Glenn R. Lewis Asks For Re-election As District Judge

Judge Glenn R. Lewis has asked to be re-elected to the office of District Judge of the 119th Judicial District, which is composed of Tom Green, Runnels, Coleman and Concho counties. He divides duties in Tom Green County with the 51st District Court and in Coleman County with the 35th. He is unopposed.

Glenn R. Lewis, District Judge

Judge Lewis, who resides in San Angelo, first took office on January 1, 1965, following Judge O. L. Parish's decision to retire. He says that during his first three years and two months in office he was in court in Ballinger during 171 days, in Coleman 75 days and in Paint Rock 51 days. He points out, however, that on many of those days he was able to attend to court business in Ballinger during the morning and in Coleman during the afternoon. The remainder of his time he spends in San Angelo in trials, study and organizing his work.

Judge Lewis is a Democrat.

"Christ In The Passover" To Be Presented at First Baptist Church

"Christ in the Passover" demonstration by Arnold G. Fruchtenbaum, will be presented at the First Baptist Church, Sunday, March 17, at 11 a. m. It is a remarkable program, featuring all of the significant elements of the Passover as it has been observed annually in Jewish homes for almost 3500 years. The Passover special foods and equipment are explained as when the Hebrews were redeemed by the Lord from slavery in the land of Egypt.

Mr. Fruchtenbaum further demonstrates that the Passover which God ordained not only look backward to the early, miraculous history of Israel, but that the Passover also looked forward to the coming of the Messiah of Israel, the Lord Jesus Christ, who would be the perfect sacrificial offering for the sins of the world, the Passover Lamb of God. For this reason Christ Himself established the Lord's supper out of the Passover Feast so that His churches would memorialize His death until He comes again.

Fruchtenbaum was born of Jewish parents in Siberia, Russia during the Second World War. He arrived in Brooklyn, N. Y. as a youth. In 1957 he was contacted by the American Board of Missions to the Jews and received Jesus as his Messiah. He was educated in New Jersey, received his B. Austin — Rural areas are surprising the experts on voter registration.

Preliminary figures submitted to Comptroller Robert S. Calvert show that the first 100 counties to report on their voters, all smaller counties, had a 63.5 per cent gain over last year.

Estimates by tax collectors in the three largest counties—Harris, Dallas and Bexar—indicate gains of only 13.6, 31.7 and 18 per cent.

Some of the increase in rural counties is due to the fact that voters over age 60 in rural areas and towns under 10,000 now must register to vote. Heretofore, they could vote without registering.

It is estimated that the number of qualified voters in Texas will exceed 4,000,000 this year. Final figures will not be in until April 1, the date that county reports are due.

SCHOOL COSTS RISING
Local school districts' share of the minimum foundation school program for next year will be $5,800,000 higher than the current level.

However, only 74 districts actually will have to pay a bigger share of teacher salaries, maintenance and operation costs of schools, bus transportation and Texas Education Agency operating expenses. In fact, 157 will pay less.

Total estimated cost for the minimum foundation school program this year has grown to $739,112,195. Local fund assignment is $159,600,000.

The State Board of Education approved a new economic index on which each local district's share is calculated, selected textbooks for 23 subjects and all grades, and endorsed a plan for spending $737,950 in federal funds to aid handicapped children. While the bulk of the money would be spent in larger school districts, Victoria, Huntsville, Mount Pleasant, San Angelo and Midland will obtain $8,400 each to effect special education plans for handicapped young people in rural and sparsely settled areas.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING URGED
The need for improved vocational technical education to train the unemployed for paying jobs is being spotlighted in Texas as never before.

Virtually all major candidates for governor are proposing this as one way to trim welfare rolls, raise more taxes, curb the danger of riots and reduce crime.

Both House and Senate committees are conducting hearings and studies on how best to expand training courses and improve techniques.

Gov. John Connally gave job training facilities a major boost by endorsing an application of the Lower Rio Grande Valley Development Council for a $9,000,000 federal grant to build and operate a new technical institute at Harlingen Air Force Base.

Connally said he feels that most such training probably should be handled through the junior college system. But he described area problems as so urgent that waiting for development of a system was not feasible.

