Mountain Echoes

By Barbara Kingsbery

The following letter was received last week by City Secretary Pauline Garrett:

City Manager
Santa Anna Texas

Dear Sir,
Recently while passing through your city, though small, we were impressed by the number of American flags being flown. This is indeed a beautiful sight, especially since your city lays on one of the main thoroughfares in the state of Texas.

I would personally like to thank you and those responsible for this display of patriotic spirit.

Would you please relay our thanks to those responsible.

H. J. Ferguson, Commander
Veterans of Foreign Wars
McAllen, Texas.

We join in welcoming Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Green to our community. They have recently purchased the Santanta Motel and state they are looking forward to being a part of the community.

We are always happy to have new merchants and business people choose our town in which to locate.

The residents of the Mountain City Apartments have a busy schedule and seem to enjoy their own apartment-complex living. The prolific vegetable garden in the patio has been enjoyed by many of the residents of the units, and in sharing the vegetables from the garden, weekly covered-dish luncheons were begun by the group. As many as 16 people have gotten together for the weekly luncheon at the community center.

City crews are busy surfacing the back alleys of the downtown area with crushed rock, a much needed improvement. Although we reported last week the crushed rock was purchased at $1 a load, the city fathers think it a bargain at $10, the actual cost. We were given the erroneous figure by mistake.

Billie Guthrie was in the NEWS office Monday with a large box of discarded eye glasses, collected by members of the Texas Rural Letter Carriers ladies' auxiliary. There were about 300 pairs of glasses in the box, to be shipped to Eyes for the Needy, in New Jersey.

The national auxiliary project the past year was aid for the visually handicapped, and the large collection was the Texas donation to the project.

C. A. Bullion of Truscott, Texas, stopped in the NEWS office Tuesday for a copy of the paper. He was passing through town and was interested in knowing the news of this community where he lived 60 years ago.

In Our Opinion

By W. T. HAYS

THIS NATION CONTINUES TO FACE many internal, problems and one that has a tremendous effect is labor-management relations.

The President recently had to order a 60-day delay in a railroad strike and to order the emergency board to look into a dispute between the carriers and the major rail union involved. This action was authorized by the Railway Labor Act of 1925. This act has been invoked many times since its enactment and Congress has been forced to enact legislation to stop national railroad disputes that would have led to national catastrophe.

Senator John Tower introduced legislation earlier this year that would take jurisdiction of labor disputes away from the National Labor Relations Board and return it to the courts where it rightfully belongs. The trouble with NLRB is that it has been packed with pro-labor union personnel until it is virtually impossible for management to get a fair shake.

The NLRB was organized in 1935 and set up to guarantee employees the right to organize without employer interference and to impose upon employers the duty to bargain in good faith with chosen representatives of the employees. Later the Taft-Hartley Act asserted that individual employees had the right to join or not to join a union.

In later years, however, NLRB has chosen to disregard the latter and has imposed its will on employers as though it was just an extension of the labor unions.

There is need for over-all labor legislation to reform existing laws in the public interest, but Congress is slow to act. One thing that slows them down is the political activity of the unions and their power to control votes. Many Congressmen who live in areas of strong labor unions know that if they vote against the unions in any respect they stand a good chance of defeat the next election. Also labor has strong and active lobbyists working in its behalf.

A joint resolution has been submitted to establish a nine-member commission on labor law reform, directed to report to the President and Congress after one year of study. They should be able to make some recommendations that would update labor laws in the United States that would be fair to the unions, yet would not give them the power over life and death that they now possess.

Organized labor is good in the sense that the worker must have protection from employers who would take advantage of them. But the pendulum has swung to the extreme in the other direction in recent years to the point where management needs the protection now. In some instances management has no choice but to comply with the demands of labor regardless of how drastic, if they are to stay in business, and consequently prices must follow suit and the consumer eventually pays the bill. As long as it stands as it is, there is no end in sight for the inflationary spiral we are now in.

SOME PEOPLE, it would seem, think that there should be no limits on welfare spending, and that whenever and whenever someone claims their "welfare rights" the state should fork over the money.

There has been a continual spiral of welfare spending in one of the most inflationary periods of the nation's history, and there is a continual demand for more money to be appropriated for that purpose. Last year the ceiling was raised by a third and requests are now to have it doubled.

Certainly those who need help should be given it. This is a tough world and those with fixed incomes are the ones who are suffering. But the pitfalls of indiscriminate giving of welfare funds has a tendency to spur the very thing that causes the need for more.

It is virtually impossible to get anyone to work these days and one of the reasons is that if they do work their welfare check will be cut. So employers offer higher wages in an effort to get help, which in turn raises prices, which in turn causes those who are having a hard time getting by in the first place to have a harder time.

So the spiral goes on.

It seems that many are recipients of welfare who could accept some of the job offers which would relieve the shortage which in turn would keep wages down which in turn would keep prices down and eliminate the need for more and more money to take care of the cost of living.

It was said recently that if it were not for government spending this nation would be in a depression far greater than the one of '29. Of course we don't want to see a depression, but it would be nice to be able to get someone when you need help.

But it will not be so as long as we pay someone for not producing.

STATE Capital NEWS By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN — Eighteen-year-olds will be registered to vote in Texas this year unless the U. S. Supreme Court, in the meantime, invalidates the new federal voting rights act.

State officials plan to give federal authorities this assurance in reply to an inquiry of U. S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell asking all governors to report on steps they will take to comply with the new provision and other sections of the federal bill effective January 1.

Texas, reportedly, already is in compliance with the act, except for the lowered voting age. This state has no literacy test and "good character" requirements for election participation such as those outlined by a bill signed into law by President Nixon on June 22.

When the Texas voter-registration period opens on October 1, 18-year-olds will be signed up if the expected court test is not settled by then. Local registration officials will be advised by state election authorities to register them pending a court decision.

According to election division director Randall Wood, the Secretary of State's office proposes to suggest that teenage registrations be kept separately from those of voters 21 and above. This would simplify subsequent invalidation in the event the Supreme Court should rule the federal act unconstitutional after state registration already is under way.

