

YOUNG MIDLAND ATTORNEY SLAIN

Father-In-Law, John Perkins, Is Charged

Donald Traynor Shot As He Sought Entrance To Home
MIDLAND, Tex., Dec. 30 (Sp) — Donald D. Traynor, 27-year-old Midland attorney, was shot to death by pistol fire on the doorstep of his father-in-law's residence here late last night.

Makes $5,000 Bond
Col. John Perkins, widely known West Texas attorney and reserve army officer, was charged with the slaying of his son-in-law immediately after the shooting and released on $5,000 bond.

Young Traynor, an unsuccessful candidate for prosecuting attorney of the 70th judicial district in last July's democratic primary, was slain as he attempted to gain entrance to the Perkins' residence at a rear door, officers said. Five or six charges from a .45 calibre pistol took effect in his body.

His wife, mother of a one-year-old daughter, was residing in the Perkins residence. Investigating officers said they understood family difficulties were a prelude to the shooting. Traynor, graduate of the University of Illinois where he was a track and tennis star, and also a graduate of the University of Texas law school, came to Midland in 1932. He joined Colonel Perkins' law firm, one of the most widely known in the Permian Basin, but resigned on December 1. He married Colonel Perkins' daughter about two years ago.

He had been visiting in Dallas, where his parents reside, but returned here Tuesday, officers said. They reported that he had visited the Perkins law office Thursday afternoon. Last night, officers said they learned, Traynor called at the Perkins home twice while Perkins was away. Refused admittance each time, he returned the third time, seeking entrance at the rear door.

The grand jury does not convene here until February. The slain man's body was held at a local funeral home, and the parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Traynor, were on route here from Dallas.

Colonel Perkins came here about five years ago from Alpine, and set up a successful law practice. Widely known, he has been active in West Texas chamber of commerce and other civic affairs, having served as a district director on the WTCC board from Alpine.

Germany Indicates Change In Navy

BERLIN, Dec. 30 (AP)—Germany notified Britain today of her intention "to carry out certain rights" granted her under the naval pact by which Germany's navy is limited in proportion to that of the British empire.

Officials declined to disclose exactly what action the new regime proposed to take regarding its navy, but the matter was discussed today by high German officials and a British naval mission, just arrived from London.

The Anglo-German naval treaty of June 18, 1925, by which Chancellor Hitler agreed to limit his navy to 35 per cent of Britain's navy, Germany has the right to change the tonnage of certain categories within the over-all 35-per cent limit.

4. Who was Sir Robert Eden and how did he come into the news?
5. To whom did the German press apply the term "Hitler's dog"?

Sadler, Smith Discharge 22 Employees

New Commissioner Wants To Reduce Force 25 Pct.
AUSTIN, Dec. 30 (AP)—Railroad Commissioner-elect Jerry Sadler and Commissioner Lon A. Smith launched a governmental economy program today by discharging 22 commission employees, effective Sunday.

Sadler said he would continue the campaign in the hope of bringing the personnel cut to 116, or 25 per cent. He said efforts to contact Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson on the initial order were unavailing. Thompson several weeks ago proposed 45 discharges.

The Marshall office of the oil and gas division was abolished, with its records to be transferred to Kilgore. Marshall office employees whose jobs were eliminated were W. D. Adnor, E. B. Wharton, T. F. Spear and B. M. Smith.

The commission will abolish the positions in various divisions here held by the following: Joe H. Edison, Edward Atkinson, Lon Nusom, Jr., Bill George, Brooks West, Elsie Paschal, James Hennessy, Leon Adkinson, Victor Porter, Lewis Simpson, Jack Vickers, Joseph Males, Sidney Files, Jr., Florine Kendall, Opal Dillingham, I. J. Killough, Fort E. Stages and Johnson Cane. Commissioners Sadler and Smith also announced four personnel changes in oil and gas division personnel.

These included: Palestine district: C. E. Peacock, senior engineer, replaced by Major Jones of Palestine; J. R. Lyne, Jr., accountant, by Cecil James of Palestine; and L. J. Flanagan, assistant deputy supervisor, by Leslie J. Reatan of Palestine.

Ablene district: Luther Belev, deputy supervisor, replaced by Sim O'Neal of Lubbock, former commission employee; J. C. Day, deputy supervisor, by L. A. Sadler of Abilene; Vernon Thomas, assistant deputy supervisor, by Clarence Demere of Merkel; and I. C. Watson, assistant deputy supervisor, by R. L. Westbrook of Gainesville.

Wichita Falls district: H. W. Barton, deputy supervisor, replaced by Ray Jackson of Longview, and J. F. Janeway, inspector, by C. D. Knight of Abilene.

PICKED RIGHT TIME FOR THEIR ROBBERY

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 30 (AP)—Three men selected the right time to rob the Railway Express Agency of $35,000 in $1 bills today. Night guards had just taken off their revolvers and the day men had not yet strapped on their weapons, said G. W. Stover, agency official.

The trio held up 20 employees. A Youngstown bank had consigned the money to the Federal Reserve Bank in Cleveland.

STOLEN TAXICAB IS RECOVERED

Abandoned in a draw near the Mexican section of town, officers today found a taxicab stolen near here Thursday evening when the driver was kidnaped and hijacked by a group of Mexican Boy Scouts, Julian Villa, Raymond Lujan, Ramon Mancho, and Valdero Martinez, found the car while hiking. Police said a bearing had been burned out in the motor.

Answering a call to 501 Scurry street at 7:45 p. m., Earl Flew, driver for the Yellow Cab taxi, was confronted by a pistol as his passenger got into the car. The gunman forced him to ride around the city, apparently trying to drive out the cemetery road.

After they had gone a few miles in that direction, the driver was commanded to stop the car. Flew got out and was relieved of his watch and 85 cents in change. The hijacker drove off toward town, leaving Flew to make his way aloft. The incident was reported to officers at 9:20 p. m.

It was believed the desperado, who may have been the same one who has pulled several similar jobs in West Texas, drove toward San Angelo. The taxi, a cream colored Pontiac sedan, was last seen heading south on Scurry street at a high rate of speed.

While identification was not positive, the man who did the hijacking and kidnaping resembled in many respects one who was wanted in connection with three filling station holdups and two hijackings at Abilene, and a kidnaping of a taxi driver at Sweetwater Sunday.

Garner Approves Local Authority Over WPA

TEXAN ADVOCATES SETTING UP NON-PARTISAN BOARDS
WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—Vice President Garner was described authoritatively today as taking an active part in efforts to give local communities more control over expenditure of WPA funds.

Garner is understood to have told associates that he believed the problem of keeping politics out of relief could be met at least in part by setting up non-partisan boards in each county. These boards would examine complaints of political misuse of relief money or discrimination against relief applicants.

He has told his friends, it was learned, that these boards should be purely local agencies, appointed by local officials entirely free from WPA control.

This view differs sharply from that of Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), who said yesterday he believed that if such boards were set up, they should be appointed by the WPA.

Barkley, the democratic floor leader, said he never had favored the current practice of having a local certifying agent, appointed by a local official, accept the responsibility for designating those eligible for relief. He said he believed WPA should accept this responsibility.

After hearing of Barkley's statement, Garner conferred with Senator Byrnes (D-Sc), floor manager for WPA appropriation bills. Byrnes said later that he had not made up his mind on details of relief legislation. He called a meeting of the senate relief committee for next Wednesday.

Byrnes has said previously that he believes some specific prohibition against political coercion of relief applicants would be inserted in the next WPA appropriations bill. He also has been working on a formula by which relief might be apportioned to states according to need, population, area and other factors.

Nazis See No Friendship With U. S.

