REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK

BY JOE PICKLE

We'll admit that Mother's Day has become rather sentimental and commercial, but it still is a pretty good one. After all, mothers are due all the homage given them for no others have so influenced the life of the nation. Descend the method and you drag down the standards of the country. Reverse and honor good Christian motherhood and you increase the days of the land.

Dictators To Have A Look At Frontiers

Il Duce Expected To Fire New Outburst At France Today

By The Associated Press France put her armed forces on the alert Saturday night as Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini scheduled significant tours of their border fortifications to follow an anticipated anti-French outburst by Il Duce today.

A strong squadron of the French Mediterranean fleet moved into Tunisian waters following receipt of reports in Paris that Mussolini would unleash an extremely bitter outburst against France in a Sunday speech at Turin, Italy.

Informed sources in Berlin said Hitler also would inspect Germany's eastern frontier fortifications to remind Poland as well as the western powers of Nazi defensive strength.

It became a part of the Wheeler-Truman transportation bill, scheduled for senate consideration in about two weeks.

Confident that Big Spring has an excellent chance of winning the 1940 convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce, hundreds of local people were preparing today to move on Abilene and the current convention to "bring it back."

'Union Pacific' Epic Of America's Railroad Building Days

DeMille Film Opens Today At Ritz

Production Caps 25-Year Hollywood Career Of Director

The sixty-fifth production in Cecil B. DeMille's career of twenty-five years, which has embraced more big hits than that of any other producer-director, is "Union Pacific," an epic treatment of the building of America's first transcontinental railway.

It will be presented locally today and Monday at the Ritz theatre, with Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea in starring roles.

DeMille, who enjoys the distinction of having produced the first film ever made in Hollywood ("The Squaw Man," with Dustin Farnum, in 1914), has only recently begun to concern himself with the epic stories of American history. Before that his biggest productions were either biblical or medieval such as his unforgettable "Ten Commandments," "The King of Kings," "The Sign of the Cross" and "The Crusades."

Glorifying the American Past
But DeMille turned to his homeland for inspiration a couple of years ago and received more applause for his work than ever before. The picture was "The Plainsman," with Gary Cooper, which he followed a season ago with "The Buccaneer," the story of Jean Lafitte and his part in the War of 1812. And now comes "Union Pacific," the most ambitious project ever undertaken by the great producer-director.

To those interested in background and antecedents, no one is more fitted to bring the great moments of the nation's past to the screen than the imaginative and extravagant "C.B." A son of one of the country's oldest families, he is descended from a DeMille who came to America from Haarlem, Holland, early in the seventeenth century. The founder of the house rose high in the political circles of the old New Amsterdam under

DIRECTOR AND PRINCIPALS IN PICTURE, 'UNION PACIFIC'

Considered a fitting capstone to a 25-year career in the movies is Cecil B. DeMille's "Union Pacific," a stirring saga in celluloid of the building of the first transcontinental railroad. "Union Pacific," telling a story of railroad heroism, as well as packing se-

both the Dutch and English administrations.

Inspired on the Run
DeMille, who now finds American history his greatest stimulus, first got the idea for "Union Pacific" while traveling from Hollywood to New York two years ago. Gazing out of his train window for days on end and watching the vast stretches of America flash past, he suddenly became impressed with the vision, courage and hard work of the thousands of men who made the dream of spanning the continent a reality some seventy years ago.

As he remembers it, the inspiration first hit him somewhere near Omaha, and by the time he reached Chicago he had the idea pretty well formulated in his mind. From Cleveland he enthusiastically telegraphed the Paramount offices in Hollywood:

"Story of building of 'Union Pacific' railroad to be my next work."

"Little People" the Heroes
DeMille's "Union Pacific" differs from many a screen epic in that it places its emphasis on the "little people" rather than the "bigwigs." Although such eminent figures as Abraham Lincoln, General U. S. Grant, General Sheridan, Oakes Ames and Governor Leland Stanford have their place in the narrative, the picture is more concerned with the courageous engineers who drove the first trains, the trouble-shooters who kept order along the right-of-way, the women who went West to share in the hardships

KBST Calendar Full Of Mother's Day Features; Oldest, Youngest In The City To Be Interviewed At Homes

In paying fitting tribute to Mother's Day, KBST will feature several Mother's Day programs. Three programs from the Texas State Network will be broadcast with an hour's local broadcast from 4 to 5 p. m. The portion of the program originating in the studios will feature songs by Edith Gay, Lillian Gilmer, Clarinda Mary Sanders, W. R. Dawes and the Melody Mads Trio, composed of Juanita Cook, Beatrice Peck and Marie Baird. An original poem entitled "Mother's Day" will be read by Shine Phillips and Mrs. George O'Brien will be heard in a talk, "A Mother's Prayer for Peace."

Highlights of the hour's broadcast will be interviews with the oldest and youngest mothers in Big Spring found in the recent search over KBST. The oldest mother, Mrs. Zinn, and the youngest mother, Mrs. Raymond Garner, will be interviewed from their respective homes during the broadcast. All Big Spring listeners are invited to listen to the Mother's Day tribute especially dedicated to the mothers of this vicinity.

ADDRESS
"An American Mother" will be the topic of a Mother's Day address by Rev. Jno. V. Bergtund, pastor of the Bering Memorial Methodist church, Houston, during the regular "Americanism" broadcast of the Texas Junior chamber of commerce over station KBST and the Texas State Network at 1:30 p. m. Sunday. Originating in the studios of KXYZ, TSN's Houston affiliate, the series of "Americanism" broadcasts is under the direction of Miles E. Hilton, chairman, Americanism committee, Texas Junior chamber of commerce.

SALUTE TO PIONEERS
A special Mother's Day broadcast, saluting the pioneer mothers and fathers of Texas, will be heard in the last of the "Salute to the Pioneer" series, presented by dramatic students of Texas Tech, over the local station from 2:45 to 3 p. m. Sunday.

Plot for the special salute concerns a young married couple's visit with mother on Mother's Day, and the amusing comparisons between the modern day and past. "Salute to the Pioneers" has been presented each Sunday since last fall through the cooperation of the West Texas Museum association, students in the department of speech of Texas Technological college, and KFYO, TSN's Lubbock affiliate. Scripts have been prepared by Richard Flowers, instructor in speech at Texas Tech.

SPECIAL POEM
A Mother's Day poem which Gene has written for Aunt Mary will be heard on the "Heart of the West" show at 9:30 p. m. "Heart of the West" is a TSN show built around the characters on the Lazy J ranch "Out West of the Pecos." Levi, the colored cook at the ranch, will present Aunt Mary with a card made for her.

Stocks End Week With Little Change

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—Mild rallying inclinations were displayed by some stock market departments today but the list generally edged out of the week without pointing in any particular direction.

Developments at home and abroad were without any great stimulating properties. Fractional advances were plentiful at the close, as were minor declines, and numerous issues were unchanged. Many stocks failed to appear on the dragging ticker tape.

Dealings again were among the smallest for nearly a year, transfers for the short session totaling 158,140 shares against 176,750 a week ago. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks finished the day unchanged at 45.8, but for the week was up 3 of a point.

Prospects that soft coal would start moving next week, after a six-weeks' tie-up in this industry, provided a little cheer.

Martha Raye, Bob Hope In New Comedy

'Never Say Die' Headlines Program At Queen Theatre

Playing together for the fourth time in little more than a year, Bob Hope and Martha Raye return to the screen in a frivolous film farce, "Never Say Die," which is scheduled for today, and Monday at the Queen theatre.

Bob is cast as a nervous wreck of a millionaire who "enjoys poor health"; Martha, as a girl who is escaping from two suitors finds a husband where she least expects one.

The screenplay of "Never Say Die" was written by a trio of crack scenarists at Paramount: Don Hartman, Frank Butler and Preston Sturges, and based on the highly successful play by William H. Post. It plots the experiences of a rich hypochondriac who thinks he has only a month to live and decides to make it a comfortable one.

When Hope and Miss Raye meet at an Alpine spa, they realize immediately how much they have in common. For while Hope is being menaced by a much-married widow, Gaule Sondergaard, who is crazy about his money, Martha is being forced by her father to marry a Russian prince, Alan Mowbray, even though her heart belongs to the boy back home, Andy Devine. Such a match—even if not made in heaven—is still a match, and the two get married, disguised as peasants.

The Hope-Raye wedding trip is in keeping with the general mad mood of the picture. Devine, arriving unexpectedly to claim Miss Raye as his bride, does the next best thing and joins the couple on their Alpine honeymoon! Three on a honeymoon is fun under any conditions, but with Hope, Raye and Devine as the chief participants, the riot can only be imagined.

