Large Still Is Captured In Glasscock

Sheriff Ratliff Arrests One; Gets 50 Gallons Of Liquor

Reports reaching here are that Sheriff Fred Ratliff of Glasscock county recently captured one of the largest whiskey stills found in West Texas in some time.

In addition to eighteen tubs of mash, fifty gallons of liquor and 600 pounds of sugar and groceries sufficient to meet needs of the operators or a month were confiscated.

The still proper was 5 feet in diameter and 2 feet deep. Gasolin torches and other equipment were found. The tubs of mash and other goods were secreted in a ditch with canvas cover.

Location of the plant was about sixteen miles west and six miles north of Garden City.

$22 Added To Scenic Drive Repair Funds

Work Goes Forward With $25 Daily Payroll More Needed

With a payroll of nearly $25 a day, including trucks and a dozer men, work on the repairing of the Scenic Drive on Scenic Mountain is going forward as a result of donations made in the past week by citizens of the city.

B. F. Robbins, who is in charge of the work as a civic project, reports donations of $22 more to the fund Friday.

Considerably more money will be needed to place the driveway in first-class condition from the highway all around the turns and curves and crooks of this beautiful drive to the point where it drops around into Edwards Heights.

Additional donors are Ollie McDaniel, L. M. Brooks, Big Spring Hardware company, Sam Fisher, Mrs. Leslie White, L. C. Burr & Co., J. N. Lane, J. B. Hodges Jr., Wilson & Clark, Rix Furniture Co., Collins Bros., Neil Hatch, Ira Thurman, Hart Phillips, Scott & Bugg, Morrison & Morrison, A. Williams, A. M. Fisher Co., Empire Public Service Company, J. F. Flock, W. L. McKee, Frank Hodnett.

Saturday Classes Not To Be Held In Big Spring Schools

Decision of the city school board is that classes will not be held Saturdays, in order to shorten the session two weeks, it was learned Friday.

The teachers recently suggested in a resolution that, in view of their offer to donate ten per cent of their year's salary in return for each payment of the balance as due, classes be held six days a week to allow them to finish the session earlier.

Several of the teachers later, however, expressed belief the plan would not operate successfully. Unless a later ruling is made no classes will be held Saturdays.

Bandeen Takes Responsibility For Letter Opposing Full Payment Of Soldier Bonus; Protests Numerous

City Affairs Stone's Topic

Candidate For Commissioner Addresses Thursday Meeting

Admonishing his hearers that they either vote for all three or none of them, declaring he favored lower tax renditions, lower salaries and lower water rates," S. B. Stone, candidate for city commissioner in the election to be held Tuesday, April 5, addressed a group of citizens in the district courtroom Thursday evening for more than an hour.

Mr. Stone was the only speaker at a meeting he called earlier in the day in a newspaper advertisement. The "three" the speaker alluded to were himself, R. V. Jones and L. M. Gary, all candidates for the three places to be filled for two-year terms.

Mr. Stone frequently declared (CONTINUED ON PAGE 7)

While protests against a letter from the public expenditures and tax committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce opposing full bonus payment to ex-service men were being received from American Legion posts and ex-service men in all parts of West Texas, D. A. Bandeen, general manager of the organization, accepted full responsibility for the letter, which was mailed from general headquarters at Stamford to local public expenditures and tax committees.

The letter was signed by C. N. Bassett, El Paso, chairman, and Van Zandt Jarvis, Fort Worth, vice-chairman, of the general committee on public expenditures. Bandeen, himself a former soldier who saw overseas service, said he himself initiated the letter, procuring Bassett's approval by wire and Jarvis' in person. It was then dispatched to local tax committees throughout West Texas, affiliated with the central WTCC committee; to directors and to local chambers of commerce.

Bandeen gave the following statement Thursday, his answer to a letter from Roy J. Daniel, commander of Pat Carrigan Post No. 120, Wichita Falls:

"I appreciate your intelligent and thoughtful letter with reference to your position on the bonus soon to come up in Congress.

"Similar communications have been received from other posts. The matter referred to was a communication from our central committee on public expenditures, to various local committees scattered through West Texas towns. A copy of this communication is enclosed.

"Reference made to the soldiers' bonus was instigated by myself and I am responsible for it. The policy-determining agencies of this organization—namely, its directors and members—have in no way declared themselves on the soldier bonus, and the action referred to is merely an inter-committee communication which in no way binds those who are affiliated with us, and upon which our affiliated towns can do as they choose.

"The Government's debt in France and a member of the American Legion, I am responsible for what has been done and have no apology to offer. I don't see why the government owes me anything. They took good care of me during the war, paid me well in comparison to service I rendered, and I saved more money during the time I was in France than I have at any time since. There are many ex-soldiers who feel the same as I do about the bonus. They are against it now and always have been, although they maintain their memberships in the American Legion posts.

