The man on the street says that a recession is a period in which you tighten your belt. A depression is a time in which you have no belt to tighten. When you have no trousers to hold up, it's a panic.

The Santa Anna News would like to urge all of its readers to drive carefully over the holidays. According to the Highway Department approximately 38 persons will die in car wrecks over the 4th of July holiday. Mrs. H. A. Burden turned in a little jingle which we thought would be appropriate for this occasion: "He who goes forth with a fifth on the fourth may not go forth on the fifth."

A woman, after looking over a selection of thermometers, told the clerk, "I'll take this Fahrenheit one. I know that's a good brand."

None of us should gloss over the seriousness of our times, neither should any of us give up in despair. There has never been a time in history of man when some individuals did not feel that all was lost. Fortunately in all these times, the majority kept on living and working as if something could be gained.

In 1801 — William Wilberforce, an English philanthropist, refused to marry on the grounds, "I dare not marry: the future is so unsettled."

In 1806 — William Pitt, an English statesman bemoaned the state of things: "There is scarcely anything around us but ruin and despair."

In 1848 — Lord Shaftsbury, another English statesman, declared, "Nothing can save the British Empire from shipwreck."

In 1852 — The Duke of Wellington, who won the battle of Waterloo, said in last hours, "I thank God I shall be spared from seeing the consummation of ruin that is gathering about us."

In 1860 — Our own President Buchanan said, "Indeed all hope seems to have deserted the minds of men."

More than a hundred years have passed since some of these men fore saw only doom. In spite of its problems, the world today is a pretty good world to live in. Our job is not to predict and bemoan its imminent destruction. It is to do whatever any of us can do to make it an even better world for our children to live in.

Estimated 38 Persons To Die During Holiday

Austin—The acting director of the Texas Department of Public Safety today called for "heads up" driving on the part of Texas motorists over the upcoming four-day Fourth of July weekend to help bring about a reduction in the estimated toll of 38 lives in traffic during the holiday period.

Wilson E. Speir announced that "Operation Motorcade," a special emphasis program designed to focus attention on the added dangers of holiday travel, will be placed in effect from 6 p. m. Wednesday, July 3, through 11:59 p. m. Sunday, July 7.

Traffic fatalities will be tabulated by the DPS throughout the period, and the totals will be announced officially three times daily as a means of keeping safety uppermost in the minds of the motoring public, he said.

"It is a known fact that the unusually crowded conditions of the highways on Independence Day holidays makes driving more hazardous than usual," Speir said.

"Past experience and the present trend of traffic deaths indicate that 38 persons will lose their lives in traffic accidents during the 102-hour period of the holiday this year, according to DPS Statistical Services. This means that on the average one person will be killed in traffic every two and a half hours.

"Of course, we hope this proves to be too high an estimate, and will do everything we can to keep down the expected toll of lives and suffering from accidents. As part of this effort, we will be utilizing additional personnel from our other uniformed services to augment the regular highway patrol force during the holiday period.

"However, the most important effort needs to come from the drivers themselves who, of course, have the most at stake. We can talk all we please about inadequate highways, we can talk about mechanical defects, but in the end, the vast majority of all accidents and fatalities can be traced directly to misbehavior, misjudgment, recklessness, negligence, and the mixing of drinking and driving."

TWO KINDS OF HISTORY IN LONGHORN CAVERNS

Burnet — It is night. Three Texas Rangers creep to an inky black hole in the ground and peer in. From the blackness come a flicker of light—a campfire. They have found their quarry.

As their eyes grow accustomed to the darkness, the three, Noah Smithwick, W. H. McGill, and Logan Van Deever, make out the crouching figures of Comanche warriors. Against the wall, bound, disheveled and despairing, is Miss Muriel Hill, the Belle of San Antonio, kidnapped and dragged to what is now known as Longhorn Cavern.

The rangers know that they must surprise the Indians and that the Indians must not find out that there are only three attackers. Noiselessly they slip into the yawning mouth of the cave and creep to the outer fringe of the firelight.

