Gary James Eulmated By His Commander

The following was taken from a letter from Capt. Barney Jones, Commanding Officer of the Company in which Gary James was a member when he suffered the fatal wounds in Vietnam recently. The letter was sent to his mother, Mrs. Madie James, in recognition of his outstanding military attributes during his short time in the military service.

The letter is quoted as follows:

"Private First Class Gary James was assigned to this Unit during last Christmas holiday season. At that time he was accepted as just one of the routine replacements who come in as a result of the various types of personnel losses. He soon proved to be much more than just a replacement; coming in for assignment. He stayed with this organization for the next 6 months. During that period of time he served as rifleman and demonstrated that he possessed outstanding military attributes beyond those of the average soldier. He faced the daily rigors of combat duty with the same attitude as his numerous other less hazardous tasks. He was truly a soldier.

"On the night of May 21, 1967, our battalion was operating in the Central Highlands near the Cambodian border. A large enemy force was also in that area. Just before midnight the enemy hit us with all he had in an effort to completely destroy us.

"As the enemy launched a mortar and rocket attack and charged our lines, our men held on like a 'wall of stone' and repelled them with superior fire power. Gary was in the midst of this fight and displayed that high degree of courage and gallantry which one so rarely reads about.

"Although temporarily blinded by metal fragments of rocket and mortar fire, he still persisted in returning to the line to join his comrades after receiving emergency medical treatment. This action illustrates more than any words of praise that he was not just 'another man' but an outstanding American fighting man. Shortly thereafter, he was wounded a second time by an enemy rocket fired into the area. It was this massive wound to kidneys and liver which proved fatal.

"Mrs. James can be just as proud of her son's military service as I am sure she is of every other phase of the life he lived. We of this unit are also proud of him and would like to emulate him in his high standards of soldierly bearing and love of country."

I Voted To Close the Church

(Editor's note: Members of the Christian Church requested the following article be published in The News, after it was discussed in their Sunday services. We are happy to publish the thought-provoking article, although the author is unknown.)

Could this voice be yours? "Last Sunday I voted to close the church; not intentionally, nor maliciously; but carefully, thoughtlessly, indifferently, I voted.

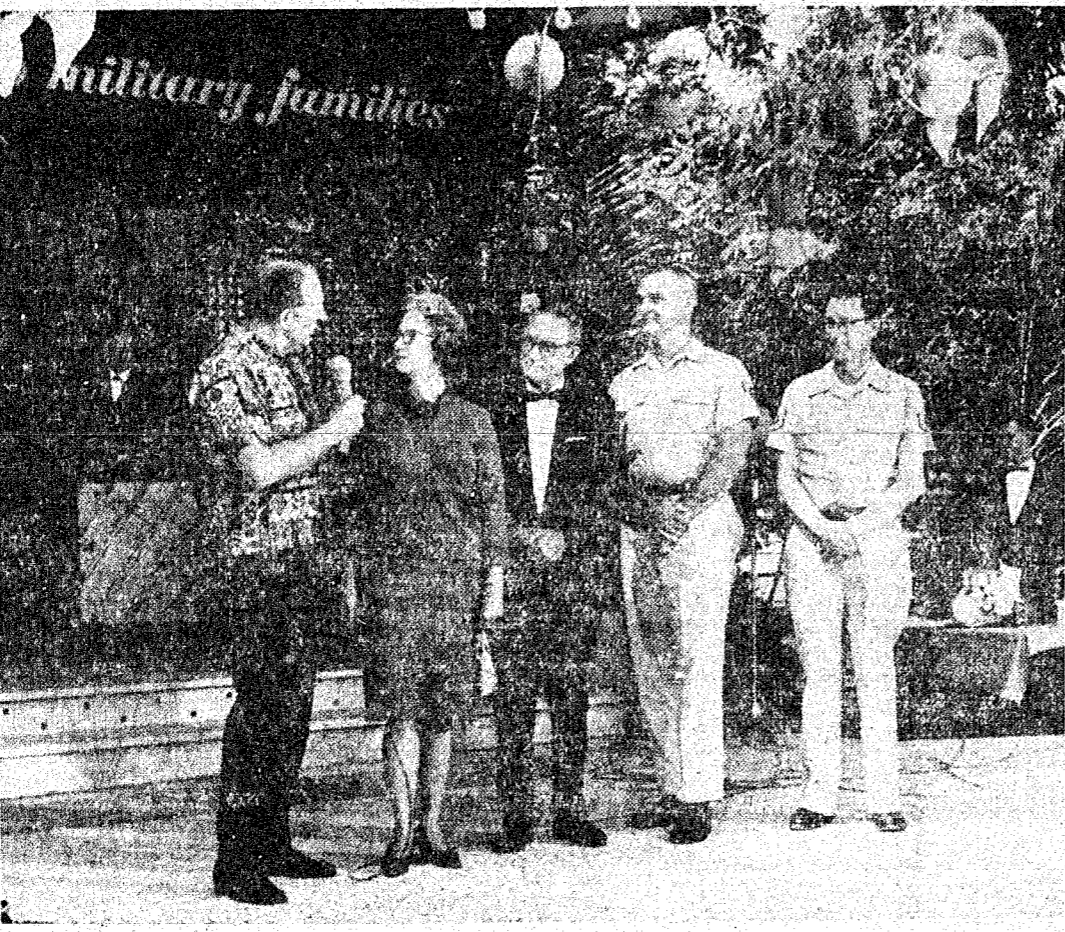

I voted to close the open Bible that had been given us by years of struggle and by blood of martyrs who died that we might have it to read.

I voted for our minister to stop preaching the glorious truths of the gospel of Jesus Christ. I voted that the children of the Sunday school no longer be taught the stories of the Bible.

I voted for the degrading influence of sin, the blight of ignorance and the curse of selfishness to settle on the shoulders of an already overburdened world.

Carlessly, thoughtlessly, I voted. For you see, I could have gone and I should have gone, but I didn't. I stayed away from church last Sunday.

Pastor and Mrs. Lee Hadley and children of Tulsa, Okla., visiting Sunday to Tuesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merl Roller. Mr. Hadley is pastor of the Tulsa Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Bass Trip To Europe Is Described

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bass recently returned from Europe where they visited their two sons and families and toured several European countries. Your editor asked them to prepare a descriptive article about their trip. In the words of Mr. Bass, the following is the reason behind their trip (including, of course, their visit with their sons and a description of some of the highlights. We wish to express our appreciation to Rose and Dick for their cooperation in the preparation of the following article.

By DICK BASS
Let me start this report of our trip to Europe to The Santa Anna News by saying that we are glad to be back "home" with all of you, the people of Santa Anna and Coleman County.

I will start this off with plans and facts that our sons and families, and Rose and I have planned for many years, but did not know if any of our plans would come true.

On Nov. 25, 1940, the 36th Division was called into service. I was First Sergeant of Co. D, 143rd Infantry at Temple, Texas. The division was soon to report to Camp Bowie at Brownwood. My two sons, Bennie and Dean, came to Santa Anna with Rose on Dec. 1, 1940, to make this our home. Part of the time they could be with me, but a lot of the time they could not. On April 1, 1943, when the temperature was 25 below at Cape Cod, Mass., I said goodbye to Rose. You boys in Santa Anna who were with us know what the orders said, "Boys, let's go." That we did on April 13, 1943.

We landed at Oran, Africa and the temperature was 120 degrees, and that was very hot. After six months in Africa, we got the news that we were to make a spearhead landing in Italy, near Salerno, at a small place called Paestum. The landing was made—and you who were there know how rough it really was. If you remember, boys, you who were there (and there were many from Santa Anna and Coleman County) that General Mark Clark, Commander of the 5th Army in Europe at this time, told us on a hill at Arzue, North Africa, that we would invade Italy if we had to walk on the dead to do it. On Sept. 9, 1943, we made this landing and we could have walked on the dead, but we had too much respect for them. After three days and nights in and around Paestum, the 1st Battalion of the 143rd Infantry was pulled out and sent to a small town, Maiori, which is up the coast, near Naples. There we were to meet the 2nd Ranger Battalion and make another landing. We did this but we had many casualties. After 13 days and nights of constant fire, every minute of the time, the Germans gave us all they had. We were in a cove of a large mountain range. We just had to stay there and wait for help. On the afternoon of the 13th day at about 5:30 p.m. I was hit almost direct by a German 88mm. I was conscious for about three hours, and then five days later I came to in Bizerte, North Africa. Finally, on down the line in Casablanca, North Africa, they told me I was going home.

