TWO LOCAL YOUTHS CHARGED WITH MURDER IN SHOOTING DEATH OF WELDON L. CAMMACK

Roger Beard Graduates From Recruit Training

San Diego, June 5—Marine Private Roger A. Beard, 20, a son of Mrs. James C. Avants and the husband of the former Miss Karen A. Dean, all of Santa Anna, Texas, was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot here.

He will now undergo from two to four weeks of individual combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps assignment.

The intensified Marine recruit training emphasizes rigid physical conditioning and survival techniques, both at sea and ashore, to develop self-confidence and endurance. Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45-caliber pistol are equally stressed, and close order drill instills the traditions of Marine Corps teamwork.

A thorough study of basic military subjects, hygiene, first aid and sanitation, and the customs, courtesies, history and mission of the Marine Corps serve to polish the new Marine's recruit education and prepare him to join the Marine combat forces.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Monroe visited last Thursday afternoon in Coleman with Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Justice.

Two local youths, Victorina (Victor) Diaz, 17, and Guadalupe (Lupe) Diaz, 19, both life long residents of Santa Anna, have been charged with murder with malice and aforethought in connection with the shooting death of Weldon L. Cammack. The arrest of the two youths came after an extensive investigation by H. R. Block and Sid Merchant, Texas Rangers; John Smith, County Sheriff; and Gary Gleeman, local deputy sheriff.

The two local men and Cammack, 46, had an argument at a local cafe late Thursday afternoon, June 6. The two men then followed Cammack home where he was shot in the chest with a .41 caliber Colt lightning revolver. Although there was an argument, the apparent motive was robbery.

The body of Weldon Cammack was discovered when a local resident of Santa Anna turned in a fire alarm about 10:15 p. m. Friday, June 7. The body was discovered by the well organized Santa Anna Fire Department. The department had the fire well under control by 11:00 p. m.

Cammack was shot in the southwest corner of his home, and according to the autopsy report, at approximately 8:00 p. m., Thursday, June 6. He was then robbed, wrapped in blankets, and dragged partially under the bed.

The assailants then left the house and returned at approximately 10:00 p. m., Friday, June 7, soaked the house with a flammable liquid, then set a fire in the kitchen of Cammack's home and one man received minor burns in the process. The men apparently intended to start a fire in each room of the house but the fire spread too quickly.

The accused were first apprehended Monday, June 10, and were arrested in connection with burglary of H. A. Burden's home on October 17. Three guns and a large supply of ammunition were taken in the burglary. One of these guns, a .41 caliber lightning revolver, was the murder weapon.

The billfold of Weldon Cammack, the murder weapon and ammunition were recovered on Farm-to-Market road 567 in a rabbit den.

Royal Hart, District Attorney, will be prosecutor for the state and Glenn R. Lewis, 119th Judicial Judge, will be the presiding judge at the trial. A Coleman attorney has been appointed to represent the two men. Time and place of the trial is still undetermined.

Coleman Co. Farming Declared Disaster

Feed Grain and Cotton Programs

The County Committee has determined a natural disaster has occurred in Coleman County in farming. This disaster was caused by excessive rainfall beginning in September of 1967, and continuing to the present time.

Farmers are not required to plant feed grains to qualify for payment under the loan. Farmers will not be required to plant cotton to qualify for payment under the cotton program.

The office will accept certification of program acreages beginning Monday, July 1st. At this time farmers will report their acreage; and we will then obtain the necessary information and execute the required forms on preventive planting due to excessive rainfall.

Producers are reminded that grain sorghums may be planted under the program after June 1st, but this is not a requirement. Cotton may also be planted after June 15th. Again, this is not a requirement under the program.

This disaster does not exempt farmers from compliance with the programs. Permitted acreages under the feed grains and wheat program cannot be over-planted. Neither can a producer exceed his permitted acreage on cotton.

Farmers are also required to comply with the diverted acreage provision of the program. No crops can be harvested from the area designated as diverted acreage, neither can this acreage be grazed from May 1 to October 1.

Certification Of Crops

Farmers did a real good job planting and certifying wheat acreage. No producer was found in excess from spot-checking. Again we are required to spot-check 25 percent of all acreage reported on certifications. Again we would emphasize the necessity of correctly reporting acreages of feed grains and cotton. There are no provisions to dispose of crops in order to comply with program requirements.

The final reporting date for feed grains and cotton is the date on which you certify your acreage but no later than August 1st.

