School Census To Be Taken This Month

Cullen N. Perry, Superintendent of Schools, requests that every child in the Santa Anna Independent School District born between September 1, 1940 and September 1, 1952 be listed in the school census. State aid to each school is based on the number of students listed on the census rolls at the end of January. The aid this year was set at $82.00 per student.

All families that have students in school in the above brackets will be enumerated without very much difficulty. Mr. Perry asked that families having children entering school for the first time next fall and who do not have any older brothers or sisters in school, to please contact him before the end of January, in order that these children might be listed on the census roll.

Perry said anyone who could not come to the school office should let him know and he would come to see them. It is very important that every child in school next year be enumerated on the school census.

In previous years very few people passed through the blockade without stopping and making some kind of contribution. This year was considerably different in that a large number of drivers did not stop. However, the $325 is a big boost to the March of Dimes and well worth the effort. The local director wishes to express appreciation to Lt. Bruce Stark and Sgt. Charles Whitten and all the boys who participated in the drive.

The Mothers March will be the last major effort this year to raise funds for the March of Dimes. Even though the Salk Vaccine has just about brought the disease under control, there are thousands of patients who were stricken before the vaccine was discovered, that still need help from the March of Dimes.

"MY DAD REMEMBERS WHEN THE FIRST JUKEBOX CAME TO TOWN."

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

THE NATIONAL WOOL ACT, which expires at the end of this year is up for renewal at this session. Enacted 4 years ago, this law has worked very well for the growers and it should be continued. Over in the Senate 43 Senators have introduced an extension bill, and a dozen or so have been offered in the House, including one by myself.

It now appears that the House Agriculture committee, which will handle this legislation, will want to consider it along with various other programs dealing with cotton acreage, wheat, milk, etc. and may lump them together in one omnibus bill. While I would prefer to see the committee handle the wool bill alone on its own, the committee's judgment on that must prevail.

WORKING WIVES would be permitted to deduct baby-sitting expenses for income tax purposes under a bill I introduced last week. At present working widows and others of very limited income may be allowed such deductions. This appears to be an injustice because if the income of a wife depends upon hiring someone to take care of a minor child, certainly the cost of the latter is a business expense and it should be deductible.

AMONG TEXANS IN WASHINGTON, Bob Bissett of Junction, now Assistant Director of Engineering at the University of Arkansas, came by to see us this past week. Bob is a former classmate of mine at Junction High School. He graduated there, worked for the State Highway Department, was Engineer at Kelley Field for a while, and for 11 years has been at Arkansas University. He is now recognized as one of the Nation's leading experts in the field of highway engineering and road construction.

Bissett thinks more emphasis should be given to science and mathematics in our secondary and high school curriculums, says too many young men enroll in his Engineering classes who have had scarcely any math or science in high school training.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stewardson, Jr., and Jeannie and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Burden, visited in San Angelo Sunday with Mrs. Louis Evans and Mr. Evans, who is in the Shannon Hospital. He suffered a heart attack last Friday morning and has been quite ill. He formerly lived in Santa Anna.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. Leo Geislinger, Watkins, Minnesota: How vividly I remember practically flying down the stairs in winter to the old "Round Oak" heater with its large convex windowed door.

The oven door was left open for a little while, to hurry the process of warming up the room. The geraniums, begonias and water pail were moved back to their respective places.

After assisting with the milking or bed making and cleaning (depending whether we were boys or girls), we sat down to eat. Then it was off to school with a simple but hearty lunch.

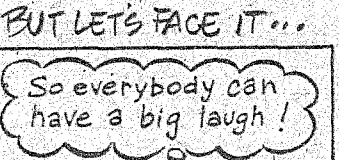

I still love those raisin-filled oatmeal cookies. Send contributions to this column to The Old Times, Community Press Service, Box 39, Frankfort, Kentucky.

WORDS or Just Being Human THOUGHTS by Brad Anderson

Mrs. Ione Caton has been a patient in the hospital for several days with a very deep seated cold.