They put four of us in an ambulance and we were started on our way to the hospital ship. There was a man next to me on a litter in a cast from his waist up, including his neck. He asked me who I was and where I was from. I told him Dick Bass and that I was from Santa Anna, Texas. He then asked me if I was Rose Bass' husband. He knew Rose and the boys well, but he had never seen me, as I had never spent much time in Santa Anna. I told him I sure was, and asked who he was. He told me he was Capt. Eddie Paul Voss from Santa Anna, and that he had been told that his brother, who was with our Battalion, had been killed in the invasion. I told him that this was not true and that I had talked with him just before I was hit. His brother went all the way through the war and now lives in Florida, and of course, Eddie Paul is a neighbor near our farm.

We both were sent to the Greenbrier Hotel in White Sulphur, W. Va., which had been turned into Ashford General Hospital. I had been there only a few days when Rose and the boys arrived. She had received the telegram from the War Department telling her that I had been seriously wounded and was being sent to this hospital. I arrived there very ill and weighing only 101 pounds. After weeks I began to get better, and it was there that I said if I made it, some day we would go back and see it all over again.

What I have written is not for publicity for me or my family, because many of our boys have done much more for their Country than I have done, and are still doing the job. A number of them have given the supreme sacrifice, and others are still doing so. Just recently a young man, to me just a boy, Gary James, gave his life that we might live and believe in God and the rights of our people.

Finally, with the help of our sons and some of the connections they have in Europe, the plans at times dreamt, I had come true. On June 7, 1967 Rose and I were ready for our trip to Europe to see our sons and their families and to see the things

B. J. Goodwin Promoted To Police Sergeant

BOBBY J. GOODWIN

Patrolman Bobby Joe Goodwin, a member of the Snyder, Texas, Police Department for the past year, was promoted to sergeant recently as the result of a comprehensive written examination given to all Snyder patrolmen. Goodwin answered 215 out of a possible 217 questions.

The test covered criminal law, criminal investigations, laws of evidence, traffic laws, public relations and techniques of supervision. Police Chief Stephen Clark stated that Goodwin is an outstanding example of the young career officer, and he is proud to have him as a supervisor.

Goodwin has been in the police profession for a number of years. He served on the police force at Coleman, Pecos and Dumas before joining the Snyder department. He attended San Angelo Police Academy, several FBI "in service" sessions, the Traffic Law Enforcement School of the Department of Public Safety, and is a graduate of the Southwest Academy for Law Enforcement at Howard County Junior College. He has also taken specialized courses in juvenile law.

Sgt. Goodwin is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goodwin of Santa Anna.

McCulloch County Singing Convention

This One Didn't Get Away

Henry Sorrells got a big rattlesnake late Thursday evening of last week. Henry said he saw the snake crossing the road near the C. C. Gilbert place south of town and ran over him with his pickup truck.

Running over him apparently did not phase him, so Henry took out his rifle and started shooting at him. He said when his hit his rattlers, the snake really got mad, coiled and started striking. However, Henry finally got in a good shot to the head and killed him.

He measured an even 5 feet long and weighed an even five pounds. There were still 13 rattlers on the snake, but it was easy to tell that several had been lost in the battle with the rifle.

Services For Brother Of Local Women

Funeral services for Clifford L. Seals, 61, of Coleman, were held at the Stevens Memorial Chapel at 4:00 p.m. Friday. Mr. Seals died in the Coleman hospital on Wednesday evening. He had been a resident of Coleman County since 1906.

He was a brother of Mrs. Rosa Henderson and Mrs. Artie Irby, both of Santa Anna.

A farmer and rancher, he was a member of the Baptist Church. He was born Sept. 17, 1905 in Bonham, and was married to Rosa Lee Kelly in 1925.

Burial was in the Coleman Cemetery, under direction of Stevens Funeral Home. The Rev. Paul Smith, pastor of the Coleman Concho Baptist Church, was the officiating minister.

Other survivors include his wife of Coleman; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Mitchell of Abilene and Mrs. Roy Wilder of Coleman; three brothers, Claude and Clyde, both of Coleman, and Wylie of Arlington.

Improvement Club To Meet Thursday

The Neighborhood Improvement Club will hold their regular monthly meeting in the Lions Club Building Thursday evening, July 20, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Burkett Playboys have graciously consented to furnish a musical program for the evening. They promise music all will enjoy. Leaders of the club request a good crowd to be present.

Several items of business are also on the agenda for discussion. Everyone is invited to attend the meeting and take a part in the proceedings. It is suggested that you bring someone with you that has not been to one of the meetings before.

Rita Rendon Winner In Essay Contest

RITA ANN RENDON

Miss Rita Ann Rendon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Rendon Jr., of P. O. Box 473, Santa Anna has been notified that she is one of 50 winners who participated in a national home economics essay contest sponsored by the Water Conditioning Foundation.

Miss Rendon's essay was selected from nearly 1,000 entries by home economics students throughout the United States.

The annual contest is a part of the Consumer Education Program of the Water Conditioning Foundation, of Glenview, Illinois, which is supported by the manufacturers and suppliers of water conditioning equipment.

Foundation officials report that the caliber of the essays was excellent. It was apparent from their fine quality that a great deal of research was spent on them by the students. The subject for this year's essays was "The Importance to Modern Home-making."

J. C. Smith Services Held On Thursday

Funeral services for J. C. Smith of Odessa were held Thursday, July 13, at 2:00 p.m. in the Chapel of Roses Funeral Home in Odessa. Mr. Smith drowned Tuesday of last week in Lake Nasworthy at San Angelo.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin — Texas Railroad Commission has turned up the oil allowable to a record high 48 per cent of potential — retroactive to July 1 — to meet demands created by the Middle East shut-out.

The Commission extraordinary mid-month emergency order was the third of the kind since the Arabian oil cutoff. It boosted the allowable to 3,540,560 barrels a day — higher than during latter part of the 1957 Suez oil crisis and probably the highest since wide-open production days of 1948 when producers were urged to build up war-grained crude supplies.

New increase adds 131,000 barrels a day to July allowable, which was raised to 42.9 per cent on the first of the month. Major purchasers told the Commission added production was necessary.

Allowable was 33.8 per cent when the Arab-Israeli shooting started in June. Commission raised it slightly — to 35.9 per cent — in mid-June, retroactive to June 1, and on July 1 announced the 42.9 per cent order.

August allowable is due to be set this week. Since the percentage factor was first used in 1963, the 37.5 per cent-of-potential production was the highest adjustment used until the present Middle East crisis erupted.

In addition to the major effect on the state's general economy, a steadily climbing allowable appears likely to increase Texas' governmental tax income substantially. It has been estimated that the July 1 order would mean $53,617 a day increase in state tax income — or a total of $1,600,000 through this month. Obviously, the increase now will be greater.

If the crisis continues for several months, the added income will be a major factor in shaping special session tax needs next year.

Meanwhile, Chairman Jim C. Langdon emphasized that the Commission is determined to avoid repetition of the situation that followed the Suez emergency when oil industry suffered for two and a half years working off surplus stocks which piled up as a result of the big allowable boost a decade ago.

AG OPINIONS—

State can pay for telephones and rent electric typewriters for use by legislators in their home district offices, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has ruled.