The climax comes with the arrival of Martha's father, Miss Sondergaard and Mowbray, all determined to impose their wills of the young couple. After untangling the romantic mixup, Hope fights a burlesque pistol duel with Mowbray, who maintains his honor has been wounded.

As their director in their new comedy, Hope and Miss Raye had their favorite chief, Elliott Nugent, it was Nugent who directed "Give Me a Sailor."

HONORABLE MENTION FOR LOCAL STUDENT IN POSTER CONTEST

A Big Spring student, Eugene Randall Anderson, won honorable mention in a statewide contest among school children on fire prevention posters, local school officials have been advised. Letter announcing the award and enclosing a blue ribbon for the boy was received from Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner. The contest was sponsored last fall in connection with fire prevention observance. Eugene Randall is a sixth grade student in Central ward.

HE MAY WANT TO DIE

The title of the newest Martha Raye-Bob Hope comedy (playing at the Queen theatre today and Monday) is "Never Say Die," but there is a suspicion that Brother Hope may prefer death to the concoction Martha is feeding him. The play is a hilarious one about a wreck of a millionaire and a gal who is looking for a husband.

Robt. Taylor, Beery Join For Action

'Stand Up And Fight' Is Western Melodrama At Lyric

The outdoor action melodrama, dear to the hearts of film fans ever since the days of such early Western stars as William S. Hart, William Farnum and Tom Mix, comes into its own again with Wallace Beery and Robert Taylor as its protagonists, in "Stand Up and Fight," which returns here for Sunday-Monday showings at the Lyric.

Teamed for the first time, Beery and Taylor co-star in a story of Western Maryland in the 1850's, when the railroads and stagecoach lines were engaged in a bitter struggle for right-of-way as the population of the United States surged westward. Semi-historical in theme, "Stand Up and Fight" presents a period and locale new to motion pictures, but presenting all the elements of the best of the action Westerns including two bare-knuckle fights between its stars, a saloon brawl, jail dynamiting, a race between train and stage coach, a covered wagon wreck and a series of gunfights.

Florence Rice wins her most important assignment to date as Taylor's leading lady in the adaptation of the Forbes Parkhill novel, while a notable supporting cast includes such names as Helen Broderick, Charles Bickford, Charley Grapewin, John Qualen, Barton MacLane, Robert Gleckler and Clinton Rosemond.

W. S. Van Dyke II, who first made a name for himself as writer, director and cutter of Westerns in the days of Essanay, directed "Stand Up and Fight" with Mervyn LeRoy producing.

Big Spring Folk Are Remembering Mother In Activities Today

No matter what the rest of the world thinks and says there is one person on whom we can depend to come through when she is needed and to bolster us up when the world has knocked us down. Most mothers are taken for granted and imposed upon but there is one day in the year when they are remembered and what is today—Mother's Day.

IRA'S firstborn was named Wilhelm—after great-grandpa, the former German kaiser, in the custom of first line Hobenzollern heirs. Wilhelm arrived Feb. 9 at Potsdam. Father is Prince Louis Ferdinand; mother is ex-Russian princess.

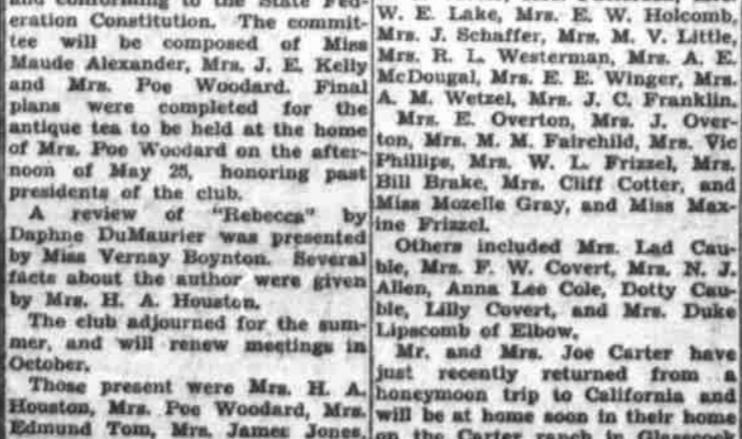

MRS. BADGETT gave Texas its second set of quadruplets—all girls—last Feb. 1, and added a sixth set of quads to U. S. population. The 36-year-old Galveston mother already has been given college scholarships for her daughters.

THE ROOSEVELTS increased by two—both boys—in the past twelve-months. They were Nov. 8 and 9 of Presidential grandchildren, and were born on opposite coasts. Left, the President's daughter, Mrs. John Boettiger, wife of the Seattle publisher, whose son, John Roosevelt Boettiger, arrived on March 26. Right, the lad who carries the President's name, shown with his mother, the former Ethel du Pont. Franklin D., III, son of Franklin, Jr., was born July 19, 1938, at Philadelphia.

NAGAKO, empress of Japan, gave birth to her seventh child on March 2 at Tokyo. She is 36. Emperor Hirochito picked out the name of Princess Noble Precious—rather long in Japanese, but that was shortened to "Suga."

EMMI, actress-wife of Field Marshal Goering—Hitler's hefty head man—became a mother on June 2, 1938. Arrival of the daughter, Edda, was announced in extra editions of newspapers. Her Hitler was godfather at the christening.

Women At Work
She Directs Radio Activities

Being a clock watcher in most businesses isn't a good plan for success but in the case of Mary Vance Kenester, program director for Radio Station KBST, it is not only a good plan but a necessity.

Being program director combines a lot of different kinds of jobs and in her hours from 8:30 o'clock until 5 o'clock, Miss Kenester has to watch the clock to hit each job on time.

Her early morning duties consist of letting fan mail which the studio keeps on file. Then at 9 o'clock she plays a 15-minute program of the "impression song" of the day. In the afternoon she has another 15-minute program called "Sketches in Ivory."

On Saturdays she is director, compiler, and announcer for the Kiddies program. Then, too, she selects transcribed shows and does what is called "taking corrections" from TSN from Fort Worth and which means making changes in any national programs. A log for the year of each quarter hour of the day and the programs that are listed must be kept.

Miss Kenester went to work at the station in 1937 in the official position of studio accompanist but after a stay of three months was promoted to program director. She has studied music at Mary Hardin-Baylor in Belton and at Abilene Christian college. She previously had some experience in radio work but was more or less "green" at the job as Miss Kenester believes she has the nicest job in the world and says that "every day she learns something else."

Jonah And The Whale In Reverse; Joe College Swallows Anything

By NANCY PHILIPS
 AUSTIN, May 13.—Between the song, "Three Little Fishes," and the hungry college boy, no smart intelligent fish would dare to leave the sanctity of the deepest "deep" of the ocean. This is a bad season for small fish, particularly the tams, trusting gold fish and the unsuspecting minnow. First he is swimming around in a nice cool river enjoying life in general when suddenly he is grabbed in no uncertain terms, dangled for a moment, and then plopped! He is dropped into a stuffy hole where swimming is rather difficult and often interrupted by the vibration of laughter and "well, I got that one down all right. Hand me the next one."

Even dumb swallowed fish welcomes company, just so it's another fish. This is just another reversed case of Jonah and the whale. And these fish have no candles and it must be awfully dark. Besides the humane society, who cares, if the college boy doesn't? It's his stomach, or to be more specific, his fish pond.

Live fish are one thing but fresh phonograph records are another, I never fancied a record as eatable but it has evidently become sea food along with a lot of other things. It has its advantages I suppose—you could make a sandwich with three little fishes between Kay Kayser's recording of "Three Little Fishes," and eat the fish; the record and Kay Kayser at the same time. That should satisfy two college boys.

I don't know where this fad of "swallowing things" started but let's hope it will stop before they try to make hash out of the left-overs and die with the "collegiate fish-graft-glass" of the stomach, or what's left of it.

The freshman epitaph of the future:
 Here lies Joe College
 Who died trying to swallow a live crab.
 May they both rest in peace.

... a New Record for a Brand New Car

In less than three months after its introduction the Ford-built Mercury 8 climbed from scratch to ninth place in the number of new cars registered for use on the nation's highways.

And that, according to the best available figures, is a record! For never before in modern times has a new car met with such instant and complete approval of the motoring public. And here's why: The new Mercury 8 is the car all America has been asking for.

