PROGRESS BY SELF-AMPUTATION

By Robert Morris

(Editor's note: Robert Morris, President of the University of Dallas, was formerly chief council of the Senate's Subcommittee on Internal Security.)

The headlines were full of details about our dispatching marines to Southeast Asia. Radio and television reporters repeated over and over our "firmness" in the Laotian crisis. This all tends to generate confidence in our State Department.

Instead of turning off the lights and sleeping secure, however, we should look at the situation in Southeast Asia with an eye toward what has actually happened.

At Geneva on July 21, 1954, our State Department leaders and our allies sat down, once again, with the Communists and entered into a solemn agreement with respect to Southeast Asia.

Ho-Chi-Minh, the Communist guerrilla leader, had been committing wanton aggression all throughout French Indo-China. Despite this we agreed, at Geneva, to give the Communists Northern Viet Nam, an area of 62,000 square miles, with a population of 13 million people. In other words, we consigned them to slavery.

But, in return, the Communists gave us a "solemn" pledge not to extend their aggressions beyond the conceded acreage.

At the same time President Eisenhower warned that the United States would not tolerate any further aggressions and we went on to organize the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, popularly known as SEATO. This organization also gave solemn assurances that it would tolerate no further Communist aggressions in Southeast Asia. (However, we refused to allow the Free Chinese and the South Koreans, with the strongest non-Communist armies in Asia, to participate.) With all of these assurances emanating from Geneva our people went back to sleep.

The Communists did not stop their aggressions at all. They were only conveniently kept out of the news. Communists forces moved aggressively into little Laos. The only "firmness" we have shown up until now has been toward the poor Laotians who were reluctant to be subordinated to a "coalition government" in which the Communists held the posts of Minister of Defense and Minister of Interior.

Even the declared purpose of our present firmness should be analyzed. The State Department concedes the object of our military movement is not to roll back any of these aggressions, but simply to establish an "independent coalition government" for Laos.

In other words we are being firm merely to neutralize more non-Communist sectors of the globe in return for more worthless Communist promises. And, of course, the so-called resulting neutral states are not neutral at all but disguised Soviet satellites

Turkey Growers To Meet Monday

Turkey producers - growers and contract producers who are eligible to vote in the nationwide referendum June 18-22 on the proposed turkey marketing order produced approximately 104 million turkeys, or about 96 percent, of the record 1961 output of 108 million birds, according to A. V. Bullard, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation, Coleman County Committee.

These growers, Mr. Bullard pointed out, are eligible to vote for or against the marketing order formulated by the turkey industry to help obtain fair prices for producers and consumers and to avoid future disastrous price situations such as that which resulted from over production in 1961.

A meeting will be held in the Santa Anna National Bank Building Monday, June 11, beginning at 2:00 p. m. for the purpose of acquainting turkey growers with the forms and reports the grower must make to the ASCS County Committee before a ballot can be issued.

Forms ASCS-215, Certification of Turkeys Marketed in 1961, that have the added feature for the Communists that they are thus eligible to receive our financial assistance while in the process toward Sovietization. This is precisely what we did in the Congo last year, except that there the Communists had virtually no strength when we overturned the pro-Western government of the young Commissioners and imposed our "independent coalition government." No, it wasn't quite the same, our "firmness" toward the pro-Western forces in the Congo did not stop at warnings and withholding of economic assistance as was the case in Laos. We actually turned the guns on them in Katanga.

It should be abundantly clear that our present posture of stopping Soviet aggression by "neutralizing" the non-Communist world is not going to work.

In Southeast Asia the Soviet goal, obviously, is Singapore. They are inexorably moving toward it. They are absorbing, with our help, the Indonesia archipelago where Sukarno, the wartime Japanese collaborator, acts as Khrushchev's front runner. Thus, with the neutralization or conquest of Singapore the West will be cut off from the Indian Ocean which just a few years ago was ruled by the British Navy. In the coming year almost the last British bases on the Indian Ocean will be dismantled when Kenya and Tanganyika gain their independence. The retreat of the West is there for all to see.

Yet Washington is optimistic. As James Burnham wrote recently, the attitude there seems to be, we are making progress by self-amputation.

will be available at the meeting and will be given to all turkey growers who are qualified to vote in the referendum.

Mr. Bullard is anxious that all growers file the Certification of Turkeys Marketed in 1961 prior to the opening date for voting, since the County Committee must approve the marketings and also enter the total marketings on the ballot for each producer-grower.

All turkey growers' cooperation in attending this meeting will be greatly appreciated.

State Wool and Mohair Judging

Four Coleman County 4-H boys made up the junior wool and mohair judging team that competed in the State contest last Saturday. There were a total of seventeen teams that judged the class of 20 wool fleeces, 20 mohair fleeces and placed and gave seasons on two classes of wool and two classes of mohair.

The Coleman County 4-Hers placed sixth, lacking one place being eligible to judge in the National contest at Sonora.

Members of the team are Scott Beaver of Talpa 4-H, Eddie Wade and Bubba Jones of Santa Anna 4-H.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mobley and Margaret Ann left Friday for Philadelphia, Pa., where they will visit their son and brother, Jackie Mobley.

