"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

SMOKE

FROM THE MOUNTAIN

A prominent lady of Brownwood came to Santa Anna this week to shop for a hat because her home town didn't have anything she liked. It would be well if local buyers would take note of this fact and realize that Santa Anna, DOES have desirable merchandise and that it is NOT necessary to trade away from home.

Jesse Owen seems to have had a big time when he went to the "Big City" of Austin. Turned loose by himself he saw the sights and then got lost so well that he had to have a guide to help him find his lodgings. The place for country boys, as Jesse now agrees, is at home.

We are wondering if Sparks Whetstone is going to substitute for Buddy Weaver any time again. The last time he worked in Buddy's place, Mr. Whetstone really burned the midnight oil and then some.

Mr. Upton didn't let anybody put anything by on him, when last Thursday night the Laymen of the Baptist Church borrowed lamps, guns, furniture from Mrs. Upton to use in a take off on her husband, who was impersonated by Louis Newman. But early the next morning the Laymen received a bill for sixty odd dollars for articles taken from his store.

A well-known young man here has turned to hitch-hiking until his new car arrives. At eleven o'clock all volunteers who wish to have a passenger drive to the depot. Mr. Fry will be ready.

Warning to all store-keepers: When young Leon Morgan starts fishing into the curb in front of your place of business, duck. Some day he might drive on in for service.

On the request of several readers and on our own initiative, also, we have written some editorials which we would like for you to read. One of them deals with the lack of courtesy of certain members of an audience at a public performance recently, who through thoughtlessness or downright impoliteness kept many from hearing the program.

How smart are you? There are lots of people who can't work this one. "A blind beggar died in Germany. The body was shipped to the United States. In New York a man named Joseph Schwartz, who was a brother of the deceased beggar, took charge of the body and paid all burial expenses. Later, when detectives were making a routine investigation they found that Joseph Schwartz had no brothers, dead or living, and had never had any. How could that be possible?"

Mrs. Aldridge Called to New London Friday for Funeral of Niece

Mrs. Brush Aldridge was called to New London Friday evening to attend the funeral of her twelve-year-old niece, Nellene Bishop, who was killed in the New London Consolidated School explosion, which took over 400 lives.

The young girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bishop. Two other children of the family also attended school, but had been dismissed from classes earlier and thus escaped the fate of the other children.

WARNING TO FARMERS IN BUYING PLANTING SEED

Due to the fact that certain parts of the State are handling seed of very low germination and this seed will probably be handled through trucks, farmers are warned to not buy any seed unless it has a State card showing germination, purity, etc.

The State Department has seed testing laboratories which are free to all citizens of the State of Texas. All seed being tested by the State should bear the State analysis. Farmers should buy their seed from reputable dealers and should not buy any seed unless it shows State analysis.

The seed is the foundation of crops and good seed is cheaper per acre at 10 cents a pound than sorry seed at a gift.

Consult your County Agent about any seed. John W. Young, State Seed Inspector, State Department of Agriculture, Austin, Texas.

Courtesy Expected At Public Gatherings

Last week a program of entertainment was given for the public free of charge in the high school auditorium. The program was not under the auspices of the school and since no charge of admission was made, certain members of the audience took advantage of these facts to disturb other members of the listeners by a constant whispering, laughing, and general commotion.

Taking for granted this impoliteness was not intentional, and was the result of thoughtlessness on the part of the young people who thus disturbed the audience, something should be done to emphasize the need for courtesy at these programs.

Several citizens have spoken this past week of this condition at public programs and a few have admitted that they have ceased going to such performances and to some charge affairs because it was impossible to hear. Those who are in charge of programs where a charge is made should have the privilege of asking disturbing members of the audience to leave. It is not fair for others who pay to be deprived of hearing the program.

However when no charge is made, some one should be given authority to quiet those who need it or to ask their withdrawal. It is only common courtesy to be quiet. Social visiting, hilarious laughter, and promenading along the aisles are not in keeping at a program.