He said he will recommend to the next legislature an appropriate state agency to run the new institute permanently. Meanwhile, he recommended that Texas A & M University and James Connally Technical Institute at Waco operate the Harlingen facilities.

Last year the legislature appropriated $5,200,000 to buy facilities and equipment at James Connally Air Force Base to launch the state's first program of this kind. Funds from the Federal Manpower Training Act will finance 90 per cent of the Harlingen facility's cost at least until June 30, 1969.

BARRERA NAMED STATE SECRETARY

Bay Barrera, 41-year-old San Antonio attorney, is John Hill's successor as secretary of state. Hill resigned last month to devote full time to his race for governor.

Governor Connally named Barrera to the $24,000-a-year job. His duties include services as governor's top liaison man as the chief state election officer.

Barrera is a member of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, is a former chief prosecutor in the Bexar County district attorney's office and is ex-president of the board of trustees of the Edgewood Independent School District.

COURTS SPEAK

Fining of 22 whites for staging a civil rights sit-in at Cafe Raven in Huntsville was affirmed by the Court of Criminal Appeals. The same court also upheld the death penalty conviction of Tammy R. Vessels for rape of a Gray County woman and ordered a new trial in a fatal stabbing case.

The State Supreme Court ordered a Bexar County jury trial to determine whether a group of San Antonio stockholders in the Uvalde Rock Asphalt Company has the right to inspect the firm's books and records.

The Third Court of Civil Appeals reversed an additional workmen's compensation award to a Comal County woman hurt on the job because her lawsuit, petition appealing the Industrial Accident Board decision was filed one day late.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held that county commissioners courts may not legally sell to private concerns for commercial purposes duplicate copies of magnetic tape containing the names of registered voters.

However, Martin said that county tax assessor-collectors and their deputies can prepare on their own time and sell copies of the registered voter list, providing the "moonlighting" does not interfere with regular duties.

In a separate opinion, Martin concluded that the State Liquor Control Board must turn down liquor license applications from persons who have not been Texas residents for the past three years.

GOVERNOR PREPARING BUDGET

With a view toward that special legislative session just around the corner, Governor Connally is putting the final touches on his budget, recommendations this year.

Connally still declines to be pinned down on the session date, but he volunteered one significant prediction: The new tax bill at this time appears to be shaping up in the $125,000,000 to $135,000,000 range.

Legislative Budget Board previously gave tentative approval to spending for 1969 which would require some $122,800,000 in additional taxes. LBB general fund budget so far totals $468,500,000. The governor's will be higher.

INDUSTRY CONFERENCE SET

Major industrialists will address the first Governor's Conference on Industrial Expansion here on April 3.

Purpose of the conference is to explore ways to further build existing industry which annually accounts for 85 per cent of all industrial growth in this state. Five panels will explore growth industries with a view to showing communities how to stimulate expansion.

Headline speakers include John D. Harper, president and chief executive officer of Aluminum Company of America and James J. Ling, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Ling-Temco-Vaughn, Inc., Dallas.

CATTLE EXPORT PROGRAM

The Texas Department of Agriculture is publishing in Spanish a directory of the state's leading cattle breeders and ranchers for distribution among Latin American cattlemen. Purpose is to lure cattle buyers to the Lone Star State. If that gets them here, the department hopes to have bilingual personnel meet them at the border and show them around.

The program is aimed only at Mexico now, because of lack of funds, but if the special session of the legislature comes through—probably this summer—the program will be expanded to all of Latin America.

ELECTRIC EYE

Electronic watchdogs are being strategically placed on rivers and streams all over the state by the U. S. Geological Survey and the Texas Water Development Board in an attempt to gain all the information necessary for having a complete assessment of Texas' water resources.

As of July 1, 1967, they had instruments gathering data at 802 locations, and by next July, that number will increase to more than 1,000. Instruments measure such things as continuous streamflow, chemical quality, lake content and river and stream stages.

SHORT SNORTS

The Federal government will acquire 206,650 acres in Williamson County during the next five years to build Laneport and North Fork dams on the San Gabriel River, reports the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Renovation and expansion of Stephen F. Austin State Park three miles east of Sealy is almost complete, according to the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Texas business activity shows good signs of stabilization for 1968, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

The Texas Water Quality Board is studying 12 applications for some of the $2,000,000 available through legislative appropriation of planning grants for state Sewage Treatment Facilities.

