and state road engineers denied any knowledge of such a plan as they argued here over previously staked routes. Now where does that leave us?

Perhaps Big Spring and Howard county might as well stop worrying about this section and turn attention to important roads to Garden City and to Snyder. Glasscock and Scurry counties likely would be interested in talking over such projects.

Are our woes economic? Dr. Thomas Taylor, president of Howard Payne college scoffed effectively at the idea in a witticism here last week. Said Dr. Taylor, "The most pressing problem is not economic. The biggest problem is the parking problem."

Last week the city, in announcing a hearing on water rights of Moss creek, indicated its plan to go eastward to solve the water supply problem. Listed in the announcement were specifications for a dam below Moss Springs. This would be 47 feet high, would impound a lake with an average width of one-sixth of a mile and a length of about one and a half miles.

While this was interesting, it was nothing like the impression created by an off-the-record comment that the city likely would have enough on hand to impound another dam of almost similar proportions. This dam would be within a radius of about five miles of the first and could be easily boosted into the original basin for pumping to Big Spring. In addition, there are sites for one or two other small lakes which would greatly augment the municipal water supply.

The beauty of an adequate surface supply might be summed up like this in "wet" years, when lakes are brimming full, the city could pump them constantly, not drawing on its wells for one drop of water. Should this "wet" cycle continue over a period of about three years, an estimated 600,000,000 gallons would have been added to the underground supply to tide the town over in dry seasons when lakes would not fill rapidly.

Right now the Howard County Tuberculosis association is in the midst of its annual campaign to sell Christmas seals, with which to finance its work for the year. Although not much is said about the association, it does one of the most creditable pieces of work of any organization in the county. It well deserves your support.

Monday will begin the final week of district court over which Judge Charles L. Klapproth has presided for three terms. The grand jury paid a fitting tribute to the judge last week in its report. To those who have seen him preside over his court here for the past five years, his determination to and knack for administering justice, in the fullest sense of the word, has been a bulwark of his strength on the bench. In private life he has earned added respect by always aligning himself with worthwhile and enduring causes. So Judge Klapproth quits cum laude.

Suit Filed In Sale Of Van Sweringen Rail Empire

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Purchasers of the 23,000-mile Van Sweringen railroad empire, saying they paid too much for it, today sued the man from whom they bought it—George A. Ball, 76-year-old Muncie, Ind., fruit jar manufacturer and capitalist—in an effort to get back $5,000,000 of their money.

The suit, filed in federal court, was brought by Robert R. Young, Newport, R. I., Allan P. Kirby, Convent, N. J., and the Seaboard Company, Ltd., of Nassau, Bahamas Islands, under the Federal Securities Exchange act of 1934. It asks $5,000,000 damages on grounds that Ball, after control of the vast rail empire was dumped into his lap by death of the Van Sweringen brothers, violated the securities act by engaging in certain transactions on the New York Stock exchange for the purpose of creating "both actual and apparent active trading in the securities of the Allegheny corporation," parent of Van Sweringen company.

A Typical Buffalo Hunt

BY JOHN R. HUTTO

(As a follow-up to his recent series of articles on buffalo hunting in the early range days, John R. Hutto, special writer for The Herald, today presents the following interview with a man who gives a first-hand account of a buffalo hunt.—Editor's Note.)

Some years ago the writer took his little portable typewriter and wandered off down to the home of "Old Brother Tatum," who at that time lived in Abilene, to interview him on the question of buffalo hunting. I found him very communicative and I regarded his words dependable, even if it did shock my credulity a bit when he spoke of "a sea of buffaloes." But later investigations have confirmed the possibility and truthfulness of his statements.

Benjamin Franklin Tatum was born in Dade county, Missouri, and came to Grayson county in 1861 when that country was on the frontier of Texas. Panthers, deer, wild turkeys and other wild game were as plentiful there as in our own West two decades later. Before reaching manhood he moved to Waco where he heard much of the West, and especially of buffalo hunting. Since childhood young Tatum had been accustomed to the use of the gun. He had had many experiences in hunting, but he declared he wanted the novelty of a buffalo hunt to round out his hunting experience. He and his brother Louis and "Old Bro. Harris" made up the hunting party. His story follows:

Arms and Supplies

"We left Waco on the first day of December, 1876. We had two wagons pulled by good mules, were well armed with Winchester, six-shooters, butcher knives, whet-stones, and had enough flour, meat, coffee, sugar, salt and pepper to last for weeks. We also carried ten bushels of corn to the wagon to feed our teams after we got out of range of the settlements.

"From Waco we came by the way of Bosqueville, Breckenridge, and on to Fort Griffin. That was a wild and woolly town at that time. Lots of rough people lived there. The government was keeping the last remnant of the Tonkawa Indians there. They used them as guides. Fort Griffin was the site of a United States army post. The Comanches were especially warlike in those days and the presence of the soldiers was supposed to restrain them in their violence. One of the Tonkawas came into our camp and said: 'Me no bad man, me love white man. Comanches no love white man.' He warned us about going farther west without guides. But we were bent on the hunt and paid no attention to his warning. At Griffin we were joined by a man by the name of Weaver and four other wagons.

On Dead Man Creek

"We left Fort Griffin over the Chisholm trail and camped the first night on Dead Man creek near Fort Phantom Hill. Many years before a United States soldier was frozen to death on that stream and was buried on the spot. That's why it is called Dead Man. His grave was marked by a pile of rocks. I was scared that night, possibly because we were so close to that man's grave. I would have felt more comfortable at home with my wife and baby.

"The second night out we camped about five miles north of the present town of Merkel where I killed my first deer on the trip. A band of Indians passed near our camp, but did not disturb us. A little farther on these Indians were fired on by a group of buffalo hunters who chased them into the mountains. The following night we camped out between the present towns of Sweetwater and Roscoe. That night a roaring norther blew up and we nearly froze to death.

A Sea of Buffaloes

"The next day, out about where Loraine is, we struck our first buffaloes. As we traveled on they reached thousands, just a sea of them as far as you could see. They would give way just like cattle and pass around our wagons. It took us three days to go through that herd of buffaloes. They were very deliberately traveling a southerly direction. We camped on Champion creek about 15 miles south of the present town of Colorado where we remained for a week.

For His Own Use

"On Champion creek we joined an old buffalo hunter by the name of Underwood. He used a Sharp and Creedmore rifle which weighed about 15 pounds and was a one-shot breech loading gun. We had Winchester rifles, but Underwood told us they were too light for buffaloes. A shot from our guns would make little impression on a buffalo bull's head. The skull is very thick and tough and too the forehead is covered with a heavy mop of hair which is always caked with a heavy coating of dirt. The Indians used the hide from the buffalo head for shields, and no Roman soldier ever had a better one.

Charge of the Bison

"On the last day we were out I saw an immense herd of buffaloes, no less than five thousand, headed right toward me, coming with all their might. I thought my time had come. I had heard that they would run right over a wagon. When they were a short distance away I reached for my rifle and I intended to shoot the leading bull, but they must have seen me for they parted and passed on both sides of my wagon, less than twenty feet away. The ground shook under them and the noise was deafening and sounded almost like thunder. As they approached Underwood's camp he shot the leading bull and the whole herd stopped and began milling around the dead animal. Every time the animals looked like they were going to be lead away by a bull Underwood simply shot the leader; then the others would mill around, making a terrible bellowing noise. He stood right there and killed all the boys could skin all day. They looked mighty dangerous to me, the old bull coming at full speed with that mop dangling in the air.

Valuable Hides, Meat

"There were buffaloes of all ages, calves, yearlings and cows. The older animals were brownish in color while the calves were much lighter in color. The hides were covered with a fine coat and the winter hides made fine robes. They were worth from $1.50 to $2.50 each. The principal market was Fort Griffin. The ground was covered with the carcasses of those dead buffaloes and but few of them were ever touched except by wolves. It was a pity the government did not put some restrictions on such a wanton destruction of the buffalo.

"There were buffalo camps all over the country, so ours was one among many. Since a buffalo was as easily killed as a cow, there was no sport in killing the animal. Except for a few for our own personal use, we were not interested in the hides. Since Underwood wanted only the hides and we were after the meat, it was no trouble to make a trade with him. He had two skinner who were kept busy from daylight till dark. Underwood suggested that if we would haul his hides to the camp he would select the best and fatter animals for our meat, and he kept his word. We cut out a strip along the backbone about three feet long, from three to six inches thick, and about eight inches wide. It had a streak of lean and a streak of fat and was as fine as a man ever ate. We also selected hind-quarters, humps, and tongues. When the meat was brought into camp we would spread it out on buffalo hides, salt it and let the blood run out. When the meat was put in the wagon we salted it again. The weather was cold and the meat froze and was in perfect condition when we reached home."

When Rev. Tatum was asked if his party wanted the meat for market, he replied: "No indeed. I could have sold that meat for $500 but I wanted it for my own family. By actual weight each wagon contained 1,800 pounds of meat, eighty-five buffalo tongues, and five buffalo hides. That was a pretty heavy load, but we had good teams. We returned by way of Buffalo Gap where we spent one night. Out from Waco 120 miles I left the wagon with my brother and I walked in. The first day I covered 40 miles, ran down hill and walked up, of course. Where I stopped over at night, the people kept me up until after 12 o'clock asking questions about buffalo hunting and the West.

"The wagons reached Waco January 6th. Wife and I washed all the brine off the meat, dissolved all the salt possible in boiling water, and dipped the meat in that brine. We then hung it up in the smokehouse and smoked it just like we did bacon, and we never lost one ounce. It remained just as sweet as canvas ham. Of course we let our neighbors have some and swapped some for bacon, just for accommodation, but as I said, I could have sold it at 30c a pound, but I got it for my own family."

NEW SAFETY POSTER DISTRIBUTED TO SCHOOL PUPILS

Third in a series of traffic posters are being distributed to local schools to caution children to walk on the left side of rural roads.

The characters of the "Old Woman who lived in the shoe" are employed on the placard to get over the advice to always face traffic when walking on a rural road. This is to impress the children that last year 7,250 pedestrians literally "walked into death" on rural roads said E. B. Whaley, representing the South Plains Automobile club which is distributing the posters.

This week the club's dual control car will be here for another series of instruction to students wishing to learn the fine points of how to drive safely. A similar course is planned for the majority of rural schools in the county, said Whaley.

BOWL-BOUND CHRISTIANS SMOTHER SMU MUSTANGS, 20 TO 7

O'BRIEN AND MATES USE GROUND POWER FOR TENTH WIN

By FELIX H. MCKNIGHT
DALLAS, Nov. 26 (AP) — Unbridled Texas Christian nailed up its regular season today with a sledge-hammer lick that felled Southern Methodist, 20-7, won the Southwest Conference title and lifted the hook for 'phone calls from Pasadena.

Tenth victim of the Southwest's finest team of history, the Methodists, as expected, were the toughest on the list and gave up only after sending 24,000 numbered fans into a dither in the closing period.

Little David O'Brien, operating behind seven goliaths up in the line, brought out his passing wizardry only occasionally in the bristling wind but he personally led a ground game that netted two touchdowns and 231 yards.

Once the little fellow warmed up his passing arm and heaved 25 yards to Johnny Hall, halfback, who went ten more for a touchdown in a half-trot. But for the main, he stuck to the ground and with Sophomore Connie Sparks, and Halfbacks Hall and Clark, rode rousing excursions through the Mustang wall.