Roger W. Babson Urges Real Strength For Nation; Explains What Strength Is

The following article, by Roger W. Babson, author of the annual Business and Financial Forecast carried each year by this newspaper, below, discusses the strength of the nation today as compared to days gone by. We feel in these times when it seems that elected officials in high government offices are going all out to see how much money they can spend, it would be well to do some serious thinking along the lines submitted below.

Babson Park, Mass. — I shall begin the New Year by discussing something far more important than stocks, bonds, real estate, or mortgages. My text will be the slogan which President Eisenhower brought back from Paris, namely, "STRENGTH WITH PEACE."

What is strength? We all know that it consists of something far more than and very different from guns, navies, airplanes, or missiles. Yet these are the things that we read about chiefly in the newspapers and magazines. This is the "strength" which physicists, engineers, and metallurgists are called to Washington to discuss.

This situation must be changed. Yet my able friend President Killian of my Alma Mater — the Massachusetts Institute of Technology — has been brought to Washington amid much applause to aid in producing such material strength, not the real strength. This whole trend seems cockeyed to me.

REAL STRENGTH COMES FROM WHAT? Real strength comes from Courage, Faith, Hardiness, and Rejoicing in Sacrifice.

Why is this not being recognized in Washington? It is true that our President is setting a good example by attending church on Sundays. It is true that the clergy are publishing optimistic statistics and creeds.

Instead of training our youth for Courage, the training of our homes, schools, and even churches is for softness. Our manufacturers and merchants advertise "easy living"; our schools provide "plush" accommodations; our automobiles must have power steering, automatic brakes, and push-button windows. We are the world's worst example of "training for softness" rather than for strength. Exceptions are our marines and certain others of our armed services, but these fine men make up only about one per cent of our population.

SOME EXAMPLES OF OUR FOOLISHNESS In recent issues of a great magazine I find these significant advertisements: A "baby nippie which will keep the baby from driving its bib or dress." My comment is that when I spilled my food, my hands got a good slap. Another advertisement treats of food which is so ground and mixed that the child does not need to chew!

We send our children to school in busses and keep them awake with gymnastics. Children are practically born in automobiles; walking is becoming a lost art. As a result, the retail trade of our cities may be ruined by the parking problem. Finally, youth is no longer getting its social life in such outdoor games as were formerly common, but rather in cocktail parties that leave them a "hangover" which is undermining health, character, and industry.

LET US STUDY HISTORY All the progress this nation has ever made has been through work, struggle and sacrifice. Muscles became strong through exercise; learning came by use of midnight oil; morals developed through religion and self-control. Growing strong permitted no furlough from struggle and sacrifice. It was not money or ease which made America.

Why is this not being recognized in Washington? It is true that our President is setting a good example by attending church on Sundays. It is true that the clergy are publishing optimistic statistics and creeds. But what is being DONE by government, schools, or churches to make people tougher, harder, more industrious and anxious to sacrifice?

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"The two-cent glass is for cheapskates."

THE BAFFLES By Mahoney

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

Every three seconds someone in the United States needs first aid for an accident or illness. Often the right kind of aid makes the difference between life and death.

Being prepared to give effective first aid takes time and study — before emergencies arise. It is too late to learn and dangerous to guess afterward.

1. Act promptly. Examine the victim carefully from head to toe. Look for breathing obstructions, bleeding, and broken bones.

2. Send for help. A snug bandage or pressure dressing usually checks bleeding. If not, press firmly at the point which cuts off blood flow to the injured area. Use a tourniquet only when other methods fail.

3. Look for shock — face drained of color, cold moist skin, rapid weak pulse, fainting. Wrap the victim in blankets, make him lie down unless doing so will make other injuries worse, and try to calm him.

4. In poisonings, follow antidote instructions on the poison container label if it is at hand. Otherwise, give egg whites beaten in water, or plain water, to dilute poison.

5. Handle with care. Don't move an injured person unless necessary; then use a stretcher, or make one with blankets, a board, or ladder padded with clothing.