Relationship Strained As Long As Ickes Is 'Defended'
BERLIN, Dec. 30 (AP)—Germany's official news agency, DNB, declared today that hope for improved relations between the United States and Germany "lacks every foundation" so long as the Washington state department "defends" Secretary of the Interior Ickes.

Hitler's Words?
A statement issued by the agency and considered in some quarters as Chancellor Hitler's word to Washington—asserted: "The minister of the interior of the United States Ickes delivered a speech before the Zionist Society in Cleveland shortly before Christmas in which, in connection with threats at the third reich, he attacked its leadership in an unwarrantable manner. (The speech was made Dec. 18.)

The German charge d'affaires in Washington (Dr. Hans Thomsen) presented the sharpest protest on account of these attacks to the American vice foreign minister (acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles).

"The American foreign office, however, did not—as is a matter of self-evident procedure otherwise in matters of this kind in international relations—dissociate itself from the utterances of the American minister of the interior, but tried to defend them.

"It must therefore be stated that as long as such a procedure, which obviously serves Jewish interests and leaves out of account the real German-American interests, continues in the conduct of relations of the United States of North America with Germany, the hope expressed by the American foreign office to the German charge d'affaires for an improvement of mutual relationships lacks every foundation."

Seeking Child In Fire, Woman Is Burned
One Of Daughters Also Injured In Xmas Tree Blaze
COOPER, Dec. 30 (AP)—A mother who dashed back into her flaming home to seek one of her two children caught by a Christmas tree blaze was critically burned here today.

She was Mrs. Effie Watkins, 38, wife of J. R. Watkins, president of the Delta National Bank of Cooper. One of her children, Margaret Jane, 5, was seriously burned. The other, Mary Jim, 12, was dropped to safety from a second story window into the arms of a neighbor.

The fire started when a maid dragged a tinder-dry Christmas tree past an open fire on the second floor. The mother and children were standing nearby when the tree flared into fierce flame, and Mrs. Watkins led the older child to safety down the steps.

The maid took the other child and dropped her 13 feet into the arms of a next door neighbor, Elwyn Byrnes, school teacher. Then she dragged the flaming tree down the stairs.

Mrs. Watkins, not knowing her younger child was safe, hurried back into the house and was trapped by the flames on the second floor. She was burned as she came back down the burning stairway.

She was burned about the head, back and feet. Doctors at the Janes hospital here would only say that her injuries were critical, and did not know what chance she had to survive. Margaret Jane's burns were not regarded as critical.

Cold Fastens Grip On Northern U. S.

By the Associated Press
Freezing weather prevailed today over most of the northern states, with the mercury near or below zero in many spots.

Weather observers promised a rise in temperatures for much of the cold belt tomorrow but said there was no prospect of very mild weather.

A severe cold wave chilled Illinois, Indiana, and Michigan today. A moderate cold wave rolled into Missouri and portions of New York. More intense cold was forecast for the northeastern section of the nation tonight.

At least 12 persons died of exposure during the week of frigid weather.

PALO PINTO JAIL BREAKERS SOUGHT

PALO PINTO, Dec. 30 (AP)—Officers sought two jailbreakers over a wide area of North Texas today but the trails were as cold as the weather.

It was also thought possible that the two—W. T. Haley, 24, and G. A. Patterson, 27, had fled into Oklahoma.

Haley and Patterson escaped from the county jail here yesterday after locking Jailer O. H. Howard and Dr. R. H. Smith, county health officer, in a cell and placing three other members of Howard's family in the jail runaround.

Haley was being held on a bench warrant from the state penitentiary and Patterson was awaiting grand jury action in a forgery case.

FIVE DIE IN FIRE

WINNIPEG, Dec. 30 (AP)—(Canadian Press)—Fire fanned by a bitter wind in 25-below-zero cold took lives of a mother and her four children here last night.

Trapped in their suburban cottage shortly before midnight, Mrs. Lyle Robson and four of her children perished. Her husband and two other children escaped.

RAINEY, NEW TEXAS U. PREXY, QUIT BASEBALL FOR EDUCATION

AUSTIN, Dec. 30 (AP)—A tall, sturdy-built youngish man who leaped to the top of the educational heap after turning his back on a major league baseball career is the new president of the University of Texas.

He is Dr. Homer Price Rainey, 42-year-old native Texan who in June will relinquish the directorship of the American Youth Commission with headquarters in Washington to become head of the largest university in the South.

Announcement of appointment of the one-time three-sport star at Austin college of Sherman, Texas, was made by the university's board of regents after a special meeting here yesterday. It ended an intensive, nationwide 19-month hunt for a successor to the late H. Y. Benedict.

To help the regents get an outstanding man for the vacancy, the last legislature authorized an increase in the president's salary from $8,000 to $17,500 a year. Another possible factor was that the school had hired a football coach at a $15,000 annual stipend and many persons were of the opinion the president should receive more.

Regents did not divulge exactly what they intended to pay Dr. Rainey but the general opinion here was that he probably would receive $17,800.

1938'S NEW FACES

HEDY LAMARR, who starred as Hedy Kessler in "Ecstasy," foreign movie banned in United States, was Hollywood's 1933 glamour girl. MGM brought her from Austria, hid her for a year to learn English. Walter Wanger borrowed her for "Algiers," her only 1933 movie. It gave her No. 1 charm girl title.

DOUGLAS CORRIGAN, 31-year-old daredevil but capable aviator, flew "arsing way" into the news by landing his $800 plane at Dublin, Ireland, after leaving New York with California as his announced destination. Try it again? "Can't," said grinning Irishman, "haven't tried it first time yet."

W. LEE O'DANIEL, affable Texas business man, 46, used hill-billy band and homely radio philosophy to rise from political obscurity to governorship of state. Ran because listeners on his flour advertising radio program wanted him to, used Ten Commandments as campaign platform.

J. J. DUNLAP, 76, was suffering from shock and a double fracture of the left leg sustained when he was struck by an automobile on the Gregg street viaduct Thursday afternoon.

E. L. LEWIS, for five years the right hand man of father John L. Lewis, got headlines this fall for almost the first time by her appointment as one of two women to represent the United States at the Pan-American conference. She's shy, an expert on labor history, and thinks father America's most significant figure today.

DR. DOUGLAS HYDE, chosen by acclamation in May as first president of Eire, began at 78 a new career after years of work as scholar, poet and Irish folklore authority. Known as virtual creator of "Ireland for Irish" movement. Regards joining of both Protestants and Catholics in the Gaelic League greatest feat.

SHERIDAN DOWNEY, rode $30-a-week pension plan to United States senatorship from California; now says not dead and no idea but wants to see if tried as people will know whether it's any good. Fifty-two-year-old lawyer, son of a pioneer Wyoming family, styles himself politician of new school—a liberal democrat.

J. F. SKALKICK, driver of the car, stopped, rendered aid and rushed Dunlap to the Big Spring hospital. Officers said that Dunlap had apparently stepped from the viaduct sidewalk into the path of the car before Mrs. Skalkick, coming toward town, could bring the machine to a stop.

To err, is human, so we've been informed. Francis Wallace, he of the famed pen, is quite human or is he? Last September the famed gridiron expert contributed his interpretation of the 1938 All-America-to-be to checkup, the scribe must be psychic. His selections are best a national publication and from the results in a recent remembered in this section (a) because he seemed to favor Southwest conference players in his balloting and (b) because he named Olie Cordill, the Big Spring son, the second best college back in these United States.

Local followers of the pigskin pastime would like nothing better than to believe the latter assertion, stoutly maintain that Olie would have rated top choice easily had he been in shape to play.