Crop Acreage Survey: Producers are reminded to complete and mail the crop survey forms received from the State Reporting Service of Austin. This will assure the county credit for crops shown on the survey.

ACP

The County Committee has a small amount of cost-share money to be used on aerial spraying of mesquite.

If you are interested in this practice, application is to be made immediately as all spraying in the county should be completed by July 1st, but in no case can it be extended beyond July 8th.

Loans:

The loan rate for No. 3 oats is 74c a bushel stored on the farm. Oats weighing less than 27 pounds a bushel are not eligible for the loan. Oats weighing from 27 to 29 lbs. a bushel have a discount of 3c.

Oats stored in an approved warehouse have a storage charge of 9c a bushel.

Office Hours:

The office remains open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Mondays through Fridays. This includes the lunch hour.

On Tuesday the office will be open at 9:00 for business. From eight to nine will be used for instructional purposes and planning the work for the week.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

Omar Burleson, M. C. Attend Church Regularly WASHINGTON, D. C.

Growing up on a farm we had bees. Having been told about the duties of the queen, the workers and the drones, they were interesting to watch. (If in that day there had been television, probably the bees would not have been noticed.) But it was fascinating to learn that when the old queen had expired and her usefulness served, the new queen left the hive, followed by the workers who surrounded her on the Mesquite limb where she chose to light.

At this point, the drones, too, had served their purpose and either died or were killed by the workers. When the new queen was installed on her throne in a new hive, the workers immediately began to gather the materials for new comb and to dress up the new palace with all needed fixtures.

We learned that the worker bees would sting and were willing to give their life afterwards to protect their queen and her castle. The drones could be caught with the hand without injury. They carried no stinger and did not leave the hive except for a stroll outside for fresh air.

Our society is something like this. It has one criterion, namely, that the individual have a willingness to work. Our economic system is not designed for the "drones", for the shiftless and for the fellow who wants to lie abed in the morning while others are out on the job.

The great marvel of our free enterprise in America is that it virtually guarantees a reasonable annual income to about everyone, provided he or she is willing to work. There are, of course, exceptions. In the past we have not done all which should have been done to give opportunity for training more people for better jobs. There are those who, for some misfortune or other, are unable to obtain and hold a decent job but no country in history has been so successful in creating job opportunities as has this Country.

Yet there are some people who want to redesign our system so that it gives the "drones" full equality with the "workers."

In February of 1967, the National Commission on Technology, Automation and Economic progress, produced a 210 - page report endorsing a guaranteed minimum annual wage for every American. Should the Commission's report ever be enacted into law, the citizen who chose not to work would get a cash allowance from the Government. The advocates of the guaranteed annual income theory contend that it is everyone's Constitutional right, regardless of the circumstances.

It is not surprising that the old-line socialists endorse such a plan because they have always been for a redistribution of the wealth.

It is surprising, however, to find some prominent businessmen along with many of the intellectuals advocating such a proposal.

Generally, it is doubtful that the socialists give any heed or consideration to the cost as a factor in their reasoning. You would think the businessmen, and successful ones at that, would consider the cost and where the money must come from. Estimates of the cost have ranged from $2 billion to $20 billion a year. This is the difference between 2 cents and 20 cents — quite a spread in estimates.

It is being proved over and over again that there are those who, knowing they are able to extract money from the taxpayers, choose this method as their livelihood. In the big cities, welfare officials say they spend as much time trying to get able bodied men on welfare to go to work as they do in trying to help those who are really entitled to help. Imagine that if every chisler realized he never had to work again but only to apply for the guaranteed annual wage, how great the ranks of the "drones" would swell. Imagine, also, the reaction of working men and women who must supply the money to support the "drones." We can well imagine the feelings of people who have to get up early to go to work and others who work all night and who have to find their rest in the daytime.

Certainly there are many who hold unpleasant jobs simply because they know that working is the only way to support themselves and their families. Unless these working people felt it morally wrong not to work and felt it an insult not to do their part in society by holding down jobs, they could with considerable justification say, "Why should I work to support loafers?"

To support the "drones" would be to steal the rightful earnings of those citizens who use their energies each day to support themselves, their families, their communities and their Country.

With incentive to work destroyed, such a scheme would eventually create a class of totally dependent citizens, vulnerable to the unscrupulous and reckless politician who would promise them more and more.

Like the fellow said, "I am working — for a guaranteed income and I will sit here until I get it."

Federal Tax Questions And Answers

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I have an extension until the middle of June to file my return as the result of illness. It is true I'll have to pay interest on my taxes when I do file?

