POLITICS AND MORALS

The tangles affairs of Billie Sol Estes faces news readers daily these days, and no one knows what fresh and sensational revelations will be uncovered during the summer. At this writing it is not clear whether fraud, larceny or even homicide belong in the picture, and to what extent. The misdeeds of Mr. Estes and associates however are known in broad outlines. They suggest to us some sober reflections upon the state of political morality in America. It will be good for the country if these developments lead to widespread reassessment of some of our values.

Are we actually getting hardened to scandals related to local or national government? Is our reaction at most the raised eyebrow, when we read of gift deep freezes, vicuna coats, TV licenses, stockpiling contracts, cotton allotments, or grain storage favors? Do we simply rationalize that where so many are handling so much, some are bound to take money and some naturally will get caught? Do we not see that big government makes possible bigger and bigger loot? That big government allows big favors and big patronage? Isn't that why many "public servants" want to keep getting re-elected?

The Spoils System

To the victor belong the spoils, indeed! Must we look upon the affairs of our government, the people's business, as a prize to be awarded the most "promising" elected official who offers the most for the vote? Shall we get on the bandwagon, regardless of any principles, to be with the winner and get in position for the handout? Mr. Estes was apparently doing just this, while himself dispensing favors (or clubbing the opposition) all along the way.

Have we forgotten about the Hoover Commission? Is there no way we can cut down on the proliferation of government, of which each new bureau seems to create new opportunities for despoiling? Instead, if the government wants more to spend we just raise the ceiling on the national debt and leave future profligacy! Inflation, sometimes profligacy! Inflation, sometimes purposely sought by government officials, is in reality a form of stealing from the people who have fixed dollar incomes and fixed dollar investments. It isn't morally right.

Old Fashioned-Morality

What is wrong with Mr. Estes is to some extent what is wrong with America and much of the rest of the world. In a measure, we have been guilty of teaching our neighbor nations that they too can get something for nothing. Some people will work harder for the doubtful dollar or the fast buck than they will for the honest wages of an eight-hour day. This we ought not export. It is a delusion that there are other ways to get ahead than by hard work, that we can beat the laws of economics or even the game of life itself. Worst of all, we act as if integrity is outdated and much too old-fashioned for us.

The president recently remarked that our thinking about public problems and especially our "diplomacy" about the nation's economy is plagued by myths that have little relation to reality. No doubt this is true, for the myth that old-fashioned morality does not apply any more, only expediency, is one of the foremost. This myth is wrong, but it has gotten hold of us. When workers get paid for not working and farmers get paid for not farming, it is hardly surprising when some smart entrepreneur decides to mortgage non-existent fertilizer tanks.

A Sickness

It is all part of the sickness that we have been weakened with for 30 years. The decay of moral fiber that can wreck this nation. If all morality is merely relative, what is wrong with stuffing ballot boxes, miscounting votes, and buying the vote?

TEMPERS BOILED OVER in Washington last week, featuring outbursts from both President Kennedy and Secretary of Agriculture Freeman.

Casting himself in the role of a purger, Kennedy said he was going after the scalps of 21 Senate Democrats and 31 Republicans who voted to defeat his socialized medicine bill. Ten of the Democrats are chairmen of Senate committees.

On the same day that the President drew a bead on the recalcitrant Senators Orville Freeman let go a very intemperate attack upon all who voted against the recent farm bill. Opposition, he said, constituted "the biggest piece of nonsense and contradiction that the mind of man ever conjured up."

Oldtime observers up here, who have seen them come and go, attribute this display of sour grapes to immaturity in the game and to the Washington heat which has been unusually severe the past week or two. Others think the President's broadside was caused by advice from some eager beavers on the White House staff who have been moping around for months trying to find an issue which can be used against conservatives in the coming elections.

In any event, it is admitted even by most Administration partisans that proponents of the Senate move were more interested in an issue than they were in passing a bill. The Senate effort was defeated by a vote of 52 to 48. It is believed that if acted upon in the House defeat would have come by a much heavier majority. That is understandable because House members, being elected every two years, are closer to the people and usually more responsive to public opinion.

THE MEDICARE PLAN is bad for many reasons. It was conceived, born and nurtured in the marsh lands of politics, and actually has little to do with solving medical and hospital needs for needy elderly people. It is frankly admitted by some partisans to be an opening wedge designed to eventually get the British type socialized medicine adopted in this country. Although increasing taxes by $2 billion per year initially, the proposal would provide no help on doctor's bills and the neediest would still have to pay $10 a day for the first 10 days in hospitals. The cost is exorbitant because, being political, aid would be dished out to the rich as well as the poor, whether they want it or not.