Test case probably will be in Washington State. There the 18-year-old vote referendum already is set for the November ballot. Washington officials are in a better political position to state that they will not comply with the federal law until their voters voice approval of the lowered age proposition.

Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. figures the federal act would add about 395,000 under-21 voters to Texas' registration rolls — if it survives the court test.

OIL PRODUCTION RAISED — Oil production for August will be boosted 335,263 barrels a day, due largely to the high cost of shipping petroleum from foreign sources.

Railroad Commission Chairman Ben Ramsey said the increase was brought about by high tanker rates as well as a demand for more cheap domestic oil. He noted that the Commission had disregarded recommendations of some to shut stripper or marginal wells, therefore the state has additional capacity.

Statewide allowable was pegged at 62.9 per cent of potential for August after a three-month decline. July allowable was 55.5 per cent. Maximum estimated production for August is 3,602,296 barrels a day, up from 3,267,033 in July.

COURTS SPEAK — Federal court suit has been filed against the City of Tyler by the U. S. government seeking to end school segregation by this fall.

Court of Criminal Appeals held that a driving while intoxicated conviction is invalid if the defendant was on private property at the time of arrest.

State Supreme Court refused to upset a lower court denial of damages to the widow of a man killed in an auto-train crash near Edna. Jury found negligence on the part of both the man and Southern Pacific Railroad employees.

High Court also held that a Potter County couple was not entitled to damages from a doctor because the woman could no longer have children.

after an operation. Harris County district court granted an injunction against Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, prohibiting it from discharging industrial wastes into Sims Bayou in greater amounts than that permitted by the Water Quality Board. Court ordered a $20,000 fine, the largest civil penalty in Texas pollution case history.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES — Wichita Falls school board is without authority to adopt a resolution or policy providing for recall elections of its members, says Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin.

Martin ruled in other recent opinions that: A county treasurer is the proper official to make delivery of county warrants to payees. County attorney who resigns as of a future date may not withdraw his resignation after it is duly accepted by the commissioners court even though the effective date has not arrived. However, until a successor is appointed, it is his duty to serve.

Martin said a Spring Branch real estate developer (Cypress Lake Gardens) gave assurance of voluntary compliance with directives to discontinue misleading advertising and sales practices.

DRAFT QUOTA DROPS — August draft call for Texas is 560. That's 257 less than the 817 in July. No man will be inducted with random sequence number higher than 195. State quota for pre-induction and mental examinations in August is 1,490, down from 1,601 in July. Those called for these examinations will have random sequence numbers one to 215.

Deferred or exempt men may be forwarded for examinations if they are likely to lose deferred or exempt status within the next six months. No men with random sequence numbers higher than 215 will be forwarded for examination until further notice. All volunteers at draft boards must be inducted ahead of the non-volunteers selected and ordered to report for draft by r.s.n. National call is for 10,000 men, all for the army.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED — Barney McCoy Davis was named by Gov. Preston Smith to the Board of Regents of Pan American College at Edinburg. Jerry Brock and Lynn Scott were appointed assistant state consumer credit commissioners. Allo B. Crow Jr. is the new general counsel to Commissioner Sam Kelley.

Members of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Commission are the most Reverend Francis J. Furney of San Antonio, George Ozuna of San Antonio, William D. Cox Jr. of Dallas, Dr. Howard W. Guinn of

Fort Worth, Thomas J. Murphy of Dallas, Lee A. Lewis of Houston, Willard H. Green of Temple, Raymond D. Nasher of Dallas and Bernard Rapoport of Waco.

R. L. (Bud) Reed, formerly of Paris, will be the East Texas region consultant for Texas Industrial Commission.

BUDGET REQUESTS SOARING — Major state agency budget requests continued to prompt speculation of a huge tax need next year—perhaps as high as $700 million.

Board of Public Welfare finally officially approved a $2.1 billion biennial spending plan which is $347.6 million above present spending levels. Mental Health-Mental Retardation request of $314 million is $139.7 million above the current level, and colleges and universities want an increase of $268.9 million. Combined with public schools biennial operating proposals of $377.1 million, major agencies of education, mental hospitals-retardation schools and welfare want more than $1 billion more than they now are getting.

SHORT SNORTS — State Banking Board approved charters for Bank of Commerce at Point Comfort, Seaport Bank at Seadrift, Colonial Bank of Greenville and Hillside Bank and Trust Company of Dallas; declined charters for American Bank of Lovelady and Citizens Bank and Trust of Iowa Park.

Veteran newspaperman and state capital correspondent Harry Benze Crozier died here June 14, at age 78.

Texas will get $1.6 million in federal funds to expand its driver training program and provide simulators and driving ranges.

Contract has been let for $6.7 million 14-story oceanography-meteorology building at Texas A&M University.

Amistad Airlines application to provide service between Brazoria County and Houston met no opposition.

Allegations of sex abuses, drinking, drug taking and patient mistreatment at Austin State Hospital were confirmed in part, and refuted in part by a staff investigation report.

WASHINGTON AND Small Business By C. WILSON HARDER Coeducational Advertising

The businessman who advertises for secretary, lingerie sales person or manicurist should not be surprised if men turn up at his doorstep asking for interviews. From now on, advertisements for garage mechanics and stevedores may bring women applicants.

At least that appears to be the goal of the government's new regulations on newspaper want ads. An order from Washington requires that newspapers no longer run job ads under male and female headings, which is now considered a violation of the Civil Rights Act prohibition on sex discrimination in employment.

A consensus of newspaper ad managers is that this will be a disservice to the job-seekers.

But it's also one of the most absurd Federal decrees ever issued. It's the climax of a four-act bureaucratic farce.

First of all, when Congress was considering the Civil Rights Act, this sex discrimination section was proposed by the opposition to delay or defeat its passage, a common stratagem on Capitol Hill. But, low and behold, Congress in its haste to legislate passed the bill without deleting this section.