6. Splint broken bones. The time-honored rule is to "splint 'em where they lie." Make splints from any firm object, and long enough to reach well beyond the joints above and below the suspected break. 9. Care for burns by applying a sterile gauze dressing and cover with bandages. Don't pull off clothing stuck to burned tissue. In case of chemical burns, rinse immediately with plenty of water.

10. After covering wounds with sterile dressings, bandage to guard against infection, reduce bleeding, and lessen pain. TAX-MAN SAM SEZ: Taxpayers often make mistakes that cause their income tax returns to be audited.

Mrs. R. B. Archer spent the weekend in Abilene with her daughter, Mrs. H. A. Williams and Mr. Williams. She returned home with them after they had attended the Lloyd Price funeral on Friday. Rev. and Mrs. A. G. Purvis and Glenda left on Wednesday of last week for their new home at Gruver, near Amarillo.

THE OLD HAT TALE By C. Phelan

EVERY morning at eight I would take my paper from old Jake the 'newsboy' and step into Manny's for a cup of coffee.

"Where's the old hat come in?" "I'm getting to that. When Marvin left he forgot his hat like he usually does. I told Red about it, so Red runs after him and gives him the hat."

"Very interesting," I said dryly. "Well, I'd better be going." "It was a windy day," continued Manny, "and as Marvin was walking along with his head down the hat blows off his head. He chased it for half a block and right there his luck changed."

"I got worse?" "Nope. Better. Who should stop his hat for him but the prettiest girl he ever saw—so Marvin says. She picks up his hat, and without making any cracks about the shape it's in she just stands there looking at him real starry-eyed."

"What's wrong?" asks Marvin. "Your hair—it's exactly like somebody else's I used to know." This didn't flatter Marvin because he felt like a shaggy bum at the time, but he was happy to find out that her somebody else had run off with another girl.

"This is touching, but I've got work to do," I said. "Anyway," Manny continues stubbornly, "Marvin came in for supper that night walking on a cloud. Seems this girl has made him forget every other girl he ever knew. She must have, because they'd already arranged to get married."

"Married? This Marvin's a fast worker. And Red? Naturally he didn't get the deed to the farm." "Naturally Marvin and his wife plan to move out to the farm before the weeks up. But you haven't heard the saddest part."

"It gets sadder?" I asked incredulously. "For Red it does. Not only does Red lose the farm, but it turns out that the girl who picked up Marvin's hat is the same one he'd planned to marry himself. Ain't that a coincidence?" asks Manny with a sigh.

"Give me another cup of coffee." "Coming up. So who walks in while Marvin and I are talking but Red Burke—you must have seen Red in here. Anyway, as soon as Red hears about this farm he's all questions. Seems Red's got his eye on a girl too, only this girl is wild about country life. So Red tries to talk Marvin into selling out."

"Seems like a good idea," I said. Manny nodded. "That's what I thought. But Marvin's not so sure. Anyway he said he'd let Red know in a day or two. Then he said..."

Speaks To Self
Culture Club Friday

The Self Culture Club met Friday, January 10, in regular session in the home of the president, Mrs. Cullen Perry.

Upon arriving members and guests were served cake and coffee as refreshments.

A short business session was held. The meeting was then turned over to Wallace Dingus, Coleman Attorney, who spoke on "Estates and Wills." This was very ably done and those present received some very worthwhile information. Among other things, he said wills are important to those who have little, as well as those who have much. The executor should be mentioned in the will.

Two-thirds of real estate goes to the children and one-third to the wife without a will.

Others besides the hostess and speaker attending were: Visitors, Mrs. James Mallow, Miss Jettie Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Ford Barnes and Mrs. Joe Baker, members, Mrs. Charles Ing, who introduced the speaker, and Miss Bettie Blue, Mrs. Sam Collier, Mrs. C. L. Eeds, Mrs. Charles Evans, Mrs. J. L. Harris, Mrs. Tom Kingsbery, Mrs. J. H. Martin, Mrs. J. C. Mathews, Mrs. W. B. Sparkman, Mrs. Nona Woodruff, Mrs. Norval Wylie, Miss Dora Kirkpatrick and Mrs. A. L. Oder and Mrs. Frank L. Turner. Mrs. Turner will be hostess for the next meeting, on Jan. 24th.