"If any patriotism was necessary during the war, surely some patriotism is necessary now. The whole credit and financial structure of the United States is at stake. The national government is operating on an $8,000,000,000 per day deficit. Its proposed budget is $2,000,000,000 greater than its estimated revenues. Taxes are confiscatory, and adding more of them will almost be communism.

"Under these conditions I think I am serving the principles of the American Legion well, by opposing the taking from our national treasury of over $2,000,000,000 to pay me and others for something for which I've already been paid; and I shall continue my efforts in the hope of getting the directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to oppose the bonus.

"Your very truly, (Signed) D. A. Bandeen, 'Manager' Bonus Letter

The Bassett-Jarvis letter was released from Fort Worth Tuesday, after a meeting of the West Texas chamber's central tax and public expenditures committee. Newspaper headlines charging those of the Abilene Reporter and News-said the West Texas Chamber of Commerce had announced its opposition to the bonus bill; but the item itself, the lead to the Bassett-Jarvis letter, showed the action had been confined to those two.

The letter which has aroused such comments is reproduced, in full as follows: To West Texas local Expenditure and Tax Committees, directors West Texas Chamber of Commerce, local chamber of Commerce secretaries, Gentlemen:

The National Government, now with a two billion dollar deficit, must balance its budget by increasing taxes or trimming expenses. Both methods perhaps will be used, but you can depend on it that there will be no material reduction in expenditures unless there is an overwhelming public opinion insisting upon it.

Details of the accident were lacking. Levering was in the Big Lake region in connection with the unloading of an oil well rig. The accident was about 12:30 a. m. Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Levering reside at the Crawford Hotel. Webb, who piloted the ship, is a member of the local American Airways staff.

Baby Alarm! Glasscock County Sheriff 'Suspected' By Cafe Crowd And Cops

Sheriff Fred Ratliff of Glasscock county 'figured' the other day in one of the hundreds of cases where somebody decided they had found the Lindbergh baby.

The sheriff was taking a woman to the state asylum at Wichita Falls. Her baby of about two years and another relative accompanied him. The party stopped at a cafe en route. Somebody decided the baby resembled Little Lindy.

They began questioning Ratliff who told them solemnly that he was from Glasscock county. "Why, let's see, I know that sheriff in Glasscock county well, I'll get in touch with him," said the other officer.

By that time quite a crowd had gathered and Sheriff Ratliff had been quite a lot of fun before he made known his identity and his mission.

Home Town Talk by Betty

This morning our friend, J. L. Mauldin, who has been in the motor stage line business around here longer than anybody handed us this message: Would you kindly say to those who succeeded in getting back places on Highway 9 in Howards and Glasscock county heeded well calculate that I most sincerely appreciate all they did. It is now their turn to command to serve.

Mr. Editor, you and they have a round trip pass on our bus to Saratoga. We request you to accept this any day you wish to go to Saratoga. The report that No. 9 is impassable is past. Jas. L. Mauldin.

Thank you, Mr. Mauldin. We'll certainly take you up on that round trip offer. Been wanting to drop down the "land of running waters" anyway to check up on Blount, Cross, Sara Ashburn, Walcott, Duff, and a few more, not to speak of another and more important little matter we have been hankering to attend to.

Yes, that report was so true recently when a long siege of wet weather made No. 9 impassable at some points between here and Sterling county is true no more.

This afternoon, by the way, we're going to take a jaunt down that way and drive around through the oil field too just to get another look at that wonderful place at Big Spring's door which we all ought to do everything we can to protect and develop.

We take it that Edmund Lowe, the district maintenance supervisor, working under our old friend, J. B. Early, state maintenance engineer, for the highway department is chiefly responsible for the fact that cables have been taken from beside the right-of-way and placed on No. 9.

Our county commissioners court has notified Judge Ely, chairman of the highway commission, that it will be ready to provide necessary right-of-way as soon as the state engineers finish their survey for No. 9 from Big Spring to the Glasscock county line. When the survey is finished the right of way will be obtained, then the state will let the contract for building grade and drainage structures — culverts.

Uncomfortably Close

IN THE main, the republican party is considered dry and the democratic party wet. Perhaps that impression has been given by such as vociferous wet democrats as Al Emlin and John J. Raskob. That it is unjustified by the fact was clearly shown in the house of representatives Monday, when the first straight cut vote on the prohibition question found 97 republicans and 90 democrats voting in opposition, showing that although they are a majority in the house, the democrats are a minority in wet sentiment.

It was the first ballot directly affecting the eighteenth amendment since the Volstead act was adopted 1919. Even the wets were surprised at the strength they were able to muster, 187 votes to the dry's 227.

The vote was on a technical question involving discharge of a committee which had been considering a modification bill. Had it been on a direct move to submit the eighteenth amendment to the states, the wets would have been even more hopelessly beaten. Submission requires a two-thirds majority in both houses.

In spite of the strong wet showing made in this instance, the dry has little cause for worry about repeal. As long as they can muster 145 votes they can block submission of repeal.

