Mountain Echoes

By Barbara Kingsbery

Much has been read and heard about the brown recluse spider, now being identified in our area. Unlike the well-known black widow, the shy brown recluse male and female are both poisonous. It fears humans, hiding in the darkest, quietest place around the house.

Worst of all is the bite, which the American Medical Association says may come two to eight hours before the onset of any pain. Then may come discoloration, blistering and hemorrhage, often followed by ulceration and perhaps a rash, fever, nausea, and severe abdominal cramps lasting for hours.

We have heard that the spiders have been found in Coleman and other places in the area, but one Santa Anna homemaker had a bumper crop—five, including one baby spider, were found in the bathroom of her home.

Perhaps the most distinguishing mark on the light brown spider is a violin-shaped black marking on its head. The brown spiders are almost two inches in size, the body measuring about one-half inch in length.

When it rains, it pours! Or that is what one former Santa Anna resident thinks.

Pat Turney Chilton of Mesquite was hurrying to go visit her son, Mike, hospitalized with knee surgery, and fell in the backyard of her home. Now Mrs. Chilton is also immobile—recovering from a broken leg and a severely sprained ankle. Some days it just doesn't pay to get out of bed!

Second grade students of Mrs. Lucille Dean are studying subtraction during their arithmetic class, and the terms are sometimes confusing to the youngsters.

One little boy was heard reply, in answer to another's inquiry as to his grade on his report card, "I made a 'take-away' in arithmetic." Everyone knows he meant a minus!

Last jr. high football home game will be at the local stadium next Tuesday night, October 20. Local football fans are urged to go to the game and support the hard-working junior team, at their game with Early.

The half-time entertainment is always good, too, with a performance by the pep squad. Game time is 7:30 p. m.

Mountaineers Have 6-0 Victory To Spoil Longhorn Homecoming

The Santa Anna Mountaineers were victorious over the Early Longhorn by a score of 6-0 Friday night at Early. The Mounties won the toss and elected to receive. Eppler made a 10-yard return. Rocky Dean made 32 yards on the first series, but penalties forced the Mounties to punt without making a first down. Early took over and made three first downs; but on the next series of plays, they failed to make the necessary yardage. Rocky Dean picked up 11 yards, but an offside penalty set the Mounties back. Eppler broke for 19 yards to the 39 of Early and a first down. Dean picked up 19 more and another first. The Mounties drove to the Early 20-yard line, fumbled and lost the pigskin to the Longhorns who made only 4 yards and punted. The Mounties fumbled on the handoff and Early took over again making a first down on a Mountaineer 15-yard penalty, then made another first. The Longhorns got the ball to the Mountaineer 20-yard line before the Mounties took over.

The Mounties went to the air. Horner hit target, Dwight Eppler, who made a beautiful catch in the midst of four Longhorn defenders. The pass was good for 15 yards and a first down. However SA failed to make necessary yardage on the next series.

Jack Williams ran the punt back to the Longhorn 44. Driving, Chris Boyd slipped by for 26 yards and a first. A Horner to Watkins pass was good for 13 yards, but a penalty for delay of game set the Longhorns back. Under a rush from Diaz and Lewis, the Longhorns fumbled and lost yardage. The half ended with the score 0-0.

Ronnie Walton kicked off to Longhorn David Watkins who returned the ball for 15 yards before being brought down by Horner. The Longhorns made 5 yards and punted. A fired-up Mountaineer team made 5 first downs in 9 plays. Rocky Dean, Eppler, Roddy Dean each racked up

DICK BAUGH HAS FIRST BALE AT CO-OP GIN ON THURSDAY

The first bale of cotton ginned at the Santa Anna Coop Gin was brought into the gin on Thursday, October 8, and ginned the following day. The cotton was brought in by Dick Baugh, harvested from the McClure place south of town. The bale weighs 520 pounds.

The cotton harvest is later than ever this year, and Mr. Baugh's first bale was about three weeks later than the first bale of 1969 which was brought in by Melvin Lawrence.

Although seven bales of cotton have been ginned here since last Friday, manager Pierre Rowe stated that most of the cotton will come in after frost. Farmers are not expected to add to the expense of harvesting by having their fields defoliated now. The price of cotton is up to about 18 to 20 cents a pound this year, a few cents over last year's price.

Besides the market price of Mr. Baugh's first bale of cotton, the Santa Anna Chamber of Commerce will give a premium for the cotton, donated by local merchants and individuals.