In other opinions, Martin concluded that:

- New law reorganizing Texas National Guard Armory Board and extending the terms of members to six years is constitutional.
- Dallas County auditor has authority jointly with the county's hospital administrator to establish and keep accounting procedures for the Dallas hospital district subject to board of manager's approval.
- Bee County attorney and 36th district attorney must report to district courts and county clerks all their collections of public funds or file negative reports if they have received none.

FARM MARKET EXPANSION
Agriculture Commissioner John White announced the initiation of what he called "the most aggressive market expansion campaign in the history of Texas agriculture."

White said the marketing drive will include efforts to present the true quality image of all Texas food and fiber products as well as specific programs to bolster markets for Texas-produced and processed commodities.

HURRICANE "WARNINGS"
The 1967 hurricane season has arrived, and coastal residents had better not forget it, warns Department of Public Safety Director Col. Homer Garrison Jr.

Pamphlets on hurricane precautions are being distributed to local civil defense offices in coastal counties.

Garrison said too many people "develop a false sense of security" after small hurricane experience or having been "on the fringes" of a major storm, and this attitude can be fatal.

Three major hurricanes have hit the Texas coast this century, including Carla in 1961.

SHORT SNORTS

Lieut. Gov. Preston Smith will become acting governor while Connally is on his African safari.

State Supreme Court has agreed to review question of whether a home for the aged affiliated with the Methodist Church is a property tax-exempt charity (Lower courts said the facility—Hilltop Village Inc.—is not).

Texas Water Rights Commission warned of acute summer water shortage in the Guadalupe River and tributaries above Comfort.

There have been 221 known rabies cases in Texas this year, according to Texas Veterinary Medical Association.

Chisholm Trail Museum Car Is Loaded with Relics

Those interested in the history of the cattle industry in the Southwest are focusing attention on the famed Chisholm Trail and the Museum Railway Car loaded with relics of trail days which today is traversing the historic cattle path.

The museum was provided by the Santa Fe Railway in cooperation with the Tri-State Chisholm Trail Centennial Commission sponsoring the event in Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas.

The car was converted by the Santa Fe Railway from a lounge and dormitory unit into a unique repository for a colorful collection of memorabilia of the early days. They include paintings and other works of famed artists. The car was conceived to provide a colorful vehicle in place of a proposed trail drive of Longhorns as such a drive presented problems including highway hazards and costs.

Governor John Connally, honorary chairman of the commission, officially launched the trail traveling museum with a ceremony at Austin June 6. It attracted crowds at Austin, San Marcos, San Antonio and Houston where it will be on display through July 2.

It shows at Killeen, July 6; Temple, July 7-8; Caldwell, July 9; Waco, July 11-16; Meridian, July 17; Cleburne, July 18-19; Fort Worth, July 21-24; Denton, July 26-27; Gainesville, July 29-30; Ardmore, August 4-5; and then other Oklahoma and Kansas points and concludes its initial showings at Abilene, Kansas, August 23-24, the end of the famous trail. It will be shown at the State Fair at Dallas October 7-22.

Bass Trip—

I had so often thought of. On June 7, I had a telephone call from our son, M-Sgt. James B. Bass (Bennie as you know him), who, as manager of the Flamingo Club in Naples, Italy, that he would be unable to meet us in London, and asked that his mother wear a white corsage so that Mr. Tony Harris, the man that was to meet us, would know us. He is a friend of Bennie's and he would meet the plane when we reached London. As we were leaving San Antonio's airport, M-Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Gafford, pinned a white corsage on Rose, as a going away gift. This was what she needed in order for Mr. Harris to know who we were.

We left San Antonio at 5:00 p.m. and arrived in New York at 9:00 p.m. This was the first time either of us had been on a plane and we had a great experience. We stopped in New York for more passengers and to refuel. This was a Charter Flight, No. 707, out of San Antonio. There were 163 people on this plane and before the trip was over we found we knew people that some of these people knew in Coleman. Rose did fine on the plane, but I did not do so well.

We arrived in London, England at Heathrow Airport and were met by Mr. Harris, who took us by car to his home. He told us it would not have been necessary for Rose to have worn the white corsage, because our son looked so much like her that he couldn't have missed Mr. and Mrs. Harris and their son, Eddie, really gave us a welcome.

The food in London was wonderful and we enjoyed the sights there. We visited Buckingham Palace, Westminster Abbey, House of Parliament, St. Paul's Cathedral, Trafalgar Square, The Tower and Bridges, St. James' Palace, and of course, we saw Big Ben. We enjoyed the changing of the guards very much. A New Zealand girl, Robin Peake, who worked for Mr. Harris, was our guide. She did her best to show us all the sights. After seeing all that we could, we rode the tube and decided that it was time to go back to our hotel. We stayed at The Douglas House, which is for Allied Military Forces and their families, as well as retired military people. The cost was very small and the service was wonderful. We left London by train and went to Harwick, England, and there took a ship to Hock Van, Holland. Rose is no sailor, but she did her best and did not say a word. I really enjoyed the ride over to Holland. It took us from 10:00 p.m. to 6:15 a.m. to get there. The water was rough. We went up into the North Sea before we reached Holland.

Our other son, S-Sgt. Richard D. Bass, Dean as you know him, met us at Hock Van. We joined the family and started our traveling. The weather was cold in Holland and we had to wear our coats. We visited Maduradan, Holland, which is called the Little City. This is in Den Haag. We then went to Gouda, which is famous for its cheese. We went to Rotterdam, then drove into Belgium where we spent the night. We had a very large tent, so we stayed by a beautiful lake. We were up early the next morning and the first stop was Antwerpen, and then on to Brussels, Belgium was the only country that we found grapes and they were the best grapes we have ever eaten. We ate lunch at Bastogne, which most of us remember as Nuts City. General Patton told the Germans, "Nuts to you" when the Germans asked him to surrender. We picked up gifts and drove to Luxembourg and stopped again. There we visited the National Cemetery. General Patton is buried there and Rose took a picture of his grave, with our two youngest grandsons standing by the grave. There are 5,076 buried there and most of them lost their lives in the "Battle of the Bulge." The names of 370 missing and 101 unknown graves are there. The cemetery contains 50.5 acres of land.

After leaving there, we drove to Germany and the first place we visited was Trier. We saw where the "Robe" was displayed. Of course, this is only done once every 20 years and only on even years. We saw the Roman wall which was built around the City of Trier and the open amphitheatre, and tradition reports that this theatre was the stage of those cruel performances in which Germanic prisoners and Christians were killed by wild beasts. After spending some time here we drove on to the small town of Alsenborn, Germany, where Dean and Faye live. They have a very nice home and are close to Sembach Air Force Base, where Dean is stationed. It is a nice little town and we enjoyed the people and food very much. We especially enjoyed the bratwurst that we ate there in the cafe, and the wienerschnitzel we ate on one of our trips. The shepherds near Sembach AFB would bring their sheep to graze the grass on the base. We saw many of these shepherds. They live with their sheep 24 hours a day.

We had a great deal of trouble learning to count the money. Each country that we traveled through, and we were in 8 different countries, we would exchange our money and about the time we started to learn the value of the money, we would be ready to enter another country, and we would have to start all over again. We spent several days in Alsenborn, and were able to take trips from there each day.

We left early June 16 for Naples, Italy. We passed through the town where Adenaur was buried and took this route as we journeyed to Stuttgart, Amdsburg, Oberammergau, where the passion play is held and Garmisch, where the Olympic Games are held. The waiting lists were very long at the hotels, so we decided to camp out again that night. We stayed near Mittenwald, Germany and it was cold there. Snow was on all the mountains. This camp was near a German Garrison of about 4,000 troops. They patrolled our camping ground all night and by morning, Rose was ready to go back to Texas.

We crossed into Austria and soon we were in the Brenner Pass and headed to Italy. We saw many castles in the mountains and grapes growing everywhere, but not fine enough to eat. Soon we were in Verona, Italy and we spent the night at Lake La Garda. Here we found the price of hotel rooms very reasonable as they came under military rates. It was a beautiful place and we were changing money again, and trying to speak Italian.

