We will publish the NEWS a day early next week, so be sure to have your letters to Santa Claus to us by noon Monday.

Our office will be closed most of next week, but open as usual Monday, December 29, for the first issue of the new year.

Very few deer have been killed in our area, according to recent reports. However one bagged in our area was unusual enough to make the difference.

Tim Smith of Abilene killed an eight point doe, that's right, a doe, on John Hensley's place on the Colorado River last week. Smith was hunting with his father and others from Abilene who hunt the Hensley place each year.

According to Hensley, the unusual kill had the largest rack of horns of any deer killed on his place this year!

The influence of television is often reflected in actions and conversations of children.

One morning recently the kindergarten teacher, Sue Newman, distributed the day's activity books to her students and was ready to assign a page number when one cute little boy piped up, "Mrs. Newman, what channel are we doing today?"

WTU Rates Increase In 15 Area Towns

The Public Utility Commission of Texas has approved a settlement agreement which authorizes West Texas Utilities Company to raise its rates, effective December 15.

The agreement was reached by WTU and a number of intervenors, including 15 cities in its service area, after several days of negotiations. Stipulations in the settlement were based almost entirely on recommendations of the PUC staff.

The compromise agreement will amount to an average increase of 6.2 per cent in WTU's rates, compared to the 8.27 per cent requested in an application filed by WTU September 30. The amount allowed is almost the same as the company's only previous rate increase which was implemented in 1973.

The increase in annual revenue will amount to $9,547,192, compared to the $12,729,691 the company had requested.

The new rates will go into effect automatically in unincorporated areas and in 26 cities which had denied the increase and had their cases appealed to the PUC. The other 55 incorporated cities in the WTU service area had suspended action on the rates and are expected to approve the PUC's decision.

Santa Anna is one of the towns which originally suspended action. However, the City Council voted Thursday night to approve the rates as agreed upon by the PUC, the intervenors and WTU.

The new rates will vary for different customer classifications, based on cost of operations for each class. Residential customers will pay 6.6 per cent more, commercial customers 1.1 per cent more, industrial customers 9.4 per cent more and municipals 20.8 per cent more.

The new residential rate is 4.54 cents per kilowatt hour, compared to the present average of 4.26 cents. This means the average residential customer, who presently uses 702 kilowatt hours per month, will see his bill increase from $29.94 to $31.90.

Charles Wetsel, local manager said the company is generally satisfied with the outcome of the rate case, although the settlement is for considerably less than has been sought.

"We are pleased that WTU and our customers were able to settle on a friendly basis without getting involved in a lengthy and costly hearing," he said.

Candlelight Program Held For Methodist Women

The United Methodist Women met for the final meeting of the year at the Methodist Church annex December 15. The Martha Group served as hostesses, with the Nitia Daniel group presenting the program entitled "Candles, Carols, Gifts."

Each member wrote on Christmas cards how each could give of themselves during the Christmas season and throughout the year. They then presented them at the Nativity scene after they were read.

Mrs. Scarbrough presented each with a red candle, which she lighted from the Christmas candle in the Advent wreath.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a Christmas cloth and centered with an arrangement of Christmas foliage. Holiday cups, plates and Christmas napkins completed the motif. A large poinsettia and a lighted Christmas tree were used in decorations.

Be Loving And Kind

Let brotherly love continue. Heb. 13:1.

No member of the family can inclose himself within himself...If he is filled with the love of Christ, he will manifest courtesy, kindness, tender regard for the feelings of others, and will communicate to his associates, by his acts of love, a tender, grateful, happy feeling. It will be made manifest that he is living for Jesus, and daily learning lessons at His feet, receiving His light and His peace.

The most careful cultivation of the outward proprieties of life is not sufficient to shut out all fretfulness, harsh judgment, and unbecoming speech. True refinement will never be revealed so long as self is thoroughgoing Christian draws his motives of action from his deep heart-love for his Master. Up through the roots of his affection for Christ springs an unselfish interest in his brethren.

Of all things that are sought, cherished, and cultivated, there is nothing so valuable in the sight of God as a pure heart, a disposition imbued with thankfulness and peace.