Whether the blame should be placed on the young folks or the adults for permitting such a thing, we do not know. The question is, is it going to be stopped? Grown folks should set the example, parents and teachers should cooperate in solving this situation.

EASTER — The Time of the Resurrection

The world has become worldly in many of its activities, but Easter, the time commemorating Christ's Resurrection from the dead, turns even the worldly to the serious thoughts of something more important by far than anything in every day business.

There is not one person who has not at some time lost a loved one through death. The parting is sorrowful at the time, but the comforting assurance of a Higher Power that sometime the living and the dead shall be reunited is the only consoling thought in the hours of sorrow.

Easter signifies this promise of a future union as shown by the Resurrection of Christ; Easter thus becomes a season of Joy and Thanksgiving to the Christian. Churches all over the Nation are preparing special Easter services. Those in your city are planning beautiful musical programs and thoughtful sermons for the citizens. The true Christian needs no invitation to attend these services. Yet the churches are inviting everyone to hear the comforting word of the Christ who said,

"I am the resurrection and the Life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die." St. John 11:25-26.

State Laws For Soil Conservation

Address by Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, over the National Farm and Home Hour.

Last Saturday I was talking with Hugh Bennett, Chief of the Soil Conservation Service, and found him rather discouraged because farmers had not taken more interest in his work. His service in the past three years has set up 540 demonstration areas, and ways to stop wind and water erosion are being demonstrated on these areas in every part of the United States. Nevertheless, the farmers living outside of these areas have not used the improved methods as fast as Bennett believes they should. He spoke of the dust storms this year in Oklahoma and Kansas, and of how these storms could have been prevented in large measure if the farmers had followed the recommendations put out by Mr. Bennett's organization.

Bennett is a soil conservation scientist and evangelist who became convinced ten or fifteen years ago that if the people of the United States did not stop mining and exploiting their soil in a shortsighted, selfish, individualistic way, the time would come when water and wind erosion would make of the United States another China.

Evangelists who give their life to a cause sometimes become momentarily tired and discouraged. That is why I am asking today that those farmers of the United States who are really concerned about erosion, write to Hugh Bennett, Chief of the Soil Conservation Service at Washington, D. C., telling him what they think of the efforts of the service and offering to do all they can to help Bennett's organization succeed by keeping the soil on their particular farms from washing into the rivers or blowing into the air. Or if they have constructive suggestions to make, by all means send them along to Mr. Bennett. Probably some farmers still don't know just what to do to control erosion, but I am sure they will be glad to act in a practical way as soon as they know how.

Last summer the United States Department of Agriculture reached the conclusion that it was foolish to spend large sums of money setting up soil conservation projects unless we could be certain of more unanimous cooperation by farmers and landowners in the different localities. Of course this more unanimous cooperation could be obtained only by invoking state authority. The Federal Government can, however, withhold benefits and services from those states which do not pass laws making possible the right kind of cooperation.

Such proposed laws are now before a number of state legislatures. They provide for setting up soil conservation districts, provided the majority of farmers and landowners in a given area vote that they want a soil conservation district. These proposed state laws provide further that land use regulations may be established within the district by the vote of a SUBSTANTIAL majority. Some states may wish to require a 75 per cent favorable vote.

The passage of such legislation really means that state authority is provided to the district to enforce participation in a soil conservation program on any minority of non-cooperators. The Federal Government can then spend money on a district set up in this way with some assurance that a real job can be done to check and absorb heavy rains at the headwaters before they have a chance to join the swollen streams. In like manner, dust storms can ultimately be controlled, or at least reduced, by working on the areas most likely to control the trouble. But in no case will the work be started until the majority of the people have given their assent and have said that they want the help of the Government.

