..He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

About Town

(By the Editor's Shadow)

The town is minus two eligible young bachelors-about-town from now on due to the matrimonial maneuvers of one Raymond Kollman and one Jim Bob Gregg. Demure Mrs. Gregg and Jolly Mrs. Kollman are, or were, out of town girls, and are welcomed to our little city.

The News made a statement two weeks ago that Louis Pittard was farming south of Santa Anna. Louis paid this office a call Tuesday attired in typical clothes—cow boy boots, trousers slightly tucked, leather jacket, etc.—and said that he would like for it to be known that he is working on a larger scale than mentioned. He is in the ranching business at Gouldsburg, and he and his sheep are faring it very well, thank you.

Still unsettled weather. Right now we would appreciate some of those clear summer skies.

Saturday the witches, spooks, black cats, owls, and mischievous boys will cooperate to make the night a typical Halloween night. However, unless the moon is sufficiently bright enough, the shadow won't be able to "cover" much of the devilry.

Thursday night the Santa Anna Mountaineer squad is to meet the Brownwood second string for a tussle "neath the lights on the 'Mountaineer Field.'" This pigskin score could not be reported before the paper went to press. The Mountaineer second string will meet Talpa Friday night if the plans work out to that extent. Both games will be played here. Neither are conference games.

Approximately 50 people took advantage of the Santa-Fe rates over the week end and made the trip to the Centennial at Dallas on the Coleman County Special.

DUCK SEASON IS SET FOR NOV. 25 TO DEC. 26.

Dallas, Oct. 24.—The Texas Fish, Game and Oyster Commission fell in line with new federal regulations at a meeting here Friday by setting the state duck hunting season from Nov. 25 to Dec. 26, inclusive, and barring the shooting of redheads, canvasbacks, wood ducks, buffleheads and ruddies.

SANTA ANNA GIRL JOINS ELLEN H. RICHARDS CLUB

Miss Thelma Carey of Santa Anna was present at a buffet supper in honor of new members of the Ellen H. Richards club at Abilene Christian College, Thursday evening, October 8.

Forty-six new members were present at the dinner in the home economics department laboratories. In the receiving line were LaVerne McGregor, president; Vivian Day, vice president; and Ellene McReynolds and Ruth Green, who are also officers of the home economics club.

The table was decorated with Halloween colors. Misses Jewel Watson, Burnya Mae Moore, and Lillian Arledge, assisted. Miss Moore and Miss Arledge, instructors in the home economics department are sponsors of the club. Banquets, dinners, style demonstrations, and various phases of home economics work are carried on in the club.

ELBERT DAYTON TURNER

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon, October 23, at the Rockwood Baptist Church for little Elbert Dayton Turner with Rev. R. E. Dunham, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Santa Anna reading the last rites.

Elbert Dayton, born December 4, 1934 was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Turner of Rockwood. He died Friday morning, October 23, after an illness of 16 days, making his stay here only 22 months and 19 days.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Turner, one brother, De Eldon, two sisters, Martell and Ruth, two grandfathers and one grandmother, and a host of other relatives.

Funeral services were held at the Rockwood cemetery.

Bill Creamer Killed in Car Crash

Citizens of Santa Anna were shocked Saturday morning to hear radio reports relating the death in an auto-truck collision and fire at 1 o'clock Friday morning, of Ben Alton (Bill) Creamer, 27, former Santa Anna citizen.

Mr. Creamer was well known here and since the death of his father several years ago he had supported his mother and younger brothers and sisters. The family moved to Beaumont last summer where Bill, as he is known to his friends here, was employed.

According to a clipping from the Beaumont Enterprise, the accident occurred as a car driven by Maurice Agee, 22, of Lucas station, was bound from the South Texas State Fair for Lucas station and as a truck was driving into Beaumont from Houston. As a result from the collision, the three occupants of the auto and the driver of the truck were all flung to the street by the crash and the explosion.

Creamer, who was in the car with Agee and W. H. Agee, Jr., was killed outright, and also Oliver Smith, 25, the driver of the truck. Smith was burned to death as the gasoline tank on the truck exploded at the impact of the collision. Creamer died of a skull fracture and Agee, who succumbed at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, died of skull fracture and other injuries.

Services were held Sunday afternoon for Creamer at the Pivkin and Burlin Chapel, with Rev. Tom Minyard, Christian minister, officiating. Burial was in the Magnolia cemetery.

Mr. Creamer is survived by his mother, Mrs. B. A. Creamer; two brothers, Earl and James, all of Beaumont, and five sisters, Mrs. K. Wendell Campbell of Santa Anna, Mrs. A. U. Voss of Santa Anna, Mrs. J. A. Rainey, and Misses Kathryn, Gladys Lee, and Nell Sue Creamer, all of Beaumont. Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Voss will return to Santa Anna this week end after being with their mother this week.

Word was received here Tuesday that Mrs. Creamer wishes to express her appreciation for the floral offerings and words of sympathy and kindness sent by her many friends here.

Saturday Night Is Spook-Nite

The last night in October, for many decades has been celebrated as spook-nite, and we presume this will be no exception. Just where the heck this spook business started is further back than we care to delve into at this time, but it will likely be continued until great-grand children of the present generation have charge of things, and then spooks will still be spooks.

No one objects to innocent fun, and innocent fun is all that should be brought into play, but often times, too much devilry is wrought into the program to be passed as fun.

Really, spook-nite is the beginning of the winter holidays season. Most all people like a little fun at intervals, but real should not be coupled with non-essential devilry where property rights are disregarded and damages wrought by those who call it fun.

We always welcome the opportunity to grant our young people the privileges and pleasure of celebrating and creating a good time. We hope they have a real one Saturday night.

SHIELD P. T. A. NEWS

Electing of new officers and plans for the year's program for the 1936-37 term were the features discussed at the first meeting of the Shield Parent Teachers Association Tuesday, October 20.

Also plans were made for a Halloween program and social which will be at the Shield school house Saturday night, October 31. A negro minstrel will be staged as well as other interesting features.

