Wrong-Way Flier To Be Here Thursday Noon; Public Urged To Make Prompt Reservations For Luncheon

When Douglas Corrigan of reverse-order fame arrives in Big Spring Thursday, he will get tremendous West Texas aviation, if plans of local committees do not go astray, like Corrigan himself did on a recent flight.

Headed for California again (he started for that state once and wound up in Ireland) the newest idol of American aviation will arrive at the airport here at noon Thursday. Chamber of Commerce Manager J. H. Greene Tuesday received a wire fixing that hour as the approximate time, and Corrigan said he would remain in Big Spring for an hour and a half. He will come here after a stop in Abilene, and head back to El Paso. He will be in the "crate" that bore him across the Atlantic.

Arrangements were completed today for a rousing public welcome at the airport, a downtown parade with possibly one brief stop, and a luncheon to which the public is invited.

"Hosts" for the luncheon will be members of the Kiwanis club, who meet regularly on Thursdays. Club officials have decided, however, to throw open the meeting, and are inviting everyone to attend. The charge per plate will be 50 cents.

Particularly stressed was the appeal for early registrations at the luncheon. It is absolutely necessary, Kiwanis President W. R. Hardy said, that all reservations for the luncheon be in by Wednesday night. The total must be known here a decision is made as to the place for the affair. Those who wish to attend the luncheon are urged to call the chamber of commerce office—No. 4—before Wednesday night.

Participating in the welcoming formalities at the airport will be Nat Shick, chairman of the C. of C. aviation committee, members of the Big Spring Flying club who are assisting in program arrangements, and high officials of the city. The program will be brief and informal, with the spotlight naturally kept trained on Irish Doug.

Immediately after this program, for which a public address system will be installed, Corrigan will be the honored person in a parade through the business district. As soon as the parade breaks up, the luncheon session will be started—probably about 12:45 and this affair will be broadcast over KBBT.

Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo, new legislator from this district, has accepted an invitation to be master of ceremonies at the luncheon. The school board was to act tonight on a request to dismiss classes a half hour early Thursday morning, so that pupils could get to the airport. If this is done, arrangements will be made to have Corrigan's car halt at a downtown point during the parade so that he can speak to young folks who will be down from school to greet him.

More details of the program, as well as the parade route, will be arranged for announcement in Wednesday's Herald.

Publicity regarding Corrigan's stop here was going out to other towns, and it was expected that crowds would come from a wide area to join in the demonstration honoring the wrong-way flier.

Cowboy Star To Be Here Wednesday

Another prominent visitor will be at the Big Spring airport—on Wednesday afternoon.

He is Charles Starrett, cowboy player of the movies, whose pictures rapidly are gaining in popularity. Starrett will be aboard the eastbound American Airlines plane, and will alight here for a trip by car to Colorado, where he will be guest of honor at that neighboring town's Frontier Roundup opening Thursday.

Starrett will be asked to spend some time here, and is scheduled to make personal appearances at a part or all of the three local R&R theatres. One of his pictures was exhibited at the Queen only last weekend.

Tydings Charges That Federal Workers Are Told How To Vote

Accuses Maryland Revenue Collector Of Making 'Notorious' Efforts In Behalf Of His New Deal foe

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—Senator Tydings (D-Md) told the senate campaign expenditures committee today that the collector of internal revenue for Maryland and the postmaster of Salisbury, Md., had made "notorious" efforts to influence federal employees in behalf of Representative Lewis (D-Md), Tydings' opponent in the democratic senatorial primary.

Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex) said he would submit Tydings' complaint to the committee Thursday.

Tydings made five specific charges in connection with a report to the committee on his campaign receipts and expenditures. He reported contributions of $37,024.25 and expenditures of $35,957.64 by his campaign committee in addition to $11,589.98 in unpaid bills and $620 in personal expenditures.

Tydings, whose renomination has been directly opposed by President Roosevelt, reported to the committee, "It is notorious that the collector of internal revenue of Maryland called in the non-civil service employees, during office hours, and told them that he was for Lewis, my opponent, and reading a statement, indicated by that statement that their tenure of office in the future would be influenced by who was nominated."

