Local Boy To Manage Elaborate Houston Theatre

Wayne Horton, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Miroy, will be the manager of the most elaborate open-air theatre in the nation when it opens for business on Wednesday, February 26. Located in the Sharpston subdivision of Houston, the theatre has been under construction for two years. Horton has been living in Houston since August.

The multi-million dollar drive in has a capacity of 1700 cars with facilities for 300 more to be added later, and covers 36 acres of ground. The area contains amusement parks for the youngsters, a modern four-lane cafeteria and has been landscaped with a tropical theme. It contains a fairyland which includes Texas' longest miniature railroad complete with magic tunnel and a dwarf-manned diamond mine, a circus playground with a trained clown and a zoo with trained dancing bears and monkeys. There are various other attractions for the younger set as well as for adults.

A large number of top executives of Loew's, Inc., builder of the theatre, plan to be on hand for the Hollywood style opening.

March of Dimes Fund Increased To $725,000

A check in the amount of $15,000 received from Mr. T. N. Evans this week increased the March of Dimes fund to a total of $725,000. We appreciate the contribution from our friends, Mr. and Mrs. Evans.

There are others who regularly contribute to the March of Dimes, who, so far as we know, have not contributed this year. Although the drive is closed, if you were missed in the drive and would like to contribute to the fund, you may do so by leaving your contribution at The News office of the Santa Anna National Bank.

If you plan to make a contribution to the March of Dimes, we would appreciate it if you would do so before March 15, as the drive money will be divided soon after that time.

This year the money will be divided three ways. The National Foundation will set aside 25 percent of the net proceeds in a Medical Aid Fund to assure that no victim of the disease will lack care because of insufficient funds in communities hard pressed by high patient care loads. This fund is designed to meet needs to be advanced to chapters when their money is used up. It will provide for purchases of new technical equipment and replacement of old equipment used by severely stricken patients.

The remaining 75 percent will be divided as usual, one-half going to the National Foundation for research, professional education, maintaining treatment centers and otherwise continuing the work of the National Organization. The other one-half of the 75 percent will remain in the local bank for use in treatment of local polio patients and seeing they are cared for.

Llano Wins Over Mason For First, Santa Anna Second

The Santa Anna boys won over Cross Plains and Rising Star during the past week, to take second place in District 9-A basketball. Llano took a 61-43 win over Mason Tuesday night to win first place with a 8-1 record. Santa Anna was the only team in the district to hand the Yellowjackets a defeat.

Mason ended in third place with a 6-3 record. Santa Anna's record was 7-2. In games played during the past week, scores were as follows: Boys, Santa Anna 50, Cross Plains 35; Mason 54, Goldthwaite 40; Llano won over Rising Star, all in games played last Friday night. Tuesday night results were: Santa Anna 40, Rising Star 19; Goldthwaite 62, Cross Plains 56; and Llano 61, Mason 43.

The local boys won 27 games out of 34 played during the entire season.

This completes the basketball for this year. Workouts for track will get underway immediately at the high school.

Social Security Asks For Annual Report From Many Payees

"Many residents of this area will find it necessary to file an annual report of earnings with the Social Security Administration," stated R. R. Tuley, Jr., Manager of the Abilene district office. The social security law provides that beneficiaries who earn more than $1200 a year in wages or farm self-employment must file an annual report by April 15 of the following year. Many beneficiaries in this area earned more than $1200 in 1957. The report is compulsory for all beneficiaries who made more than $1200 in 1957, and failure to file a report may result in the loss of some future benefits. Persons who receive checks as payee for someone else must file a report for that person if one is due. A beneficiary need not file a report if he earned less than $1200 in 1957 nor need he file a report for any year after the year he reaches age 72.

If during the year a beneficiary reported that he was working and expected to earn more than $1200, he should have received an annual report form in the mail by now. If he has not received such a form, he should be sure to get one from the social security office located in Abilene.

The information provided in the annual report will be used to make all necessary adjustments in the number of benefit checks payable. It also gives a beneficiary the chance to show the months in which he did not work for wages or over $80 or did not render substantial services in self-employment. He can be paid benefits for those months regardless of the amount of earnings for the year.

If, on the basis of information provided, the Social Security Administration finds that too many benefit checks were held back during the year, a check for the total amount of benefits due will be sent to him. If, on the other hand, a beneficiary has been paid too many benefit checks, he, or his survivors, must refund the amount that has been overpaid.

The annual report to the Social Security Administration has no connection with income tax responsibilities. This annual report to the Social Security Administration must be filed in addition to any income tax return sent to the Internal Revenue Service. Penalties in the form of monthly benefits withheld may be assessed for failure to file a report by April 15, 1958.