Thomas Wristen Jr. polled 456 votes in the Second Primary election Saturday to defeat incumbent Walter C. Holt by 105 votes, for Commissioner of Precinct No. 2, Coleman County. Wristen polled 189 votes in the First Primary and Holt polled 329 votes. Two other candidates in the race polled enough votes to cause the run-off election.

Apparently all the voting boxes in the precinct voted just about their maximum voting strength. A total of 556 votes were cast in Santa Anna, the most in a run-off election in a good many years, if not the most ever cast. This was 22 votes more than was cast in the First Primary. Whon and Rockwood also cast more votes in the Second Primary than they did in the First Primary. Shield and Trickham cast almost the same vote as in the First Primary.

Wristen polled 293 votes in Santa Anna; 15 at Whon; 59 at Rockwood; 41 at Shield; 31 at Trickham; and 17 absentee votes. He carried every voting box in the precinct with the exception of Trickham, which gave Holt 32 votes and Wristen 31.

Holt received 262 votes in Santa Anna; 3 at Whon; 33 at Rockwood; 24 at Shield; 32 at Trickham and 7 absentee votes.

Holt was elected in a close run-off election eight years ago when he defeated Earl Hardy for the Commissioner's post.

State Capital NEWS

Austin — Crooked-hole well-drilling is the big news at the Capitol.

More than $3,000,000 in penalties is asked by Atty. Gen. Will Wilson in the first suit brought by the state following "crooked-hole" investigations in the East Texas Oil Field. Suit contends that six oil wells were drilled in such a direction that they wound up under someone else's land.

Operators plugged two of them before Texas Railroad Commission engineers could check to see if the holes were straight or crooked.

Suit asked $1,000 a day for each day of operation of each well. Over a two-year period, this comes to $3,442,000.

Commission engineers plan to check more than 1,000 wells.

Humble Oil and Refining Co. brought a civil suit against another group of oil operators. Humble says that the operators crooked wells ended under an Humble lease and have been draining off Humble's oil.

SAFETY IN AGE

If you live to be 100, you'll be safe from death by accidents.

State Health Department statistics reveal that not a single Texan over 100 years of age died in an accident in 1960.

Statistics also reveal that there's something to what they say about Texas weather. Deaths from extreme heat and from freezing both were reported during the year. Biggest killer for all age groups, except those under one and over 75, is the highway accident.

In the home, fire and explosion are the biggest killers. Falls are in third place.

Home ranks next to the highway as the scene of most accidental deaths.

MENTAL PATIENT CLINIC
Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools is expected to act within the next week or two on whether to select a site in the Lower Rio Grande Valley or in the Beaumont area for an outpatient clinic for discharged mental patients.

Dr. C. J. Rullman, state director of mental health and hospitals, said the Board already had chosen the Fort Worth area for one of the two clinics authorized by the last Legislature.

"Second will be established in South Texas," he added. Sites are being considered at Beaumont and Brownsville-Harlingen.

Such clinics now are operating in Houston, San Antonio and Dallas.

PARK PATRONAGE GAINS

State Parks system is showing substantial gains in patronage as compared with last year.

Bill M. Collins, executive director for the Parks Board, said that increases in the number of visitors particularly were noticeable at Garner State Park in Southwest Texas, Lake Corpus Christi, Palo Duro Canyon Park in the Panhandle, Bentsen Park on the Rio Grande border, and MEDITORIAL: A reader (Mrs. R.C.) wants to know what causes a person to die of a heart attack instantly. She has heard of many persons with a history of heart trouble who are presumed to be in good health.

The answer, of course, is that there are many kinds of heart trouble, some amenable to treatment and others, not as much. The type that causes sudden death so often, especially in young men, is coronary heart disease. The main problem here is that its presence is not usually known until after the first attack (which may be the last). Occasionally there may be a short warning period before the attack, such as vague indigestion pains in the chest, but often these aren't severe enough to send the patient to his doctor.

It is quite possible that people could prevent heart attacks by assuming that they will occur, and thus do everything ahead of time to avoid them. This is where a good annual physical examination can help. Coronary artery disease does have a tendency to run in certain families, thus a family history by the examining doctor can point out which patient to concentrate on. Overweight, heavy smoking, high or borderline blood pressure, diabetes and high blood cholesterol all seem to play a small part in the etiology of coronary heart trouble. Correction of as many of these as is feasible will certainly help a great deal in the prevention of sudden heart fatalities.

Other forms of heart trouble, including rheumatic, valvular, hypertensive, hyperthyroid and congenital heart diseases, are amenable to therapy and seldom result in sudden death. Many years of symptom free living can occur with proper care, and thus these individuals can be considered relatively healthy.

Kerrville and Buescher parks.

Total visitors in April, latest figures available, were 681,871, compared with 590,133 in the same month a year ago.

DOVE HUNTING SEASON

Texas will have representatives at the national dove conference in Washington on June 26 when length and dates of the 1962 hunting seasons will be discussed.