Day post-season classic at Dallas, issued an invitation to the Christians but a reply was not expected for several days.

The hustle that made Southern Methodist, undefeated in Southwest conference play until today, a dangerous outfit, brought in their only touchdown.

Only 13 minutes remained and they trailed, 20-0, when a swarm of Methodists led by Jack Sanders, big tackle, poured in on Connie Sparks as he attempted to kick from his own 32 into the goal. The kick was blocked and Bob Collins, reserve end, caught it on the bounce and plunged on 18 yards for the touchdown.

Three times the Christians drove deep into Methodist ground for what seemed more touchdowns, but end, went out with a severe leg injury after he had tackled O'Brien on a line plunge.

Ten minutes after the kickoff the Christians fell in behind O'Brien and marched 36 yards on 14 plays for the first touchdown, using, incidentally, only one of their famed passes.

The Methodists resisted on the three-yard line, holding Sparks twice before he finally plowed over. O'Brien kicked the point.

Rangy Don Looney, great Christian left end, threw in a rowdy tackle that set up the second Christian score.

He slammed Malouf on the Methodist 36 after he had bagged Sparks' long kick and the Methodist

Rose Bowl Is First Choice Of Frogs

Southwest Champs Ready To Head For Pasadena

DALLAS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Over ten tough hurdles and with the Southwest Conference title in their pockets, Texas Christian's mighty Horned Frogs tonight started thinking about a New Year's Day game.

No official comment was forthcoming, but from authoritative sources came the word that the Christians—should they receive invitations—would vote in this order:

1. Rose Bowl.
2. Sugar Bowl.
3. Cotton Bowl.

Immediately after the triumph over Southern Methodist today, 20-7, the Christians streamed into the dressing room and in a quick vote assured Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer they wanted to play in Pasadena's Rose Bowl if the opportunity came their way.

"Would we go to the Rose Bowl? Boy we'd go right now if they'd have us," said Davey O'Brien, the team's All-American candidate.

And he might as well have been speaking for the whole band of Christians.

The boys made no bones about their Rose Bowl inclinations.

Even Coach Meyer spoke out for the first time this year: "We definitely want that Rose Bowl assignment and hope it comes our way." Whatever thoughts he had about the Cotton Bowl, Dallas' own New Year's football spectacle, he kept to himself.

J. Curtis Sanford, director general of Dallas Cotton Bowl Athletic association, tended a written invitation to the Christians to play in the Cotton Bowl. No reply was given and indications were it would be withheld for several days.

Cowboys Seek A Berth In Border Loop

Formal Application Sent In By Hardin-Simmons

ABILENE, Nov. 26 — Hardin-Simmons university, after four years of successful free landing in the football field, hopes to land a berth in the Border conference, at its mid-winter meeting in El Paso next month.

Dr. Rupert N. Richardson, executive vice president, has forwarded the H-SU former application to C. Z. Lecher, at the University of Arizona, Border conference secretary-treasurer.

The Border conference has gained considerable prestige the past two seasons, through its enviable record in inter-sectional warfare.

Texas Tech, 1937 winner, is not defending its title this season, playing only two conference games, with the Texas School of Mines and the University of Mexico.

Other schools in the Border loop are the University of Arizona, Texas School of Mines, New Mexico A. & M., University of New Mexico, Arizona State at Flagstaff and Arizona State at Tempe.

Tennessee farm women are estimated to have saved $8,000 in a year's time by making their own bed mattresses.

'They Have Everything It Takes,' Says Matty Bell Of The Frogs

DALLAS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Sad but unshamed, the Southern Methodist Mustangs trooped into their dressing room to consider in silence the 20-7 plastering they took from Texas Christian today.

Nothing was uttered until Coach Matty Bell entered.

He signalled out several of the Mustangs with:

"Good game."
"There was a mumble of voices but little talk about the game."
"And why shouldn't they have a great team," Bell exploded when asked his opinion of the Horned Frogs. "They have everything it takes—big, fast boys, passing, punting, running."

"Could they beat Pittsburgh? Well, I think so. They are better all around—maybe not as good on the ground but better in other ways."
"They just had too much power for us. I had really expected to beat them but they were too good. Of course we had bad breaks against us but they had a better team. My boys did well—oh, they had the trouble sophomores always have—but I thought they played a great game."

Billy Dewell, who played a star game at end, said the Frogs were the best team he had seen since the TCU and SMU aggregations of 1935.

Center Raymond Pope said they were the best he'd played against—and he was in the Mustang line-up against Pitt. "But," he added

Fights Climax Bitter LSU-Tulane Battle

Tulane Emerges With Big End Of 14-0 Score

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 26 (AP)—Tulane's fast football team trounced Louisiana State today, 14 to 0, before 40,000 fans in a rough game climaxed by general fighting among fans and players.

The Tigers could do nothing to stop Tulane's shifty halfbacks, Bob Kellogg and Fred Casibry who scored a touchdown apiece.

The game was one of the fiercest, Bronco Brunner, Tulane's brilliant back, and Jack Staples, Tiger fullback, were carried from the field with injuries.

In the fourth quarter, officials ousted James Stiel, Tiger halfback, and Tom O'Boyle, Tulane guard, for swapping punches. The Tigers were penalized for clipping.

necessary roughness and slugging. Bruce Hedrick, L. S. U. field general, was put out on the slugging charge.

Then the players cut loose with wallops. Fans streamed out of the stands, some with sections of stands used as clubs.

Coaches quieted the fighting, a few more plays were run, the last whistle blew, some Tulane admirers ripped up the Tiger goalposts and the battling started all over again. It went on till darkness put an end to it.

Tulane, its second team driving with power, got down to business in the second period. The Greenies marched 69 yards, Casibry scoring on a run wide around end. Kellogg converted.

Shortly after the second half began Kellogg shot a beautiful pass on fourth down to Paul Krueger, Tulane end, for first down on the L. S. U. six. Kellogg scampered through tackle for a touchdown. He also converted.

The Forsanites intend to enter their second tournament of the new season this weekend and intend to get several weeks of tournament play before the Christmas holidays.

They were eliminated from the Blackwell meeting last weekend by Highland after winning their first game from Bayou.

After the TCU-SMU game is over, Bell always is the first to wish Dutch good luck with the Frogs—provided the Frogs have won. Three years ago it was the other way around when SMU knocked the Christians out of a Rose Bowl trip, getting it themselves.

History reversed itself today—maybe.

Leads Baylor To 21-6 Win Over Rice

Bears Have Lain Passing To Ineligible Receiver

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS
HOUSTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—That lank and lean kid, Billy Patterson, should get his degree in football at Baylor university Monday because he rounded out his required three years of varsity football today by passing, kicking and running Rice Institute ragged and leading his team to a 21-6 victory.

Rice loses Ball
Patterson and Sam Boyd, end, had Rice so befuddled when the game was in the last quarter that Ernie Lain, Rice's great passer, was passing to Ken Whitlow, Rice center, and twice Rice lost the ball because Whitlow was ineligible to receive passes.

Patterson set up the first Baylor touchdown in the first quarter by a series of forward passes that carried to the Rice three-yard stripe. Milton Merka, Baylor fullback, smashed over for the score.

In the third period Rice was penalized half the distance to its goal line, giving Baylor the ball and a first down on the Rice 19.

Bulet Bill and Fred Graham hacked at the Rice line, pulling up with a first down on the Rice nine. Patterson on fourth down passed to Boyd for Baylor's second touchdown.

In the last period Rice got the ball on their own 35 and Lain passed to Walter Williams, end, who was downed on the Rice 49.

Patterson on the next play intercepted Lain's pass on the Baylor 18 and kicked to E. Y. Steakley on the Rice 20.

Lain, rushed, passed to Center Whitlow, who ran and then lateraled to another Rice man deep in Baylor territory. The referee caught sight of the rule violation and called the play back and gave Baylor the ball on the Rice 30, because of the ineligible receiver.

Lain Is Rushed
Patterson passed to Boyd on the Rice 18, then shot one to Malcolm Linder, sub Baylor back, who was standing on the Rice eight and sped over the goal.

Robert Nelson kicked the extra point, just as he had the two previous ones.

Later the Baylor line rushed Lain and pinned his ears back on the Baylor 30.

That was the crowning blow. Lain threw another pass to Whitlow this time on the Baylor 28 yard line. Baylor again was given the ball.

Rice scored its touchdown in the second period, when big Moose Hartmann, Rice lineman, intercepted a lateral on the Baylor 45 and ran for the score. Landry missed the try from placement.

Raiders Chalk Up 10th Win, Licking Marquette 21-2

LUBBOCK, Nov. 26 (AP)—Texas Tech's smearing Red Raiders struck with unconquerable ground and aerial power in the first and third periods here today to smash Marquette University, 21 to 2.

The victory gave the Raiders their tenth consecutive win and allowed them to remain untied and undefeated with only Centenary College remaining on their schedule.

Marquette, much larger than the Raiders, made several gallant bids for touchdowns, but each time the Raiders, made several gallant bids but each time the stout-hearted Raider line would swallow, bear down a little harder and drive the Golden Avalanche attack back.

An estimated crowd of ten thousand and saw Elmer Tarbox, Gene Barnett and Jodie Marek, backs, and Line Captain Abe Murphy turn in sensational gains for the Red Raiders.

Marquette made several gallant bids but each time the stout-hearted Raider line drove the Golden Avalanche back.

The Raiders started their scoring quickly after an exchange of punts. Coldagelli fumbled on Marquette's five and Prince Scott, brilliant Tech wingman, pounced on the ball. On the third down, Gene Barnett swept end and went over the goal line and Jodie Marek kicked conversion.

50 Yard Run
Late in the first period, Tech scored its second touchdown when Barnett shot a five yard pass to Elmer Tarbox who weaved through a broken field for fifty yards and a touchdown. Marek kicked conversion.

Marquette scored a safety in the second period when Busler blocked Marek's attempted punt behind the goal line. Marek picked up the ball but was tackled by Busler.

The Raiders lost no time in striking pay dirt when Gene Barnett completed a 32 yard pass to George Webb, end, who raced five yards for the touchdown. Marek kicked the conversion to give Tech a 21 to 2 lead.

The Golden Avalanche completed a pass over the goal line in the last period but it was called back because Marquette was caught holding.

HOLY CROSS WINS
BOSTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—The powerful Holy Cross Crusaders, apparently inspired by the wavering attitude of Coach Eddie Anderson toward his lucrative Iowa bid, today smote the Boston college Eagles for a 23-7 victory before 35,000 chilled football fans.

Duke Whips Pitt, Keeps Record Clean; Army Trims Navy

THE SPORTS PARADE

by HANK HART

Jack Hutchison, the Monahans druggist who introduced professional baseball here last year, then turned his franchise over to a local corporation to remain simply as a stockholder, passed in Big Spring Friday long enough to inform that he was going to represent Big Spring at the minor league meeting in New Orleans, which gets underway in the Crescent City Dec. 7. That's good news for it appeared for a while that Big Spring would not have a delegate on hand for the all-important confab. Jack is still very interested in the game and wants very much to see it succeed in Big Spring. He called President R. L. Cook off to one side and Cook produced the statement that the directors would meet immediately after Jack returned to discuss plans for the 1939 season. Jack has been ill of late but his health is improving. He says he conferred with Joe Devine, the Yankee scout who stopped off in Big Spring a couple of days last summer to watch Johnny Soden swirl in Monahans not long ago and a working agreement with the Yankees is not impossible. The mere thought of a hookup with the world champs is beautiful. According to Joe the Yankees are not at all satisfied with El Paso, their farm club of the past two seasons, are looking around or all possibilities.