There is a shot, and one of the Indians crumples. The rest scatter as Smithwick and McGill rush to kick and scatter the fire. There is absolute darkness now as Van Deever hurries to the gift. There is no time to cut her bonds. He slings her over his shoulder and the three men run for the exit, slashing with their knives and smashing with their gun butts.

All four escape, and the story has a happy ending. The belle of San Antonio marries Van Deever, a rough, powerfully built Kentuckian, and they settle in Burnet where they spend many happy years afterward.

The story of Van Deever's dramatic rescue of Muriel Hill is just part of the action-packed, rip-roaring history and legend of Longhorn Caverns, now Longhorn Caverns State Park, five miles southwest of Burnet.

The caverns represent an amalgamation of Texas and geologic history, and it is hard to choose which history is more exciting. The explosive sensationalism of a gun battle is insignificant compared to the wonderously slow working water on rock.

It took millions of years for water to carve the passageways in the 500-million-year-old rock which came from an almost infinite number of tiny particles. Precipitated in a prehistoric sea, these particles were cemented and compressed into solid rock making up the "Ellenburger Group," the limestone, chert, and dolomite comprising Backbone Ridge in which the cavern is located.

It is not known when man first came to the cave. It is known that the Comanches used the largest chamber of the cavern, the Indian Council Room, for ceremonies and for making weighty decisions.

Bones of animals, cracked open for marrow, have been found throughout the cave and indicate an early, at least temporary occupancy by primitive humans.

Before humans, beast of prey, large enough to drag elephant and camel bones into the cave, used it as their den.

Much of the history surrounding the cavern is a mixture of fact, fantasy and legend.

It has been pretty well established that the notorious outlaw, Sam Bass, used the cavern as a hideout, and legend has it that he left $2,000,000 buried there.

During the Civil War, Confederate soldiers set up a gun powder factory in the Indian Council Room, utilizing the abundant guano or bat droppings in the process. Adjoining the Council Room is the Lunch Room, at one time one of the most unusual nightclubs anywhere.

A wooden floor was installed in the 1920's and flappers came from miles around to dance and listen to the music.

Over the years the passageways of the cave had become heavily silted due to flooding. In some spots the cave roof was only a few inches from the floor. Restoration and cleaning of the cave was carried out by the Civilian Conservation Corps in the 1930s when 2 1/2 million cubic yards of dirt were removed from the passageways.

Tours are conducted thru the caverns every hour daily from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Visitors enter through the Sam Bass entrance under a natural bridge, formed when part of the roof of the cavern collapsed.

When the visitors steps through the heavy iron gate which bars the entrance, he steps into another world and another age. Except for the removal of silt and the installation of lights, the cave is as it has been for millions of years.

Along the winding passageways sights such as the Hall of Diamonds, a sparkling wonderland of calcite crystals, and natural formations such as the Queen's Watchdog, Eagle's Wings, Abraham Lincoln, Little Holland, Sergeant's Strips, and Rock of a Million Layers may be viewed.

In the Hall of Marble, chambers of white dolomite, softly modulated and fairy-tale like, visitors experience absolute darkness. With the lights out, the darkness is an awesome experience, oppressive and frightening. One's eyes strain for the slight glimmer, a reflection, anything, but there is nothing but infinite blackness.

Longhorn Caverns is gaining the reputation of being one of the most beautiful caves in the world. It is the nation's third largest cavern, ranking behind Carlsbad and Mammoth, and its accessibility will probably make it the nation's most popular.

AUSTIN — The number of drownings has almost reached two - thirds of last year's total of 317 with the major portion of the outdoor recreation season ahead according to R. G. Mauermann, deputy director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Mauermann says the Department has compiled information on 203 drownings. The Department keeps these statistics because its game management officers are charged with enforcing the Water Safety Act.

Many of the drownings occurred as a result of boating accidents, indicating that if the Coast Guard approved life saving devices required for each person in the boat were present, they were not worn.

"It's amazing the chances people take with their own According to Mauermann, many other children drown in bodies of water close to their home such as swimming pools and drainage ditches.