Our next program, on "Obedience and Discipline of Children," has been well planned by the program committee, and all parents are urged to be present for this meeting on Nov. 10.

75 Finish B. T. U. Study Courses

Tuesday night, the examinations were given for the several stewardship courses taught last week during the B. T. U. Training School by out of town workers.

About seventy five were present and the number 1 group won in the contest for attendance. Nearly all present took the examinations and will get seals for having taken the courses.

A social hour was enjoyed after the business was over, and games were directed by Mrs. R. E. Dunham and Mrs. Melvin Lamb. Refreshments of hot chocolate, marshmallows, and cakes were served.

Sunday night the B. T. U. will meet at 6:00, 30 minutes earlier than usual. For the next two weeks, the B. T. U. will be engaged in an effort to educate members on tithing. Discussions will be made before the unions pertaining to what tithing is, what it means, how it should be carried out, and various other phases of tithing in following the church program.

McDONALD OBSERVATORY SCENE OF DIFFICULT WORK

Austin, Texas, Oct. 20. — The scientific staff at the W. J. McDonald Observatory of the University of Texas, situated on Mt. Locke, in the Davis Mountains of West Texas, is now practically complete, and the technical staff is also ready to start to work as soon as the 82-inch instrument is in operation. It was stated by Dr. Otto Struve of Williams Bay, Wis. Dr. Struve occupies the dual position of director of the new observatory and director of the Yerkes Observatory of the University of Chicago. He said that in the meantime important observations are being made at the McDonald Observatory by means of smaller instruments.

I recently inspected the optical parts of the W. J. McDonald Observatory and found that the 82-inch mirror was in the process of being parabolized, Dr. Struve continued. "This is the last stage in the figuring of an astronomical telescope mirror, but it is also the most difficult. It is not possible at this time to predict accurately how soon the large mirror will be ready. It may be a matter of a couple of months or it may last a year. Incidents are known, when the mirror was in approximately the same stage in which is now our 82-inch, when unexpected difficulties arose which made it necessary to postpone the work for a period of years. While no one feels that such an occurrence is likely to take place for the 82-inch mirror, it would be quite unwise to predict the time of completion."

Next Tuesday Is Election Day

Next Tuesday, November 3, the people of the United States will go to the polls throughout the country to settle one of the most sensational election affairs so far recorded in the annals of past history.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was elected by the largest vote ever recorded a president in November 1932, has fought the game with courage, under many handicaps. The President offers his record for approval or rejection, and apparently, he will be vindicated for his courageous work in behalf of the common people.

When Mr. Roosevelt was inducted into office March 4th, 1933, general conditions in this country were bad. People were at the threshold of suffering, and chaos and civil strife were threatening. Immediately the President launched a movement for relief and the country was saved, so to speak.

His great New Deal program has been the means of saving many homes and providing food and clothing for those in need. Large sums of money has been spent for work relief, and the country is getting back to a point where people can see the dawn of day approaching again. Prosperity is in the offing and will soon be ours to enjoy again, if the New Deal President is returned to office to serve another four years. Here's hoping the majority of the people of these United States see fit to again return him to office, in order that he continue to lead us out from under that awful depression brought on by negligence and unforeseenness of his predecessors.

FOR 'EM ALL EXCEPT ONE

By Jim Ferguson

In view of my discussion of the amendments voted on by the people in the past elections, I have been asked for my views on the six constitutional amendments to be voted on at the general election in November. After reading these amendments, I have come to the conclusion that I will vote for all of them except one.

The amendments on the ticket will be numbered 1 to 6, inclusive, and the first amendment provides for the establishment of a state dispensary system having the exclusive sale of distilled liquors and providing for local option. In my opinion, this amendment should be defeated. The law now provides for local option in any county and we do not need additional amendments to give the people the right of local option.

I do not think the state ought to go into the liquor business exclusive or otherwise, and I think such a law would bring a general corruption in official circles and would result in increased violation of the law.

Amendment No. 2 is in effect a pension for aged school teachers after they have reached a certain age. Teachers have been the poorest paid in the public service and the meagre salaries which they receive will not permit of their laying up anything for a rainy day, and for this reason I am going to vote for this amendment.

Amendment No. 3 has some objections, but it provides for the payment of workmen's compensation insurance for employees of the state after certain length of service. I am going to resolve the doubt in favor of the amendment.

Amendment No. 4 provides for the establishment of a Board of Pardons and Paroles. The ticket which will be presented to the voter is misleading in that it says that "The Governor's pardoning power shall be subject to recommendations of said board." I think a careful reading of the act of the Legislature will show that this amendment only provides for a reorganization of the Board of Pardons. Probably it will be a good idea to have some supervision of the pardoning power to take care of somebody that might be afraid to trust themselves with the full power of pardon.

Amendment No. 5 is what is known as the salary amendment, raising the Governor's salary from $4,000.00 to $12,000.00, and the Attorney General from $4,000.00 to $10,000.00, and the salaries of the Comptroller, Treasurer and Commissioner of the General Land Office from $2,500.

Cotton For Roads Used on 578 Miles Of 1936 Projects

COLLEGE STATION. — About 8,500 bales of cotton were used in highway construction during the summer of 1936, according to a report from the Department of Agriculture. This cotton was evenly divided between two projects, under the commodity diversion programs of the A. A. A., which involve the use of fabric binders for bituminous-surfaced roads and mats for curing concrete.

More than six million square yards of cotton, close to four thousand bales, were used by 24 states in the fabric reinforcement program, enough for building 578 miles of new road. The rest of the cotton was utilized in the construction of 89,500 mats for concrete-curing in 23 states. Both materials were made available to state highway departments by the Government, subject to performance reports.

The fabric is designed to reinforce secondary, or farm-to-market roads, where heavy trucking and severe climatic conditions have run up an immense seasonal repair bill. Comparative sections were laid with three types of fabrics and without fabric on each project to determine costs, and early reports of this season's work justify the findings of preliminary tests.