Excusing Wallace's plunge with Cordill, we find that the writer was amazingly acquainted with the situation, hit top form with his nominations. No less than seven of the lads were more or less unanimous choices on most All-America recognized.

Along with Olie in Wallace's secondary were George Cafego, Tennessee's great back; Marshall Goldberg, Pittsburgh; and Bob MacLeod, Dartmouth, whom Wallace labeled the No. One back of the nation.

Picking a backfield is not so difficult, you say. Then take a look at Wallace's up-front charges: Bill Daddio, Pitt, and John Wysocki, Villanova, ends; I. B. Hale, TCU, and Ed Belnor, Notre Dame; tackles; Sid Roth, Cornell, and Jack Smith, USC, guards; and Charles Brock, Nebraska, center.

Daddio was injured in the early part of the season but contributed fine performance after fine performance and rated as a second-stringer on most teams. Wysocki was second only to Brad Holland, Cornell, and Waddy Young, Oklahoma, as an end. Hale was not chosen because two TCU men were generally picked, the limit for All-America teams, yet opponents ranked him on a par with any of the tackles. Brock was considered behind Kil Aldrich and Dan Hill of TCU as top center.

Belnor was unanimous choice at the other tackle berth while Roth and Smith were mentioned on every team.

Wallace's second team included Al Wolff, the Santa Clara tackle, generally picked as first string material, Holland, Aldrich, Sid Luckman, Columbia, Vic Bottari, California, Dick Todd, Texas A&M, and Ernie Lain, Rice.

Wallace went on to relate that he believed Pitt would again become the national champion. Washington would top the coast. LSU the southeast, North Carolina the southern, Nebraska the Missouri Valley, Ohio State in the middle west and Rice in the southwest. He undoubtedly lost his psychic powers there.

Washington topped the coast champion, USC, but could not finish better than third; LSU was beaten by Tennessee, Mississippi and Tulane in conference games; North Carolina fell before Duke in the South's titular battle; Nebraska could not score on Oklahoma, the Big Six champion; Ohio State was tied by Northwestern and beaten by Michigan while Rice finished fourth in the Southwest conference.

Alton Bostick, who fought as a 147-pounder in the Golden Gloves meet a year ago, weighs 169 pounds at the present time. If he goes into training he will try to trim off nine pounds and take a crack at the middle crown.

Another 1938 campaigner, Owen Brummet, has gone into training to try and rip off about six pounds for a welter shot. He comes in at about 155 pounds.

A dark horse in the lightweight picture, incidentally, will be Dalton Young, said through reliable sources to be all there.

Al Berndt, the Baron catcher last season who, incidentally, remembered the department at Yuletide with a box of handsome apples produced on his Washington farm, tips in at 175 pounds now, about 20 in excess to what he weighed last summer. He informs he's ready for action.

CITIES DOMINATE ATILEIC IN TEXAS AGAIN BUT THE 'LITTLE FELLOWS' RETAIN GRID CROWN

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
The pendulum which swung toward "the boys from the forks of the creek" in Texas schoolboy sports in 1937 took the opposite course during the past year with the cities winning all but one of the ten championships and the larger centers coming through with seven of them.

The only "rural" or "town" title went to Little Meadow which produced the state girls tennis doubles champions—Oleta Franklin and Jamie Ruth Dechard.

Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth schools accounted for basketball, track and field, two divisions of tennis, baseball, golf and swimming. And the "middle group," represented by Corpus Christi and Robstown—the smaller cities—came through with the football and boys tennis doubles crowns.

While the large cities were taking down the majority of titles, however, the "little fellows" were consoled somewhat in keeping the top prize of scholastic sports—football. Corpus Christi was impressive in marching to the championship, something the major cities have been unable to attain in 15 years.

On Increase
It was a banner year for high school athletics with football enjoying its heaviest attendance in history. It was estimated the season brought an attendance of 4,000,000.

Baseball and swimming were added to the list of sports in which state champions were determined.

Woodrow Wilson of Dallas started the year by winning the basketball championship, defeating Abilene 41-27 in the finals. Milby of Houston came in with the track and field title.

In tennis Bobby Curtis of Reagan won the boys singles championship for his third consecutive year. Ralph Eads and Bruce Kellam of Robstown came through in boys doubles. Lula Burton of San Jacinto (Houston) was the girls singles title.

The first state baseball tournament was held at Dallas with Dallas Tech defeating Merit 4-3 in the finals and producing one of the year's outstanding stars of scholastic sports, Carl (Country) Williamson, a brilliant pitcher.

Top Outside Foes
The first swimming tournament saw Paschal of Fort Worth win the title with 40 points. Austin was second with 36 1/2. The tournament was held at College Station.

Texas schoolboy football teams played more than 40 inter-sectional games and showed 19 victories and seven ties against 11 victories and six ties for the opposition. Oklahoma and Illinois were the only states showing a margin over Texas. Oklahoma won four, lost three and tied three. Illinois won one, lost none, tied none.

New Mexico, Mississippi, Georgia, Massachusetts and Mexico won no games though New Mexico did get two ties. Louisiana managed to break even with four wins and four losses and so did Arkansas with one victory, one defeat and one tie. Arizona won one and lost two.

Two Class B football teams made outstanding records, Hull-Dalsetta running its winning streak to 35 straight in three years and Wink showing 24 consecutive victories in two seasons with an average of over 42 points to the game.

Harold won the Class B track and field championship with Campbell second, but no other Class B sport went through to a state title.

TEXAS U. AND WARRENBURG TO MEET FOR OKLAHOMA CITY CAGE TOURNAMENT TITLE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Warrenburg (Mo.) Teachers and the University of Texas Longhorns collide in the finals of the third annual Oklahoma City all-college basketball tournament tonight when the Oklahoma Aggies, winners of both previous tournaments, look for the gold.

Warrenburg's husky Mules, winners of the National Inter-collegiate tournament at Kansas City last winter, outpassed and outshot the Aggies to win their semi-final battle, 31-23, last night and the Longhorns sped past their state and Southwest Conference rivals, the Baylor Bears from Waco, 46 to 35.

The finalists, representing their respective states for the first time in the history of the tournament, survived a field of 32 teams—12 from Oklahoma, nine from Texas, five from Missouri, four from Kansas and two from Arizona—which started off together five days ago. The title game will be at 8:15 p. m.

Texas built up a 25 to 19 halftime advantage against Baylor, only to see the Bears surge ahead, 33 to 32, in a desperate rally led by Center Frank Bryski.

The "Man Hill" hit a hook shot that put the Longhorns in the lead again, but Baylor knotted the score at 35-all. There Bryski, who tied Willie Tate, the Longhorn center, for scoring honors with 13 points, went out on fouls and the Baylor threat went with him.

Tommy Nelms regained the lead for Texas with a free throw and Oren Spears, W. D. Houpt and Hall fired two-pointers in quick succession, while all Baylor could offer was a free throw and Loy Gilbert's field goal.

Before the Longhorns and Mules take the floor tonight for the championship affair, the Oklahoma Aggies will battle Baylor for third place in a game scheduled for 7 p. m.

Results of yesterday's games in the losers' bracket included:
East Texas 43, Northwestern Oklahoma Teachers 29.
Texas Christian 51, Panhandle Aggies 38.
West Texas 27, Phillips 26.
Texas Aggies 89, Oklahoma Baptist U. 14.
North Texas 27, East Central Oklahoma Teachers 24.
Texas Wesleyan U., Temple (Ark.) Teachers 24.
Pittsburg (Kas.) Teachers (substituting for Westminster which withdrew) 45, Texas Tech 37.