Miller Harris, the Crane Permian Basin league fence buster, dropped around over the weekend to query as to Big Spring's plans for 1939 and one gets the impression that Miller is very interested. Th old Bambino visited 347 and played a great outfield for the Cranes last season and has had experience as a manager. He has made no application for the pilot's job here but why not? There's another old baseball head who doesn't turn a deaf ear to the old hot stoving, either. That party is Sammy Sain, the grand old infielder who has seen plenty of action in the money ranks. Sammy likes the local setup no little. Al Berndt, the Bronco catcher, and Harry Siebert, first sacker and Berndt's room mate here, write to tell of anxiousness to get in harness again. Al's wintering in Yakima, Wash., while Harry's home is in Chicago, Ill. Siebert has been troubled by various illnesses and aches of late but seems to be recovering. The rumor drifted in that Soden, the great little fliker, had sliced a thumb off while working but a checkup revealed that the member party is Sammy Sain, the grand old infielder who has seen plenty Bill Ramsey, the big, big shot of the Breckenridge Buckaroos, probably gained himself an all-state berth by scoring all the touchdowns in the 52-7 rout of the Sweetwater Mustangs Friday in the game at Breck. If the Odessa Bronchos should be declared District Four champion they've been promised a trip to the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day. Bill Tate, who sat in at Lubbock Friday to give Lubbock's Westerners and the Amarillo Sandies the double-o says that Blazin' Bill Thompson is a better back than is Walter "Jumbo" Webster. Thompson is one of the fastest backs in football today, Tate informs, several times caught touch-downs behind Lubbock players from behind. Stormy Thompson, local refinery employe, once played center for the West Texas Buffaloes, later did a coaching turn at Bowie before coming here. Outstanding favorites to cop Class A laurels in the state playoff at the present time in this department's books are Vernon, Breckenridge and Lubbock which look stronger than Lufkin, Temple, Highland Park or Masonic Home. An interested party recently called the desk to find out if Ernie Lain made the All-Southwest conference eleven last year. According to the Associated Press, considered by many the official selection, Ernie did not. Davy O'Brien, TCU, Billy Patterson, Baylor, Dick Todd, A&M, and Hugh Wolfe, Texas, composed the backfield.

Blocked Punt Gives Devils 7-0 Victory

Wade Eleven Only One In Nation Not Yielding A Score

By DREW MIDDLETON
DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 26 (AP) — Stocky Willard Perdue of Duke smashed through the weary Pittsburgh line and into football immortality today.

Record Kept Perfect
The Duke end, alternate blocking back a year ago, banged into one of John Chickener's frequent punts from the snow-covered end zone grabbed it on the bounce and scored the touchdown that defeated mighty Pitt for the Blue Devils, 7 to 0, and ended the most remarkable season in the history of Duke football.

The touchdown, scored on the fifth play of the fourth quarter, was enough to send the 52,000 spectators into transports of joy and maintain the Blue Devils' position as the nation's only major undefeated, untied, unscored on eleven. As the crowd, largest in southern gridiron history, filed out through the snow storm that had swirled into the stadium this morning, there was talk of the Rose Bowl, the Sugar Bowl and almost every post-season fixture.

Punting De Luxe
But if Perdue's touchdown won the game, the trusty right foot of Eric (The Red) Tipton saved it. The senior tailback on Wallace Wade's 20th and greatest eleven kept the Blue Devils in and the Panthers out of the ball game with 20 punts that averaged 29.4 yards from scrimmage and which held the weary Pittsburgh backs pinned in their own territory in the last quarter.

By then Jack Sutherland's eleven, which played through with only six substitutes, was dog tired. Twice in the first half it had hit terrifically hard for touchdowns, the great Marshall Goldberg leading the attacks with reckless running and deadly blocking. Each time the surge fell short. The solid, newsworthy Duke line halted the first savage charge on the 32. The second failed when Larry Peace, replacement for the injured Goldberg fumbled on the 19. Goldberg was the spearhead of each drive.

BETTER'N BAUGH

DALLAS, Nov. 26 (AP) — Wec David O'Brien, Texas Christian's 120-pound candidate for All-America honors, finished his forward passing chores today—and figures prove him better than Slingin' Sam Baugh, his predecessor.

The little man hurled 167 passes, in 10 games—and only four of them were intercepted. He completed 85 of them for 1,050 yards and 19 touchdowns, or a neat percentage of .857. It took Baugh 11 games in 1936 to hurl 13 scoring passes.

Dartmouth Is Upset Victim Of Stanford

Eastern Team Takes A Whipping In 4th Quarter Flurry

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 26 (AP) — Stanford's Red Indians, one of the dormants of the Coast conference this year, beaten six times and expected to take another licking, provided a stunning climax to an otherwise dull football season with a 23 to 13 victory over the green-jerseyed warriors of Dartmouth.

For three periods Stanford clung to a one-point lead. In the last quarter, the game switched from a close, straight encounter, to a rout, with Stanford pounding and passing to the nine more points and a convincing decision over the runner-up for the Ivy league championship.

Stanford's first touchdown came on a lateral to Byron West, tackle, on the 20 from Halfback Pete Fay, who had just snared a pass. West scored unblemished. In the second Dartmouth scored on a 66-yard drive, but Stanford came back in the third on passes to put the ball on the three, and Quarterback Standee scored. Dartmouth scored next on Mas-Leod's 55-yard run with a pass. Stanford retaliated in the fourth period with a 70-yard drive for a score, and then the winner got two more points on a Dartmouth pass which fell behind the goal line.

102,000 Watch Middies Lose 14-7 Battle

Fumble Sets Stage For Cadets' Winning Tally

By PAUL MCKELSON
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26 (AP) — Army bounced off the ropes with a recovered fumble and a devastating 81-yard march in the third period today to sweep Navy's hard fighting, never surrendering football forces into defeat, 14-7, before 102,000 half frozen fans at Philadelphia Municipal stadium.

70-Yard Return
The victory was 22nd for the Cadets in a series of 29. Navy had fought back to gain a tie at 7-all and was driving deep in Army territory when one of its hero's of the game, Emmett Wood of Wilkesburg, Pa., fumbled. Harry Stella, Cadet guard from Kankakee, Ill., recovered and the stage was set for the merciless drive that meant victory.

Army, off to a lead in the first period when Charley (Huey) Long of Chevy Chase, Md., raced back a punt return for 79 yards and the first touchdown, was beaten and sored when the big break came. Navy had outplayed the Cadets so badly that their backs only ran one play from scrimmage in the second period as the Middies clinched a 50-yard drive by land and air to score and then came back to shove the West Pointers back to their 17-yard line for a first down.

Wood was a bit too anxious as he grabbed the leather and prepared to hit the line. The ball squirmed out of his numbed hands and Stella played later and the Army backs, reinforced by Sydney Martin of Gilmer, Texas, who made 46 yards on the first two plays, rode over

DUKE, TEXAS CHRISTIAN STAY IN LINE FOR A BOWL INVITE

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—Duke's Blue Devils, the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian university and the gray-clad Cadets of the United States Military Academy waded through the snow and mud of the last big Saturday of the 1938 football season to greater gridiron fame today.

Duke completed an undefeated, untied and unscored-on season with a rather surprising 7-0 conquest of Pittsburgh, one of the east's strongest teams, before a southern record crowd of 52,000 spectators. T. C. U. finished a perfect season by routing Southern Methodist, its only challenger for the conference title, 20 to 7.

The season's largest football crowd, 102,000, in the Philadelphia municipal stadium, saw Army wipe out those two defeats that marred an ordinary season by whipping Navy 14 to 7 in the 29th game of the colorful service rivalry.

Cadets' Come Back
The Cadets staged a remarkable comeback to score their winning touchdown on an uninterrupted 81-yard march in the third quarter after Navy had pushed them all over the frozen field to tie the score at 7-7 in the first. A 79-yard runback of a punt by Charles (Huey) Long, brought the first Army score.

Duke's Eric (The Red) Tipton virtually kicked Pitt into defeat with booming punts that set the Panthers back toward their goal line, but it was Willard Perdue who finished the job of making it a perfect season. He blocked a punt and recovered it for the only touchdown that made the Blue Devils likely candidates for an invitation to play in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

Texas Christian also got in line for a bowl bid by overpowering S. M. U. Connie Sparks blasted the Mustang line and Davey O'Brien tossed troublesome passes behind the big Horned Frog line and it was all over before the Methodists could score on a blocked kick in the last quarter.

Another Ahead for O. U.
Texas Tech rang up the tenth victory of an undefeated, untied season by whipping Marquette 21 to 2. Oklahoma's Sooners, who have one more game to play, rang up their 13th straight victory and their ninth this season by beating Oklahoma A and M, 19-0. Boston College, twice tied, met its first defeat of the season when Holy Cross, paced by Bullet Bill Osmanski and Ronnie Cahill, smashed its way to a 29-7 victory in a renewal of one of the east's old rivalries.

Fortham's Rams picked up a little glory by whipping their Bronx rival, New York university, 25-0. Mississippi earned a chance to claim some of Tennessee's honors in the Southeastern conference by trimming Mississippi State 19-6. Ole Miss plays Tennessee next week and could earn approximately equal status by upsetting the unbeaten Vols. Tulane's Greenies moved up just behind Mississippi and even with Alabama in the conference standing by trimming Louisiana State 14-0.

Florida's Gators brought about one of the big upsets of the conference campaign when they stood off Auburn's attack and finally beat the Plainsmen 9-7, on a blocked punt in the last quarter. Georgia and Georgia Tech played a scoreless tie in the other Southeastern game.

Upset In West
Stanford's Indians, who had a miserable season in the Pacific Coast conference, pulled off the day's outstanding "upset" when they beat Dartmouth, a power in the east, 23 to 13. The Indians finally got their scoring plays to work and after maintaining a one-point margin through three periods, drove 70 yards for a final tally and added a safety when a Dartmouth pass was incomplete behind the goal line. The scoring in the first three quarters was done mostly through the air.

Oregon State crashed through in the last period to beat Oregon 14-0 while Washington trounced Washington State 26-0 in Pacific Coast conference tussles.

COWBOYS, JACKETS CLASH SATURDAY

ABILENE, Nov. 26—With six wins in a row under their belts, the Hardin Simmons Cowboys looked today to their season's finale, a clash next Saturday with their arch foe, and traditional nemesis, the Howard Payne Yellow Jackets. The game, to be played at Brownwood, is the annual homecoming for Howard Payne.

BOSTICK BIGGEST GAINER FOR THE

Biggest ground gainer of the Big Spring high school football team this fall was Alton Bostick, 155-pound quarterback, records bore out in a recent check. Alton, running with the oval 76 times in eight games (statistics not available on the Austin hi game) picked up a total of 327 yards for an average gain of 4.14 yards.

Lefty Bethell, who did not get into the first two games as a multi-carrier, hoped for 136 yards in 79 tries for an average gain of 3.23 yards, while Ross Callahan in 56 attempts made 176 yards or about five yards per try.