For instance, compare these Mercury 8 features with your idea of motor car value: Style leadership—smart streamlines and luxurious interior appointments that whet your zest for the open road. . . . Big, wide roomy bodies—added inches of elbow room and extra-large concealed luggage compartment. . . . New 95-hp. engine—8-cylinder, V-type, powerful, economical. . . . Easy riding—116-inch wheelbase, with passengers cradled between soft transverse springs actually 127 inches apart! . . . Unusually easy steering and gear shifting. . . . Powerful hydraulic brakes! Small wonder, then, that new owners insist on taking their friends for a whirl around the block in the new Mercury 8, and want them to drive it. Your Mercury dealer will be glad to arrange a longer ride for you.

Challedon Stops J'town String

By SID FEDER PIMLICO RACE COURSE, BALTIMORE, Md., May 13 (AP)—The mud and a great mud-runner caught up with Johnstown today.

W. L. Brann's bay colt, Challedon, a mudder from 'way back, came on in the last three eighths of a mile on a track soaked by day-long rain to win the 49th running of the rich Preakness stakes.

For three quarters of a mile in this mile and three sixteenths gallop, it was all Johnstown. The big son of James-town, winner of four straight previous three year old outings by a total of 25 lengths, looked like a shoe-in.

At the finish, this gallant son of Challenger 2nd, who ran six lengths back of Johnstown in the derby a week ago, was a length and a half to the good, with Gilded Knight, entry-mate of 'Big John,' taking the place by three from George Bull's Voltant.

Running on soft-top footing, Challedon went the route in 1 minute, 59 4/5 seconds—only 1 3/5 seconds away from the Preakness mark High Quest set five years ago.

It was the third largest winner's "take" in this historic race, surprisingly large despite the smallest field in 24 years.

TECH AGAIN DENIED ENTRY IN SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE

Fails To Pledge Champ For Post-Season Game
 By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
 COLLEGE STATION, May 13 (AP)—One vote shy of unanimity on a proposal to pledge its football champion to a post-season classic, the Southwest Conference today virtually abandoned the idea.

A committee that had been appointed to work out details that would have delivered the grid kings to a group controlled by the conference, was dissolved. Dr. Henry Trantham of Baylor, president of the faculty committee said the action had the practical effect of killing the matter.

That action, and denial again of Tech's admittance into the seven school conference, highlighted the meeting.

Dr. Trantham, speaking for the committee, said:

"The committee that has been working on the post-season game has been dissolved, and while there is a possibility that something may be worked out before the end of the summer between the University of Texas and the conference association, headed by Dan D. Rogers of Dallas, the chance is small."

The University of Texas was the dissenter in the voting.

"I would say," Dr. Trantham continued, "that unless Texas alters its position before the end of the summer, the idea will be abandoned and left exactly where it has been—that is to say, wide open for any school which wins the championship to consider any invitations."

Opposition to post-season football games by the University of Texas was the stumbling point. The university faculty long has opposed such games, and sources said, were not wavering in their stand on the present proposal.

Need All Votes

It would take an affirmative vote on the Texas faculty representatives to enable its conference faculty committee member to give approval to the classic.

One member of the conference faculty committee said it was "quite possible" that the other six schools would go ahead with present plans to pledge the conference winner to the game. "Taking the word of the University of Texas that is opposed to all post-season games and would not accept an invitation from any other source."

J. Curtis Sanford, Tyler oil man who has promoted the three Cotton Bowl games, twice using Southwest Conference teams in his New Year's Day attraction, has said that he would stage his annual game, regardless of conference action.

He holds a state charter on the name, "Cotton Bowl Athletic association," and has the Cotton Bowl stadium under lease for the two weeks before and after New Year's Day for the next five years.

The committee's terse statement, filed by Board Member L. L. Steele, of Mexico as an individual, and not as the joint request of the Tech board, said:

"It is the settled policy of the Southwest Athletic Conference to maintain membership at seven institutions."

The action was unanimous.

Tech's undefeated season last year, which led them into the Cotton Bowl against St. Mary's Gaeles of California, had caused some observers to believe the West Texas school, third largest state institu-

Pre-Summer Sale Offered On Used Cars

"Ford Dealers' Pre-Summer Used Car Sale," announced here Saturday by V. A. Merrick, local Ford dealer, is a new sales idea which has been developed especially for the prospective used car owner in order that he may take full advantage of the fine motoring weather in the next few months.

Merrick explained that the idea was inspired by the success of last year's National Used Car Exchange Week which brought about great savings to thousands. He said this new program is expected to prove attractive to the man who has been delaying his purchase hoping for better used car bargains. A large percentage of the cars offered during this special event will be backed by the R&G (renewed and guaranteed) pledge which means the utmost in protection to the buyer. This is the same guarantee made by all Ford dealers.

"We are making this bargain period possible at a time when the average citizen looks forward to a pleasant holiday jaunt and a vacation trip a little later in the season, with his family. Also we are more anxious that the campaign shall bring out the importance of safe, reliable transportation," Merrick said.

The pre-summer sales effort has as its basic theme "Better and safer transportation at the season's greatest number." It is emphasized that improved transportation is to be made available on easy terms to those who take advantage of "Ford Dealers' Pre-Summer Sale."

At the local Ford dealership—the Big Spring L. C. Co.—there will be offered many good used cars of recent design which will provide low-cost, safe transportation within the limits of most family incomes. It is explained that prices will be more attractive than ever before, at a season when demands for cars reach the highest peak.

Big Spring Motor's announcement of this event, which opens Monday and lasts throughout the month, appears elsewhere in today's Herald.

FHA Loans For Rural Construction Are Being Taken Here

M. R. Eiland, chief farm evaluator for the Federal Housing Administration, his assistant, H. G. Duff, and Lyle Harford, representing a lending institution for the department, left here Saturday after spending two days in checking applications submitted by Henry Biekle, local representative.

The applications covered FHA loans for farm improvements and refinancing. This department of FHA is in its infancy and the first loan from this section has just been approved. Several are in the process of being closed.

Similar to loans for urban property, the FHA farm loans will be available for repair, renovation and new construction. In event of prior indebtedness, the FHA refinances the obligation and includes the amount of new work in the loan.

Several surrounding counties will be handled through the Big Spring office, it was announced.

FARM ADJUSTMENT WORK COMPLETED

County committee members Saturday finished their adjustments on Howard county farms and dispatched them to the state headquarters at College Station.

When the state committee has made its adjustments they will be returned here and producers notified.

Roy E. Veal, district performance supervisor, Saturday checked completion data on the 65 wheat farms of Howard county and approved all without exception.

BILLION A MONTH BEING SPENT ON REARMAMENT

BASEL, May 13 (AP)—The Bank for International Settlements estimated today the world is spending $1,000,000,000 a month on armaments.

Based on statistics which the bank said were incomplete but nevertheless showed the trend of defense expenditures, a resume said the total cost of war implements during 1938 had increased six times that of 1928.

The National Geographical society has a membership of over 1,000,000.

Reservations Are Received For State Postmasters Meet

With reservations coming in every day, Nat Shick, postmaster, Saturday began to anticipate a big gathering when the Texas Postmasters association meets here June 21 for a three-day session.

Association officials, headed by W. B. Degross, Amarillo, have already made reservations.

Several postal officials out of the regional office in Fort Worth have notified Shick they would be here for the convention. Among them were F. L. Clappett, chief inspector, Arvin Page, post office inspector, and C. J. Taylor, superintendent of railway mail service. Several out of the Washington departmental office are due to be here. Mr. and Mrs. Shick were to leave here Sunday afternoon for Abilene to attend the West Texas chamber of commerce convention for a day before going to Amarillo for a dedication of a new federal building. Shick will remind Postmaster General James A. Farley of the invitation to address the state association in Big Spring.

This is the Picture Where You Belong!

CAST your eye just once on the passing traffic and you spot this stunning Buick as the one car of the year you can instantly identify.

It's the pattern—no mistaking that—and you'll find plenty of admiring glances following wherever you travel.

But if attention had been all we were after, we might have got merely that with a lot less pains than we took.

What we were shooting for was something a heap more important than attention: a picture that does you justice—and mister, look how gloriously we hit the bull's-eye!

You try out the driver's seat—it fits. You take hold of the wheel—it seems molded to your hand. There's the gas treadle, right where it should be...

So you ease down on the gas—and pronto, you've got rhythm! You fingertip the wheel—presto! there's control!

You wing down the straightaway, cruise around curves, swoop up the hill. Eagerly, instantly, amiably, your car does what you want—it's almost a part of you, your wish is its action!

So, you happily discover, here's where you belong!

It isn't the big and powerful wallop in that Dynaflex straight-eight alone. It isn't only the level skimming comfort of soft-coiled BuicCoil Springing. It isn't simply the visibility—though those extra 412 square inches come in mighty handy.

It's the feel of this great car you'll go for, the way you feel at home!