THE SPORTS PARADE

By HANK HART

(Whiskey in the Hand)
The Jones-Morgan tilt in the finals of the country club invitational was a "natural" as far as local interest was concerned. The two young shotmakers are regarded as the class of the field here, and Big Spring folk were wanting to see them as opponents in the final. As a result, there was a tremendously large gallery following Monday afternoon's rounds.

You could feel the tension in the air as hole after hole was reeled off with the two warriors staying even. By the time the second nine started, the spectators were really on edge. Somebody whispered, "That kind of putting can't go on forever." The onlookers got their money's worth.

We don't know what can be done about it, for many a country club member has worried about it for many a moon, but the tournament serves to point up more than ever the need of grass greens at the country club course. There were many visiting golfers here—and good ones—but there would have been many more if the course boasted putting turf. Too few courses these days have grass greens, and players accustomed to them feel they don't want to take their chances on the unfamiliar sand.

It's a problem of water with the country club. Perhaps when we get that lake down Concho way we'll have a volume of water making it possible for some irrigation and some grass.

Sportsmen of the city ought to be interested in that projected reservoir. A fishing trip from these parts becomes pretty much of a task, when you have to drive a half-day to get to a water hole and another half-day to get home. And, of course, boating and week-ending in a lake cabin are out of the question for local folk as it is. A big body of water only 25 or 30 miles away would be something, wouldn't it?

Speaking of visiting golfers, they broke even with the hometown aggregation in the way of honors at the tournament. For Big Springers won—Jones, Dave Watt, Hayden Griffith and Buel Cardwell. Nix of Colorado, the veteran Agnew and Dosier of Kermit captured the other flights. It didn't take long for the other shotmakers to get it. F. Fogerson, the medalist, out of the running, but Fogey stayed in there on the consolations to capture first honors in that division.

Who was that talking about the supremacy of Sammy Baugh? It takes more than one passer on a professional team, it would appear today, to squelch the aerial-minded boys of the Southwest. First, Cecil Isbell, a Texan, shakes the pros with his passes in Chicago; and now comes Jack Robbins of Arkansas to give "em another lesson, in the Dallas "dream" game.

From all accounts, the Washingtonians took a real licking from the college boys Monday night. Which is just more evidence that when better football is played, the Southwestern conference will its share.

Crimson Tide Looks Strong

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Sept. 6 (AP)—Alabama's 1938 football prospects are so rosy many of the team's supporters are pinching themselves to see if it's true what they say about the Crimson Tide.

Where the 1937 outfit was one of the lightest in recent Tide history, the 1938 eleven will have an eye-filling line and a swift backfield.

Veterans are back in numbers, but prime attention is centered on a trio of newcomers. Fred Davis, a 225-pound tackle from Kentucky, and Ed Hickerson, 210-pound guard from California, are sophomores who look like the answer to any coach's prayer.

Charley Boswell, junior from Birmingham, out with injuries last year, is slated to step into Joe Kilgrew's post at left half. The 175-pound Boswell is faster than Joe, and can pass, punt and block.

Hayward Stanford, whose last minute field goals beat Tulane and Vanderbilt last year and brought a Rose Bowl invitation, returns for substitute end duty, but good ends are so numerous here he may not see much action.

A score of others figure to see considerable service, including Forbes and Hickins at the guard line, but these are the lads who will be in there when the chips are down.

"We should be as good as last year," Coach Frank Thomas says, "but they'll all be gunning for us, and we have to get ready for Southern California Sept. 24."

4th Attempt Finally Nets A Victory

'Break' Comes On 14th Hole After Long, All-Square Fight

On three different occasions, Doug Jones had been in the thick of the fight for that country club tourney crown, but each time he failed to come through.

He was in the running for the fourth time this year, and Monday he made the grade, playing a cool and steady game in the final rounds to overcome Eddie Morgan by a score of 3 to 1.

Fourth Title

It gave Doug his fourth West Texas title of the summer, he having already picked up first place at Midland, Wink and Rising Star.

He had been in the finals here against Morgan—in 1936, 1937, and 1938, was medalist both that year and last year. For Eddie's part, he was seeking the local honor for the third time, having been titlist in 1935 and 1936.