Moreover, this political maneuver in the name of medical aid is made even more ridiculous in view of the fact that the Congress two years ago enacted a federal aid plan, covering both doctor and hospital bills, covering all needy elderly, and available to every state that is interested.

Visitors in the Richard Smith home the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Seals of Arlington, Mrs. W. R. Bond and Karen of Irving, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Smith and Jeffery of Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vinson and sons Keith and Bryan of Abilene.

Two Outstanding 4-H Members Awarded Scholarships

College Station — Herky Killingsworth of Cottle county and Cecelia Ann Drabek of Foard county, were named winners of college scholarships provided by the Texas Farm Bureau, said Floyd Lynch, state 4-H leader. He added the scholarships are provided annually by the farm organization for an outstanding 4-H boy and girl who have demonstrated their ability as leaders, public speakers and as agriculturists or home economists and are interested in attending college.

Both have served on the Extension District 3 4-H Council and are recognized throughout the district as outstanding junior leaders. Their abilities also are well known on the state level, Lynch said. Both have attended the State 4-H Leadership Training Laboratory, Roundup and other state events.

"The kitchen is a country in which there are always discoveries to be made," said a famous French chef. And, bride or matron, you've probably found that out!

Want to dress up that whipped-cream pie? Run your potato peeler over a chocolate bar (almonds and all) and make fancy chocolate curls over the whipped cream topping.

Freezing? Line casserole dishes first with aluminum foil. Be sure there's enough to fold over the top. Once frozen, the wrapped food can be lifted out of casserole, freeing it for other dishes. Put foil-wrapped food back in casserole for reheating. (Just a nickel a day keeps a freezer full of food!)

Saves freeze very well. Freeze roast poultry unstuffed because of the danger of bacteria. Freeze pastries or meat or chicken pies unbaked. Under-cook vegetables when adding to stews and casseroles so when reheated they won't have that warmed-over taste.

To press dark garments, put a black cloth over your ironing board. This prevents dark materials from picking up white lint, saves brushing later.

Just count the ways you use electric service every day. On the job around the clock, around the calendar—can you think of anything else that does so much yet costs so little?

Here's another use for the spray attachment on your vacuum cleaner: use it to apply liquid wax to linoleum or asphalt tile.

Your sewing machine needle won't stick when sewing plastic materials if you sew a strip of waxed paper into the seam. When finished, tear off paper; seam will be perfect.

Something to think about! It has been estimated that in the course of his lifetime an individual eats 61,000 meals, more or less. And somebody had to plan, buy and cook 'em!

In the average American home electricity does in one day what it would take 228 hours to do by hand. Nothing else does so much for so little! And you'll never run out of electricity, because your electric company plans and builds to keep the supply years ahead of the need. Do you wonder why we say electric service is the biggest bargain in your family budget?

After all it's only a step from selling the vote (or buying it) to the peddling of influence and favors, without regard to principle. When the White House plays at this game itself, by maintaining a staff to cajole, threaten and pressure Congressional support for its support for its measures, what is wrong with the rest of the nation doing the same sort of thing?

George Washington emphasized in his famed Farewell Address that virtue or morality is a necessary base for popular government. This is no myth. We need to wake up to the fearful fact that we cannot build security on a materialistic foundation. The monstrous mistake of the age, Communism, says we can not do so. But Communism is showing with every passing day the impossibility of building a public morality upon a foundation of materialism. Are we, even while repulsing Godless Communism going to fall victim to our own cupidity and blindness to principle?

How to stand guard for freedom in 1962

Some men of Concord in old Massachusetts once got themselves called Minute Men because it took them just 60 seconds to come to the defense of freedom, day or night.

In the years since, the Minute Man has become a symbol of our determination to stay strong and to stay free. Other symbols of that determination are Savings Bonds.

When you buy a Bond today you do more than invest money for your own future. You also show your own personal determination to keep America strong and free right now—because the same dollars you save for tomorrow help the government defend freedom today.

That's why buying U.S. Savings Bonds is a way to be a "Minute Man" in 1962. And Bonds work for you and your country around the clock.

Why not join the ranks of America's modern Minute Men? All it takes is $18.75 and a visit to the Bond window at the bank.

East took the first trick with the queen in her own hand and then drew trumps in four rounds, stuffing the king of diamonds and a heart from the dummy. East then led her two top spades from the board and when the jack failed to fall, cashed two top hearts, returned a spade and stuffed a diamond, thereby losing a spade and two diamonds for one trick set.

