Many local people will be joining the throng of deer and turkey hunters as the season opens this week. Opening day is Saturday, November 12, according to Game Warden Roy Winbourne, not November 13 as was listed in last week's issue.

Parts of Coleman County are eligible for antlerless deer hunting with permits secured by landowners, and much of the county has large numbers of deer this year despite the dry weather of summer and early fall.

If you have wondered why kindergarten teacher Sue Newman hasn't contributed any interesting 'tidbits' for my column this year, there is a good reason. There are 38 children enrolled in the kindergarten class this year, and Sue hasn't had TIME to call with interesting or amusing quotes!

Winter arrived Wednesday morning with temperatures in the mid-30s, quite a change from the balmy weather during recent weeks.

The rainfall this week was welcome and of great benefit to the community.

VFD Making Plans To Add New Equipment For Group

Santa Anna Volunteer Fire Department members are continuing to improve and upgrade their equipment and facilities and are undertaking two projects to improve the department.

With a generous donation received recently from Norman Pautsky and Tom Hudson, oil operators, the VFD will start equipping a truck to fight oil fires such as would occur in the oil fields, at service stations or at accidents of transport trucks. The VFD will use the old Ford truck that has a good pump and will add a tank and nozzles for the use of the special foam for such fires.

Total cost of equipping the truck should not exceed $1,200, with funds to be sought from oil companies operating in the area. There is no other foam equipment available in Coleman County, and the new addition will be of value to the entire area.

The second project is the purchase of two additional Scott air packs that are used while fighting fires in homes or buildings. With the known 170

There is no admission to the grounds that will be open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. each day.

A good crowd attended the first 'Second Friday' event last month, and it is hoped it will become a widely-attended activity.

Tom Newman Is Re-elected

The Santa Anna Post Office will not be closed Friday as they received their holiday Monday, October 24.

different kinds of toxic gasses released in an ordinary home fire, VFD members never go into a burning building without one of the air packs, and they are always used by pairs of firemen.

The local department needs two additional units for a back-up for the original pair. Cost will be approximately $550 each.

VFD members plan to raise funds for this purchase and will start with money raised from the annual chili and stew day slated Saturday, December 10. The fund drive for the air packs is to be separate from the annual membership drive where donations are used for maintenance and other projects.

More Good Rain Received Here

The Santa Anna area received a good rain Monday night and Tuesday morning that is of benefit to yards, fields and pastures. The measurement at the official gauge in Santa Anna was .90 inch.

Also in contests Saturday, Santa Anna twirlers competed in contests with the trio of Dolly DeLeon, Cindy Greenlee and Alice DeLeon receiving a IV rating; Cindy Greenlee received a III in solo twirling. Lisa Rolfe and Holly Smith received II in twirling duo.

Local Author's New Book In City Library

The Santa Anna City Library has purchased and made available the new book, 'Santa Anna's Peak', by Leona Bruce.

Santa Anna's Peak is what map makers called our local mountains a hundred and sixty years ago, and who could undertake the labor of writing about the landmarks and the people in the area with more spirit than Mrs. Bruce, who was born half a mile from them and has lived in Santa Anna most of her life.

This edition deals with the lives of the people and the history of Santa Anna, Coleman County and Texas. Anyone interested in area history will enjoy reading this book that is now available to local people at the City Library.

The library also gets new books every few weeks from Abilene for local patrons to read. There are several large print editions on the shelves at the present time.

If there is a special book you would like to read, the local library will order it for you at no charge.

Library patrons with books over due are asked to return them as soon as possible so they may return to circulation.

Mr. T. A. McDonald of Brownwood, crew leader for the Green Thumb project, was in Santa Anna last Wednesday meeting with workers at City Library. Mrs. Edith Short, area supervisor from DeLeon, was a visitor Monday of this week.

Local people are reminded that City Library is open each weekday from 8 to 12 and from 1 to 5 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bengé To Be Feted on Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bengé will be honored with a reception for their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, November 13, at their home at 1007 Wallis Avenue in Santa Anna. The party will be from 2 to 4 p.m.

Hosts for the occasion will be their children, Mr. and Mrs. James Eubank of Santa Anna, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bengé of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Alton (Buddy) Bengé of Brownwood and Mr. and Mrs. Don Bozeman of New Caney.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend the reception, and the couple requests no gifts, please.

Miss Alta Josephine Cheatham, daughter of Dr. Bert Cheatham and the late Dollie Fowler Cheatham, and Charles Bengé of Millersview were married November 8, 1927 before the microphone of Radio Station KFGI of Ragsdale Auto Company in San Angelo. Beginning at 9:45 p.m.

with unnumbered thousands listening as the 'Voice of West Texas' had been heard in all parts of the nation.