The next morning we drove to Bologna, Florence and then to Pisa. We enjoyed the Leaning Tower and Rose continued to take pictures and slides. Leaving there we went to Roma, driving along the shore line near the Tyrrhenian Sea. After spending some time in Roma, we spent the night and were ready to make the last drive to Naples. We went to Terracina, which will always hold dear memories to us. We had some car trouble near there and an Italian by the name of Jodini Isabella, a doctor, and his wife, took us into their beautiful villa by the sea and really gave us an unusual and wonderful welcome. They took us to lunch and the wonderful Italian food will never be forgotten. After a short time we had everything ready to go on to Naples, but we will never forget these wonderful people and what an experience we had. If we had not had car trouble, we would never have met them.

We arrived in Naples and drove to Bennie and Frances' home, which is up on the hill looking over the Bay of Naples. It was beautiful and the flowers were growing everywhere. We saw flowers along the way, but it seem to me that they were more flowers in Italy. The weather was hot and getting hotter all the time. While we were in Naples we took many trips and did a great deal of shopping, and took many pictures. The food in each country was good and got better all the time. The bread in Germany cannot be beat, but all bread in Europe is very good. We visited Pompeii and were lucky to have an Italian by the name of Mario Minna as our guide. Mario worked for Bennie and he was much help to us. We visited a noted artist studio and of course we brought back paintings.

The trip that meant more to me was the one to Maiori. We took two cars that day in order to hold all the family. We first visited the church where they took me after I was wounded. We were allowed to take pictures inside and the Priest treated us with the highest respect. He served us all refreshments and we will never forget the candy. I have never tasted any so good. Of course, the children liked this.

We then went to the mountain where I was wounded. I found the spot and now I had made my dreams come true. We spent some time at this place. We had a picnic lunch before going back to Naples. The fruit which we had for lunch is another thing worth talking about. There is none to compare with it. However, we had no grapes, as they were not ripe at this time of year. The next trip was to the cemetery at Nettuno, near Anzio. Boys who served with me were buried in this cemetery. We found a number of their graves. Capt. Henry W. Waskow is buried here and we took pictures of his grave. Capt. Waskow was a very dear friend of mine. His sister is married to a cousin of Rose, and we were happy that we could report to her about this beautiful cemetery and how well it is cared for. Another interesting trip we took was to Paestum, where we landed in Italy. I went to the tobacco factory where we had set up our CP, and where the first of our boys were buried. They later moved this cemetery to Anzio, and many were sent back to the United States.

By now I had made all the trips that I had planned and our time was drawing near to depart for home. Before I close I would like to say that one of the events which happened while we were there, which came as a surprise to Rose, was that she was on Art Linkletter's TV show, which took place at the Flamingo Club. He was touring Europe, visiting military bases, and she was asked to appear on the show as an unusual person, who wanted to visit her sons and their families and had made over 4,000 tamales to supplement her spending money and to help pay for the trip. This will be shown in the United States on color TV on Thanksgiving Day. The Bass family will be watching.

We went by an Italian plane to Roma, then to Paris, France by Air France. We left Paris at 8:30 a.m. and headed home with the group that left San Antonio. We flew to New York in eight hours and then to San Antonio in three hours and fifteen minutes. Just a little fast for people who are not used to this, but we were glad to be back home. We will never forget the wonderful experiences we have had and memories we have of spending all this time with the rest of our family in these countries, which now seem so far away.

Hemline Weights Add Pro Touch

Use weights in hemlines to add a professional touch to home sewing and to reserve the garment's shape, suggests Rhea B. Boyles, Extension clothing specialist with Texas A&M University.

You can use several types of weights for different purposes. Keep in mind that the weights shouldn't distort the garment, however. Single lead weights, either round or square, range from one-half inch to one and one-fourth inch in diameter. Weighted tapes, made of separate pieces of lead in a continuous strip of tape, also come in several sizes.

The chain weights, which are links joined together, can be fastened to hems of jackets and over-blouses. The chain weights are available in two sizes and can be purchased by the yard or in pre-packaged lengths.

Before you sew a weight into a garment, pin it to be sure you have placed where it is needed. Make a covering for the weight out of linen fabric. Then fasten the weight to the hem of the garment.

Veterans' Questions and Answers—

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.)

Q—If a married veteran attending school under PL 358 has a child, what should be done to obtain increased training allowance from the date of the child's birth?

A—The effective date of increased benefits for dependents is the date of request for the benefits if later substantiated with a copy of the child's birth certificate within one year.

Q—If a veteran who served during and after the Korean period of hostilities and subsequently applied for and successfully negotiated a GI loan prior to the date of enactment of PL 358 sells his home, will he be entitled to another GI loan because of his service after January 31, 1955?

A—Yes, subject to any claim arising out of the sale of the first loan if it was not refinanced.

Q—In the service medical report that I received it stated that I have a stomach hernia that I received while in the service. Is it too late to file for a disability pension from the VA?

A—There is no time limit as to when a veteran may file claim for disease or injury he feels was obtained while serving in the Armed Forces.

Q—I am a veteran's widow and received a check from the Veterans Administration of $50.40 a month up until the time of my remarriage. My second husband died shortly after our marriage and I would like to know if I am entitled to my first husband's Veterans Administration pension, since I am no longer married?

A—Remarriage following death of veteran makes the widow permanently ineligible for a pension based on the death of that veteran, unless the purported marriage is void or has been annulled.

Q—It has been several years since I have had a complete physical examination, and I feel that I need one. How do I apply to VA for this?

A—The VA does not give physical examinations or "check-ups" as such. You can get an examination at VA only in connection with some veterans benefit, or if you or your private physician feel you are in need of hospitalization. If for hospitalization or medical treatment, apply at your nearest VA hospital.

Q—I am receiving disability compensation for a 100 per cent service-connected disability. I have an unmarried 20 year old daughter who has decided to return to school. She desires to become a teacher. Will she be considered my dependent for compensation purposes?

A—Yes. As a veteran with the disability you describe, you would be eligible for additional compensation for this daughter. The Veterans Administration considers all children over 18 years of age but not 23 years to be dependent, if they remain in school. The school must certify to VA that they are in school on VA Form 21-674, "Request for Approval of School Attendance." Your daughter may also be eligible for educational benefits as a child of a totally disabled veteran. I suggest that you contact the VA regional office nearest you for further information.

Q—I have arranged to have the proceeds of my National Service Life Insurance paid to my wife under option one in a lump sum. In a discussion of this matter the other night the question arose as to what would happen if my wife and I were killed in an automobile accident?

A—In the event both the insured and the beneficiary were killed in a common disaster, a determination would have to be made as to who died first. If this cannot be determined, it is assumed that the insured died first. In this case the proceeds would be paid to the estate of the principal beneficiary. It is possible to avoid this kind of situation by providing in the designation of beneficiary the requirement that he or she survive the insured by a specific number of days, not to exceed 30. If the principal beneficiary does not survive the insured by the number of days indicated, the proceeds of the policy will be paid to the contingent beneficiary or the estate of the insured.

Q—What is the difference between going to school under the new educational act and the vocational training act?

A—Any eligible veteran can attend school under the new educational act while only certain service-connected disabled veterans can qualify under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

Q—What is the final expiration date for World War II Veterans to apply for a GI loan?

A—July 25, 1967.

Q—Is there a final date for conversion of a National Service Life Insurance Policy?

A—No, the policy can be converted at any time the policy is current.

Q—Where do I send my income questionnaire after it is completed?

A—There are several locations now processing these cards, and the address to which yours should be sent is printed on the card.

Social Security Decisions May Be Carried to Courts

(Ed. Note: This is the 4th of a series of 6 articles, telling of safeguards against wrong decisions in the social security program, prepared for Santa Anna News by R. R. Tuley, Jr., Social Security district manager.)

The first three of these articles covered reconsideration, hearings, and review by the Appeals Council. This week, a further course open to the denied claimant is discussed.