The two came together Monday afternoon by virtue of Jones' 2-1 victory over Bill Shafer of Crane and Morgan's 3-2 win over W. W. Hill of Odessa in the semi-finals.

It was a nip-and-tuck match from the start, one in which the "pressure" was on for every hole. Both lads were in top form, and it was apparent that only a "break" would decide the contest.

The two were all square at the turn, continued that way through the 12th hole. Then the "break" came on the short 14th. Doug was in the trap with his tee shot, but Morgan was in more trouble when his ball dropped under a tree. Doug pitched dead to the pin for an easy three, while Morgan's second shot went to the edge of the green and he rimmed the cup to miss his par.

Jones sank a beautiful putt from the edge of the green on the 16th for another hole, after the 15th was halved, and he added the 17th to take the match when Eddie got into the rough.

Morgan had the edge on most of the drives, but Jones was superior for the day with his approach shots. Both players were garnering some superb putts.

Other Winners

E. C. Nix of Colorado captured first flight honors with a one up victory over Frank Johnson, Midland. He had ousted E. D. Dosier of Midland, 6-4, in the morning round while Johnson was trimming W. P. Thurman, Midland, 2-1. Dave Watt of Big Spring was second flight winner, with a 3-2 win in the final over Lee Dorn of Colorado.

Completes results in all flights appear in another column on this page. The country club's eighth annual affair, in which 126 took part, came to an end late Monday as prizes—of leather bags, wood sets and overnight zipper bags—were distributed to flight winners—runners-up and consolations winners.

Reds Getting Plenty Close To Pirates

Cincy Wins A Couple While Leaders Drop As Many

By BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Pittsburgh Pirates, who stumbled around for weeks without suffering any damage beyond that to their self-esteem, today awoke to the fact that the law of averages as well as the Reds and Cubs, are catching up with them.

Emerging from yesterday's holiday festivities on the short end of two games with Chicago, the battered Buccaneers also discovered that their National league lead had been cut by two full games. For while the Cubs were whipping them, 3-0 and 4-3, the Reds were taking 4-3 and 4-2 decisions from the Cardinals.

The Reds are getting their second wind coming down the home stretch, and have won eight of their last nine, while the Pirates have taken only one out of five.

First Shots To Be Fired This Week In Texas Schoolboy Grid Warfare

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

Associated Press Staff
A record field without an outstanding title favorite rolled down the Texas Intercollegiate league gridiron trail today.

Baseball campaigns at the crucial stage could not take the play away from the schoolboy legions who begin the drive Friday in the 19th annual pigskin parade. One hundred and eight teams are pitted against the Longview Lobes who crashed to the heights last season.

Longview, its crown shaky, weighed the threat of such foes as the Big Dam Lobes of Cisco, the Corsicans Tigers, the Marshall Mavericks, Tyler Lions and Bryan Broncos.

Cisco this year bobs up with a veteran team rated a favorite in the turbulent Oil Belt race after many lean seasons. Marshall and Tyler are picked to make things hot for Longview in District 9 and Bryan is one of the favorites in hectic District 11. Corsicans also edge into the picture in this sector where Waco, Temple and Cleburne held sway last year.

Five games open the show this week, most of the teams swing into action next weekend and all will be in the thick of the campaign by September 23. Famps of District 1 plays Clovis, N. M., in an intercollegiate tilt Friday with Plainview playing host to Kerrville of District 12. Electors of District 2 engages Class B Chilton and Quanah goes to Class B Wellington. Tyler of District 9 enters into Jacksonville of District 10.

Four new teams are in the field this season, all coming from Class B. Lamesa, due to furnish strong competition for Lubbock and Amarillo in the Panhandle area; Odessa, with 11 lettermen, enters the El Paso district where Bowie (El Paso), with a veteran team, and Yaleta, with 15 lettermen, have been rated co-favorites; Fort Worth Technical tries its hand in the North Side-dominated Fort Worth District 11. Corsicans also edge into the picture in this sector where Waco, Temple and Cleburne held sway last year.

