DePalma in Modern Stock Car Beats Fastest Racers of 1911

DRIVING A MODERN stock car and using Gulf No-Nox Ethyl gasoline and Gulfride Oil, Ralph DePalma (inset), veteran race driver, last Monday drove 500 miles on the famous Indianapolis Speedway at an average speed that was 7.6 miles per hour better than the fastest racing car was able to do in 1911. DePalma used a LaSalle convertible coupe, and averaged 82.19 miles per hour.

The top view shows the finish of the race, and below DePalma is pictured filling his tank with No-Nox Ethyl from the Gulf truck. Purpose of the run was to show how present day stock cars and commercial gasoline and lubricants compare with the best that the speedway had twenty-five years ago.

New Administration-Library Building - University of Texas

With only a few minor details yet to be attended to, the new unit of the Administration-Library Building of The University of Texas, located in the center of the main campus at Austin, is ready for occupancy. The cost of the two units comprising the imposing structure, including fixtures and furniture, totaled approximately three million dollars. Not a penny of this sum came from the taxpayers.

From an architectural standpoint, the tower, 308 feet high, with its 28 book-stair stories, is its outstanding feature. Its higher elevation causes it to rise several feet above the Capitol dome. In addition to book stacks, its space will be devoted to offices for a number of members of the faculty.

The new unit of the building contains the offices of the president, registrar, auditor, comptroller, librarian, and dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. Among the many attractive features are two rooms, exposed on three sides, and entirely glass-enclosed, for pleasure reading.

Students who attend the 1937 summer session will be the first to have opportunity to use the building in its completed form.

Despite the increase of farm purchasing power, S. A. McMillan, economist in farm management of the Extension Service, believes more than half of the 500,000 farm families of Texas fail to earn average farm incomes sufficient to permit them to live at a minimum comfort level. That the situation is better now than it was in 1932 no one will deny.

Since the dawn of civilization, history has recorded lean and fat years; lean years when farmers made poor crops and the consumers either went on short rations or paid high prices for food, and fat years when farmers made bumper crops and consumers bought food at rock bottom prices.

McMillan states that one county agricultural agent in a county where cotton constitutes the main source of income notes that the return from sales of cotton in 1936 amounted to an average of $20 for each man, woman, and child on farms in the county. Since even this pittance was not evenly distributed, it is apparent that some families received less than the average cotton income.

The Agricultural Conservation Program is doing much to remedy the situation. Through increasing fertility on the farm, it tends to increase and maintain future farm income. Through stabilizing production, it aims at eliminating the lean and fat years that help neither the farmer nor the consumer. Through providing benefit payments for planting soil-conserving crops and for observing soil-conserving practices, it provides a measure of insurance against crop failures.

If you want to be supremely happy in this world then a certain amount of ignorance is absolutely necessary.

Maybe they call it the sea of matrimony because most married couples are always sailing into each other.

Portable Elevator Operates in Coleman

COLEMAN — Coleman County farmers will have a new direct outlet for their grain next Wednesday morning when Burdick and Burdick Grain Company of Coleman install a portable elevator at the east end of Pecan street, near the Santa Fe Railroad tracks.

Installation of the "Air-way" elevator will cost the local concern approximately $3,500 when figures for erecting a storage building on the site are included.

The storage building is 15 feet wide, 70 feet long and 14 feet in height. Walls are of corrugated iron. Its capacity is 8,000 bushels.

Largest and best scales available have been installed and the remainder of the equipment will be ready by next Wednesday morning, a member of the grain firm stated today.

While it is expected that only wheat and oats will be handled by the elevator in this county, corn, barley, rye, threshed sor-ghums and other grains can be handled.

It will be possible to unload a truck of grain within eight to ten minutes and to load a car within 60 minutes with the elevator.

An ideal site has been chosen by Burdick & Burdick for the equipment—on a paved street and near the railroad tracks.

There's one thing a politician will never tell you, and that is that he doesn't deserve your praise.

- Mrs. York Plans Out-Door Living Room

"My family is so very interested in fixing up our outdoor living room and I feel sure we will get a lot of pleasure from using it when all details are finished," says Mrs. Jess York, yard demonstrator of the Trickham Home Demonstration club. "Our outdoor living room is located southeast of the house so as to be in the shade in the afternoon as our tree's aren't large enough to give any shade yet," Mrs. York continued.