If he has secured only unfavorable decisions in those three steps, the claimant may then file suit against the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare in a United States District Court. Such action must be begun within 60 days of the date of the denial letter from the Appeals Council.

Federal District Judge does not call witnesses or hear testimony in the manner of "trials," but closely reviews the entire file in line with other district court appeals court, or Supreme Court rulings, and decides whether or not there is substantial evidence to support the adverse decisions of the Secretary. If so the judge affirms the denial; if not, he may order the Secretary to take award action, or he may feel that still further evidence is needed and remand the case to the Secretary for that purpose. If the latter, then he later studies the new evidence and possible revised decision of the Secretary before entering his own judgment in the matter.

If the District Judge's decision is still unfavorable to the claimant, the normal appeals processes leading to the U. S. Supreme Court are open to the claimant. In next week's story in this series are some statistics about how many of the initial denials get approval somewhere along the way.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

If you are worried about your heirs owning an estate tax on your property when you die, here are the rules: An estate tax return must be filed if the fair market value of your property is more than $60,000 on the date of your death. However, the community property laws usually allow the estate to be worth $120,000 in community property since each spouse is entitled to a $60,000 exemption. Remember these rules apply only to Federal estate tax and not to Texas State Inheritance Taxes.

CATCHING PAINT DRIPPINGS

Painting boats—or even lures—can be a messy chore. Paint drips all over everything nearby. Of course, you can set the can of paint on a plate or board to catch the drippings, but carrying the plate or board from spot to spot can be an all-fired nuisance. Eliminate this bother by dabbing a spot of glue on the bottom of the paint can, then place the can on a paper plate. Wherever you tote the paint can so goes the paper plate paint-catcher.

DO YOU POP OFF YOUR LURES?

Frequent loss of lures when casting can be caused by two oversights. Either you are tying faulty knots, or there is a badly roughened guide on your rod tip. Of course, if you're casting a heavy spoon with too light a line—that's a different matter. Just do not do it!

CATFISHING WITH ARTIFICIALS

Sometimes catfish are caught on artificial bait. But the time and effort expended is not worth the possibility. Primarily catfish are natural bait eaters. Leave them for the cane pole fishermen who know their habits and habitats.

3/4 OF NATION'S ROADS NOW PAVED

New York — More than 75 per cent of the nation's 3.7 million miles of roads and streets now are surfaced. Oil facts reports. Petroleum-based asphalt was used to pave more than 92 per cent of the 1.4 million miles that are hard-surfaced.

Shield News

By Mrs. E. S. Jones

Donations to the Shields Cemetery Association from June 20 to July 17 were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Leland Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Jones, Mrs. Alta Johnson, Mrs. T. J. Dalton, Sr., Mrs. Oddie Jones. Total of $563.14 has been contributed thus far. The cemetery has been worked twice, for a cost of $64.00.

Last Thursday morning Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Yancy and Mary and their two dogs were in their garden, 1 1/2 miles from their house, gathering vegetables. When they started to the house, Mr. Yancy turned on the switch, their pick-up backed and a blaze resulted under the hood. In a matter of seconds the vehicle was on fire all over. The vehicle was a complete loss, but all got out safe, and they were thankful they were no further from their house.

East week Mrs. Jesse Williams and Danny and Mabel Williams of Coleman visited in Floydada with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Williams and Gaylon, and in Lockney with the Kenneth Williams family.

Mrs. E. S. Jones. Mrs. Ura Dillingham and Richard visited Thursday at Whon, with Mr. and Mrs. Homer Schulze.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Yancy visited Sunday with Mrs. Will Taylor and Mrs. Mattie Lee Brown at Flsk.

John Dillingham, graduate of A&M University, is home this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dillingham. John will leave Thursday for Inkster, North Dakota, where he will teach agriculture in the Midway Schools.

Mrs. H. C. McClure's mother, Mrs. Mabel Byess of Stephenville, a brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Holyoak of Bisbee, Arizona, visited the McClures recently. On Sunday they and the McClures, Leta and Frances, were the guests of the Topper Beaver family at Talpa.

DON'T BE LURED

Many bait manufacturers try to attract fishermen to their wares by cheaply imitating the appearance and action of higher-priced lures. Don't be conned into buying cheap imitation. You'll likely find their action and durability far inferior to the better lures.

FRESH WATER TARPON

Not many anglers know that the king of the tackle-busters, the lardy tarpon, can be caught in fresh water in many places. Florida and spots along the Texas Gulf Coast produce them far up many inland streams.

Marketing Research Gets Involved

The subtle and often intangible art of marketing is reaching out and borrowing from the sciences these days to better understand consumer behavior.

Marketeers, says Dr. Bardin Nelson of the Texas A & M University Agricultural Economics and Sociology Department, are tapping the thinking of psychologists, sociologists and even anthropologists. These people deal in what is called the behavioral sciences.

Researchers in marketing are enamored with such ideas as attitudes, motivation, learning theory and a consumer reaction known as equilibrium.

"For example, the grocery chains spend thousands of dollars in research to determine what item as a "loss leader" would be most likely to disturb the equilibrium of the housewife and bring her into their store," Nelson said.

To disturb a housewife's equilibrium means to peak her curiosity. An example of a loss leader are the coupons often handed out or mailed, offering price cuts on certain items. They are useful in getting people into the store or in announcing new products.

Nelson said many of the grocery chain loss leader offerings center on breakfast foods. Price deals on bacon have proven to be especially good upsetters.

The field of behavioral sciences and image making has long been a favorite research area for Nelson. His finds have been printed and widely read.

In 1962, he wrote "Seven Principles in Image Formation" for the Journal of Marketing. This same material was the basis for a chapter on imagery and symbolism in a book titled "Consumer Behavior and the Behavioral Sciences."

Nelson says many ways have been suggested through the years for market development, but most of the progress and the major achievements have come from borrowing ideas from other sciences.

My, What a Big Fish! Oh, He's Not So Big!

La Grange — It's really a whopping fish story when the fisherman ends his story by saying the small one weighed only 138 pounds.

James and Edwin Karstedt, La Grange, this week pulled in two alligator gars from the Colorado River near Holman in Fayette County. The largest weighed in at 225 pounds and was 7 and one-half feet long, reports Game Warden Leroy J. Bennetsen, La Grange.

Warden Bennetsen calls it "the biggest fish caught in these parts."

Marion Toole, Inland Fisheries Coordinator for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, says that any gar over 200 pounds is certainly a big fish, but by no means a state record.

As an example, Toole produced a clipping from the Diboll Free Press, date February 14, 1963, showing J. L. Smith of Burke and Forest Jones of Lufkin with their 251 1/2 pound gar taken at the forks of the Neches and Angelina rivers above Dam B Reservoir in East Texas.

Another Department employee, quite an avid fisherman himself, said he heard of a 276 pounder taken in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

Which further goes to say and prove that the first fish story doesn't stand a chance. Sorry about that fellas!

PROPER BASS HOOK

Every fisherman has his own opinion as to which size bass hook is the best. Each may be correct, for bass hooks vary widely as to size, and each is equally successful. Bass are far from choosy and their mouths are big. Try a 1.0 for an all-round average size.

GETTING TWIST OUT OF LINE

Most aggravating thing about a monofilament leader is its inclination to curl. Anglers who use such leaders should carry in their tackle boxes a sponge rubber ball with a slit in it. Run the line through the slit several times, pulling hard, until the twist is removed.

4-H Sheep Raisers Show National Gain

Special — Young 4-H sheep raisers have their projects well under way and are busy bringing production records up to date for revue by local club leaders and the county extension agent. Enrollment in the National 4-H Sheep program last year was nearly 62,000, a substantial gain over previous years.

These boys and girls are following the oldest livestock pursuit known to man. The Book of Genesis describes Abel as a keeper of sheep.