Rainfall Sunday Brings Moisture To S-Anna Area

The official measurement from the east edge of town was not available. No rain was reported south of town or at Rockwood or the other outlying communities.

In Our Opinion

By W. T. HAYS

"PEOPLE ARE LIVING TOO FAST." How many times have we heard that expression?

It seems that everyone has so much to do that we need to add some hours to the day and some days to the week so we can get around to everything we need to do.

What is our hurry? Do we need to make money so bad that we are willing to ruin our health to do so?

Medical science is working all the time, trying to find the cure for our ills and prolong life, and we are battling them constantly in burning up our bodies with fast living. Look around us. How many people are suffering from ulcers, die from heart attacks, have nervous breakdowns, all because we try to do too much too quick.

Perhaps this is the penalty of civilization. In the backward countries we seldom hear of a death from a heart attack or of one of them having ulcers. They live simply, eat and dress poorly, but if they die it usually comes from some type of contamination because of their lack of cleanliness, or proper care of food. They are not nervous wrecks.

"I am going to get out of this rat race," we hear people say, but the next thing we hear, they have accepted some other responsibility for more work.

Apparently the "rat race" is like inflation, there seems to be no stopping place. We need more time to make more money to spend on more goods, that we don't necessarily need.

If anyone can come up with the answer to this one, we would like to know it. We want out of the "rat race" too!

A RECENT REPORT from the House Committee on Internal Security shows that they have made somewhat of an in-depth study of the Students for a Democratic Society over the past ten years, and also a study of revolutionary movements as far back as 1905 when such people as Upton Sinclair, Walter Lippman, Clarence Darrow and Jack London formed the first student socialist organization.

There seems to be little difference in the ideology of the group then and now, but the action is different. Today the radicals believe that the use of violence is necessary to get their beliefs across.

The SDS has lost favor in recent months and has dropped from a membership of about 40,000 at its peak to some 200 hard core activists who have gone underground and are known as the Weatherman faction. This group is the main instigator of campus violence and play on the youthful ideals of the students to get them to do their work.

Perhaps in the beginning of a new decade many of our youth are able to see through the thin disguise that the terrorists use to influence them to do the dirty work. If the news media will do its job of reporting all the happenings fully and truthfully, then we believe the majority of the people, including students, will not be misled.

STATE Capital NEWS
By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN—State employees want a 17 per cent pay raise within the next two years. They served notice of their desire at the annual meeting of the Texas Public Employees Association.

TPEA'S legislative program for 1971 seeks a three-step (10.2 per cent) raise effective next September; and a two-step (6.8 per cent) hike the following September; plus a 3.4 per cent merit raise for half of the employees.

Also requested are "career incentive" benefits — a $10 a month automatic raise after three years of service, ranging up to a $60 a month supplement for employees with 30 years service.

Substantial pension benefits also were included in TPEA's far-reaching legislative package which would give retired employees with 30 years service 50 per cent of their base pay.

State employees also want their travel allotments boosted to $16 a day per diem and 12 cents a mile.

SOCIAL WELFARE CHANGES — Continuing growth of welfare rolls will bring changes in basic operating methods of the State Department of Public Welfare after January 2.

Welfare Commissioner Burton G. Hackney says that the key procedural change would require welfare applicants to fill out their own "declaration forms." This would replace face-to-face interviews with overworked caseworkers. This method already has been tested in Corpus Christi, Austin and Nacogdoches regions.

Another change would reduce social services to that which can be quickly provided and for which specific goals can be defined.

Hackney predicts that legislators will be called on for $96 million annually in state funds, just to keep the financial assistance programs at present levels. This is $16 million above the constitutional ceiling. Some $291 million in federal funds would match the state outlay.

INSURANCE LAWS PUSH-ED — State Insurance Board is pushing four new laws to protect both the policy holders and the ailing insurance industry.

Insurance Board told the House probing committee that it is becoming increasingly difficult to get home and auto protection in disaster-hit areas. Therefore, it will advocate these changes in the law:

Stiff regulation of holding companies, assessment of all companies to protect citizens against insolvencies, a mandatory pool to provide fire and windstorm insurance in areas subject to catastrophes and provision for identifying and segregating company assets.

Board members said they are unanimously opposed to the "no-fault" auto insurance plan now before Congress and in effect in Massachusetts.