In the old days neither farmers nor city people were interested in this kind of thing. Farmers could then wear out a farm and move onto another one. Neither floods nor dust storms caused so much damage. The Great Plains had not yet been overgrazed or plowed up. But now it is different. The good farm land is fully occupied, and much of it is overgrazed and overplowed. Trees have been cut off of land which should have been left in trees. Grassland has been plowed that should have been left in grass. The water, the winds and the droughts have all become more violent. It is time for farmers, state governments and the federal government to work together in the most constructive manner possible. I hope that the governors and the legisla-

Steward's Meeting, on each Monday evening after the first Sunday of the month. J. Frank Turner, president.

Last Monday evening 29 of our young people attended the Zone meeting at Coleman. After a sermon by Dr. D. K. Porter, the pastor, the house was called to order by the Zone president, and such business as should be attended to was brought up, and duly transacted. The service was turned over to the Santa Anna chapter and a program on "Easter" was given, led by John Franklin Turner. Many commendations were given our young people, and then we were all invited to the reception hall, where about 165 were served by the Coleman church with delicious refreshments. After that, we enjoyed games and stunts on the church lawn, and all had the finest fellowship, so characteristic of the carefree group of boys and girls who gathered from the various churches represented there that evening.

We go next month to Valera, where we anticipate another good time as we usually have on these occasions. Our members in attendance, as well as the interest in general, have grown with each succeeding meeting, from the beginning of the new Conference year.
Come worship with us Easter Sunday morning, where you shall receive the heartiest welcome, and have the best of company, together with special Easter music.

J. Virgil Davis, pastor.

THE GUIDING STARS

Which are the most vitally important guiding stars - Ambition, Purpose, Hope or Wonder? Ambition is a trait of moral excellence and ability that serves us in life and physical strength put into the blending of an effort or plan. Hope is a tiny spark of celestial fire that consoles us in sorrow and despair. Wonder is the greatest of the four. Ambition, purpose, and hope work together and form a chain, but wonder influences all three. It creates ideas, which through study, weave themselves into an inspiring career. Wonder inspired Columbus to sail on uncharted seas and discover an unknown continent. It likewise is the source of many inventions that at first were only inspirations.

Many persons have no ambition. These people comprise a majority of the criminal class. Without these factors, man is a failure. To many people they mean little, but they are virtually important in deciding whether you will be a success or a failure.

Take all the love that ever was From long ago 'til this Then multiply a hundred times And not a figure miss To this amount add all the love That ever is to be The sum that you have then Is less than mine for thee.

PUBLIC INTEREST DEMANDS FAIR PLAY!

Texas now has good state laws for the regulation—in the public interest—of all transportation. These laws are helping to stabilize transportation, and all business and industry that has to use transportation. These laws are helping to reduce the terrible accident toll on your highways. They are helping to conserve your investment in your highways.

without any resulting benefit to the people of Texas.

Texas railroads obey the rules of the game,—those imposed by the agencies of government and those taken on voluntarily in the interest of public safety.

Texas railroads are spending this year, large sums of money for new and modern equipment—locomotives, freight and passenger cars, improved rail and roadbed facilities, and are expediting freight and passenger schedules to meet growing public demands. All of this is being done in the interest of improved service to the public and at the lowest rates in twenty years.

All the railroads of Texas are asking—have ever asked—is a FAIR DEAL in a fair field.

Regulation of transportation in the United States has been developed over a period of fifty years. Reasonable regulation is admitted to be both advisable and necessary in the public interest.

Strict regulation of one form of transportation and the lessening of regulation of any other form is unfair and un-American, and can only result in crippling that part of your transportation facilities which is handicapped—

Cavalcade in Search Of Victoria Carriage

Have you a Victoria Carriage? "Cavalcade of the Americas," mammoth historical spectacle of the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition, is in need of one for its Bowie de Desamendi wedding scene.

It will become number fifteen in the group of horse-drawn conveyances to be used in the show to be presented on the world's largest stage.

Although the Victoria, a graceful four-wheeled carriage with a high driver's seat, was popular in the southwest, it seems to have disappeared with the coming of the automobile.