Administration of the job discrimination law fell upon the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. At first, it ruled that an employer could not use any statement of sex preference, such as "Sales position for experienced man..."

After the nation's employers had digested this regulation, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission turned to the newspapers and told them that division of ads between "Male" and "Female" classifications would henceforth be forbidden. However, its new regulation did permit grouping under headings, "Jobs of Interest—Men" and "Jobs of Interest—Women," explaining that this did not exclude interest by the opposite sex.

Perhaps at this point, the bureaucrats at the EEO Commission were taking bows for increasing the number of female truck drivers. Susan B. Anthony, were she alive, would have been ecstatic. But then a group called the National Organization of Women filed suit against the Commission charging its regulations still permitted discrimination, and the Commission, giving in, issued new guidelines that prohibit any separation of ads, except where "sex is a bona fide occupational qualification," such as for a model or actor.

This will make job-hunting more tedious than ever. Women will have more ads to wade through. It will also be a hardship on the businessman and yet it will not alleviate so-called "job discrimination" at all.

Freedom of the Press is extolled as an American virtue, and yet a little bit of this freedom has given way to regulation, regimentation and restriction. Are these the three R's the government is teaching?

USE CAUTION IN OUTDOORS

A few precautions can keep a family outing from becoming a bad trip, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

One good tip is to leave animals in the wild alone. A fox, skunk, coyote or any other species for that matter, which approaches without fear should be immediately suspected. Rabies is never a certainty, but if you are bitten rabies shots almost always are.

Texas has three poisonous plants — poison sumac, poison oak, and poison ivy. Any one interested in going outdoors should learn to identify these plants and avoid them.

Unfortunately, there are insects aplenty with a liking for human blood. Plenty of insect repellent could keep a camping trip from becoming a swatting derby.

Then there are snakes. They become active when the weather becomes warm, about the same time outdoorsmen become active. Good boots and a sharp eye will usually be enough prevention. But to be on the safe side, snakebite kits are inexpensive and good insurance.

Rabbit hunters know no season in Texas, and spring and summer rabbit hunting offers a possible hazard to them — tularemia. Rabbits should be handled with caution, and the blood should be prevented from contacting any cut or scratch on the hunter.

Safety on water is a must. More than 500 persons drowned last year, many of them while on pleasure outings. The department urges boaters to obey the Texas Water Safety Act, and other persons enjoying the outdoors to use a little common sense when around water.

Santa Anna FFA Member Tells Of National Convention In N. Y.

Miss Nancy Baugh, a senior student at Santa Anna High School, has just returned from the National Future Homemakers of America Convention at New York City. Also attending from Santa Anna was Mrs. Winnie McQueen, local FHA Chapter advisor.

The Texas delegation, numbering 116 girls and 32 advisors, filled the entire 36th floor of the New York Hilton Hotel. Texas is the most active "FHA State" in the U. S. with 1,585 chapters and 15,489 members. Many other state delegations numbered from 12-60 members.

In Texas, to be able to attend the national meeting, one must either hold a national office, a state office, an area office, or a state degree. Advisors rotate the privilege of being allowed to attend the national meeting.

Nancy and Mrs. McQueen joined the rest of the Area IV delegation at Dallas Love Field Airport for the 9:00 a. m. flight to JFK International. Other areas making the flight were Areas V and VI.

On Monday, the group took a bus tour through Manhattan and saw the Empire State Building, Rockefeller Center, Greenwich Village, Wall St., Washington Arch, Shea Stadium, China Town, Times Square, Broadway, the Bowery, and the U. N. The group was very impressed by their tour through the United Nations Buildings.

Monday evening found the group in their first general session . . . a talent night called "FHA's Lullaby of Broadway." Outstanding songs and skits of Broadway plays and musicals were performed by the young FHA'ers.

Tuesday morning the group heard talks from Dr. Margaret Blair director of Vocational Education, New Jersey, and Mr. Hubert Strayhorn, director of Guidance, New Jersey. Dr. Blair spoke on "Love—and More" while Mr. Strayhorn spoke on "Youth Speaks Out." The group also found time on Tuesday to walk to St. Patrick's Cathedral and Saks Fifth Avenue. Tuesday night, the delegation attended Radio City Music Hall and saw the Rockets perform.

On Wednesday, the group listened to an excellent talk by Dr. Walter Thomas, director of Research and Development, Dundee, Ill. He placed many ideas in the minds of all members present with his talk entitled "Woodstock vs. Columbia." Wednesday evening the group shopped in Macy's and Gimbels, and toured the Empire State Building to the 102nd floor.

Thursday morning the group attended the business meeting and officers' farewell. In the afternoon, the group took a boat around Manhattan Island, seeing such things as the Statue of Liberty, the Brooklyn Bridge, much of New York harbor, Yankee Stadium, Manhattan Bridge, Welfare Island, Hudson River, the East River, Grant's Tomb, Columbia University, and homes of famous individuals.

Thursday evening the group attended the 25th anniversary banquet in honor of FHA's 25 years of service. A surprise guest at the banquet was the newly crowned Miss Universe.

Friday morning found the FHA'ers on their way back to Texas, but not before they were mistaken several times for Airline hostesses in their matching red dresses and red and white scarves. They gladly admitted their true identity in exchange for a quick trip home.

"Being selected as a delegate to attend this national meeting was a wonderful experience and a great honor for me and I am grateful for having had this opportunity to represent my town, my area, and my state," Nancy stated.

Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Baugh of Santa Anna.

SALT SCOOP

Quality of our environment is of concern to us all. We can each think of ways to keep air cleaner, but what can we do to have better water?

We expect tap water to be safe and free of bacteria. But only rarely is it "pure," since water normally contains dissolved minerals. Here is one thing we can do right under our noses to improve the quality of water which will benefit our health. Direct mail for our own Rosanne in Motion Salt Co., 110 N. Wacker Drive, Chicago 60606.