DRILLERS WANTED — Three deaths in a new water well near Queen City in Cass County brought warning to water well drillers in North-east Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana to beware of escaping nitrogen gas.

Texas Water Development Board issued a warning that a high concentration of nitrogen gas and a lack of oxygen were found in a Cass County well.

Most likely source was found to be a natural condition caused by denitrification of organic matter in sub-surface strata, with entrapment in small reservoirs. A similar condition was found in Marion County.

NEW JOBS ANNOUNCED — Jerome D. Chapman Jr., assistant welfare commissioner, is new president of the 28,000-member Texas Public Employees Association.

George Bolin of Houston is new chairman of the Texas Real Estate Commission.

Tommy V. Smith, commissioner of the state Bureau of Labor Statistics, was named a member of the Selective Service System appeal board for the western federal judicial district.

Newton T. Fisher, retired Dallas police assistant chief, has joined the Texas Criminal Justice Council staff as program coordinator.

COURTS SPEAK — Interest on debts after the death of the borrower may not be deducted in computing the net taxable value of an estate, says the Texas Supreme Court.

In other recent opinions the Supreme Court recided:

• Kentucky Fried Chicken distributors don't have to pay Texas' chain store tax.

• An Odessa woman is entitled to $3,750 damages due to a fall at a drive-in grocery store.

Youth and Religion

by Bill Weeks

These articles from the Louisville Times point out some very important things for us to understand. The first article is part of a section devoted to views and discussions by the youth of the city.
 "Not long ago we appeared on TV with two teens who were asked to air their views on a number of things. The views that most interested us were those on religion."
 "In the past two years, this also has become a pet talking topic with our high-school panel of teen-agers. Such a pet, in fact, that when we suggested a poll, there was not a moan or groan.
 The results, as expected, were fascinating. On the subject of religion, teens are beautifully articulate.
 "I don't know how people in these troubled times can make it without believing in God," said a 15 year old girl. "There doesn't seem to be anyone here on earth who can straighten out this mess. The only thing left is prayer." (I wish more people felt this way).
 "Sixteen of the teen-agers said they believe in God but not in 'organized religion.' (Many young people feel the "Church" has let them down).
 "The church Christ founded wasn't a big, expensive building. It was a simple Christian philosophy based on charity. Today we have buildings and organized charity and very little Christianity. Some churches still don't allow Negroes in the congregation and in our church, it's the people who give large donations who run the church. The rest of the members have very little to say." (I must add that this is, of course a general statement and not always the case.
 "A 17 year old boy can't understand how the church has managed to get so complicated."
 "Christ spoke in parables, yet thousands of books have been written to interpret his messages. You have to go to a seminary and study to become a minister, yet Christ didn't spend years training the apostles, his first ministers. He told them to follow his example. And there is nothing complicated about that. The example he set was brotherhood, caring for and loving your fellow man." (This shouldn't be taken to mean that Christ would not have taught them more if He had more time.)
 Sixty-four of the teens complained because they had no voice in their church.
 "We're supposed to be adult members and yet there isn't a teen on our board and we have no say in planning even the teen programs. Everything is run by adults." (I'm afraid this is true all too often.)
 Three teens brought up the subject of Catholic Church's stand on birth control.
 Said one 16 year old girl: "We have nine children in our family and my mother is nothing but a slave. She's only 46 and looks like she's 60. You can't tell me that God put her here on earth for this. I still think that silly rule is man-made. Neither God nor Jesus Christ ever said anything about birth control." And in one way or another, 90 per cent of the 162 teens who replied to our poll voiced discontent with their churches' lack of involvement. (Our young people in Santa Anna voiced this same feeling).

 "A couple of ministers have participated in sit-ins and such," said one boy, "but this isn't what I mean. How many ministers have actively sought decent housing for Negroes within their own areas? You just can't stand and preach, you have to practice. Today's teens have been called rebels. We're more discontent than rebellious. We'll follow if we have a leader. We're discontent because we have no one to lead us. Here is where the church has failed." (Here is where we, in Santa Anna, who are working with the Christian youth, are trying not to fail).
 There was one word that kept cropping up in letter after letter. Hypocrisy.
 "Adults have weird values. They harp because we teens don't go to church every Sunday. What has going to church to do with Christianity? Most of the adults I know go to church regularly. Yet few of the adults I know are good, practicing Christians. What do they DO besides go to church?" (A very valid question in my estimation).
 And here's our favorite of all the comments. "Religion to me isn't a denomination. It isn't a church. It's a way of life. God is love and He is just. I know that when I die, He isn't going to judge my life by church affiliation. He is going to judge me by what I had done day in and day out to help those who need help."
 "My definition of religion is the same as my definition of friendship. Both are based on love, tolerance, sympathy and always a helping hand. I don't go to church often, but I am ready to account for myself before man." (We should remember it is our Lord we must face on judgment day and not man).