The mat project was developed on the basis of tests made by the Bureau of Public Roads and the Highway Departments of Texas and Pennsylvania. Mats or pads simplify the curing problem by assuring proper moisture and temperature conditions. The mats are made from a single ply layer or bat of low-grade cotton or cotton waste quilted between cotton cloth covers. Such mats retain moisture for a number of hours and are durable, easily handled, and capable of repeated use. In regions where water is scarce, their moisture-retaining qualities constitute a distinct advantage. Where excessively high temperatures or freezing are problems their insulating qualities are important.

As a crowd of spectators rushed to the street to the young girl's body, it was fully three minutes before a whistling was heard in the air.

The crowd gazed skyward, saw the man's body hurtling to the ground and scattered screaming. His body landed near that of the young girl.

The man registered at the hotel about three days ago. For $245 Mrs. Carl Sheffield, bedroom demonstrator of the Trickham Home Demonstration Club, upholstered a chair and made a slip cover for it.

Four and a half yards of a heavy, attractive cotton material was bought for the cover. Now, Mrs. Sheffield has an attractive, comfortable slip cover chair in place of an old, worn out chair.

Native and Pasture Grasses

Displayed at Fair

The following native and pasture grasses were collected and displayed at the Free Fall Fair here last week by R. R. Lancaster, pasture specialist with the extension service of A & M college.

SIDE OAT GRAMA

(Bouteloua Curtipendula)
Tall grama, common in pastures and native hay meadows. Like all grammas it will not survive continuous grazing. Excellent forage green or cured.

TEXAS GRAMA

(Bouteloua Rigidiseta)
Probably the most common grama, small though nutritious, palatable and persistent but is decreasing from continuous grazing.

WINDMILL GRASS

(Chloris Verticillata)
One of the most tender, palatable, nutritious grasses. Too good to survive abundantly under continuous grazing. Seeds will grow rapidly following rain.

CRAWFOOT GRASS

(Chloris Cucullata)
Not abundant in Coleman County. An excellent grass. Seeds well.

BUFFALO GRASS

(Buchloe Dactyloides)
The best of all western turf grasses. Most extensively grown from the Rio Grande to Canada on the plains. Buffalo will endure more abuse than any other good grass, although it responds to good management. Adapted to tight land. Cures on its roots in fall and winter.

CURLY MESQUITE

(Hilaria Belangeri)
Most extensive turf grass when in mature and well grazed. Coleman County. Excellent unpalatable after maturity. Not so good when dry in winter. Graze it heavy, but let it recover by rotation grazing.

SPEAR GRASS

(Stipa Belangeri)
An excellent winter and early spring grass. Should be grazed closely. An over growth left over the summer will keep summer grasses out.

HAIRY TRIODIA

(Triodia Pilosa)
Excellent pasture grass. Endures well when others fail. Always closely grazed.

HOOKER RUSH GRASS

(Sporobolus Asper-vas Hookeri)
Common along roadsides.

SAND DROFSEED

(Sporobolus Cryptandrus)
Quite common in all pastures and vast places. More abundant in over grazed pastures.

BERMUDA

(Cynodon Dactylon)
Badly grazed. Mature unpalatable.

BERMUDA

(Cynodon Dactylon)
Well grazed, tender, palatable.

INDIAN GRASS

(Sorghastrum Nutans)
One of the best tall prairie grasses.

BIG BLUE STEM

(Andropogon Furcatus)
One of the best prairie grasses from the Gulf to Canada. This specimen is too mature for hay or grazing.

LITTLE BLUE STEM

(Andropogon Scoparius)
Prime for grazing or hay. Immature and succulent.

BEARD GRASS

(Andropogon Barbinodis)
Common prairie grass, good grazing, only while immature. Keeping it grazed keeps it succulent. This specimen is mature, coarse, dry unpalatable and has little nutritious value.

BEARD GRASS

(Andropogon Barbinodis)
Immature specimen, fresh, a palatable from grazing or mowing which, delayed, seed formation and maturity.

SILVER BEARD GRASS

(Andropogon Saccharoides)
Most common prairie grass remaining along roadsides, throughout Texas. Excellent for grazing when quite immature. The earliest prairie grass, grazing extends its usefulness by keeping it immature.

JOHNSON GRASS

(Sorghum Halepense)
Our best cultivated pasture and hay grass, nutritious, palatable, persistent, hardy, prolific, abundant. Second growth rarely poisonous when grazed.

JOHNSON GRASS

(Sorghum Halepense)
Specimen mature, dormant, unpalatable, low in nutrients. Slow to recover following rains.

JOHNSON GRASS

(Sorghum Halepense)
Specimen in excellent stage for hay or grazing, having been well grazed or mowed.

BLUE GRAMA

(Bouteloua Gracilis)
The finest pasture grass though becoming scarce. Excellent for grazing when mature. To save the grammas from extinction, allow full seed development and maturity at least once in three years.

HAIRY GRAMA

(Bouteloua Hirsuta)
Next to blue grass the best. Cures on its roots for fall and winter grazing. Preserve grammas by rotation grazing, allowing seed to develop and mature once in three years.

WHITE TRIODIA

(Triodia Albescens)
Good grass though not abundant.

TUMBLE GRASS

(Aristida Species)
A fine tender grass while young. Seeds well.

NEEDLE GRASS

(Aristida Species)
One of a score of different species of needle grasses. Pest in pastures because they are less palatable than many other grasses, so are left to mature troublesome seed.

SMALL RUSH GRASS

(Sporobolus Neglectus)
Common in poor soil.

LONG LEAVEL RUSH GRASS

(Sporobolus Asper)
Fairly good grazing while succulent. Hardy. Seeds well. Most common in over grazed pastures.

STUDY THE AMENDMENTS

With a presidential election much in our minds it will be easy to overlook some very important amendments proposed by the Texas Legislature and submitted to the voters along with the Presidential poll. Yet there are vital matters in these amendments, and they should not be considered lightly. The first of these is the Liquor Amendment and will determine whether the state is to be the disposer of all liquor instead of the present plan. Opponents of the amendment contend the state ought not to be in the liquor selling business. Those favoring it point out that since it is being sold the state might as well be receiving the profits of the retailer in toto and thus prevent the advertising of liquor through newspapers and Texas broadcasting companies.