Softening mineral laden, or "hard," water can be worth more than $200 a year to the typical homeowner, believe it or not. There is no scale to clog plumbing and appliances. No curd is formed by soap or detergent to make clothes dingy, hair dull or skin rough and scaly. Plain soap, which is biodegradable, can be used.

Everything is nicer in a soft-water home. No water spots on windows, fixtures or woodwork. No streaks on glasses, dishes and silverware. No rings in the sink or tub. Shaving is more comfortable. Even your cooking can improve.

Our grandmothers collected naturally soft rain water in a barrel. We can have the same benefits with a water conditioner (which is recharged with salt, if you haven't guessed).

About 85% of us live in hard-water areas. If you would like a handy free kit to test the degree of invisible hardness in your water, just clip this article and the name of your newspaper and send them to me marked "Test Kit."

Earth is the third planet in order of distance from the sun.

Flower Talk

by Lucille
NOTHING NEW— ONLY REARRANGED

"There is no new thing under the sun," according to a profound statement found in the Bible.

In the realm of flowers—with the hundreds of new varieties and colors appearing, we can easily see the varied results of man's efforts to change them. With all our botanical tricks and methods of adding to, taking away, rearranging . . . we seldom improve the beauty of their original wildness."

Our policy is to offer the loveliest flowers that are available and we have the freshest, most fragrant blossoms you'll find anywhere. The newness of flowers is always an impressive gift.

THE BURKETTS OF BURKETT

by Leona Bruce
 Very few are the people who live in a town named for their own family, but in Coleman County we have some of them, the Burkettts of Burkett. The little community is on a good crossing of the big water course that crosses the north part of the county from west to east, the famed Pecan River or Pecan Bayou, known to Stephen F. Austin, when he and his father, Moses Austin, explored the Colorado several years before the Texas Revolution, though they did not come this far at that time. While Camp Colorado was occupied by the United States soldiers, and possibly before, cowmen with plenty of nerve were herding their longhorns on the Bayou, its wide valley providing grassland that grew good strong beef and bone. One of the first settlers to come and stay was a small, neat man named T. A. Burns; he had been born in 1832, so he was not a young man when he came with his family. He was often called Col. Burns, maybe an honorary title or he may have been elected a colonel in one of the thousands of military organizations which fought in the Civil War, and he may have been a Confederate veteran. His first wife, Elizabeth, died in 1906, and later in life he was married to Miss Elsie Cochran the postmaster.

Other early comers were J. T. Audas, J. M. Bogart and several of the Adams and Gould families; two of the Gould children now live in Coleman, Dewey Gould and Mrs. May McDermott.

But in 1883 arrived the family that was to change the map. John and Elizabeth Burkett, with their children, came driving their flock of sheep from Lavaca County, where they had lived for several years. Born in Missouri, they had eloped to marry about 1857, and for a honeymoon, walked all the way to Texas. Burkett bought a land grant from someone who wanted to move on, and they prospered as farming and sheep-raising people, until they decided to join the great sweep of westward emigration, and with several children to help with the sheep they came to the Bayou.

The same year they reached Coleman County, typhoid fever struck the family, and the mother and three children died of it, and a strange thing was that this was winter; they are buried on the Will Gould place up the Bayou.

The oldest son, William, was married in 1887 near Camp Colorado to Laura Yates, who had come to visit her aunt, Mrs. Ellen Bogart. This young couple farmed for a time near his father, who had remarried, and young children in both families played and worked together. William was mechanically inclined, and was enthalled with the first gin on the Bayou at the crossing, owned by John Wesley; this was a two-stand gin, with a steam boiler fired by cordwood, and it took all day to put out ten bales. Then, while the farmers waited, steam had to be built up to press the bale; of course the farmers' wives and families were back at home in the cotton patch, emptying their sacks on the ground, and the gossip and horseplay at the gin were entertaining, so nobody complained. Pay for the ginning was a part of the cotton, and in connection with the gin was a grist-mill for making wheat flour and corn meal, this also being paid for by a part of the grain.

Tom Audas built and opened a better-equipped gin a little way down the Bayou from the one William owned, and he soon bought that, too; he still had the farm and a good crop on it, but he operated the new gin while his wife and children finished picking the cotton and moved to the settlement.

About that time, a store was opened nearby by Henry Sackett, who had a store and a post office in his home at Camp Colorado. At that time, the mail for northeast Coleman County was taken by hack to Camp Colorado, then horseback to the store on the Bayou, which was becoming a busier place than the old army post. Time to apply for a post office, and Sackett sent the application which the department approved, but three tentative names for the new office were turned down because there was already an office by that name in Texas.

Sackett, Burkett and other members of the community tried to think up a suitable name. "Let's send my name," said William. "Maybe they don't already have a Burkett, Texas." This was done, with William asking for appointment to the office, and thus Burkett, Texas began, with William Burkett as postmaster, named by President Cleveland in 1886.

Through the years the little town has been a good place to live. A strong German community grew up with the Hankses, the Thates, the Koenigs, and Frankes; then there were the Walkers and Morgans, the Youngs who came to the Bayou in 1837, the Newtons and McAnallys and Hunters and Golsons and others.

Sackett continued his store at Burkett for several years while his family ran the one at Camp Colorado.

And as the town prospered, so did the Burkettts for whom it was named; John, the first of the Burkett men, died on March 8, 1894, at 67 years of age, but his children and grandchildren have been well and favorably known, most of them staying near the Bayou. An unusual and fine thing about this family is that a complete history has been written by Will Burkett's granddaughters, Vida Madge Cunningham of New Mexico, whose mother was Minnie Burkett. A logical touch is that the present postmaster is Mrs. Merrell Burkett; that's just as it should be.

County Agent News Column

Karen, the kids and I had a real nice vacation last week in Ruidoso. It sure does help to get away from things once in awhile. Of course, in our office the mail keeps coming and really stacks up. So I spent Monday morning clearing that away.

