

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex. — Exercising his veto power to cut appropriations, Gov. John Connally sliced off $3,214,121 of the one-year general appropriation bills and killed 37 bills passed by the 60th Legislature.

Nine of the vetoed bills called for total annual expenditures of $12,819,760 beginning September 1, 1968. By way of explanation of his line-item vetoes in the appropriations bill, Connally said, "I endorse the actions taken by the Legislature to provide the funds needed to meet the state's increasing services to its people. However, there are several items of expenditures for which money was appropriated that I do not consider essential or justified."

Connally deleted a $600,000 appropriation which would have allowed the new Texas Research Institute of Mental Sciences at Houston to lease and operate hospital facilities. "This item was not requested by the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation in its budget request, nor was it included in my budget recommendations or those of budget board," the Governor explained.

A $300,000 appropriation for additional Phase I construction at the Corpus Christi State School also was vetoed. Connally said it was not requested by the MHMR Department or in budget recommendations submitted by the Legislative Budget Board or by Connally. He pointed out that the 1965 Legislature appropriated $2,244,000 for the proposed school.

Connally slashed $800,000 off the appropriation for the University of Texas Medical School at San Antonio. "With construction of the medical school and teaching hospital and the recruitment of faculty and staff still in progress, the number of students actually enrolled will be limited during the 1968 fiscal year," the Governor said.

"Even after vetoing this item," he continued, "the medical school's appropriation for the 1968 fiscal year will exceed my recommendation by $685,795 and will represent a 145 per cent increase over the amount appropriated for the current year."

Also vetoed was $325,000 earmarked to the State Department of Agriculture for expanding market outlets for Texas agricultural commodities. Connally explained that "the appropriation of $325,000 duplicated in purpose a major portion of the $500,000 special program appropriation for marketing and market outlet research, quality research, statistical reporting and other programs relating to agriculture."

Other bills vetoed included those extending the curfew for alcoholic beverage drinking until 2 a. m. in the metropolitan counties, doubling retirement benefits, prohibiting employment of youngsters under 21 in stores which sell beer and liquor, permitting broader powers for the State Soil & Water Conservation board, allowing the State Comptroller to seize property for tax debts and sell it without court action, setting up special county boards to assess tax values on agricultural land near cities, and granting cities police powers on private property such as shopping center parking lots.

COSTLY OVERTIME
Extension of the federal minimum wage act to state hospitals and school employees would cost the state government in Texas at least $14,000,000 a year, according to Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin.

Martin says he intends to keep fighting inclusion of state institutions under the act all the way to the Supreme Court.

Three federal judges in Maryland recently handed down conflicting opinions on the issue but not a final order.

Under the new appropriations, all State employees will get more than the required federal minimum wage. Big catch financially is that the federal act also requires time and a half payment for overtime—or an hour and a half compensatory time off for every hour of overtime worked during the same pay period. Texas employees get compensatory time off (no cash) on an hour-for-hour basis.

CAR INSURANCE
Careless Texas drivers will pay more for their car insurance on policies written after July 31. They will be charged more because of their accidents or traffic law violations during the nine months which ended May 1.

Penalties which range from 15 to 90 per cent, depending on the number and importance of the law violation—will add up to $6,439-362 during the year starting August 1.

These penalties, feeding that much more money into the auto insurance "kitty," will prevent rate increases for most drivers.

State Board of Insurance held its annual auto insurance rate hearing and got a staff recommendation for a general rate reduction of one per cent in insurance rates. It varies from area to area and from classification of cars and drivers.

There would have been a general rate increase had it not been for the more than $6,000,000 in penalties which will be charged against the drivers who violate the law and have accidents.

Board also took under consideration a proposal that high school and college students whose grades average B or better be given a 25 per cent insurance rate reduction. State Farm Insurance Co. started such a program in 1962. It found that students who make high grades drive less and have fewer accidents. Hence it is a valid basis for lower rates for those who make the honor roll or the dean's list.

COLLEGE TUITION
Instead of doubling tuition as requested by the Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University system, the Legislature made it easier for poorer youngsters to get tuition and fee exemptions.

Exemptions would go only to students from families with gross incomes of $4,800 a year or less. No student would be allowed to attend college more than six years under the tuition plan.

