Old "Jigger" died last Friday. He was found dead in the pasture at the James Allen ranch north of Santa Anna.

Now many of you will not know Jigger from anyone else, but those in this community interested in horses will know his identity.

Bought by Lester Guthrie from a rancher in Brown County, the big brown horse was soon sold to Willard Allen. Many years after learning to rope on the horse, James Allen bought him from his brother.

In all these years children and adults in the community have ridden Jigger in parades, roped and barrel raced on him, until he was retired about three years ago.

No one knows Jigger's exact age, but it is known he was well over 30 years old. bk

THE NATIONAL LABOR RELATIONS BOARD has been under fire from business men for some time as a result of what they consider one-sided decisions in fayor of labor. They contend that the board is made up of pro-labor members who have formed a policy of months. ruling decisions in favor of labor instead of its intended purpose of enforcing regulations according to existing law.

Senator John Tower has introduced legislation that jout having to submit constiwould transfer jurisdiction over unfair labor practices to the Federal District Courts.

The National Federation of Independent Business, an organization made up of thousands of small businesses took a poll of its members on the bill and found with authority to send judges the standards. wherever they are needed.

Judicial section of the State Bar will detail its proposals at which said there is no evidence an October meeting in Galveston.

Judges and practicing attorneys gave the House judiciary sub-committee, at a hearing in the capitol, their ideas for improving and speeding up court machinery. Sample recommendations include:

• Strong court administration, including authority to ifnore present district lines in assigning judges to duty where the action is.

• Giving 14 Courts of Civi Appeals power to handle intermediate appeals of criminal, as well as civil, cases to ease load inal Appeals (which now receives appeals direct frm district courts all over the state). • Creation of a "unified" court system ( a variety of plans have been suggested) to insure an even work load on courts, again by shifting judges to areas where dockets are overloaded.

 Automatic judicial redistricting by a five-member board if the Legislature refuses to do the job. • Removing judges from politics. • Stiffer fines and jail sen-to help prevent court disruptions like those which have shocked the nation in recent

• Simplification of the judicial article of the state constitution so the Legislature can make necessary changes withtutional amendments.

them overwhelmingly in favor of the law. Nationally, the vote of the members showed 82 per cent in favor, 11 per cent not in favor and seven per cent with no opinion.

Texas members showed an even stronger approval with 91 per cent in favor, six against and three with no mission boosted the oil allowopinion. Washigton D. C. showed a whopping 100 per cent in favor of the bill, and Rhode Island found no dissenters, just 12 per cent with no opinion.

The NLRB has brought this on themselves. Through the years the board has been packed with pro-labor members, and their rulings have been considered strongly anti-management. If a business had a run-in with a labor union, it was just too bad, because they didn't have a chance

Many consider one of the main causes of inflation to be the strength of the unions in forcing management to up wages beyond what cost of living would dictate consequently prices on manufactured goods go up to meet the costs and the fixed income group suffers the consequences.

We believe every man should have a living wage, and in the beginning there was as much one-sidedness on the part of management as there is in labor today. Unions needed to be organized, and they served their purpose.

However, during the early thirties legislation came through in favor of the unions in an effort to equalize power, and now some unions have become out and out rackets, where union administration just dictates the terms of the contracts and there is not much managemen can do if they want to stay in business.

Business mon have contended that the NLRB has used its regulatory powers to strengthen the unions, has increasingly liberalized rules governing union recognition, collective bargaining and union "rights" and all the time tightening rules affecting management.

Senator Tower says the board "has ignored the intent of Congress," and has rewritten the law to suit itself, has subordinated the rights of individual employees, small unions, and employers through biased decisions favoring big unions.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, who supports the legislation said the "NLRB has demonstrated a distressing lack of objectivity and impartiality required of a judicial body."

The federal courts handled labor disputes until 1935 when the NLRB was established; and supporters of Tower's bill want them returned.

With the strong political power attained by larger unions in the last few years, there is some doubt that the Senator will be able to get his bill through, because the tendency of the Congressmen not to vote for something that would cost him a vote is getting stronger and stronger all the time. In fact it is our opinion that some in the House and Senate would sell their own mother for a vote. Of course we expect the Congressman to reflect the thinking of the majority of his constituents. but we feel that many times they follow pressure rather than logic in making a decision as to how they will vote.

Chairman Ben Ramsey noted that the Commission's staff report warned the higher factor could cause pollution, wasting of gas and pipeline bottlenecks in some areas.

A major oil company spokesman said Texas crude oil stocks are down 4.5 million barrels from 1969. A rapid decline in imported oil was noted. September allowable would provide for a maximum daily production of 4,166,870 barrels, although actual production is estimated at 3,409,000 barrels a day. Internationally famous racing pilot, Bill Brodbeck, flying the record-setting Lark Commander, N1970L, recently set three new flight records for light aircraft during a continuous 61/2 hour flight.

Built by Aero Commander, one of the General Aviation Divisions of North American Rockwell (NR), the 4-place, 180-h.p., production model Lark, claimed the records flying over Eastern Seaboard courses. The record flight originated in Albany, Ga., and concluded at the 21st annual Reading, Pa., Air Show, where Brodbeck and his Lark were greeted by an enthusiastic crowd of spectators, and (L to R) Victor Yarnell, the mayor of Reading; (Brodbeck); Col. W. F. Rockwell, honorary chairman of the board of NR, and R. N. Robinson, president of the General Aviation Divisions.

The new Lark records are sanctioned by a member group of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale (FAI), which sanctions all international aviation and aerospace records.

Brodbeck holds six international records and racing championships, all won flying earlier models of Commander aircraft. He holds the Louis Bleriot aviation medal awarded by the FAI

A SAFETY MESSAGE from Dodge's TV "Sheriff" JOE HIGGINS

Look heah, boy, racin' at the traffic light ain't only unsafe and agin the law like I been tellin' ya, it's kinda dumb.

Screechin' those tires and roarin' the engine shows ya got no respect for other drivers, pedestrians, or that fine bit of ma you're drivin'.

Shows ya ain't got much brains, neither.

Takin' a "hole shot"-that's racin' talk if ya don't know it for jurpin' away from the light before the other fella-puts a big strain on the engine, transmission, differential, tires and the wallet. Ya must have a lotta money if you can play those kinda games. Treat that shiny car with respect and it'll last a long time and give you a heap of pleasure.

Ya'll drive careful now, heah!