But the wets' chief hope probably lies in revision of the Volstead act.
Just how it can be revised and still remain valid under the eightteenth amendment remains to be seen. But the truth is that with 181 votes in their vest pockets, so to speak, the wets are drawing uncomfortably close to that bare majority which would enable them to rewrite the Volstead act. In this particular, the dry has cause for worry and the wets have cause for renewed efforts.

BOY CRAZY
by GRACE PERKINS

SYNOPSIS: Marriage to Rusty Crandall seems dull to Hope Ross when she remembers her elopement with Dickey Dale. She never wanted her marriage to Dickey annulled, but her father took advantage of her being under legal duress and persuaded her that Dickey regretted the marriage.

Chapter 28
"I HAVEN'T ANY PRIDE"
"I don't know how you can be so sure of your own trousseau. Occasionally pieces here and there. But the shopping list all tangle as Mama Ross and Goody began to take it over in an experienced manner, running all out of bounds with their ideas of a nice, happy wedding as day-went by. With a safe feeling, quiet satisfaction in Rusty's tender possessiveness. A strange comfort in the thought that she was being loved and taken care of.

Her engagement was officially announced in September, just a few weeks before Judy's wedding was to be performed. And Hope went about with a flashlight on her finger at last, a new diamond brooch at her bosom, and a strange buzzing in her head.

All and would have been well very well indeed. Were it not for another newspaper announcement right alongside of her own in the Times. Another announcement that caused Hope to go weak with panic with a painful flash of hot excitement through her blood.

Eileen Argyle, her picture beside the announcement (a nice picture of a nice, paddy-like face), admitted that her engagement to Richard J. Hickson Dale was postponed indefinitely.

Now what difference would that make to Hope? None at all! None whatsoever! What possible concern could it be of hers?

And yet...
There was a sharpness in Rusty's voice when he called up an hour later and asked Hope to luncheon There was an unhappy questioning in Rusty's eyes as she sat opposite him and avoided his direct glance smiling broadly and chatting continuously... Rusty had seen it in the paper, and Rusty knew she had seen it, and Rusty wondered ... Poor Rusty! She mustn't let him be hurt.

Desperately Hope forced herself to be in love. Earnestly she set out to prove to everyone how truly happy she was with Rusty. Until the worried light died down from the eyes all around her that had seen the two announcements side by side in the Times... And Mama and Papa, and Goody, and Rusty were satisfied at last—and silently thankful.

Nervously she refused to set a date for her own wedding with Rusty, begging him to wait until Rusty's excitement was over and she had time to think. With boundless energy Hope threw herself into the maelstrom of Judy's wedding to the boy who had cast away his E-fla-xophone and engaged a publicity expert.

And then, the night before Judy's wedding, Hope found one last item in the newspapers—merely a line in Winchell's delicious gossip column that Hickey Dale and son were "in mal-de-mor on the Paris manyana."

It struck Hope, that simple statement, like a bolt of lightning into Hope's unconquerable soul! It was as if she had been waiting for something just like that! Dickey was it all on the same boat that Judy would take! The same boat—going off with his father...

Further arguments were useless.
Hope saw that herself bore three highballs and thirty cigarettes were consumed as she paced her floor.

No use trying to think things out.
There wasn't any answer to all the endless questions—no use to do anything except what you want to do. What you had to do—regardless of the cost!

Quite calmly Hope made her plans. Quite calmly the next day she marched down the aisle behind Judy and Thomas Post as maid-of-honor. Without arousing the slightest suspicions, she slipped two of her own suitcases in with Judy's trousseau. And in the evening will check and passport in her purse and Saasy under her arm. Hope got into her roadster and followed Tom Post's car into New York "to see Judy off on the boat!"

In her heart was only one wild desire. One thought that drowned out every shameful guilty feeling that beat in the back of her mind if she could just see Dickey! Any-if by any chance she felt as she knew she would feel at the sight of him...

Then devil take all her sins! An-might everyone forgive her for the wretched treatment she was giving him. Too unspcakably bad! But Rusty would be hurt, but sometimes people weren't responsible for what they do, or how they feel...

With a jerk, Hope stopped her car in a garage near the wharve and fled out to the curb to call a taxi. Down to the boat she went riding her way through the crowds inquiring where Judy's stateroom might be.

And suddenly, just when she least expected it, Hope caught sight of Dickey. Right in the center of the grand salon, which was crowded with excited voyagers and their friends, she caught sight of him and stopped short. Stared over at the tall, erect figure, the unmistakable broad shoulders, the sternly cut profile of the tanned and handsome face, the smoothly combed shock of curly hair... Heard his laugh...

And caught swiftly at a chain beside her to steady the sweeping glorious, dizzying feeling that came over her... She did feel the same—only more so!