H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the State Game and Fish Commission, reports the outlook favorable for a good dove crop in Texas — both mourning and whitewing doves.

VACATION READING STIMULATED

Fourth annual "Texas Reading Club"—designed to encourage an interest in reading among youngsters — during their vacation — is now under way.

Sponsored by the Texas State Library and participating libraries in 89 cities and towns, the program enrolled more than 16,- 000 young people this year. Harold J. Marburger, director of rural library services, State Library, described the reading club as the largest of its kind in the nation.

Youths who read 12 books on their reading level before August 31 will receive a reading certificate signed by Marburger and Dr. Dorman H. Winfrey, director and librarian, State Library.

In addition, all youngsters who enroll will receive a "reading log" to keep a record of books completed during the program.

Books in many instances are being furnished by the State Library through inter-library loan, bookmobiles, multi-county regional libraries and through the loan of books as an extension service from library field services.

TOLL ROAD

Only toll road in Texas — the Fort Worth-Dallas Turnpike — seems to be making its way.

The Turnpike grossed $3,245,797 last year, with operating expenses of $937,168. It put $1,641,977 into the fund to pay interest on the $58,500,000 it borrowed to build the road, and to build up its total reserves to nearly $5,000,000.

The Fort Worth-Dallas Turnpike is the only place in Texas where it is legal to drive 70 miles per hour.

Legislature allowed the Turnpike Authority to raise the speed limit to that figure.

SMOKERS PAY

Cigarette smokers are chipping in more than $7,000,000 a month to the State Treasury under the 8-cent sales tax on each package.

Treasurer Jesse James reported income from that source to be $7,700,588 in May.

SCREWORM CONTROL

Fight against the screwworm fly has been extended northward. Reason is because truck-hauled livestock, infested with screwworms, crossed the control line which was being maintained by aerial distribution of sterile male flies.

Texas Animal Health Commission meets on June 11 to adopt a regulation requiring inspection of livestock as they cross the control line, and spraying them to make sure they do not carry the costly worms into clear territory.

A new distribution point was established at Conros after outbreaks of screwworms were reported in East Texas.

Program is a bold effort to control this $40,000,000-a-year pest. It is financed by the federal and state governments and by contributions from livestock owners. Most of the money is federal.

GOVERNOR'S APPOINTMENTS

Governor Price Daniel appointed former Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd of Odessa to the Texas Industrial Commission to replace Robert L. Haynsworth of El Paso who resigned. Commission has the job of attracting industry to Texas.

Gov. Daniel moved Dr. Harvey Renger of Hallettsville from the board of directors of Texas A & I at Kingsville to the board of Texas Southern University at Houston. He named to the A & I board C. C. Winn, San Antonio; Leo Welder, Victoria; and Lewis Maples, Kingsville.

Hoyt Johnson, Palestine attorney, was named to the board of managers of the Texas State Railroad.

Carl Phinney of Dallas was put on the State Securities Board.

BUSINESS PICKUP

Texas business activity improved in April by failing to lose ground as it had in February and March.

Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas read its business barometers and concluded that April business was at 128.2 percent of the 1957-59 average, up 17 percent over April of 1961. Strength in the sales of automobiles was a major factor in the leveling off from the all-time high reached in January with an index of 132.9 percent.

TWICE AS MUCH COOLING

with the patented advantages of

PARAMOUNT COOLERS

Yes! This famous Paramount 5000 c.f.m. evaporative cooler gives you up to twice as much cooling because of these patented features:

— Many coolers lose as much as 70% of cooling efficiency because dust, dirt and salts clog the filters. Patented No-Clog Sta-Fresh filters are guaranteed clog-proof, assuring 100% cooling efficiency all summer long.

— Filters saturated with water become heavy and often sag and settle from the top, drawing hot, unfiltered, uncooled air into the cooler which may create as much as a 70% cooling loss. Patented Grip-Lock Filter-Holders are guaranteed to prevent sagging and settling of filters assuring 100% cool, clean, filtered air.

— Without correct water trough adjustment, sections of the filters remain dry, resulting in substantial cooling loss and costly service expense. Patented Free-Flow Viable Water Troughs with external adjustment assure 100% saturation, and 100% cooling for the entire life of the cooler.

— Added feature—Patented Window Closing Attachment lets you close and lock your window. Eliminates entry of dust, rain and drafts into your home.

How the money you save for your family's future can help your country now

Some up-to-date facts about the U.S. Savings Bond way to security

It takes more than arithmetic to add up the benefits you get from U.S. Savings Bonds. You'll have no trouble counting the dollars and cents at 3 3/4% interest, but the other benefits—not so easily counted—are every bit as necessary to your family's future.

One of these benefits is freedom itself.

Every dollar you invest in a Savings Bond gives Uncle Sam exactly that much more help in the vital task of safeguarding liberty today. You not only save money, at the same time you also help save your future freedom to enjoy it.

That's why Bonds are such a sound way today to reach any savings goal. With Bonds, you save for a home and a better world to build it in. With Bonds, you save for your own retirement and the liberty to enjoy it as you choose.