A—Yes, interest at the rate of six per cent a year must be added to taxes that are not paid in full by the filing deadline. This interest must be paid even though a taxpayer has received an extension of time to file his return.

Q—I made a mistake on my return which led me to overstate my income by several hundred dollars. Can I file for a refund on this even though I have not received the refund I requested on my original return?

A—Yes, you can correct this filing error now even though the refund on your original return has not arrived. Obtain a copy of Form 1040-X from your local IRS office and follow the instructions on this form for correcting your mistake. You will receive a separate refund for the difference between your original refund claim and the corrected claim.

Q—Are school prizes and honors taxable? I just won a science award.

A—Whether the prize is taxable or not depends on the circumstances under which it was won. If you had to perform a specific act to win the prize, such as write an essay or develop an experiment, the prize would be taxable. A prize given in recognition of past accomplishments is not taxable if the recipient is selected without action on his part and is not expected to render future services.

Q—My son is going to work this summer. How can he get a social security card?

A—Application for a social security number should be made on Form SS-5. This form is available at local Social Security and IRS offices.

Q—Do you have any publication that shows what taxes a small businessman has to pay?

A—A tax calendar for businessmen is part of IRS Publication 334, "Tax Guide for Small Business." To obtain a separate copy of this tax calendar send a post card to your District Director asking for Document No. 5046, "Tax Calendar and Check on List for 1968."

Q—My son is taking a job this summer and plans to put most of the money he earns in the bank to pay his college expenses in the fall. If he earns over $600, will we lose our dependency exemption for him?

A—If your son is under 19 or is a full-time student, the amount of money he earns will not disqualify him from being claimed as your dependent as long as the other dependency tests are met.

Q—My neighbor got his refund check a month after he filed; but I'm still waiting for mine, and it's been 2 months since I sent in my return. What's the hold-up?

A—The date the return was filed has a lot to do with how long it takes to issue a refund. Returns filed early can be processed and the check issued much quicker than returns that are received just before the April 15 deadline.

Unless you made an error on your return you should be receiving your refund check within the next several weeks. However, if the refund doesn't come within ten weeks from the time you filed, write the regional service center. Give your name, social security number and the date you filed to help them trace it.

Q—Can you use the new Form 1040-X to correct a mistake on a 1040-A?

A—Yes. Form 1040-X can be used to correct mistakes made by taxpayers filing either Form 1040 or 1040-A.

Q—This year's income looks like it will be lower than what I thought it would be when I filed my estimated tax declaration. How can I change it?

A—Changes in estimated tax declarations can be made by filing an amended declaration on or before the next filing date—June 17, 1968, Sept. 16, 1968, or Jan. 15, 1969. For this purpose, use the form provided on the bill if one is mailed to you. If you do not receive a bill, obtain Form 1040-ES (amended) from your IRS office.

Q—On a refund check made out to a husband and a wife, do they both have to endorse the check before it can be cashed?

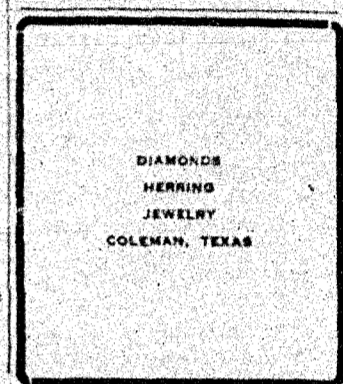

A—Yes, both signatures are needed.

Q—I plan to rent my house while I'm in Europe for two years. Will this income be taxable?

A—Yes, it will. However you may deduct from the rental expenses so that you will be able to file an accurate return next year.

Q—Why does IRS want the name, address and social security number of someone who is a big winner at Keno or some other game in Reno?

A—This information is required so that the casino can report to IRS the payments it makes of $600 or more of gambling winnings. This is similar to the procedure that race tracks follow.

AUSTIN, Tex. — This is a crucial week for the special session of the Legislature which, as expected, neared the half-way mark with-out coming to grips with any major assignments.

House members were due to face up to Gov. John Connally's "small bottle" liquor-by-the-drink bill early in the week, followed closely by a vote on a $2,500,000,000 budget for 1969 state governmental operations.

The mini-bottle liquor bill was voted out of the House State Affairs Committee, but only after one of the most confusing bouts of legislative, in-fighting history.

Two "wets" held critical positions. They have voted for the bill on the second day of the committee debate after opposing it throughout the preceding day.