PEACE OR WAR? Today the world trembles on the brink of war, and when all is analyzed, everything boils down to the fact that a man and the clique around him in Nazi Germany have got themselves into a position where they can afford neither to make war or to make peace.

Let us not be eluded about any of the minor aspects of the issue. The woes of the Sudeten Germans, real or imagined, have little to do with Hitler. He is not moving to liberate the Germans in Upper Silesia, or the Polish Corridor, and has openly washed his hands of the Germans in the Italian Alps...

It is grotesque to talk about "liberating" the Sudeten Germans, who now enjoy more legal, spiritual, intellectual and economic freedom than they would ever have in the Third Reich, and more than is enjoyed by any other minorities in Europe.

Peace or war is at this moment in the hands of one man. But the question is not whether Hitler wants war, whether his mind is bellicose for peace. The question is whether, first, he is not grotesquely misapprehending the international situation, and second, whether he has not now reached a point from which he cannot retreat even if he wants to do so.

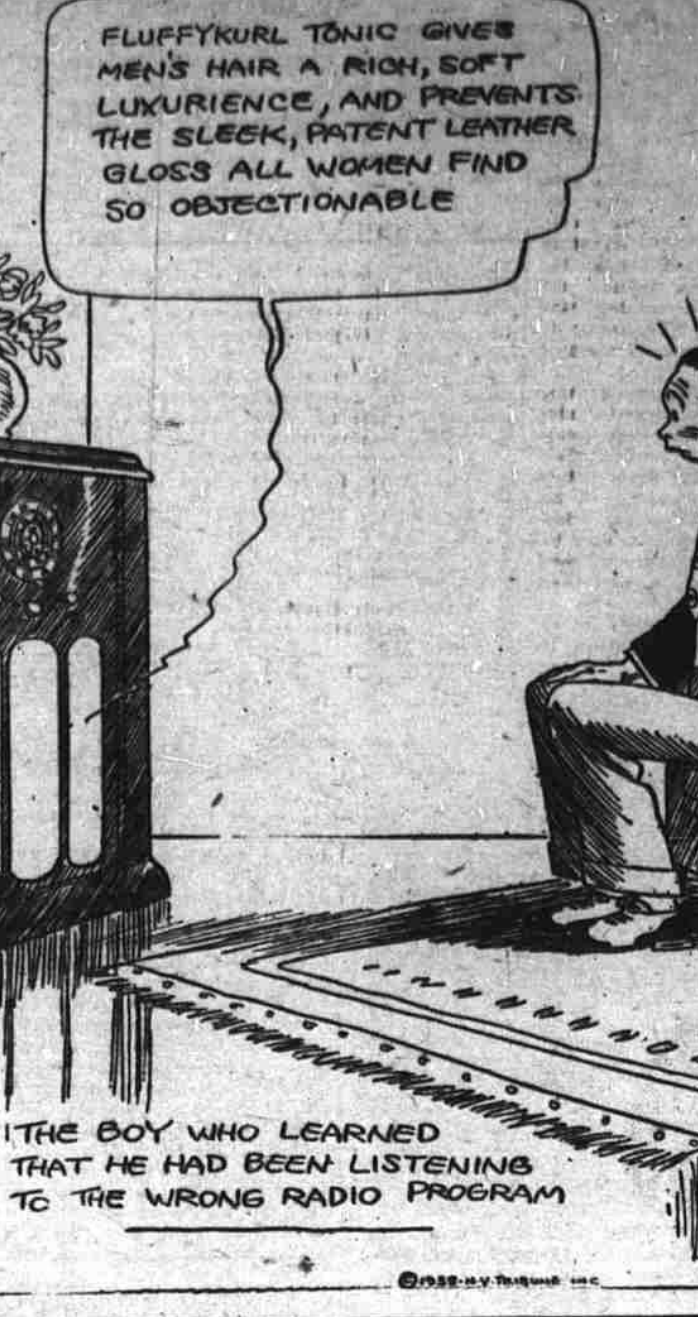

Adolf Hitler does not speak or read a single word of a foreign language, and up to his state visit to Mussolini, he was never outside Germany. But he has a definite world picture of his own. His picture includes a belief in the rottenness, weakness and indecision of the democracies, the impotence of Russia, the degeneration of France, the disinterestedness of England, and the total isolationism of the United States.