The second amendment advocates that to retire teachers on a pension, the funds for which would come from a not more than 5 percent taken from their salaries and matched in equal amounts by the State would retire many worn out teachers, comfort others who are getting old and keep good teachers in the profession instead of the profession being used as a stepping stone to something else. But others are doubtful of the State's ability to provide its part, or do not like the idea of retirement of teachers after a 20 year period, the minimum allowed under the amendment, in as much as a teacher who began work at 18 might retire at 38, to others, seem remote and teachers seem to favor the plan.

Insurance for employees of the State has much to commend it, say some. The state requires corporations to provide this, yet a man working on a highway in a nearby county was killed and his destitute family were not even assisted with the funeral expenses. On the other hand, there are those who say such employees are anxious to get such jobs without provision for compensation, and that farm employees, or the farmers themselves are given no such protection. Perhaps they should be, or perhaps their occupation is not so hazardous.

Governor Allred is said to be strongly in favor of the amendment to provide a pardon board instead of leaving the matter entirely up to the chief executive. Those favoring this amendment say it will prevent abuse of the pardoning power in case of a governor too subject to temptation, as well as relieving the governor free from the strain of too many and too weighty decisions. Perhaps there are those who will prefer to leave the matter as it is on the grounds that one man might be more easily influenced to extend mercy than would several others.

The proposal to increase the salaries of the governor to $12,000 per year, the Attorney General to $10,000, the Comptroller, Treasurer and Commissioner of the General Land office to $8,000, and the Secretary of State to the same amount, has many advocates. Friends point out that many Sheriffs, Mayors, School Superintendents etc. are at the present receiving more than the $4,000 a year Texas pays its governor. That no one but a rich man or backed by riches of others can afford to occupy the governors office without great loss financially, if they are honest. Texas as the largest and one of the most wealthy states in the union pays among the lowest amounts any state in the Union pays to its governor. Those unfriendly to the bill say that the prestige the governor's office may help him enough in later political life to make it worth his while to serve for that small salary. In this connection it might be well to check up on what political advancement has come to the last several governors from the honor they received.

The last amendment is favored by those who fear that the large cities of Texas will have too large a population of the representation in the State Legislature, and they would prevent this by the proposal to limit the number to not more than seven from and county not having over 700,000 population. It is claimed that to leave the matter as it is may mean that the Highways and other improvements will be controlled too completely for the benefit of large cities; that counties of smaller population, many of them, will have almost enough for another representative; but will thus be left with an unfair balance by the solid population of the cities; that the number of counties being in this condition will cause some people to be without proportionate change. Opponents argue that the cities will naturally want such legislation as will bring in the farm and small town trade, and that the cities should to a great extent deter-

The 1936 Red Cross Poster

THIS year's American Red Cross poster emphasizes the theme that the Red Cross is "of, by and for the people." Four million men and women are members of the Red Cross and through their membership dues they support its activities. Only in time of major disaster when needs for relief reach great proportions does the Red Cross ask the public for disaster relief funds. The membership funds represent the financial support of the Red Cross, and in turn this money is used to carry the Red Cross work of mercy to distressed citizens. Membership is open to all, without regard to race, color or creed, and the Red Cross services are given to all, without restriction. The annual Roll Call for members is held Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, November 11-26. The poster for 1936 is by Walter W. Seaton, noted illustrator and painter of movie and radio stars.

But whatever your opinion is of these amendments, think them over and vote on them intelligently next week. It is your high privilege and responsibility.

DEMONSTRATOR STORIES

If tufted bedspreads are washed incorrectly the fluffy tufts will become hard little knots thus turning a very attractive spread into one that is ugly, states Mrs. Clyde Larence, bedroom demonstrator of the 'Live at Home' Home Demonstration Club. By using correct methods a tufted spread becomes more beautiful with each washing. Mrs. Larence advises that as soon as the spread is completed to soak it in water for four hours. Then wash the spread in luke warm water and mild soap, squeezing the suds gently thru the material in place of rubbing on a wash board. After the spread has been thoroughly rinsed hang it on the line without wringing out any of the water. Hot water, strong soaps, and wringing will destroy the beauty of any tufted spread. When the spread is about half dry take a willow switch and beat the spread briskly. This helps fluff the tufts as the spread is drying. Before removing the spread from the line brush it all over with a clean, stiff brush to further raise the tufts. If the spread is treated with care at each washing in the manner Mrs. Larence describes, the owner will be doubly repaid by having a beautiful spread that will wear well over a long period of years.

As the first year yard demonstrator of the White Chapel Home Demonstration Club, Mrs. W. T. Smith has spent a total of $10.32 on improvements in 1936.

Mrs. Smith gadded the lawn with Bermuda grass, planted 45 nursery shrubs and 9 native shrubs and all are living, planted 12 roses of which 5 are living, rooted 8 shrubs from cuttings, constructed 3 flagstone walks, built a sanitary toilet, and added a new fence. The result of which is to give Mrs. Smith's home a beautiful and harmonious setting.

Mrs. C. B. Edgington, bedroom demonstrator of the Comal Home Demonstration Club, has transformed a small room into an attractive, livable bedroom for her son, spending a little over any boy's or girl's bedroom is very important as it gives them a place to call their own where they can study uninterrupted by the comings and goings of the family.

Mrs. Edgington has also provided a closet with storage space for hanging garments, folded garments, shoes, and hats. The bed is equipped with good springs and mattress, long sheets, good pillows, light weight warm cover, and attractive bedspread. The whole effect of the room is both restful and attractive and very much a boys' bedroom.

The Reporters' Association of the Home Demonstration Clubs Coleman county met Saturday afternoon, at the New Moore Hotel, to discuss better and more effective publicity for the activities of the clubs. Seven members were present representing the following clubs: Voss, New Central, Coleman Independent, Live at Home, and Trickham. Miss Alice Glenn Young, County Home Demonstration Agent, gave the reporters points on writing news stories that will serve the purpose of giving the public interesting highlights on home demonstration work in the county.