A flagstone terrace has been laid south of the house and the rest of the back yard sodded in Bermuda grass. Mrs. York has set out 1 ornamental peach, 4 umbrella chinias, 4 cherry trees, 2 peach trees, 1 mulberry tree, and 4 cottonwood trees around the back and the side yards to provide shade and a background of green to make it more pleasant for sitting and eating outside.

To hide the water tower in the back yard from view 2 bridal wreath, 3 lilas, and 6 Amur River Privet shrubs were set out to add color and beauty to the outdoor living room.

Her husband and sons are going to make a settee and 2 or 3 chairs out of lumber from heavy packing crates and paint them with green floor paint. A small furnace and a table are to be built from native stone to make meal preparation outside easier. Eating out of doors in the summer is a lot of fun and Mrs. York and her family are planning to eat out a lot this summer.

West Texas Club Women Make Home Improvements

County home demonstration agents in West Texas report that home demonstration club women are making home improvements and adding equipment. Often the improvements are made at very little cash outlay.

Two Pecos county women, Mrs. C. E. Barker and Mrs. Marsh Lee, both of Fort Stockton, recently scoured 27 pounds of wool which they will make into bats for comforts. The wool was washed in three sal soda baths kept between 100 and 110 degrees of temperature. The scouring was done in the Fort Stockton work center.

Another Pecos county club member, Mrs. Henry Schellenberger of the Fort Stockton club, recently removed cracked and chipped enamel from a bedroom suite with a commercial paint remover. The wood was washed with gasoline, and tube umber thinned with gasoline was applied. The finish was rubbed with a soft cloth after drying a few minutes, and the surface treated with steel wool. When the furniture was waxed and polished, the wood had a light nut brown color and a gull, satin-like patina.

A cash outlay of only $3.25 was needed to build a clothes closet in the home of Mrs. Geo. Henry of the North Norton home demonstration club in Rannels county. The closet is equipped with shelves in one side and a rod for hanging clothes. The space above the door has been utilized for storage of quilts. Mrs. Henry was so pleased with her clothes closet that she had a pantry built in her kitchen.

In working on her bedroom Mrs. Marshall Duggins, bedroom demonstrator of the Liberty Home Demonstration Club, has used light wall paper and ivory enamel on the woodwork to give the feeling of light and cleanliness to her room. Abundant sunshine and fresh air are necessary in any bedroom to make it sanitary for sleeping. Plenty of light is also needed to make dressing easier.

Mrs. Duggins has also built a spacious closet equipped with rod, shelf for hats, and a shoe rack. The closet is papered inside with light paper so as to make finding things easier.

The floor is painted with a light buff floor enamel that does not show foot prints or dust. This type of floor finish helps to make housekeeping easier. Thin ecru colored curtains are to be used at the windows to add attractiveness to the room and subtle but not cut out the light.

Mrs. Ben Dunn, bedroom demonstrator of the Coleman Independent Home Demonstration Club, has turned her back porch into a bedroom with 8 windows on the South and West. This large number of windows makes the room comfortable and pleasant for sleeping in the hottest weather. At these windows she has used thin white straight curtains to subdue the light and give privacy to the room. The walls have been painted a very light ivory that blends nicely with curtains and woodwork.

Mrs. Dunn is planning to add a dressing table, 2 easy chairs, and a magazine rack to her room to make it comfortable and convenient for resting, reading, and dressing.

West Texas Farm Poultry Flocks Improved

County agricultural agents are receiving many calls relative to West Texas farm poultry flocks. Through culling out low producing hens and removing reactors to the pullorum disease test, many flocks are showing increased profit.

The county agricultural agent of King county reports that not more than 10 people in the county had surpluses of poultry products to sell prior to 1936, while at present there are seven large commercial flocks and most farmers have increased the size and production of their farm flocks. Among the latter is Mrs. McLean, a tenant, who

Government Integrity Issue of Race Track Repeal Says Allred

AUSTIN, June 3.—Laying the race track repeal issue squarely before the legislature in its special session, Governor Allred Thursday asked the members to cast a clear-cut vote on repeal of the race track gambling law.