One five year old boy fell off a freight car and through a railroad trestle, drowning in a creek below.

In one freak accident an Austin man drowned while swimming his horse in a lake. The horse became entangled in a barbed wire fence under the water and drowned also.

Austin, Texas — "Heads up" driving can save many lives in Texas during this long July 4 holiday weekend, Texas Department of Public Safety advises.

DPS hopes to help bring about a reduction in the estimated toll of 38 expected to die in traffic tragedies during the four-day, 102-hour period.

"Operation Motorcade," designed to place special emphasis on dangers of holiday travel, began at 6 p. m. Wednesday and will continue through 11:59 p. m. Sunday. DPS will tabulate traffic fatalities during this period and release totals three times daily to news media in order to keep dangers prominently in minds of drivers.

"It is a known fact that the unusually crowded conditions of the highways on Independence Day holidays makes driving more hazardous than usual," acting DPS Director Wilson E. Speir reminded.

One the average, said Speir, one person will be killed in traffic every two and a half hours on Texas highways.

streets and roads.

As part of its overall effort to lower the anticipated toll, DPS is utilizing additional personnel from other uniformed services to augment the regular highway patrol force during the entire weekend.

But drivers themselves must make the most important effort, cautioned Speir. Despite mechanical defects, inadequate highways and other accident causing factors, the vast majority of all wrecks and fatalities are traced directly to misbehavior, misjudgment, negligence, recklessness and drinking while driving.

LCB RAPPED—Former Liquor Control Board Administrator Coke Stevenson, Jr., took the brunt of the blow from the report on the investigation of the LCB by Attorney General Crawford E. Martin and the Department of Public Safety.

The Attorney general found that Stevenson had not been watching the shop, had accepted expensive gifts from persons in the liquor and beer industries and had failed to see that the liquor laws were uniformly enforced.

Report refused to condemn the practice of legislators practicing law before the LCB and failed to condemn the three-man liquor board for not staying atop the shoddy operations of the agency.

Investigators said the most of the difficulties of the Stevenson administration now have been overcome under Acting Administrator O. N. Humphreys Jr.

LEGISLATURE WINDING UP

Bitter debate in the Senate slowed the pace of special session. Senate finally passed a sales-franchise tax increase and sent the revenue bill back to the House, which in turn sent it to conference committee to write a final version.

While the senate mulled taxes and mini-bottled liquor by the drink bill, the House passed bills to extend the drinking curfew in large cities to 2 a. m. (local option in smaller towns); authorize semi-mandatory breath tests for drunk drivers; and triple out-of-state tuitions (to about $600 a semester) at state-supported colleges and universities. Resident student tuitions remain the same.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED

Gov. John Connally named Garrett Morris of Fort Worth to State Highway Commission to succeed Hal Woodard of Coleman, a new federal district judge.

Connally selected Marion T. Key of Lubbock to replace Morris on the Public Safety Commission and named Jack Kuitgen of Waco to Woodward's chairmanship on the highway commission.

Other appointments by the governor include:

Ford Albritton Jr., of Bryan to Texas A & M University Board of Directors; William H. Atkinson of Kenedy to Texas A & I University points to Lewis W. Maples of Kingsville and Leo J. Welder of Victoria; and Robert E. Davis of Waco to Texas Library and Historical Commission with reappointment of Fred Hartman of Baytown.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

Pinball or marble machines which show number of free games won are illegal, Attorney General Martin has ruled.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

- Cities under civil service police systems have no authority to create a police reserve of amateur friends of the force, but special officers can be summoned in time of emergency.

- A commissioners court does not have to advertise for electronic services to prepare tax rolls when the annual charge is less than $2,500 paid out of current funds.

- A person cannot serve as director of Texas Turnpike Authority and political party precinct chairman (acceptance of turnpike post would automatically vacate precinct chairmanship).

- A motor carrier may not transport gravel from gravel pits to processing plants under specialized motor carrier permit.