MRS. PARKER MET WITH ROCKWOOD CLUB

Mrs. Bessie Parker, County Home Demonstration Agent, gave an interesting discussion with slides on landscaping, when she met with the Home Demonstration Club at the Rockwood Community Center Wednesday, January 8.

New officers introduced were Mrs. Jack Cooper, president; Mrs. Henry Smith, vice president; and Mrs. Aubrey McSwane, secretary and treasurer.

All members are asked to have 2 pies or a cake each, ready to take to Coleman Livestock Show Saturday, January 18, by 8:30 a. m.

Mrs. Bill Bryan served cookies and coffee to Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Henry Smith, Mrs. Jim Rutherford, Mrs. Evan Wise, Mrs. F. E. McCreary, Mrs. John Hunter, Mrs. Aubrey McSwane and Mrs. Jack Cooper.

Whom Home Dem. Club Meeting

The Whom Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. G. S. Fitzpatrick Wednesday, January 8, at 2:00 p. m. in regular session.

Officers for the coming year were installed. Refreshments of cake, coffee and cold drinks were served to Mrs. Lee Abernathy, Mrs. Bert Turner, Mrs. W. C. Watson, Mrs. Walter Yancy, Mrs. Thomas Switzer, Mrs. G. S. Fitzpatrick and one guest, Mrs. Floyd Morris, and five children.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Thomas Switzer on January 22nd.

P-TA Begins New Year With Good Meeting Tuesday

In a meeting Tuesday afternoon, postponed from the previous week, the Parent-Teacher Association had an interesting meeting in the lunch room of the Ward School. The meeting was opened by singing the "Smile" song, with Mrs. Walker Tatum at the piano and Mrs. J. H. Martin leading prayer was then offered.

Mrs. Mattie Davenport's 2nd and 3rd Grade pupils and Mrs. Harry Crews' 3rd Grade pupils put on a special feature with songs that taught a splendid lesson on cleanliness.

Mrs. Robert Markland, from a chart and Parent-Teacher Magazine, discussed parents and children's problems. She stressed "Leading Strings are better than Apron Strings". She said family friction should be avoided and offered some solutions to problems.

Mrs. John Hensley, president, was in charge of the business session. Other officers were in their places. The Treasurer made a fine report, stating that the amount on hand is $257.65. All were proud of the $50 won on the Christmas float.

Mr. Perry, Superintendent of Schools, gave some pertinent remarks on "Children on the Census Rolls". Children to be six years of age before next Sept. 1 should be on the school census roll.

In the room count, Mrs. Davenport's children won the attendance award. Besides a good attendance of members, several visitors were also present.

The next meeting will be on February 4th.

The president closed the meeting by reading a verse of scripture and making an interesting comment.

RUN AWAY HOME -- Introductory film to interpret the children's program part of the Methodist Television Ministry will be premiered at First Methodist Church, Fort Worth, on Tuesday, January 21, at 7:30 p. m. with Methodist Leaders from three Methodist conferences, Northwest Texas, North Texas and Central Texas, in attendance.

This film will also be shown on television stations throughout the geographical area of the three conferences. In the picture, Tommy, who felt unwanted and unloved after a new baby was born into his household, runs away from home, but later decides to call the searchers to care for his sick dog so he can run away alone.

ACROSS the DESK
ideas from other editors

From The Catskill Mountain Star: Saugerties, New York: Time was when the milkman was "the man nobody knew." He came in the pre-dawn darkness, and only the milk on the doorstep gave evidence of his visit. Now that he works during the day like a normal citizen, it develops that he is the most popular salesman.

Results of a nation-wide survey of milk consumers, revealed at the 50th annual convention of the Milk Industry Foundation, have inspired an industry spokesman to proclaim ecstatically, "Mrs. American Homemaker just loves her milkman" . . . and to add quickly, "But husbands needn't get jealous—it's purely platonic."