The next meeting of the Association will be on Saturday, November 21st, at 2:30 P. M., at the New Moore Hotel, and all old reporters and the ones for 1937 are asked to be present at that meeting.

Mr. Scarborough Speaks to Student Body in Chapel Friday

In speaking to the student body Friday, Mr. Scarborough said, "You are the architect of your destiny. Every student in high school has intelligence enough to pass four courses. Twenty eight out of one hundred and ninety-six were able to get on the honor roll. Announcements were made and the student body adjourned.

Spanish Club Presents Program in Chapel Tuesday

The initiation of the new Spanish students and a play combined was given Tuesday in chapel. Most of the new students gave some kind of stunt. Rubye Lee Price and Doris Spencer sang several songs and Rubye Lee and the Spanish Queen, Annelle Shield, gave a Spanish dance. Everyone seemed to enjoy the program and hope for another one soon.

SPANISH CLUB MEETS

Red! Yellow! Green! Stop! Look! Listen! Spanish Senoritas and Senores!
 Tuesday was initiation day for all the new members of the Spanish Club. All Spanish students wore their costumes and Wednesday the Spanish II girls acting as a committee judged the Spanish I costumes.
 Talmage Turner received a miniature sombrero as a prize for having the most typical Spanish costume. Betty Sue Turner received a Spanish picture for having the most appropriate Spanish dress.
 Several patrons attended the initiation program given in chapel by Los Montaneses Espanoles.

This Worrisome Matter of Department Grades

"Anybody can behave, even if he is dumb." These words have been spoken more than once, even more than twice, in fact, they are spoken every six weeks when comment is made on the department grades in chapel. But to look at the demerit record, one would hardly believe that statement here. This scribbler supposes we are just too dumb to learn anything about the lesson but think we can cover it up with what is laughingly called wit.
 Next month lets show the faculty that we are too smart to misbehave!

'TRIAL' IN CIVICS CLASS

The Civics students are now learning just what to do when they get old enough to take part in the government.
 They have just finished studying the steps that lead to the prosecuting of a defendant. To do this they appointed a jury, composed of six, and let the rest of the class be witnesses.
 The court members were the following: Judge, Marilyn Baxter; District Attorney, P. B. Lightfoot; Clerk, Doris Rollins; The jury was composed of Carlene Ashmore, Sealy Ferguson, Edwin Webb, Allene Hardy, Irene Styles, and Jewel Taylor.
 The court came to order to try H. W. Kingsbery for copying from Frank McGonagill's civics workbook.
 The jury declared the defendant guilty in the trial.

Why shield them from every danger except EYESTRAIN?

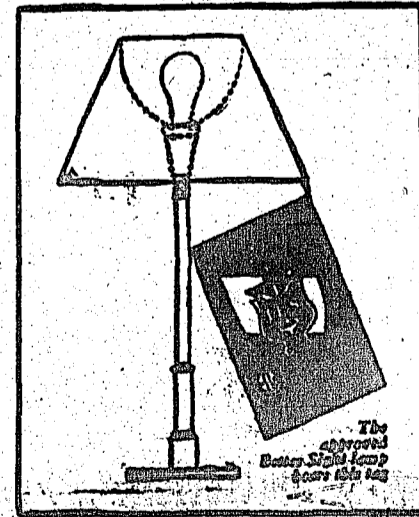

Isn't their sight worth enough to make you find out what your lighting may be doing to it?

© You bundle up your children against cold and rain. You see that they are tucked snugly in bed at night. You are constantly on guard lest they be harmed in some way. You try to shield them from every danger . . . but are you sure about eyestrain?

Sight is their most precious possession. Yet do you let them read and play on the floor where the light is never adequate for even simple visual work? Can you say for sure whether the lighting in your home is letting your children's eyes develop normally? Do you know that your child has enough light for his studying tasks?

Don't guess—be sure. There has been too much guessing about proper lighting. And mainly because of improper lighting, one child in every five has defective vision by the time he finishes grade school. The ratio increases to two out of five by the time they reach college age.

The I.E.S. Indirect Floor and Student Lamp is a simple, economical way to be sure that your child is studying under proper lighting conditions. What is more, the entire family can enjoy and will appreciate this modern, better light. See these lamps on display . . . today!

Wide opening at top throws light to ceiling, eliminates shadows.

Glass bowl softens light, prevents glare.

Wide shade spreads light over wide area.

PASTOR'S FAREWELL SERMON

Rev. William E. Fisher, pastor of the Santa Anna Methodist Church, will deliver his "Farewell Sermons", before going to conference, at the morning and evening services Sunday. His subjects will be: morning service, "A Fight to the Finish," and evening "The Victor's Crown." Rev. Fisher says, "When a Methodist preacher goes to his annual conference he does not know until his appointment is read where he will be sent another year, so his last Sunday before conference is really "Farewell Sunday". The conference will be held Nov. 4, which is Wednesday of next week.

The Fourth Quarterly Conference for the local church was held here Monday night of this week with Rev. J. M. McClure presiding. The annual reports were made by the heads of all departments. The reports revealed a substantial growth in membership of both church and Sunday school. All the finances for both local budget and general benevolences will be paid in full.

The Central Texas Annual Conference meets at Houston next week for the first time in history all 5 of the annual conferences of Texas Southern Methodism will meet, simultaneously in the same city. Also, the Methodist Episcopal Church of Texas, which is one of the Northern branches, will hold its annual conference in Houston at the same time. These six conferences will be housed by the larger denominations for their business sessions and the Municipal Hall will be used for the joint inspirational and worship services. Six bishops will be present to preside over the several conferences.

The district delegates from this church are M. A. Edwards and Miss Ruby Harper.

THE BAPTIST COLUMN

In beginning this first article for the "Baptist Column" the pastor wishes to express deep appreciation to Editor Gregg for the space he is thus making available to all the pastors of the churches in Santa Anna. Rev. A. F. Johnson, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, at the close of the Revival he conducted for the local church said "The Free space for church and revival publicity given by the Santa Anna News is perhaps the largest single contribution made for the meeting. If figured on the basis the city newspapers would have charged for this service."