"Harper Seavally, Rochester, N. Y., President of the United States Chamber of Commerce, has a beautiful Victoria in his famous stables," said Bernie Meyer, property man.

"We may be able to work out a deal with him for the use of the carriage."

The stage coach to be used in Cavalcade was actually used in the early days on a route from Corpus Christi to Kingsville, Texas, and is now the property of the owners of the famous King Ranch, in Kingsville. A good-as-new buggy was found within two blocks of the Exposition grounds.

Covered wagons, prairie schooners of the old West, are direct reproductions, as are the solid-wheeled Mexican ox-carts. The ox-carts were designed by John A. Hart.

Two Spanish Galleons, one a scale model, the other in miniature, will be built soon for the scene of Columbus' discovery of the Americas. They are a most difficult problem, Meyer said.

Sixty horses, six cannon, and a Gatling gun are also on the props list for the big show. The Gatling gun was the first development in rapid-fire artillery, and was first used in the Spanish-American war.

The gay nineties scene calls for 40 saddle horses, 20 harness horses, surreys, an open carriage, a fire-engine, ox-cart, high-wheel bicycles, express wagons, and three ancient automobiles. A tandem, or two-seated bicycle, also will be used in this scene, which will produce the comedy angle for the show.

"We are really concerned about the Victoria carriage," said A. L. Vollmann, producer-director. "We would like to contact anyone who may have one."

Jan Fortune wrote "Cavalcade of the Americas." Ed V. Goodin will assist in the directing.

Scabies Eradication Report

There was employed in Brady District for the month of February, one State man who spent his entire time in an effort to eradicate scabies infection, and a total of approximately $140.00 was expended by this Department in its regular Eradication Program.

Twenty-one herds and a total of 14,427 sheep or goats and cattle were inspected or dipped; 1448 head cattle were classed as infected, and 62 head cattle were classed as exposed.

All exposed or infected live stock were systematically treated. Only eleven head were reported visibly infected.

The Livestock Sanitary Commission of Texas will continue the work in the Brady District in an effort to protect the live stock in that District from impoed infection, and affording the necessary scabies certificates demanded by other states on live stock moving from Texas.

The above work was conducted under the supervision of Geo. W. Henderson, Supervisor of Scabies Eradication Work, Brady, Texas.

A crew of 44 National Youth Administration boys working at Landa Park in New Braunfels are improving the island playground, establishing picnic units, and erecting a retaining wall to keep flood waters from the recreation center, J. C. Kellam, acting state director, said.

Know Texas

DENTON — Approximately 18,868 unfortunate Texans will require care from state-supported charitable institutions this year. The blind, the deaf, the dumb, the insane, the aged and homeless men, women, and children, and the tuberculosis patients in seventeen separate institutions widely scattered over the state.

To care for this large number of unfortunates, the Board of Control recently recommended a budget of $14,228,299. It has also recommended a new insane hospital in West Texas, centrally located to serve that section; facilities for 150 additional patients at the Abilene State Hospital for Epileptics; a new building at the Tuberculosis Sanatorium; a cottage-type building at the Gainesville Girls' Training School; and the expansion of child welfare division activities to relieve the strain on orphanages.

State institutions include the Texas School for the Blind, Austin, with 220 students; Texas School for the Deaf, Austin, 511; State School for Deaf, Dumb and Blind for Colored Youths, Austin, 283; State Home and School, Corsicana, 879; Austin State School, Austin, 1293; Confederate Home, Austin, 190; and Confederate Woman's Home, Austin, 91.

The State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, San Angelo, 800; Home for Neglected and Dependent Children, Waco, 379; State Juvenile Training School, Gatesville, 982; Girls' Training School, Gainesville, 240; and state hospitals at Abilene, 1,106; Austin, 2,331; Rusk, 2,250; San Antonio, 2,550; Terrell, 2,368; and Wichita Falls, 2,200.