First, Rep. James Clark of Dallas captured the spotlight when he switched his vote from pro to con during the initial day's debates. Clark had offered amendments to the bill which were defeated by the committee.

Then, late in the afternoon, Clark started voting with the "drys" saying the legislation was an impossible "hodgepodge of legal gobbledegook."

But the next morning Clark voted for the bill, as did another "wet" opponent, Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio.

Both men indicated they had received assurances from the authors of the bill that their amendments would be given favorable consideration on the floor of the House of they would just help get the bill out of committee.

Clark and Johnson both want liquor - by - the - on the floor of the House if liquor in two ounce mini-bottles as provided in the governor's bill. But they said they would go along with the little bottles if they could secure certain other changes in the law.

They want at least three provisions added:

1. An amendment to outlaw the practice of legislators representing clients in cases before the Texas Liquor Board

2. A provision doubling the license fees for persons selling liquor and beer.

3. A provision requiring complete financial disclosure by holders of beer and liquor licenses. This is aimed at stopping the practice of juke box operators making loans to tavern operators at high interest rates.

With these assurances from the bill's authors, Clark and Johnson would seem to be in a strong position to make their demands be met but margin on the House floor appears very close, and the Senate even closer.

In case of failure of the governor's tax proposals, tied largely to a raise in the sales tax rate to three per cent with 75 per cent of the new income refunded to incorporated cities on basis of their populations — lawmakers may turn to a straight increase in the sales tax without refund provisions. Both the governor's bill (127,200,000 a year total taxes) and the straight sales tax raise (150,000,000 annual yield) were reviewed by the House Revenue and Tax Committee and sent to subcommittee.

House Speaker Ben Barnes has indicated he would like to have his representatives face all three major issues of the session — taxes, budget and liquor-by-the-drink — by the end of the week. That would leave less than two weeks for Senate action and final reconciliation of differences in conference committees.

State Conventions — Two Texans will go to the national political conventions as favorite son candidates for president — Governor Connally for the Democrats and Sen. John Tower for the Republicans.

Both won their honors overwhelmingly in state party conventions.

Both also are being mentioned prominently as prospective candidates for vice presidential nomination, although they deny they seek or expect places on the national ticket.

Connally and the moderate - conservatives proved they still are in firm control of the State Democratic party machinery when they crushed liberal opponents 2,835 to 499 on the favorite son resolution at their state meeting in Dallas.

All 104 Texas delegates to the Democratic convention in Chicago, August 26, are bound to support Connally under the unit rule until he releases them — which is expected to be early — in favor of Vice President Hubert Humphrey. It is doubtful there are any supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy on the delegation.
Republicans shouted four-to-nine approval of the Tower favorite son resolution, and instructed their 56 delegates to Miami Beach for the August 5-8 national GOP convention to back him "until released after consultation" among the group.

While most of the Republican delegation is believed to favor Richard Nixon for the presidential nomination, an estimated 12 to 16 prefer California Gov. Ronald Reagan. Reagan boosters, catching the majority by surprise at the Corpus Christi convention, forced through a resolution commending the actor - turned - governor on his administration and his "constructive influence on national affairs," and urging him to take a more active role in national GOP politics.

There were no backers of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller among the Texas delegates. Texas Democratic leaders polled in Dallas acknowledged a race between Nixon and Humphrey would too close for comfort.

Tuition Hike Pushed — Top state college executives and governing board members are pushing hard for doubling the $50 per semester tuition fee at colleges and universities.

Committee of State College and University Governing Boards and Council of Presidents of State Colleges and Universities by resolution & public statements have jointly endorsed the increase. They claim revenue is urgently needed to close the $21,400,000 gap between higher education requirements in several areas (such as teaching salaries and library needs) and funds foreseeable.

Tuition boost to $100 per semester would bring in $20,000,000 a year in new revenue. Liberal legislators already are tuning up for a fight against the raise. Tuitions have remained unchanged since 1957.

Appointments Announced — Lt. Governor Preston Smith appointed Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells chairman of the Senate Water & Conservation Committee, succeeding the late Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas.

Governor Connally named 10 legislators to represent Texas at the annual legislative work conference on southern regional education here July 11-12. They are Sens. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo, Jack Hightower of Vernon, Bill Moore of Bryan and J. P. Wood of Meridian, Reps. A. C. Atwood of Edinburg, Bill Barton of Borger, Don Covness of Austin, David Crews of Conroe, Bill Finck of San Antonio and James Silder of Naples.