Pvt. 1c and Mrs. Joe Vinson and Keith of Ft. Bliss, El Paso, were here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Vinson, recently. On Sunday the visitors and the parents and other members of the family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cardenas, of Abilene, had Sunday dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Stacy.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Casey left for Alabama on Friday of last week going to the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Gilmore. They planned to bring Mrs. Gilmore and Stephen home with them to stay several weeks while Pat is attending a school in Washington, D. C., for those in the Immigration Service.

Straight Talk

BY TOM ANDERSON

We do not believe in God, but that man is God. Ruthless, reckless Walter Reuther has been playing God ever since he made this statement in 1933, while lecturing under the auspices of the Young People's Socialist League. He'd been asked this question: "Do you believe in religion and God or in science as a religion?"

In 1934 Reuther and his brother wrote a now-famous letter to friends in America from their workers paradise in Gorky, Russia. They had been touring Russia and were working in an automobile plant when they wrote that they were "actually helping to build a society that will forever end the exploitation of man by man. . . . What we are building," their letter said, "will be for the benefit and enjoyment of the working class, not only of Russia but the entire world. . . . The compensation we receive for our temporary absence from the struggle in the United States. . . . Wal and I were always strong for the Soviet Union. You know we were always ready to defend it against the lies of the reactionaries."

"Once a fellow has seen what is possible where workers gain power, he no longer fights for just an ideal, he fights for something which is real, something tangible. . . ."

"Carry on the fight for a Soviet America."

Signed, Vic and Wal
Blueprint For
Creeping Sovietization

Reuther is a third generation Socialist and crusader who wants to remake the world into a planned, collectivist labor Utopia. His record for keeping agreements is about like Russia's. Hoffa, the new President of the 1.4 million Teamsters, unlike Reuther, is a brass-knuckle hoodlum whose dreams are more down-to-earth: money and power are his Gods, not making America over.

Reuther, backed by a $50 million strike fund, is demanding a share of the profits of all profit-making companies. Under his plan (which he recommends throughout industry) stockholders would get 50 percent and workers 25 percent, with the remaining 25 percent going as rebate to company customers at the end of the year.

Reuther demands 25 percent BEFORE taxes, before reserves for retooling, plant expansion, and before debt retirement. Reuther demands 25 percent of the profits—but the union would never pay any of the losses. It's not accurate to say we have a "profit system" in America. We have a profit and loss system. Reuther's blueprint for creeping Sovietization would eventually break the automobile industry, would force the government to take it over and run it, "producing for use and not for profit" in the "public interest." This would lead to what the Marxists call "Industrial Democracy" with government replacing private enterprise. If Reuther had announced that Labor recognizes management's right to manage and has no intention of questioning management's decisions about plowing back profits into research, plants, machinery, but was simply putting in a bid for a share of the profits and a share of the losses after management had made all those decisions and after taxes, that would be a horse (and a Reuther) of a different color.

Reuther's heads-we-win, tails-you-lose plan, if put into effect, would lead to remaking American business into giant cooperatives. The government would lose hundreds of millions in corporate taxes. And after rebating a total of 50 percent of "profits" before taxes to laborers and customers, there would be little or nothing left for the stockholders, after income taxes had been paid. And that suits the Socialists just fine, as they "carry on the fight for a Soviet America!"

Guaranteed Annual Profits
— No Losses! —

Auto employees and consumers have a wonderful opportunity to share in automotive profits (and losses). They can buy stock that's the American way. The Sputnik temporarily ended Reuther's demand for a 4-day week (with 5 days pay). Most unions, lacking leaders with Reuther's imagination and socialist training, are merely demanding more pay for less work. Fewer days for higher wages, more overtime and fringe benefits. That's the union cure for

Chili Supper To Honor Athletes Of Both Schools

The Santa Anna Quarterback Club will honor all the students of both the elementary and high school who have participated in any sports event of the school, with a chili supper on Friday night. The affair will be held in the Grade School Cafeteria at 7:00 p. m. Friday, February 21. All who have participated in any sports event connected with the school will be admitted free of charge.

Sam Boyd, head coach of Baylor University, will be the principal speaker for the evening. He will bring a film of one of his 1957 games also.

Admission tickets are on sale by Ellis Densman, M. L. Guthrie and A. D. Donham. Everyone is invited to attend the affair. Admission prices are 50 cents each. Tickets will be available at the door.

Coin-Operated Laundry Opened Here Last Week

I. V. Moore and Donald McDorman of Coleman have opened the Santa Anna Wash-O-Matic Laundry in the former Corner Drug Store building, at the corner of Wallas Avenue and North 2nd street. The laundry is open 24 hours per day and contains 16 automatic washing machines and three large dryers for the convenience of customers.

All the machines are coin-operated and instructions for the operation are painted in large, easy to read letters on the wall.

The owners invite you to visit the new automatic laundry and to do your laundry at any time that is convenient for you.

the present "recession." Imagine! We're in a war for the world, a space race with history's most ruthless oppressors. The Russian laborer works under forced, sweat shop, speed-up conditions for a small fraction of the pay his American counterpart gets.