BOTTOM DROPS OUT OF DUCAT PEDDLING

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 30 (AP) So far as the scalpers are concerned, the bottom apparently had dropped out of the Rose Bowl ticket market today.

Some of the best seats in the blossom-festooned stadium where Southern California and Duke clash in the 33rd annual grid game were available for a small premium. And the possibility was not at all remote that some of the speculators will have to unload at par or less before the contest.

A number of circumstances have contributed to this situation, and perhaps not the least of these is a growing belief that these two powerful eleven men spend the afternoon keeping crowd-pleasing offensive pyrotechnics smothered.

May Stress Safer Grid Equipment At Rules Meet

DENVER, Dec. 30 (AP)—Instead of rewriting the gridiron code book, the National Football Rules committee at its meeting at Colorado Springs next week, it was believed here today, will stress making grid equipment safer for the players.

Louis H. Mahony of Denver, Rocky mountain representative on the committee, predicted the meeting would be one of the quietest in years.

"I haven't heard much about rule changes," said Mahony, who is manager of athletics at Denver university.

1938 SPORTS IN REVIEW—

Six Man Football Debuts In Sector's Smaller Schools

Note: This is the last in a series of articles dealing with sports events that have been of interest in this vicinity during the past year.

NOVEMBER
Bowling enthusiasts were dead serious while news was received from Waco that Weldon Bigony, a former Big Spring high school athlete, was figuring largely in Baylor freshman grid wins. The grid realignment story broke and a meeting planned to discuss 1939 plans for the District 3-A-A of which Big Spring was a member.

Garner sewed up the PSAA grid loop lead by drubbing Westbrook, 39-19, but Coahoma's Bulldogs were having their troubles. The Devanians lost to Ft. Worth, 26-0. W. C. Blankenship was appointed to act as chairman in the football confab of 3-A-A officials and Big Spring was chosen as the meeting place.

Abilene took the local gridlers into camp, 28-7, with surprising ease as plans were being announced for the opening of basketball training at the school. Ward school footballers were in action almost every weekend while Foran was smothering Union, 36-7, but had to come from behind to accomplish the trick.

Foran staged a golf tournament and Jake Morgan sacked up the laurels in freezing weather by defeating Guy Rainey. Foran's hope, in the title battle, Ackery's footballers downed Coahoma, 18-6, while Foran smashed Westbrook, 35-6. The Yearlings, too, took it on the nose, losing this time to Lubbock, 19-0, while Garner put the clincher on the PSAA crown by downing Garden City, 26-8. Foran's cagers started practicing under Gwyneth Lykes, new coach, while a football game between Lubbock and Big Spring was being talked.

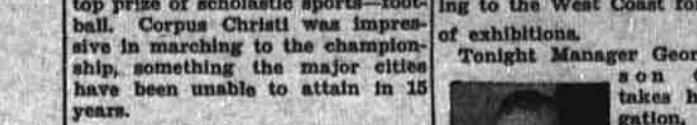

The Westerners were planning for Amarillo, however, and the Steers' loss to Breckwater by a 19-0 count finished a very disastrous season.

Pat Murphy announced 16 boys would receive letter awards for their work during the 1938 football campaign. Harold Bethel and Alton Bostick were named on the Herald's all-district team. A blind boys tournament was staged at the municipal golf course with trophies offered as prizes. Ft. Worth thumped Coahoma, 19-0, in a football fracas as local sportsmen oiled their guns for an assault on this sector's wild life. The Coahomans closed their season by losing to Ackery's gridlers, 6-0, in a grand

G-CITY FANS TO SEE BEAULTS SATURDAY

GARDEN CITY, Dec. 30—West Texas plays host to the ever popular House of David Beaults Beauties again this weekend as the Benton Harbor, Michigan, traveling troop of basketballers finish out their year's campaign before moving to the West Coast for a series of exhibitions.

Tonight Manager George Johnson (pictured) takes his aggregation, which has been playing around Lubbock for the past week, to Water Valley for a fray with the Water Valley high school Saturday the Beauties come back to Garden City for a 7:30 p. m. game with Hershell Wheelwright's "Independents."

The whiskered marvels of the courts made a great hit recently in an exhibition at Big Spring and are said to boast more tricks than ever before.

Johnson carries but five men with him. Fouling is infrequent among the performers. Even Big Art Stoeeling, called the tallest basketball player in the world, handles himself admirably and with surprising ease while in action. Stoeeling will open at center along with Don Peterson, and Elmer Johnson at forward while Artie and Greg Deim will be in the back courts.

Wheeler indicated he would start the game at forward along with Bell while Bragg will be at center and Morris and Parker in the back courts.

COAHOMA PLAYS GIRARD TWICE THIS WEEKEND
Devan May Have Surprise In Store For Strong Invaders

COAHOMA, Dec. 30—Idle for two weeks, Lloyd-Devan's Coahoma high school cagers swing back into action against the strong Girard aggregation in Coahoma in two games this weekend. The first fray will begin at 8 o'clock tonight. The return game is scheduled for Saturday evening.

The Coahomans have been having a tough time of it through the first few weeks of the campaign but Devan has been drilling on new plays since the Bulldogs' last start and may have a surprise in store for the visitors.

Hull and Collins or Reed will open at forwards for the Coahomans with Graham at center and Little and Neel in the back courts.

The girls' teams of the two schools will also play, taking the courts in a game slated to get underway at 7 p. m.

PLAINVIEW AND BILOXI TANGLE
High School 11's In Final Game On High Football Schedule

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 30 (AP)—They ring down the curtain on Texas schoolboy football for this season here today with an inter-sectional clash between the Plainview Bulldogs and Biloxi, Miss.

Next year Plainview will play at Biloxi.

Neither team is undefeated but both made good records in tough schedules.

Probable starting lineups:
Biloxi Plainview
Eliot Pos. Kemp
Bass LE Mitchell
Purcell LT Ramsay
Ramsay LG McClain
Huls C Needham
Pickick RG Hale
Jenkins RT Johnson
Bleuer RE Sherley
Berry QB Schneider
Saucier LH Barry
Mattina RH Graham
Demourelle FB Coker

PETE INTENDS TO USE SLIP'S GRID TACTICS

DALLAS, Dec. 30 (AP)—Pete Cawthon, wily leader of Texas Tech's undefeated Red Raiders, plans to match the tactics of Coach Slip Madison of St. Mary's in the Cotton Bowl game here Monday by using a fresh team every time the coast mentor sets the example.

This means that instead of leaving one team on the field to absorb the battering by fresh opponents when the Gael coach makes a complete team substitution, Cawthon will send in a second group of Raiders.

Cawthon said he expected a bruising battle that will subject his boys to some rough treatment physically, so he'll also employ the two-unit system.

For three hours yesterday the Tech coach drove his squad through a stiff session polishing up his offensive tactics, stressing perfection of the passing attack.

"They didn't look good to me," grumbled Cawthon. "I think we've slipped backwards."

Wranglers Cop. In Courtney, 31 To 27

Hull Leads Way As Millermen Chalk Up First Win

COURTNEY, Dec. 30—Roger Miller's R-Bar Wranglers, a Major City league basketball team, won its first victory of the campaign here Thursday evening by trouncing the Courtney Independents, 31-27.

The Wranglers, paced by Hull who tallied 19 points for top scoring laurels, took the lead in the opening minutes and the Independents were never able to catch up. The Courtney quint made a stab at the opposition's advantage just before half time but the Wranglers left the courts 8-7 leaders.

Six-Man Grid Game Slated Saturday

Garner Independent Team To Play In Sterling City

STERLING CITY, Dec. 30—Garner high school's athletic director Floyd Burnett, will bring a team consisting of current and former Billie stars here tomorrow with a Sterling City aggregation in the season's final six-man football classic. The fray will get underway at 2 o'clock.