Earliest records of man inscribed on stone reveal the existence of sheep. History tells of civilizations founded and destroyed on wealth from sheep, or lack of it. In ancient times, sheep provided the main source of clothing, meat and milk.

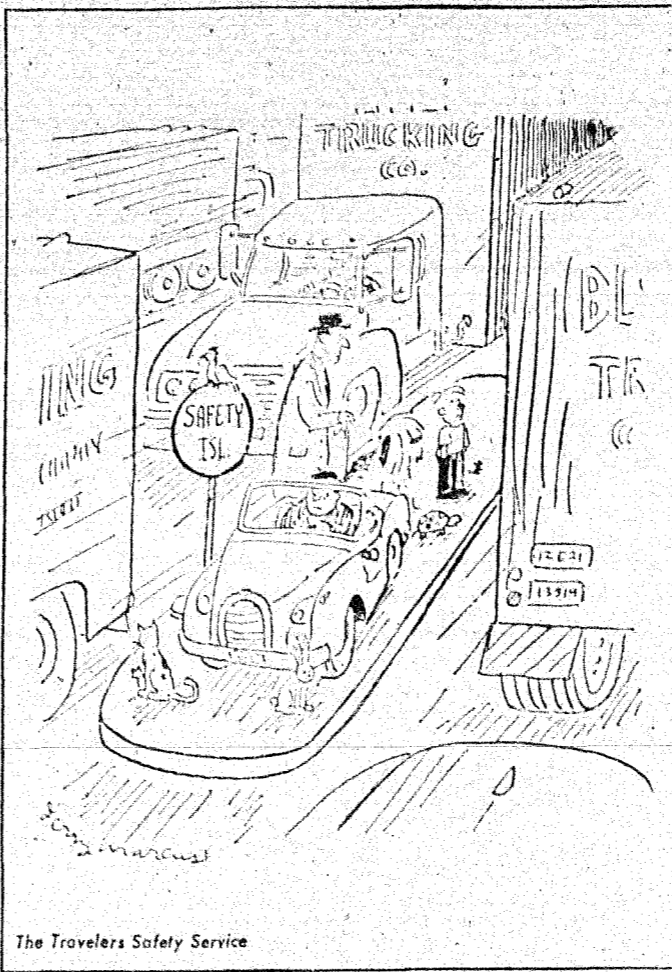

Spanish soldiers first carried sheep to America in the early 1500's. Around 1800 two fine wool producing breeds were imported: the Merino from Spain and the Rambouillet from France. Today, of course, there are many popular breeds in the U.S., for both fleece and meat.

In the 4-H Sheep project conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service, club members acquire many useful skills, such as shearing, dipping, trimming, ear tagging and showing. Also learned are facts about breeding, animal health, science and marketing.

Sponsor of the program is Wilson & Co., Inc., one of the oldest private backers of 4-H. State and national awards are provided. A handsome, engraved wristwatch will be awarded to the 1967 state winner, and $500 scholarships to six national champions.

Egg Is "Instant" Nutrition

The egg is one of nature's most nutritious ready-packaged foods, says Gwendolyne Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist with Texas A&M University.

Egg supplies are plentiful now, resulting in lower prices. It's no trick to cook up a pan of hard-cooked eggs at the beginning of the week and have them ready for use at any time. When cooking eggs, be sure the water is kept below the boiling point. An easy method to hard-cook eggs is to cover them with cold water and bring the water to the simmering point. Turn off the heat and allow the eggs to remain in the covered pan of hot water for 15 to 20 minutes. Cool eggs at once in cold running water. Butter in which eggs are fried should be kept below the smoking point. The key to cooking eggs is low temperature, so protein remains tender and tasty.

The hard-cooked egg can go into salad dressing, combined with canned kidney beans, pickles and celery for a salad. They are delicious in a cheese sauce over rice or toast; egg sandwich fillings are excellent, and deviled eggs are always a favorite.

It's amazing how often one will use hard-cooked eggs if they are already cooked and ready to go. Mrs. Clyatt points out:

LITTLE DIFFERENCE

If you worry about which fishing line is hardest on your rod guides, don't. There is little difference in wear between a monofilament and a braided line.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

Omar Bursleson, M. C. 17th District, Texas

Washington, D. C. — We are still trying to buy friends and influence people with the taxpayers' hard-earned money.

The foreign aid bill is soon to come before the Congress, and it is pretty much the same old story of the past 15 years—keep the hand-outs going and everybody around the world will love us.

The fact is, some of those we have helped most kick Uncle in the seat of his pants the hardest.

We continue to dip our ear into everyone's business — Rhodesia, the Congo, Greece — to play Santa Claus and the policeman at the same time.

Now, it is proposed that for all intents and purposes, we give away the Panama Canal, which has cost the American People more than $5 billion since our Treaty with Panama in 1903. This magnanimity on the part of the United States is supposed to placate Panama's demands and to show all Latin America that we no longer claim sovereignty over that which we have bought and paid for in perpetuity.

Since the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917, the Russians have demanded and announced their intention to overthrow U.S. control of the Canal. They have never lost sight of that goal. After last month's Mid-east crisis, the Soviets repeated their demand that all strategic waterways be put under "international" control. Yet that same crisis and the shutdown of the Suez Canal by Egypt, demonstrates how important it is to freedom that the Panama Canal remain in strong and responsible U.S. hands.

To "internationalize" the canal or to surrender our sovereignty over it can have the effect of augmenting Soviet power in the Western world and to weaken our own capability to resist aggression everywhere.

Theodore Roosevelt, quoted in the Kansas City Star on December 2, 1918, following the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution, had this to say:

"The Panama Canal must not be internationalized. It is our canal; we built it; we fortified it; and we will protect it and we will not permit our enemies to use it in war. In time of peace all nations shall use it alike, but in time of war our interest at once becomes dominant."

The details of proposals to abrogate existing treaties over the Panama Canal and to change its status of sovereignty are not yet known in detail. Both Houses of Congress, however, have repeatedly reiterated their approval of the fundamental provisions of the Treaty of 1903. Should the Senate approve, a profound change will come over the operation of the Canal. The question to be seriously considered is the soundness and workability of any new and untested concept — the concept of whether the Canal can still serve U.S. interests if it is no longer operated under the direct control and sovereignty of our nation.

The American people have the right to clear answers to many questions involved in this proposed transaction. Paramount are these:

Would a new treaty protect the American soil of the Canal Zone, obtained by both Treaty with Panama and purchase of property from individual owners?

Will any new treaty abrogate the body of law in the Panama Canal Zone Code and the administration of justice based upon it?

Will any new treaty protect the investment of approximately $5 billion made by U.S. taxpayers since the building of the Canal?

Will any new treaty protect U.S. interests in the Canal in the event that a sea level desalin or nuclear excavation prove impractical?

It is pretty well understood that we may propose the building of another canal, but probably without sovereignty over it for the protection of our tremendous investment.

Our sovereignty in the Canal Zone has been used for the good of all and honorably exercised for civilization. The demands of Panamanian politics and to show our generosity to the world are hardly enough to justify giving it away.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Power of Precedent

On March 18, 1963, the felony conviction of one Clarence Gideon was thrown out by the United States Supreme Court. Reason: at his trial Gideon had not been represented by a lawyer. The consequences were astonishing. Hundreds of prisoners, already convicted of everything from murder to robbery to arson, promptly filed appeals and won their freedom. Probably none of them had ever heard of Clarence Gideon before his courtroom triumph. But the rule that covered his case covered theirs too.

Of course, court decisions do not always lead to such dramatic results. Yet, their influence on our everyday life is well-nigh incalculable.

The display on today's newsstand reflects yesterday's obscenity decision. The label on today's medicine reflects yesterday's warranty decision. The cost of today's vacation reflects yesterday's tax decision.

The key to this pervasive influence is the power of precedent. In law, precedent is the means by which the problems of the present are measured against the experience of the past.

Suppose a court has to decide if you were negligent in the way you handled your car on a wet pavement, or the way you swung your golf club, or the way you filled out a check.

