.

TREATMENT

No known medicine will cure influenza. Sulfa, penicillin, or other antibiotics have no effect upon it, although they are used to combat some of the complications which may follow. Your family doctor is the best judge of when to use these. Getting well without developing dangerous complications depends upon giving your body every known advantage while it fights the influenza infection.

Go to bed when symptoms start! Even if the illness turns out to be nothing but a common cold, you will get well sooner; meantime you will not be giving your disease to others. Keep warm and out of drafts. Wear a warm robe and slippers if you have to get out of bed. Eat simple foods that agree with you. Don't receive callers — they might bring in new germs.

If you have a fever, call your doctor. He can make you more comfortable, and if you will cooperate with him, he can do much to protect you against dangerous complications. Be sure to stay in bed until your doctor says that all danger of pneumonia seems past. And, for the safety of those in your home, remember that you have a catching disease. —From the State Health Dept.

Today's MEDITATION

The Upper Room

Read II Timothy 1:1-7.

I thank God whom I serve with a clear conscience, as did my fathers. (II Timothy 1:3, RSV.)

One's conscience needs to be educated and kept sensitive. The best way to do these things is to read the Bible. Then the conscience will be filled with the workings of God as revealed in the prophets, psalmists, apostles, and above all, in Christ. Martin Luther had so familiarized himself with the Bible that he could say, "My conscience is captive to the Word of God." A good man is he whose conscience is so firmly rooted in God that when he is doing what he pleases to do he is a true servant of God.

Prayer should follow our Bible reading. As we wake up in the morning, we can offer to God a prayer of thanksgiving and devotion. The time before we go to bed at night can be spent in Bible study and prayer so that we may make the conscience more sensitive to the divine love and will of God.

PRAYER

Oh God, Thou speakest to our minds and hearts through the pages of the Bible. We thank Thee for thus guiding us. Help us to serve Thee this day with a clear conscience. In the Savior's name we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The word of God is enshrined in the conscience of the Christian. —Nōrimoto Lino (Japan)

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health.

HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

Austin — Earlier predictions of a widespread Asian influenza epidemic this fall and winter appear to be materializing. Reports of cases coming in from all quarters indicate that Texas has been well "seeded" with the virus.

Only five brief months have passed since late April when the disease was first recognized in Hong Kong. This speed of spread is typical of the illness.

So far, Asian influenza, which is really a new strain of a virus type well known to laboratory technicians, has been comparatively mild. This very fact has caused many people to ask why so much noise is being made about it. There are several good answers.

First, even mild influenza can be disabling for four or five days, followed by a period of lassitude and weakness. If enough people are stricken at the same time, as in an epidemic, medical care facilities may be overtaxed and vital community services may break down. These possibilities may be averted by forewarning and careful planning.

Second, influenza is always unpredictable. Cases are frequently complicated by bacterial infections. And, even when uncomplicated, the illness has a particularly dangerous impact on persons suffering from heart ailments or other chronic diseases. Experience has shown that the average period of a local epidemic is about four weeks, but 80 per cent of those who become ill do so within a period of about two weeks. Frequently whole families get sick at the same time so there is no one to care for the sick, to fix meals, or look after family affairs.

The unusual features associated with Asian influenza has kindled interest in events just preceding the world-wide epidemic of 1918-1919. It started in Western Europe in 1918, and by August had spread into Scandinavia and the Orient. By October most of the United States was involved.

In January and February of 1919, the epidemic intensified and mortality rates rose sharply. Before it was over it had killed more than 800,000 people in the United States alone.

Fortunately, with modern epidemiology and laboratory techniques, we are in a better position today to cope with the situation. Too, for the first time in history this nation is in the unique position of having already begun production on a vaccine before an anticipated epidemic actually struck. Six drug houses have been licensed to produce the vaccine and are working on a round-the-clock schedule. Vaccine will be released to states on the basis of population as it becomes available.

CHICK CHATS—HOW ABOUT LAYING SLUMPS?

As feeding costs go up, the loafing layer becomes a more expensive "boarder." Often her appetite is undiminished, although she may have ceased to lay eggs several days before.

The high cost of poultry feed leaves the average producer the choice between two courses of action. One is to cull more closely the non-layers. The alternative is to attempt to get the non-layer back into production as quickly as possible, before the drain on the purse becomes burdensome.

Try A Tonic

Many poultry raisers find that the use of a concentrated antibiotic-vitamin tonic will have a beneficial effect on poor producers. In this way they are able to keep the size of the flock at the desired level, without having to support a few loafers.

Of course, it is inadvisable to waste too much time and feed on lazy producers. Any hen which fails to respond within a reasonable length of time should be culled and sold.

Many poultrymen will prefer culling the poor producers immediately upon noticing that their laying record is not up to par. This is a sure method for avoiding unnecessary feed waste; but on the other hand, it is always possible that some of the birds which were culled might have developed into good layers.

Watch For Signs

Spotting poor laying birds is not necessarily a difficult task. There are several tell-tale signs to look for when culling, and some of them are often quite distinct. The vent of a non-layer is shrunken, dry, and yellow in contrast to the good producer's expanded, moist, and faded vent.

The loafing bird's comb and wattles are shrunken and scaly. The layer's comb and wattles are large, waxy, and red.

Color tells the story of egg production in yellow-skinned breeds. The beak, shanks, vent, and eye ring of a good layer are faded, often bleached. When the bird ceases to lay, this coloring reappears.

Of the 316 private terminals to be found on the 981-mile long Ohio River, 75 are for handling of coal that moves on the river barge. These coal docks constitute almost 24 per cent of the private terminals on the river.

Cards are a collector's item for William Pepp of Enling, England. He has more than 1,000 packs of cards, each with 20 to 100 cards—reputedly one of the world's largest private collections of antique and interesting cards.