Both teams have been working out all week.

Burnett piloted his Billie team to the PSAA title during the fall season while George Sullivan's Sterling City team also competed in the association's schedule, joined in mid-season.

Among players who will see action for the Howard county aggregation are the Thomas twins, R. C. and R. V., W. B. Lawley, Jim Lomax, Marvin Daugherty, Troy Newton and Marlin Brown.

Coahoma Plays Girard Twice This Weekend

Devan May Have Surprise In Store For Strong Invaders

COAHOMA, Dec. 30—Idle for two weeks, Lloyd-Devan's Coahoma high school cagers swing back into action against the strong Girard aggregation in Coahoma in two games this weekend. The first fray will begin at 8 o'clock tonight. The return game is scheduled for Saturday evening.

Vines To Quit If Defeated

Pro Champion Likes Golf Game Better, He Says

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—Financially fixed for life, even if he never lifts another tennis racket, Ellsworth Vines intends to quit the professional game for good and devote himself to golf if Do's Budge beats him conclusively in their long series of exhibition matches starting Tuesday night at Madison Square Garden.

"Shucks," said Eilly, "I've made enough money out of this game and I don't need to hang around after I've passed my peak and take a licking from anybody. Not like Bill Tilden's done. I love golf now more than I ever loved tennis.

"Not that I think Budge is going to give me a bad beating. I'm only 27 and I'm still playing about as good tennis as I ever did. No, I guess I played my best tennis in the winter of 1935-36 against Les Stoken."

"But if Don does show me he's the better player over the long haul I'll put away the racket. I mean it. I'd like to devote myself to trying to win the golf championship and I don't see any sense in risking my legs and ankles on a tennis court against a man I can't beat."

"My golf's getting better right along. In my last 10 rounds over the San Gabriel (Calif.) course I was 15 under par. It's a par 71 layout and I had a 65, 66 and 67."

Counts On Balance
BAY ST. LOUIS, Miss., Dec. 30 (AP)—Relaxing as best he could under the strain of the approaching Sugar Bowl football classic, Bill Kera said today his Carnegie Tech Tartans would count upon "balance" to carry them through the January 2 battle with the Texas Christian Horned Frogs.

Kern said he feared the squad may have reached its peak too soon to tackle such stern opposition as will be offered by Dutch Meyer's Texas champions.

The "Bovines" best attempt at gaining a trophy was fruitless, San Angelo again winning, 44-9, and the outlook was indeed dreary. The Yearlings, however, sily snuffed out of their doldrums and upset Coahoma, 18-13, in a thrill packed fray.

A junior golf meet got underway at Harold Akery's municipal course

A PRESIDENT FOR THE UNIVERSITY

After 18 months of searching, regents of the University of Texas have selected a president of the institution, Dr. Homer Price Rainey. He is a comparatively young man, 42, but he comes apparently equipped to do the job and with the background, having served as president of Bucknell University, of Franklin College, and as director of the American Youth Commission.

WE'RE MAKING SOME PROGRESS

Traffic deaths in the nation this year-if December maintains the record of the preceding eleven months-will reach the lowest figure since 1933, the National Safety Council reports. On the basis of the present trend, 1938's traffic fatalities will total 31,500, as compared with 42,000 in 1937.

HOUSTON, Dec. 30 (AP)-The 500 Houston teachers, paced by Clifford Johnson, rallied in the final minutes to defeat the Blue Book salary schedule in a vote last night.

THE RESULTS OF LIMA

At Lima the American republics have formulated a common foreign policy, which, if it is properly implemented, will constitute the clearest counter program which has yet been framed to the policies of the two totalitarian internationalists.

THOMPSON OF POLICY SHOULD NOT BE UNDER-RATED

First of all, it is the clearest formulation of foreign policy which this country has had in generations.

If it becomes so fixed in the minds of our own people that it is taken, as the Monroe Doctrine has been for 115 years, as natural and continuous, it will greatly clarify our position in the world.

It does not, for instance, support Theodore Roosevelt's interpretation of our responsibilities in the Latin-American countries.

For the first of the eight statements of principles is, "The intervention of any state in the internal or external affairs of another is inadmissible."

It makes it perfectly clear, first, that the National Socialist party and the German state are a complete unity; second, that all cultural activities abroad are to be organized as instruments of the state and party; third, that all Germans living in other countries are claimed by the party as its instruments; and fourth, that the entire program for mobilizing foreign Germans has as its object the spreading of the National Socialist world philosophy throughout the earth.

Point one is also completely incompatible with the policies of the Russian Comintern, which lays claim to the working classes of the world.

The Comintern has shifted its policy continually according to the international situation of Russia at any given moment, but it has never abandoned its messianic intention eventually to make over the world according to the pattern of the Soviet Union.

I consider this first point of the most critical importance, for it is perhaps the first official recognition of the revolutionary character of any weapon as an instrument of conquest.

Had such a policy been a clear part of the treaties which the small states of Central Europe had with France, the whole picture there might have been different.