Now such a car is worth plenty. But this Buick actually costs less than a year ago, less than you think—less than some sixes.

Surely, that leaves nothing else to settle except when you can get delivery. Why not see your Buick dealer and get the answer?

PARK PROJECT JUST STARTING

As Governor O'Daniel Friday signed an enabling act, the groundwork was laid toward the eventual establishment of the Big Bend park; but it was only the groundwork and it will be largely up to Texans themselves to see that this great project becomes an actuality.

It is worthwhile to repeat here a warning issued by Amon Carter, chairman of the Big Bend Park association: "The amount of money that completion of the legislative action does not mean that the park is an accomplished fact."

"This is just the first step toward getting the national park for Texas," said Carter. "The real work is now before us. We must raise $1,500,000 to pay for the land, which the bill gives us authority to buy and to present to the National Park Service. This bill is only enabling legislation. After we obtain the land, the federal government will begin building the park and guarantees to maintain it forever as a national monument without expense to Texas. In passing this legislation at Austin, the state followed in the footsteps of congress, which has passed necessary federal laws creating the park and providing for its perpetual maintenance. Now it is up to Texans to subscribe the funds with which to complete this project."

Being Born To The Purple Is No Snap; Tour Of Royal Couple Just A Chain Of Duty Calls

The North American visit of Britain's king and queen (they're due in Canada May 15 and in the United States June 7) fits right in with the busy program they have been following since he succeeded to the throne in December, 1936. This story tells what it's like to be royalty.

By WILLIAM MCGAFFIN AP Feature Service Writer

LONDON—The King and Queen of England will travel faster and make more wearing public appearances than a movie star on circuit when they visit their cousins in the new world this summer. Being born to the purple is no snap.

Among the most trying features are the countless public engagements you must keep—partly because it's customary, partly because, like Hollywood stars, you need the publicity.

In Your Sleep

You walk until you're ready to drop, unveiling memorials, laying cornerstones, opening new buildings until you must see them in your sleep.

You're only a figurehead. You can't even write your own speech. But you've got to deliver it—in person—even though you have a speech impediment that makes talking in public a torture.

Above all, you must always smile, always come through with an intelligent remark after they finish explaining whatever it is you're inspecting.

The present King's father, George V, made no secret of his boredom at this aspect of the royal job.

But there's a lighter side. Everybody got a good laugh, for instance, at the British Industries fair a year ago when the police saved the King from a "bombing plot." The bomb turned out to be nothing more than a box of self-supporting socks which the inventor was waiting to deliver to His Majesty in person.

Real Bombs, Too

They were real bombs, however, that anti-British terrorists set off within earshot of the King and Queen when they were visiting Belfast last year. But their majesties remained calm and the ceremonies continued without a hitch.

Despite the dignity his position demands, the King breaks loose occasionally with some tomfoolery.

He interrupted a factory tour one to ride in a 1939 model automobile he had come upon unexpectedly. "Whoops, we're off!" cried His Majesty as he rolled away in the old car.

George and Elizabeth yielded to impulse and stopped in at a social center one day to play a game of darts—the great British indoor sport. The Queen, who said it was the first time she had played, scored 21 to the King's 19.

"You've won by two," said the King.

"What a very sporty game it is," exclaimed the Queen.

The Queen, who long ago overcame her shyness at appearing in public, demonstrated her knack for public speaking when she deputized for the King at the launching of the liner Queen Elizabeth during the September crisis that kept the King in London.

She got along swimmingly until

The Thrill That Comes Once In A Lifetime

Today And Tomorrow

By Walter Lippmann

(Mr. Lippmann's column is published as an informational and news feature. His views are personal and are not to be construed as necessarily reflecting the editorial opinion of The Herald—Editor's Note).

THE VICE OF THE DEFICITS

After watching the way in which the senate added some 235 millions to the agricultural subsidy, the observer may ask himself where this sort of thing is going to stop, who is going to stop it, and how he is going to stop it. In one day's work, without a roll call, the senate with the assistance and consent of all the orators who have denounced spending, have announced deficits, namely Mr. Taft and Mr. Vandenberg and Mr. Byrd, added another 10 per cent to next year's anticipated deficits.

We learn from press interviews that the secretary of the treasury is "greatly distracted," that the president, who thinks that his own deficit is necessary, thinks this somewhat larger deficit somewhat too large. The great rhetorical expostions of economy, retrenchment, the balanced budget, sound finance and the eternal verities, all contributed anonymously but effectively toward the result. The great prophets of national bankruptcy, inflation and whatnot who have been filling the country with their forebodings, took the view that bankruptcy or no bankruptcy, inflation or no inflation, they had to vote the enlarged subsidy.

Discussing this episode, Mr. Arthur Krook of "The New York Times," made the point that "the absence of public pressure for economy derives mainly from the fact that only a small percentage of the people pay direct federal taxes." This is, of course, true. But what makes public pressure for economy totally ineffective is not only that the existing taxes are for the most part invisible and indirect, but that a third of all the expenditures are not covered by taxes at all. Under these conditions there is no real resistance, no resistance that is not mere rhetoric, to the continuation and expansion of the deficit.

For the politicians in Washington, in both parties and in all factions, and the politicians in the states and in the cities, the farm groups and the urban groups alike, are operating under a system where the deficit seems to hurt nobody. The deficit is met by the easiest kind of borrowing. These deficits do not soak the rich. On the contrary they provide an ever-expanding refuge for the fortunes of the rich. So as things go, the politicians vote for larger deficits and the deficits are eagerly financed by the people who have money. Every one deplores it in the abstract, and every one takes advantage of it in the concrete.

Upon this system the prophets of disaster, men like Mr. Byrd and Mr. Taft and Mr. Vandenberg, are quite unable to make any impression. Not only do they consent to it in cases when it is politically dangerous not to consent, but what is more important, their forebodings are not taken seriously. They are not taken seriously because the predicted disaster is not close enough to seem real. It cannot seem real even to themselves or they would have fought like embattled patriots against the abandonment of the very idea of economy.

The fact of the matter is that the real evils of the system of deficit financing is not that it is about to produce bankruptcy, inflation, and financial collapse. If it were about to produce such a spectacular disaster, the American people would be quite capable of rising up to deal with it. The real evil of the deficit is that it is slowly and subtly demoralizing to the whole nation, to the recipients and to the lenders and to the politicians, that it disintegrates the fundamental civic virtues. And, therefore, if it continues, the financial crisis which will come, not for some years but sooner, will find our political system so demoralized that a normal cure will no longer be possible.

It is difficult for a democracy to that far ahead, and to be resolute and self-sacrificing in order to stop an evil which is so subtle, so postponed, so pleasanter to the eye. Yet it is precisely because the financial position is not critical, but is merely degenerating and disintegrating, because there is no emergency but only a gradual destruction of the habits of virtue, that no easy and practical remedy is to be found.

TWO AGAINST LOVE by Frances Hanna

Chapter 14

VISIT TO THE MACKS

"It's time you got your sense of humor back," Nola insisted. "You have a place to live, plenty to eat, and Bob says your roadside stand is making money." Placing her hands on her hips, she tossed her head and laughed. "If I had no sense of humor I'd be in an asylum!" she told him. "Mother got the idea last year of having a genealogist decorate the family tree. When she found out Dad's ancestors were blacksmiths, leather-tanners, and cobblers, she had a nervous breakdown. My grandfather, the one who founded the Cranston shoe factories, was only a poor cobbler who came to America via steerage. And since I decided to give away part of my money I've been hounded by cranks and radicals to the point where I wish I had no money!"

"I read something about it in the papers but I figured it was just a publicity stunt," Tally commented. "I can't imagine anyone giving away millions."

"I can't imagine anyone keeping them!" she retorted. "What good are they? I couldn't spend them if I tried. However, it begins to look as if I can't even give money away without starting a revolution. I wish I knew what to do."

His brows puckered thoughtfully. "If it were my money," he said slowly, "I think I'd give it to the government for re-forestation. I would draw up a contract stipulating the money could be used only for that one purpose and that a strict accounting must be offered. A person who did a thing like that would go down in history as a nation's benefactor."

Nola caught some of his eagerness. "Perhaps that is the solution—the idea I've been looking for. But this contract business..."

"I could draw it up for you," he offered, "or draft it out for you before you went to your lawyer."

"But I thought you were a farmer?"

"I am. I did study law, though, at Texas University. I passed my bar examinations but I never practiced."

"Why not?"

"Couldn't." He shrugged, wondering at the urge which prompted him to talk so much to this strange girl. "Things got bad on the farm, and we had to let the hired help go. Gramp is too old to work, so it was up to me. I had dreams once but they disappeared into reality. Oh, I'm not sorry for myself... I like farming all right."