"Company which delivers metal belonging to customers for galvanization without additional charge is not transporting property for compensation or hire in violation of law.

COURTS SPEAK

The City of Midland cannot collect from the surety company of its contractor for defects in a swimming pool, but it may sue the contractor directly, the Supreme Court held.

High court held four Houston attorneys and a society of lawyers can seek a court order against a Houston organization which aims to provide legal services to poor. Lawyers said they objected to Houston Legal Foundation's attorney referrals, advertising and interviewing of prisoners in jail.

Attorney's for an Austin bootblack will ask U. S. Supreme Court to review its ruling that a man can be jailed for repeated drunkenness. They argue alcoholism is a disease demanding treatment.

TORNADO DEFENSE

The U. S. Weather Bureau and the Texas Department of Public Safety have initiated a program for improved public preparedness against tornadoes.

The program involves a "distant early-warning system" by the bureau, then communication of the alert by the DPS and action by trained local officials to prepare the endangered communities.

"Meetings with city and community officials, state and local law officers, disaster agencies and others will be held throughout the state in the future to work out the details necessary for the best possible protection of life and property," a DPS spokesman promised.

GRANT APPROVED

A $42,900 Federal Grant has been approved for Valley View Park in the City of Dallas to provide additional outdoor recreation land for use of the general public, according to Will Odom, chairman of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

These funds will be matched by the City of Dallas in an $85,800 project to acquire 17.4 acres of land adjacent to the 8.7-acre existing park. The city park is located in the community of Northwood within the City of Dallas.

Odom said this project marks the 27th approval of funds for local, city, county and river authority parks in Texas since the Land and Water Conservation Act was passed in 1965.

SHORT SNORTS

Rep. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi has called for a 12-member committee to see if such a plan can help keep Texas families together and the divorce rate down.

Ambassador Ed Clark of Austin and Sen. John Tower of Wichita Falls have been elected board of trustee members at Southwestern University, Georgetown.

Republican state representatives designated Rep Charles R. Scroggins of Corpus Christi their floor leader.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith appointed Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells to the Senate finance sub-committee.

Railroad Commission raised the statewide oil allowable to 46.4 per cent of potential for July, compared with 45.2 per cent for June.

Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg, president pro tempore of the state senate, served as governor for a day last Saturday.

Application for the Lone Star Bank of Austin has been filed with the Banking Department.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

Every year a large part of the high schools and colleges offer some of their students a simple short course in how to prepare their income tax return. There are about 100,000 students in the northern half of Texas, and a similar number in the southern half of the state, who receive this simple training. These young men and women are receiving some of the most valuable training that they will get throughout their entire schooling. (Most of them will realize tax savings as a direct result of the free IRS training course.) However, adults can achieve a good part of this training by simply reading your tax instructions carefully—or better still, get a copy of "Your Federal Income Tax" for 50c from any Internal Revenue Service Office, and study the simple instructions. It may be hard work, but it pays off.

Jordan reports the application period for insurance on 1969 and succeeding crops is now open for a limited time depending on future weather conditions.

Omar Burleson, M. C. Attend Church Regularly Attend Church Regularly Washington, D. C. — The second amendment to the Constitution of the United States says, "A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed."

For nearly 200 years Americans have believed that they did indeed possess such a right as guaranteed by the Second Amendment.

The First Federal Gun Law regulating the shipment of certain types of firearms in interstate commerce was passed in 1934. This action was the outgrowth of sentiment created by the attempted assassination of President Roosevelt in Miami, Fla., in 1934.

In 1939, in a case known as the U. S. vs Miller, the Supreme Court upheld the conviction of Miller for possession of an unregistered "sawed-off shotgun" as a violation of this Act. The Amendment did not guarantee the right to keep and bear such a firearm for the preservation and efficiency of a well-regulated militia.