The Polled Hereford Breeders of this area are having a tour this Saturday and plan to be at Carroll Kingsbery's at Santa Anna around 3:30 p. m. and then go to Jim and Fay Gill's north of Coleman. I'm sure they'll be glad to have anyone interested in Polled Hereford Cattle to attend this tour. The Polled Breeders are starting to do some linear measurements on their cattle and this is a real interesting innovation.

I have some milo variety tests out with several farmers this year. Two of them are southwest of Gouldbusk on the Arthur Doose and Charlie Avants farms. Some of you farmers in that area might want to keep an eye on these and get some ideas on next year's crops.

by Joe K. Taylor
 The majority of farmers have cooperated in certifying their crops early which resulted in early payments. The greater number of farmers in the county have received their payments.

There remains about 100 farms under the programs on which crops have not been certified. These farmers are receiving a special letter calling their attention to the final date of certification. This final date is Monday, August 3. We caution all producers who receive this letter to certify at their earliest convenience.

We are in the process of making the necessary spot checks of crop acreages in the county. Over 100 farms are required to be checked for the farmer's accuracy in reporting his crops. The payment on these farms will be released as the farms are checked of the acreages are found to be accurately reported.

The National Farm Safety Week is July 19-25. It is suggested that farmers observe the week by making up a check list for their own farm. Check farm equipment and check out farm equipment operators. Look over farm buildings for hazards, including the chance of fire. Be sure the fertilizers and farm chemicals are stored safely and handled safely.

Is there a life saving gear at the farm pond? Have you posted warnings about hazards such as drainage ditches, or at alfalfa fields and ranges which may have dangers unsuspected by visitors. Have you checked the purity of your farm water supply lately?

The President's Proclamation had this to say: "The efficiency of American agriculture and the quality of life for agricultural workers is threatened today by the continued high rate of farm accidents. Many thousands of farm residents lose their lives or are seriously injured in accidents every year. Both the human and financial costs of these accidents are intolerable."

Santa Anna FFA Member Tells Of National Convention In N. Y.

Miss Nancy Baugh, a senior student at Santa Anna High School, has just returned from the National Future Homemakers of America Convention at New York City. Also attending from Santa Anna was Mrs. Winnie McQueen, local FFA Chapter advisor.

The Texas delegation, numbering 116 girls and 32 advisors, filled the entire 36th floor of the New York Hilton Hotel. Texas is the most active "FHA State" in the U. S. with 1,585 chapters and 15,489 members. Many other state delegations numbered from 12-60 members.

In Texas, to be able to attend the national meeting, one must either hold a national office, a state office, an area office, or a state degree. Advisors rotate the privilege of being allowed to attend the national meeting.

Nancy and Mrs. McQueen joined the rest of the Area IV delegation at Dallas Love Field Airport for the 9:00 a. m. flight to JFK International. Other areas making the flight were Areas V and VI.

On Monday, the group took a bus tour through Manhattan and saw the Empire State Building, Rockefeller Center, Greenwich Village, Wall St., Washington Arch, Shea Stadium, China Town, Times Square, Broadway, the Bowery, and the U. N. The group was very impressed by their tour through the United Nations Buildings.

Monday evening found the group in their first general session . . . a talent night called FFA's Lullaby of Broadway. Outstanding songs and skits of Broadway plays and musicals were performed by the young FFA'ers.

Tuesday morning the group heard talks from Dr. Margaret Blair director of Vocational Education, New Jersey, and Mr. Hubert Strayhorn, director of Guidance, New Jersey. Dr. Blair spoke on "Love—and More" while Mr. Strayhorn spoke on "Youth Speaks Out." The group also found time on Tuesday to walk to St. Patrick's Cathedral and Saks Fifth Avenue. Tuesday night, the delegation attended Radio City Music Hall and saw the Rocket's perform.

On Wednesday, the group listened to an excellent talk by Dr. Walter Thomas, director of Research and Development, Dundee, Ill. He placed many ideas in the minds of all members present with his talk entitled "Woodstock vs. Columbia." Wednesday evening the group shopped in Macy's and Gimbels, and toured the Empire State Building to the 102nd floor.

Thursday morning the group attended the business meeting and officers farewell. In the afternoon, the group took a boat around Manhattan Island, seeing such things as the Statue of Liberty, the Brooklyn Bridge, much of New York harbor, Yankee Stadium, Manhattan Bridge, Welfare Island, Hudson River, the East River, Grant's Tomb, Columbia University, and homes of famous individuals.

Thursday evening the group attended the 25th anniversary banquet in honor of FFA's 25 years of service. A surprise guest at the banquet was the newly crowned Miss Universe.

Friday morning found the FFA'ers on their way back to Texas, but not before they were mistaken several times for Airline hostesses in their matching red dresses and red and white scarves. They gladly admitted their true identity in exchange for a quick trip home.

"Being selected as a delegate to attend this national meeting was a wonderful experience and a great honor for me and I am grateful for having had this opportunity to represent my town, my area, and my state," Nancy stated.

Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Baugh of Santa Anna.

Quality of our environment is of concern to us all. We can each think of ways to keep air cleaner, but what can we do to have better water?

We expect tap water to be safe and free of bacteria. But only rarely is it "pure," since water normally contains dissolved minerals. Here is one thing we can do right under our noses to improve the quality of water which will benefit our health. Direct mail for our own Rosanne to families in Motion Salt Co., 110 N. Wacker Drive, Chicago 60606 or "hard" water can be worth more than $200 a year to the typical homeowner, believe it or not. There is no scale to clog plumbing and appliances. No curd is formed by soap or detergent to make clothes dingy, hair dull or skin rough and scaly. Plain soap, which is biodegradable, can be used.

Everything is nicer in a soft-water home. No water spots on windows, fixtures or woodwork. No streaks on glasses, dishes and silverware. No rings in the sink or tub. Shaving is more comfortable. Even your cooking can improve.

Our grandmothers collected naturally soft rain water in a barrel. We can have the same benefits with a water conditioner (which is recharged with salt, if you haven't guessed).