Miss Helen Gardner, sister of the Baptist training Union Secretary, who was in our church the past week also said that she wanted a copy of the article in the News giving such splendid publicity to her program of work while here. We do appreciate the kindness of Mr. Gregg, and shall try to make our column of such interest and fairness to in some measure merit the kindness thus extended all the churches.

The Baptist Sunday School two weeks ago installed the "Crown System" of attendance pins for continuous attendance at Sunday school. This system has been in use in some of the other local schools for some time and last Sunday it certainly demonstrated its worth. On a rainy day with muddy roads, the attendance was 110. And some grown-ups as well as many children admitted they had an urge to come in order to maintain their unbroken record.

The district meeting of nine associations and more than that number of counties, was held at Coleman First Baptist church Monday of this week. Mr. Lester Newman and the pastor represented the local Baptist church. The District missionary Rev. Julius P. King, of Brownwood, was re-elected. A campaign using Howard Payne College Students as agents, was authorized for the promotion of subscriptions to the "Baptist Standard", the Baptist state paper. Each of these students is to receive a small amount of the subscription price, thru courtesy of the "Standard" to pay on their expenses and to help them through college.

A carefully selected group of students, most of them ministerial students, will be given this work. Dr. Thomas Taylor, president of Howard Payne College, was re-elected president of Menard District. Encampment, and nine vice presidents, one for each association were elected. The local Baptist pastor was the one chosen for Coleman County Association. The duties and responsibilities seem not to be too heavy, as no one seemed to know who held the positions of vice president the past year. The District Board, which acts in all business matters, chose Rev. A. D. Foreman of First Baptist Church, San Angelo as chairman to succeed Dr. Karl Moore of Brownwood.

The Training Union held its final meeting of the Stewardship Study Course Tuesday evening of this week. This was necessary on account of bad weather at the end of the previous week. A social period with refreshments of Hot Chocolate and Cookies followed the final lesson. Some 60 or more members were served.

At a Deacon's Meeting, attended by eight of the ten active Deacons, Tuesday evening, a unanimous vote was taken to recommend to the church a thorough campaign for the enlightenment and enlistment of all its members through all its organization in the Bible teaching of Stewardship and Tithing. Everyone of the deacons voluntarily agreed to practice the Tithe and recommend it to all others. This effort is to precede the regular Every-member Canvass, and it is felt that those who co-operate in the first movement will not need to be seen in the Canvass. This challenge by the deacons, backed by putting their beliefs into practice, should act as a strong stimulus to all others to join with them in an unselfish spirit of loyalty.

The attendance at the Sunday school Officers and Teacher's Meeting must measure up to 50 per cent of the total number of faculty members for the school to remain a Standard School. It has so remained for the past seven years, under the efficient leadership of Supt. J. R. Lock. Due to rains and bad roads the average for the month of October is slightly below the requirement. Two more months are left to take up the slack, and all teachers and officers are being urged to co-operate in maintaining this high standard.

A visitor in the Evening services of last Sunday, stated that in his church of a little better than 500 members, the Floydada Baptist, that they would probably have 300 people in the preaching service that night. He stated that they had a very fine Training Union organization in that church. Only this type of organization will build such attendance in these days of such competition for the Sunday night crowd. The moral for adults is not hard to find here.

Three new Unions and one department were set up in the Training Organization, Sunday night. A Nursery group, a Junior Union (added to the other two) and an additional Intermediate Union, plus a department for the three Junior Unions were the additional units set up. Ultimately it is planned to have a fully departmentalized Training Organization seeking to reach the same constituency as does the Sunday school. Other churches are doing this in a fine way. With an almost total lack of Bible teaching and training in the modern home, the church must make a greater effort than the one brief hour on Sunday morning if it is to give the moral and spiritual teachings all its members need.

The time for evening services has been advanced 30 minutes, making the Training Union 6 P. M. and preaching service at 7 P. M. with 8 P. M. as adjournment time.

R. Elmer Dunham, Pastor

Editor's Note: The Santa Anna News will allow any active pastor in Santa Anna the use of a column in the paper each week, giving the news of your church, Sunday school and other activities, if you will prepare the copy and bring it to us early in the week. We believe, in this way, churches can stimulate their interest in the community and reach more people over whom they might be able to wield an influence for general and spiritual uplift. Other pastors are privileged to start your column at once if you so desire.

METHODISTS TO OBSERVE DAY OF PRAYER

Wednesday, November 4th, at 10 A. M. the ladies of the Methodist Church will meet at the church to observe a day of prayer and meditation. Mrs. T. M. Hays, Jr. will be leader for the morning session. Mrs. C. B. Verner and Mrs. W. H. Thate will assist. Mrs. T. R. Sealy will be leader for the afternoon program and will be assisted by Mesdames E. D. McDonald, R. C. West, Rex Golston, and Gilbert.

An offering will be taken after the presentation of the Home and Foreign Special program. At 12 o'clock a covered dish luncheon will be served. All of the ladies of the Methodist Church are urged to be present.

COLEMAN COUNTY H. D. CLUBS TO ENTER DISTRICT SHOW

At the October meeting of the Coleman county Home Demonstration Council it was voted to send tufted bedspreads and woolen comforts to the District Bedspread and Comfort Show to be held in San Angelo, Nov. 20-23. The Exhibits Committee of the Council will have charge of collecting, packing, and mailing the spreads and comforts. Mrs. Sanford Tume, Chairman of the Exhibits committee, will announce where the spreads are to be collected on November 7th at the meeting of the Council.

In 1935 light weight, warm cover and tufted bedspreads were worked on in the Home Demonstration Clubs in the counties. As there are many excellent examples of workmanship in both spreads and comforts, Coleman county should have a fairly large number to enter in the show.