Still she stared, unable to move, until as if drawn by a magnet Dickey glanced about and recognized her. She saw a jagged sea-saw across his right cheek, and jaw and wondered if it were the result of a football accident... There was surprise, and then a tightening of his lips and a calculated and determined indifference in Dickey's glance... In a second he had turned away and at the same moment Hope saw Hickey's back.

"He doesn't want to recognize me," she mumbled to herself excitedly. "But I won't mind. I won't let it matter. He's made up his mind not to recognize me. But he'll recognize me all right before the voyage is over!"

She turned swiftly and wended her way to the corridor of Judy's stateroom.

"I haven't any pride," she kept telling herself. "But I don't care. I have got pride. Too much pride not to make one big whale of a whack for love."

She found Judy's room and listened to herself saying good-by all over again.

With the last following blast of the ship's siren, Hope left Judy gave her one last hug of good-by bleating. But she didn't get off the boat. Small matter how her heart was beating. She just wouldn't get off the boat.

Hope proposes an amazing plot to Judy tomorrow, and the candidate is under way.

Property Note. Austin last week crossed the $1,000,000 mark in building permits for the year, first city in the state to do so. The lead Austin won was one of statewide interest and pride, because of the whole state is putting to the nine university buildings which lifted the record so high... With loosened credit, with unprecedented low costs of construction, other cities will sure to spurt forward in a keen and interesting race in public and business construction for the rest of the year.

W. Gregory Hatcher, who served six years as state treasurer, proposes to run for railroad commissioner this year. If there is an open race for the seat which Pat M. Neff is to resign... If Governor Neff waits too long for the race to be open for the primaries, Mr. Hatcher likely will be a candidate for comptroller-at-large.

Dealers say they can tell no difference in the volume of cigarette sales, despite the three-cent state tax on each package... If there has been less than generally would have been indicated by reducing buying in all lines... The truth is that the state is getting subst-stantial revenue from this source and the buyers, those who have the right to pay the tax or not—they choose, are offering little objection to the levy.

No more than you hear from those who buy gasoline and pay four cents a gallon state tax with-

Do YOU Know The ANSWERS?

YOU should! For only by knowing TODAY'S market offerings and their various prices can you possibly spend your daily household allowance to greatest advantage. Without accurate knowledge of the correct answers to these questions you cannot pass an "examination" in the "class" of household economy with flying colors.

And really, this vitally necessary information is so easily acquired. A moment or two a day, spent in carefully reading your "text book" (the advertisements in this newspaper) and you learn not alone what the day's markets afford, but exactly where the items you want and need may be obtained TODAY at the most advantageous prices. These advertisements are published as your guide to economy. You owe it to the family purse to "study" them and thereby enjoy all the benefits they offer.

Watch the Food Pages Every Friday

THE Friday edition of this newspaper contains the weekly FOOD SECTION . . . On this day, particularly, the manufacturers of nationally known food products as well as the local merchants dealing in all manner of food-stuffs call YOUR attention to their offerings. Form the habit of reading these pages regularly. You'll be agreeably surprised at the savings such reading makes possible.

Roasting "a little at a time" . . . Instead of in bulk . . . gives absolute protection against under-roasting and over-roasting

You simply can't keep away from a steaming, fragrant cup of Hills Bros. Coffee! Its marvelous flavor is due to Hills Bros' patented Controlled Roasting process.

St. Thomas Catholic Church Due to the absence of many of the members of the choir, the regular Easter Mass anthem will not be sung this year at St. Thomas Catholic Church, announced Mrs. Max Boyd, director of the music.

Father Francis announces that services will also be held at 9 o'clock at the Church of the Sacred Heart by the Rev. Gerard Mongeau, of San Antonio, on Easter morning.

First Presbyterian The Knights Templar will hold an Easter service at the First Presbyterian Church with W. B. Lenox of Abilene, past grand commander of the Oklahoma grand lodge as the speaker Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Both the Big Spring and Midland commanderies will participate in the service and many are expected from Abilene.

The Rainbow Girls will meet the local Knights at the church at 10:45 and march in with them.

St. Paul's Lutheran The Easter services will be the regular Easter gospel at 11 o'clock and the singing of Easter hymns. Church of Christ Sunday services at the Church of Christ will be conducted by an Abilene Christian college speaker.

First Baptist Church No special music has been announced for the First Baptist Church, except the singing of the anthem, "Christ Arose." Due to the death of J. E. Pond, a member of that choir, all plans for special music have been cancelled.

Amateur Detective Trails Confidence Men To Kansas City KANSAS CITY, Mo., (UP)—Three men were held here today awaiting extradition to Texas because an amateur detective from Fort Worth, seeking to recover a $250 investment, trailed them thru three states and finally overtook them here.

The amateur detective was R. L. Van Blarcom, of Fort Worth, who trailed the trio for a month. Authorities here and W. H. Willoughby of Fort Worth spent $250 for the right to open sandwich shops in thirteen Texas counties.

The partners then went to Waco, Tex. He said, and spent three weeks preparing to open. C. L. Smith failed to appear with the promised equipment, he alleged.