Only relatives and a few invited friends formed the wedding party of about 25 at the Studio. The Rev. M. L. Eaves, director-announcer, officiated. The ceremony was performed in the West Texas Utilities room and the orchestra furnished the pre-nuptial concert. The Baker-Hemphill Company quartet sang.

Its members were Mrs. J. Culberson Deal, Mrs. L. B. Horton, Neal Sanders and A. W. McMillan with Miss Mary Bain Spence as accompanist, with Millard Allen playing the wedding march.

In order to avoid the hundreds in the street, the bride and groom came out an upstairs window when the law thought they were prowlers, but a relative helped the bride down a light pole! Her wedding dress was also a first! Her father had always dreamed of a brocade velvet dress for his daughter's wedding.

The only brocade material to be found was BLACK-- at $17 a yard, and only one yard was found, and it was combined with black satin for a street-length dress!

The orchestra was playing 'My Blue Heaven' as they left the studio and entered the American Cafe -- through the back door to avoid the crowd-- for the wedding dinner.

Religious Groups Seek Support Of Proposed Bill

Communications from Washington, D. C. state that Representative Don Clausen, Republican from California, has endorsed the upcoming 'Religious Freedom Amendment' now scheduled for floor debate in the House of Representatives. He expressed his support in an address before the Autumn Council of the Adventist Church in session recently in Washington, D. C.

Rep Clausen noted that the proposed amendment, H. R. 3384, would allow employees with religious convictions to refuse union membership if it conflicted with their conscience.

'The fact that this (amendment) is being condoned by the U. S. House of Representatives,' stated Rep. Clausen, 'could have an impact on religious freedom in every nation of the world.' He said he had been interested in legislation of this type for 13 years.

Among the religious organizations who have sought a 'conscience clause' regarding union membership, and who stand to benefit by the legislation are the Amish, Ole German Baptists, Plymouth Brethren No. 4, and Seventh-day Adventists. The bill was sponsored by Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., Democrat from New Jersey, and has a wide bipartisan support.

The annual Council drew some 317 delegates from 10 World Divisions as well as 61 local conferences in North America. The Santa Anna Adventist Church was represented by their local conference president, Cyril Miller of Fort Worth.

Good Record For Eradication Of Screwworms

Lab identification of four screwworm samples from animals in four Texas counties during October brought the state's ten-month count to 39, says Dr. M. E. (Cotton) Meadows Jr., director of the USDA Screwworm Eradication Program.

The 39 cases so far this year compare to 27,082 through October a year ago, 150 through October of 1969 and 88 for the same ten-months of 1970. The four cases compare to 7,107 reported in October of 1976.

The four October cases were collected in Willacy, Hildago, Jim Hogg and El Paso counties. Cooler weather is expected to relieve the screwworm threat to far west Texas.

Teaching A Stop-gap Career For HPU Student Teacher

By Terri Knapp

He brings literature to life. He makes the students feel the romance of the sonnet, the bitter conflict between Thomas Becket and King Henry II. Yes, English literature is alive and well at Santa Anna High School.

The man responsible for this sudden fascination with literature is Mr. Morris Williams, a 1973 graduate of Coleman High School and currently a student teacher at SAHS in conjunction with his studies at Howard Payne University. Williams is working toward a BS degree in secondary education at HPU.

The truth of the matter is Mr. Williams does not plan on making teaching his career. His true interests lie in acting and costume designing. Teaching will be his means of supporting himself until he reaches his goal.

His interest in acting and costume designing were influenced while he was working in Ingram doing summer stock. It was there in 1976 he designed his first costumes.

Williams has participated in many plays sponsored by Howard Payne University. He has had many different roles on and off the stage, and has acted, danced, sang and designed costumes for over a dozen plays at HPU.

His hobbies are mostly concerned with the arts. He enjoys music and drama.

Williams will be teaching in the SAHS English Department through December. After his stay here he plans to move from this area and strike out for a career in acting and designing.

Deer Season

Opens Saturday

The upcoming deer season in Texas may be disappointing in some areas.

Surveys by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists and field officers indicate that only two major parts of the state-- East Texas and the South Texas brush country-- are expecting average to better than average deer herds.

The rest of the state, including the heavily hunted Hill Country of the Edwards Plateau, is experiencing a sub-par year due to slight rainfall and resulting food shortage conditions for the deer.

Some areas have already reported deer losses, most notably southwest of San Angelo, where their persistent drought brought starvation conditions in the past month.

Hunters may find it a bit easier to get their deer than usual, as poor range conditions generally cause the animals to be more active than during years of good range conditions.

While most deer herds in the state are holding their own numerically, the weather still could wreck havoc before the end of the season, biologists believe.

Turkeys, on the other hand, have fared slightly better through the summer because they have been able to switch to an insect diet to offset the loss of vegetation through drought.