D. R. Gartman gained 22 yards in 17 tries, Johnny Miller 32 yards in 18 tries and Bobby Martin 16 yards in five tries.

Bostick took care of the team's passing and contributed nobly. He tossed 129 passes, completed 41 for a total gain of 538 yards which is some tossing in any season.

In scrimmage gains the foes collected 1,219 yards from scrimmage while the Steers were advancing 1,018 yards. In the passing game, however, the outlook was better. Bostick and company gained 712 yards in the nine games to 298 yards for the opposition.

In those nine games the Herd lost 85 yards from scrimmage while the opposition dropped but 79.

GROUND STEERS

FORDHAMS CRUSH VIOLETS, 25-0

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP) — The once-beaten Fordham Rams kept alive their bowl hopes by pile driving the New York university Violets, 25 to 0, in the final game today before 50,000 frost-bitten spectators in Yankee stadium.

Wearing basketball sneakers for half the game to avoid blistering on the icy grass, Fordham's plunking buses socked swiftly for two touchdowns in the opening quarter and finished with a couple more in the fourth.

There was no question of the result after Don Fringer, big Fordham fullback, charged across the goal line to climax a 24-yard drive in the opening minutes.

REVOLTA LEADS

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 26 (AP)—Johnny Trevino, Johnny Evansville (Ind.) pro, scored a 69 trophy to his first round 67 to take a five-act race lead over the field in the $5,000 Columbia-Rugwood open golf tournament.

Playing a deadly accurate game, Revolta established himself apparently as the man to beat in tomorrow's final for the first place money of $1,200.

His three nearest rivals were Ben Hogan, White Plains, N. Y.; Jimmy Hines of Great Neck, L. I.; and John Meluire of Girard, Ohio, who were dead-locked at 141.

Sooners Hang Up Another Victory

Oklahoma Aggies Victims This Time, 19-0

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 26 (AP) — Oklahoma's Sooners, unbeaten champions of the Big Six, traveled the air lines today to a 19-0 victory over the Oklahoma Aggies before 9,000 silvering fans.

Stymied on the ground by a stern Aggie line, the Sooners took to the air to set the stage for two touchdowns in the second period and added an end zone pass for the third in the last quarter.

The first touchdown came in the second period when Bob Seymour drove over from the 6-yard line. Two passes, Hugh McCullough to Frank Ivy for 17 yards and McCullough to Dick Farrow for 21, late in the first quarter, set the ball in striking distance.

Later in the same period, from the Argie 47, Otis Rogers tossed two passes to Gene Corrotto, one for 5 yards and one for 29, which carried Oklahoma to the 8-yard stripe. Rogers went over from the 4.

Early in the final period, Rogers shot a pass for 17 yards to Jennings in the end zone.

The victory was the ninth of the year for the Sooners, who still have Washington State to play.

AUBURN UPSET

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 26 (AP)—Florida's football team attacked today with all the fury stored up through a disappointing season and downed Auburn, 9 to 7, in a major upset. A blocked punt, converted into a fourth period safety, offset Auburn's superior offensive showing. The Gators held a defensive edge throughout.

The number of Alabama children of school age decreased 6,396 between 1936 and 1938.

dist dropped everything, including the ball.

Aldrich, as usual, was there to recover for the Christians.

On the first play, O'Brien shot a 25-yard pass that Mallouf snatched for and Hall snaggared on the 10, poking across for the score. O'Brien kicked another point across. It seemed as if Mallouf had intercepted O'Brien's pass, but his whistled right on through his hands.

The Christians tallied their third touchdown early in the third period. First they tossed Mallouf for a 14-yard loss on an attempted pass, forcing him to kick, and then started from the Methodist 38 after O'Brien had squirmed back 15 yards with a punt return.

Sparks belted over to idle for 14 and Clark came back with the same poison for 15 more. Sparks punched through for five. O'Brien added four more to the one and Sparks carried over his tenth touchdown of the season. It took them seven running plays to go the 35 yards.

Britain Faces Long Period of Trouble In Holy Land

LONDON, Nov. 26 (AP)—The Arab revolt in Palestine is showing signs of weakening under stern British military campaigns, but a long era of trouble is in prospect for Great Britain in her efforts to establish peaceful rule.

How long it will be necessary to keep a large army in the Holy Land to maintain order will depend to some extent on the outcome of an Arab-Jewish conference planned for early in the new year in London.

This will be a fresh British attempt to find a permanent solution for the mandated land to which both Jews and Arabs would adhere—but in government as in Jewish and Arab quarters optimism for its success is lacking.

And, whatever the outcome of the conference, a long army role in Palestine is foreseen. The revolt against British policy in the Holy Land which found its origin in conflicting Arab and Jewish claims to Palestine as a homeland, has caused some 2,500 casualties, including more than 1,800 deaths in the past four months.

READING AND WRITING

A book a day for a week on social subjects...

Sunday—Less discouraging than most case histories of criminals are the stories of the five bad Martins in "Brothers in Crime." Four of the five have reformed, after society paid $25,000 just to board them in the 55 years the lot of them has spent in institutions of one kind or another. (University of Chicago; $3).

Monday—Dewey H. Palmer and Laurence E. Crooks provide a cold analysis of the American motor car market in their "Millions on Wheels." It's supposed to tell you how to buy, run and sell cars to your own best advantage, and will be very unpopular indeed with many makers—as well as oil and finance companies. (Vanguard; $2.50).

Tuesday—A. Grant McGregor's "Right Wages and Abundance" is at least a sincere effort to determine how a harassed world can adjust one of its most pressing problems. It's for the economists to fight over the practical aspects of Mr. McGregor's ideas. (Dutton; $2.50).

Wednesday—Five essays by five distinguished men in "The Meaning of the Humanities" try sincerely to place the humanities in relation to a world urge which seems to submerge and undermine them. These are the Spencer Trask lectures delivered last school year at Princeton. (University of Princeton Press; $2.50).

Thursday—We have had 11 chief justices of the supreme court, and if Kenneth Bernard Umbrell's skill as writer has not blinded this reader, all have been interesting men. "Our Eleven Chief Justices" is a sort of history of the court in human terms. (Harper & Bros.; $3.75).

Friday—Fundamentally, the social fabric of the country is an economic matter, and buying is certainly most important. Margaret Dana's "Behind the Label" is a good guide to buying, entirely without the sensational features of some similar books. (Little, Brown; $2).

Saturday—And advertising is another. Helen Woodward's "It's an Art" tells you the fantastic story of what you have been led to do by the copy writers—and illustrators. It's fabulous. (Harcourt, Brace; $2.75).

More Farm Parleys Are Scheduled For This Week

A series of community farm meetings, started a week ago, will be resumed Monday with five sessions scheduled for the week.

As in four previous meetings, the 1939 federal farm program, soil conservation and food production will be talked. County Agent O. F. Griffin and County Home Demonstration Agent Lora Farnsworth will attend the meetings as will M. Weaver, county administrator.

Monday the meeting will be at Moore with L. H. Thomas in charge, Tuesday at Hartwells with M. J. Copeland leading, Wednesday at Soash with R. N. Adams presiding, Thursday at Vealmoor with M. L. Buckalew conducting, and Friday at Morgan with Albert W. Heckler directing the meeting.

Favorable Business Signs Pointed Out

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—Business, striding toward what it expects to be a prosperous Christmas trade, paused long enough this week to eat turkey and reflect over good news.

A commerce department survey of retail and wholesale trade indicated an increased pace of merchandise distribution. This is important to maintenance of advances in factory activity because failure of consumption to keep up with production might mean a temporary industrial setback in the next half year.

The department said nearly all of the surveyed cities had larger sales this week than in the preceding week and some of them reported passing the relatively good sales level of a year ago.

U. S. To Help Colombia In Defenses

Military Missions To Go To South American Nation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP) — The United States government announced today that naval and military air missions would go to the Republic of Colombia soon to cooperate with that country in improving its defensive forces.

The step symbolized, to some students of Pan-American affairs, growing bonds between the United States and Latin America for the common defense of the new world against any foreign aggressor. Five such missions already are on duty in other Latin American countries. The action is of particular importance to the United States because of Colombia's proximity to the Panama canal, a vital artery in the American defense system. The Panama Canal zone, now owned by the United States, formerly was part of Colombia.

The announcement was accompanied by publication of a friendly exchange of notes between President Roosevelt and the Colombian senate.

The senate in a formal resolution expressed its gratitude to the president "for his effective defense of democratic ideas and systems, for his intervention to safeguard peace within and without the continent, and for the loyal and constant carrying out of the good neighbor policy which is based upon the respect of the sovereignty of all peoples."

Rejected Suitor Kills Girl And Then Himself

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP) — A middle-aged chemist brought his unhappy pursuit of a pretty, red-haired young woman to a tragic end today by killing her and himself with a pistol on the seventh floor of the Grand Central terminal building in the heart of the midtown section.

High above Saturday morning commuters hurrying through Grand Central terminal, John McNeill, 52, pleaded with Marlon Wheeler, 32, Yonkers, N. Y. She shook her head.

He had met her outside, had come up in the elevator with her, police later learned, and had quarreled with her. Something apparently frightened her as they stepped out on the seventh floor.

She began to run, screaming as she heard McNeill following. She ran toward the office of L. V. Porter, comptroller of the New York Central railroad, where she was employed.

William De Sears, a fellow employe, told Police Captain Patrick Kennedy and detectives he stepped out when Miss Wheeler was only a few yards away.

He said McNeill fired three times at her back and shot himself through the head.

Last week, fellow employe said, McNeill called for Miss Wheeler at the office and shouted: "If I can't have you, nobody else will." They said he hit her with his fist. He was ejected from the place.

Legion Meeting Is Scheduled Wednesday Eve

Annual roll call banquet of the Howard County American Legion post will be held at the Settles hotel on Wednesday night of this week. Officials have announced. The event will be free to all legionnaires, but it is emphasized that reservations must be made by Wednesday noon, so that preparations can be completed for the meal. Service men planning to attend are requested to notify either Joe Ogden or Bob Wain by Wednesday.

"We have some important business matters to attend to," said Post Commander R. R. McEwen, "and there will be some fine entertainment numbers. The program will be free of charge, and we are extremely anxious that all Legion members be on hand."

Woman, Children Are Victims Of Asphyxiation

HOUSTON, Nov. 26 (AP) — Asphyxiation by gas killed Mrs. Lena Pearl Dorsey, 35, and her two children, Calvin, 9, and Kathryn Anne, 3, Dr. J. Herbert Page, county health officer, said after he examined the bodies today.

The victims were found dead in their home when the husband and father, J. H. Dorsey, returned home from work.

Surviving, one-year-old Mary Edna Dorsey was found clamped in the arms of her dead mother.

Police Homicide Captain George Peyton said gas, escaping unburned from the jets of a heater, had filled the upper air of the house but had not reached a level low enough to kill the baby.

Captain Peyton pointed out that a large heater in the dining room was burning full blast. He said there is usually a small amount of gas that escapes unburned when jets are turned on full.

RECOVERY AHEAD

DALLAS, Nov. 26 (AP) — RFC Chairman Jesse Jones, visiting friends in Dallas today, expressed the belief the current trend toward recovery will continue "reasonably." He said private employment would be a deciding factor in the progress of recovery.