About 85% of us live in hard-water areas. If you would like a handy free kit to test the degree of invisible hardness in your water, just clip this article and the name of your newspaper and send them to me marked "Test Kit."

NOTHING NEW—
ONLY REARRANGED

"There is no new thing under the sun" according to a profound statement found in the Bible.

In the realm of flowers—with the hundreds of new varieties and colors appearing, we can easily see the varied results of man's efforts to change them. With all our botanical tricks and methods of adding to, taking away, rearranging . . . we seldom improve the beauty of their original wildness."

Our policy is to offer the loveliest flowers that are available and we have the freshest, most fragrant blossoms you'll find anywhere. The newness of flowers is always an impressive gift.

THE BURKETT OF BURKETT

by Leona Bruce
Very few are the people who live in a town named for their own family, but in Coleman County we have some of them, the Burkett of Burkett. The little community is on a good crossing of the big water course that crosses the north part of the county from west to east, the famed Pecan River or Pecan Bayou, known to Stephen F. Austin, when he and his father, Moses Austin, explored the Colorado several years before the Texas Revolution, though they did not come this far at that time. While Camp Colorado was occupied by the United States soldiers, and possibly before, cowmen with plenty of nerve were herding their longhorns on the Bayou, its wide valley providing grassland that grew good strong beef and bone. One of the first settlers to come and stay was a small, neat man named T. A. Burns; he had been born in 1832, so he was not a young man when he came with his family. He was often called Col. Burns, maybe an honorary title or he may have been elected a colonel in one of the thousands of military organizations which fought in the Civil War, and he may have been a Confederate veteran. His first wife, Elizabeth, died in 1906, and later in life he was married to Miss Elsie Cochran the postmaster.

Other early comers were J. T. Audas, J. M. Bogart and several of the Adams and Gould families; two of the Gould children now live in Coleman, Dewey Gould and Mrs. May McDermott. But in 1883 arrived the family that was to change the map. John and Elizabeth Burkett, with their children, came driving their flock of sheep from Lavaca County, where they had lived for several years. Born in Missouri, they had eloped to marry about 1857, and for a honeymoon, walked all the way to Texas. Burkett bought a land grant from someone who wanted to move on, and they prospered as farming and sheep-raising people, until they decided to join the great sweep of westward emigration, and with several children to help with the sheep they came to the Bayou.

The same year they reached Coleman County, typhoid fever struck the family, and the mother and three children died of it, and a strange thing was that this was winter; they are buried on the Will Gould place up the Bayou. The oldest son, William, was married in 1887 near Camp Colorado to Laura Yates, who had come to visit her aunt, Mrs. Ellen Bogart. This young couple farmed for a time near his father, who had remarried, and young children in both families played and worked together. William was mechanically inclined, and was enticed with the first gin on the Bayou at the crossing, owned by John Wesley; this was a two-stand gin, with steam boiler fired by cordwood, and it took all day to put out ten bales. Then, while the farmers waited, steam had to be built up to press the bale; of course the farmers' wives and families were back at home in the cotton patch, emptying their sacks on the ground, and the gossip and horseplay at the gin were entertaining, so nobody complained. Pay for the ginning was a part of the cotton, and in connection with the gin was a grist-mill for making wheat flour and corn meal, this also being paid for by a part of the grain.

Tom Audas built and opened a better-equipped gin a little way down the Bayou from the one William owned, and he soon bought that, too; he still had the farm and a good crop on it, but he operated the new gin while his wife and children finished picking the cotton and moved to the settlement.

About that time, a store was opened nearby by Henry Sackett, who had a store and a post office in his home at Camp Colorado. At that time, the mail for northeast Coleman County was taken by hack to Camp Colorado, then horseback to the store on the Bayou, which was becoming a busier place than the old army post. Time to apply for a post office, and Sackett sent the application which the department approved, but three tentative names for the new office were turned down because there was already an office by that name in Texas.

Sackett, Burkett and other men of the community tried to think up a suitable name. "Let's send my name," said William. "Maybe they don't already have a Burkett, Texas." This was done, with William asking for appointment to the office, and thus Burkett, Texas began, with William Burkett as postmaster, named by President Cleveland in 1886.

Through the years the little town has been a good place to live. A strong German community grew up with the Hankes, the Thates, the Koenigs, and Fraakes; then there were the Walkers and Morgans, the Youngs who came to the Bayou in 1837, the Newtons and McAnallys and Hunters and Golsons and others.

Sackett continued his store at Burkett for several years while his family ran the one at Camp Colorado. And as the town prospered, so did the Burkett for whom it was named; John, the first of the Burkett men, died on March 8, 1894, at 87 years of age, but his children and grandchildren have been well and favorably known, most of them staying near the Bayou. An unusual and fine thing about this family is that a complete history has been written by Will Burkett's granddaughters, Vida Madge Cunningham of New Mexico, whose mother was Minnie Burkett. A logical touch is that the present postmaster is Mrs. Merrell Burkett; that's just as it should be.

The majority of farmers have cooperated in certifying their crops early which resulted in early payments. The greater number of farmers in the county have received their payments.

There remains about 100 farms under the programs on which crops have not been certified. These farmers are receiving a special letter calling their attention to the final date of certification. This final date is Monday, August 3. We caution all producers who receive this letter to certify at their earliest convenience.

We are in the process of making the necessary spot checks of crop acreages in the county. Over 100 farms are required to be checked for the farmer's accuracy in reporting his crops. The payment on these farms will be released as the farms are checked of the acreages are found to be accurately reported.

The National Farm Safety Week is July 19-25. It is suggested that farmers observe the week by making up a check list for their own farm. Check farm equipment and check out farm equipment operators. Look over farm buildings for hazards, including the chance of fire. Be sure the fertilizers and farm chemicals are stored safely and handled safely.

County Agent News Column

Karen, the kids and I had a real-nice vacation last week in Ruidoso. It sure does help to get away from things once in awhile. Of course, in our office the mail keeps coming and really stacks up. So I spent Monday morning clearing that away.