"You know," she announced with sincere candor, "I like you, Talbot Mack!"

A flush spread over his tan cheeks. He felt a sudden lightening of the heaviness which had settled in his chest a few weeks ago.

"I'd like very much to meet the rest of your family, Talbot, Grandmother Jocelyn used to talk to me about your grandfather."

"All right, I'll take you in the house, but I can't stay. Have to get this plowing finished before the sun is too hot."

As they walked toward the house he found himself talking to her more freely than he had talked to anyone for many months. He realized that he had missed the companionship of persons his own age more than he had admitted to himself. A sudden rebellion thought marred his pleasure: why couldn't Jocelyn Russell have been like Nola? Yet, being infinitely just, he saw that it might be different if Nola owned Sealcliff.

Being Born To The Purple Is No Snap; Tour Of Royal Couple Just A Chain Of Duty Calls

it came time to cut the tape releasing the christening champagne. In her excitement she forgot to say in the customary manner, "I name three Queen Elizabeths."

'A Bonnie Lassie'

Once, when they were visiting Edinburgh, an 84-year-old Highlander, evidently feeling the privilege of his years, came up to her Scottish majesty and exclaimed, "You're a bonnie lassie. I wish I had courted you myself."

The crowd roared and the Queen, the reports said, "smiled broadly."

But the ceremony, which varies according to the occasion, has been toned down considerably since the days of Edward VII except for such occasions as, say, the opening of a new session of Parliament. Then their majesties, to their subjects' delight, droll in glittering outfits and ride through the streets in the gold coach drawn by the Windsor greys.

The Queen went unrecognized once during a surprise visit to a slum-clearance area. A night watchman in one of the flats snored peacefully the whole time she was in the room, and one of the housewives she had talked to exclaimed afterward:

"I thought she was just a lady!"

Just One Day

The average public engagement goes something like this: Their majesties in "civilian clothes" arrive by royal train or auto-distinguished by the royal standard — to find an enormous crowd which has "waited patiently for hours" — probably in the rain, this being England.

Local bigshots and perhaps a little shot or two are presented.

Then, after a quick little hand squeeze of encouragement from the Queen, the King gets up and makes a speech — a brief one in consideration of his stammer.

After that comes the cornerstone laying, the memorial unveiling, or the long, long walk of inspection.

A few hours after departing, at the occasion warrants, the King sends a "bread and butter" message of thanks and good wishes — just like an ordinary mortal.

The mineral wealth of Tanganyika is indicated by a report of the department of lands and mines, which shows that $2,900,000 worth of minerals was exported during 1938, most of it unrefined gold.

RIGHT-HAND-MAN Lascelles is the coach on Yankee customs and manners, also takes care of messages, arrangements, audiences, royal statements.

LADY-IN-WAITING Nunburnholme, a blue-blooded Baroness, is one of the Queen's companions. She was a bridesmaid at Their Majesties' wedding.

To Take Bids On Martin Highway

STANTON, May 13 (Spl) — A notice calling for bids for construction of a highway leading from Stanton on the Stanton-Lamesa highway has been issued recently by the county judge, C. E. Story.

The notice calls for bids on 45 miles of grading, drainage structures, flexible base and double asphalt surface treatment. Bids are to be received at the office of the county clerk of Martin county until 10 a. m. May 17, 1939.

The city of Stanton is cooperating with the county in making arrangements to pave the street leading north from the First National bank in the business section, to the city limits. From that point the county plans to build the road as far north as funds will permit. Re-routing of about a mile of the road just outside of the city will be done to eliminate two long unnecessary curves. According to the notice, seventy-five working days will be allowed for completion of the project.

theless, if you like him I suppose I shall have to treat him decently while you're here."

"You will," threatened Nola, "or I shall complain bitterly!"

Thora seemed to be having difficulty swallowing a piece of toast. He also had difficulty in suppressing his desire to remonstrate with Nola about this new whim of hers. However, past experience had taught him not to interfere with Nola's whims. Interference only drove her to extremes. She liked to shock people. She was absolutely unpredictable. Her social position and her money made her impervious to anyone's opinion and she did exactly as she pleased. Still, he missed forcibly, as mad as she was at times, he loved her. He wanted to marry her more than he had ever wanted to do anything in his life.

And so he swallowed his toast and said nothing.

'Bull In A China Shop'

"Thorn," Nola said the first moment they were alone, "our crowd is throwing the anniversary spring dance at the club tomorrow night. Remember? Nola is planning on you two going with Geoff and me."

"That should be nice," he offered absently. "Say, do you suppose Nola is really gone on that farmer chap?"

"How should I know? Listen — I want you to make Bob invite Talbot Mack to that dance tomorrow night."

"What is this?" he protested. "Are you crazy, too? First, you can't stand the sight of him, and now you want him at the dance!"

"I know what I'm doing. Nola has the idea that dear Tally is being persecuted and she's decided to champion him. If she does our lives will be miserable for the next few months. We must stop it now. Has any idea penetrated that dense skull of yours, dear brother, or must I draw a diagram?"

"You mean — let her see him against the background of our society crowd? He'd be a bull in a china shop!"

"Exactly."

Late that afternoon when Bob hesitatingly broached the subject of the dance to Tally, that young man said almost the same thing. "So they want to show me up in front of their friends, eh? Nola must have been boosting me and they want her to see what a dull clown I am."

"I'm ashamed of them," Bob said with sincerity. "I would have refused to ask you if I hadn't had a remarkable inspiration!"

When he finished swaying his inspiration Tally was chuckling with quiet amusement. "Okay, Bob," he agreed. "Nola says I've lost my sense of humor. Maybe this inspiration of yours will restore it!"

The cool April evening was clear and star-radiant. The open windows in the immense ballroom of the Dunes Country Club looked out on a serene expanse of dark ocean. The air was salty and brisk and stimulating. A young spring moon rode high.

The orchestra from the Biltmore Hotel in town was playing a smooth swing rhythm when a Thorn dyke parked his sedan near the first tee of the golf course and helped Nola and Jocelyn out. A figure detached itself from a group on the veranda and came toward them.

"Have you been waiting long, Geoff?" Thorn greeted.

"About ten minutes. Sorry. I couldn't join you for dinner, Lyn. One of the new ponies was sick and I had the vet over. He's still there. I may have to take a run over to my place later on — you won't mind, will you, Lyn?"

"Why should I mind?" she parried. "I'm quite accustomed to being neglected for horses, Geoff."

"That isn't fair, Lyn," he protested, taking one of her hands in both of his. "You know how much this match with Cloverbrook means to the club."

Jocelyn smiled up into his face. "I was only joking, Geoff. I want the Dunes team to win as much as you do."

"We all want you to win," Nola asserted. "I hope your dancing has improved since the last time I was out here."

All In Readiness For WTCC Conclave Opening Monday

Banner Affair In Prospect At Abilene

ABILENE, May 13—Abilene is ready to entertain the 21st annual West Texas chamber of commerce convention Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Details of every convention program have been completed and officials said all indications point toward one of the best sessions in the history of the organization.

Entries by member-towns in convention activities have broken all records for recent years. Advance registrations have been pouring in for several days and thousands of West Texans are expected to attend.

The well-balanced program will include discussion of vital West Texas subjects, important business sessions, contests and plenty of entertainment for everybody.

Speakers

Principal topics to be studied are transportation and soil and water conservation. Dr. W. M. W. Spilvan, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and former president of the University of Texas; Harry L. Brown, assistant secretary of the U. S. department of agriculture; and Col. E. O. Thompson, member of the Texas Railroad Commission, head the list of speakers.

A convention highlight will be the "West Texas March of Conservation and Industrial Development" feature on Tuesday afternoon. More than 60 counties have entered floats and cars to assure a parade more than four miles long. The march will climax the first annual Soil and Water Utilization contest.

The convention will open with registration at 8 a. m. Monday, but many visitors are expected to arrive Sunday afternoon and night. Sessions of the convention work committee, J. S. Bridwell, Wichita Falls, chairman; the elections committee, J. M. Wilson, Floydada, chairman; and the WTCC finance board with M. M. Meek, Abilene, WTCC treasurer, as chairman, will be held Monday morning. The work committee also will meet Monday night and Tuesday morning.

Directors Meeting

WTCC directors representing the 191 cities and towns affiliated with the regional organization will meet at luncheons Monday and Tuesday and at breakfast Wednesday. The board will hear and act on reports by various committees. R. H. Nichols, Vernon, will speak at the two luncheons on "Directors' Opportunities."