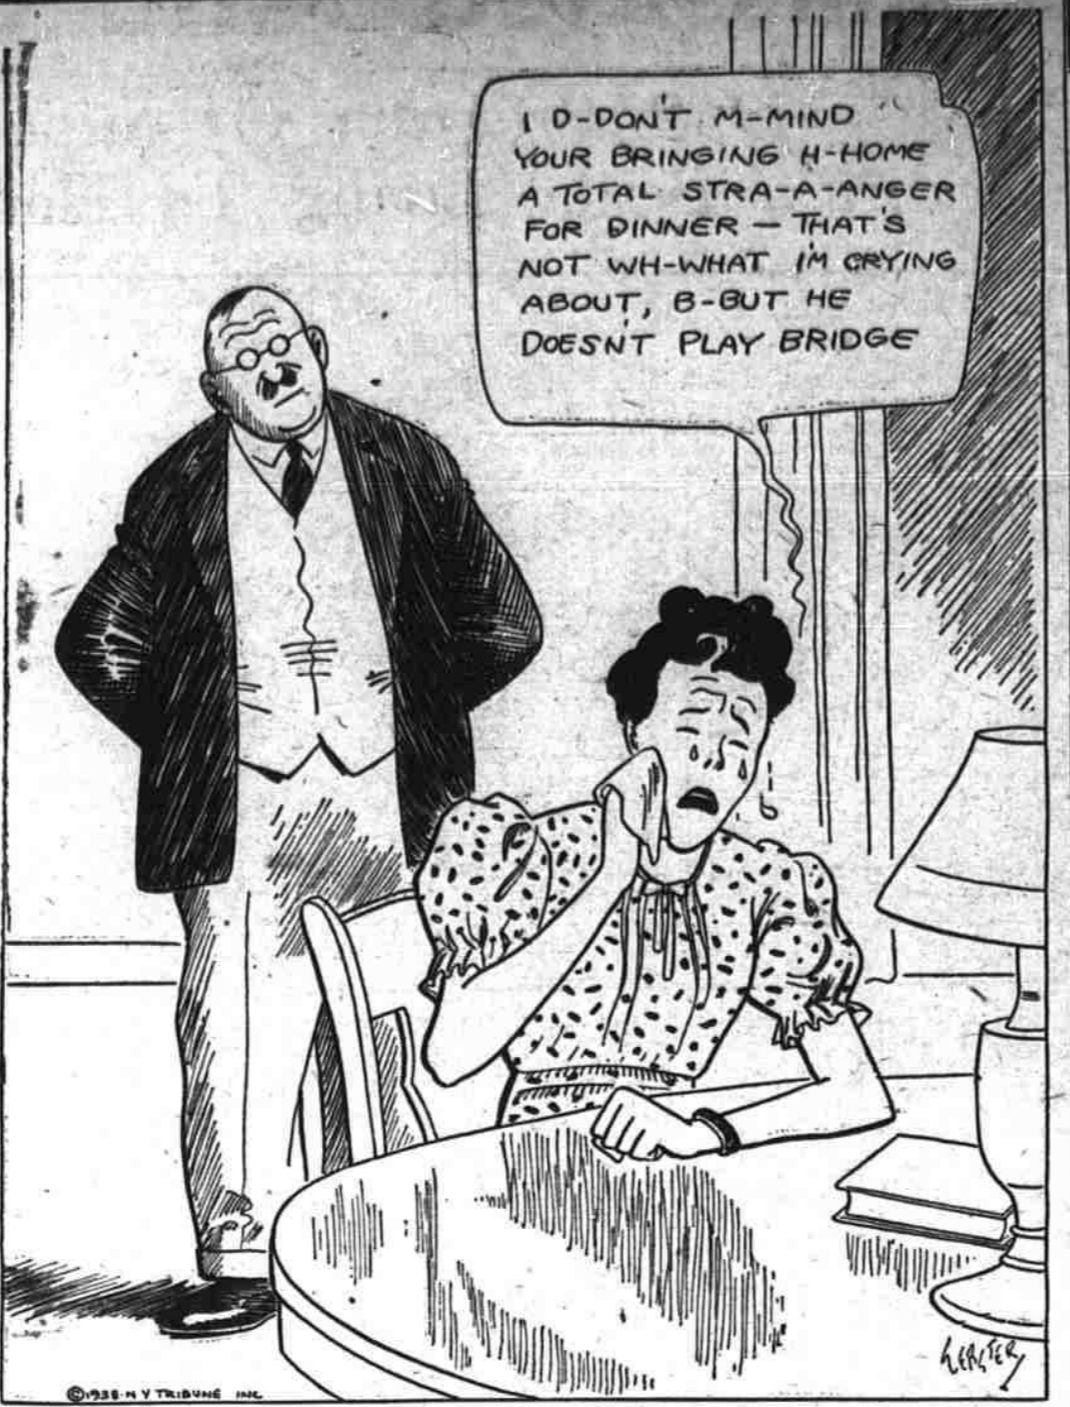

It is interesting that the last Chancellor of Austria, Dr. Schuschnigg, made exactly this point as a sine qua non for the maintenance of Austrian independence. He said in his book that unless the nations accepted the principle that one state had no right to interfere in the internal affairs of another state every small country would eventually fall to the larger and more powerful ones.

That would mean that we should reject by every possible diplomatic pressure and by clear political action interventions which are announced or put into practice. Otherwise, it remains a pious platitude.

Numbers two and three reaffirm our allegiance to the Kellogg-Briand Pact, and numbers six and eight seek to substitute international collaboration for force.

How can we achieve international collaboration along cultural or economic lines with countries whose intellectual and economic programs are specifically designed not for cooperation but for propa-

"The Dawn Patrol" Original story by John Monk Saunders. Directed by Edmund Goulding. Errol Flynn (Courtney), Basil Rathbone (Major Brand), David Niven (Scott), Donald Crisp (Phipps).

HOLLYWOOD - This fine film of aerial warfare over France in 1915 is at once a salute to courage and a powerful plea for peace. Originally filmed in 1930 with Richard Barthelmess and Douglas Fairbanks Jr. in the present Flynn and Niven roles, "The Dawn Patrol" was one of Warner Bros.' most profitable ventures.

The Royal Flying Corps, ill-equipped with planes and its manpower down to the rawest of youthful recruits, is seen waging a gallant daily struggle against German aces.

Rathbone, commanding officer, is cracking under the strain. Grounded by duty, he must send up his fledgling fliers to almost certain death. He is sure he has only the score of his two aces, Flynn and Niven, daring comrades.

"Kentucky." Original story by John Taintor Foote. Directed by David Butler. Loretta Young, Richard Greene, Walter Brennan.

This saga of horse-racing has three superb performances by Brennan, by the horseflesh beauties, and by the color camera. The story of a feud between two old Kentucky families, both stable owners, has the anticipated finale in the Kentucky Derby.

"Sweethearts." Story by Dorothy Parker and Alan Campbell. Directed by W. S. Van Dyke. Jeanette MacDonald, Nelson Eddy, Florence Rice, Mischea Auer, Herman Bing, Reginald Gardner, etc.

Using Victor Herbert and other music, "Sweethearts" is the amusing tale of two stage stars, happily married, who can't get away from their fame. Their families and the coterie of sycophants to their long-run production nearly drive them to the "peacocks" of Hollywood-and practically to divorce. It's light-weight stuff, with song, comedy, romance, fashion display and brilliant spectacle intermingled to give every type of customer a run for his money. And it's photographed-radiantly-in this constantly improving color.

Occasionally while kicking around the town I run into Bob McGimsey, of Mississippi. Let me tell you about Bob. When he was a little boy his grandmother used to tell him Bible stories, and one of his favorites was about the three Israelites-Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego-and how they were thrown into the fiery furnace, if you know your Bible you know they escaped the flame.

Bob was fascinated by this story. The names of these three Israelites ran through his mind like a strange rhythm. He never forgot it. And one day he wrote a song, "Shadrach. It was a classic. Lawrence Tibbett sang it. John Charles Thomas and Nelson Eddy sang it. Larry Clinton heard it and made an arrangement of it. Louis Armstrong did likewise. Overnight it became a swing sensation, and now it is sweeping the country.

'NEW YEAR'S LOVE

Chapter 13
NEW YEAR'S EVE
"Mr. Norris is resting comfortably." Those cheerful words of Joseph's brightened the morning for Noel. She breathed a sigh of relief. David's temperature was down. The doctor had been there already, well pleased with the turn.

Next day she was permitted to visit the patient. He was lying there in bed a resigned invalid. But David's illness had left its mark-new lines on his face, colorless lips, tired eyes.

"This is all I need," David explained when he saw Noel. He sent the nurse out of the room.

"It took you so long to come," he remarked petulantly. "You couldn't have worried so much." "But, David, I was following the doctor's orders."

"Well, I don't think you tried very hard." As David continued he looked over her head out the window.

I mustn't get angry at him, Noel thought. Invalids are always demanding. Conversation was again modic for a few moments. Finally David asked: "What about the play?"

Noel tried to meet his eyes. "That can wait until you're better." "So-Swanstrom told you?" David's face flushed. Noel laid her hand on his shoulder restrainingly.

"You're not to think anything dear, until you're completely recovered. You must not concern yourself with business affairs. That can wait."

She was frightened at the excited flush in his cheeks. She knew this excitement was bad for him. But he insisted: "It can't wait. You tell Swanstrom he can count on me. I'll see that my lawyer arranges it right away."

"All right, David - but please, please rest now. The doctor won't let me come back, you know, if he thinks my visits disturb you." "How are your friends?" he asked, abruptly.

Noel knew whom he meant. "They're in town for a few days," she told him. As she saw the angry glint in his eyes, she added, "Allan is going to marry Mrs. Schuyler when he comes back from South America."

The words were magic. Noel could see his whole figure relax on the bed. David raised her hand to his lips, kissed the palm.

"It was so foolish-I see now," David's voice was complacent. "I really was jealous of him, darling. You had such a strange look in your eyes whenever you spoke of Collings."

"Whatever made you think such a ridiculous thing?" She could say it casually while deep inside something was hurting her, something nobody else must ever know.