Lets Talk about Clothes

DENTON, March 25. — Chill March winds and April rains make practical-minded women a little fearful about venturing out in their new, light-weight spring finery. The problem of achieving a stylish appearance and also preserving comfort is perplexing but not impossible to solve.

The trick can be managed by combining some of the warm, dependable numbers from your wintry wardrobe with gay new accessories that announce spring. For instance, that dark suit, which still feels good on biting days, can be transformed with a fresh, new-looking striped blouse. Or perhaps a dotted one in bright colors will suit the taste better.

Next comes the dark crepe dress, another winter hangover which can be revamped. Be sure that the sleeves are short, and add to it one of those string, hemp or woolen belts plaited in wild colors. Then invest in one of the shining patent leather bags that come in so many shapes and sizes. Get one of the smart new shades, and it will give you good service all summer.

As the finishing touches to this early-season affair, try a pair of beige, white or light-colored gloves that will contrast with your dress or bag. Now perch on your head one of those small dark straws that are guaranteed not to blow away and you're ready to start out. If an icy blast suddenly comes your way, you can don the heavy coat without ruining your outfit.

PRACTICAL COOKERY

DENTON, March 25. — Frequent use of citrus fruits such as oranges and grapefruit in planning menus is good health insurance. They have won their present important place in every-day diet because of the mineral salts and vitamins which they contain.

To keep fruits and vegetables from becoming monotonous, the alert housewife can try out several different ways of preparing them.

Candied Fruit Peel (Grapefruit or Orange Peel): Cut fruit peels in quarters and let stand over-night in salted water using 1 T. salt to 1 qt. water. Drain and wash; cover with fresh water and simmer until tender; drain; cut peels into thin strips. Make syrup of 1 c. sugar and 1-2 c. water and cook until it spins a thread. Lay strips of peel in the syrup and cook gently until the peel becomes transparent. Drain on wire rack. Roll in granulated sugar. Variety may be given by adding a few drops of green or pink coloring to boiling syrup; by flavoring with mint, ginger or cinnamon. Bits of colored candied grapefruit peel are effective garnishes for salads, cakes, puddings, and frozen desserts.

Orange Marmalade: 1 grapefruit, 2 oranges, 3 qts. water and 5 lb. sugar. Wash fruit and shave in paper-thin slices with very sharp knife. Add water and let stand over night. Cook until peel is tender and again let stand over night. Add sugar and cook quickly until syrup thickens slightly. Seal in small sterilized jars.

Orange Tapioca: 3 c. cold water, 1 c. orange pulp, 3-4 c. tapioca and 1-2 c. sugar. Cook the tapioca and water in a double boiler until transparent. Place orange in a baking dish; sprinkle with sugar and pour tapioca over sweetened mixture. Chill and serve with whipped cream.

Grapefruit Salad: Allow 1-2 grapefruit for each serving. Peel the fruit whole and remove all the white covering. Divide into quarters and remove the partitions dividing the segments. Try to keep the segments whole. Arrange four or five segments on hearts of lettuce leaves. Just before serving, add two t. of French dressing.

New Artists on Radio Program of Utilities Co.

New talent will be brought to Radio Stations KRBC and KGKL, Abilene and San Angelo, 9:30 and 9:45 o'clock respectively, when the West Texas Utilities Company begins a new series of Electric Servants programs, featuring the all-electric kitchen and the Hotpoint electric range.

Harold Rick and Ralph Snyder, noted Chicago vocalists, will be accompanied by the equally talented Priscilla Holbrook at the piano. It will be a recorded program.

Harlow Wilcox, whose voice is familiar to millions of American radio listeners, will be the announcer.

While the program will retain its name of "Your Electric Servant," the new theme song will be "Songs that Will Never Grow Old."

Widely known as the "High Hats of Harmony," Rick and Snyder will sing the old favorites, devoted primarily to the entertainment of housewives. The program will be continued each Thursday morning.