The transportation conference will be held Monday afternoon with Colonel Thompson as speaker. E. Reagan, Big Spring, chairman of the WTCC traffic board, will preside. Organization of the WTCC-sponsored Freight Rate Equality federation will be perfected after reports by C. A. Studer, Canadian, and A. F. Ashford, San Angelo.

All delegates named by more than 100 Texas organizations which have affiliated with the federation have been invited to attend the conference.

An outdoor talent show, "West Texas Round-Up," Monday afternoon, "Hospitality Hour" radio programs Monday and Tuesday afternoons, two dances each night and 10 band concerts during the two days will furnish entertainment.

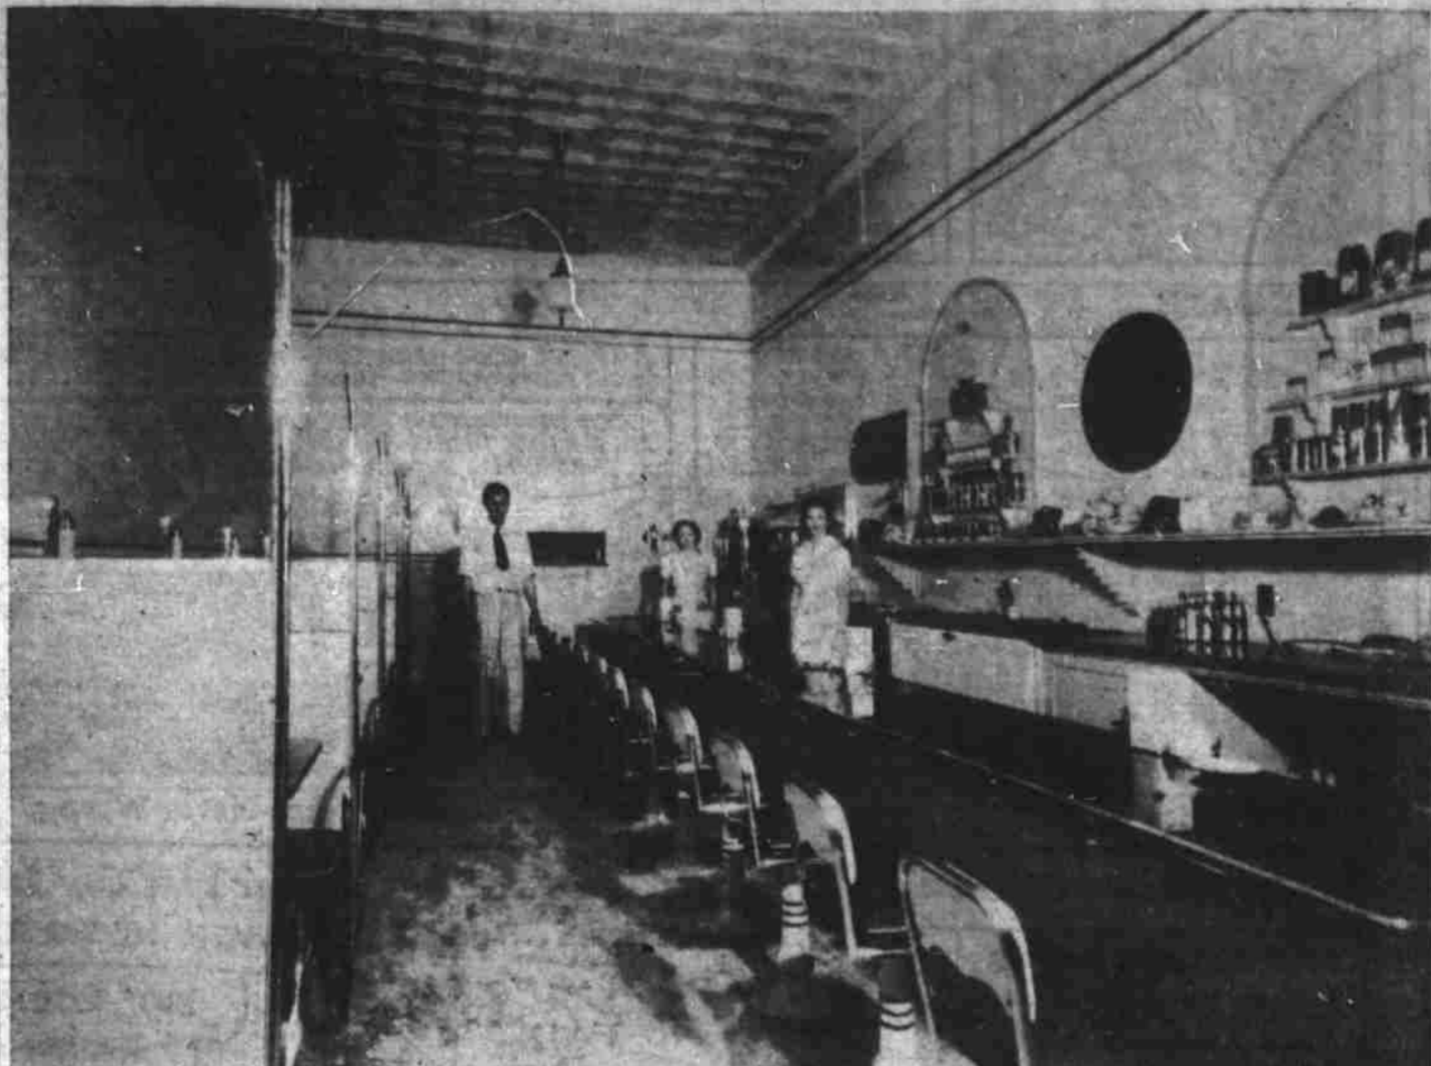

Reveals

The colorful WTCC reveues, "Twilight Trail," with Mrs. Hila Weathers, entertainment director, in charge, will be presented the first two nights of the convention. Twenty-nine pretty West Texas girls have been selected as sponsors by their home towns to take part in the reveues and compete for the "Miss West Texas" title. "Miss West Texas" will be selected by popular ballot at the first night show and her coronation will be held the second night. The reveue programs will be made up of some of West Texas' best entertainment acts. Music will be furnished by the North Texas State Teachers college stage band of Denton.

First general assembly of the convention will be held Tuesday at 10 a. m. with WTCC President H. S. Hilburn, Plainview, presiding and with Dr. Spilvan as principal speaker. Nominations for 1940 convention city will be made. Mineral Wells and Big Spring are the principal bidders at this time.

The eclipse of the sun on June 8, 1937, was the longest total solar eclipse in 600 years.

MODERN NOTE IN EQUIPMENT OF CHARLIE TUNE'S WAFFLE SHOP

Equipment and furnishings of attractive modernistic theme are noted in Charlie Tune's Waffle Shop, new establishment just opened at 110 West Third street. The shop is equipped with chrome and leather booths, ebony counters and ivory shelving. The color scheme, accentuated by chrome finishing, is carried out in all decorations. As the name implies, Tune's place specializes in waffles, but the menu carries full variety of choice foods.

Mother Neff Park To Be Dedicated In Ceremonies Today

WACO, May 13 (AP)—The mother park of Texas' vast state park system will be dedicated tomorrow in a Mother's Day ceremony.

Mrs. Isabella Neff's gift of a seven-acre picnic ground to the state "for park purposes now and forever" while her son, Pat, was governor was the beginning of Texas' 500,000-acre recreation area system. Neff added 250 acres to the plot provided by his mother.

The dedicatory address will be brought by Mrs. J. M. Dawson of Waco. Tom Beauchamp, secretary of state and W. J. Lawson, executive secretary of the state parks board, will accept the tract in behalf of the state.

Mother Neff State Park is on the Leon river, nine miles northwest of McGregor. The site was deeded to the state on a Mother's Day, the first ground for improvements was broken on Mother's Day, and the dedication will be held on the same occasion.

Promises Stern Measures To Halt Labor Violence

HOUSTON, May 13 (AP)—Stern measures will follow renewal of violence on Houston's waterfront from Deputy Sheriff W. O. Davis, leader of a sheriff's strike patrol, warned National Maritime Union pickets at Baytown today.

A few minutes earlier pickets had chased the mate of a picketed tanker into a drug store. Deputy sheriffs dispersed the seamen as they gathered around the store.

"This rough stuff has got to stop," Davis said. "If there is any more violence I will arrest every picket on the waterfront for being an accessory to a mob."

Vandals bombarded a waterfront store with bricks and escaped in a sedan as police rushed to the scene.

Ten new deputy sheriffs were placed along the waterfront.

Police Chief L. C. Brown, granted authority yesterday to work the force 24 hours a day if necessary and employ extra policemen, said he had not found it necessary to increase the force.