As a matter of fact, Germany is facing, on this issue, the most overwhelming coalition of powers against her that the world has ever seen. France will fight to save Czech independence, because otherwise the last chapter of the history of France as a great power will be finished. Britain will fight because she is committed by treaty and vital self-interest to defend France.

And the United States? Does Germany doubt that the resources of the country, moral and economic, will be at the disposal of the Western democracies if they are engaged in a titanic struggle? The principle of freedom of the seas, which between 1914 and 1918 almost involved us in war with Britain, has been abandoned, and British blockade of Germany would be effective

From the first outbreak of war! The people hunger and contemplate a war. And the recent mobilization has at last brought home to the people the danger of the international situation.

Now, there are people in Germany, responsible people, in the foreign office, in the arts, and in industry, who know all this. But whether their moderating counsels will prevail with Adolf Hitler is the question on which hangs the world's peace. But is Hitler still free in his decision? For five years the German nation has been organized and geared up to a tension which has reached the breaking point.

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Some of these movie people don't have to worry about any baby old-age pension scheme. Most of them would swap the hope of thirty-every-Thursday like this map—just for a one-way ticket into a healthy, active movie "family series."

Once he's in, he's as hard to get off the payroll as a relative with the inside dope on the producer. And these comfortable niches, the equivalent of life-time berths for actors, are multiplying as the weeks go by.

The Jones Family has kept Judy Frouty and Spring Byington busy for three years now—and they're both free to take outside picture when they come. Lewis Stone has a lifetime assignment in Judge Hardy, and that Hardy family will never be complete if Mickey Rooney leaves it, or Cecilia Parker either.

Where they haven't families in this new studio class, they have the equivalent in what amounts to old-time serial stuff—with a difference. The old serials of the late Pearl White era were two-reelers, each episode leaving its hero hanging from a cliff or caught in the mangle at the laundry or facing some such fate worse than death.

This type is flourishing. Bonita Granville is set for a long time to come as Nancy Drew, the girl detective. So is Frankie Thomas, her youthful vis-a-vis—contracted on his assurance that his adolescent voice won't change before they've trapped the last crook. Lucille Ball as Annabella the Movie Queen won't be idle either. With her press-agent Jack Oakie she is already involved in further laughable adventures...

Torchy Blane goes on slouching, through courtesy of Glenda Farrell, abetted by Barton MacLane. Even Lew Ayres, his come-back as a John Barrymore comedian, is going to be a serial king. For miles of reels ahead he's slated by Max Brand on adventures in and about a hospital. Sort of a "Bulldog Drummond" thing, I judge will bear it. And "Drummond" seems to be holding up, too.

Adventures of one sort and another are all planned ahead at Henry Armetta and Inez Palango as carry-over comedy characters—already have been made. June Lang and Lynn Bari are set as the "Big Town Girls." Michael Whalen and Chlo Chandler are those "Roving Reporters," and Brian Donlevy and Wally Vernon are the "Camera Men."

Beginning Wednesday morning KBST will present a one act dramatic show to be heard twice daily until the station joins the Texas State network. These dramas will be aired at 9:30 a. m. and 2:45 p. m. each weekday. The Wednesday morning drama will be titled "No Fiction Goes." The 2:45 period in the afternoon will feature a one act drama titled, "Sign of Spring."

Wednesday afternoon at 12:45 will offer more of the doing of Eb and Zeb. This lovable, laughable pair will discuss Hector's invention on tomorrow's program, "Tune in for this interesting discussion of the rain-making machine."

That worthwhile couple, Sarah and Josiah, will visit your loud speaker again on Wednesday evening at 7:15 o'clock. The friends and neighbors will gather at the Country Church of Hollywood to sing such familiar old hymns as "An Old Account Settled," "Carry Your Cross With a Smile" and "Draw Me Nearer." The latter part of the program will feature the quartet in "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

Your "Cavalcade of Songs" will be aired again tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. This is a program made up of favorite melodies, the songs all West Texans are rating at the top of the list. Each week the most popular melodies are featured in the "Cavalcade of Songs." Mail a card to KBST with your favorite popular song of the moment and it will be heard on this entertaining program.