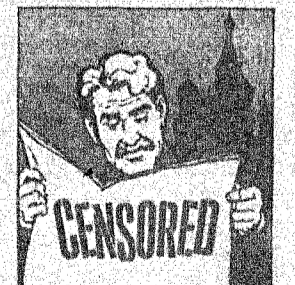

Why not buy a Bond today? All you need is $18.75 and a little of the "spirit of '76."

FOR 'AND ABOUT TEENAGERS

The Problem Of 'Something To Do'

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I have been dating since I was only a few months past fourteen and I haven't seen any harm in it. Most girls are dating by my age. I guess you would be completely left out if you couldn't date. There are no properly chaperoned birthday parties, school events, teen-center programs, or social parties around here and I don't know a place or how to start some. If you can't date, you don't have a way to go places. All I would have to do would be sit at home and be bored to death. There are no groups that get together to go places around here, unless they are double-dating.

"Who wants to sit at home all the time and be a 'square.' I sure don't and I don't intend to if I can help it.

"What could we do for entertainment if we couldn't date? I don't intend to stop dating now that I am almost sixteen.

"What could we do besides sit at home on weekends? Television—that's getting to be the same thing, over and over. Occasionally, a program comes along that is not the "same ole thing" and has some meaning to it. Studying? I have a special time for it. That's enough for me. I'll be no bookworm.

"Do you have any ideas?"

OUR REPLY: Yes, plenty of ideas—more ideas than space. It is the fault of community leaders and adults in your community if no provision at all is made for teenage activities. So, the community is small or rural, the center need not be fancy or elegant—only a meeting place where refreshments and games are served. Many communities have such an activity.

It is certainly not the complete fault of adults if teenagers today are more interested in dating and double-dating than in making use of a teen center, or joining the gang for a hayride, a "scavenger" hunt, picnic—or some other "old-fashioned" activity.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR 'AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORD, ILL.

THE WAY OF LIFE

THE Psalmist wrote that "a horse is a vain thing for safety" and it may be observed that in all the ages since quadrupeds have been the means of travel for men the safety factor has not been greatly improved.

The hazards of travel and transportation have followed men from the days of remote antiquity. "They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters" at last built a vessel that would outride all the winds that blow came to doom in contact with a mighty iceberg in the waters of mid-Atlantic. Improved highways have become ways for engines of death to leave their ghastly wrecks, and the airplane has mocked time and space but has hurled death from the sky.

But there is a highway, described in Holy Writ in figures drawn from the time, where no lion and other ravenous beast shall be found and springs of water shall be found in the desert, and along which the redeemed shall journey to everlasting life.

This is the way that Christian entered upon in Pilgrim's Progress and by his faith and the grace of God came to the blessed place where he could see the gate of the Celestial city shining beyond the river of death.

By LYN CONNELLY

ONE of the most ridiculous—almost pathetic—sights in Hollywood these days is that of King Elvis Presley trailing about the glamour city always completely surrounded by his devoted band of bodyguards. . . . Never before in years of lush living has any Hollywood star ever felt the need of such 24-hour protection, but Elvis feels important enough to warrant it. . . . Someone is awake and on watch even while he sleeps. . . . Makes one wonder what it is he is afraid may happen.

Apparently he wasn't so concerned in the army. . . . There were enough people around there to protect him in case of trouble, but in Hollywood and New York he insists on these guards (whom he pays himself, of course). . . . You haven't lived, it is related, unless you see Presley driving home after a hot day at the studio, at the wheel of his Cadillac, followed by his second Cadillac which is followed by his Lincoln. . . . Is he a nervous cat, just star-happy or solicitous about the employment of old friends? Any guess is as good as the next.

CAPITOL: Peggy Lee, who has been on a quiet side lately, bursts out of her shell with a great album, "Blues Cross Country," done in her own inimitable style. . . . This is swinging blues at their greatest and Peggy is queen of blues songs. . . . She fairly shakes the rafters with such favorites as "Kansas City," "Basin Street Blues," "Los Angeles Blues," "San Francisco Blues," "Boston Beans," "St. Louis Blues" (but of course!), "Fisherman's Wharf" and others.

Sinatra must have been thinking of his broken engagement to lovely Juliet Prowse when he recorded "Point of No Return."

June 30 Date Is Vital For Some Disabled Persons

June 30, 1962, is an important date for the disabled. Protection against severe disability is a relatively new feature of the social security program. Fifty million working people under social security now have this protection against complete loss of earnings.

Anyone who has been disabled for more than a year may lose all of his rights to cash disability benefits if he does not apply for benefits before June 30. One out of every three disability applicants risks the loss of some disability insurance benefits because he waits more than 18 months before applying.

Please advise those people you know who have been disabled more than six months to check with their social security office right away.

The local social security office will provide all the necessary assistance to help disabled people obtain their rights.

LOUIS D. HILLYARD TAKING ARMY TRAINING

Austin — Louis D. Hillyard of Santa Anna is participating in the Texas National Guard's popular "Take Six" program, 36th (Texas) Infantry Division Headquarters here announced today.