Reports of beatings of pickets at Crown Central Petroleum Corporation refinery on the ship channel, were followed today by announcement of the refinery's employees federation had filed an unfair labor practice against the company with the national labor relations board.

The county grand jury Monday will resume its probe of the labor strife.

WOULD REDUCE ALL APPROPRIATIONS ON FIXED BASIS

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Senator Adams (D-Colo.), a leader of the congressional economy movement, informed the senate today that when all appropriations bills have been passed by congress a motion will be offered to reduce them by a fixed percentage or other formula.

Adams made the statement immediately after economy advocates had defeated in an effort to pare the total in the $1,218,000,000 agricultural appropriation bill.

The proposal for some horizontal cut, perhaps 10 percent, had been discussed among members of the senate appropriations committee, Adams said.

TOO EARLY YET TO ENDORSE CANDIDATE

HOUSTON, May 13 (AP)—Jimmy Brinkley, president of the Harris County Young Democrats, said tonight Houston's delegation to the state convention in Dallas May 19 would oppose the organization endorsing any man for president of the United States until the national democratic convention is held.

"If the national convention selects Vice President John Nance Garner, Jesse Jones or anybody else," Brinkley said, "we will be for him, but it is premature for the organization to go on record for a candidate at this time."

Brinkley said the organization's constitution specifically prohibited such action.

Mineral Wells Baker Inaugurates Special Summer Activities

The summer season is on, at one of the famed hotels at Texas' popular resort—the Baker at Mineral Wells.

The hotel's crystal swimming pool, one of its many attractions for patrons, opened on May 13, and is open daily to guests. Also, the Baker has inaugurated weekly dances, and these are held each Saturday evening on the roof, with top-notch orchestras. Jimmy Petty and his band currently are playing at the Baker. Other recreation activities to hotel guests at Mineral Wells are badminton, tennis, and horseback rides.

Louis Gambrell recently was named manager of the Baker at Mineral Wells, succeeding the late Joe Farr, former Big Spring resident who succumbed. Fred Brown is assistant manager and Mrs. Helen Nix, formerly of San Antonio is hostess, in charge of recreational and social activities at the Baker.

Maverick Has Over 800 Jobs in Santone To Distribute
SAN ANTONIO, May 13 (AP) - When Maury Maverick, mayor-elect, and the other three members of his fusion ticket administration take office on June 1, they will have the double-barreled privilege and problem of distributing 810 jobs, with a total annual payroll of $820,800.

This is exclusive of the street department, where Paul Steffler, incumbent, was declared the winner in the official vote canvass, after H. R. F. Holland, fusion candidate, had been announced as the winner on the basis of the first unofficial total. It also does not include 570 firemen and policemen under civil service.

It was generally conceded that key jobs in the various departments would be distributed among friends and supporters of the new administration. Immediately after his election, Maverick asserted that there would not be enough jobs to be distributed among the friends of the ticket.

Maverick Has Over 800 Jobs in Santone To Distribute
SAN ANTONIO, May 13 (AP) - When Maury Maverick, mayor-elect, and the other three members of his fusion ticket administration take office on June 1, they will have the double-barreled privilege and problem of distributing 810 jobs, with a total annual payroll of $820,800.

This is exclusive of the street department, where Paul Steffler, incumbent, was declared the winner in the official vote canvass, after H. R. F. Holland, fusion candidate, had been announced as the winner on the basis of the first unofficial total. It also does not include 570 firemen and policemen under civil service.

It was generally conceded that key jobs in the various departments would be distributed among friends and supporters of the new administration. Immediately after his election, Maverick asserted that there would not be enough jobs to be distributed among the friends of the ticket.

Intense rivalry between Europe's German-Italian and British-French blocs:
With Turkey won over, Britain was believed ready to offer important concessions to Soviet Russia, vital power still missing from the London-Paris alliance.
France found comfort in reports from Tokyo of new evidences of Japanese reluctance to cast her lot in a close military line-up with Germany and Italy.
A further stiffening of Poland toward Germany was indicated by a strong protest to the Nazi-fied Danzig senate against denying Poles in the free city a public observance Friday in honor of the late Marshal Joseph Pilsudski.
An authoritative Warsaw source declared the action, coupled with protests in the Polish press, could be regarded as "a serious warning" to Germany that Poland intended to "protect her full rights in the free city."

In Rome, meanwhile, some diplomatic quarters thought that Premier Mussolini in his Sunday speech, to be delivered at Turin, Italy, might give France a "last chance" for peaceful settlement of Italian territorial claims.

to Washington on the day of Hopkins' return was said by friends to be at least in part due to the assigned reason, an expected pickup in business of Sears, Roebuck & Co., of which he is chairman.
5. This anticipated pickup, which would be shared by others, in turn was said to be partly due to large appropriations for farm aid, the effect of which may be felt in many industries.
6. The foreign situation is not now exerting the depressing effect on Wall street that it was only a few weeks ago.
7. Price strength in many leading commodities is considered a most favorable business omen.
However, a majority of those interviewed had opinions to offset all these conclusions, save that on the foreign situation, which is generally shared.

Gregg Street
Widening Is Under Study

City officials Saturday were preparing to tackle the problem of widening a section of Gregg street to meet with federal and state highway requirements when highway No. 9 will be rerouted down the street.
The federal bureau of public roads requires an 80-foot roadway within the city limits. The street is this wide from W. 4th to 11th street, from 11th to 21st streets, it narrows to 75 feet.
Acquisition of the additional footage does not mean that it will go into the street, for the new thoroughfare will be 53 feet in width. Rather, the footage will be undisturbed and will technically be included in sidewalk space. City officials felt that there will be little or no need for moving any trees or shrubs.
The state highway department will pave a 53-foot strip down the street and the city is planning to offer curb and gutter to abutting property owners at cost—63 cents per running foot. The street will be three feet wider than Third street, constructed by the city and state highway department.

The Week

showing is poor, so will be state of our chances.
Last week the city and county came to a virtual agreement on re-routing of highway No. 9 south, the county paying for new right-of-way and damages across the park and the city caring for widening inside town. However, unless some ingenious traffic device is employed, the "Y" where Scury and Gregg streets join the new road can easily become a death trap.
Agricultural leaders and those touched by the extension service celebrated its 25th anniversary of founding during the past week. Of course, the farm situation is still a long way from Utopia, but looking back over a 25 year period it is easy to see that the extension service has made many great contributions to the improvement of farming and land use practices. With the great awakening on conservation just at hand, the next 25 years should produce more and greater constructive developments.
Under consideration here now is a $300,000 U. S. housing authority project which would make available low cost housing to low income groups. The idea is to build houses for rental to families of small income. It is not difficult to conceive that this might be the means of saving in health and orderliness.
Splash Day has been called off and in its place may arise plans for a July 4th affair. Remember the water and sports carnival held at the park three years ago? The greatest number ever to throng the park in a single day gathered there then.
Big Spring should feel proud of the honor which Jacqueline Faw and Nettie Jean Carter won in going to the state finals for girl debaters. It's a small thing to go that high in competition against all Texas schools.
The $230,000 budget adopted by the city commission last week must have met with general approval, for not one citizen appeared at the public hearing on the document. It is to be hoped that this is evidence of satisfaction and not disinterest.
Some day this next week, if you will bother to drive out to the Powell Creek dam site, you will be in for a revelation on the rapidity of construction of the city lakes. At once you will gain a new appreciation for the size of the project.

8-A O'Daniel Finished For
277 Barrels

Oil activity in this area continued at low ebb during the past week with only one completion noted.
Moore Bros. No. 8-A O'Daniel, 2,310 feet from the west and 1,650 feet from the south lines of section 34-30-12, T&P, flowed 277 barrels on a 24-hour testing test following a 600 quart shot from 2,835-2,791 feet in lime.
Magnolia staked a direct east offset which will be its No. 6 M. H. O'Daniel. Only other new location in the Snyder pool was the Moore Bros. No. 2-B TXL, 1,650 feet from the east and 2,310 feet from the south lines of section 35-30-12, T&P.
Eastland No. 1 O'Daniel, 330 feet from the west and 990 feet from the south lines of section 34, finished cleaning out and prepared to run tubing and rods for a test. Half a mile north of production in the pool, F.H.E. No. 1 Snyder, 2,310 feet from the west and 330 feet from the south lines of section 21-30-12, T&P, drilled past 1,090 feet.
In western Howard county the T. G. Shaw, trustee No. 1 H. H. Wilkinson wildcat test 990 feet from the north and 330 feet from the east lines of section 19-34-12, T&P, was shut down for orders after encountering a hole full of sulphur water from 4,112 to 4,132 feet. It is hotbottomed at 4,130 feet in lime.