"The outlawry of the gambling evil presents not only a great moral and economic need," the Governor said, "but, in view of the peculiar, the devious course of legislative history which has marked legalization of race track gambling and all efforts to repeal this law, an even greater principle is at stake — the integrity of and respect for government itself."

"I regret that the state has been put to the expense of this special session, but I could not do otherwise. In a special message to this legislature a month before adjournment, I appealed to the senate to help me save this cost by giving a simple direct vote on repeal of the race track gambling law. This a minority refused to permit, and I had no option other than to call this extraordinary session."

"We need only to review that which has been attempted during the regular session of this legislature," Allred said, "and the frustration of the people's will during the 44th Legislature, to find that the same forces still seek to operate under the capitol dome."

Tactics of the anti-repealists were scored by the Governor who said that the Senate rules should expedite and not hinder the transaction of legislative business and that the filibuster under the rules which killed the repeal bill had thwarted the people's wish for a direct vote.

In presenting the case for repeal of race track gambling, Governor Allred answered arguments given in the regular session by opponents of repeal. Asserting that repeal would remove the temptation and opportunity to gamble, the governor said the state is dedicated to legislation seeking to remove the opportunity of indulging in vice. He said bookie shops had flourished since the advent of race track gambling in Texas.

"This gambling law ought not to be repealed, they say, because of revenues accruing to the state. We ought to be ashamed of an argument so weak, so shallow! Texas doesn't need gambling revenues and the state ought not to set up is building a portable hen house of the latest design. The house will accommodate 200 hens. "A farmer must raise something besides cotton for a cash crop," says McCain.

A flock of pullets belonging to Mrs. D. M. Kern of El Paso county were vaccinated during the past year and she reports that she has had no losses from roup or chicken pox. She will vaccinate her pullets each year.

Kendall county farmers are meeting increased feed prices and decreasing egg prices by a rigid culling program. During March, nine poultry flocks totalling 1,009 hens were reduced to 659 hens by culling out low producers. The lowered feed cost for the remaining hens will enable farmers to show a profit instead of a loss on their flocks.

Know Texas

DENTON, June 3. — Those who see Texas in the future as a great manufacturing state could well consider the potentialities of the woolen industry.

Leading the entire union in the production of wool, this state has to ship the whole output to New England for manufacturing and marketing. $750,000 is the price Texas pays annually to get its wool in marketable condition.

A large increase in wool production over the past twenty years has made the need for home factories more evident each year. From 1,808,000 in 1910, the number of sheep raised in Texas has grown to 7,026,000 in 1935. This means that about six times as much wool is produced today as at that time.

The industry is highly concentrated in the Edwards plateau region, extending west of Austin and beyond the Pecos. Only a few other sections, including the plains, North Central Texas and small portions of East Texas are engaged in sheep-raising.

Increase in quantity has been accompanied by an increase in quality of Texas sheep. The fine Rambouillet variety are principally raised in the Edwards plateau section today, and in North and East Texas are a few Shropshire and Hampshiredown breeds. These three have entirely replaced the Merinos brought in by the Mexicans in the early years of Texas history.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baker of Hobbs, N. M. left Saturday for their home after spending Friday and Saturday with Mrs. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Collier. The Bakers were returning from a trip to Chicago.

permits local option elections to determine whether liquor shall be sold in a given community," he said. "It does not permit local option on any other form of law violation. From a legal standpoint we had just as well propose local option on murder, robbery, theft, or any other form of penal offense."

"I am against dog racing and I want a more effective bookie statute. I have no doubt these measures can be promptly passed as uncontested bills if you will but take this forward step by first wiping out the race track gambling law."

High Attendance Day Moved Up To Sunday, June 6

Owing to the heavy rains that fell last Sunday, high attendance day for the Baptist Training Union here has been set up until next Sunday, June 6. The goal for that day is 250.

Visitations were made last Sunday to absent members of those who should be regular attendants. A special program has been planned for Sunday, including several negro spirituals by a group of negro singers. Also included in the program will be a play, "A Tribute" presented by the Intermediate Union. Those taking part will be Alice Jane Lovelady, Bartlett Lamb, Willard Wilson, Arthur Lewis Evans, Joyce Hensley and Emma Sue McCain.

Last month the goal on high attendance days was set for 200 and well over that number were present for the special program presented that night.

Gordon Wilson Jr. returned to his home in Coleman Saturday night after spending several days with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jones.