COMMENT: When the jack of spades did not fall, East should have led spades once more, ruffing with the last trump in her hand, and thus establishing an extra trick in spades while keeping the heart entry to the board. East would have then made contract.

This hand was played by a bridge group that has been meeting regularly for 12 years. Although not professionals, all of the players are above average. How would you have bid and played this hand?

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSN.

FISHING SAFETY

Don't let an accident spoil the fun of fishing.

Fishing is one of the nation's favorite outdoor sports. It offers relaxation, mild exercise and a welcome change from the everyday routine. But, as every fisherman knows, there are several built-in hazards to fishing that bear watching.

"Sidewinders" (fishermen who swing their arms in a wide arc on the cast) are responsible for many of the hook accidents, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association. If you are a sidewinder, be sure your field is clear of other fishermen before casting.

In removing a hook from a fish, hold the fish under the gills so only its body, not its head, can flop and wiggle. Try-

Turkey Barbecue — It's Delicious

Few can resist the succulent smell of golden-crisp summer turkey sizzling on the open grill or revolving on the spit. Barbecued turkey meat is exciting, new and tasty, and when cooked right it all but melts in your mouth, and explains F. Z. Beanblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist.

Barbecues featuring turkey meat are easy to prepare whether for a small family picnic or a large community gathering, and any size turkey from 4 to 24 pounds can be barbecued, points out the specialist. He does recommend that the larger birds be deboned or disjointed and marinated several hours before barbecuing.

The secret to barbecuing is a slow cooking job. After the charcoal has turned a gray color, you are ready to put the turkey on the grill or spit, says Beanblossom. Place the meat on the grill bone side down, and after about 15 minutes, turn it for the first time. Taste and allow about 10 minutes of cooking time before giving it the second turn. Beanblossom says to make the turns at 5 minute intervals and each time baste the meat with your favorite barbecue sauce.

He recommends cooking until the desired golden-crisp color is obtained and cautions against puncturing the skin for such allows the tasty juices of the turkey to escape.

Now for that something special, Beanblossom suggests the use of a marinating sauce. He says to immerse the cut-up meat in a sauce consisting of 2 parts sauterne wine or lemon-lime fizz water, 1 part soy sauce, and 1 part peanut oil. Add lemon juice to suit the taste and garlic cloves if desired. There should be enough of the sauce to completely cover the meat. The specialist suggests leaving the meat in the marinade for at least two hours.

This same sauce, he adds, can be used in cooking whole turkeys on a spit. Just brush it frequently on the bird while it is cooking he says.

Tax On Wages Farmers' Responsibility

College Station — Farm and ranch operators who hire agricultural workers must deposit Social Security tax funds, when such tax amounts to $100, reminds C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist.

The employer-employee tax rate in 1962 is 6 1/4 percent, an increase over the 6 percent levy of last year. Half of this amount, or 3 1/8 percent can be deducted from the wages paid to farm employees.

Either of two tests apply, as previously, to determine those wages subject to the tax. The first test is $150 in wages, paid to an individual in a calendar year. The second test is having hired the same employee 20 days on a time basis, regardless of the amount of wages paid. So, when either of these situations apply, the tax is applicable and must be reported for the workers involved.

Federal regulations require that tax on agricultural labor be paid to the government whenever the amount due equals $100, Bates explained. In other words, when a farm employer has paid out $1,600 in eligible wages, he should deposit the Social Security tax due on that amount in any commercial bank qualified as a depository for federal taxes. The money is sent by the bank to the Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas and a receipt showing amount paid is returned to the employer.

Farm employers then attach these receipts to their 1962 income tax return as evidence of payment of part of this year's tax obligation.

Bates urges farmers and ranchmen to pay their taxes on hired labor when it is due and avoid the risk of paying a penalty. Good business records can be very helpful in keeping up with wages paid and taxes due, he concludes.

Austin — In an effort to "prevent confusion to occupants, mailmen and the public" when the second of two sleek, pink marble State Office Buildings on the Capitol grounds is completed soon, the State Building Commission re-named them after famous Texas patriots.

First State Office Building — generally referred to as "S. O. B. No. 1" — now is designated as the Sam Houston State Office Building; the second, called "S. O. B. No. 2", was named after John H. Reagan, first chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission and Postmaster General of the Confederacy.

LICENSING STUDY SCHEDULED

House Speaker James A. Turman named Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont chairman of a new Committee to study operations of Texas' Examining and Licensing Boards.

