Re-investigation for Texas Old Age Com.

AUSTIN, Nov. 10.—Our definite responsibility is to get assistance to the needy aged, and no deserving applicant or pension recipient in Texas should be afraid that we will overlook him, said Acting Director Orville S. Carpenter, of the Texas Old Age Assistance Commission, today, explaining re-investigation procedure required by the new pension statute.

The new law, House Bill 8, takes away requirements concerning property, cash ownership, and income as bases for determining eligibility. Entire basis of the new assistance law is the need of the individual. Aid contributed by other individuals, whether cash or free rent, free board, free medical care, or clothes, must be taken into consideration.

Later Investigation
"At present we are busy segregating cases in which recipients show no cash in the bank, no property owned, and no other income except that from the Commission. These cases will not be re-investigated until later because the old people would evidently be in need if they were off the rolls," Carpenter declared.

House Bill 8 requires that all recipients now on the rolls be re-investigated.
Investigated Immediately
"We have started already re-investigating each recipient on the rolls whose eligibility under the new law is doubtful because he has income, property, or is receiving assistance from some individual. However, it should be remembered that we will look at each of these cases with the question in mind: "Is this old person in necessitous circumstances?" he added.

Those Not On Rolls
"Of the applicants whose cases have not been investigated, or now are in the process of investigation, we will ascertain those whose applications reflect need and then get to them first. Many of our policies will be determined by the fact that winter is coming and that the needy aged must be taken care of now and not six months from now.

"The evident intent of the Legislature was that assistance must go to the needy aged, and we will see that they get their grants as soon as possible," Carpenter stated.

Concho, Brazos Flood Victims Cared For By Red Cross

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 10.—The American Red Cross early this week completed rehabilitation work among the 9,000 victims of the Concho valley and Brazos river floods of late September. This announcement was made today by Wm. M. Baxter, Jr., the agency's midwestern area manager, who placed total Red Cross expenditures at $141,915. Of this amount $47,277 was subscribed by Texas citizens, the remainder being appropriated by the National Red Cross.

Driving thousands of families from their homes when it left its banks on September 17, the Concho river seriously flooded parts of five counties. Two-thirds of the damage, however, was confined to San Angelo, where 800 homes were demolished or damaged by the flood. At Lampasas 200 residents were struck. Altogether 1,098 families turned to the Red Cross for assistance in this disaster, Baxter said.

Waco bore the brunt of the Brazos river flood of September 27. Falls county also felt the effects of this overflow but damage was not heavy. The Red Cross helped 1,057 families, most of whom resided in Waco. Since only 170 homes were seriously damaged, the task of rehabilitation was not as heavy as in the Brazos river flood, Baxter pointed out. Here the relief agency cooperated with the State Health Department in an immunization program.

In a statement to the 236 Red Cross chapters in Texas, Gov. James V. Allred last week called upon the citizenship to support the national organization in its November 11 to 26 Roll Call. His office cooperated closely with the Red Cross throughout both disaster operations.
"As you know," said Gov. Allred, "the existence of the Red Cross is dependent upon individual membership, enrolled annually during the organization's Roll Call. The objective this fall for Texas is 154,000 members. Attainment of this goal calls for a substantial increase over last year's enrollment, which totaled 120,426. Not only as governor of our state, but also as an individual citizen, I sincerely hope that no effort will be spared in keeping the Red Cross at full strength by the achievement of our state membership objective."

Arguments for League Debate Published By State U.
AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 12.—Publication of a three hundred page bulletin presenting arguments for both sides of the munitions question, the topic for the Interscholastic League debate, has been announced by the Bureau of Public School Interests of The University of Texas, under whose direction the League functions. Judging from the orders received daily from the schools, many high school debate squads are now busily engaged in a study of the advisability of government ownership of the munitions industry.

Supplementing the material which the Bureau has issued, copies of the Report of the Special Committee on Investigations of the Munitions Industry, United States Senate, in five volumes and containing in all about one thousand pages, are available for the competing schools, it was stated by Roy Bedichek, chief of the Bureau. This report is made available for member-schools free of charge through the courtesy and interest of Senator Tom Connally. Senator Connally's radio address, entitled "Take the Profit out of War," is also available to member-schools free on request. Application for these publications must be made, however, either by the principal or the debate coach.
Besides these helps, Prof. Thomas A. Rousse, debate coach of The University of Texas, will conduct a column each month in the Interscholastic League, monthly publication of the Bureau, devoted to an analysis of the question, Mr. Bedichek said.