Courts Speak — State Supreme Court set July 10 for review of a labor union's appeal from an injunction against picketing construction near Orange.

High Court refused to order Regulatory Loan Commissioner Francis S. Miskell to issue Beneficial Finance Company license for its 61st Texas office.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin intervened to defend an 89-year-old Texas law against demonstrators which block a private business' activities. Challenge of law was filed in federal court by students who have been picketing an Austin service station.

Court of Criminal Appeals refused to rehear the appeal of a Houston attorney who was convicted of encouraging an illiterate client to lie in court testimony. Attorney got six-year prison sentence.

State Pay — Members of the Attorney General's staff are meticulously studying a recent U. S. Supreme Court decision which requires states to pay federal minimum wage at state schools and hospitals.

State of Texas currently is paying the minimum wage, but requirements for paying overtime could call for $14,000,000 more in state expenditure.

Death Penalty — Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston has asked for consideration of a bill that would do away with the death penalty.

Schwartz would prefer to provide for a life sentence that lasts until the inmate's death without any provision for parole.

He argues that a recent Supreme Court ruling makes the death penalty impossible now anyway. High court's opinion held that persons who do not believe in the death penalty may not be excluded from juries in capital cases. Otherwise lopsided decisions are possible.

Phone Tax — Sen. Bill Patman of Canado assailed Governor Connally's recommended tax reduction for telephone companies as the "most indefensible special interest proposal brought before the Legislature in years."

Patman's objection centers on the fact that the Governor is asking at the same time for tax increases, through the sales tax, from other businesses.

Short Snorts — In response to Governor Connally's request, President Johnson has declared Hill County a major disaster area and authorized $250,000 to help clean up May flood damages. Texas Highway Department has published detailed folders to serve as guides and to detail numerous points of interest along the Texas Mountain Trail in far West Texas and the Texas Forest Trail in East Texas.

Rep. Billy Williamson of Tyler has introduced a bill to provide for state regulation of the coin-operated vending machine business. Texas has signed official acknowledgement of a joint cooperative agreement to work with the federal government in improving enforcement of motor carrier safety regulations.

Take ice cream along on a picnic by packing it with dry ice. Wrap with several pieces of dry ice in heavy paper or in a corrugated box tightly sealed. Mrs. Gwendolyn Cl-yatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist, says the ice cream will keep from two to eight hours, depending on the amount of dry ice used and careful wrapping to exclude air.

Fort Griffin Was Rough and Tumble Outpost

Albany—In the saga of the wild and woolly west, it is hard to imagine a frontier wilder or woolier than Fort Griffin, now a 503 acre State Historic Park, 25 miles north of Albany in Shackelford County.

Established as most strategic point in a frontier defense line to protect settlers from the Comanches, the fort attracted both the skim and the dregs of humanity. With the constant danger which any frontier outpost faces, life was cheap, and there were men who took advantage of the bargain basement prices.

First known as Camp Wilson for the late son of the U. S. Senator from Massachusetts, the fort was established July 31, 1867 by units of the Sixth U. S. Cavalry commanded by Lt. Colonel Samuel D. Sturgis.

The temporary structures, chiefly tents and picket houses, were set up to house men, and log houses from a nearby ranch were hauled in and reconstructed to serve as the headquarters for the post commander and as a hospital.

Built on a bluff overlooking the Clear Fork branch of the Brazos River, a site which came to be known as "Government Hill," Fort Griffin was in a commanding position to withstand attack, and had the added advantage of being close to a constant supply of good water.

The fort was an important supply post for buffalo hunters, trail drivers, and settlers. The Western Cattle Trail which wound through Fort Griffin brought more than 1,000,000 head of cattle driven by 2,000 cowboys thru there in 1871.

At the time Fort Griffin was established, the situation along the far western border of Texas from the Red River to the Rio Grande was desperate indeed.

Some 800 persons on the frontier had been murdered by Indians in the period from June 1862 to 1867, and the Indian marauders, chiefly Kio was and Quahada Comanches, usually managed to elude the punitive expeditions sent against them.

Scarcely a fifth of the ranches were occupied, according to a report in the "Waco Register" of April 21, 1866, and the area around Ft. Griffin in particular was swarming with Comanches, drawn there by the numerous buffalo herds.

White outlaws dressed as Indians raided Indian Territory, stirring up the savages to vengeful atrocities. Petitions and angry letters to Congress and to military authorities finally achieved the desired result: a decision to establish a new frontier defense line; one on which "Ft. Griffin was the most strategic point."