Chapter 27. Evening found us on the Carlton terrace, shaking hands with Mr. Virgus Willis.

He was alone, a fact on which he commented as soon as he had settled us with our drinks. "I surely can't think what's keeping Otille," he observed. "His past four she went out, and two hours is certainly long enough to get your picture made, when it's only a sketch."

Hugo stiffened in his chair. "Picture," he echoed sharply, and the old man nodded.

"This Mr. Geiss was all set on making a picture of Otille; nothing would suit him but that she should sit for him."

"Do you mean," asked Hugo slowly, "that Miss Willis has gone alone to Geiss's villa?"

The old man raised his eyebrows. "She's certainly late," he admitted, "but she's got alone. Cassandra Chubb is with her, and Cassandra, gentlemen, is a woman in a million. She was nurse to my nieces as little girls."

"That's all right, then," I said, considerably relieved, but Hugo still frowned.

"I don't want to disturb you unduly, sir," he said, "but have I your permission to go round to the villa and bring your niece back?"

A second time the old man raised his eyebrows; then slowly he nodded.

"I don't entirely grasp the cause of your concern for my niece, but I believe in the disinterestedness of your motives. Go by all means."

Hugo got to his feet, and together we made our way toward the rue du Dragon.

Dusk was falling, and the little street, close-folded in its edging of trees, was dim and shadowed. As we halted before the iron gate of number 27, I was conscious of a goose-flesh sensation up my spine, coupled with a shiver that ran over me like a cold wave. There was something sinister in the very quiet of the scene, so still, so silent, and yet so near the very heart and hubbub of the town; and when the peep-blue twilight side aside at me, and I saw the pale face of the manservant surveying us through it, it seemed to me that he was the very incarnation of evil.

He started at that, and his low face grew pale. "Miss Willis is well informed," he said, and his open hand came forward.

"I haven't had two minutes' worth of information from another door, then I turned to Sandra Chubb, waiting at my bow. 'Stay here and keep up on the lines of communication,' I told her, and she gave a swift appraising nod.

There was a gently creaking staircase at the hall's end, beside it two machete-like shadows. I called back cheerfully, 'Otille! Miss Otille! Willis. Her waiting for her.'

There followed a moment's pause, and then, faint and far, I heard a soft cackle of laughter. 'Hugo Stern and Lumden go away,' I heard the voice of 'Phew!' I said dimly, unpleasant mental spoke the. It would take a wagon-load dynamite to shift this obstacle. It was painfully true. The that fact was a mass of fair of bleached oak, hane and broken only by a minute hole and a queer-looking, I knocker. I lifted it and ham lustily, but for a minute there no reply then, thin and t like through the solid w heard Geiss's voice.

"Who knocks?" I said. "It's Hugo Stern and Lumden! I called back cheerfully. 'Otille! Miss Otille! Willis. Her waiting for her.'

There followed a moment's pause, and then, faint and far, I heard a soft cackle of laughter. 'Hugo Stern and Lumden go away,' I heard the voice of 'Phew!' I said dimly, unpleasant mental spoke the. It would take a wagon-load dynamite to shift this obstacle. It was painfully true. The that fact was a mass of fair of bleached oak, hane and broken only by a minute hole and a queer-looking, I knocker. I lifted it and ham lustily, but for a minute there no reply then, thin and t like through the solid w heard Geiss's voice.

"Who knocks?" I said. "It's Hugo Stern and Lumden! I called back cheerfully. 'Otille! Miss Otille! Willis. Her waiting for her.'

POLO SEMI-FINALS

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP) Greentree, a strong favorite to enter the finals, meets the Ramblers in the first semifinal round match of the National Open polo championship at International field today.

The 30-goal team led by the great Tommy Hitchcock was boosted into a contending position as much through the spotty play of Old Westbury, the defending champion, yesterday as its own fine work in downing the Jaguars, Sunday.

Old Westbury, in beating a disgraced Akron team, 13 to 7, was far from top form.