More recently, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court writing in the New York University Law Review on the formation of the Declaration of Independence, had this to say:

"Despite these safeguards, the people were still troubled by the recollection of conditions that prompted the charge of the Declaration of Independence that the King has 'effected to render the military independent and superior to the civil power.' They were reluctant to ratify the Constitution without further assurances, and thus we find in the Bill of Rights, Amendments 2 and 3, specifically authorizing a decentralized militia, guaranteeing the people the right to keep and to bear arms, and prohibiting the quartering of troops in any house in time of peace without the consent of the owner."

In 1941, shortly before Pearl Harbor, Congress passed what is known as the Property Seizure Act. It was made clear in the Law that nothing contained in the Bill should be construed to authorize the president to requisition or require the registration of firearms possessed by an individual for his personal protection or sport, nor that registration should be required. The Law said specifically that the President or any Board, Agency, or Officer, had no right to trespass upon the people in this respect.

The language of the bill further stated that "In view of the fact that certain totalitarian and dictatorial nations are now engaged in the willful and wholesale destruction of personal rights and liberties, it is appropriate for the Congress to expressly state that the Law shall not be construed to impair or infringe the Constitutional right of the people to bear arms." When a U. S. Senator, the Hon. Hubert H. Humphrey, now Vice President, had this to say in connection with the Second Amendment to the Constitution.

"Certainly, one of the chief guarantees of freedom under any government, no matter how popular or respected, is the right of citizens to keep and bear arms... the right of citizens to bear arms is just one more guarantee against the arbitrary government, one more safeguard against a tyranny which now appears remote in America, but which historically has proved to be always possible." In 1963, the Congress passed PL 88-186, amending the Arms Control and Disarmament Act. Section 33 of this Law contains the following provision with respect to the individual's right to keep and bear arms for legitimate purposes;

"Nothing contained in this Act shall be construed to authorize any policy or action by any Government Agency which would interfere with, restrict, or prohibit the acquisition, possession or use of firearms by an individual for the lawful purpose of personal defense, sport, recreation, education, or training."

In recent debate in the U. S. Senate the Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court was quoted as follows:

"We may happily note that the Constitution has weathered a variety of crisis. Some were as acute as those faced today. Today, as always, the people, no less than their courts, must remain vigilant to preserve the principles of our Bill of Rights, lest in our desire to be secure we lose our ability to be free."

The right of the people of the United States to keep and bear arms is guaranteed not only by the Federal Constitution but by the Constitutions of 35 states.

Article I, Section 23 of our own Texas Constitution, says "Every citizen shall have the right to keep and bear arms in the lawful defense of himself or the state; but the legislature shall have the power, by law, to regulate the wearing of arms, with a view to prevent crime."

At the present time a majority of the states are seeking through agreements and compacts, uniform firearms legislation. It would seem they should have time and opportunity to work their will.

Would it not be better to have local and state enforcement to keep guns from criminals, addicts, minors and the mentally deficient, than to have Federal police knocking on our doors?

Then the point has been made that we register and license dogs and automobiles. True—by the states, counties and municipal governments.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting
A friend of mine has a wife who plays golf every Monday. And every Monday she calls him frantically from the clubhouse: She's forgotten at least one thing she desperately needs.

When you are offshore in your boat and find that you have forgotten the baits, you can't call your wife to bring them over in a hurry. When a fish is alongside the boat, it's too late to start wondering where the gaff is. When you turn the boat at the end of a fishing day to head for home, it is considered poor planning to have to inform the others on board that you forgot to top off the gas tanks that morning and are out of fuel.

Only one form of insurance will protect fishermen (or women golfers) from disasters of this sort. That is the checklist. Probably no two checklists are exactly alike, for we all have somewhat different assortments of gear that we like to have along on a fishing trip. And for that matter, no two fishing trips are exactly alike. However, here is a fairly standard list to guide you in making your own.