The Polled Hereford Breeders of this area are having a tour this Saturday and plan to be at Carroll Kingsbery's at Santa Anna around 3:30 p. m. and then go to Jim and Fay Gill's north of Coleman. I'm sure they'll be glad to have anyone interested in Polled Hereford Cattle to attend this tour. The Polled Breeders are starting to do some linear measurements on their cattle and this is a real interesting innovation.

I have some milo variety tests out with several farmers this year. Two of them are southwest of Gouldbusk on the Arthur Doose and Charlie Avants farms. Some of you farmers in that area might want to keep an eye on these and get some ideas on next year's crops.

Mr. Rankin McIver and his employed hand, Mr. Jake Degal, asked that it be placed in the News that they did not want any fishermen, hunters or trespassers of any kind on their lease on the Colorado River here. The main cause now is grass fires, but early Sunday morning a car with several in it came out and drove up to a gate, probably with a lock on it, and tore the gate down, showing no respect to other people's property. And this isn't the first time this has happened on the ranch there. They have gone through the proper proper that you do not be found on the ranch here.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Avants were aroused early Friday morning by the barking of a dog, and they found out their dog had located a huge rattlesnake at the corner of their concrete cellar in the backyard. The snake was too large to kill with a hoe by outside light, so Aaron shot the snake, also disposing of his rattlers when he did, but the Avants say it was the largest snake they have ever killed around their house, and they have killed several.

Accent On Health

A growing demand from the public in recent years for more and better hospital care facilities has tested the resources and ability of both state and federal health care officials. As a result, the Federal Hill-Burton Act authorized financial assistance for construction and modernization of health facilities and the Texas State Department of Health is required to develop an annual "State Plan" listing the facilities provided in Texas State Department of Health.

The Health Facilities Construction Section of the State Health Department is responsible for the preparation and the administration of the "State Plan." The plan is primarily a survey of present facilities and a projection of bed need in any given area or facility. These facilities are then rated as to priority of need, in order to qualify for the limited Hill-Burton funds available. Allocations of these funds are made by the State Board of Health.

The Hill-Burton program approved by Congress only a few weeks ago calls for $1.2 billion in federal funds to be spent in the next three years for construction and modernization of facilities across the country. In past years, Texas has received about 6.4 per cent of the total allocation. If Congress appropriates the funds for each of the proposed three years, the state is expected to receive the largest state grant ever. The maximum grant the state has received to date is about $17 million.

These funds will be allocated for modernization of existing facilities, construction of hospitals and public health centers, long-term care facilities, diagnostic and treatment centers, rehabilitation facilities, and, for the first time this coming year, funds will be allocated specifically for modernization and construction of emergency room facilities.

New categories of Hill-Burton funds were created by Congress this year. Among these are a loan guarantee program to private non-profit organizations, with an interest-free payment grant to retire three per cent of the interest of a loan to a non-profit private hospital. In addition, direct loans are available to non-profit public health facilities.

Approximately 60 applications for Hill-Burton grants and loans have been received this year. These applications seek to initiate over $143 million in construction or modernization projects. Funds are being sought from the Hill-Burton Program in the amount of nearly $39 million of federal grants. About 100 projects are now active.

How to build a family nest egg with U.S. Savings Bonds.

It takes money to feed a family.

It takes money to clothe a family.

It takes money to house a family.

It takes money to send the kids to school, buy a car, give birthday presents, make insurance payments and pay the doctor.

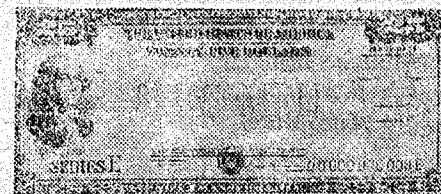

With all the dues it takes just to make it from one day to the next, how's a man going to find a buck to tuck away? How's he going to sock away enough to make tomorrow a better day? How's a man going to build a family nest egg?

It might be easier than you think. All you have to do is sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. That way you can have a small amount taken from your paycheck, before you receive it, and invested in U.S. Savings Bonds. Your nest egg grows automatically each and every payday.

And now, U.S. Savings Bonds pay 5% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year; 5.20% thereafter to maturity). That's the highest rate ever.

Join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Before you know it, those small deductions and the new interest rate will have grown into a comfortable kitty, a respectable family nest egg, a better tomorrow.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And, always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America.

With higher paying U.S. Savings Bonds.

Unique Hilltop Home Construction Underway on Elgean Shield Ranch

Sitting on a grassy hilltop west of Santa Anna, overlooking the junction of Loss and Homé Creeks, is the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Elgean Shield. The almost-completed structure is unusual in both construction and appearance; it is an original design by Mr. Shield, constructed of heavy steel, lumber and stone.

The four-story house is on a thick steel-reinforced slab foundation, 50 feet by 24 feet. The frame of four an one-half inch pipe is covered with heavy plywood and metal siding. The Austin stone exterior is now being added, giving the slanting outside walls a depth of nearly one foot. Each end of the structure will be glass, floor to ceiling, with sliding glass doors on the lower level and second story.