The Texas Tourist Development Agency will host 70 travel writers and managers from the American Automobile Association on a tour through the Highland Lakes area, Hill Country and the Corpus Christi area on March 23-25, to see what besides HemiFair is in this section of Texas.

Governor Connally selected James Braxton Zimmerman, judge of Dallas County Criminal District Court No. 5, to succeed the late Judge Joe B. Brown.

Waggoner Carr designated State Rep. Pendleton of Andrews as state manager of his campaign for governor.

Plans to form 150 local safety councils throughout the state to combat accident tolls will be outlined by the Texas Safety Association at its 29th annual conference meeting set for March 17-20 in Dallas.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ: "Where's my refund?" is a popular question at Internal Revenue these days. The answer varies, but here are some samples:

1. You have to file your return before Internal Revenue can send your refund to you.
2. If you have moved, you have to let us know about your new address.
3. You will have to fill out the form we sent you and give us the information before we can correct the errors in your return—then we will send you your refund.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Sparkman and children of Houston spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Burl Sparkman.

Your New Social Security

(By R. R. Tuley, Jr., Dist. Mgr.)
 Editor's note: This is the 8th of 11 articles giving the pertinent details of the new provisions in Social Security.)

Here are some of the improvements in Medicare made by the 1967 amendments:

Services in Non-Covered Hospitals

Also, the Medicare program may now make partial payment of bills for treatment before January 1, 1968 in hospitals not participating in the Medicare program. If you had to pay a hospital bill because you were treated in such a hospital, it may be possible for you to be reimbursed, if the hospital meets certain minimum standards, i. e., it is licensed as a hospital; has a full-time nursing service; and provides medical care under the supervision of a doctor.

During the first year of Medicare some hospitals were not able to take part in the Medicare program, and others have not chosen to take part for one reason or another. A special provision for payment in emergency cases helped many people, but there were some hospitals which did not qualify even under the emergency provision. And some people covered by Medicare and admitted to these hospitals when there was no medical emergency provision mistakenly believed that Medicare would pay their bills.

More Bills Pails in Hospital

Starting January 1, 1968, the Medicare insurance part of Medicare pays the full reasonable charges of radiologists' and pathologists' services while you are a hospital inpatient, if you are enrolled for medical insurance. Under the old law, Medicare paid only 80 per cent of the charges after the $50 deductible has been met.

Under the old law, if you were in a hospital or extended care facility and not eligible for hospital insurance payments—because you had used up all your hospital inurance benefit days, or because you did not enter the extended care facility within 14 days after a hospital stay of at least 3 days—services such as X-rays and laboratory services were not covered by either hospital or medical insurance.

After April 1, medical insurance will cover such services if you are in a hospital or extended care facility. These services would ordinarily have been paid for as part of your doctor's bills if you had not been in the institution.

Physical Therapy Payments Broadened

Another change in the Medicare program provides payments for physical therapy under medical insurance, in your home or elsewhere, if it is furnished by an approved hospital, clinic, rehabilitation center, or public health agency.

Modest Witness

Scene: a court of law. Situation: a man is on trial for making an obscene telephone call to a young woman.

Problem: must the young woman, when she takes the witness stand, repeat—word for word—what she was told on the telephone?

It can be embarrassing indeed. As one judge put it, she might have to say words "that any refined girl would blush to repeat to her most intimate friends."

Yet, the problem of modesty cannot be avoided if justice is to be done. In a case of criminal assault, the woman may be asked to describe what happened. In a case of accidental injury, a woman may be asked to reveal a part of her body not ordinarily exposed to public view.

Generally speaking, the law tries to respect a woman's modesty—not as a matter of gallantry but as a matter of encouraging women to

How To Loaf With Mince Meat

Fill-'em-up fare from the Borden Kitchen: a meat loaf sparked with the pungent good taste of ready-to-use mince meat.