If the labor union conspiracy is not defeated the result will be bankruptcy for many small business, great unemployment, stepped-up welfare checks, more inflation, ever-higher prices, and to defeat, disaster, and oblivion for America.

The Battleground
Is At The Polls

Unions are no longer mainly "collective bargaining" or even "collective bludgeoning" organizations. Unions today are mainly political organizations. As George Meany, President of AFL-CIO says, "The scene of battle is no longer the company plant and the picket line. It has moved into the legislative halls of Congress and the state legislatures."

It's estimated that union dues exceed $450,000,000 a year. Unions could buy a lot of company stock for their members with that. But they don't want the members to own company stock. They might become more loyal to the company than to the union. Walter Reuther controls more millions of dollars for political campaigns than do the Democratic and Republican parties combined.

America faces the prospect of a Socialist-Labor dictatorship with the Reutherites' henchmen in the majority in Congress and a Reutherite yes-man in the White House.

Reuther could not only run the whole automobile industry, but the government too. Reuther would not only bargain for auto workers, but for all employees, stockholders, and customers.

He will never be satisfied with collective bargaining until it produces a collective economy—a planned economy in which union leaders enjoy joint management with the owners of business to share the profits but not the losses, the decisions but not the responsibility, the security but not the insecurity, with a Labor government refereeing.

The average union leader's goal is: "MORE" (but Reuther is not average. His goal is Socialism).

Public School Week Designated For March 3-7

The eight annual Public Schools Week in Texas has been designated for the week of March 3rd through March 7th. The primary purpose of the public observance is to better acquaint the citizenship of their responsibility of guarding over their public schools.

In designating Public Schools Week, Governor Price Daniel had this to say:

"Public Schools Week in Texas is a special time set aside each year in which to place increased emphasis on our public schools. Parent visitation is encouraged and the citizens of our communities are urged to take an active interest in the school system and to cooperate with the respective school boards, superintendents, principals and teachers in an effort to make Texas public schools the finest in the Nation."

"Today, more than ever before, the importance of our schools is being realized by an awakened Nation. Education, both in scientific and liberal arts fields, has taken on a new perspective. However, with all the rush to train scientists and place satellites in outer space, it is important to remember that our public schools will furnish our leaders of tomorrow with the basic human, moral and spiritual foundations necessary for more advanced training and knowledge."

"Therefore, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the week of March 3-7, 1958, as Public Schools Week in Texas, and urge each citizen to recognize the tremendous importance of our public schools."

AN EDITORIAL— Our City Council

An election will be held in the City of Santa Anna on Tuesday, April 1, for the purpose of electing three persons to serve a two year term on the City Council. If you are interested in the affairs of the city you should give this some serious thought.

The three men who are now serving on the council are well qualified to fill the positions. They are George M. Johnson, O. A. Etheredge and Ben W. Yarborough. All have served on the council for several years and work well with other members of the council. We would like to see them continue to serve.

With the present members serving on the council their meetings are orderly. They do not agree on every subject submitted to them. However, they all discuss the matter and pass judgement in a democratic way. We feel this is as it should be and that these are the men who should continue to represent us as City Councilmen.

We feel the present council has done a lot in the way of betterment for our town and if plans for the future are carried out, continued improvements will be seen. They have reduced the cost of general expenses of the city and in the face of declining income, a number of better business methods of operation have been put into effect.

It is our opinion that these men will continue to serve the city if the citizens of the town want them to. However, they are going to have to know you want them before they will have their names put on the election ballot. Let us suggest that if you would like these men to continue to serve us, go to them and tell them so. Let them know that you appreciate what they are doing and what has been done. We believe your efforts will be rewarded with the same three seeking re-election to the City Council.

CORRECTION

Last week we mis-stated the deadline for filing for a place on the City Council ballot. The deadline is Saturday, March 1, which is 30 days prior to the election, set for Tuesday, April 1.

Everyone who is interested in serving on the City Council must file their names with the City Secretary not later than 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, March 1st.

ACROSS the DESK

ideas from other editors

From the Lincoln Times, Lincoln, N. C.: Deep down inside of him, every man (we're not so sure about every woman) is lazy and shiftless. We don't want to work—for work's sake. We haven't been out of the trees long enough.

But the hard fact is we can no longer get a banana or a coconut by merely reaching for it. We have to work to eat. And since it has become the custom to wear clothes and live in houses and give our kids a better start than we had, it has also become the custom to work. What is called "ambition" is a liking for money, or things, or social standing or leadership among our fellows that is stronger than our dislike of work.

Thus, when labor leaders raise the issue of a shorter work week, they are playing with human dynamite. And when they explain, as Walter Reuther has, that they are seeking not merely fewer hours of work but a still fatter pay envelope the lure is "atomic."

Less work at higher pay means less goods—at tremendously higher cost. And, as we know from sad experience, when goods are scarce, the competition is not to find buyers but to find things-to-sell and prices to go through the roof. If you think we have inflation now, just hold your hat!