With troops from the fort garrisoning subposts at Belknap and west of Phantom Hill, the settlers at last had some measure of security against Indian raids.

After several campaigns and battles, the Indian problem in the Fort Griffin area was substantially solved and the plans to abandon the Fort as early as 1873 were made.

But the settlers protested. They were by no means positive that the Indian menace was a thing of the past, and they drew up a formal petition, requesting the "border guardian" be maintained.

Their pleas were heeded, and troops stayed on at Ft. Griffin for a number of years.

Frontier towns and forts, by their nature, attracted the most adventurous and rough characters in the country, and during the years which Fort Griffin guarded the country, it got its share of fortune seekers and cutthroats.

Soldiers, settlers, cowboys, buffalo hunters, and marauding Comanches mingled and clashed throughout its exciting fourteen year history. Shoot-outs and fist fights were part of everyday life at Fort Griffin, and both the town calaboose and the Fort Griffin guardhouse were full to overflowing.

Full of outlaws and scoundrels, the town had 35 public killings, eight or ten persons found dead, and 12 more either shot or strung up by officers of the law.

Wyatt Earp and Doc Holiday began their celebrated friendship in Fort Griffin, and the notorious outlaw "Joe Bowers" was a barkeeper in one of the numerous saloons in the town just south of Ft. Griffin.

No frontier town would have been complete without its house of ill repute and Ft. Griffin had one of the most picturesque names in the west. It was called the "Place of Beautiful Sin" and was presided over by Mollie McCabe.

The roughness of the town, of course, is only one side of the coin. The beautiful land attracted sober and respected businessmen and ranchers as well as ruffians; men such as Frank Conrad, W. S. Dalrymple, Judge C. K. Tribbling, W. H. Ledbetter, Sam Newcomb, Mark V. Hoover, Baber Watkins Reynolds, J. Alexander Matthers, and the heads of other distinguished frontier families—"the vanguard of culture which soon transformed that country."

Law and order did ultimately prevail. The Comanches were subdued, the buffalo hunters had slaughtered most of the southern herd by 1879 and moved on to other pastures, cattle drives along the Western Trails gradually diminished, and responsible citizens allied themselves with efficient military commanders to bring civilized peace to the area.

The fort was officially abandoned on May 31, 1881, when the last troops, Captain J. B. Irvine and Company A of the 22nd Infantry, marched off to Fort Clark for reassignment.

Within a few years, the frame structures had deteriorated or had been hauled away by settlers. On the level top of Government Hill today, only a few remains of the stone structures may be seen—crumbling walls, and naked rock chimneys, mute evidence of a rip-roaring past.

Now a part of Fort Griffin State Park, the site contains a forty-ton granite monument, with a bronze tablet on which are recorded the dates of military occupancy, and a tribute to the town as the seat of West Texas civilization, headquarters for the buffalo hunters, government surveyors, and principal supply station for trail drivers on the Fort Griffin-Fort Dodge trail, longest on the continent.

P & W Magazine Wins First Place Award

New Orleans—The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department magazine is the best of its kind in the nation and this week was awarded first prize by the American Association of Conservation Information at their annual meeting here.

Theon Carroll of the Department's Information and Education Section, who attended the meeting, said the magazine scored 520 points out of a possible 580. However, further details of the award were not available at press time.

The Department also won a third place award on a tourist information packet which contained a brochure on hunting and fishing in Texas and another on Texas State Parks.

The Association is made up of conservation information divisions of State and Federal Conservation agencies in North America.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

Since June 15 the favorite month for matrimony, now is a good time to give the girls another "watch out for" — Watch out for the Internal Revenue computer. You have changed your name, but the IRS computer still has your number as Miss Jones instead of Mrs. Smith. Get your name changed on your Social Security record right now. Last year a lot of beautiful brides didn't remember to change their name with the Social Security Administration, and instead of getting back that income tax refund, they got a nice little letter from the computer saying "who are you?" Of course, they did get their refund — or will get their refund — as soon as they get the name correction form back and their tax return goes through the mill again. So, brides, as soon as you are sure that you are in the mail in the new name.

STOP ACCIDENTS

Most home deaths from accidents are caused by falls, fires or poisons. Most could be prevented if family members would see that all hazards are removed and kept out of the home.