Mince Meat Stuffed Meat Loaf

(Makes 6 servings)

2 lbs. ground round
 2 tablespoons plus 1 teaspoon (one-half of 1-1/4 oz. pkg.) onion soup mix

2 eggs, beaten
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 tablespoons dehydrated parsley flakes

STUFFING:

2 tablespoons Danish Flavor Margarine OR butter
 1/2 cup (4-oz. can) stems and pieces mushrooms, drained and chopped
 2 tablespoons chopped red sweet pepper

2 tablespoons chopped green sweet pepper
 1-1/3 cups (1/2 of 28-oz. jar) None Such ready-to-use mince meat
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 2 cups dried bread cubes
 2 tablespoons dehydrated celery flakes

In a large-size mixing bowl, combine ground round, soup mix, eggs, salt, and parsley flakes. Line the sides and bottom of a 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan carefully with approximately 3/4 of the meat mixture. In a large skillet, melt margarine or butter. Sauté chopped mushrooms and peppers until golden brown. Add remaining ingredients; mix lightly. Spoon stuffing into meat-lined loaf pan. Press firmly. Cover with remaining meat mixture. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven about 1-1/4 hours, or until top is dark golden brown. Pour off liquid from pan. Invert pan over serving platter; carefully remove pan. If desired, pipe onion whipped potatoes through a decorator's bag across top of meat loaf.

take the witness stand in the first place.

They will "testify with less reluctance," a court noted, "if relieved from the inhibitions imposed by the presence of a curiosity impelled audience."

How can the modest witness be protected? The most common method is to clear the courtroom while she is giving the embarrassing testimony. Another method, in case of bodily injury, is to have a doctor testify to the details — if necessary, with the aid of photographs.

A third possibility, when obscene language is involved, is to let the woman write the words down instead of speaking them out loud.

Unhappily, none of these methods is a perfect solution to the modesty problem. Clearing the courtroom raises questions of whether the accused person is getting the "public trial" guaranteed to him by the Constitution. Testimony by a doctor is useful in only a limited class of cases.

Other Sunday visitors were granddaughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Adams and sons of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Moresco and Karen Shaw of Alvarado and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Yates and girls of Abilene.

All kinds carbon paper at The News office.

As for writing words down, that reduces the jury's ability to discern whether or not the witness is telling the truth.

Because of these conflicting considerations, the law has usually avoided laying down any hard-and-fast rules. Instead, the trial judge is given broad discretion. After all, he is in the best position to decide which procedure, under the particular circumstances, makes the most sense.

Outdoors In Texas

Many people have the misconception that the only way to catch panfish — sunfish (perch), crappie, etc. — is with natural baits, like earth worms and crickets.

Normally bait of this type will catch most panfish, but usually artificial lures will take larger ones.

Lake Marble Falls, located almost downtown in the community of Marble Falls in central Texas, holds an astronomical number of sunfish. But a fisherman using earthworms will more often than not, catch only a batch of little ones. These eager, speedy, small fish beat the bigger ones to the bait.

Next time out, try some of those tiny spinners, bugs and flies. They are more effective in taking the larger fish.

There are two facts to consider when using spinners with artificial baits. Use a small bait and fish slowly. The smaller the artificial, the more effective it will be. And whether it is a surface or all under-water lure, retrieve as slowly as possible.

For fun at its best the sunfish should be taken on light tackle, something like a fly rod or an ultra-light spinning outfit.

Dick Brown, publisher of the Austin American-Statesman likes to cast for so-called bream on Lake Austin, using a seven foot fly rod that weighs less than three ounces. He says even a hand-sized fish fights like a big one on this dainty tackle.

Topwater bugs or flies on a fly rod should be small. About a No. 10 bug is best. The smaller bug will tempt many more strikes than a large one. Any tiny fly is okay, with standard colors of black, yellow and white producing best.

With a bug, just barely wiggle it on the surface. Don't pull with enough force to pop it. Pull the fly through the water in short, slow pulls. Sometimes a tiny spinner attached to the front of the fly will add the flash that attracts more strikes.

Also very effective is the ultra-light spinning outfit with the miniature lures designed for such tackle. A tiny spinner is best. A typical one will be less than an inch long with about a No. 10 treble hook.