Because she realized now there was that which went out from her to Allan she would never feel again. So that when David asked humbly:

"Tell me this, darling-just say that there's still a chance for me." Noel looked at his sick white face, remembering his kindness, thinking of the future without any Allan. At least she could make one person happy.

She leaned down and kissed his forehead. It was a passive kiss and she had forgotten Allan's kiss at Calabar. All kisses of friendship weren't the same, she assured herself, knowing full well the friendship had been one-sided. For her it was something deeper, more disturbing, more disrupting than friendship.

She Should Be Happy! "I've never misled you, my dear," she managed after a pause. "But if you want me as I am, the way I feel for you -"

"Oh, my dearest!" He tried to raise himself on the pillow. Noel remonstrated. "We mustn't talk about it any more now." She should be happy! She had given her promise. But there was only a desire to get out of the room, out into the cold January air.

Without making it appear like an escape she left David shortly, promising to return and see him next day.

Encouraging news awaited her when she stepped in at the Swanstrom offices. Douglas held up a thick folio of typewritten pages. "Dixon's kept his word for once," he exclaimed. "Here's the revised script."

"Is it good?" Noel didn't need to ask the question. She could read the answer in Swanstrom's satisfied attitude.

"As good as can be expected," he reluctantly told her. Noel knew he was pleased, or he would have been cursing Dixon emphatically. Then she told him what David had said.

Swanstrom was jubilant. "Now we can go right ahead." He rubbed his palms energetically, already anticipating the excitement of getting it staged - his first vital pleasure in living.

He paced the floor, his plans already in action. "We'll start it the day after New Year's." He came over to Noel, shook her by the shoulders. It was a friendly gesture from Swanstrom.

"We've got a gold mine in Susan in Walling," he shouted exuberantly. "Did I tell you we'd changed the title again?" he asked Noel abruptly.

"You haven't told me very much lately," Noel admonished him. But she caught some of the spirit from Douglas and when she left him, she too was deep in the agonizing throes of the first curtain going up opening night.

The mood lasted all through the day, far into the night. Her sleep was interrupted a dozen times as she would wake up saying the lines Dixon had written-poignant farewell, unhappy, waiting the final glorious reunion.

The pain in thinking of Allan was muffled, too, when she saw him and his mother.

"Elaine's flown down to her parents in Palm Beach for a few days," Mrs. Marchand reported while she and Noel lunched together. Noel thought: Elaine is probably telling them she's taking Allan at last.

Celebrating So that she understood Allan's motive when he suggested, "Mother says she's too old for New Year's Eve festivities. How about we two celebrating it together, Noel?"

She told David about it. He gave his consent, after Noel explained Elaine was in Palm Beach and she was a substitute.

"The whole town's gone gay," Allan reported when he called for her. His eyes inspected her admiringly. She'd arranged her hair piled high with the velvety blossoms laid against the sleek soft waves and she wore her long white velvet coat over the tight-fitting gown.

The streets they drove through were crowded with noisy merry-makers and when they reached the restaurant for late dinner, the place was jammed. Beautifully gowned women were escorted by jovial companions. Many of them had already a good start on a cafe crowd's getting to New Year. Allan ordered champagne and over the first glass he said:

"Well, here's to what's ahead of us - I hope it's everything you want, Noel."

Everything she wanted! Because of you, I won't get that, Noel thought, looking at Allan but she smiled gaily and responded. "For you, Noel, Allan-happiness and success! I don't have to wish you good luck. I have a feeling it will always be with you." She finished her drink quickly and held out her glass to him. When acquaintances stopped by their table and she introduced Allan she was a convincing picture of the gay, carefree young lady. The champagne helped the illusion. And she was a good actress.

"You must have magic powers of persuasion to get this reservation," Noel told him as they were led to an advantageous table not far from the bandstand.

Once when Allan's thoughts seemed far away Noel felt sure he must be thinking of Palm Beach, and Elaine. But he said, "It wanders a bit, but I don't think you could call her." They went out to the telephones and spoke to Mrs. Marchand.

"I'm so happy you're enjoying yourself, dear," the older woman told Noel over the wire.

They exchanged affectionate "Happy New Years" in advance and came back to dance to soft music.

Allan's arms were around her when the lights went out and the bedlam of sound let loose. The floor was packed with wildly excited celebrants.

"Happy New Year!" rang around the room in the darkness. Allan's arms tightened. "Happy New Year to you, darling," he whispered into her ears.

Then he kissed her and without knowing it, Noel's arm went round his neck tightly. The kiss, started lightly, became impassioned. Noel felt tension grow in Allan's body. For herself, it was heavenly ecstasy - something she would not know again.

The lights went up-the noise grew in volume. They were held close together by the mobs surging around them. Allan was looking down at her tenderly.

"Happy New Year," His voice was filled with emotion. He was lost in the mood of the moment. But Noel remembered Elaine and David.

"Let's get away from this crush," she managed coolly and Allan seemed literally to shake himself out of the haze.

Elliott's Column... Each Friday

Abil o' Thinkin' A NEW PAGE Here we are again, at the threshold of a new year! Resolutions are of debatable value. But here is a thought: The page of the old year is turned down, and we start on a fresh, white one. If there were a few blot and smudges on the old page, that one is turned over. What counts now is the fresh, new page. We can profit by experience. We can fill it so that when it is turned over a year hence, we will be proud of what was written there.

As a business organization, we aim to do just that-day by day.

ACCOUNTANTS TALK OF A REVISION IN AUDIT PROCEDURE

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—The McKesson and Robbins Drug corporation scandal has led the American Institute of Accountants to undertake a review of auditing procedure to determine "what, if any, changes x x x should be adopted by the profession."

F. Donald Coster-Musica, president of the corporation, shot himself to death Dec. 16 after investigation disclosed an apparent $18,000,000 overstatement of the firm's assets. Despite regular auditing of the corporation's record, Coster-Musica managed for years to hide the irregularities.

Announcing the plan to study procedural changes, John L. Carey, secretary of the institute said: "The auditor's problem always is to find means of affording adequate protection at a cost which will not constitute an undue burden on the great majority of corporations which are honestly administered."

"Out of the present discussion may evolve plans for closer cooperation between accountants and directors."

FSA's 1938 Program Of Supervised Lending Bringing Security, Better Living To Howard Co. Farmers

Here Are Examples Of How Families Are Helped

In four years William G. Truitt ran $3.75 into $5,000.

Truitt is a farmer in the northern part of Howard county, and in 1935 when he applied for a Farm Security Administration loan, he had in his pocket exactly $3.75. Today his possessions are valued at $5,000, and he is on his way back to buy his old farm in Dawson county, which he lost in '29.

On that fall day in '25 he had nothing but the wages he had obtained as a day laborer, debts of $900, a wife and five children who were sometimes hungry.

For a loan of $450 he bought teams and tools for farming. After all, farming was his business; and he knew how to farm. The proof lies in the excellent success he has made out on the Bar-I ranch where he has accumulated 14 head of cattle, 22 hogs, and 175 hens, to help with his diversified farming program. He raises cotton and small grains for his cash crops; and between crops he's helping the neighbors, or out carpentering to pick up extra cash.

Yours Repaid

The Truitts have added to their furniture and their household equipment as well as their farming equipment. In Dawson county in their new home they will have a higher standard of living than ever before.

And all this for a loan of $450, repaid within a year.

The Farm Security Administration's program of supervised lending is designed to raise the standard of agriculture throughout the whole country, says County Supervisor Henry Gore. In Howard county it has brought about a live-at-home program for many farmers; introducing them to their first keeping of record books; adding livestock and machinery to the farms; conserving water and soil.