The court will examine precedents—that is, prior court decisions—for guidance. The more closely an earlier case resembles yours, the more likely that it will persuade the court to reach the same conclusion.

Precedents are not to be followed blindly. But either are they to be lightly disregarded. As a matter of plain justice, people in equal circumstances should get equal treatment.

And furthermore precedents lend shape and predictability to our entire legal system. Countless disputes between individuals are settled without a lawsuit simply because the precedents make clear, in advance, which side would win.

So, in a very real sense, we each have a direct personal stake in what happens to "two other guys" in the courtroom. We want them treated fairly not only for their own sake but also for ours, because—by way of precedent—they are establishing standards of right and wrong for us all.

They are our stand-ins, just as Clarence Gideon was a stand-in for the men in jail. That is why everyone's "day in court" is today.

New Cotton Insect Control Methods

Cotton insects are a constant threat to profitable cotton farming. Back in the 1940's, the normal control program was application of insecticide dusts. By 1947, liquid insecticides were introduced for better coverage, more efficient kill of cotton pests. These materials were mixed in water to obtain the desired spray coverage. With this cumbersome method cotton growers often used hundreds of gallons of water as a carrier for the insecticide to spray cotton acreage.

Today a dramatic new development is helping cotton farmers to increase their efficiency, cut costs and get better control of such troublesome pests as boll weevil, lygus bugs, thrips and others.

Scientists of the Plant Pest Control Division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and researchers from American Cyanamid Company were responsible for this breakthrough in insecticide application. They developed a new technique that makes it possible to control insects with ultra low volumes of undiluted Malathion insecticide . . . rates as low as 8 ounces per acre. It sounds impossible, but it is true. Several million acres of cotton . . . and millions of acres of rangeland and other crops have been successfully treated using Malathion LV Concentrate.

The use of such ultra low volumes as 8 ounces of insecticide undiluted per acre was made possible by development of special nozzles and pumps for spraying Malathion from aircraft. The spray is broken into micro-fine droplets, up to 75 droplets per square inch over the acre.

One airplane can effectively

Insect control with Malathion Low Volume Concentrate assures the farmer he can eliminate forage pests such as this Alfalfa Weevil as well as hayward and feedlot insects.

treat the same acreage in one hour as four airplanes would when applying conventional sprays. That adds up to faster, economical and more efficient insect control. Tests further revealed the same or better insect control with the ultra low volume equipment.

Now, equipment manufacturers are adopting the low volume concept to ground equipment. Eliminating the need for water as a diluent makes possible faster insect control than ever before.

Scientists are opening up many new uses for the Malathion LV Concentrate. Alfalfa weevil, a serious forage pest, can be controlled by aerial low volume applications. So can grasshoppers, cloverworms, dozens of different insect pests on many crops. Two additional advantages make this new ultra low volume method even more useful to farmers. Malathion is classed as a non-persistent insecticide. That means it kills insects, but leaves no harmful residues when used according to directions. It can even be applied over feedlots and animal holding pens to kill mosquitoes, flies and similar insects.

Ultra low volume spraying is a new trend that holds great promise as a more efficient, effective and less expensive way to control a wide range of insects . . . for more profitable farming.

Pads Save Mattress Wear

Mattress pads are worth their small price in the protection they give, says Jane Berry, Extension home furnishings specialist with Texas A&M University.

Easily machine laundered, mattress pads absorb perspiration and stains, saving wear on the mattress.

Like most household articles, mattress pads vary greatly in quality. Better ones have close, neat stitching in a quilted pattern that keeps the filling from shifting. Edges should be tape-bound and double-stitched, and the fabric should be pre-shrunk.

The best filler is bleached cotton or a synthetic fiber such as dacron or nylon, says the specialist. Some pads are plastic coated or covered so they can be sponged off between washings.

Mattress pads are also made of latex foam rubber and urethane foam. They vary in thickness, usually from one-half to two inches, and offer cushioning as well as protection. Many mattress pads have elastic corner bands to keep them in place.

There is also a combination pad and mattress cover which fits somewhat like a fitted sheet, protecting the sides and ends of the mattress as well as the top. Pads are made to fit extra large as well as standard beds.

If you have an old mattress, a pad may add greatly to the comfort of the bed. Old quilts may be used as a satisfactory pad until you find the mattress pad you need.

P&W Arrest Report Shows Upswing In Aquatic Recreation

The arrest reports, filed by Game and Fish Wardens of the Parks and Wildlife Department for the month of May, reflect the increasing use of Texas' waters for outdoor recreation activities, according to J. B. Phillips, Coordinator of Law Enforcement.

Leading the list were persons involved in violation of fishing laws. Of the 605 violations, 566 were for fishing without the required fishing licenses.

In second place were those violating the water safety laws. Top offense was failure to have a Coast Guard approved lifesaving device for each person in a boat—304 arrests were made. Also listed among the 377 water safety violations were 22 offenses for operating a motorboat without registration and 25 for operating a motorboat without number displayed.

There were 95 arrests for hunting law violations, with discharging a firearm on a public road and hunting without a license tying for the lead with 16 offenses each. The hunting or possession of game during closed season resulted in 42 arrests. Game species illegally hunted or possessed were deer, doves, antelopes, ducks, geese and wild turkey.

Commercial fishing law violations totaled 81, with the majority of the offenses being for " . . . no retail fish dealer's license."

Eight hunters and one fisherman had their licenses revoked. In addition, most of them paid $200.00 fines for their illegal hunting or fishing activities.

One encouraging note—of the 1161 violations, which cost the violators $18,041.84 in fines and $1,315.00 in court costs, only one of the violators apprehended was a juvenile.

Recreation Film Is Now Available

Austin — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has added a 25-minute motion picture entitled "Operation Golden Eagle" to the film library.

The film shows a family enjoying their Golden Eagle Passport in Federal outdoor recreation areas designated as fee areas. The color film is 16mm with sound.

Prints for club or organized group showings may be obtained by writing to the Film Librarian, Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas, 78701.

EXPERIMENTAL BASS BAIT

Bass should like the same bait that trout do, as their tastes seem very similar. Since it is well known that trout have a weakness for those little marshmallows the stores sell, why not try out this sweet bait on your next bass fishing trip? Dip small marshmallows in egg dye that has been allowed to cool. Sprinkle with grated cheese while still moist and put in tightly sealed bottle. Store in cool place until ready to use.

Federal Tax Questions And Answers

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—My wife and I both work. Can I claim her exemption for income tax withholding purposes?

—Yes you can if she does not also claim her exemption. The law does not permit two taxpayers to claim the same exemption.

Q—To make a change in the number of exemptions claimed, file a new withholding certificate, Form W-4, with your employer. If you decide to take your wife's exemption, she must file a Form W-4 to drop her exemption with her employer.

Q—Do I have to keep track of the value of our wedding gifts for tax purposes?

—No, these gifts won't be taxable to you.

Q—Are there any booklets that explain the federal tax on trucks?

—The highway use tax on motor vehicles is explained in Publication No. 349, Federal Use Tax on Trucks, Truck Tractors, and Buses. Send a post card to your district office for a free copy.

Those liable for this tax must file Form 2290, Federal Use Tax on Highway Motor Vehicle, by August 31 to cover the tax period beginning July 1.

Q—Is a foreign exchange student taxed on income earned in the U.S.?

—Money earned in this country will most likely be taxable. Details on what U.S. taxes a foreign student may be liable for are contained in the booklet, Document No. 5588, "Tax Advice for Foreign Scholars and Visitors on Official Educational and Cultural Exchange Programs, available at IRS district offices.

Q—I moved my business to a new location last spring but I'm still getting tax forms showing my old address. How can I get this changed?

—When you file your next return use the pre-addressed form, but draw through your old address and write the new one in its place. This will enable us to identify the mailing information we have for you in our files and to bring it up to date.

Q—My girl friend told me that I have to pay Social Security tax on any tips I make waiting tables this summer. Is that right?