Reel the spinner just fast enough that the blade spins; the slower you retrieve, the more strikes you'll get.

Sunfish seem to prefer bright colors like yellow with black dots, or orange with black dots.

With the fly rod or spinning outfit, the angler can cover much more water than he can while fishing with natural bait, and by exposing his offering to more fish, he naturally stands a better chance of catching more.

While most crappies are taken on live minnows, there actually are times when a tiny white jig will take more and bigger fish. This is particularly true in the springtime, when fish are in the shoreline shallows to spawn. But sometimes it is also true when the fish are deep, near the bottom. I remember a time on Lake Falcon in south Texas when the crappie ignored minnows, but a tiny jig hopped around the base of the submerged brush would prompt a strike.

To be effective the jig must be small. One weighing about 3-16 of an ounce is the best size. Probably the best known is the Fle-Fly jig.

Usually the best retrieve is to simply cast the jig and allow it to sink to the bottom near submerged brush or trees, then reel in slowly and steadily. There may be times when you have to twitch the rod tip ever so lightly to get the action that brings strikes.

If you can't adequately cast such a small bait, rig a pair up in tandem, one on the end of the line and another on a dropper line about 18 inches above this one. When the crappies are cooperative, it isn't uncommon to catch two at a time.

Hospitals and You

By Merl M. Roller

The admitting office is frequently referred to as the nerve center of the hospital, Merl M. Roller, Santa Anna Hospital administrator said in a discussion of hospital procedures. "This identification results from the increasing scope and complexity of this department, which is charged with governing the flow of patients in accordance with hospital policies and serving as a screening point through which all patients must pass."

Mr. Roller said, "A patient's first impression of a hospital remains with him and conditions his feelings during his entire stay. This impression is often influenced by the feeling of apprehension and fear many patients experience when faced with the necessity of becoming a hospital patient. Hospitals generally strive to put the patient at ease from the moment he arrives."

"It is a surprising fact that many people do not realize it is necessary for a physician to refer them to the hospital for admission. In other words, a patient cannot admit himself without a doctor's request. Therefore, it is very wise for everyone to have a personal physician."

"Many hospitals expedite non-emergency and scheduled admission of patients through pre-admission forms sent to the patient in advance and confirmed by telephone. This procedure eliminates any unnecessary delay when the patient arrives."

"A patient can be of great assistance to the hospital and to himself by bringing with him his hospitalization insurance policy or policies, or complete insurance information including name of company and policy number, also his personal identification. If the patient is covered by medicare, he should also bring his medicare card with him. It is wise for an individual to carry with him at all times a complete listing (including policy numbers) of all hospital insurance coverage." "In fact," he added, "this information is quite valuable in emergency situations such as an accident."

On the other hand, the patient is advised not to bring valuables to the hospital such as large sums of money, jewelry, furs, etc. If he comes with these items they should either be sent home with members of the family or a friend, or given to the hospital for safekeeping during his hospital stay. They should never be taken to the patient's room because hospital personnel are too busy tending patients to assume responsibility for safeguarding personal property.

The patient should advise his physician the type of hospital room he desires. The physician, in turn will make the request of the hospital. There are times, however when the need for hospitalization is immediate and the desired accommodation is not available. In these cases the need is met in the best possible manner at the time and the patient is transferred as soon as his request can be granted.

"Hospitals are dedicated to the provision of good patient care. They are anxious to assist the patient in every way from the first moment he comes into the hospital. I would urge everyone to acquaint himself with hospitals in his community before he has need of their services, and to select a personal physician before a hospital admission becomes necessary. By observing these simple but important suggestions, you can make your hospital admission, when it comes, a simple and satisfactory experience," concluded Mr. Roller.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hunter of Plains and Ed Lee Hunter, a student in Hardin Simmons University, in Abilene, spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wayne Lowry and daughters of Pecos spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lowry and Lonnie.

There's A Diet To Fit Your Need

The American public is now well aware that any effective weight control program must include dieting.

Hundreds—perhaps thousands—of different diets are presented to us. Most are billed as a "sure-fire" means of trimming off excess pounds.