Hillyard is now taking eight weeks of intensive basic training at Fort Ord, Calif. The "Take Six" program consists of two phases of sixes, a division spokesman explained. Under the program, a young man may volunteer for six months active duty with the U. S. Army and then spend the remainder of his six-year military obligation as a member of the Texas National Guard.

Do Parents Teach Children Enough?

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "Why don't parents teach teenagers some of the things I read in your column? For example, the article about what girls would do about 'bothersome' boys was quite interesting. Teenagers aren't allowed to drink beer (in this State, they must be 21) but are permitted to become parents at 16. Why?"

OUR REPLY: Most parents do teach their children the things they should know. Some do not do it effectively, or thoroughly.

Often, there is difficulty because of what we might term "poor communications." Teenagers don't take problems to their parents the way they should; parents are not always ready to listen. They say, "See me later" or "We'll talk about it tomorrow" — and that's the end of it.

There are a few parents who just don't want to be bothered. They are concerned with their own activities and don't have time to worry about their children. The kids can date all they want; stay out late; ignore studies, bring home poor grades — so long as they do nothing to inconvenience their parents or put them in an uncomfortable position. This situation is prevalent in "broken homes" where there is but one parent, because of the tragedy of death or the tragedy of divorce.

Parents who exercise no control over their children make it extremely difficult for parents who are trying to raise their children properly. How many times do parents hear something like this? "Well, Susie's folks let her date every night and she's not even sixteen!"

Every State has a law which sets a minimum age requirement for the purchase of any kind of alcoholic beverages. But a law is not enough in itself. Our bet is that you personally know teenagers who drink beer despite the law. They were not taught proper respect for this particular law . . . or made to understand it is wrong for children to drink at all.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

WILL MEDICARE UNDER SOCIAL SECURITY lead to socialized medicine? That question has become a live one in view of what has been said by sponsors recently.

At the recent propaganda campaign launched in Madison Square Garden, one of 33 similar rallies over the nation, President Kennedy likened his proposal to the British system of medical care.

"What we are talking about doing," he confessed, "most countries of Europe did years ago. In Britain they did it 30 years ago!"

Britain of course has socialized medicine. So do other European countries where socialism is generally accepted.

Almea Forand, former Congressman from Rhode Island, a chief architect of the compulsory method of providing health coverage for all over 65, regardless of whether desired or needed, recently stated: "If we can only break through and get our foot inside the door, then we can expand the program after that."

Sponsors are a bit coy when it comes to spelling out the expansion they have in mind. Obviously it would include reducing the eligible age, increasing the social security tax even more, and paying more of the costs for hospital and doctors' bills.

AS IT NOW STANDS, sponsors have to admit the pending medicare proposal, known as the King-Anderson bill, would be woefully inadequate. It provides coverage for only about one-fourth of the costs incurred for needy elderly people. It includes no aid for doctors' and drug bills. It deals only with hospital bills, and requires those who are aided to pay $10 per day for up to 9 days for hospitalization.

Moreover, it includes no aid whatever for the three million or more over 65 who would be left out in the cold because they are not under social security.

TWO YEARS AGO the Congress enacted the Kerr-Mills Act which provides federal grants in aid to all states which desire to set up medical and hospital aid programs for all needy elderly people. Already in effect in 25 states and territories, it has just begun to function. At the same time it has been revealed that 75 percent of the American people now carry some form of voluntary health insurance.

IT FOLLOWS that the only logical explanation for now initiating a new compulsory plan under social security is to get a "foot inside the door," make expansion of benefits and coverage an issue in every political campaign in the future until America is saddled with a system of political or socialized medicine for everyone. Let us hope that will never come about in free enterprise America!

ROCKWOOD QUILTING CLUB MEETING

Mrs. Henry Smith was the favored member of the Rockwood Quilting Club last Thursday when she put in a Hit and Miss Quilt at the Community Center.

The Quilting Club only had one corner of the center at this meeting, since this week the Arts and Craft Sections of the Vacation Bible School were carrying on here with many pleasing and interesting projects.

Members quilting at some time during the day were Mmes. Era Blackwell, Fannie Bryan, Bill Bryan, Jack Cooper, J. P. Hodges, Frank McCreary, Henry Smith, Hilton Wise, Lon Gray and Miss Bernice Johnson.

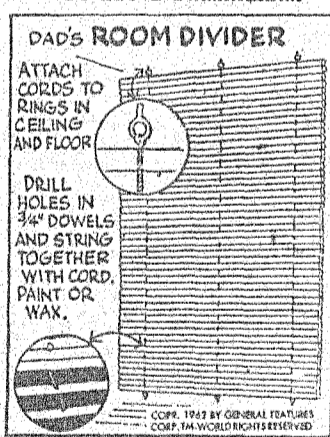

Mrs. Winnie McQueen, Juanele Mercer, Sandra Hartman, Carol Sue Pittard, Mary Etta Broadway and Della Trinidad went to Abilene Saturday on a Home-making Field Trip.

Withholding And Social Security Taxes

If you are an employer and are liable for income tax withholding and social security taxes in excess of $100 for the month of

May you must deposit such taxes with a depository, District Director, Ellis Campbell, Jr., of the Internal Revenue Service in Dallas reminded today.