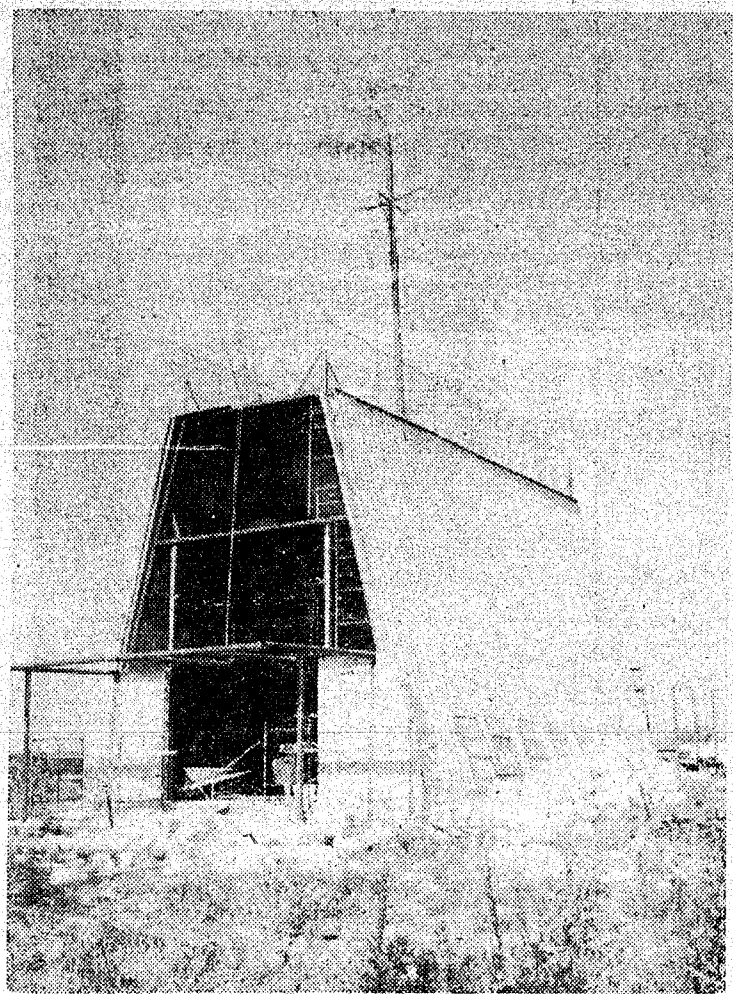

A circular hand-wrought iron staircase in the center of the house leads to the top level—a 50 by 12 foot sun deck enclosed by a heavy chain-link fence and topped by a tall mast pole.

The unique home will contain four bedrooms and three and one-half baths. The lower floor will be the living room, dining room, and kitchen, divided by movable partitions. At the west end there is planned a one-story utility room and workshop adjoining the house.

The second floor of the house will have two bedrooms and two baths, the master bedroom to be 18 by 24 feet in size. The third floor will contain the two additional bedrooms and one bath.

Plans call for solid metal floors to be covered with light carpeting and the walls throughout to be of blonde paneling, adding light to the solid-sided structure.

Although the outer walls are built on an A-slant, the inside walls will be perpendicular, allowing for concealed space at the floor for plumbing, electrical wiring, air conditioning ducts, and heating panels.

From the upper deck of the house there is an unobstructed view from Brown to Runnels County; from Coleman to the Brady "gap." Just below and north of the hilltop site is a large flood detention lake on Loss Creek from which water for the house will be obtained.

The present Shield home is near the former location of the historic old Mahoney Ranch headquarters home, and about a mile from the new homesite.

Mr. Shield, a native of Santa Anna, and Mrs. Shield are the parents of five children, four sons, all grown, and a daughter, Suzanne, who will be a freshman student at the University of Texas at Austin this year.

Many hours of work have gone into the planning and building of the new Shield home and when finished it will be an attractive and livable home, most unusual in its placid rural location. The all-electric home was started in January and although hindered by many delays, is expected to be completed in a few weeks.

The Family

Basic unit of civilized culture; the very lifeblood of a modern society.

When families stay together, and play together, they furnish young and old the social outlet that they seek and need . . . a powerful deterrent to delinquent and anti-social behavior.

To dramatize the family as the basis of the nation's strength and morality, and to focus attention upon it, Family Reunion Day was established in 1968. It is held on the second Sunday of each August. Family Reunion Day was honored at the start with a proclamation by then-President Johnson.

Reaffirm your own regard for the family . . .

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Peculiar Patents

Could you get a patent on an alarm clock that squirts cold water down a sleeper's neck? A man in Chicago did. What about a balloon drawn through the sky by eagles? Or a stickpin made of candy, to be eaten after use? Or an automatic hat tipper for lazy gentlemen? These, too, all won patents.

To the inventors neighbors, such ideas might seem pretty silly. And our patent law does say that, for an idea to be patentable, it must be "useful."

However, in deciding what is useful, the law is very tolerant indeed. The law remembers (even if the neighbors don't) that people laughed too at Alexander Graham Bell's first telephone and at the Wright brother's first airplane. True, you cannot get a patent on something that has no use at all. For example, an inventor claiming to have created a "perpetual motion machine" was turned down on this ground. The ruling pointed out that the machine could not possibly work, because it was contrary to the laws of nature.

Nor can you patent a device which is useful only to do evil. Thus, a court rejected a patent for a method of faking the appearance of tobacco leaves for the purpose of making them look better than they really were.

The judge said:
"Congress did not intend to extend protection to (inventions) which confer no other benefit upon the public than the opportunity of profiting by deception and fraud. The invention must be capable of some beneficial use as distinguished from a pernicious use."

But for most inventors, the test of usefulness can be passed without too much trouble. The law generally takes the same optimistic attitude that Benjamin Franklin once took when he was asked:
"What is the use of this new invention?"
Franklin's reply was:
"What's the use of a newborn child?"

To Harry Wilson, who could never save a penny.

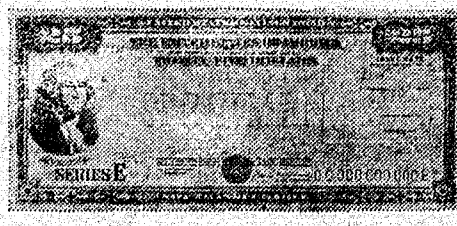

Harry's been talking about that house he's going to buy for six years now. Harry's still talking. When it comes to saving for something special we all have good intentions, but many of us never seem to get started, let alone have the discipline to keep saving regularly.

That's what makes the Payroll Savings Plan such a terrific way to build a nest egg. All you do is sign up once. Then the amount you specify is automatically set aside from your check each payday and invested in U.S. Savings Bonds.

Now that Bonds pay 5% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year; thereafter 5.20% to maturity), your savings will grow faster than ever.

So, if you see a little bit of Harry in yourself, maybe it's time you joined the
