Screwworms

Disappear In October

MISSION, Nov. 1: October of 1979 was the first such month since the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program started in 1962 that no screwworm cases were recorded in Texas.

The State was in its seventh consecutive screwworm-free week as October ended, reports Dr. Robert B. Miller of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Screwworm Laboratory.

No samples of this pest of all warm-blooded animals had been received at the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service operated lab since the third week of September. During the first part of that month samples had come in from Presidio, Jeff Davis, Terrell and Val Verde counties in west Texas.

This situation has allowed the Screwworm Eradication Program to move its operations farther south.

He Knows How To Help Us When We Are Tempted

For in that he himself hat suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted. Heb. 2:18.

Though enduring most terrible temptations, Christ did not fail or become discouraged. He was fighting the battle in our behalf, and had He faltered, had He yielded to temptation, the human family would have been lost.

The Bible gives a bare mention of the conflict with Satan in the wilderness of temptation, but it was a terrible ordeal. Christ came off conqueror, bearing the test and trial in our behalf. How little is man able to comprehend the strength of the temptation of Christ! How little does he understand of that ordeal upon which hung the destiny of a lost world! The world's Redeemer was not warring against flesh and blood, but against principalities and powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. All heaven was interested in this conflict, and what joy, what rejoicing there was in heaven because help had been laid upon One who is mighty to overcome, mighty to save!

What an event was this when Christ placed Himself in the position of Adam, and endured the test where Adam had failed, and by this act placed man on a vantage ground, in favor with God, where he might overcome on his own account through the merits of Jesus. In His name, through His grace, man may be overcomer, even as Christ was an overcomer. In Christ divinity and humanity were united, and the only way in which man may be an overcomer is through becoming a partaker of the divine nature....Divinity and humanity are blended in him who has the spirit of Christ. The apostle Paul writes, "In all things it behooved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest."... "We have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin."

Jeff Bells To Observe 50th Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Bell will be honored with a reception Sunday, November 25, at Mountain City Center in observance of their 50th wedding anniversary. Children of the couple will host the party from 2 to 5 p.m. Friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

Lula (Topsy) and Jeff Bell were married November 27, 1929 in Roaring Springs. They moved to Brown County in 1930, living many years in the Thrifty, Grosvenor and Holder communities. They moved to Santa Anna eight years ago when he retired from stock farming.

Children of the couple are R. J. Bell of San Antonio, George C. Bell of Early, Jeanette Locks of Zephyr and Mary Sue Herring of Fort Worth. One son, James Bell, is deceased. There are also 18 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The Bells request no gifts, please, only the presence of family and friends on their special day.

Band Booster Club Busy Supporting Local Band

The Santa Anna Band Booster Club is one of the busiest groups in the community, but they have more responsibilities than many organizations.

The club, composed of parents of band students, assists the band by providing chaperones to out-of-town trips, providing money for uniforms, equipment and other necessary items, and helping with maintenance of the uniforms and equipment.

Band uniforms must be replaced at least every ten years, and the present ones were purchased in 1971 at a cost of $6,500. Booster Club members are already looking toward the replacement expense that will be well above that cost. The last figure did not include the cost of hats, garment bags, drum major and twirler uniforms and general upkeep. Band members have their own fund raising projects to finance trips and award programs.

The local band, directed by Ben Hill, started practice in August and has an extra practice session each Tuesday night in preparation for the football games. Also in rehearsal is the stage band that provides entertainment for local groups and makes an annual tour of area schools.

When Band Boosters appeal for help with their projects or solicit membership dues, be sure to give all the help you can.

SDA Church Is Supporting Foreign Relief

Recently President Carter made an appeal to help alleviate a human tragedy in almost unbelievable proportions. He asked that churches raise $70 million to match what the government gives in a massive "outreach" to relieve the sick and dying in Cambodia.

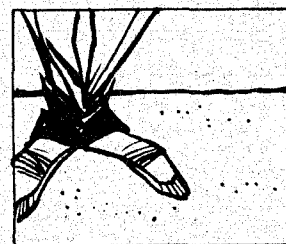

Most of this relief is channeled through voluntary agencies. The Adventist church is one of these agencies. This is done partially through SAWS (Seventh-day Adventist Worldwide Service). SAWS gives clothing, and also foods and medications where needed.

Donations for this much-needed fund may be addressed to "SAWS Cambodia-Indochina Relief", 6840 Eastern Ave. N. W., Washington, D. C. or to any of the agencies ready to help in Cambodia.

Clothing Keeps Hunters Alive

Deer hunting season adds another threatened species to the woods, a species endangered by its own kind. Hunters, often shot by other hunters who mistake them for game, do not have to be part of this threatened species if they wear bright orange clothing, the Texas Medical Association (TMA) says.

The TMA advises hunters to wear vests, hats, pants or other clothes that are the bright orange often called "blaze orange," "fluorescent orange" or "hunter orange." Deer do not notice this color since they are colorblind. But blaze orange, which is not found in nature, helps humans distinguish a hunter from a game animal. One estimate shows this important distinction could help eliminate at least a fourth of all hunting accidents. In Texas last year firearms injured 83 people and

A rug, serving as an extra layer of insulation on the floor, helps keep heated or cooled air in a room.

Area Hunters Warned Of Fire Hazards

AUSTIN--As the fall hunting seasons approach, much of Texas still is lush and green from a rainy first half of 1979. But all that vegetation will be dry in a few short weeks, creating a potential fire hazard.

Hunters and other outdoorsmen are asked by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to use caution and good judgement in the use of campfires, putting out cigarettes and parking catalytic converter-equipped vehicles in areas free of tall grass.

Many areas of the state already are experiencing a drought period, and by mid-winter the dry vegetation would become a real threat, according to wildlife officials.

R.N. Group Slates Meeting Tuesday

Registered nurses of the newly formed District 27 will meet at Roy Eazor's restaurant in Brownwood Tuesday, November 20, at 7 p.m. for a program and dinner.

Betty Krabbe of San Angelo, Associate Professor of Nursing at Angelo State University, will be speaker.

Any registered nurse in the Coleman, Comanche, San Saba, McCulloch, Mills and Brown counties are invited to attend. Mrs. Georgia Hughes of Santa Anna is president of the district group.