Van Blarcom followed the men to Dallas, then to Houston and finally to Oklahoma City. There he found they had left an unfinished shop.

Finally he read an advertisement showing Kenneth W. Smith was doing business in Kansas City. He came here with D. H. Rhodes, deputy sheriff from Fort Worth, bringing warrants for arrest of the men. Deputies here made the arrests.

EL PASO TEX., (UP)—Salvador France Urias, local attorney, claimed the world record for securing divorces after obtaining the shattering of the bonds of wedlock for 23 American couples in a single day.

"Show me a Reno lawyer who can beat that," said France Urias. The divorces were shattered in Justice courts under the new Chihuahua East divorce law.

FRIEND TOLD HIM ABOUT ALL-BRAN And It Brought Relief From Constipation Those who are bothered with constipation should read Mr. Gelpke's unsolicited letter:

"I have suffered with constipation for years. A friend of mine told me to try ALL-BRAN. I have taken ALL-BRAN for the past six weeks at a breakfast food. It has regulated my bowels as clockwork. Now I would not be without a package at all times."—Mr. Leslie Gelpke, 278 Ridgewood Ave., Newark, N. J.

Common constipation—with its headaches, loss of appetite, sleeplessness—is due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines. Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. Both are present in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Being a natural corrective, ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming.

Try ALL-BRAN in place of pills and drugs—so often harmful. Just eat two tablespoons daily—serious cases with every meal. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

In the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Baked Beans Fine Substitute For Meat On Lenten Menus

Because they are rich in protein, Baked Beans, may take the place of meat in the menu. The food iron and other minerals in Baked Beans make them worthy of the high position they receive in the food world. Nutritionists advise us to include more Baked Beans in the week's menus, as they recognize Baked Beans an economical source of many valuable food elements.

In the Lenten season when many meals are served without meat, recipes for preparing this valuable food in easily-made dishes are especially interesting. Here are some appetizing recipes for all.

Oven Baked Beans in Green Pepper Cases: Wash four large green peppers, cut in half lengthwise and remove seeds. Place in boiling water and allow to stand for five minutes to remove sting from the peppers. Fill with Oven Baked Beans (1 medium can) sprinkle with buttered Rice Flakes or crumbs, place in a deep baking dish, add 1/4 cup water and bake in a moderate oven until peppers are tender and the crumbs brown. Serves 4.

Tomato Welsh Rarebit With Kidney Beans: Melt 4 tablespoons butter in a saucepan, remove from fire and mix with 4 tablespoons flour. Scald 2 cups milk and stir into the butter and flour. Season with 1/2 teaspoon salt and dash of pepper. Cook in a double boiler until the mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Beat in 1-1/2 cups grated American cheese, and when the cheese melts, add 1-3 cup Tomato Ketchup and drained Oven Baked Red Kidney Beans (1 medium can) and allow beans to heat through. Serve on slices of hot toast or biscuit. Serves 6.

New England Roast With Tomato Sauce: Mash 1 medium can Oven Baked Red Kidney Beans or put through food chopper. Mix with 1 cup soft crumbs, 1 cup grated cheese, 1 medium size onion, chopped fine, 1-2 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce, 1-2 teaspoon salt and 1 egg. Bake in a greased baking dish in moderate oven until firm and nicely brown. Serve with Tomato Sauce. Serves 6.

Tomato Sauce: Melt 1 tablespoon butter, add 1 tablespoon flour and blend thoroughly. Add 3-4 cup milk slowly and cook until thickened. Add 1-4 cup Tomato Ketchup gradually and remove from fire.

Baked Tomatoes Stuffed With Oven Baked Beans: Scald and peel 6 large tomatoes, and cut a slice from the top of each and scoop out inside. Turn upside down to drain. Chop, and 6 slices finely cut bacon, if desired. When slightly brown, add to 1 medium can Oven Baked Beans and the drained pulp from the inside of the tomatoes. Season with salt and pepper and fill the tomato shells. Bake in a moderate oven until the tomatoes are tender. Tomatoes prepared in this way look lovely and make a substantial supper dish. Serves 6.

(Continued from Page One) plications and Senator Wesley L. Jones, chairman of the Senate committee on appropriations. We believe individual communications are more effective than formal resolutions. Let's eliminate all uniformity in these letters, but let's write giving our views in an effective fashion about the necessity in curbing expenses. If you have personal opinions as to where economies can be effected, be explicit in the matter. Please send the Stamford office copies of any communications you may send.

The government's budget not yet appropriated for, is over four billion dollars while our present revenues are estimated at two billion. This does not include the soldier's bonus which is being agitated and which is favored by many of our Congressmen in spite of the plights of taxpayers and the necessity of balancing our budget. The only way to cut the federal budget and stop the soldier's bonus is through congress. Let's do our part and let congress know what we think.

Yours very truly, C. N. Bassett Chairman, Central Committee on Public Expenditures and Taxation, 100 Van Zandt Jarvis.