TIMING CHANGES

Heavy rains have reversed the trend of growing mesquite and may necessitate a change in the timing of aerial spraying for its control, reports G. O. Hoffman, Extension range, weed and brush control specialist. Usually spraying should begin about 40-90 days after green growth at the buds is noticed. But now, says the specialist, mesquite in Texas is behind schedule and controls will vary from the set times and standards. Local county agents can supply the new suggested spraying schedules.

SCREW WORM CASES INCREASE

Livestock producers are again reminded of the importance of checking stock for any wounds and treating them immediately. They are also advised by officials of the eradication program to take worm samples from the wounds and send them to the Mission lab for positive identification. Sterile fly production has been increased in an effort to halt the increases in screw worm cases. The weather conditions continue very favorable for the spread of the pest.

Assorted cheeses and fresh fruits make a dessert pretty enough for a party. Serve crackers and small thin slices of pumpernickel and rye bread with it.

Explore the world of cheese during June Dairy Month. There are more than 400 varieties available.

New Donors Of Cemetery Fund

New names added to the list of cash donors to the cemetery fence fund are Mrs. John Guthrie, Mrs. Will Blewins, Mrs. Fern Hoke, all of Santa Anna, and Mrs. L. H. Ragsdale of Fort Worth.

The cemetery fence, the project of the association for the year, is over half completed and will be finished as soon as weather permits.

All contributions are appreciated and the drive for funds will be continued until the entire cemetery is fenced. Checks may be made to the Santa Anna Cemetery Association and mailed to Mrs. W. B. Griffin, secretary-treasurer. Pierre Rowe is president of the group.

Everyone is invited to visit the cemetery and see the improvements.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gilmp of Ballinger visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bengel.

CATTLE ON FEED IN TEXAS

There were 728,000 head of cattle and calves on feed for slaughter market in Texas on May 1. The Texas crop Livestock Reporting Service the figure is up 23 percent from a year ago but 5 percent below a month ago.

When fresh fruit is plentiful, Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer specialist suggests serving it with ice cream. Any fruit will work — fresh peaches, strawberries, pears, cantaloupe, honeydew melon. Team up different flavored ice cream with various fruits for tasty experiments.

Dairy-made cultured sour cream is perishable and should be kept cold until used, according to Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist. It should be stored in its original tightly closed container for no more than two weeks.

ORANGE AND GRAPEFRUIT TABLETS

Orange and grapefruit may one day be served in tablet form. USDA scientists have made the tablets in research conducted to find new uses for citrus.

Meat cooked at low to moderate temperatures is generally more tender, juicy and flavorful than that cooked at higher temperatures. In addition, there is less loss through evaporation, shrinkage and drippings.

Sour cream is not really soured. It is cultured. Lactic acid is added to pasteurized light sweet cream for the product which adds to sauces, gravies, dips and desserts by the dozens.

PREDATOR INSECTS SHOW PROMISE

Bollworms and tobacco budworms in cotton may be more resistant to available insecticides these days, but they are no match for one of nature's equalizers — the larva of the green lacewing, a natural predator. Two USDA entomologists at Texas A&M University have obtained a 98 percent reduction of bollworms and budworms by releasing great numbers of the Chrysopa larvae into a cotton field. The larvae, also known as aphid lions, showed a respectable tolerance to insecticides. The entomologists, Dr. R. L. Ridgway and S. L. Jones, said the practice was still in the experimental stage and is not meant to replace but to reduce the use of insecticides.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Taming the Kidnapper
Of all the agonies inflicted upon the family of a kidnapper, probably the worst is the fear that harm will befall their loved one.

To stay the kidnapper's hand the Federal Kidnapping Act—and some state kidnap laws as well—impose a milder penalty on the kidnapper if he releases the victim unharmed.

What does that mean? What kind of "harm" are these laws talking about?

Obviously there is harm inflicted, calling for the heavier penalty, when the victim has been subjected to a deliberate beating or a criminal assault.

Likewise, a court held that harm had been inflicted when two women and a child were locked in a small, overheated closet, and later bound hand and foot with ropes and wire.

On the other hand, when the only injury was that the kidnapper had gripped the victim's arms hard enough to hurt, the court refused to impose the heavier penalty.

"Such trivial injury," said the judge, "is not sufficient to constitute bodily harm."

Suppose the injury is indeed serious, but—rather than being inflicted by the kidnapper—is the result of the victim's own attempt to escape. Does that kind of an injury "count" against the kidnapper?