Six out of ten housewives reporting that they had opportunities for chatting with the milkman rated him "above average" in friendliness and courtesy compared with other sales people. Four out of ten said he was "average," none rated him lower. In honesty and integrity, the report was the same.

It seems possible that this attitude had much to do with the further fact that 64 per cent of all those interviewed considered milk the most nutritious of all foods, and that these consumers ranked milk at the top of the six foods—milk, meat, bread, cereals, frozen foods, coffee—as the biggest money's worth and the most dependable of comestibles. There would also seem to be a connection between the personable milkman and the fact that those who have it delivered drink more milk (an average ten quarts a week) than those who buy it at the store (six quarts).

It is a pleasant thing in this day and age when too many people are too busy hating each other, to find that friendliness and honesty are not only recognized and appreciated, but are actually rewarding to their possessors. Further, the evidence suggests that it might be at least a small gesture toward world peace if the representatives of all the various and sundry enterprises who contact the American home were to emulate the purveyors of milk. Brings to mind, in fact, that old-fashioned expression, "the milk of human kindness."

From The Remington Press, Remington, Indiana: Almost any kind of weather can be encountered, as changeable as things are at this season and particularly where long distances are involved. Too tight a schedule should not be set up, because an attempt to make time under adverse conditions might bring disaster.

TODAY'S meditation

The Upper Room
THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Acts 26:12-20.

I have appeared unto thee for this purpose, to make thee a minister and a witness both of these things which thou hast seen, and of those things in the which I will appear unto thee. (Acts 26:16.)

One morning at 1:15 we were awakened by a knocking at the door. A neighbor was ill and needed help urgently. We went to his house and found him so seriously ill that we took him to the hospital.

After he had recovered from his illness, I asked him what he would have done if we had not heard the call for help. He said the call would have continued until we did hear.

This was a most favorable moment, and I said to him: "The Lord Jesus is knocking insistently at your heart right now. He wants to make you His disciple and to heal you of your sins. Why don't you listen to Him, at least once?"

After pondering my words, he gladly accepted the call of Christ.

PRAYER
Loving Father, in Thy great mercy Thou dost grant us opportunity to become Thy disciples. Make us truly Thy disciples. Let not family and comfort hold us back. We ask in the name of our Master and Lord, Amen.

This Family Had A Friend

WARREN G. MOORE, Tyler, Commander of the Texas Department of the American Legion, points to the 1958 March of Dimes Poster Family. With the exception of the father, Maj. Joseph L. Solomon, USAF, of Warner Robbins, Ga., the entire family were stricken with polio in a single week in 1953. Still faced with extensive March of Dimes-financed treatment are Little Joe, 9, and twins, Sandy and Lindy, 6.

TELL US YOUR PROBLEM

AND LET US PASS IT ON TO HELP OTHERS IN SOLVING THEIRS

BY JOHN and JANE STRICKLAND

ROGER DECKER married a charming girl, by name Eloise. Everybody liked her; he was a darned lucky fellow. And Eloise liked all their friends and acquaintances. If there loomed up one who didn't seem to favor her very much, she soon won that person over. This was during the prohibition era when everyone was making his own liquor or finding some way to circumvent the prohibitory ruling on the purchase of alcohol. Eloise became popular in that field, too; she made the best gin of anyone in their social crowd.

And there's where trouble raised its ugly head: Eloise sampled too much of her product. Prohibition repealed, she kept right on sampling too much. In short, Eloise became an alcoholic.

"What to do about it? Persuasion, removing temptation, prohibiting the use of strong drink in his home, Roger tried all of these. He even prayed for a solution. None came. Finally he did persuade his wife to try an Alcoholics Anonymous treatment. That worked for a time. "Eloise should have someone to whom she must be an example," said an old family friend who had interested herself in Roger's problem. "If only you had children." But they didn't. Eloise liked children and it had been a great disappointment to both of them that they had none. They were not beyond the age for adopting a child; but the character Eloise was presenting to the world put them beyond any hope.