To be eligible, students must be graduate in the top 25 per cent of their high school classes. Or score in the top 29 per cent in a nationally standardized college admission examination.

DIPPING NO LONGER REQUIRED
Panhandle cattle no longer must be dipped before shipment to California.

Dr. S. B. Walker, director of Texas Animal Health Commission said the West Coast has removed the requirement since inspection of Panhandle herds during last winter showed no evidence of scabies. Herd owners in nine Texas counties and north and west of them need only permit and health inspection certificates for California shipment. Yeakum, Lynn Garza, Kent Terry, Stone-wall, King, Cottle and Childress.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES
State agencies charged with providing services to the handicapped may spend money under contract for specific programs and projects conducted by non-profit groups. Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held.

In another opinion, Martin concluded that the value of an indebtedness secured by mortgages against real estate in Canada held by a resident decedent of Texas should be included in his estate when computing inheritance taxes due.

SHORT SHORTS
State's first sale of cotton was earned in the Lower Rio Grande Valley on June 11, setting a new record reports the State Agricultural Department.

Inmate population at the Huntsville state penitentiary unit dropped by 480—to 12,384—during the last fiscal year, according to State Auditor C. H. Cavness.

State county and municipal officials have been urged to encourage ringing of all available bells to celebrate July 4—at 1 p. m. CDT—as part of "Bells of Independence Day" observance all throughout the nation.

A $22,048 federal grant has been approved for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, to be matched by the Department, to develop a recreational area at Copano Bay, located north of Rockport.

Printing Money No Problem At State Prison

Huntsville—Printing money in various denominations is no problem for inmate printers at the Huntsville Unit, Texas Department of Corrections.

In 1966, they printed $325,000 worth of $7 bills designed to promote the Annual Texas Prison Rodeo held here each Sunday in October. This currency proved so popular that rodeo officials decided to carry the theme a step further for the coming 1967 rodeo series.

Now inmate printers are busy producing two bills. One is a $3 "Rodeo Wampum" bill, the other a $4 bill labeled "Convict Loot."

Both bills inform the holder that "This note and $2.48 will get you into the Prison Rodeo Stadium."

Although the money printing business is strictly legal, prison officials point out that this cleverly-designed currency cannot be exchanged for cash.

However, persons who still have the $7 bills have this alternative. They can exchange them for this year's $3 and $4 denominations by writing Prison Rodeo Officer, Box 32, Huntsville, Texas 77340.

ZIPPED SLEEPING BAGS

When night comes most hunters like to bed-down in their sleeping bags, near the campfire for added warmth. This can be dangerous if yours is the zipped type. Sparks can ignite a sleeping bag, and when this happens you must get out in a hurry. Zipped bags are prone to stick in an emergency. Snapfasteners are more reliable.

Economy-Minded Americans Using Trailers on Vacations

Economy-minded American vacationers will take to the road in record numbers this year, towing their lodging and eating facilities behind them, William M. Coffey, General Manager, Texas Division of AAA said today.

"According to the latest figures from the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association," Coffey said, "some 1.25 million recreational vehicles, including travel trailers, truck-campers, and tent-campers, are ready to hit the vacation trails."

But trailering requires extra caution and new driving habits, the AAA official has warned.

"One of the most important items is the trailer hitch," he said. "The best and safest hitch to use is one which is bolted or welded to the frame of the car. Any hitch assembly should also include safety chains."

He said to avoid using a bumper hitch, which may work loose and can put "excessive strain on the car's bumper, not designed to handle the load."

Coffey suggested other tips of driving for trailering, to compensate for the added weight and length of the trailer.

Reduce speed and widen the gap between the vehicle ahead to allow for longer stopping distances.

When turning, use a wide wheel. When backing up, use a wide wheel. When backing up, use a wide wheel.

er are: Sharp turns, especially on two-lane country roads, may put the trailer into the oncoming traffic lane.

—Avoid sudden stops, that may jackknife the trailer.

CLEANING CREELS
Fishing creels should never be stored without cleaning them thoroughly to remove slime and other dirt. Not only will good cleaning improve the odor of your creel, but it also will extend its useful life. To do the job with efficiency, use a stiff scrub brush, and a soda and water solution made from 1 cup of baking soda to a good-sized bucket of water. Wash the basket well, then rinse it, and hang it in the sun to dry.