- Fishing gear:
  - Rods and reels
  - Tackle boxes
  - Gaff and Net
  - Buckets
  - Baits
  - Rod Belts
  - Licenses
- Boat Gear:
  - Pole and Paddle
  - Pump
  - Tool Kit
  - Spare Engine Parts
  - Boat Registration
  - Anchor and Lines
  - Boat Ladder
  - Life preservers
  - Fire extinguishers
  - Whistle
  - Fuel

- Boat Keys
- Drain Plugs
- Emergency Gear:
  - Radio
  - Light
  - Flare Kit
  - First-Aid kit
  - Charts
- Wet weather and warm clothing
- Binoculars.
- Miscellaneous Equipment:
  - Hat, sunglasses, lotion
  - Food and beverages
  - Cameras and film
  - Specialty gear.

After you've used this guide to prepare your own checklist, make plenty of copies. Leave space under headings that will require special notations for different trips. Under Rods and Reels, for instance, you'll want to indicate just which rods and reels you'll want for each specific trip. The same goes for your food list and other categories.

In using the checklist, advises Tom Faugh, Salt-Water Fishing Editor of Sports Afield Magazine, don't make a final check mark against any item until it has been placed in the boat. Putting something in the back seat of your car is no guarantee that you'll have it out on the water when you need it. You might use two colored pencils and check blue items packed in the car, red for items placed aboard the boat. Or use a system of checks and Xs—just so you'll know which is which.

And finally, just one more suggestion: Don't forget the checklist!

How Mrs. "Always Broke"

BALANCED HER BUDGET

She Never Used To Know

Where Her Money Went!

Who could blame her husband for getting cross once in a while? She never seemed to know where the household money went. It just went.

How different now. When hubby asks about the finances, she confidently reaches for the old checkbook. There in the stubs is the whole story... a businesslike record of the month's expenditures.

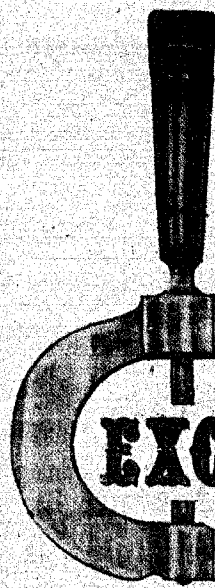

It is so simple to balance your budget when a checkbook record is kept of each expenditure.

Why not open your household checking account and solve many of those problems which every home has about finances?

Federal Tax Questions And Answers

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I teach school and usually take a course or two in the summer. Has there been any change in the law regarding the deductibility of these expenses?

A—No, tax deductions for education can be taken under the same conditions this year as they were last year. Briefly, an educational expense is deductible if the course is required by your employer or is necessary to maintain or improve the skills required on your present job. No deduction can be taken for courses needed to meet the minimum requirements of a job to obtain a new job.

For example, the tax laws permit a teacher to deduct the cost of a course taken to maintain his teaching skills but it won't permit a deduction for courses taken to qualify as a teacher.

For additional details send a post card to your district director requesting a free copy of "Educational Expenses" Document No. 5952.

Q—I received an extension of time to file my return and now I'm billed for interest on my taxes. Why is that?

A—The extension of time to file you received only waives the penalty for not filing your return by the original due date. Under the law, interest at the rate of 6 per cent per year must still be paid on any taxes paid after the due date.

Q—I receive a small sum each month to cover the expenses of a foster child that I have taken into my home. Is this money taxable?

A—These payments do not have to be reported as income unless they exceed the cost of the support you provide the child.

If the amount you contribute to the child's support is more than the payments you receive, then the child may qualify as your dependent. To qualify as a dependent, the child must be a member of your household and live with you the entire year, in addition to meeting the other tests for dependency.

Q—Do you have any booklet that will help a taxpayer prepare for an audit?

A—Yes. Send a post card to your district director and ask him for a copy of IRS Document No. 5202, "If Your Return is Examined." It is free!

Q—I'm self-employed. If I set up my own retirement plan, is it true I have to do the same for my secretary?

A—Retirement plans for most self-employed individuals must include employees of the self-employed person who have been with him three years or more. Part-time and seasonal employees may be excluded.

Q—From the tax standpoint, what's the difference between alimony and child support payments?

A—Alimony payments are deductible for the payer and taxable income to the recipient. Child support payments are not deductible for the payer and are not taxable to the recipient.