Vice-Chairman, The resolution of Eugene Bell

Post No. 82, of Baird, signed by A. L. Johnson, adjutant, said: "We are of the opinion that the West Texas chamber of commerce could be of greater service than in that of opposing ex-service men who are trying to collect an admitted compensation justly due them."

Challenge Action

"We furthermore challenge the action of the committee on public expenditures and taxation in expressing the opinion of the majority of the members of the W. T. C. C. on this particular question. A large per cent of the support of local chambers of commerce comes from ex-service men. Does the W. T. C. C. desire the continued support of the smaller organization, or does it prefer to weed them out? "Statistics furnished by prominent senators and congressmen show that payment of the compensation at this time is an economic move and will not increase taxes. Therefore we urgently request the W. T. C. C. to support the payment of the soldiers' bonus compensation in full at this time."

Home City

The county's only cost will be the right-of-way. Been tellin' you this crude oil market was bound to get better before long. Prospects now are that higher price will be posted right away for Howard, Glascock, Ector, et al. crude. A 35 fifteen cents a barrel to the market price here and you'll see a great revival of drilling out here.

Everything has been pointing more and more to a new "play" in West Texas. Large companies have been buying in wildcat areas such as Gaines, Andrews, Crockett and other counties. Jordan county, too, is liable to get some testing. And it wouldn't surprise us much if one of the best fields in West Texas were not opened north here not so many miles.

City

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) that he had "a program" to put into effect, pointing out that the program could not be put into effect unless Mr. Jones and Mr. Gray also were elected.

The first part of the address was a review of the speaker's life in and near Big Spring, over a period of 40 years. He said he had never held office except as a county commissioner and as secretary of the local school board. He related his opposition to municipal bond issues voted here two years ago, declaring that "this bond business has got it stop."

"I said then and I say now that I wouldn't have a man laboring for the city for less than $5 per day," said Mr. Stone. "I'd take it of these high salaries and give it to the poor folks."

"If you'll get out here and work for us boys we'll revolutionize this town," he continued. He said water rates were too high "I paid $4.5 last month," he said.

"We don't do our washing either I say to the ladies up there in the city office that I voted to buy the waterworks from Mr. Alderman, but not to make money out of it, but to give the people the benefit of it. They've made capital of this waterworks. If it wasn't for the water department you couldn't get a man to be city manager here because that's where the money's coming from."

"Last Chance" "This is the last time you'll ever have a chance to oppose these Chamber of Commerce fellows. I'm not a member of that organization. It muddles in the affairs of Big Spring. The Chamber of Commerce got $3 from me once and I've always regretted it," he continued.

"I'm going to vote against every bond issue that is ever put up in Big Spring, and Howard put up in Build No. 9! My God, The highway commission of Texas is the biggest graft in the world."

Stone expressed opposition to the city manager form of city government. He said he did not know that he didn't "hate him for taking $400 a month. I'd take it too if I were him."

"You must get out and fight for us. The number here tonight won't elect me. The Chamber of Commerce is well-organized. There are some here tonight who are going to elect me. But I've got some true friends. I never was much of a joiner. I never pushed anything except the Ku Klux Klan. You know that. Boy, I did push that thing until Ma Ferguson stabbed us in the back."

"I agree with W. K. Henderson that there is just one man who can lead the Democratic party to victory and that is 'Alfalfa Bill' Murray."

Mrs. Lawrence Is Buried Here

Funeral services were to be held at 5 p. m. Friday from the Eberly Chapel for Mrs. Annie Lawrence, mother of M. C. Lawrence and Mrs. A. N. Stephens, of Big Spring, who died Thursday evening at the Stephens home, 606 Lancaster street.

She is survived by her husband, the son and daughter here, a daughter, Mrs. Oia Fulton of Longview, daughter, Mrs. P. G. Cassidy of Dallas, and a son, Jim Lawrence. A brother, C. C. Landers, of Abilene also survives.

Funeral services were to be conducted by J. D. Harvey of the Church of Christ at Colorado and O. L. Lindley of the First Christian church here.

By The Sign Of The Flying Geese, 'Tis Time To Start Spring Housecleaning

Spring is here! Undeniably and irrevocably - If not eventually! The geese are flying north. They went croaking over the city in the best U. S. army formation Thursday afternoon about 5:30, or thereabouts.

It is time now for the mesquite to bud. (By the way, the mesquite around San Antonio rushed the season this year and were in blossom before the freeze got over the north.)

Just let a few more geese fly over and let someone discover a speck of green on a mesquite and then every housekeeper can start on her cleaning spree. Howard county will know by these tokens that spring has come to stay and that old man winter has been kicked out of the back door for nine good long months.

But, better postpone cleaning until after Easter, says the local airport weather authority. Easter, 1932, is not to be a Sunday on which to wear thin, short-sleeve sleeves, he says; but rather the reliable knitted three-piece suit.