"BUT DO YOU SEE ME ON RELIEF? NO, INDEED," says George Daynor (above), as he proudly shows the mineral-topped palace he built at Vineland, N. J., from odds and ends of junk found on a swamp at Vineland. A former Klondike prospector, Daynor started building his "Palace Depression"—which is what he calls the house—in 1933, when he reached Vineland almost broke. Auto parts, petrified logs, bits of scrap metal and rocks went into the "palace."

LARGER SUM FOR RESEARCH IS SOUGHT FOR TEXAS UNIV.

AUSTIN, Nov. 26 (AP) — Substantially larger legislative appropriations for research, looking to establishment of new industries in the state and expanded uses of Texas' chief products are included in the University of Texas 1939-41 budget, now being studied by the state board of control.

After being sifted by the board, which will make recommendations thereon, the proposed budget will be presented to the legislature at its session opening January 10.

An allotment of $389,000 a year was asked for a university research foundation, which would do work in a wide variety of fields. The university board of regents also requested that the appropriation for the division of conservation and development of natural resources be raised from $63,064 to $291,955 annually.

Dr. E. P. Schoch, head of the university's bureau of industrial chemistry, said today any revisions in the suggested research appropriations should be upward rather than downward.

"Natural gas now going to waste in Texas each year," he said, "is worth in excess of $300,000,000, or more than the value of Texas cotton and cottonseed production. There is no question but that this wasted gas can be put to beneficial use."

Dr. Schoch is working on new uses for Texas' vast store of natural gas and probably will have something to report before the end of the biennial legislative session.

"The research appropriations we are seeking," he said, "may seem large at first glance but as a matter of fact they should be doubled. This state must spend money to reap the full benefit from its many valuable resources."

Dr. Schoch is chairman of the University of Texas industrial and commercial research council, composed of the bureaus of business research, industrial chemistry, economic geology and engineering research.

Creation of three $7,500 a year positions in the bureau of industrial chemistry was recommended by the regents. Their occupants would work reactively on new uses for natural gas, new uses for petroleum and new uses for farm and ranch products.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

ONE of these days you're going to get tired of watching these agile Buicks flash past you!

One of these days you're going to get fed up on hearing friends rave about Buick comfort, and Buick smoothness, and the glorious view through Buick's bigger and broader windshield and windows.

One of these days you're going to wish you too had a car styled like a bit of tomorrow here today.

And one day you'll ask yourself why you didn't see what a buy Buick is at its new, deep-cut, 1939 prices. Sure as shootin' all that's going to happen—unless you do certain things now.

First — come try out the brilliant surging power of this Buick's Dynafash great eight engine. Next — find a rough stretch — and discover for yourself how steady this smooth traveler is in its going, how directable in its easy handling.

Finally — take paper and pencil, and when noting Buick's surprising low delivered price, note also the extras it includes, the big reductions over last year, and the actual savings you can make by putting your dollars in Buick!

For the value's up mightily as you can see. And yet this great straight-eight actually costs less than last year — less than you'd expect — less even than some sixes.

How much less? We're waiting to watch your eyes pop when we tell you!

Red Cross Is Nearer Goal

Chairman Appeals For An Additional $300

Shine Phillips, Howard-Glascock county Red Cross chairman, encouraged by a revival in subscriptions to the agency during the last week, counted his checks Saturday and found $2,110 in the fold. This placed him near enough to an objective of $2,500 that he was prompted to say that "we will have it this time next week or I'll be on the street with a tin cup to get it."

Not keen on the cup method of solicitation, Phillips asked "300 heroes to rally around and give a dollar." He said he had a slight amount in sight, and an additional $300 would push him very near the chapter's goal.

Garden City, coming in Saturday with $60, helped the cause considerably. Phillips said that there were a few other places to be reported, including Coahoma.

The number of members enlisted thus far is around the 1,700 mark, and chapter officials are anxious to have this go over 2,000.

BIG CARIBOU HERD HOLDS UP TRAIN

SASKATOON, Sask., Nov. 26.—(Canadian Press)—Hunters returning today from the Hudson Bay junction said a train was delayed nearly 24 hours by a herd of more than 10,000 caribou passing in front of the locomotive.

Hudson Bay junction is east of Prince Albert, near the Manitoba line.

'ahot' as a jealous Hollywood star supposedly came to town to make trouble for the 'movie queen.' There was even a bunch of mobsters (local men fittingly made up and costumed) but these toughs were thwarted by the local police and the hero, and the queen was saved in the nick of time.

First three acts of the Thursday-Friday presentation tell the story of a local girl who won a trip to Hollywood via an essay contest, remained, through a mixup in identity, to become a star.

Mitchell Wildcat Ajax Drilling Co. was rigging up on its wildcat well in southwest Mitchell county. The test, known as the Ajax No. 1 Scheuster, is located 330 feet out of the southwest corner of section 25-17, SPRR. It is six miles directly east of nearest production in the Chalk pool of Howard county.

Test Shut Down After encountering a hole full of salt water from 2,960-67 feet, the wildcat Owens No. 1 Wright, in the northwestern corner of Howard county, drilled to 2,983 feet and shut down for orders. This test is 990 feet out of the southeast corner of section 33-33-3s, T&P.

Extension For Two Pools In West Texas

Activity Increases In Wason And Semi-nole Sectors

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 26.—The University pool in eastern Crane county was promised a one-half mile northwest extension by Stan-dard No. 14 University and the Foster field in Ector county was moved one-half mile northeast by M. B. K. Drilling Co. No. 2-C Foster as two of the features of West Texas development this week.

The Texas Co. No. 1-B Mallett, west extension to the Slaughter field in southwestern Hockley county, was improved by a second acid treatment; activity increased in the Wason and Seminole pools in Gaines county and a wildcat in the west corner of Pecos county rigged up rotary to deepen after a long shutdown, its objective being the Delaware.

Closely watched was Gulf's No. 1 Swenson, wildcat in the northeast corner of Garza county, which perforated 7 5-8 inch casing, cemented at 7,400 feet, to test reported favorable saturation at several levels in the lower Permian and Pennsylvanian lime. Reportedly encountering water in the Ordovician in drilling to 8,104 feet, it had plugged back to 7,400. Location is in the center of the north-west quarter of section 25-2-H&GN.

Makes 1,275 Barrels M. B. K. No. 2-C Foster, north-west extension to the Foster pool in Ector county, flowed 1,275 barrels of oil in 24 hours for completion at 4,275 feet after a shot. It is in the southeast corner of the northwest quarter of section 8-42-2s-T&P. Bert Fields No. 1 Owen-wood, three miles northwest of the Harper pool, was abandoned at 4,501 feet, having balled only a small amount of oil after acidizing several weeks ago. It was in the northeast quarter of section 6-44-2s-T&P.

Showing the first oil from 3,155-65 feet, Standard of Texas No. 1-6 University in Crane county filled 600 feet with oil in 10 hours while drilling to 3,205 feet. It is in the northeast quarter of section 6-30-U, one-half mile north and slightly west of production. There now are four wells in the area, which is 3 1-2 miles northwest of the Church-Fields pool.

Second Acid Treatment The Texas Co. No. 1-B Mallett, in Hockley county, in labor 1, league 52, Scurry county school land, two miles west of the north end of the Slaughter pool swabbed 15 barrels of fluid hourly, cut four to 20 per cent with basic sediment, after re-feeding with 3,000 gallons of acid at 5,935 feet in lime. It is in the southeast corner of labor 1, league 52, Scurry county school land. The Texas Co. No. 3 Slaughter on the north end of the field flowed 135 barrels of oil in six hours after treatment with 3,000 gallons of acid at 5,903 feet.

Murchison & Clossitt, farther east, drilled broken saturated, non-porous lime between 4,993 and 5,057 feet and was treated with 1,500 gallons without making a natural test. E. T. Marion of Midland and Penn Royalties, Inc., of Dallas traded 3 1-2 acre leases on the gin site at Sundown on which each spudded a test about six months ago, and Marion was rigging standard tools on what was Penn No. 1 Lawlis, in the south-west corner of labor 58, league 33, Maverick county school land. The Texas Co. No. 1 H. T. Boyd, south-east outpost to the Duggan field off Cochran county, cemented 7-inch casing at 4,995 and was standardizing, bottomed at 5,000 feet.

Shell No. 1 Ruyts, one mile south-east of the Bennett pool in Yoakum county, unloading the hole at 5,270 feet, had proven disappointing, swabbing at the rate of only three barrels of fluid hourly; one-fourth water. It prepared to pump. It is in the northwest quarter of section 743-D-John H. Gibson.

Adams & Bradley No. 1 Ohio-Crain in Gaines county, 3 1-2 miles north of the Seminole pool, topped the Yates sand (frosted quartz grains) favorably at 3,320 feet, 93 feet above sea level. Magnolia and Atlantic No. 1 Havemeyer & Jenny in the Seminole pool was swabbed in at 5,072 feet and flowed 20 barrels of oil hourly, choked, with five million cubic feet of gas daily. Amerace started No. 2 Riley, offsetting two producers, Phillips Petroleum staked No. 1 Wason on the west side of the Wason field.

Lip Tricks

Ballet Girl Makes Color Toe The Mark

Lipstick tricks make a lot of difference in your make-up. Milada Mladova, member of the corps de Ballet Russe, gives these three pointers on applying lipstick:

OUTLINE the lips with a red pencil. The lipstick will stay on better when you're eating, she says, and your lips will have a more definite outline.

FILL IN your lips with lipstick. Don't use too dark a shade. Dark lipstick often looks black—especially under strong light. If you like it dark use two shades, dark first, light last.

BLENDE the color with your little finger. The effect will be softer, smoother. Remove traces of lipstick on your finger by dipping it in cold cream, then wiping it off on a face tissue.

Blue And Silver Japanese Garden Setting For Sub-Deb Presentation

A blue and silver Japanese garden was the setting for formal presentation of eight pledges to the Sub-Deb club, high school social organization, Friday evening in the crystal ballroom of the Settles hotel at 9 o'clock.

The ballroom, decorated to represent a garden, was in the club colors of silver and blue with Japanese lanterns and streamers floating overhead. Presentation took place at the south end of the room with the pledges entering over a blue bridge with a silver and blue tree in the background. The bridge was banked with silver cedar interspersed with blue lights. To the accompaniment of music by Scott Cameron and his band, pledges came across the bridge and were met by their escorts. Sub-Debs of 1938 first entered the scene with their escorts and gathered at one end of the bridge where Mary Nell Edwards, president of the club, presented each pledge with a Japanese fan tied in the club colors.

The presentation was broadcast over KBBT by Dorothy Lawrence who described the dresses worn by the girls, giving details of their hair arrangement and presenting to the radio public general atmosphere of the annual occasion.

First to be presented was Mary Jo Russell who was charming in a peach colored frock of taffeta with a quail basque waist. A full skirt swayed and billowed above hoops as she greeted her escort, Alton Bostick. She had a colonial nosegay of violets.

Joyce Croft came next in a white silk net, sprinkled with star dust designs of silver. The heartshaped bodice with an off-shoulder neckline, had a narrow halter of brilliant rhinestones and billowing shirred skirt. She wore a white gardenia in her hair and carried a bouquet of gardenias. Vestus Pruitt escorted Miss Croft.

Carrying an old-fashioned bouquet of white carnations, Jacqueline Faw was presented in a rich copper satin buttoned down the front with a very full and gathered skirt. Her costume was completed with two black velvet bows in her up-swept curls as she greeted her escort, Wayne Burch.