CARRYING A LANDING NET
Never use a cord to carry a landing net on your back when stream fishing. Cords can catch on brush and even throw you on occasion. Use of a French snap is far better.

Changes In Auto Rates Proposed

Austin—Texas' automobile insurance rate spiral may have slowed down, according to information provided to the State Board of Insurance by statisticians from the Insurance Department.

The Insurance Department staff recommended that the State Board of Insurance approve automobile insurance rates representing an overall reduction of 1 per cent for an estimated amount of about $4,200,000. As in the past, the proposed rates will vary according to territory and use of the automobile.

Motorists who use their car for pleasure and drive to work will have their annual premiums for basic limits liability insurance, full comprehensive insurance, and $100 deductible collision insurance modified by decreases as great as $13 and increases up to $8 a year for all these coverages combined.

Biggest reductions occur on automobile insurance written for garages and commercial vehicles. Premiums for this class will be reduced 5.6 per cent for liability coverage and 4.8 per cent for Physical Damage insurance. If the recommendations of the Insurance Department specialists are approved.

In commenting on the report made by the Insurance Department, Wm. Hunter McLean, Chairman of State Board of Insurance, noted that both accident frequency and average claim cost were up last year and that the Texas Driving Insurance Plan helped make these reductions possible.

Accidents increased in Texas by 11.5 per cent and the costs of these accidents were up. This is not surprising," Mr. McLean noted, "because hospital costs increased by more than 16 per cent last year and at the same time medical costs were up more than 7 per cent. It is forecast that this hospital and medical cost price spiral will continue and this is certain to have inflationary effect upon automobile rates."

"If it were not for the Texas Driving Insurance Plan, motorists with clean driving records would pay the same rates as careless drivers. As it is, 83 per cent of all Texas motorists will benefit from lower rates because of the Texas Driving Insurance Plan. These savings amount to more than $6 million."

Under the Texas Driving Insurance Plan, motorists are assessed points for accidents, and convictions of certain major traffic violations. Money produced by the Texas Driving Insurance Plan is credited back to each rating territory with the result that Harris County safe drivers benefit to the tune of $1,332,996. Tarrant County good drivers have their rates modified by $578,195 paid in the form of penalties by the 12 per cent of the drivers with "bad" driving records. Dallas motorists without the points benefit by $1,237,614. The savings for Bexar County motorists with clean driving records is $330,529.

"Texas now has a modern set of traffic safety laws and if they are obeyed by drivers and rigidly enforced at the state and local levels then we can expect to see a decrease in the number of traffic accidents. If this decrease is greater than the increase in accident cost, then it will be possible to grant even further reductions in automobile insurance rates," Mr. McLean noted and concluded, "In the final analysis the answer to what happens to automobile insurance rates rests squarely upon the shoulders of the driving public. The State Board of Insurance is quick to react to changing conditions, and it would give us the greatest of pleasure to be able to reduce automobile insurance rates when such a reduction is justified by facts and figures."

Omar Burleson, M. C. 17th District, Texas

Washington, D.C. — July 4th represents a moment in history too well known to bear mention. To call attention, however, to certain phenomena in relation to its origin and its ultimate achievement — the Declaration of Independence — may enhance the day's meaning.

The document was written in English. Of course, everyone is aware of this fact, but the thought has just occurred at this particular time as we approach Independence Day. "Why, we can ask ourselves, — 'Why English?' Why was it not written in French, Spanish, Dutch or Portuguese instead? All of these were ahead of the British.

The Portuguese had been entrenched on the Continent over a century before John Smith was born. France had its territories for decades before Plymouth Rock was even given its name. Spain, by then owned practically all of South and Central America, plus all of Texas and large areas around it. The Dutch were shipping cocoa in New Amsterdam long before the English changed the drink to tea and the name to New York. With all that competition, how did this country ever wind up in the English speaking column at all?

History suggests a number of reasons. The English, for example, were the only ones to bring their wives with them. Some other settlers did too, but it was the exception rather than the rule. Most of the original Latin-speaking residents were prisoners sent to the new Devils Island to satisfy their particular mon-arch's lust for power and gold. They mingled with the natives and produced a kind of nameless society and impermanent family unit. They were never really their own masters. It was the free English mother, who demanded for her children the schools, the churches and a sense of order, that did so much to stabilize this land.