Below are the rules governing entries in the show:
1. Only regular members of Home Demonstration and 4-H Clubs will be eligible to enter the contest. Associate members may exhibit but not compete for prizes.
2. Only woolen comforts, tufted bedspreads and tufted pillow tops may be shown. Only one entry from each class will be accepted from an individual and one tufted comfort, one quilted comfort, one tufted spread and one pillow top.

3. All entries MUST BE IN AND CHECKED INTO Tom Green County Exhibits Committee not later than 10:00 A. M. November 20th. Send earlier if convenient.
4. Judging will begin at 10:00 A. M. Nov. 20th, after which all entries will be on display until Nov. 23, 1:00 P. M.
5. The Home Demonstration Agent and two bedroom demonstrators from each county exhibiting, are requested to attend the judging demonstration. If space is limited, these representatives will have precedence in attending the demonstration.

6. Exhibits Committee of each County Council is responsible for collection, packing and transporting each exhibit to Tom Green County.

7. Tom Green County Council Exhibits Committee is responsible for packing exhibits to return. Each county shall make a duplicate list of articles to be sent to the exhibit, one list will be sent to the Tom Green County Council, and the other list to be filed with each County Exhibits Committee.

8. Labels of cloth must be sewed on the wrong side in one corner of each bedspread or article exhibited. These labels should carry the name of the OWNER, CLUB, and COUNTY.

GARNER DIRECTS PERSONAL APPEAL TO TEXAS DEMOCRATS

Austin Oct. 28 — Breaking his usual campaign silence, Vice President John N. Garner today directed a personal appeal to Texas Democrats for funds with which to carry on the Presidential campaign and for votes to give his home state an overwhelming Democratic victory.

Vice President Garner predicted President Roosevelt's reelection by a majority that "will satisfy the most enthusiastic Democrats.

"What concerns me most is what Texas will do," he said. "We must maintain our fine Democratic record. To do that, we must raise our quota of $250,000 and see to it that every loyal Democrat goes to the polls and votes."

He expressed thanks to members of the campaign organization in Texas "for the fine and effective service they have already rendered, and urged them to continue their efforts until election day.

"If they will, I am sure the entire amount of our quota will be raised," he said. "I cannot help but feel that every loyal Democrat will be glad to contribute if given the opportunity to do so. I ask our committeemen to give them that opportunity by contacting them personally."

Mr. Garner also pointed out the importance to Texas of the large Democratic vote, explaining that representation in National conventions hereafter will be measured by that vote.

"Every Democrat, therefore, should consider it a solemn duty to go to the polls," he said.

Mrs. Marlon Pollard was in Dallas last week to visit her mother, Mrs. Wallace.

In a combination of arrangements, plans were perfected here this week for the beginning of a band for the Santa Anna schools. Tom Walls, instructor in Daniel Baker College, Brownwood, also the director of the band at Bangs, was here Tuesday, guest of the Lions Club, and outlined his proposition to instruct a band for Santa Anna. The School Board will pay a portion of the expenses, the Parent Teacher Association will pay a part, the Trades Day Association will stand a portion, and the Lions Club will take the remainder. This will assure Santa Anna of a band, and Mr. Walls was here Tuesday afternoon of this week to organize the band and get going. He will be here during the afternoon and evenings of Tuesdays and Thursdays of each week.

World Supply of American Cotton Further Reduced

(Farm and Ranch)

The smallest prospective world supply of American cotton since 1929 has been reported by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Latest crop reports plus trade estimates of world carry-over as of August 1 indicate a present total world supply of about 10,000,000 bales of American cotton. Last year's supply was slightly larger.

The peak of the supply—26,000,000 bales—in recent years was in 1931. Stocks continued burdensome until 1934 when the crop totaled less than 10,000,000 bales, and the world supply of American cotton was about 20,000,000 bales. This supply about equalled the 1923-32 ten year average.

A sharp improvement in price coincident with the declining supply and increased consumption during the recovery period was also reported. For instance, the average price at 10 spot cotton markets in the United States in 1931-32 was 5.89 cents per pound of cotton. The price thereafter advanced to an average of 12.36 cents in 1934-35, and this year a seasonal high average of 13.08 cents was reached in the week ended July 18.

Prices have tended lower since mid-July, the decline being attributed by the bureau to August 1 prospects for a somewhat larger crop in the United States, the relatively low price of foreign growth cotton, increased obstacles to the importation of American cotton by Italy and Germany, and to the Civil War in Spain.

But the bureau reported that domestic cotton mill activity continues to be "very high," and that European mill activity is "fairly high," although conditions vary in different countries. Mill activity, yarn production and cloth exports in Japan were reported at "high levels," but the bureau said that in Japan, American cotton is being replaced to a large extent by foreign cottons, especially Indian and Brazilian.

Exempt Small Homes From All Taxes

(Farm and Ranch)

Navarro County, Texas

It may have been for the best that the Supreme Court killed the AAA law, since the one that Congress enacted to take its place has more of the features of permanent planning for better farming, and for the building up of the soil.

The present law will encourage diversified farming—at least to the farm owner. Diversified farming insures plenty to eat at home. It also will tend to reduce acreage planted to cotton, and with a smaller cotton crop will come better prices, insuring the farmer plenty to wear as well as plenty to eat, and something left over with which to buy the so-called luxuries. Prosperity to the farmer always means more prosperity to industry, hence all classes should encourage hearty cooperation with the Government in carrying out the aims of the law.

The Texas Legislature can do much to help the Texas tenant farmer to procure homes by submitting, next year, a constitutional amendment to exempt homes of an assessed valuation of $3,000 from all taxes; they are now exempt from State taxes. To exempt such homes from all taxes would encourage the city tenant even more to buy homes, because in the average incorporated town and city it is cheaper to rent a home than to own one.