Marie Dunham was attractive in a bouffant dress of dusky pink satin with an off-the-shoulder neckline trimmed in delicate roses of pink and dubonnet velvet. The skirt was full and the bodice which fitted snugly was shirred down the front. She wore wine red baby chrysanthemums in her hair and carried a bouquet of the same flowers. Herbie Lees escorted the young lady.

Wearing burnt gold net over gold taffeta, Janice Slaughter was the next pledge to be presented. The bodice of her frock was pleated around a heartshaped neckline which featured a halter top. Bow knots of tiny gold sequins trimmed the frock and she wore a corsage of gold tallman roses. She was escorted by J. L. Wood.

Sara Lamun, who wore an attractive American Beauty taffeta with a full swishing corded skirt, was escorted by her brother, David Lamun. Her frock had a square neckline with puff sleeves and was trimmed in velvet bows of dubonnet. She wore a white carnation in her hair and a shoulder corsage of the same blossoms.

A wreath of red sequins in the coiffure of Mary Freeman was the highlight of her costume of white moire taffeta. She wore a shoulder corsage of red roses and the bottom of her skirt was banded in two rows of pleated ruffling. Dave Watt was the escort of this young lady.

Champa Phillips, last of the pledges to be presented, wore a turquoise moire taffeta in period style with square neck trimmed in a row of pleated velvet ribbon. The full skirt billowed and swept to the floor and she had a shoulder corsage of pink gladioli. She was escorted by Bill Dyer.

Following the presentation, the new and old Sub-Debs sang the club song. Arrangements for the formal occasion were made by the 1938 Sub-Debs and their sponsor, Lillian Shick, who wore a period frock of dubonnet velvet of gold trim.

Epic Story Of Aviation's Progress Told In 'Men With Wings,' Showing At Ritz

Fred M'Murray, Ray Milland In Principal Roles

The dramatic story of the men and women pioneers of the air—a generation which includes such great names as Wilbur and Orville Wright, Glenn Curtiss, Bleriot, Lindbergh, Amelia Earhart, Wiley Post and Howard Hughes is told in Paramount's new aviation epic in Technicolor, "Men With Wings," which is featured today and Monday at the Ritz theatre. It is one of the Movie Quiz Contest films.

Although most other examples of the pioneer spirit have been glorified over and over again on the screen, "Men With Wings" marks the first time the story of the heroes who developed the airplane from the "flying bicycle" of the Wrights to the super-airliners of the present day has been told. Through the experiences of its three leading characters, played by Fred M'Murray, Ray Milland and Louise Campbell, "Men With Wings" traces the history of aviation from its first flight at the dawn of the twentieth century down to its present day triumphs.

The picture opens with mankind's first triumph against the air—the historic flight of the Wright Brothers above the dunes at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina, in 1903. The only reporter witnessing the great event is a small town newspaperman, played by Walter Abel, the father of Miss Campbell, whose enthusiasm starts his young daughter and her two young friends, Mac Murray and Milland, on their aviation career.

As the dramatic story of "Men With Wings" unfolds, the three friends are carried forward in the torturous struggle of aviation's progress. The outcome of flying's struggle for life at the opening of the century means success or failure to them. The World war, when the machine they have built threatens to destroy civilization itself, means life and death. Swept along by a force they cannot even explain, they rush on through the boom days of the twenties, with Miss Campbell vainly trying to choose between the two types of birdmen—the courageous plane builder Milland and the devil-may-care flier MacMurray. The turbulent thirties bring new heartaches and new triumphs to the trio but they never lose the pioneer's passionate devotion to the progress of aviation.

The first airplane picture ever to be filmed in Technicolor, "Men With Wings" was produced and directed by Hollywood's outstanding expert in the fields of both color and aviation, William A. Wellman. He filmed the never-to-be-forgotten "Wings" of a decade ago, as well as the recent Technicolor hits, "A Star Is Born" and "Nothing Sacred."

STARRED IN AVIATION DRAMA

The publicity camera catches in dramatic pose Fred MacMurray, one of the featured players in a new aviation epic, "Men With Wings," Technicolor production which is at the Ritz theatre today and Monday. Ray Milland and Louise Campbell also have leading roles in a picture which deals with the progress of aviation. Said to be one of the season's top pictures, "Men With Wings," was directed by William A. Wellman, an authority on aviation and color dramas. It is one of those on the Movie Quiz Contest list.

After You Buy Christmas Seals, Use Them, Committee Requests

An appeal for widespread use of the double-barrel cross tuberculosis seals is being made by the local committee in an effort to secure cooperation to make a record for the community.

"Christmas Seals make a beautiful decoration. Taped with millions of others they have made possible a life-saving campaign that has saved thousands of lives," said Mrs. J. C. Douglas, treasurer of the Christmas Seals and use them early.

The committee suggests the following ways of using the Seals: On all greeting cards. On packages to foreign countries. On Christmas cards mailed to any place in this country.

On bridge tables and place cards at parties this month. On church calendars. On bills and business letters. On programs.

On correspondence cards and packages to carry Christmas messages. As Christmas tree decorations. As part of a stamp collection. After purchasing Christmas seals, people should not forget to use them," said Mrs. Douglas. "Their use immediately identifies buyers as being among those adding in the fight against tuberculosis. The Christmas Seal is an opportunity to give health and happiness to others and to insure homes and families against this deadly disease."

Tarzan Story Is Featured At The Lyric

Newcomer To Films Has Title Role In Jungle Adventure

"Tarzan and the Green Goddess," newest of the Edgar Rice Burroughs' novels to be transferred to the screen, makes its bow at the Lyric theatre Sunday and Monday, bringing in its wake a mighty assemblage of assorted thrills designed to capture the fancy of young and old.

Unlike previous Tarzan photoplays, this new film takes its viewers on a thrill adventure into the dark jungles of Guatemala, where the story is laid and where much of the action was actually filmed by a large expeditionary party of the Ashton Dearholt expedition under the direction of Edward Kull, Here, against a mysterious and fascinating background of scenic grandeur, native music, strange rites and principal perils, the spine-tingling action is unfolded.

Herman Brix, six feet and two-and-one-half inches of superb athlete, enacts the title role in "Tarzan and the Green Goddess," performing such feats as a battle to death with a ferocious lion, a hand-to-hand struggle with a man-eating tiger, and rescuing the heroine from hordes of jungle savages. These various episodes are described as having been expertly staged in order to supply excitement of the type that will please adults as well as the juvenile portions of the audience.

"Tarzan and the Green Goddess" concerns the efforts of Tarzan in aiding a friend who locates the famous "green goddess"—a priceless relic containing a fortune in gems as well as a secret explosive formula which, in the wrong hands, might spell destruction for civilization. The ensuing action besets the party with perils that keeps the action and suspense at a high pitch that is culminated with one of the most thrilling ocean storm scenes yet filmed.

In addition to Brix, the cast of "Tarzan and the Green Goddess" includes Uia Holt, Frank Baker, Don Castello and Lew Sargeant. The picture was filmed from the screen adaptation by Charles F. Royal of a novel by Edgar Rice Burroughs.

Wanda McQuain To Sing On Network Program Tuesday

Wanda McQuain, KBST's "Girl of a Thousand Love Songs," will be the featured soloist on the "Texas Entertainers" program over the Texas State Network's 23 affiliated stations next Tuesday night from 9:15 to 9:45.

Miss McQuain is being presented on the program at the invitation of the Texas hotel and the Texas State Network in a program paying tribute to Dan Hudson, manager of the Settles hotel here and former assistant manager of the Texas hotel, Fort Worth. The "Texas Entertainers" program originates in "The Den" at the Texas hotel, and is heard each Tuesday night over KBST and other TSN stations. Nick Stewart's orchestra, currently featured at "The Den" will play Miss McQuain's accompaniment. Miss McQuain will leave Monday night for Fort Worth for the engagement.

Variety Music On The Chevroliers Program Today

From comic opera to favorite light classics, from popular novelty tunes to fairy tales in song, will be the focus of the Chevroliers musical variety program to be heard over the Chevrolet-Dixie Network at 5:30 p. m. Sunday. Tenor Ivan Wayne will be responsible for the operatic burlesque "I Must Be Going to the Dogs." By way of contrast will be Soprano Ruth Bickford's beautiful "Blue Danube." The Singing Ensemble is slated for a rendition of the latest in red-hot novelty—"Franklin D. Roosevelt Jones." And to keep things rocking along smoothly, Ruth Bickford, Karl Lambertz and the Chevroliers orchestra will do "One Song" from "Snowwhite and the Seven Dwarfs."

Other numbers scheduled include "The Caissons Go Rolling Along," "Sixty Seconds Got Together," "Siboney," the newest dance craze "The Yam," "By the Waters of the Minnetonka" and "Born Lucky."

THEY RECORD WORLD'S THRILLS

Principals in a new series of adventure pictures are Wally Vernon and Brian Donlevy, who appear as thrill-seeking newsreel photographers. The first of their escapades is unfolded in exciting fashion in "Sharpshooters," the feature film at the Queen theatre today and Monday.

Original Drama Scheduled Over KBST This Afternoon; Clinton And Band On 'Show Of The Week'

"Dead World"—an original drama, written and produced by John W. Hughes, TSN dramatics director, will be enacted by the TSN players on the "Sunday Afternoon Revue" to be heard over Station KBST and the Texas State Network from 3:50 to 4:30 p. m. today.

The drama, five minutes in length, concerns a musician who is told by her doctor that she may expect to go deaf any moment. The anxiety of this great violinist over her possible future, and her fear of actually going deaf, make a dramatic and forceful sequence of stirring events.

DIPSY DOODLE'S DAD

Few orchestra leaders have attained the popularity in recent months of Larry Clinton, daddy of the "Dipsy Doodle," who with his orchestra, will be featured on the "Administration Show of the Week" to be heard from 5:30 to 6 p. m. Sunday over Station KBST and the Texas State Network.

Larry Clinton's appearance on the broadcast is a signal for all devotees of sweet and swing to be at their radio sets on that day. With the creator of "Dipsy Doodle" will be vivacious vocalist Bea Wain. Clinton, formerly an ace arranger, organized his own orchestra about two years ago. Clinton's "Show of the Week" orchestra will be ably assisted by the inimitable master of ceremonies Ray Perkins, and latest "News of the Day" given by Ernest Chapell—ace news commentator.

MARKET REPORTS

Through its affiliation with The Herald, KBST will resume daily market reports, beginning Monday. It is announced, closing quotations on cotton, grain and livestock and a report on the trend of the Wall Street market will be given each day, Monday through Friday, at 2:30 p. m.

IN WOMEN'S WORLD

There's only one man in the United States who is officially classified in a woman's directory. That man is John J. Anthony, pilot of the "Original Good Will Hour," popular and effective program that is aired over Station KBST and the Texas State Network from 9:30 to 10 p. m. Sunday. Anthony is included in the "Woman's Almanac for 1938" because of his achievements in effecting much-needed reforms in marriage and divorce laws in the United States. "Practically every marital, divorce and alimony measure introduced and passed by the New York State Legislature," according to the one-page tribute in the almanac, "has been due to his efforts." It also cites him for having instituted a campaign "for the introduction of marital courses in American colleges."