The American Medical Association's home health book, Today's Health Guide, points out that weight can be lost on virtually any dietary plan, good or bad, that ensures a calorie intake less than energy used. It is apparent, however, that many diets are only temporarily effective and do not promote the fundamental purpose of permanent weight loss.

Reducing diets, ideal weight charts, calory-counting tables are available almost everywhere. It is our purpose here to discuss briefly some principles of the good reducing diet.

The diet should be individualized in harmony with income, national origins, religious principles and personal circumstances.

The diet should be practical, consistent with work patterns and other everyday obligations and responsibilities.

The diet should be balanced, and in conformity with good nutritional practice.

The diet should be a pattern for life, not just for the period of weight reduction.

Generally, physicians do not recommend the crash diet in routine weight reduction. Instead, they are more likely to prescribe a diet aimed at a gradual weight reduction over several months.

It usually isn't necessary to go hungry while dieting. Your physician can help you work out a diet that will be satisfying and at the same time permit you to lose weight.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

Omar Burlison, M. C. 17th District, Texas Washington, D. C. — On February 21, a sub-group of the committee on Armed Services of the House of Representatives released for publicity a part of a Report compiled on our Natural Defense Posture.

The study lasted 6 months and involved in-depth views of United States commitments, manpower, assets and planning, with emphasis on Vietnam.

For some reason, probably because of its warlike attitude, the Eastern press did not give it very much publicity. Because of its sensitive nature, its entire detail was not publicly revealed. In general, however, the following points are important for public knowledge:

"1 At present the U. S. has no timetable for winning the war in Vietnam.

"2 The enemy cannot be defeated within any acceptable time frame so long as we continue to fight a primarily defensive war. Our slow rate of military progress has encouraged North Vietnam to reject our efforts to bring about peace negotiations.

"3 Only if our military is permitted to make maximum use of our assets can the war in Vietnam be brought to a speedy and successful conclusion.

"4 The theory of gradual escalation in the use of power violates accepted and proven military concepts. The application of this theory in Vietnam has produced only minimal gains, and has given the enemy time to increase his own efforts correspondingly.

"5 Because of the extent of our commitment in Vietnam, we are, in truth, engaged in a battle for the preservation of the future of the United States. We cannot afford to lose it while courting world opinion.

"6 Contrary to the views so often voiced by benighted disciples of defeat and appeasement, the battle in Vietnam is not between the greatest nation in the world and a small, underdeveloped country. Rather, it is a struggle with the United States on one side and Communist China and Russia on the other. It should be recognized and clearly understood that while the enemy we are fighting is the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong, they are merely the conduit for the aggression of China and Russia.

"7 Our military forces should be permitted to take the offensive—on land and sea and in the air—with a definite timetable for the earliest possible successful conclusion of the war. This would require an immediate review of our present force levels and, undoubtedly, partial mobilization.

"8 The enemy should be denied access to all war material and supporting supplies. If necessary to achieve this end, all routes, whether by land, sea or air, should be closed or destroyed.

"9 For the successful conclusion of the war, the enemy should be given no sanctuary or reprieve.

"10 The Subcommittee recognizes the essentiality of civilian control of the military, as prescribed by the Constitution. However, in the Vietnam conflict, constraints have been imposed on the military in operational matters to such an extent that they have degraded our field command structure and militated against the immediate and positive action, or reaction, required by the swiftly moving events of war.

"11 In spite of the foregoing, the morale and performance of our military forces are superb. Never in the history of this country has the United States fielded troops so well supplied logistically.

"12 Certain Defense Department policies have hindered the development of new and improved weapons and curtailed the production of presently needed equipment, with the result that our military posture and the condition of our assets have been degraded.

"13 The honoring of our commitments in Vietnam has severely strained our worldwide military manpower and equipment assets.

"14 If we are to meet all probable contingency challenges, the U. S. must promptly undertake to increase its military assets.

"15 U. S. intelligence concerning enemy plans and movements is seriously deficient. As a result, major policies for the conduct of the war appear to have been formulated more on the basis of intuition than on fact."

The development of the above comes from a wide range of expert opinion. Like everything else, it is human judgment, but it is as solid information as can be obtained and, therefore, official Washington should face up to hard, cold realities.