Reps. Sam Collins of Newton, Ben Atwell of Dallas, Don Gladden of Fort Worth and Travis Peeler of Corpus Christi will serve on the committee.

Study group was set up to effect "an even greater understanding between the licensing boards and the Legislature," Turman said.

Objects of their research will be the 23 State examining and licensing boards organized for the purpose of testing every prospective practitioner of plumbing, law, cosmetology, medicine, barbering or hairdressing and 18 other professions and trades in Texas.

TEXTBOOKS PUBLICIZED

State Commissioner of Education J. W. Edgar sent a list of 203 textbooks, offered for adoption by Texas schools, to all county and independent school district superintendents, and recommended that the list be publicized so the public will know it's available.

Textbooks are those which the State Textbook Committee is studying for the 1963-64 school year. Number must be sifted down to 82 by October. This approved list then will be turned to the State Board of Education.

Between September 1 and 15, the committee will hear any objections private citizens may have to the books. Last fall, there were plenty of protests.

Major complaint was that the objectors didn't know which books were being considered in time to examine them fully.

STRONG VOICE SILENT

When the Texas Railroad Commission held its monthly hearing to determine the August oil allowable, representatives from the major companies and independents were heard, but the strong voice of Commissioner Gen. Ernest O. Thompson was missing.

As one oilman after the other went up to urge a low eight-day allowable, no member of the Railroad Commission challenged them. If "the General" had been there, he might have done so, but he was seriously ill in his home in Amarillo.

PROPERTY TAX STILL LOW

The State's Automatic Tax Board kept to the lowest legal minimum when it set the State ad valorem tax rate for next year at 42 cents on each $100.

Tax boards have kept the State's property "tax take" down to the minimum for several years now. It was up to 77 cents per $100 valuation before a 30-cent general revenue tax was abolished in 1951.

Coke and Tom Green counties and the Dallas County Flood Control District are the only exceptions to the new rate. Rate is 30 cents in these three areas.

The 42-cent tax rate will provide 35 cents for free public school purposes; two cents for Confederate and Texas Ranger pensions and the State Building fund; and five cents for the college building fund.

SHORT SNORTS

While many other state departments were recommending increases in the biennial budgets, the General Land Office decided to ask for an $82,000 cut. Commissioner Jerry Sadler said new electronic accounting equipment could get credit for the proposed cut.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson collected a $185,873 judgement from the U. S. government to cover cost of re-routing 3.7 miles of F. M. Road 184 in Coryell County, which the federal government wanted to develop Fort

Missiles To Be On Display At West Texas Fair

Full size Nike Zeus and Nike Hercules Air Defense Missiles will be displayed outside on the West Texas Fair Midway September 10-15 by the Army's 5th Nike Missile Battalion, Lieutenant Colonel Pete D. Pavick, Commander; and J. A. Conlan, President, West Texas Fair Association announced today. The Department of Defense in a release yesterday stated the Army's anti-missile has successfully intercepted a special ballistic target missile traveling 16,000 miles per hour fired 4,800 miles away in tests being conducted in the Pacific.

The local Army Air Defense Missile Battalion is armed with Nike Hercules, little brother of the Nike Zeus. It is used for defense against air attack by manned bombers and air supported missiles.

Army Ordnance Missile Command, Huntsville, Alabama, will provide the 65-foot Nike Zeus Model. The Nike Hercules display will come from the Army Air Defense Center at Fort Bliss, Texas. The local unit will provide other display material and explain how the missiles do the job.

The Nike Zeus is the United States Army Air Defense Command's third generation missile. The Nike Zeus anti-missile missile system is being developed to defend the United States from attack by enemy intercontinental ballistic missile and air and submarine launched missiles. It is the only such defense system in advance development anywhere in the Free World.

The Nike Zeus missile, designed to carry a nuclear warhead, possesses the necessary speed and accuracy to reach extreme altitude quickly and to intercept enemy warheads plunging toward targets at speeds ranging from 15,000 to 20,000 miles per hour. The three stage missile uses the most powerful solid propellant booster, 450,000 pounds of thrust, to be flight tested to date.

Tests in the Pacific of the Nike Zeus missile and radar-fire control equipment will continue throughout the summer and fall.

STUDENT SUMMER INCOME

It isn't necessary for students to stop working this summer after earning a total of $600.

Ellis Campbell, Jr., Dallas district director of Internal Revenue Service, advised parents that it is possible to claim a son or daughter as a dependant on federal income returns even if they earn more than $600.

Campbell suggested that students contact IRS for needed information on how their parents can claim them as dependant.