John L. Lewis, who has always been a tough, bitter, no-holds-barred fighter for his mine-workers, and who has gotten his boys the highest pay-scale in Labor, has told them flatly: "If you want to stop eating so much and loaf more, we can get you the six-hour day."

We've been thinking our days are pretty long too. It would seem like semi-retirement for an editor to go to the 40 hour week. But we just don't know how we'd buy the 48-hours we'd need for all that leisure.

And even if this crisis-born nation didn't go to you-know-where in a hand basket economically, we can't help wondering how long the rank and file of us could physically survive more idle time. Some would have to work 40 hours—or more—just to rescue the rest from the accidental shootings, drownings, highway mayhem and assorted immolation associated with modern recreation!

It is a tribute to sorely-tempted human judgment—and a meager, too—that a recent Gallup poll has shown that people (in all categories) are opposed to the shorter work week. Even manual workers voted only 39 per cent in favor, 55 per cent against, six per cent having no opinion.

SCANNING THE NEWS

The Library of Congress has changed the name of its Science Division to "Science and Technology Division" to describe its functions more accurately and to reflect the assignment to it of administrative responsibility for the Armed Forces Technical Information Agency's Reference Center.

The newly-titled Science and Technology Division was established in June 1949. Its assignment was to plan and conduct reference service for the Library's collections of scientific and technological literature, which now number more than 1 million books, plus most of the world's important periodicals in this field; to recommend new material to be acquired; and to develop bibliographic techniques to handle these collections.

Current activities include the preparation of a bibliography of the International Geophysical Year (a listing on punched cards of publications in many languages), a world list of aeronautical serials, a list of scientific and technical serials received by the Library, and a number of continuing bibliographies in various fields. It also serves as the largest collecting and reference center for technical report literature of the U. S. Government (accumulating at the rate of 20,000 a year) and of other countries as well. In fiscal 1957 the Division provided four times as much reference service as in the previous year.

The distinguished science collections which make the Library of Congress the national library of science in effect, have been more than a century in the making. Thomas Jefferson's library, purchased by Congress in 1815 to reconstitute the war-damaged Library of Congress contained much material of scientific nature. The Library of Congress has been preeminent in science since 1866, when the Smithsonian Institute's complete collections of publications of learned societies and of the world's most important scientific and literary periodicals were transferred to it by act of Congress.

Since 1866 the Library of Congress has continued and greatly expanded the program of foreign exchange begun by the Smithsonian, until today it has a worldwide network of 16,068 active exchange agreements with foreign governments and private research centers, laboratories, universities, observatories, and other scientific and technical institutions; in the Soviet Union alone it has 174 such agreements. The program each year brings in nearly half a million books, pamphlets, journals, and other materials in various fields, including science. The Library's arrangements with some 240 foreign bookdealers throughout the world, who have standing orders to acquire for it important publications in many languages, insure the acquisition of scarce items. It also receives all American and foreign publications in science that are registered in the United States for copyright. These activities have made the Library of Congress one of the greatest sources of scientific information in the world.

Our WASHINGTON Letter
By Congressman O. C. FISHER

REGARDLESS OF INTENTION, the effect of the much publicized Jack Porter letter, inviting Texans to a Republican fund-raising dinner in Houston honoring House Republican leader Joe Martin of Massachusetts, has just about killed off any chance to pass a gas bill at this session. At least it looks that way right now. Speaker Rayburn plans to call the bill up later this month.

The Porter letter was unfortunate. Actually the gas bill's connection with it was purely incidental. Mr. Porter, in invitations to a limited number of Houstonians, reminded them of Martin's prior support of a gas bill, which was vetoed, said Martin must be depended upon to line up Republican support for the pending measure, and in the same letter appealed for liberal contributions to the Republican fund-raising dinner. A hundred thousand dollars were donated — which would probably have been given if the gas bill had never been mentioned.

That amount is not unusual for similar political dinners by both Democrats and Republicans. But the very fact the gas bill was mentioned in Porter's letter serves as fuel for opponents of the gas bill to use, and they had made the most of it.

THE GAS BILL is designed to correct a mistake made by the Supreme Court in ruling that the Federal Government has the power to distate to a farmer in Texas (or anywhere) the amount he can charge for gas produced on his property, at the well-head BEFORE it ever gets into interstate commerce.

If such a ruling is retained, then it can be used as a precedent for Federal control of prices a farmer can get for his sheep, cow-hides, oil or any other commodity to be shipped in interstate commerce. It is clearly an invasion of State's rights.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health
HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

Progress in medicine and public health are difficult to measure.

As each succeeding generation grows it falls into its own pattern of development, forgetting all too easily that only a few years earlier many of the conveniences of "modern" living — particularly of good health — simply did not exist.