Adoption being the last straw, Roger clung desperately to it. He heard of a man suddenly left a widower with baby girl. This man was a sailor, his entire future life was to be spent at sea. He was planning to put his child into a home for unfortunate little ones like his. Roger persuaded the father to give them a tryout, with the understanding that if he was satisfied after a period of a couple of years, they might adopt the little girl, but with the further understanding that the father should always be uppermost in the child's life, a sort of Godfather. The father agreed.

Eloise had all the conditions explained to her, and so the baby was turned over to her.

Result: the care and responsibility of that little child, and Eloise's love for her, together with the recognition of what her example as a mother meant, caused alcohol to be banished from her life.

Roger Decker solved his problem, and that of his wife, by giving her someone to love more than she loved what had become her deadliest enemy.

Only Three Months To Get 3 Million Vehicles Inspected

With the 1958 motor vehicle inspection deadline more than three months away, approximately one million vehicle owners have obtained their 1958 inspection stickers, setting a trend for early inspections.

According to John H. Grant, manager of Motor Vehicle Inspection Records, Texas Department of Public Safety, more than 300,000 vehicles above the number inspected during the comparative period last year have been inspected to date. But he cautioned that three-million vehicles are yet to be inspected before the April 15 deadline.

Regarding the early inspections Grant said, "In addition to the ever increasing awareness of automobile and truck owners of safety inspections as an essential safety measure, the increase this year is due in part to the realization that periodic inspections help maintain automobiles at higher value by lessening depreciation.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, reported that vehicle inspections have reduced traffic fatalities. Garrison said that "mechanical defects were causative factors in 19 per cent of the rural fatal accidents in 1951 prior to the inauguration of the inspection program. In 1956 mechanical defects were causative factors in only 5 per

FARM TRENDS AND FORECASTS FOR '58

Each New Year brings new expectations and speculations on things to come — both good and bad. These are some of the present prospects for Texas agriculture.

LIVESTOCK — Prices are good now on livestock, and producers are making good profits. Bumper feed crops have decreased costs while prices are way up from a year ago. However, this windfall may not last too many months. Fatter hog raisers could glut markets later this year, depressing prices. Range cattle prices are up sharply, cutting profit prospects for grain feeding.

SEED — The Texas Department of Agriculture Seed Division reports good germination potential on Texas cottonseed and hybrid sorghum seed tested so far. However, germination difficulties have been reported in many neighboring states, notably to the east of Texas on cottonseed and to the north of Texas on hybrid sorghums. Several states have lowered germination standards. There is plenty of good seed left, and available in Texas. Best advice is to check seed tags carefully for germination ratio.

EGGS — A more profitable year is in prospect for Texas egg producers. Prices should be higher, feed costs (lower and sales) are expected to be only slightly under the record volumes of 1956 and 1957. Production is expected to be off at the start of the year but cheaper feed and fair prices will likely encourage many farmers to re-stock their henhouses. An added boon is anticipated for Texas producers in the form of the new Egg Law, which should raise prices and standards at the same time. Also in the offing is a Texas egg market report which the Texas Department of Agriculture hopes to get underway before spring. The proposed report would include egg prices in Houston, San Antonio and Dallas markets.

COTTON — Surpluses are down due to the weather foul-up of the 1957 crop. Although it is too early to tell, prospects right now are encouraging for 1958 cotton. Cottonseed oil prices are way up and in good demand. Exports of American cotton indicate stocks may be way down at harvest time this fall.

percent of the fatal rural accidents. It can well be said that this is due to the motoring public's acceptance of the vehicle inspection program by keeping their automobiles in good repair.

The state police director asked for the continued good cooperation of vehicle owners in getting their trucks and cars inspected during the short period that remains in the inspection period. He asked that vehicle owners obtain their inspection stickers early to avoid long waits in lines that normally occur during the first two weeks of April.

Musicks Urges Parents To Be More Careful

Austin — The role of parents as safety-education teachers was emphasized, today, by J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association.

Speaking from his Austin office, Musick said:

"No matter how much safety parents give their children, it cannot be completely effective unless both mother and father obey the rules of safety themselves.