Increasing importance of compliance with the deposit deadline of June 15, 1962, the IRS representative added that a Form 450 should be used for this purpose. Deposits may be made in local authorized banks, or Federal Reserve Banks.

Employers needing a free copy of Circular E, "Employers Tax Guide," may get it from the IRS. The circular has information on employment taxes, plus tables and percentage methods for their computation.

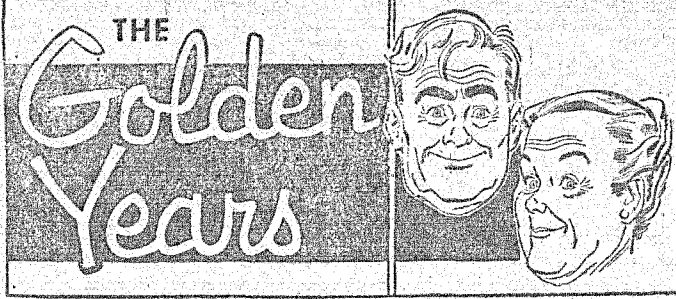

Management Training Interests Texas Farmers

College Station — A series of farm management meetings held recently in several Gulf Coast counties by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service emphasizes the interest of Texas farmers in this subject. Alfred Byrd, extension farm management specialist for the Gulf Coast area, says attendance was excellent and most of those attending were highly interested in improving their knowledge of the subject.

A questionnaire was given to the farmers attending the meetings and approximately two-thirds returned it. Of those answering, 96 percent indicated a desire for more meetings on the subject of management. The same number indicated an interest in attending a basic farm management course. Byrd reports that one county is already making plans for a series of management meetings to meet the local needs.

The reaction of those who attended the meetings is in line with what more and more farmers are beginning to realize. Technical know-how is essential but today's farmer must also have a sound knowledge of management principles and practices if he is to successfully compete with other agricultural producers in his area, or on a state or national basis, concludes Byrd.

'COWARD' BELIEVES BEST TO RETIRE IN HOME TOWN

"I AM NOT going to move away from my home when I retire because I'm a coward. I think a lot of other people would be better off if they were, too . . ."

This is how a man named Miller answers a man named Harris who advocated that retired people move away from the old home when the pension came.

"I kid you somewhat when I say I'm a coward," says Mr. Miller. "At my age the word is 'conservative.' But it's all the same. I am simply afraid of what I would run into if I moved from a community that has been my friend for 21 years.

"Suppose I retired North, say to Chicago or Philadelphia. The awful cold, the racial problems, the big-town politics—I wouldn't know how to cope with those problems. Suppose I moved West, or South. I'd run into weather problems, insect problems and air conditioners. Again, I wouldn't be equipped to cope.

"But here where I live I know the problems intimately and know how to handle or dodge every one of them. I know which are good folks and which bad folks, safe streets and mean ones, where to buy things for the lowest price, and where I can go see a doctor for $5 per office call instead of going to a specialist for $15."

Mr. Miller is afraid to swap his problems for some he won't understand. He says he's afraid, too, to give up his status as a law-abiding citizen, his reputation as a reasonably decent fellow, and his credit rating . . . and try to establish them again in a community that doesn't know him.

"This is very important," he says, "and some people don't realize it. If my wife and I moved into a new area the people there would presume we were nice people, but it would take a while to convince them. And credit in the corner store or at the hardware, which I have now, would probably never come—not to a pensioner in a new town. All right, you don't need it. Still, it's a great comfort to know you don't have to prove things all over again to get it if you do.

"I am almost as big a coward about giving up my reputation as I am about giving up my problems . . ."

Mr. Miller also feels quite negative about the effort he and his wife would have to make to gain new friends if they move away. "I don't want to have to promote us in the right places, inject us into new groups, always be careful to go to the proper events and say the proper things. After all these years of being comfortable among the people around us I would be embarrassed to be a pusher again."

Loneliness looms large also on Mr. Miller's horizon. He admits that he and Mrs. Miller have only a few intimate friends where they now live, and says they go out only occasionally. "Still, we know most of the neighbors for four blocks around and there's companionship of sorts in that. I would feel like I lived on an abandoned island if I lived in a neighborhood where I knew nobody."

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASS'N.

BOATING SAFETY

If you're one of the 40 million who'll take to the water this year to enjoy boating, now is the time to brush up on the rules for safe boating.

There are booklets and pamphlets available from such sources as the U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary and the Outboard Boating Club of America, and from manufacturers and dealers in boats and motors. If you're a boatsman, get one of these booklets and study it.

There are certain basic precautions that all boaters should know and observe, but the cardinal rule is a very simple one: Display good manners afloat. Show proper respect for others and, most often, you'll get the same treatment in return. A second cardinal rule: Use a little common sense. It doesn't take much knowledge of boating to know that a big lake on a windy day can be dangerous to a small craft.

Don't overload your craft. The more you put into the boat, the easier it is to capsize.

Don't stand up or change seats while the boat is under way. If you must move about, keep low in the center of the boat and hold on the gunwales.