How many of us recall the scourges that swept over the whole communities in the form of smallpox, malaria, typhoid, and other diseases of which we are only vaguely aware today?

In fact, the only information most of us have of these diseases is gained from reading of epidemics in foreign lands, of tasting the protective chlorine in our water, and of the small scar left by a long past vaccination.

Even today we modernists are witnessing the decline and fall of still another ominous disease foe — paralytic polio. Since the advent of Salk vaccine, the drop in incidence has been so dramatic that the odds are good that tomorrow's children will be as safe from paralytic polio as our children are from smallpox.

Our ability to control infectious disease has been attained in a period of history marked by wide and intensive scientific and technical progress, accompanied by profound social change.

New stresses have been created that lead sometimes suddenly and at other times slowly to disease and premature death unless there is someone to stand guard.

As an example, the chemical stresses to which we are exposed are legion, and are mounting rapidly. Thousands of industrial plants discharge chemical wastes into rivers and streams that provide our drinking water. Many chemicals that have not been adequately tested for their effect on man are added to food in order to preserve, color, and flavor it.

A recent Railroad Commission survey shows that well over five million barrels of salt water are produced each day in Texas oil drilling operations. Some of that amount finds its way into river systems and underground water supplies, altering the chemical quality of the water.

More than a thousand million pounds of chemical insecticides are used annually throughout the world in the cultivation of fruits and vegetables. Some three million pounds of gases are discharged into the air of a single large American city each day by motor vehicles and industry.

These are the new stresses with which we must now contend. Solutions will come slowly and with difficulty. But they will come.

Mrs. Jess Howard and Mrs. J. D. Howard left for Sugarland Tuesday morning, where they will visit an aunt of Mrs. Jess Howard's. They will also visit a sister and sister-in-law of Mrs. Jess Howard in Houston and relatives of Mrs. J. D. Howard.

Mrs. Vernon Herring and daughter, Lucretia, were in Dallas last week, where Lucretia had treatments under a specialist. They were home for the weekend and Lucretia seemed some better. They returned to Dallas Monday for further treatment.

Many GI Insurance Policies Have Wrong Beneficiaries

An increasing number of cases are coming to light in which GI life insurance proceeds must be paid to other than the veteran's immediate family because the veteran failed to keep his beneficiary listing up to date.

This was reported today by Dr. George T. McMahan, manager of the Veterans Administration Center in Waco, Texas, for the benefit of any of the 312,458 GI insurance policyholders in Texas who should change their beneficiaries in line with recent changes in family status.

Marriages, divorces, births or deaths are the types of changes in family status which may indicate needed changes in beneficiary listings. Dr. McMahan said.

In many of the recent cases coming to light, the beneficiaries of VA record were the same the veteran had named when they took out their policies years ago, even though they have married and now have families. Dr. McMahan said.

He added VA is required by law to pay GI insurance proceeds to the beneficiary of record, whether or not that beneficiary still is in any way connected with the veteran.

Changes of beneficiaries can be made at any time without notifying the beneficiaries, but they must be made in writing over the policyholder's signature and sent to the VA office servicing the policy.

These changes cannot be made in a last will or testament, Dr. McMahan added; they must be filed by the policyholder with VA directly to be valid under the law.

Any VA office will be glad to assist GI insurance policyholders in filing beneficiary changes.

Tax Relief For Storm Victims

Taxpayers suffering casualty losses from tornadoes, floods and other disasters during 1957 may deduct their losses on their Federal tax returns for that year.

Mr. Newman of Internal Revenue Service at Brownwood, said.

Amount of loss to be deducted is measured by the fair market value of the property just before the casualty, less its fair market value immediately after the casualty, but not more than the adjusted basis of the property reduced by any insurance or compensation received.

Mr. Newman explained that the term "casualty" means an identifiable event of a sudden, unexpected or unusual nature. Generally, this means that the loss must result from a sudden destructive force.

"Damage from a normal process or from progressive deterioration of property through a steadily operating cause — such as the steady weakening of a foundation from usual weather elements — is not a casualty loss."

For taxpayers with casualty loss headaches from storms and such, Mr. Newman, press release Revenue's twelfth page, Publication No. 155.

HOW TO GET WHAT WE NEED
(A distinguished Texas judge offers pointers on combating our rapidly increasing juvenile delinquency problem.)

By JUDGE SARAH T. HUGHES

JUDGE HUGHES

Texans like to brag — and we have much reason to be proud. But we can't brag about our facilities for handling juvenile delinquents. They're inadequate. The state institutions are heavily overcrowded. There are no state parole officers for children released from them. Many counties have neither institutions nor parole officers.

You Can Get Them
There is, however, something that can be done, and it is up to us, the people, to do it.

Public officials respond to what the voters want. On the county level it is the Commissioners Court, and for the state the Legislature has the responsibility.

If there is strong enough public opinion favoring adequate facilities and probation officials, our representatives in county and state office will provide them.