REVIVAL TIME

Charles E. Fuller of Los Angeles will again conduct the "Old Fashioned Revival" from 8 to 9 p. m. Sunday over Station KBST and the Texas State Network. "Old Fashioned Revival" has gained a great following throughout the North American continent, and the

Cameramen's Adventures Screened

First Of New Adventure Series Billed At Queen

The 20th Century-Fox studios have directed production talent and resources to the creation of a new series of action pictures, dramatizing the exploits of "The Camera Daredevils," the first of which, "Sharpshooters," comes to the Queen theatre for a Sunday-Monday showing.

The heroes of this new series are two devil-may-care newsreel photographers chasing danger round the world. And they're ready on a moment's notice to take their lives in their hands—or maybe a girl in their arms.

In the featured roles are Brian Donlevy, Lynn Bari and Wally Vernon. In "Sharpshooters," Donlevy is given full opportunity in the type of reckless, romantic action role for which he is noted. Lynn Bari is seen as Brian's niftiest assignment, while Wally Vernon is cast as Waldo, the movie sound man. His hilarious comedy talents are given full play and provide an ideal foil for the reckless daring of the dynamic Donlevy.

The story of "Sharpshooters" opens on a high action note with Donlevy and Vernon in a clash with the gendarmes of a foreign principality where their resourcefulness wins them exclusive shots of the assassination of a monarch. From then on the action is said to move with lightning speed through a series of adventures that catapults the Camera Daredevils in and out of trouble. Assigned to cover a coronation, they become involved with a band of conspirators who are plotting to kill the prince.

Inspired by their love of adventure and, incidentally, a beautiful girl who is governess to the young prince, they utilize their wit and talents in behalf of the king-to-be. What follows makes for an exciting and suspenseful story background—or the exploits of the two intrepid cameramen and a picture that is heralded as a new entertainment thrill.

In addition to the three featured players, the picture has been importantly cast with such performers as John King, Douglas Dumbrille, C. Henry Gordon and Sidney Blackmer.

N. Y. Debs Spending Eight Millions For 'Coming Out' This Year-- And There's No Place To Go

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—The question of debutante parties bobbed up again today with the finding, announced after some research, that fond parents will spend approximately $8,000,000 to introduce their daughters to "polite society" this season.

The actual cost of the debut parties for 1,000 eligible 18-year-old girls in New York and 15 other of the biggest and wealthiest cities in the U. S. was placed by Fortune magazine at approximately $3,000,000—for champagne, orchestras, engraved announcements, scrambled eggs with sausages, etcetera. The total cost for the "coming out" year—exclusive of $3,000 for a wardrobe—was figured at around $8,500 each.

It's still a big business, Fortune said after a survey of the debutante scene, but the debutantes are all dressed up with no place to go because, the magazine said, there is very little "polite society" left into which they can be introduced.

More "findings" from the research:

"Society" today is little more than a stag line of college boys and unemployed young men, except in "the Old South," where "x" adults, and especially men—marriageable or otherwise—have almost completely disappeared from the society into which a New York girl makes her debut today. So have they in Boston, where debutantes are now presented to the Harvard undergraduate boy, minus freshmen. They have disappeared because the social game costs time and money x x x

"In New York, for instance, x x x 300-odd New York debutantes are being presented not to the society of their elders, not to a waiting legion of eligible bachelors, but to 2,500 college boys and recent graduates, many of them unemployed."

The magazine said the 1,000 U. S. debutantes this year, "pick of the country from the standpoint of family background, wealth and breeding, will make their debut into a society that is everywhere in the throes of change, if not decay."

entered the scene including Mary Nell Edwards and Billy Robinson, Billy Bess Shive and Weldon Bigony. DeAlva McAllister and Joe Lassiter, Betty Lee Eddy and James Underwood, and Joan James and Homer Adams.

Miss Edwards was wearing a coral rose taffeta frock with drop shoulder. Soft puffed drapery concealed a bustle around the hips and in her hair she wore a rose velvet bow with long streamers and a wrist corsage of white gardenias.

Miss Shive's frock combined the ultra-modern with the old-fashioned because the entire bodice, which fit snugly to the hips, was made of shirred satin. It had short puff sleeves and full gathered skirt and she wore a gold flower in her hair and carried a bouquet of tulle and roses.

DeAlva McAllister chose a bluish pink satin dress of redingote style with an over skirt of white silk net stiffened at the hem with horsehair braid. A bolero of white net with rhinestone clip was worn over the square neck bodice and a silver rosebud nestled in her hair. She had a shoulder corsage of pink carnations.

A formal white satin with severely square cut bodice and very full skirt was worn by Miss Eddy who placed a lipstick-red flower in her hair for added color. She carried a bouquet of red flowers.

Miss James was in a bouffant white taffeta with an extravagant skirt of hoops. The frock had rhinestone shoulder straps and she wore a gardenia in her hair tied with velvet ribbon under her chin. She had a wrist corsage of red snapdragons.

Mrs. Walton wore a royal blue taffeta with a corsage of tulle and roses and Mrs. Bowden, hostess, was attired in a pink lace. The bride's mother was in black and white chiffon velvet.

SHORT TALKS ON ADVERTISING

(FIFTH SERIES)

Prepared by the Bureau of Research and Education, Advertising Federation of America

More For Your Money

Money is important only for what you can buy with it. What you buy is important only for the satisfaction it gives you. And greater satisfaction is the only thing that is important in getting more for your money.

That is why the service of advertising is so helpful. Merchants and manufacturers advertise primarily to sell their goods, but in the long run no advertising can be successful unless it helps the consumer to get more for his money. The most important business job that each of us has to do, next to earning an income, is to buy the best possible living which that income can afford.

Wherever we go, at any time of day or night, we constantly see and hear many kinds of advertising. On all sides, industry offers its wares, presenting an enormous show window of everything that money can buy. Nothing is overlooked. Beans, movies, garters, automobiles, oranges, refrigerators, fishing poles, asphalt paving, and correspondence courses. You decide what you want and spend your money accordingly. Advertising gives you a world's fair in motion, a continuous parade of merchandise. The more you see of it the more you know about the world's goods and the better you know how to make your material life a happy one.

By serving the interests of consumers everywhere, advertising does a very important job for industry. It is the only means by which the huge quantity of goods produced today can rapidly be moved to market. Advertising is the most economical and most efficient part of the selling process and if it were to be discontinued we would have to slip back to a much slower pace with a far smaller volume of goods to divide among us.

Without this modern high-speed marketing machinery, Ford's, Chevrolets, and Chrysler automobiles would cost much more because fewer would be made. The same is true of fountain pens, radio sets, and frozen foods, all of which owe their wide distribution to advertising. Thus advertising, with all its helpful information, costs the consumer nothing, and brings many articles within reach of the common man's purse.

Advertising has also put identifying trade-marks on food, clothing, and nearly everything else you buy, standardizing the product of each advertiser. If you like a certain brand you buy it again, and if you don't like it you avoid it—the trade-mark tells the tale and advertising puts the trade-mark on the goods. If you want to know what you're getting you buy a well-advertised product, made by a manufacturer in whom you have confidence.

Because there is so much advertising in this country, we are the best-informed people in the world on what there is to buy and where to buy it. Because advertising is an economical salesman, we can buy things cheaper and the country is more prosperous. Because advertising identifies products, we can buy with greater confidence in their quality.

Advertising is one of our greatest helpers in the important problem of getting more for our money.

More Appeals Made For Aid

Salvation Army Hard Pressed To Care For All Who Ask

The severe weather is bringing more transients into town, and eventually to the Salvation Army quarters in search of aid, it is reported by the local commanding officer, Major L. W. Canning.

During the past seven days, Major Canning said Saturday, 119 men and women applied for aid, and of this number 80 were given meals, 21 were given transportation, 15 received lodging, and six were helped with clothing.

"Those who contributed to the Army's recent fund campaign will be glad that they did so in time to help take care of those in need," the Army man said. "The figures I have given are for one week only, and it is quite likely that the numbers will increase through the winter. These unfortunate people have to be taken care of, and the assistance represents a severe drain on the Army's meager resources."

"Our recent drive met only about two-thirds of our budget, and it can be seen that we are unable to meet all demands. The Army needs further help, and any contribution addressed to the Salvation Army, P. O. Box 1248, will be greatly appreciated."

WANTS CONGRESS TO TAKE ACTION ON BRIDGES CASE

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP) — Stephen Chadwick, national commander of the American Legion, said today he would ask congress to act upon the case of Harry Bridges, west coast CIO leader, if Secretary of Labor Perkins did not soon hold deportation hearings against the maritime leader.

Secretary Perkins' delay in taking action against Bridges, Chadwick asserted, "seriously impairs the nation's second line of defense in the Pacific—the merchant marine."

Pointing out that the merchant service is a potential auxiliary to the fleet, Chadwick said Pacific coastwise traffic had been "virtually wiped out" through Bridges' activities.

GIVE GENEROUS SUPPORT HERE

Nothing less than complete eradication of the scourge of tuberculosis from this country should be the aim of every citizen in giving support to the annual Christmas Seal Sale of the National Tuberculosis Association.

Work of the tuberculosis associations in teaching people that the disease is preventable and curable and that people can be returned to health and strength is of the highest value.

With the approach of the holiday season we are again forcibly reminded that the nationwide attack on tuberculosis is a year-around campaign, made possible through the proceeds of Christmas Seals.

The work which the National Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated organizations are doing in teaching people that tuberculosis is preventable, that it is curable, and that great numbers of tuberculosis patients can be restored to health and strength, is of the highest value.

MAPPING A CIVIC PROGRAM FOR '39

A recent issue of The Herald carried an interesting article which was in the nature of a "check up" on the work of Big Spring chamber of commerce.

It may be true, but it is none the less true that a promotional organization such as the chamber of commerce can succeed only to the extent of the support accorded by the city's citizens.

The planning of next year's program of work can be just as community-wide as can the promulgation of this year's program.

Today And Tomorrow

ON OPENING UP A NEW WORLD

The movement which began after Munich to appease Nazi Germany by delivering an African empire to Hitler has for the time being run upon insurmountable obstacles.

After the demonstration of the last two weeks as to how the victorious Nazis mean to behave, it would now be morally impossible to consent of Parliament or of the French Chamber to a surrender of colonies.

But even before the current terrorism within the Reich, the opinion has been developing that the mere handing over of African colonies would create more problems than it can possibly solve.

There is no place in Africa where a Nazi empire can be established without complicating immeasurably the problem of British, French and even American defense.

To return the former German colonies in central Africa would mean that France would hold her African empire with small detachments of troops, while to augment greatly her whole military system.

But while it is clear that the mere return of the former German colonies is not the solution of any problem, it is also clear that even if there is a colonial problem in Europe, not only Germany but all of Europe are deeply concerned.

The plight of the German Jews dramatizes the real problem. But it would be a grave misunderstanding of the problem to think that the only question is how to find a refuge for a tormented minority, or that even this problem can be solved by removing a half million Jews from the Reich.

The question raised by the Poles goes to the heart of the real problem. It is at bottom the problem of European emigration, and to think about it all we must fix clearly in mind its main elements.

Between 1800 and the World War the population of Europe increased from 180,000,000 to 480,000,000. During that period of a little more than a century about 60,000,000 Europeans migrated to other continents, and of these about half migrated to the United States.

The great intercontinental migration was abruptly reduced in the post-war decade. Whereas 1,000,000 Europeans had been emigrating each year before the war, the number was reduced to less than 300,000 a year.