Another instance of how its program has brought about a real betterment is that of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Gross, who live in the northwestern part of the county, near Knot.

For years Mr. Gross has been a farm laborer; in 1935 he farmed on the halves; in 1936 he will farm "thirds and fourths"—a steady progression to better standard of living. A loan brought him enough money to pay operating costs in 1938. He paid it off. Another loan for 1939 gave him money to obtain teams and tools, so that he can pay even a smaller amount of his cash crop for land rental.

Steps Up

From farm laborer to tenant; from tenant to landowner—the two Howard county families are examples of the ultimate aim of the Farm Security program; to secure the farmer against the future.

On the farms of persons cooperating with the Farm Security Administration there are more horses, more cows, more cans of food, more gardens, more chickens, better homes, better health, and better bank accounts.

For instance, there are 288 more head of livestock in Howard county than there were on January 1, 1938, says Gore.

And there are 6,701 more quarts of canned food in the pantries of FSA families, adds Mrs. Pearl Flache, county home management supervisor. There are 6,734 pounds more of stored food.

Here are some of the accomplishments of the county at large:

Accomplishments

Ninety-five per cent of the farmers have adjusted their agricultural programs to meet the changing agricultural conditions either by adding to the acreage they have been operating; revising their cropping program or putting into effect better farming practices such as contouring and terracing.

Debts of farmers have been adjusted and scaled down so that more than $1,000 has been saved. Creditors have realized collections from long over due accounts as a result of these adjustments and many farmers have paid their taxes and other delinquent bills as a result of the service.

Twenty-five farmers and their wives have kept complete farm records, establishing farms as a business unit.

Thirty-six per cent of the farmers have obtained more adequate lease arrangements.

Such figures do not tell of the rebirth of hope, and faith in the future which has been widespread through the county. Nor do they tell of the new clothes, the new wells, the new fences and similar improvements that have been obtained.

Medical attention has increased. Adequate diets have improved the health of many farm families. New knowledge on farming and home-making have been widespread by the workers in this program.

Family Budgets

Mrs. Flache believes that the making of family budgets and the keeping of home records has shown the greatest advancement during the past year.

"No business man would attempt to go blindly about his system of income and expenditures," she points out. "Neither can a farm family if it expects to become self-sufficient and thrifty."

Gore said that in addition to carrying on its various other programs, the Farm Security Administration in 1938 loaned $712,293 to farmers in 36 counties in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico, taking assignments on ACP payments thus making it possible for hundreds of farmers to

A year of fulfillment is ahead for Howard county farmers who have followed the Farm Security Administration program—new farms, better leases, more food stuff, more cash crops, more livestock. In the upper picture is William G. Truitt, (left), who has been leasing the Bar I ranch north of Big Spring, as he tells District Supervisor Earl Wise of his plan to move back to Dawson county, and the farm he lost in 1929. In three years Truitt has increased his possessions from $3.75 in his pocket and liabilities of $900 to $5,000. In the center is John T. Gross, who has been a tenant farmer near Knot. He is moving to another farm, and with an FSA loan has purchased teams and tools for farming, so that he will be able to farm on "thirds and fourths" of his cash crops for rental. A year ago he was a farm laborer; today he has already passed through the stage of paying on the "halves" and is on his way to better tenure. At the lower left is Mrs. Truitt, shown in her kitchen, with the new stove which has been purchased this year. The other two pictures are Mrs. Gross; the lower shows her busily preparing biscuits for dinner; and the other, her pressure cooker and one of the seven varieties of food she has canned during the past summer.

Real Grapefruit League In Making

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 30 (AP)— A campaign to give in Florida's campaign to give Florida's official competition was under way here today following announcement of the first schedules for major league exhibition baseball games on the spring circuit.

The plan, originally suggested by Irv Kupcinet, Chicago sports writer, now has the backing of Tampa civic leaders who have worked out a scheme to band the majors into an actual Grapefruit loop with a fixed schedule.

There are at least eight clubs from both big leagues which train annually in Florida. The proposal is that after about 20 games, the regular "season" would end and there would be a three-game playoff between the leading National League team and the leading American leaguers in a "winter world's series."

Last season's exhibitions drew an aggregate gate of 100,000 paid customers.

Baugh, Parker Signed

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30 (AP)— The biggest promotion of professional football yet attempted in Los Angeles found 23 of the best players in the pro ranks signed today to form an all-star team which will meet the New York Giants, world's champions, here January 15.

Reading like a Who's Who of pro football, the roll lists eight backfield men, topped by Slingo Sammy Baugh and Ace Parker, the ex-Duke university All-American,

MAY PLAY

FORT WORTH, Dec. 30 (AP)— The Texas Christian Horned Frogs, who have played in two bowl games and won both of them, depart tonight for New Orleans to play Carnegie Tech in the Sugar Bowl.

The squad was cheered by the report that El Aldrich (pictured), suffering from an eye slicer, would be able to make the trip and with prospects bright that the All-American center would be in the starting line-up.

Thirty-two Horned Frogs will make the trip—the second for T.C.U., since inauguration of the Sugar Bowl game. The Frogs also held one decision in the Cotton Bowl.

East-West Fray To Be Sellout

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30 (AP)— Because the fans are hoping for a duel between Pitt's all-American Marshall Goldberg and California's Vic Bottari, Kezar stadium next Monday may see its first sell-out East-West football game.

Ticket management of the Shrine charity affair said last night that sales have already passed the 64,000 mark—and the 64,000 who saw last year's scoreless tie were the previous "high." A sell-out would mean a crowd of about 90,000.

Though the east coaches yesterday toyed with the idea of shifting Goldberg to fullback, they decided today he could do most damage at his "natural" post of left-halfback. In the same spot on the west squad crouches Bottari, hero of California's 13-0 win last week over Georgia Tech.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 30 (AP)— A rising tide of football fever was evident in Miami today as unbeaten, untied Tennessee and Oklahoma teams drew near the end of practice for the January 2 Orange Bowl game.

AT THE CHURCHES

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
Room 1, Settles Hotel
"God" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 1.
The Golden Text is: "Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel, and His redeemer the Lord of hosts; I am the first, and I am the last; and beside me there is no God" (Isaiah 44:6).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all" (Ephesians 4:4-6).
The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Let us learn of the real and eternal, and prepare for the reign of Spirit, the kingdom of heaven—the reign and rule of universal harmony, which cannot be lost nor remain forever unseen" (page 208).

MARKETS
Wall Street

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—Although many stock market leaders acted tired today, following their swift climb of Thursday, selected rails, amusements, utilities and specialties managed to continue the forward swing.
Profit taking in steels, motors and aircrafts, combined with further last-minute "cash" tax selling, tended to give the list a spotty appearance after a fairly firm opening. Dealings dwindled substantially on the development of irregular trends. Transfers approximated 1,400,000 shares.
Despite the uneven price performance, a number of favorites succeeded in penetrating new high territory for the year. Losses, in the majority of cases, were held to minor fractions.

OIL FINANCIER'S WIFE PLUNGES TO DEATH
NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—A desperate, 10-minute struggle between nurse and patient ended late last night in the death of Mrs. Miriam Rieber, wife of a wealthy oil financier, in a 35-story plunge from a window of her Central Park South apartment.
Wife of Torikild Rieber, chairman of the boards of the Texas Company and the Texas Corporation, Mrs. Rieber had been under care of a physician for a nervous ailment, police were told.
Miss Helen Koerner, nurse attending Mrs. Rieber for the past two months, told officers she had left the room to make tea, and returned to find Mrs. Rieber moving toward the window.
Miss Koerner said she attempted to hold Mrs. Rieber but the woman tore herself free and plunged from the window.