Develop Public Opinion
Public opinion is something you can be a force in developing. Talk to your friends, your clubs, your church. Write your legislators, county commissioners, newspapers. And if your county is too small to afford paid probation people, get volunteer ones, ministers, other people with character... yourself!

WHAT ABOUT FATHER?
By Kathryn Brummond

AGNES LANGLEY, her heart like a leaden lump, unlocked the door of the small town library where she worked. How could she live without Bill? But she'd have to because they were through. Last night she had said, "Why don't you marry your boss' daughter then?"

"And Bill had replied bitterly, "Well, maybe I will."

Bill worked for a large nursery in Saint Paul. He was currently engaged in overseeing a landscape project sponsored by the village of Hectorville, where both he and Agnes had grown up.

Agnes had worn his ring for a year, now, but it was only since returning to Hectorville that Bill began demanding a definite date for their marriage.

When he had given her the diamond Bill thoroughly understood that Agnes would not—could not—leave her father, that they'd have to wait.

"He's been so disturbed, so sort of senile, since mother died," she explained. "His flower garden is his only solace and he never wants to leave it."

When Agnes said that she hadn't thought her father would live a year, but Mrs. Bill had said last night, that was a year out of their lives together and it was no telling how much longer it would be.

"There's something ghoulish about making our happiness depend upon his death," Bill protested, "and if you really loved me you'd make the break."

"And if you really loved me you'd come back to Hectorville," Agnes countered, "you'd move right in with us and life would go on just the same for father."

"And what would I do?" Bill asked impatiently. "Go to work in an oil station, or at the elevator? And you'd keep on at the library, I suppose. No, Aggie, a woman's place is wherever her husband's work is. And my work happens to be in the city."

Then Agnes had made that crack about marrying the boss' daughter. It was just like nailing the last spike into a now impregnable wall.

Wearily, Agnes did her morning chores, raised the curtains, opened windows. But at the back of the little library, where the nursery men were at work planting bushes, she opened only slits in the blinds.

Bill was there, in new trim gaberdes and with a fresh shave. He was bareheaded and the morning sun glistened on his bronze curly hair. He didn't look at all heart broken, Agnes thought wretchedly.

Then she saw a sleek expensive car stop at the further curb. Two persons emerged—a plump elderly man with white hair and a young woman. This girl was tall and graceful and she looked sleek and expensive like the car.

Undoubtedly Bill's boss and his daughter. Agnes had never seen Marilyn Allison before, but she had known Marilyn was something special. She'd have to be with her bringing up.

Bill shook hands with them both, then he and Mr. Allison stepped away from the curb—stopped just under the open window where Agnes stood, hidden by the blinds. She heard Mr. Allison say, "About this telephone call, Bill, what do you mean you're going to resign?" Then he added, "You can't do it. We just can't give you up."

"Yes, I've been offered a job back here at home," Bill said slowly, "and—"

Agnes ran back to her desk. Bill had given in! He was giving up his career. Well, she had won! But she felt no triumph in her victory. She felt awful.

Suddenly Agnes knew she could never accept the sacrifice. Bill was right. The woman must go where the man went. She'd arrange it somehow—tear her father up by the roots, find a housekeeper, do something, anything, to go to Bill.

1958 COTTON PLANTING AND PLOW-UP DATES SET

Texas farmers in 106 cotton producing counties will participate in the pink bollworm control program this year.

Cotton planting and plow-up dates have been set by Agriculture Commissioner John White in areas where the pink bollworm poses a serious threat to crops. The control zones include counties in South, Central and East Texas and along the Coastal Bend.

Uniform seeding and harvesting methods help hold down the insect population growth. By delaying the first planting as long as practical in the spring, the insects emerging from hibernation find very few young cotton plants on which to lay their eggs. Early destruction of cotton stalks helps destroy the winter quarters of the pest.

The control area is divided into seven zones, according to weather conditions. Each zone has slightly more than two months during which the farmer can plant the crop. Stalk destruction dates allow ample time for the cotton to mature and be harvested, barring undue interference from bad weather.

Beginning in South Texas, which is generally the site of the first cotton planted annually in the United States, farmers started planting on February 1st and have until March 31st to complete operations. Zone 1 includes Cameron, Willacy and the southern portions of Hidalgo and Starr counties. Plow-up deadline is August 31.

Zone 2 farmers may plant between February 15 and April 20 with the stalk destruction deadline Sept. 25th.

Zone 3 planting dates are March 5 to May 10 with stalk destruction set for October 10th.

Zone 4 planting dates are for March 10 to May 20 and plow-up by October 20th.

Zone 5 dates for planting are March 10 to May 31 with plow-up by October 31.

Zone 6 dates are March 20 to May 31 for planting and destruction by November 30th.

Zone 7 planting dates are from

Southeastern New Mexico Feature Of Humble Travel Guide

Southeastern New Mexico is featured in a one-page travel guide being mailed this week to 100,000 motorists in Texas and New Mexico.