Litter Caused By Laziness

Along one stretch on one of the many scenic Central Texas rivers, sparkling water seeps through the porous limestone riverbed and bubbles up clear and sparkling in potholes along the river's edge.
 But the water in the potholes doesn't sparkle for long because sightseers come to the potholes to stare at their reflections and then dump their garbage in what they obviously think is a natural trash bin.
 Although the area was once unique in its beauty, it is now just one more receptacle for the litterer's tools of trade—the empty bottle and can and the used tissue. To the litterer, it seems, the whole world is a receptacle. He lines the swimming areas with broken beer bottles, and decorates the beach with cans.
 Flies feast on his watermelon rinds left rotting on picnic tables, and even the air is littered with wind-blown paper plates and bread wrappers.
 Who is responsible for what

Keep America Beautiful, Inc., a private organization devoted to fighting litter, calls "a million dollar crime?"
 Although it is attractive to blame outsiders and tourists for all the garbage on the landscape, the truth is, according to KAB, that residents of an area are the ones who foul their own nests with the most. Persons who have made a study of the litter problem say there is one single reason for most of the litter in our parks, lakes and highways—laziness. A can after it is emptied, becomes a tremendous burden even though it weighs approximately three ounces. A candy wrapper which could be wadded up and pocketed to be disposed of later instead flutters to the ground. And the remains of a Sunday picnic raises its stench Monday afternoon just a few feet from the refuse barrel.

THE ASTER STAR FLOWER

Someone has said that flowers should all be named by poets.

The Aster, the stately flower of such dignified beauty, is a native of China. Their name, however, is derived from the Greek word "astra" for star. The attractive flowers range in color from white to dark purple.

Because these flowers bloom at the time of the feast of Michaelmas, they are known in England as Michaelmas Daisies.

Whatever this flower is called, it is still beautiful. All our flowers are beautiful, and we arrange them especially for you—to fill your order.

yardage and first downs. Under the field command of quarterback David Horner, the Mounties drove to the 2 yard line of Early. As luck would have it, the Mounties, first and 10 on the Longhorn 2 yard line, fumbled with Early recovering. Early picked up first down yardage. On the series tough Mountaineer defense held them to a 1 yard, and they punted. Roddy Dean made 11 yards on the series, but again penalties forced the Mounties to punt. Early made a first down on a pass but on the next series had to punt.

On the first play of the series, Rocky Dean plowed his way for 16 yards and a first. Rocky Dean and Horner picked up 9 more. Roddy went up the middle through the entire Longhorn team for 19 yards, but a Mountaineer penalty brought the ball back for 15 yards. Eppler picked up 11 and another first. On the next series the Mounties did not make first down yardage and punted.

Mountaineer defense held, and the Longhorns punted on 4th down. Rocky Dean returned the punt 23 yards to set the Mounties up for a goal line drive. Roddy Dean picked up 9 yards Eppler 27, but again the Mounties drew an illegal procedure penalty. The Dean brothers each picked up 5 yards and a first. With 1:05 remaining in the game and the ball on the Longhorn 15 yard line, Eppler went around left end for the TD. The 2-point conversion was no good.

With 56 seconds left in the game, a determined Mountaineer team held the Longhorns to no score. The Longhorn Homecoming game ended with the Mountaineers victorious 6-0.

The Dean brothers along with Dwight Eppler were offensive standouts this week. Rocky Dean was the leading ground-gainer with 116 yards in 24 carries. Roddy Dean compiled 107 yards in 14 carries, and Eppler 82 yards in 7 carries.

Defensive standouts who did a great job all night stopping the Longhorns were Ricky Beal with 11 tackles; Roddy Dean and Arthur DeLeon with nine each; David Horner with seven; Ronnie Walton with six; Randy Long with five; and Tommy Lewis and Rocky Dean with four each.

Frequent unsung heroes, who sacrifice themselves by blocking to make a way for