Uncle Jim Says

"On most farms superphosphate and legumes help build up the soil, boost crop yields, and cut production costs."

Texas farmers, in complying with the agricultural conservation program in 1936, planted 1,625,236 acres in 222 counties to legumes and an additional 3,819,329 acres in 228 counties are devoted to other soil-conserving crops and practices. Experiments of Texas Agricultural Experiment Stations have shown that rotation of crops increase yields by adding fertility and holding moisture.

Farmers in the State who complied with the agricultural conservation program in 1937 diverted 3,773,415 acres from their cotton acreage and used these acres for planting legumes and for other soil-conserving crops and practices.

Demonstrator Stories

Good preparation of soil, by digging deeply and fertilizing, is most essential in having an attractive yard, says Mrs. J. D. Kuykendall, first year yard demonstrator of the White Chapel Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. Kuykendall is just beginning work on her yard and is making a good foundation for shrubs, roses, grass, and flowers with good soil preparation.

All shrubs and rose beds were dug up to a depth of fifteen inches and good soil was added. These steps are quite necessary as shrubs beds never can be cultivated deeply after the shrubs and roses have been set out.

The yard was broken up with a plow and then leveled. Bermuda grass needs good loose soil in which to grow if a smooth, unbroken lawn is to be had.

Nelline Bell, garden demonstrator of the Brown Ranch 4-H club, who lives in Fisk, made her garden plan and planted some of the vegetables. Nelline made her garden plan so that she would be sure to plant enough vegetables for her family this year. By making such a plan she could also work a larger variety of vegetables into her garden.

In 1937 the 4-H club girls are working on the part of the garden which includes green beans, English Peas, white squash, radishes, corn, beets, onions, cashaw, egg plant, and okra. Nelline is particularly interested in this part of her garden.

When making her garden plan she planned to plant enough row space to produce 200 pounds of the above vegetables for each member of her family. This is done by planting 2 feet of row space for each pound of vegetables to be produced.

Mrs. W. C. Norwood, bedroom demonstrator of the Gouldbusk Home Demonstration Club has added thin white curtains to her southwest bedroom. They give the room a cool, dainty cheerful appearance and being white will be easy to launder and keep looking nice.

Curtains should be thin, and light in color, and dainty in

Garden Makes Good Portion of Living Costs

College Station: "One half acre of garden, properly cared for, will produce an average of $100.00 worth of food for the family." This statement was made by J. F. Rosborough, Extension horticulturist, who pointed out that year in and year out, the garden should be the most profitable area on the average farm.

For each member of the family, 600 feet of row space should be allowed, Rosborough said. To supply a balanced vegetable diet, this 600 feet of space should be divided into 200 feet devoted to potatoes, 100 feet to yellow and leafy vegetables, such as mustard, cabbage, and carrots; 100 feet to tomatoes; and 200 feet to such miscellaneous vegetables as onions, beets, and turnips.

Over a large portion of the state, the time is at hand to plant Irish potatoes, according to Rosborough, who recommends the Triumph and Irish Cobbler varieties. Cabbage and onion plants should be set out, and tomato plants started now. For deep South Texas, where most tomatoes have already been planted, Rosborough indicated that the Bonnie Best tomato was a good all around variety, while for the rest of South Texas and East Texas, he preferred the Marglobe. He favored the Earliana, June Pink, or Magee for the blackland belt, and Earliana or June Pink for West Texas.

English peas should be planted in rows that have been laid off 12 inches apart with 24 to 30 inches between rows. By this method, the peas will tend to support each other in their upward growth, Rosborough pointed out.

Texas, nation's largest producer and marketer of natural gas, in 1935 exported to 14 other states 139 billion cubic feet. The All-South Development Council reports this was 49.5 per cent more than the next exporting state, Louisiana; more than twice as much as West Virginia, and five times as much as Pennsylvania, Kansas or Kentucky, next in rank.