Organized Labor Wins Long Fight

WASHINGTON (UP) - Organized labor has won a 10-year campaign to restrict the power of federal courts to interfere in its disputes with employers.

Victory came when President Hoover last night signed the Norris-LaGuardia anti-injunction bill. The new law severely curtails use of injunctions in labor disputes. It virtually outlawa "yellow dog" contracts in which employees agree not to join labor unions. Under the new law, federal courts are forbidden to issue injunctions restricting third parties from persuading employes to violate such contracts.

Freedom of the press also is strengthened by a provision under which editors cited for contempt may demand a jury trial before another court. Formerly editors were tried by the same judge who cited them.

Former Football Star Dies Of Rat Poison

The Crucified Sermon Subject

The subject of the sermon announced for Friday night at the revival at the First Christian Church is "The Crucified." The revival will continue through the Sunday night service, closing with an evangelistic service following the Easter Cantata to be given by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Omar Pittman.

The attendance at the revival has shown a steady increase with each service. Last night the pastor, Rev. D. R. Lindley, presented a message on the subject "Slain With Slander." Choosing his text from Matthew 26:59 "The chief priests and the whole council sought to bear false witness against him," he said: "Jesus was crucified by the sin of malicious slander. Before his death could be permitted even with a mock trial before a Roman tribunal some sort of charge had to be made against him. Since he had done nothing wrong, false charges had to be made. This malicious slander was of two kinds. The first witnesses absolutely invented their charges, invented their lies, but their charges bore no weight because they had no agreement among themselves. The second witnesses came forward with something that Jesus had actually said, but gave to his words a meaning which he had never intended. They represented him. Of the two, the latter plan is the more insidious and by far the more dangerous. The slander which is crucifying Jesus afresh today is that of misrepresentation."

Bill, a senior in Coahoma, will also probably romp to the championship as he has romped for the last two years, and if he brings along a doubles partner will more than likely take off the doubles also. An exhibition between the Bulldogs netters and the Steer racquet would be a good idea also. Don't look alarmed, we have lot of ideas this morning.

April 2 will find the Steer cinder artists pastiming in Concho land where football teams are famous for their "moral victories" and the basketball quintets are known chiefly because they have five men in uniform just like any other club. Midland will also be on hand, and somewhere or other the Midland lad believe they'll make a better showing than they did on their own soil. Ben Daniels, if you hadn't heard it before, is now a resident of Colorado but acting upon Ohio Bristol's orders is not coaching a football team over there. Ben, however, cannot keep away from a practice field, and therefore is full of gassy concerning the Colorado Wolves in 1931, which will not be so gassy if you don't mind the pessimism Jim Cantrell seems to have taken over the reins at a bad time, as did Hardy Pierce.

Cantrill stated, so Ben tells us that in his opinion the rule pertaining to participation of high school athletes on independent teams playing over high school, will stand up, which of course means that such Mustangs as Ney Sheridan, Speigel Woods, and Gene Strother will be missing from the Sweetwater lineup next year. Which will be bad, very bad, and no doubt will provoke many expressions of regret from District 3 fans.

A note from Bannister confirmed that written by Miss Harding.

HOUSE REJECTS AMENDMENT WASHINGTON (UP) - The house rejected amendment of Representative Cullen of New York providing 3-cent tax per pint on 2.75 per cent beer in pending revenue bill.

Jess Willard, huge heavyweight champion of yesteryear, steps out of the sunset and challenges either Jack Dempsey or Jack Johnson in an exhibition boxing match - Willard is every bit of fifty years old and carries a load of three hundred pounds - he was holding the heavyweight title of the school when he went to the head of the class in first grade reading - and he didn't hold his pedestal much longer than we do ours.

Baseball - the world's greatest sport: Baseball.

Jimmy Kitts, who coached Athen. High to a brace of national championships or maybe it was three or more or maybe less, has agreed to tutor the boys down at Rice Institute. He succeeded "Pug" Daugherty, who had submitted his resignation a week ago. And it was just last that the Athens lads entered North Carolina State. Tush tush. Such slush.

Billy Petrolle, known as "The Fargo Express," rolled on to a dark horse victory over the Fighting Irish in the boxing match - Willard is every bit of fifty years old and carries a load of three hundred pounds - he was holding the heavyweight title of the school when he went to the head of the class in first grade reading - and he didn't hold his pedestal much longer than we do ours.

British Self-Confidence

LONDON, March 16, (Own destiny.)