Maybe there are other good explanations, but the one that touches us most is the realization that, of all the nations which sought to conquer this continent, England was the only one that carried out its colonization. It carried it out, not by kindly edict under the supervision of the Crown of England, but essentially civilian groups who pooled their assets to create the trading companies that privately finance their own development. Free men — risking their own capital in a venture for profit. That was the beginning. Under this particular system came a different breed of individual with a different set of concepts of how he wanted to live. This was the hearty, fearless, rugged individualists of days gone by. The inevitable by-product of this characterization was the emergence of a sense of ownership and the development of responsible government.

Under Constitutional Law. When the chips were down, these were the forces that won the final victory.

These were the people who won the final victory on the night of July 4, 1776. It was the night when a young patriot named Frances Scott Key, while a prisoner of the British on a ship in Chesapeake Bay, wrote on a piece of scrap paper "by the dawn's early light," when he saw the Star and Stripes above the Harbor of Baltimore City.

To remember and appreciate these incidents of our heritage, and to recognize the system of a free government under Constitutional Law, is to exercise our patriotism.

The system which gave us these things and established our nation was a philosophy which could not be beat then. It still can't.

Daniel Webster described this new government as "A more glorious edifice than Greece or Rome ever knew."

BEER CAN TABS

These tabs that come on today's beer cans can be useful to fishermen. If you drink beer—or have a friend who does—prel off this new-fangled beer can tab and screw it onto the front of your topwater lure. It makes a dandy lip. Adjust tab to proper angle and you can make the lure dive to new depths.

BASS LINE TROUBLE

Many fishermen complain that they have trouble with bass "cutting" their line. This is very unlikely. Most such trouble is due to a weakened front line. A chipped or roughened tip guide may be the cause. Cut off the front end of your line frequently and check your tip guide now and then. Do this and no doubt your trouble will disappear.

Ann Stewardson, DeWitt Dunaway Married in Local Ceremony June 17

MRS. DEWITT O. DUNAWAY

Miss Ann Stewardson, daughter of Mrs. Tom Stewardson and the late Tom Stewardson, was married to DeWitt O. Dunaway of Dallas Saturday, June 17, at 9:00 p. m. in the Northside Church of Christ. He is the son of Mrs. Elna Dunaway of Dallas and the late DeWitt O. Dunaway.

Paul Wallace, minister of the Austin Avenue Church of Christ in Brownwood, performed the double-ring ceremony. Miss Jana Marie Rudolph, at the organ, presented traditional wedding music and accompanied Caskey Livingston as he sang, "Because" and "Sweetest Story Ever Told."

For the ceremony, the center aisle of the church was illuminated by crystal votive lights, rising from clusters of stephanotis tied with satin streamers. The wedding party stood before a background of potted palms, centered by a large arrangement of white gladioli, with the area being illuminated by the many white tapers rising above the palms.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Tommy Stewardson, wore an A-line bridal gown of white satin. The empire bodice bell-shaped sleeves, and detachable train were of imported French lace. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was attached to a pill box hat, covered with pearl encrusted lace. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis, gypsophila, baby's breath and pink sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Leon Slusher, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a cape gown of hot pink satin and organza. Her headdress was a satin bow and her bouquet was a circular arrangement of stephanotis, baby's breath, gypsophila, pink sweetheart roses and carnations.

tered by an arrangement of pink roses and gypsophila, and illuminated by crystal votive lights.

Crystal hurricane lamps in tall wrought iron holders bordered the walkway to the receiving line and continued along the walk to the serving area.

HEALTH TIPS FROM AMA

The traditional, summer vacation of the American family is highly recommended by your doctor. The family needs to get away from customary home and office chores, forget day-to-day worries for a short time and generally get rejuvenated to face another year.

Whether your vacation will be a short trip to a nearby lake, camping out in a national park, a plane trip abroad, or what have you, there are a few things to keep in mind that will help avoid having the holiday spoiled by illness.

Depending on where you're going, you may need some vaccination shots. Tetanus, certainly, for anyone who expects to include some out-of-doors activities. Typhoid, if your journey includes areas where the water supply is uncertain. Smallpox, if you're planning to leave the United States to visit a foreign land. Ask your doctor about these, and possibly other, immunizations.