The court said yes in one case, in which a girl was hurt when she jumped from a moving car. The court reasoned that, since the kidnapper had been threatening to assault her, the dangers of an attempted flight could fairly be attributed to him.

But in another case, where no threats of harm preceded the escape attempt, the court ruled that the resulting injury could not justify a heavier penalty against the kidnapper.

It may seem strange to draw such careful distinctions in judging someone as reprehensible as a kidnapper.

Yet, after all, the law's purpose is not to do the kidnapper any favors but to reduce the danger to his victim. This can be achieved only if the kidnapper has reason to believe that, if he goes easier on the victim, the law will go easier on him.

TWO LAKES SHOW LARGE FISH POPULATION

Del Rio — Studies by fisheries biologists of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department show that two lakes in southwest Texas, Devil's and Walk, have at least 23 species of freshwater fish, with at least half of them interesting to anglers.

Both lakes will eventually be flooded by the waters of Amistad Reservoir which will sprawl over thousands of acres of Texas and Mexico.

Biologists George Henderson and Ron Anderson are optimistic that fish now found in the Amistad area will supply anglers with an immediately catchable population of fish, and as new fry and fingerlings are stocked from State fish hatcheries the population will grow increasingly interesting.

Already in the lakes are such common species as drum, crappie, large-mouth bass, white bass, channel and flat-head catfish, and several types of sunfish. A wide variety of forage fish supply considerable food for game fish.

There is much local anticipation about fishing conditions and the number of anglers who will be visiting the huge reservoir when the gates are finally closed.

WEED CONTROL

Postemergence weed control in cotton is more positive than preemerging. It is used from the time cotton emerges until layby time, says Fred C. Elliott, cotton specialist. The timely application of post-emergence herbicides and mechanical methods can drastically reduce or eliminate hand hoeing, he adds. Most post-emergence treatments work best when weeds and grass are less than 2 inches tall and will usually do a better job when the weather is warm. Always use a surfactant at the recommended rate to control emerged weeds and grass, he says. Local county agents can supply details on herbicides and their use.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting
Few people know today that the story of inflatable boats began with the saving of lives in the North Sea more than 20 years ago. For years fishermen aboard English, French and German trawlers depended on conventional small boats as lifeboats in the event of floundering in the wild storms of the area. Too often the small boats quickly were swamped even if they remained afloat, loss of life from exposure was severe.

It was found that rubber rafts similar to those developed in World War II were far superior to the boats as lifesaving vessels. They took up less room on the trawler, remained afloat even though swamped and could easily be provided with a full tentlike canopy to shield the crew from the cruel winter elements.

It took much demonstration and convincing to get the fishermen to give up their traditional boats. But gradual acceptance came about and put a number of firms into business making the new craft. Since then, a proliferation of inflatable designs has taken place to serve a great variety of purposes. Most of the long range expeditions today are employing inflatables instead of canoe-like craft. One 24-year-old English secretary took a nine-footer across the English Channel and cruised it 1000 miles through the canals of France.

An inflatable craft is a dozen times safer in the raging rough water than the best conventional small boat. The reason: buoyancy. Extreme lightness combines with great lift. Even swamped inflatables remain upright, ride high out of the water, can be controlled and are readily balled out, thus rating as favorites with the river shooters.

An inflatable handled by a beginner can shoot rapids that would flounder the best whitewater canoe champion. On many of the western rivers, notes Zack Taylor, Boats Editor of Sports Afield Magazine, float trips are permitted only in the inflatables. Not only does the inflatable's superior buoyancy keep it afloat, but the cushioning rubbery skids slide harmlessly away from rocks that would obliterate a conventional craft.

An inflatable offers several other obvious advantages: the storability of a relatively large boat, deflated, in a small place; in suitable models, the ease with which you can backpack one to remote areas; the fact that when used as a tender to a larger boat it can be tethered alongside and won't make a noise or scar the big boat's hull. Nevertheless, their awesome capacity to surmount treacherous waters will undoubtedly continue to be the chief reason for the inflatables' growing popularity.

CO-OPS INCREASE THEIR BUSINESS

Thirty-two per cent of the nation's farmer cooperatives had gross business of $1 million or more in 1965-66, up 27 per cent from 1961-62 when the last survey was made. A further breakdown of the gross business volume of $20.9 billion done by the co-ops, according to the Farmer Cooperative Service, shows that 40 per cent of the total came from 66 co-ops reporting annual gross business of $50 million or more. This represented less than 1 per cent of the total number reporting, and was made up primarily of large regional associations.