At present only about one-third of the families in Texas live in their own homes. To increase the number to two-thirds would give the State a better citizenship. It is only natural that the home owner should take more interest in local schools, in local government, and in State and National Governments as well, and in all moral and civic institutions of his home community. Nor is that all the advantages of a larger per cent of the citizenship owning their own homes. The homeowner, feeling more settled, will accumulate more personal property, so that much of the loss accruing to the State and its subdivisions by reason of having exempted the homes from taxes will be made up by increased value of personal property. CHRISTIANITY AND LOVE

The spread of Christianity in the early church, under leadership of Paul, Peter and many others, was visible not only in the establishment of churches in several gentile countries and in the creation of a firm foundation upon which the further growth of the church was predicated, but it resulted in the complete metamorphosis of the social philosophy of countless thousands of men and women who were brought under the influence of the gospel. The entirely new doctrine of love was introduced not only to the gentile world but to the Jewish people.

Prior to the coming of the Lord Jesus Christ the attitude of the chosen people of God toward him was largely that of fear, and their relations to him were outlined in rigid laws and statutes. But Jesus came into the world to declare that God is love, and that instead of ceremonial worship designed to turn aside his wrath he wanted his children to approach him in a spirit of devotion. This was further amplified by both the Savior and his evangelists to incorporate into the law a new commandment, "that ye love one another," so that the relationship of men with each other were founded upon love rather than upon the restrictions that might be provided by prohibitive laws. Love thus became the law superseding the less impersonal statutes and covering all the conditions in which men were to find themselves in relation to God and their fellow men.

Paul's beautiful definition of Christian love as it is presented in First Corinthians is a presentation of love in the abstract, declaring its fruitage and outlining the characteristic marks by which it may be recognized. The command of the Lord Jesus Christ "that ye love one another" brings Christian love to the forefront as an active principle of life, and presents it as a concrete and living factor. Thus it becomes an indisputable proof to ourselves that our own spiritual life is secure. It is evidence that we love God, for "if a man love not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?" It is, moreover, a satisfactory proof to the world of the genuineness of our discipleship, because "By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, because ye love the brethren."

It admittedly is difficult for us to put this principle into active practice in our lives; but it was much more difficult for the Corinthian and Ephesian Christians, and they did it. Certainly we can do so, and must do so if our Christianity is to be founded upon that which will endure.

WHOOPIING COUGH CONTROL NEEDED

AUSTIN, OCTOBER 30.—While whooping cough is evident in all months of the year, the first weeks in October this year showed a rise in the number of cases reported to the State Health Department.

"Whooping cough is one of the most serious communicable of germ disease affecting childhood, and is especially dangerous to babies who have not passed their first birthday," Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, said in recommending stricter methods of control.

"The disease is usually transmitted," Dr. Brown said, "by direct contact with the secretion of the mouth or nose, or with articles freshly soiled with the secretion. Only a short exposure is required to contact the infection. The communicable stage must be considered to extend from seven days after the exposure to an individual infected with whooping cough to three weeks after the development of the characteristic whoop."

"Whooping cough is not easy to detect in its early stages, for during the first week or two it resembles an ordinary cold in its symptoms. Then, however, the child begins to have attacks of whooping. The cartarrhal symptoms and cough gradually begin running from the nose and the eyes are reddened. The child coughs in spells, the cough getting more and more severe and finally develops what is commonly known as the 'whoop.'"

"Preventive measures against whooping cough should include keeping small children away from other children when whooping cough is in the neighborhood, and a visit to the family physician if whooping cough is suspected. Medical care is essential in whooping cough because proper medication can ease the spasmodic whooping and thus may save a life."

"Early reporting and isolation of whooping cough or suspicious coughing serves as a real protection to the young children of a community."

Mesdames Gipsen, Childers, and Oder, chairman of committees, made their reports.

Mrs. Alpheus Boardman will conduct the lesson on Christian Action next Monday afternoon. Next Sunday will be observed by the Sunday Schools as a world's Temperance Sunday. The Sunday School and Church have joined in on a world wide brotherhood effort to "Reach the Unreached."

AN INVESTMENT IN HEALTH SERVICE

Though progressive in many directions, Texas has been backward in protecting its citizens' health. The Texas Planning Board emphasizes that fact in reporting on its recent State-wide survey. The planners found that 17,000 persons died prematurely and needlessly during 1934—the latest year for which statistics have been compiled. That number included 10,000 victims of preventable diseases, and 7,000 succumbed to pellagra—a disease of nutrition. Organized public health service reaching all of Texas' 6 million people could have saved those lives. Epidemic-control— involving quarantine measures, public sanitation and education— would greatly reduce, if not eliminate, the death-toll of tuberculosis, typhoid fever, malaria, diphtheria, and many other germ diseases.

As for pellagra, that malady never attacks a person who lives on a balanced diet. In one sense the pellagra victim has starved to death; frequently he has starved in the midst of plenty. An ironic aspect of the record is that the heaviest death-toll is not in the cities' blighted area, but on farms which easily might produce a balanced diet. Thus, the kitchen garden and the home canny offer the most hopeful line of attack on that plague. Texas' first need is to support its State Health Department adequately, that it may set up full-time service—a county health unit or equivalent—in every community. A modest investment in such service would save the people millions.

PLANS BEING MADE FOR TEXAS PRODUCTS TO BE GRADED

Austin, Tex., Oct. 28—Grading of Texas farm and ranch products to U. S. specifications, thus assuring a wider and better market for Texas commodities, was a step nearer realization this week as the Texas Planning Board's land use committee adopted a resolution urging the planning board to draft a bill providing for the grading of Texas agricultural products.

C. E. McCormick, of the state department of agriculture, told the committee that grading permits a wider distribution of farm produce because the more perishable lots may be sold without waste in near-by markets or used for by-product purposes, leaving the remainder for shipment to more remote points, and that properly graded products can be held safely in storage, thus extending the market season. Mr. McCormick also said that certain classes of buyers are attracted who do not handle products of indeterminate quality.

According to Mr. McCormick, Texas ranks third in the total shipments of fruits and vegetables among the other states, and this year ranks second in the production of citrus fruits. Thus for the first time, Texas passes California as a citrus producing state.

The thirst for knowledge has been raging mildly for many years. But nobody has invented a cure for it.

A scientist-explorer on the Great Barrier Queensland says he has seen a female turtle lay 100 eggs in twenty-four minutes.