"In safety, as in everything else, children absorb the attitudes of their parents and mimic their behavior. Telling Johnny not to cross streets except with a green light is not going to seem important to him if he sees dad jay-walking or squeezing through an intersection on a caution light.

"By the same token, if Susie sees mother standing on a make-shift ladder of a chair and boxes, to get something from a high shelf, she's not likely to use a sturdy ladder when she wants something from a similarly high place."

Musick pointed out that good examples and repetition are two of the most effective weapons of accident prevention. "By each making certain that his own actions are reasonably safe and correct, he creates a climate of safety which fosters good safety attitudes in children.

"Curiosity is a natural part of the growing-up processes," Musick said. "Many times a child's investigative actions lead to dangerous situations, especially if they are left unsupervised. Yet, an opportunity to learn must not be denied them.

"Among safety experts, the best and safest plan is to answer children's questions, show them how things work and teach them to do things the safe way for themselves. Of course, this plan is not always the easiest or most convenient, but it is the most effective."

Musick said that national figures reveal that about 14,000 children, up to fourteen years of age, are killed in accidents, of varying types, each year.

"IN THE furore set off by the satellites, we have been experiencing one of those outbursts of patriotism which signify our national pride. We all recall the belligerence with which it was maintained during World War I that one American could lick 10 Germans, and we would like to believe today that one American scientist can outsmart 10 elsewhere. Unfortunately, that is not true, for science is not a sparring match between two adversaries, but a fusion of effort and a synthesis of accomplishment by men of many tongues, many beliefs, and in many ages. I am sure that, if the truth were known, Sputnik would pay homage to the scientists of many countries."

The above is quoted from a speech by Crawford H. Greenwell, President, E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company, before the Annual Meeting of the American Association for Advancement of Science. We quote it here because it points directly to a startling point of fact that is of concern to every American at this time. For once, we are not "on top." And we know it.

You can read it in the pages of practically every newspaper in the country, for in nearly all of them you will find stories or editorials which carry the same messages. First, we are behind scientifically. Secondly, our national pride demands that something be done about it.

The launching of the Russian earth satellites was beyond doubt, the beginning of a war—a technological war. And it has been a long time in American history, since we entered a war with the concrete knowledge that we were going into it as the underdog.

The much-publicized Gaither Study would not have created such a furore had not it contained the suggestion that we face the possibility of becoming a "second rate" power. Military leaders who studied the report indicated that while the United States is faced with a grave military challenge from the Soviet Union, the report overemphasizes the "potential military danger."

But, scientists and engineers are deeply concerned and they are being quick to point out that immediate action must be taken to speed up our own training and research programs. We must meet the Soviet challenge in the educational field, they say, and we must as well achieve a unity of action in our scientific endeavors.

In this history of our nation, men have taken arms and marched off to battle whenever our nation was in peril. We now face a technological war in which there is no place for a man and his rifle, where courage and individual strength cannot throw fear into the enemy.

This is a war that we must win as a nation. The front-runners will be our scientists, engineers and our chosen leaders. We must look to them—and stand ready to help in any way that we can.

Perhaps when this New Year is completed, the American press may be reporting our achievements in science and space, rather than our concern over the fact that we are running second.

We can do it—and we will—the American way.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"... and when did you first discover you were better than everybody else in the world?"

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER

IN ALL GENERATIONS

PERHAPS the last thing Moses ever wrote was the 90th Psalm. The opening lines are like the solemn music of a great organ—

Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God.

On the troubled sea when it cannot rest, on the hurricane-lashed plains, amid a thousand shocks by land and sea, let us make our dwelling place in God, supported by the thought that no turmoil of the world, no change of time and place, can separate us from the love of God, that we are safe in his care and keeping.

So be firm amid the woes of this present time because you put your trust in things that will never pass away. Lay up for yourselves treasures which shall never pass away and which neither moth nor rust doth corrupt and thieves do not break through and steal. So may you, if you find God your dwelling place.

Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Traylor and baby of Coleman were here for services at the Baptist Church Sunday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Buse and Earla Gene.