New Permian
Lime Pool In Pecos County

SAN ANGELO, May 13—Pecos county continued to hold the spotlight in West Texas oil development this week. Leidecker & Cain No. 1 Lehman opening a new Permian lime pool four miles west of the Masteron field in which Anderson-Trichard Oil Corp. and Monte Warner No. 1 Masteron last week obtained the county's first Ordovician production. Opened after being shut in six days at 4,595 feet, the Ordovician strike flowed 302 barrels of 43 gravity oil the first 24 hours and three days later averaged 6.53 barrels hourly, heading the last 12 hours before being checked in an effort to produce a steady flow.
Two outposts to the North Cowden field in Ector county struck oil and Rushwood Oil Co. No. 2 C. C. Woods flowed 4,762 barrels of oil in 24 hours after shooting to establish a new record for the pool. A north offset to a three-mile northwest extension to the Seminole field in Gaines county obtained production and an indicated 2-1/2-mile west extension to the Slaughtertown pool in Hooker county drilled to water, plugged back and flowed oil after swabbing.
19-12 Bbls. Hourly Drilling the main sandy lime pay from 1,719 to 1,743 feet, Leidecker & Cain No. 1 Lehman, new pool opener in Pecos county, flowed 10 to 12 barrels of oil hourly with an estimated four million cubic feet of gas. It continued cleaning out following a nitro-glycerine shot from 1,672-40 feet. The well is 330 feet out of the east corner of section T1-10-H&GN, on a quarter section farmed-out by The Texas Co., which retains the deep rights.
Forty-one feet in the Ellenberger lower Ordovician, which it topped high at 4,554 feet, 2,129 feet below sea level, Anderson-Trichard and Warner No. 1 Masteron was not to be deepened, shot or acidized. Its gas-oil ratio on tubing flow was 1,000-1. Location is 1,990 feet out of the north corner of section 104-10-H&GN.
Abandoning at 2,076 feet its No. 1 Abell-Eaton, originally scheduled an Ordovician test, Magnolia moved its rotary 75 feet west for a deep test 493 feet out of the east corner of section 23-3-H&TCL. It will be four miles southwest of Imperial and nine miles northwest of the Anderson-Trichard and Warner Well.
Seminole Extension Atlantic and Osage No. 2 J. L. Tippet in the northwest extension to the Seminole pool in Gaines county, in section 266-G-WTRR, flowed naturally 280 barrels of oil through 2-inch tubing in nine hours. It was acidized and was testing, bottomed at 5,250 feet Osage and Everest No. 1 Dr. E. H. Jones, northwestern Gaines wildcat, in section 20-A7-pal, had shown only a rainbow of oil in drilling to 5,025 feet.

REIGEL UPSET AT CORSICANA

CORSICANA, May 13 (AP)—Bill Clark of Gladewater and E. J. Gannon, Jr., of Dallas shared the role of glib killer at the opening of the Corsicana Invitation golf tournament today.
Clark, one of East Texas' best amateurs, played one over par in the morning to beat classy Robert Reigel of Houston on the 19th hole. He won from Bill Skeeters of Dallas, one up, in the afternoon.
Gannon, a southpaw artist, played four over par in eliminating Johnny Goldman of Dallas in the morning; 4 and 3, and took out Jack Munger, Dallas, 2 and 1 in the afternoon.
Don Schumacher eliminated Sid Cade of Dallas, 3 and 2, and sent George Moffett back to Dallas in the afternoon, 3 and 2, with even par golf.

APRIL UNFAVORABLE FOR LAMB CROP

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Last month was catalogued today as the most unfavorable April in many years for development of the early spring lamb crop.
The bureau of agricultural economics said today drought conditions in California, Texas, Idaho, Washington and Oregon caused a shortage of pasture and range for feeding lambs.
As a consequence, slaughter supplies of early lambs during May and June will probably be considerably smaller than in the corresponding months last year.
As long as 11 years of breeding work involving approximately 60,000 seedlings of known parentage may be required to produce a new variety of strawberries of commercial value.

ed to resume drilling at 2,419 feet after doing additional work on the hole and installing a master valve and blowout preventer at $4,407 cost.
Continental No. 14-K Clay, section 129-29, W&NW, Howard county, cleaned out after shooting at plugged back depth of 2,900 feet and made ready for a test.

lies between Powell and Devita creeks, a gigantic ditching machine had completed excavation of a 4,000-foot diversion channel which will shut the waters from Devita into Powell creek and the city's No. 1 lake.
With conduits in, there remained only a small amount of steel sheet pile driving and the embankment work on the Powell creek job. The ditcher was loading the bulky dump trucks at the rate of one each two minutes and they were unloading their cargo at a 12 miles an hour clip.
Over on the Moss creek site, where the largest lake will be trapped, last of the steel sheet piling was driven and a store rack for rip-rap work laid in. Fuddling of the 30-foot clay core continued on this location.
After four months of steady progress, the extension of a 12 mile 14-inch cast iron pipe line to the two dam sites. It was pronounced virtually complete at the end of the week.
Unless weather hinders work within the next 60 days, Simon Freese, Fort Worth, engineering contractor, predicted that "we may be ready to boost water to the filtration plant by October 1."

FORMER GOVERNOR OF LOUISIANA IN GRAVE CONDITION

PASS CHRISTIAN, Miss., May 13 (AP)—Former Governor John M. Parker of Louisiana was sinking so fast at his home here tonight members of his family doubted he would live another 24 hours.
Parker, long ill, was an intimate friend of President Theodore Roosevelt and his vice-presidential running mate on a progressive ticket that collapsed before the 1916 elections.
The progressives named Parker candidate for vice-president four years after he had joined the party in 1912. The national organization ended when Roosevelt withdrew from the presidential candidacy.
Then Parker ran for the Louisiana governorship, lost, but in 1920 won the position for a four-year term on a democratic ticket.

SEEK ABDUCTORS OF
GEO. P. PUTNAM

LOS ANGELES, May 13 (AP)—Southern California peace officers conducted a widespread search today for two men declared by George Palmer Putnam, 52, book publisher, to have kidnaped him from his North Hollywood home late last night and left him, bound and gagged, in an unfinished house in Bakersfield a few hours later.
The former husband of the late Amelia Earhart, woman flier, said his kidnappers demanded the name of the author of the anonymous novel, "The Man Who Killed Hitler," published by Putnam recently. He declared they did not hurt him but suggested it would be "healthier" if he withdrew it from circulation.

COURT TERM WILL END THIS WEEK

Final week of the current term of 70th district court will convene Monday at 10 a. m. with only civil suits on docket.
District Attorney Martelle McDonald announced that the grand jury would begin its last session of the term with the opening of court Monday. Several cases are pending.
Friday Lawrence Dean was granted a divorce from Elva Dean and W. W. Storey settled his compensation suit against Texas Employers association.

Royal Ship

usual problems in his long political career in handling the delay in the epochal royal tour for which all Canada has been preparing for months.
The first suggestion, involving elimination of the night their majesties were to spend at the ancient citadel at Quebec, roused the feellings of French-Canadians who take pride in being the first to welcome the King and queen to Canada.
Quebec is crowded with Canadian officialdom, and the French-Canadian are beginning to pour into the ancient city for the celebrations next week. Seventy-nine elder statesmen of Canada, all privy councillors, are gathering to be presented to their sovereigns.
Whether than face the ire of Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec province over major changes in the arrangements, the Canadian government quickly decided, and Prime Minister Mackenzie King made the announcement to parliament, that the welcoming ceremonies at Quebec would be carried out in every detail despite the delay of the arrival of the king and queen.
The royal visit to Ottawa, the Canadian capital, will be cut from four days to three, to make up for the late arrival in Quebec. Their majesties will be in Ottawa May 18-20, inclusive.

Tax Bill

taxes two years hence.
Although the session already was 124 days old, members had given up hope of adjournment next week. Regardless of future moves on the issue, the final draft of any tax program probably will be written by a conference committee, which work would require several days. The house was far from the end of floor debate on the departmental appropriations bill, one of the most controversial of the six major spending measures.
The next tax development in the house probably will be an attempt to pass another bill. Many opponents of a general sales tax were pushing an omnibus bill recommended Friday night by the education committee. It would boost the cigarette tax one cent, place a one per cent tax on automobile sales, increase natural resource levies substantially and otherwise provide a wide tax spread.
Sponsors of the sales-natural resource tax constitutional amendment were not yet ready to admit that it was beaten finally. They said, however, they probably would not bring it up again until their colleagues had decided whether to send another bill to the senate.