—Tips have always been considered taxable income, but until last year they did not count for Social Security purposes. Congress changed the law on tips and starting January 1, 1966, tips have had to be reported to the employer for withholding purposes when they are $20 or more a month.

Based on these monthly reports, income tax and Social Security tax on tips are withheld from the employee's regular wages. You will find details on this in Document No. 5640, "Reporting Your Tips for Federal Tax Purposes."

Today's MEDITATION You Can Give It Away

The Upper Room

Read Romans 8:14-17

Whether . . . life or death or the present or the future, all are yours; and you are Christ's; and Christ is God's. (I Corinthians 3:22-23, RSV)

A summer sunrise reflected in Lake Hiwassee, with the Blue Ridge Mountains framing the view, brought our family car to a quick stop. Our camera clicked! The same day we tried to capture the sunset from the opposite side of the bridge.

When later we projected the color slide of the sunrise on the screen, a friend exclaimed, "What a glorious sunset!" When we showed the sunset, he commented, "What a beautiful sunrise!" Without familiar background landmarks, we ourselves could not have distinguished between sunrise and sunset.

Paul believed that whether in life or in death the committed Christian is Christ's. The question is not, Am I at the prime of life or at the point of death?

For the Christian, sunset is really sunrise. When anxious friends watch a loved one die, they whisper, "He's gone"; but friends who are waiting in the Father's House shout, "He's coming home!" The sunset is glory for all who walk in God's sunlight!

PRAYER:
Our Father, help us to live like sons and daughters who are prepared to die so that we may die like sons and daughters prepared to live. We ask in our Redeemer's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
For the Christian, death leads to life, sunset to sunrise.

HEALTH TIPS FROM AMA

Winter is commonly the time for colds and flu and sneezes, but there are some diseases and accidents that do their worst in hot weather.

The American Medical Association points out that some of these are obvious. Sun strokes and heat strokes are more likely to occur in July and August than in January. Too much exposure and too much exercise in the hot sun may produce sun stroke. Prolonged excessive heat, either in or out of doors can cause heat stroke. The symptoms are the same in either case. It is important to keep the victim cool and call a physician at once. Heat prostration also is caused by getting overheated, but instead of developing a high fever, the victim becomes cold and clammy. Prompt medical attention and keeping the patient as warm as possible are important.

Sunburn has hospitalized many a vacationer. Everyone should know that gradual exposure to the sun, beginning with a few minutes a day, is the recommended course. But many of us forget to watch the clock and to take precautions against sunburn in the excitement of the first day at camp or at the seashore.

The bacteria that cause diarrhea multiply much faster in lukewarm foods, and it's important to keep cold foods in refrigeration, and to keep hot foods hot.

Swimming is fine exercise and also is good for cooling off on a hot day. Those with sinus or ear troubles should be careful of swimming. Swimmers should make certain that the water is safe from pollution. A clear mountain stream may look attractive. It also may be loaded with germs. And there are still cases of typhoid and dysentery from drinking untreated water. Campers can disinfect water by boiling or by commercial disinfectant tablets.

If there are horses or cows around, there is likely to be tetanus. Tetanus (lockjaw) is very serious. It can be prevented by injections of tetanus toxoid. If your family has not had tetanus boosters recently, get your shots before going to the country.

Flies, roaches, mosquitoes and ticks are troublesome in the hot months. Insecticides and screens usually can keep them under control. In tick country it is essential to make a close examination after disrobing to remove all ticks.

Do You Know This Man?

At 9:48 a.m., August 8, 1966, an unidentified white male who was armed attempted to rob the Inwood National Bank of Dallas, Dallas, Texas. A customer who attempted to intervene was shot and killed by the robber. An FBI artist's conception of this individual has been described by witnesses as an excellent likeness of this person. The man was described as approximately 27 years old, approximately 5'8" or 5'9" tall, and weighing about 160 pounds. His hair was very dark or black and well groomed. His eyes were dark and he possessed a muscular build with broad shoulders and a narrow waist. Witnesses stated this individual's speech accent indicated the possibility that he was from Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas or Louisiana.

During the commission of this attempted robbery the robber kept telling customers and employees in the bank not to look at him or he'd kill them. One witness thought he had the initials "J. B." on his upper left arm. Another witness noted that when he walked he rose on his toes noticeably.

The FBI has requested that anyone having any information as to the possible identity of this individual please contact the nearest office of the FBI. Anyone having such information is cautioned not to attempt to apprehend this individual, inasmuch as he is considered armed and extremely dangerous.

WARNING FLAG

Skin-divers often use a red flag with a diagonal white stripe to warn boatmen that they are at work below. Use caution when you see such a flag raised on a boat or float. This is especially important to trollers. Not only are trollers likely to take off a luckless skin-diver's head with their keel or motor but they could tear his body open with a deep-running hook.

Homemade Vanilla Ice Cream

- 3/4 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons corn starch
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 cups milk
- 1/2 cup light corn syrup
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 cup light cream
- 2 teaspoons vanilla

Combine sugar, corn starch and salt in double boiler top. Blend in milk, corn syrup and eggs. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened, about 10 minutes. Chill. Stir in light cream and vanilla. Freeze in 2-quart ice cream freezer following manufacturer's directions. Makes about 2 quarts.

Chocolate Ice Cream: Follow recipe above, adding 1/2 cup cocoa with dry ingredients, substituting heavy cream for light cream, and decreasing vanilla to 1 teaspoon.

Banana Ice Cream: Follow recipe above, substituting 1/2 cup heavy cream and 1/2 cup mashed banana for the light cream and decreasing vanilla to 1 teaspoon.

Strawberry Ice Cream: Follow recipe above, substituting 1/2 cup heavy cream for 1 cup light cream, adding 2 cups chopped strawberries (sweetened fresh or frozen, thawed) with cream, and decreasing vanilla to 1 teaspoon.

Many Vets Enter School Under G. I. Bill

More than one-half million veterans entered training during the first year of the educational program under the 1966 GI Bill. Jack Coker, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco reported.

He predicted an even more successful program in fiscal year 1968, with well over 600,000 veterans expected to enter colleges and universities throughout the country.

The peak enrollment month during fiscal year of 1967, saw 223,000 students on campuses, but that figure is certain to be exceeded during the coming year, Coker said.

The average GI Bill student during FY 1967 was 28 years old, and 45 per cent of the students had one or more dependents. Seventy-six per cent of the veterans entered courses at the college level, compared to about 39 percent during the World War II GI Bill program and 50 percent when the Korean GI Bill was in effect.

Approximately 15 percent embarked on graduate studies. Statistics show that 93 per cent of the veteran-students had completed four years of high school.

For 35 percent of the students it was their first year of college, Coker said.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

If you are hit by flood, fire, tornado, or even if your prize bull is struck by lightning you may suffer a tax deductible casualty loss. The first $100 of a casualty loss is not deductible, and you cannot claim losses that are reimbursed by insurance. When disaster strikes, keep a record—check your tax instructions and be prepared to claim the deduction that misfortune has qualified you for.

GOOD FOR TROLLING

Both casting and spinning rods are good for trolling. There is little difference between the two.

ANT REPELLANT

Pipe smokers should have little trouble keeping ants off the camp table. Just dip four pipe cleaners in coal oil and wrap one cleaner around each leg of the table. Ants won't come within a country mile of the table top.

OILY TRICK

When fish are in the drums and not biting, try stimulating their interest. On your next fishing trip, include in your lunch box a can or two of sardines. Dip your pork rinds in the leftover sardine oil every now and then when casting, and you'll find that the fish take a renewed interest in your offering. Fish go for that exotic sardine oil. You might ask mama to keep a small bottle handy in the kitchen... and pour the excess sardine can oil in it until filled. Then pack it away in your tackle box to use anytime you need it.

FERRULE CEMENT

When repairing a fly rod, use stick cement in the ferrules. It is generally considered superior to the more recent liquid product.