The American Medical Association suggests that you remind yourself to use common sense about your vacation diet. Many a family trip has been spoiled by too many roadside hamburgers and soft drinks. A solid rule while driving cross-country is to eat lightly, be cautious about heavy, rich meals, particularly if you're not accustomed to such fare at home.

Know what sort of climate you will encounter at your vacation spot and dress accordingly. It can get cold in the mountains at night, even in midsummer. Good walking shoes are important to the travel wardrobe.

If you wear glasses, take along an extra pair. Or at least a copy of your prescription. If you're taking a regular medication, make certain of your supply before you leave.

And, finally, don't overdo it. Almost no one other than a trained athlete is ready for 36 holes of golf or five sets of tennis under a broiling sun. Schedule your vacation to allow daily rest periods. Do most of the driving in the morning hours and stop for the evening in early or mid-afternoon.

Your vacation should be a holiday for rest and relaxation. It should not be a grind that necessitates another vacation to rest up from the vacation.

JULY PLENTIFULS START THE MONTH WITH A BANG

Colorful and nutritious foods will pop out all during July to make this month a blast, reports the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Celebrate Independence Day and the days that follow with such plentiful as turkey, lemons and limes, seasonal vegetables, dry beans and fish fillets and steaks.

Since July is both Summer Turkey Time and National Picnic Month, you will want to take advantage of the specials that will be appearing on picnic makings.

Substantially more turkey is expected to be marketed in July than in the same month last year, reports the U.S. Department of Agriculture. So, favorable consumer prices on turkey are in prospect for this summer. What a delightful change turkey sandwiches are!

This month's fresh vegetable production is expected to total about the same as last year. You can expect economical buys on sweet corn, tomatoes, snap beans, lettuce, cabbage, cucumbers, green peppers, onions and potatoes. Stock up on these seasonal favorites while the supply of fresh vegetables is at its seasonal peak.

Current inventories of frozen fish fillets and steaks are extremely heavy, reports USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service. Cold storage holdings are 24 per cent greater than the same date year ago. This is the opportunity to take advantage of the savings you can have on fish for fish sandwiches — an easy summer-time snack.

You will find that foods reported in plentiful supply are usually attractively priced with a wide selection of quality.

P & W Commission To Meet July 6

Austin — The three-man Parks and Wildlife Commission will hold its statutory quarterly meeting beginning at 9 a.m. July 6 in room 105 of the John H. Reagan Building, Austin.

High on the list of business to be conducted at the two-day meeting will be the proposed seasons, bag limits and means and methods of taking game and fish in 199 regulatory authority counties. This list includes Tom Green, Lampasas, and Comal counties which were added to list of regulatory counties by the last legislature.

The commission will also issue proclamations on the seasons and bag limits for hunting mourning and white-winged doves. Dove seasons and bag limits will be established within the framework set by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife of the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Read Luke 5:1-11

Simon Peter . . . fell down at Jesus' knees, saying, "Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, O Lord." (Luke 5:8, RSV)

These words of Peter spell out a cry from the depths of his conscience. He took Jesus seriously!

When you and I really see Jesus, He becomes not only admirable, but truly disturbing. We feel we cannot live beside Him and with ourselves at the same time, for Jesus reveals the living God.

Jesus believed in all mankind, and His warmth and appeal captured people. He was more than a teacher. He was a doer. He stressed repentance and humility, sincerity and self-sacrifice.

Would we welcome Jesus into our lives and homes if He were to appear today? Would we want him to stay awhile and meet our closest friends? Would we be glad when He left?

Each of us desperately needs to take Jesus seriously. We need to make room for Him in our lives, to accept Him as the interpreter of our faith.

PRAYER:
Dear Christ, of the common way, we thank Thee for Thy compassion for all men. Thine awareness of ordinary people. Lead us to know Thee as our Savior, our vision of the eternal. In thy name we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY:
I will consecrate my life in communion with the living Christ.

THERE ARE TWO Sides TO THIS STORY

This story is about newspaper advertising and how it serves TWO ways. It begins in the home where the lady-in-a-mood to buy starts her shopping by studying the ads in this newspaper to see where the best buys are.

The story continues in the advertiser's store where the lady comes to buy what she saw advertised.

Newspaper advertising helps the shopper to buy more wisely — helps the advertiser to sell more successfully. Yes, there are two sides to this story . . . and BOTH are good!