The travel promotion piece, prepared by Humble Oil & Refining Company, describes the region as "a tall country that offers everything." It invites motorists to visit Carlsbad Caverns, Cloudercroft and Ruidoso and to entertain themselves at golf, trail-riding, fishing, hunting or just by driving through the beautiful country-side.

Water-color illustrations by E. M. Schiweitz, noted Texas artist, picture the outstanding attractions of the region, which is outlined on a state map.

Humble has prepared similar travel guides to highlight the Santa Fe Basin of New Mexico, Palo Duro Canyon in the Texas Panhandle, the Highland Lakes of Central Texas, the Dogwood Trail of East Texas, the Texas Gulf Coast and the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Purpose of the guides is to stimulate motorists to travel to interesting and scenic points on weekends, holidays and vacations.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Haynes received a phone call Sunday night from their daughter, Mattie Lancaster in El Paso, saying she had arrived there, returning from California. She was staying for a week in El Paso to attend a beauty school.

April 1 to May 31 and plow-up by December 15th.

Coleman County is not listed in any of the controlled zones.

Interest On Savings Bonds Must Be Reported as Income

"If you own U. S. Savings Bonds you must report interest on them," V. W. Newman of Internal Revenue Service, Brownwood, said today.

"If you are on the cash basis, you have an option as to when you may report the interest on your income tax return. You may choose to report interest yearly. If you do it this way, the amount of interest to be included in income each year is given in the table on the bond."

According to Mr. Newman, the taxpayer may elect to wait until the bonds are matured or cashed before reporting the interest earned. In this case the interest must be included as income for that year. Also, once the taxpayer elects to report interest yearly, he must stick with this method unless he is given permission to change to another method.

Asked about Savings Bonds held beyond maturity, Mr. Newman explained that if a taxpayer owning Series E Bonds wishes to hold them beyond maturity they will continue earning interest for ten more years, or until they are cashed, whichever is earlier.

The Upper Room

© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Read I Corinthians 3:9-17. We work with God, and that means that you are a field under God's cultivation. (I Corinthians 3:9, Phillips.)

People approach the Lenten season in different ways. For some this is the period of self-denial, the time to say "No" to some indulgence. For others, Lent is the season in which to practice the cultivation of "our souls' little garden... part of the great garden of God," as Evelyn Underhill has expressed it.

The loveliness of a garden and the usefulness of a man's life do not just happen. Pruning, weeding, transplanting — there need to be done in every garden, and from season to season, if beauty is to follow.

Do not a well-kept garden and a man doing God's will both witness to the love and understanding, care used in their development? A charming garden — one that man cares; a life in harmony with Christ testifies to the power of God's love.

PRAYER

Eternal God, Father of all men, may we this day choose to walk with Thee. We know it will exact from us strict discipline, but we understand that only so can our lives be made beautiful and useful in Thy kingdom. Thine shall be the glory, through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The Christian life requires cultivation.

—Edna H. Sardeson (New York)

Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Smith and son, Carl, of Luling, spent several days here at the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Autrey.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

The Internal Revenue Service offices are having tax information days every Monday morning again this year in the North Texas offices between January 1 and April 15. Every year more taxpayers are learning that the best way to figure their tax is to spend time studying the tax instructions and figuring out for themselves just what they owe. Once upon a time a few taxpayers took all their checks and a tow sack full of receipts down to the Internal Revenue Service office and the tax people spent a lot of time adding up their income and deductions for them. The Revenue folks decided, however, that it was the taxpayer's job to do his own accounting and that the tax folks should spend their time answering questions and showing the taxpayer where to put the figures instead of doing a whole lot of simple accounting for a few taxpayers. If you have any questions or need help in getting your income on your tax return, the tax folks will be glad to have you come in. If you need help in doing your adding and subtracting, you probably need to find a good tax practitioner to help you.

"Son, there goes one of our town's most important citizens."