Buzzing a dock, wharf or anchored craft, marks you as an irresponsible skipper. Don't do it. You may miss.

Watch you wake. The waves can damage shoreline property. Pass "through anchorages" at minimum speed.

Avoid boating too close to swimmers, fishermen and water skiers. It can be dangerous.

Don't jump or dive from a moving boat. You may hit floating debris, or an underwater object. Or you may have the breath knocked out of you by the impact.

Never take a boat out unless it contains life jackets for everyone aboard and the life jackets are donned. Even a good swimmer can get into trouble if thrown abruptly from a fast moving boat into cold water.

Never venture too far from shore on a large body of water in a small craft. Sudden squalls can play havoc with unwary boatmen.

If your boat overturns, stay with it. The chances are good that, sooner or later, someone will pick you up. Very few of us are in good enough physical condition to hold up for a long swim, particularly in rough water.

Fresh Water Catfish Book Is Re-issued

Austin — It's catfishing time in Texas, and some big ones are now being hauled in on trot lines, and even with rods and reels. But a great many fishermen don't know their catfishes. Every day letters come into the office of the Game and Fish Commission seeking information about these fresh water species found in the lakes and streams of Texas, according to T. D. Carroll, coordinator of information and education.

To answer these questions, the Commission has reissued its bulletin No. 39, entitled "The Fresh Water Catfishes of Texas, and How to Know Them." The bulletin lists the fresh water catfishes, with a chart making identification easy.

Also, it covers the feeding habits and habitat, enabling fishermen to have greater creel success. This bulletin is sent free to interested persons.

Garrison Makes Appeal For Drivers To Drive Safely

Cel Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, today issued a special message to Texas motorists calling attention to the pleasures afforded them in summer vacation travel and the virtues of "legal driving."

"Texans are more fortunate than people in many other states when vacation time arrives, in that they have better highways on which to travel to more enjoyable places," the safety director said.

"Those of us charged with the responsibility of traffic management are proud of these things, and we like to see the citizens of our state taking full advantage of them.

"We would like to emphasize, however, that vacation and weekend driving during the summer months is far more enjoyable when traffic laws and rules of the road are observed. Obviously, it is more relaxing to stay safely within the law rather than run the risk of marring your driver's license or, far worse, causing an accident."

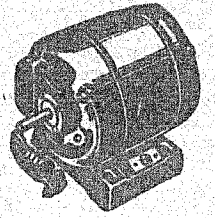

Garrison suggested that those whose vacation travels will take them outside Texas familiarize themselves with the laws and regulations of the states in which they will be driving.

At the same time, he reported that safety officials have high hopes that if the driving public will concentrate on the value of "heads up" driving habits in the coming months, the current 3% reduction in traffic fatalities will be immeasurably improved. "Think about it — isn't it easier, less expensive, and far safer to drive within the law?" Garrison asked.

During the first year of a child's life he grows more rapidly than at any other time.

It's Time For... EYE CARE

Dr. Newton K. Wesley

Approximately 500,000 Americans are slowly losing their vision because of glaucoma . . . and a great number of these people are unaware of the disease.

The average American has his eyes examined only once in five years—time enough for a serious eye affliction to develop.

One of the main reasons we neglect our eyes is because usually there is no pain associated with eye disorders and, because eyes do not ache like teeth, we assume there is no trouble present.

Yet if we were to have our eyes examined twice a year, most eye afflictions could be discovered and corrected. The high rate of blindness could be cut in half.

Vanity plays a major part in our neglect of our eyes. We feel that we may have to wear old fashioned glasses that will make us look older. For those who can adapt themselves to them, contact lenses have solved this problem to a large extent. However, reluctance to visit an eye doctor still exists to an alarming degree.

The National Eye Research Foundation estimates that there are 50 million people in this country in need of eye care. Most of these people will neglect their condition either through ignorance of the consequences or an unwillingness to have their vision checked.

Don't take chances with your most precious possession—your vision. Make an appointment for an eye examination soon.

Wesley

Going Steady — With Uncle Sam's Help

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "This concerns a statement made in your column to the effect that 'there is no such thing as going steady once a week.' This is not necessarily correct, because going steady does not require constant companionship. I am young, almost seventeen. I began dating a boy in another town when I was thirteen. We began going steady when fifteen. Because we live so far apart, sometimes we can't see each other for three weeks or a month. But since we are very fond of each other and do not date others, we are constant in our letter writing. Don't you consider this going steady?"

OUR REPLY: You have raised a technical point which we consider quite unimportant. A mother in Mississippi, for instance, would have absolutely no objection to a thirteen-year-old daughter "going steady" with a fifteen-year-old boy who lived in Fairbanks, Alaska. Let the lad move to the same town in Mississippi, though, and mother would immediately become concerned.

The thing that is most wrong with boys and girls "going steady" in their early teens is this constant companionship to which you refer. They want to devote their full time and attention to one another. They tend to become oblivious to the things that go on around them. The things in life that are really important mean nothing at all to them. They just want "to be together," in their own private little world.