Our deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved children and relatives of Mrs. Bertha McCain, who was laid to rest in the Whon Cemetery Monday afternoon, after services in the Church of Christ in Santa Anna. Mrs. McCain passed away in a San Antonio hospital after undergoing surgery on a broken hip, caused from a fall in her home in Santa Anna. Mrs. McCain was transferred from the Santa Anna Hospital to a bone specialist in San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. McCain settled at Whon when it had no name or post office. She was the first post master here, and sent the name it now carries to the Post Office Department. Mr. McCain proceeded her in death by more years than I can remember, but Mrs. McCain remained on her place here, now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bengel, and raised her children until all were almost grown. All children now living were here for her memorial service and a number of her grandchildren.

Mrs. Zack Bible of our community is a sister of Mrs. McCain. Again we extend our sympathy to the bereaved.

Two weekends past Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morris and boys spent the weekend in Grand Prairie with her sister, Mrs. Esther Burkett, and with her

PROBABLY the most thankless task in a community affair is that of the entertainment chairman. . . . This is the person who is assigned the simple job of rounding up names of drawing power who are willing to go far out of their way, devote some precious time to folks they have never met and probably never will again for gratis. . . . This past holiday season, we had the dubious honor of being entertainment chairman for a most important booth of a church bazaar. . . . The church was still under construction and the bazaar was, naturally, a fund-raising affair. . . . The teen record booth accosted us to bring in a few names that would draw teens and their parents from other communities.

It wasn't easy, we can honestly say. . . . Sweet kids like Joy Layne of Mercury and the Hi-Lights of the Bally label made it appear easy at first. . . . They were ready, willing and able to come out for personal appearances and did. . . . on time, too, bringing pictures which they autographed by the dozens. . . . Their youthful and refreshing qualities impressed everyone, nothing new for them but new and gratifying for audiences to discover. . . . But, of course, there are also black spots in such an assignment. . . . Joy and the Hi-Lights are nationally known, yet they took time out of a busy schedule to drop in at a remote bazaar.

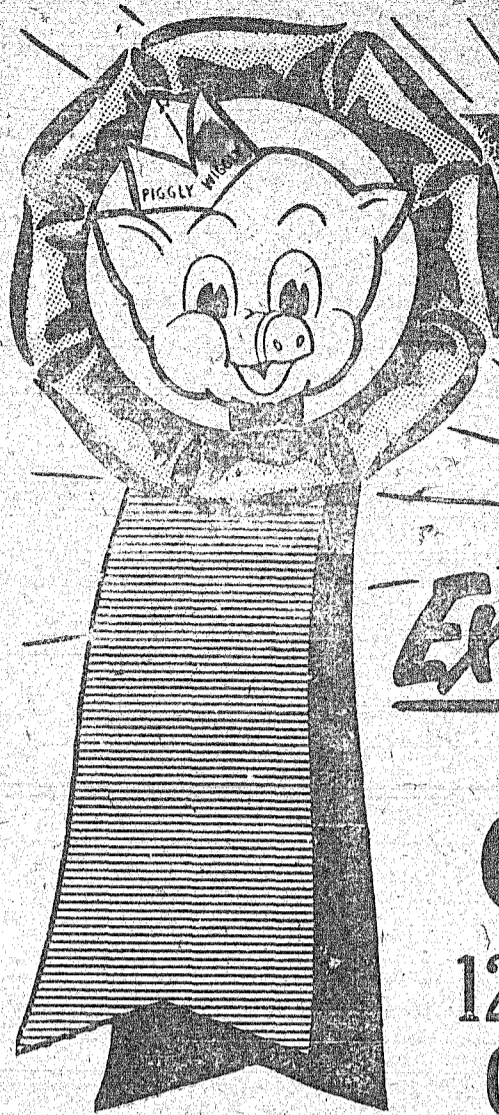

On the other hand, there was Ray Rayner, a local yokel who manages to kid the small fry and the teen-agers each week as emcee of a children's TV show and disk jockey for a bandstand-record type program. . . .