Mrs. Doris McDermott returned last week from Snyder where she visited for about three weeks in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Altus Bowden.
Mrs. T. K. Martin and little son of Abilene and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cook of Galveston visited Mr. and Mrs. Chap Eeds last weekend.

Favorable Weather Said to Bring Increase in Cotton Yield

Estimate Of Crop As Of Nov. 1 791,000 Bales Larger Than October 1

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Department of Agriculture Monday reported an increase of 791,000 bales in the estimated cotton crop of this year, bringing the total to 12,400,000 bales on Nov. 1 as compared with an estimated yield of 11,609,000 bales a month earlier.
The marked increase in prospective outturn results from fall weather that has been almost ideal for the maturing and picking of the crop, the Crop Reporting Board said.

The crop estimators said that when average fall weather conditions prevailed there was usually some loss of open cotton in the fields, but this season practically no losses of this kind have occurred.
Delay in arrival of frost this year was said to have permitted the maturing of a large portion of the late bolls which were in danger a month ago, in the Carolinas, and along the northern part of the Cotton Belt.

Last year's production was 10,638,000 bales and the five-year (1928-32) average was 14,667,000 bales.

Cotton of this year's growth ginned prior to Nov. 1 was reported by the Census Bureau to have totaled 9,880,068 running bales, counting round as half bales, compared with 7,743,612 bales to that date a year ago, and 7,917,671 bales two years ago.

The indicated yield of cotton was reported by the Agriculture Department at 199.7 pounds per acre on the 29,720,000 acres estimated as of Sept. 1 to be harvested this year. The acre yield last year was 186.3 pounds to the acre and the 1928-32 average was 169.9 pounds.
The crop by States as indicated Nov. 1 is:

Virginia, 33,000 bales; North Carolina, 625,000; South Carolina, 825,000; Georgia, 1,110,000; Florida, 32,000; Missouri, 29,000; Tennessee, 435,000; Alabama, 1,155,000; Mississippi, 1,900,000; Louisiana, 755,000; Texas, 3,055,000; Oklahoma, 309,000; Arkansas, 1,245,000; New Mexico, 107,000; Arizona, 160,000; California, 420,000; all other States, 13,000. Old Mexico (Lower California), not included in United States or California total, 60,000.

Ginnings to Nov. 1 included 186,462 round bales, counted as half bales, and 5,691 bales of American-Egyptian, compared with 143,163 and 7,325 a year ago, and 142,420 and 7,759 two years ago.

County Planning Program for Farmers Launched

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 13.—Plans to determine farmer opinion on land use were recently presented to the Texas Extension Service staff by the State committee on county planning of which Geo. E. Adams, Assistant State Agent, is chairman, and W. E. Morgan, Extension Economics, is secretary. The plans will be launched in a statewide way immediately, and within the next two months an effort will be made to secure estimates from every county in the State.

County agricultural and home demonstration councils will be asked to meet first and appoint a joint committee to have charge of the work within the counties. These committees will arrange schedules of community meetings where farmers will be given farm plan sheets upon which to write down their figures as to present land use on their own farms and the estimated changes if the land use is to be planned to keep up and improve soil fertility and prevent erosion.

These sheets will be collected in each county and tabulated, and the county committee will prepare from them an estimate for the whole county. County estimates will be collected by the State committee at College Station, summarized for the State, and forwarded to Washington where Texas figures will be compiled with information from other states.

This information, originating with the farmers themselves, the Department of Agriculture will use for guidance in agricultural programs.

BACTERIA ARE DANGEROUS AS DANGEROUS

IN WINTER AS IN SUMMER
... KEEP YOUR FOOD BELOW 50°!

• If you could see food under a microscope you would know why any refrigerator that cannot maintain temperatures below 50° is dangerous. For above 50° bacteria multiply by the millions—on meat, on leftovers, in milk. They endanger health, lower resistance to disease and waste your food money.

And don't be fooled by winter weather. Outside temperatures are varying and uncertain—but it's always summer in your kitchen. If the temperature where your food is kept is not in the Safety Zone—below 50°—all the time, there's danger.

 Future Home Makers Club Is Organized
 The girls of the second year class of Home Making have organized a Future Home Makers Club. They elected the following officers: president, Gladys Watts; vice president, Wilma Horton; secretary, Jane McCrary; treasurer, Gerlie Armstrong; historian, Jeanne Peyton; reporter, Mollie Lou Bull; song leader, Hazel Marie Evans; accompanist, Dale Scofield; advisor, Mrs. Lee.
 They dedicated the first service to the initiation of the first year class members, who were assigned to carry things suggestive of home making with them for a week. The program was rendered effectively and here's hoping the club shall be a benefit to the school, community, and to each member individually.