To come to London today after visiting the Continent is to find oneself in a different mental world. The mood of the Continent, it has seemed to me, was essentially fatalistic; men feel themselves in the grip of forces that are beyond their control. That does not mean that they despair. On the contrary, I was astonished to find how generally the people in each country think they are weathering the storm rather better than their neighbors. But the mood of the Continent whether it be gloomy or cheerful or resigned is passive. Public men do not expect to do more than ride out the storm. But in Great Britain there is a different feeling. These islanders have worked themselves up to a pitch of high confidence in their power to manage events. They are, I imagine, the only people in the capitalist world who actually feel that they can make large plans and carry them out; that they are the masters to some degree of their

In seeking explanations for this great psychological change in Great Britain two main causes seem to stand out. The British people feel that they took an exceptionally heroic course in the way they taxed themselves to balance their budget. The fact that their sacrifices have been followed by some real improvement in trade has seemed to give the whole nation the kind of exhilaration which comes not only from doing a good deed but from being loudly applauded and well paid for it at the same time. Psychologically, it does not matter whether the economic improvement is due only in part to the fiscal heroism of the people and in large measure the depreciation of sterling the continuing deflation of gold prices, the miraculous outpouring of the Indian gold hoards and the Chinese boycott of Japanese textiles. In the sequence of events things took a decided turn for the better immediately after the British people decided for or-odox financial righteousness. The effect has been to make them feel that their own courage in the cause of their own success. That is naturally immensely stimulating to their confidence. . . . The other great cause of hopefulness is that the British people are enchanted by the untried possibilities of protection. One of the great advantages of their change from free trade to protection has been that it was a radical change: Any one is therefore entitled to believe it is a change for the better. But it is not only the change which is exhilarating. There is also the feeling that at last Great Britain is armed to make herself felt in the economic war which is waging in the world. My own impression is that Britain is not yet a really protectionist country. It will come to the latter when protection has created vested interests. Today, Britain is a country which is really aiming at top things. At forcing other countries to lower their tariffs on a basis of reciprocity, and at creating a sheltered market within the empire. I don't suppose that the policy is as yet fully formulated. But it looks very much as if Britain might turn to the idea of establishing tariffs at three levels. A moderate tariff, say 10 per cent, for any nation agreeing not to make a higher tariff against British goods; less than 10 per cent as an imperial preference for the dominions if they give equal advantages; and finally really high tariffs on the American or French pattern for nations which do not agree to the reciprocal low tariff standard. This general scheme is not that of the government but it represents the point of view of what might fairly be called center protection and it might prevail if the ultraprotectionists in the Tory party do not get out of hand. At any rate whether or not the general scheme I have sketched is adopted in British policy of this much we may be sure: It is now the intention of the British people to use their economic power as they have not used it for a century. They are exhilarated at the prospect. They greatly enjoy the idea of making protectionist countries realize what tariffs feel like to the outsider. They like the new power they exercise in Europe. And so they feel quite sure of themselves. Their internal confidence is reflected back to them from the continent. Not only is there a return of funds into sterling and a general bullishness about Britain, but also there is unmistakable evidence of an enormous recovery of political prestige. One must not be misled by the apparent weakness of Sir John Simon's diplomacy in dealing with Japan. This is a Tory imperialist government which at bottom sympathizes with Japanese action in Manchuria. The real measure of British prestige is that on the continent all the Scandinavian countries, Italy and Germany, are moving within the ambit of British economic and financial action. There can be no question whatever as to the reality of the British influence in Europe. The position of last summer, when it almost seemed as if London had ceased to command that Paris was supreme, no longer holds. Paris is still very powerful and it would be egregious folly to underestimate its strength. But Great Britain has resumed its ancient position among the powers of Europe.

The party planned to proceed to Knoxville, Tenn., where all the groups will unite Friday, then enter Kentucky and spread out thru Harlan and Bell counties until Sunday when they will return. Why So Many Take BLACK-DRAUGHT

THESE are good reasons why so many people prefer Theodor's Black-Draught — why it is their favorite laxative: They like its thorough, cleansing action. They like that "better feeling the next morning" — a refreshed feeling after the release of intestinal poisons. And the low cost of Black-Draught is another point in its favor. You are really buying medicine when you buy Black-Draught, as the sealed container, in which the medicine is sold, costs only a small fraction. Its light weight has saved expensive freight bills. Black-Draught is packaged, weighed and sealed by machines. It can be sold for less because of these savings in your favor. Sold at drug stores. TRADE MARK

THE SHOPPING TOUR OF Rambhai Barni

Her name is Rambhai Barni, and her husband is the only absolute monarch left in the world. She has more jewels than the sky has stars, and nothing is unattainable to her if money will buy it.

But even Rambhai Barni can't find in Siam all the luxuries that her feminine heart delights in. And when she came to the United States last spring she had the pleasure of a real American shopping trip... from which she returned with seventy-eight pairs of American silk stockings and fifty-five pairs of American kid gloves.

How much more fortunate the American woman is! She doesn't have to buy a year's supply of stockings... or of anything else... all at once. She buys only as she needs or wishes, confident that the best the entire world can produce is offered for her choice today, tomorrow, or next month.

And advertising is her buying guide. Through advertising she learns what is new, smart, fashionable. Through advertising she discovers where her money can be spent most advantageously. Advertising is a real and useful influence in her life. There's something in the advertisements today to interest you. Read them.