It is obviously no accident that the end of a century of free migration from Europe should have been followed immediately by a wave of revolutionary imperialism in the very region of Europe where the pressure of surplus population is the greatest and the post-war impoverishment the most acute.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Perhaps it may amuse you to know how Larry Clinton came to write his new song hit, "My Reverie," which seems to be about the most consistently hummed and crooned tune of the day.

Mr. Clinton is an orchestra leader and a writer of songs, and he has written many and varied lyrics that have soothed and charmed your ears. But it is doubtful if any tune ever led him such a chase as the one you know as "My Reverie."

For it all began years ago, despite the fact that the song was not written until one hot night last August.

When Mr. Clinton was a little boy he used to practice piano exercises by the hour. Difficult exercises, and sometimes very dull ones, by most of the old masters.

It nagged him. It irritated him. It haunted him and it charmed him. But he didn't know whose it was, or from whence it came. All he knew was there it was, bobbing up like a dim remembered picture for fleeting moments, and running away.

One night (this was that hot August night) he practiced he sat at the keyboard, letting his fingers idle along, and before he knew it that vagrant refrain, maybe four or five bars, bobbed up again. Mr. Clinton hastily reached for a pen and jotted it down.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The lady off to the side of the house muttering to the screen at any Joan Crawford preview is—Joan Crawford.

"I make a nuisance of myself. I talk to myself on the screen all the time. Mostly I'm saying, 'O, you fool! Why did you do it that way? How could you have thought that was the way to play the scene? I'm one of those horrible people that others sitting nearby have to shush...'"

Thus Miss Crawford, on a day between scenes of one picture, preparing for the ordeal of attending the preview of her finished one. She is sitting on a movie bed in an unoccupied set, and she's knitting. She keeps her eyes riveted to every stitch, like an amateur although she isn't one, but once in a while she raises them and they're the biggest eyes in town.

Once in a while, too, and more frequently, she raises herself and gets into the scene where Reinhold Schunzel (they call him Papa) is directing her and James Stewart and Lew Ayres in "Ice Follies."

Joan has been gay all morning, singing a little in that new voice of hers and good, too—and laughing a lot with the others at the things that go wrong. This scene has her carried over the threshold of the room by Stewart, whom she's just married at Yuma, and it shows how Ayres, Stewart's ice partner takes it.

By afternoon, when they've done that scene in long shots and close-ups at least a dozen times, with rehearsals extra, I get to thinking innocently that those actors must be pretty bored with it all. Especially Joan, who's been making scenes like that well, not exactly "Well, no," says Joan. "I love making pictures—they're something alive and vital—and this is all part of making pictures. Maybe if I hadn't grown up in it I'd go mad. Anyway, knitting helps between takes. Can't read on the set—it takes my mind off my work. I get that in Sundays..."

At 20, Joan has a new 7-year contract, without options—and that makes her different from all the other stars who try for comebacks. They don't have contracts, officially. Joan isn't "coming back." Officially, she's still a big star—but all the same her last few pictures haven't been old-time "Crawford hits."

Her singing—which was her new term deal—is going to be heard in "Ice Follies." Just popular numbers, no operatic stuff. The role also calls for glamor, which was Crawford's stock in trade. She winds up, in this one, as a Hollywood movie star, so the part ought to fit like a glove.

The opera business will have to wait a while. "I practice every morning, but I haven't enough time really to give it yet."

"In 'The Shining Hour' Joan was cast with Margaret Sullivan. Hollywood expected a conflagration of temperaments. Just wait (said Hollywood) until THOSE TWO get together."

"We disappointed them," says Joan. "We met, and hit it off together from the start. We've seen each other several times since the picture, and I like her very much and she likes me—at least I think she likes me."

GREECE IN NEED OF MORE U. S. COTTON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—The commerce department disclosed today that cotton spinners and weavers in Greece had asked their government to permit increased imports of raw cotton from the United States.

A report from the American commercial attaché in Athens said that Greece's domestic crop was "because of decreased plantings and unfavorable weather." The report said that because of price differences, the Greek government had issued cotton import permits mainly for Indian cotton, but Greek manufacturers were trying to get permits for the American product.

TOURIST MONEY RUNS OVER FIVE BILLION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—The national park service estimated today that tourists spent $5,003,100,000 in the United States last year.

New York's share—$846,800,000—was the largest state total, the park service reported, California and Pennsylvania were next.

Estimated expenditures in other states included: Texas, $185,350,000; Oklahoma, $59,750,000; New Mexico, $15,450,000.

Never schooled in the whirlpool of romance could be so cruel—as you are to me.

Maybe that DeBussy had something. He certainly could start things. All he needed was a Larry Clinton to keep him on the right track.

THE ARMY POST MURDERS

By Virginia Hanson

Chapter 21 UNDER FIRE Mary Shaw said nervously, "You had been with us, Lou, I remember that. Wasn't she here when you brought the coffee, Barney?"

"Barney shook his head and looked at Lou strangely, I thought. 'There was just you and Tubby,' he said reflectively.

Lou Orpington glared at them. "I was in the wash room. And when I came out someone had turned out the light in the powder room. The door swung shut behind me and I couldn't see a thing."

"I should have screamed," contributed Mrs. Flower eagerly. "No doubt. But I live with a man who's all the time going around behind me turning off lights, so I thought very little of it. I remember the switch was over by the door and I stumbled over there and turned it on. Then I saw the door was shut—the one to the dance floor, I mean—and that looked kind of funny to me, because I'd left it open. I stood there a moment, looking around, and all of a sudden the lights went out again..."

"That got me, all right. There I was in a perfectly empty room and the lights go out a second time. I stood still and bolted my head off, and much good it did me. I might have been still yelling if I hadn't seen a light flash at the head of the stairs. I didn't much care who it was—I went up."

"Passing no one? There was no body came down those stairs, I'll take my oath on that." "The dressing-room door was closed when you stood there listening, Barney?"

"He nodded." "You didn't think of opening it—looking in?"

"Well, after all, it was the ladies' room," he said delicately. Adam turned back to Mrs. Orpington.

"You had time to look around the room before the lights went out again, you're sure there was no one there?"

"Not unless they slipped into the wash room while I was crossing the room in the dark. And I'd have noticed that. I think—the light was still on in there."

"There was nothing out of place in the dressing room—no sign that anyone had been there?"

"She started to say no and checked herself. A surprised expression crossed her sharp face. "Why, yes, now I think of it." "Either the woman was a marvelous actress or she was suddenly terror stricken."

"There was an empty coat hanger swinging on the rack." "The telephone rang in the library and Adam was away like a startled deer to answer it. In the lounge there was no pretense of a search for the murderer's voice. It seemed to me that every pair of ears flared out from every head to catch the sense of his few words."

"The conversation was brief and inaudible except for one last sentence. 'You keep him there if you have to sit on him,' he shouted suddenly. 'I'll come when I can.'"

He returned to the lounge looking dashed and a little annoyed. He had to stop and collect his thoughts for a moment, and the pause gave Mrs. Orpington her chance.

Her terror was either gone or under better control, and her eyes, glinting with steely malevolence, just brushed mine. She took the floor.

"Lacking motive, which is a poor line of inquiry when we don't know who this girl was or why she should have been killed, it seems to me the question to ask is: Who had the best opportunity? And there's one person here who had not only the best but the only opportunity."

Mary Shaw was looking at me. I could feel her eyes boring, but I would not turn. I was feeling beautifully detached, as if this was all happening to someone else.

She was going right on without giving Adam a chance to change the subject.

"I came up the stairway, and you and Mrs. Flower came up the other. We met no one going down. There was only one person up there. Was she tied up behind a locked door? No, she was standing on the balcony shouting that the murderer had just thrown the key over the transom. Thoughtful murderer. And the mandarin coat—covered with blood—who was wearing it anyway? Seems to me you can be too subtle in a case like this. And it doesn't do to be swayed by personal feelings."

"There was a malicious half smile on her face. Adam had turned beet red, and for one awful, world-shaking second I detected a flash of uncertainty in his eyes. Then he caught hold of himself and the old hunting gleam returned.

ally. "So that's why you sneaked back upstairs and left Mary and me alone in the library." "She might have been talking about the weather. Though, to be think of it, a good bit of emotion is expended on the weather every day. Mrs. Flower was merely matter of fact."

"Well, what of it?" challenged Mrs. Orpington. "We're investigating a murder, not a piece of gossip. I'm not ashamed of eavesdropping in such a cause."

She looked offensively virtuous. Adam's glance should have withered her, but didn't.

He said stiffly, "Miss Cornish was with me when Anne was shot. Are you suggesting that the two crimes were not committed by the same hand?"

"That's exactly what I'm suggesting. The only reasonable motive for killing this girl—you'll probably find she was some soldier's sweetheart—was that she saw in the first murder committee and was killed to keep her from telling what she saw."

"A Cornered Animal So she was going to bring Charlie into it. I saw red for a moment."

"You're crazy!" I said hotly. Elizabeth's hand was on my arm. She gave it a reassuring pat.

"Never mind, dear, some people are like that," she murmured with uncharacteristic humility.

Mrs. Orpington had been waiting for me to be goaded into speech. She whirled on me now, her eyes like those of an angry cat.

"Where did you go right after Anne was shot?" she demanded. "I went to tell Elizabeth," I returned and was sorry I had spoken.

"And what did you do with Charles Spencer?" "Left him here," I said feebly. They were all staring at me now, and I knew how a cornered animal must feel.

She dropped that line as if I had suddenly become invisible. "It would be easy enough for her to come down the stairs, turn out that light and close the door, cross the room and get that wrap and go back up again. The velvet wrap is the only thing she has—and a weak one, you must admit."

"Better than yours, at that, though, isn't it, Lou?" Mrs. Flower was looking at her brightly. "I mean, after all, nobody saw you in that dark room; and there were other people screaming—I was, for one, and Mary Shaw, and Kay. And after all, you say you saw the coat hanger swinging, but it might just as well have been you who took the wrap."

There was bright interest in her glance, no malice in her tone. But I have never seen a woman will so completely as Mrs. Orpington.

"Why...why you... I think she wanted to say 'Judas.'" Her sheer surprise persuaded me against my will that she was not the murderer. And yet—there was irrefutable logic in what Mrs. Flower had said. I looked at her curiously, more deeply astonished than if Elizabeth had been detected in a snicker. One does not expect logic from the village idiot.

"Not that I think you did it, Lou," she resumed placidly. "Dear me, no. No more than I think Kay did it. Or any of the rest of us, I'm afraid. Of course the knife being gone and all makes it rather difficult, though I'm sure it could be done by means of pulleys and counterweights. Did anyone look for any?"

She yawned prettily, caught Adam's eye and finished in rather a rush.

"Just—I mean—it just occurred to me that she might have shot Anne and then killed herself." (Copyright, 1938, Virginia Hanson)

AIR BEACONS ARE BEING INSTALLED

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Officials of the U. S. aeronautics authority here said today it is installing air beacons between this city and Houston, Tex.

Beacons, the authority officials said, have already been set up between Brownsville and Corpus Christi, Tex., and will be installed between the latter city and Houston.

The officials said air beacons have already been installed from the north and east to New Orleans and, with the new installations, will make a line of beacons to Brownsville.

The beacons are spaced about every 50 miles on elevations of 75 or 80 feet.