When they grow older, boys and girls begin to realize that, while love is indeed "wonderful," there are other important things in life. Young people must learn to do things. They must prepare themselves, through education, application and training, to make their way in the world; to become teachers, tradesmen — and parents. To do this, they must from time to time bring their heads down from the clouds.

velop to prevent the company from making its own decisions. The President's power and political leverage were not to be denied.

Moreover, although U. S. Steel had undertaken an action entirely legal, the company was treated (at least until some cordiality was introduced after the capitulation) rather like the action was criminal. The F.B.I. was put on the case as if the setting of prices were a federal offense. The liberal press started a scathing attack, throwing epithets toward Chairman Roger Blough and U. S. Steel. Here was a common business decision being treated as criminal and those responsible being pilloried under the direction of a politically-minded President and his assistants.

In The "Public Interest"

In this whole experience the government acted on one overriding promise—that it should and could call the plays. Any action by industry would have to be taken within "guidelines" set by the executive department of the federal government. This government, Mr. Goldberg had said, would not stand idly by. "The matter must be settled" in the public interest. Is it conceivable that, in a complex area where a difficult economic decision had to be made, the government should know better how to price steel than the manufacturer?

And what is "the public interest" and who is wise enough to determine it? If the public interest is to be decided and enforced by a dictatorial President, then we have come already to the end of a government of laws and have entered an era in which men do the ruling. Mr. Kennedy is now saying that no vindictiveness will be practiced, but who knows how soon another business, union, or individual may be unfortunate enough to fall under the wrath of this kind of government?

Outside The Law

It is bad enough that extra-legal price fixing has been achieved by the President. It is also reprehensible that Secretary McNamara should go out and place an order for nearly $6 million worth of steel without the sealed bids required by law. The public interest is miserably served when the government, itself having been most responsible for pushing steel costs upward, leads people to believe that it should determine what steel prices ought to be.

But perhaps the greatest affront to the nation and to industry arising out of this episode is that the government now wants to make an industry responsible for the failure of public policies for which an encroaching, socialistic, centralizing, planning, government is itself chiefly responsible. It is most pitiable that it would heap blame on one private corporation. This whole experience emphasizes that our valued liberties are badly eroded when the government can, by threats and intimidation, make a citizen do what it cannot legally require him to do. Is this a rule of law?

Typewriter paper of the Santa Anna News.

Looking Ahead

DO WE HAVE A RULE OF LAW?

When U. S. Steel decided that it should, if it expected to meet its obligations to shareholders, employees, and customers, raise prices of its products $6 per ton, this was an honest, straightforward action of a private business concern. It was nothing more or less than a market-place decision, all the economic and public relations consequences having been carefully considered. The political consequences, apparently, were not looked upon as belonging within their market-place procedure.

But then, suddenly, the President entered the picture. The case took on a political flavor from all directions, for something had been done that was "wholly unjustifiable and irresponsible." F.B.I. agents were sent out by the Attorney General to gather facts to support a viewpoint. The Secretary of Labor applied the heat, ripping into U. S. Steel executives with the gusto of a union attorney. The defense Secretary began throwing contracts around without asking for bids. Key officials kept the wires hot calling friends, persuading, lining up support.

Legal, Not Criminal

Yet, the pricing decision of U. S. Steel was an action entirely legal and in full accord with good business practice and ethics. It was done openly and above board. It would have been rescinded, if it had later proved economically unsound, in the same manner. No monopoly situation was involved, no conspiracy possible. Although this was a private corporation announcing what prices it would offer its customers, events soon would de-

June Is Dairy Month

June is the time of recognition by the nation of the dairy industry's vital contributions to the health and wealth of America. The month-long observance, now in its 28th year, continues to pick up promotional steam, says A. M. Meekma, extension dairy specialist, and ranks as the biggest single dairy food sales and information campaign in the food field.

June was selected as the time to tell the dairy industry story for production is at its peak during this season, explains Meekma. Businesses of all kinds endorse and support the observance and nationally 13 organizations cooperate with the American Dairy Association to sponsor it.

Richard M. Riley, a well-known Travis county dairyman, is serving as Dairy Month chairman in Texas, according to Meekma. Riley is an immediate past president of the ADA of Texas and currently a member of the Association's Board of Directors. He is also president of the Mid-Texas Milk Producers Association, vice president of the Travis County Dairy Herd Improvement Association and a member of the Travis County Dairy Promotion Building Committee.

Meekma and Riley point out that dairies throughout Texas and the nation will be holding "open house" during June and that many special events ranging from a three-minute cow wash to milk drinking contests will help acquaint the public with the dairy industry and make dairymen better known to the public they serve.

Food editors, nutritionists and others concerned with the American diet will emphasize milk as "nature's most nearly perfect food" during the months and point out that proper diets for every American should include milk and milk products.

The two dairy leaders extend an invitation to the public to take advantage of the open-house offer by dairymen and pay them a visit.

SECOND SUNDAY SINGING

The regular Second Sunday Singing will be held at the Assembly of God Church in the southwest part of town Sunday, June 10. Everyone is invited to attend.