SOFTBALL GAMES

A doubleheader softball game was scheduled at the Mexican playground diamond Tuesday afternoon. In the first game beginning at 4 p. m., the A. B. C. Blidgets were to meet the Mexican Pee Wees. One hour later the larger boys representing the two playgrounds clash.

Foot-Fault Argument Waxes Warm In Wake Of U. S. Davis Cup Victory

By GAYLE TALBOT
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6 (AP) The glittering Davis cup, symbol of world team tennis supremacy, remains in those United States for another year, and the mangled foot-fault has roared its ugly head again.

When Donald Budge had finished polishing off Adrian Panik of Australia by scores 6-3, 6-1, 6-3 in the match that settled the challenge round out at the Germantown cricket club yesterday, Frank Hunter, an old American internationalist, said "Gee, it made me feel like I was in Paris again."

Hunter had reference to the fact that after the French had won the big trophy from America 12 years ago they were very stubborn about turning it loose again. Visiting American teams complained that French line judges were extremely valuable in the French cup defense, and international black looks were exchanged one year when Wilmer Allison thought he had defeated Gene Hecstera of France in the deciding match but couldn't make it stick.

What happened yesterday was that an American line judge, one Harold La Bar of New York, called a series of disconcerting foot-faults against Quist at the exact point in the opening set when the little Australian was blazing hot and threatening to give the world's top amateur a trimming.

Whether Quist in any circumstances could have licked Budge and carried the challenge round to the final match between Bobby Riggs and Jack Bromwich is subject to serious doubt, but the decisions cost the invader whatever chance he had and made the crowd of over 9,000 fighting mad.

The referee had to calm them down twice.

Harry Hopman, captain of the Australians, didn't complain. He ed the finals yesterday with a rousing 10 to 8 overtime triumph over Grose Pointe, Mich.

The United States artillery team of Fort Sill, Okla., and Austin of San Antonio, Texas, finalists in the inter-circuit tournament, will meet tomorrow for the right to oppose Santa Barbara.

A distinguishing feature of Congressionalism is insistence on the fundamental autonomy of the local church.

SANTA BARBARA WINS

CHICAGO, Sept. 6 (AP)—Santa Barbara, Calif., was just one victory away from a championship in the national 12-goal polo tournament today.

The Pacific coast champions, eliminated in the recent national inter-circuit meeting, came back in the 12-goal competition and reached the finals yesterday with a rousing 10 to 8 overtime triumph over Grose Pointe, Mich.

British Fleet On A Cruise
50 Fighting Ships On Maneuvers In The North Sea

LONDON, Sept. 6 (AP)—Half a hundred warships of Britain's home fleet steamed out of Portsmouth and other home bases today for a cruise of ten weeks in the North Sea, fully provisioned and armed for active service at any moment.

The 33,500-ton battleship Nelson, flagship of Admiral Sir Charles M. Forbes, fleet commander-in-chief, led the procession of fighting ships northward.

Until Nov. 17 the fleet will operate from its old world war bases, Invergordon, Rosyth and Scapa Flow—the last famous for the sinking there of Germany's wartime fleet. (The rebuilt German navy began "routine" maneuvers in another part of the North Sea Aug. 28.)

For the first time the fleet had with it the aircraft carrier Argus carrying radio-controlled "Queen Bee" planes, targets for actual anti-aircraft fire.

The admiralty discounted the possibility of a clash between the British and German fleets, which will be maneuvering in the North Sea at the same time.

But other informed sources said there would be no "no-man's-land" in the North Sea between the British and German fleets, indicating there was no certainty that the war games might not overlap.

City Recreational Program Altered

Opening of school Tuesday brought about minor readjustments in the city recreational program.

All ward school playgrounds under direction of recreation leaders were closed, but the A. B. C. playground, Mexican plaza and school ground, and the city park directors were on duty as usual.

As soon as school schedules are complete, recreation guides on all school grounds except the high school are planned by H. F. Malone, city recreational superintendent. Definite announcement of the person in charge and hours is expected soon.

About $100 in equipment has been ordered, said Malone. Included are footballs, volley balls, soccer balls, softball and bats, jumping ropes, arts and crafts kits, and various game materials. Each playground will have first aid equipment also.