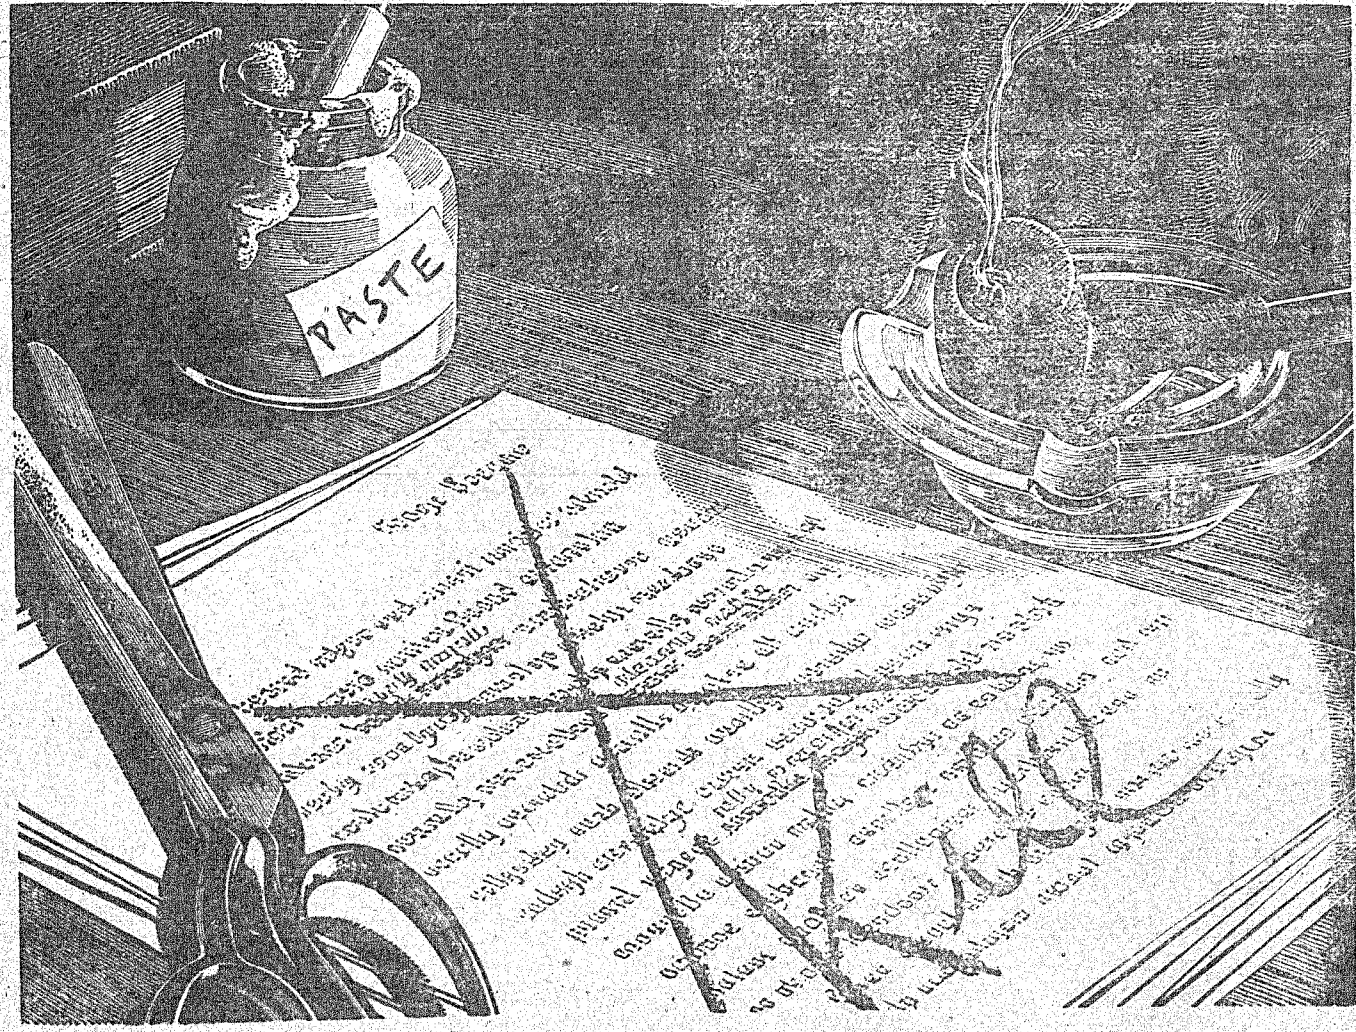

Long before you were born Santa Fe helped build this town.

It brought some of our first citizens and the materials they needed to build and create this community.

Today, Santa Fe delivers freight and food to us straight from America's manufacturers and produce centers to keep our stores and homes full of the good things we take for granted.

Yep, Santa Fe is mighty proud to take part in the development of this fine community.

A FREE PRESS . . . and CENSORSHIP

America is at peace. While we have men in uniform stationed over the world, we are not at war. In every way, we are working to preserve our peaceful relations with other peoples whose ideologies and aspirations differ from ours.

Figuring largely in that huge undertaking is America's Free Press. Even during the peaceful years, it has become necessary that certain information regarding discoveries and inventions be protected. Security has become big business.

"Keep this out of the newspaper," are fighting words to any newspaper editor who is a conscientious craftsman. Yet editors of all newspapers, large and small, realize the responsibilities facing them, to help preserve the securities that are so important to all of us.

Government, the military, and the scientific fields, receive full cooperation from the men and women who, by training, are accustomed to dig out and know the news . . . and who, by instinct, strive to keep the people fully informed.

Americans have a right to expect that full freedom of the press be preserved, within the bounds drawn by these securities.

For a completely free press is the only safe foundation on which government of the people can build all other freedoms.