If the divine harmony of truth and love exists in the heart, it will shine forth in words and actions...The spirit of genuine benevolence must dwell in the heart. Love imparts to its possessor grace, propriety, and comeliness of deportment. Love illuminates the countenance and subdues the voice; it refines and elevates the entire man. It brings him into harmony with God, for it is a heavenly attribute.

Allow no selfishness to live in the heart or find room in the home...When all are members of the royal family, there will be true politeness in the home life. Each member of the family will seek to make it pleasant for every other member.

ANCIENT TOLL STATION in the Rhine River has been surrounded by the swift water since the 12th century.

Castles, Vineyards Featured On Rhine River Boat Cruise

By Barbara Kingsbery

My final day in Germany was one of the most interesting of the summer tour. We had a boat trip on the Rhine River, passing some of the many castles and fortifications for which the river is famous.

From our overnight stay in the village of Grohsachsen, twelve miles from Heibelberg, we traveled north along a wide valley where tobacco, wheat and other crops were growing. In the villages we saw tobacco hanging in drying sheds.

We followed the Rhine River

COLLEGE STATION — This summer was the hottest on record for most of the state's major metropolitan centers, but not enough to topple Texas' 44-year-old record for the hottest day.

That mark of 120 degrees — set in Seymour on Aug. 12, 1936 — was shaken but not unseated by neighboring Wichita Falls which recorded 117 degrees on June 29 for the highest temperature to yet come out of the Texas heat wave.

Unofficial figures from the State Climatologist's Office at Texas A&M University reveal that Wichita Falls had the worst of it this summer, with 70 days of 100-degree temperatures by the first week of September and rainfall so sparse a local newspaper called it drier than the Dust Bowl days.

from Mainz (the birthplace of William Gutenberg, inventor of the printing press) to the village of Rudesheimer where we went aboard the tourist cruiser, Germania, for our trip.

The Rhine River was about one-fourth to one-third mile wide where we traveled, and very, very swift. We sat on the top deck of the tour boat as it was sunny and warm, and most people took pictures all along the route.

Massive castles and ruins of castles were perched atop the high river banks along the thirty or forty miles we traveled. Highways and railroads ran on both sides of the river and ferries were available at several points but there is no bridge for 51 miles. The Rhine River is 820 miles long and one of the most important waterways in Europe.

Perfectly-kept vineyards stretch upward from the river, almost to the top of the rock cliffs. Rock terraces form interesting geometric patterns up the tilted hillsides.

Little villages with beautiful churches and ornate buildings were at intervals along the route, and a very interesting site was a 12th century toll station built on an island in the center of the river.

Among the restored castles along our route were Rheinstein, built in 1320 that now houses a museum, and Sooneck, a fortress surrounded by forest that is rumored to have been a hideout of Robin Hood and other robber barons.

We were told that when the family banner or flag is flying from the tower at a castle, it indicates the owner is at home.

Our bus was waiting to pick us up at the designated village, and we then drove along the Rhine for quite a ways, seeing other castles and ruins. We left the Rhine Valley at Koblenz where the Moselle and Rhine Rivers converge, traveling northwest on the Autobahn highway toward Cologne.

The countryside was rolling hills with farmland and forest land. We saw many herds of Holstein cattle and some sheep in small pastures and fields. From a distance we saw the Gothic spire of the Cologne cathedral that has been rebuilt

For our weather this Monday: Clear and cool.

Deer Hunting Season Has Slow Start

The deer hunting season got off to a slow start over most of Texas, but the reasons are as varied as the state itself.

The two factors most blamed for the poor harvest were adverse weather conditions spread generally over the entire state and an abundant acorn crop in major deer hunting regions.

While many areas did suffer a drouth-induced deer dieoff, the decline in deer populations was not critical to hunting success, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department wildlife biologists. Dry spring and summer weather caused poor antler development in many areas.

On a scale of one to 10, the deer season opening in the heart of the Edwards Plateau would have to rate about three, according to P&WD white-tailed deer program leader Horace Gore.

The below average hunter success was blamed primarily on a bumper acorn crop, and the cold, wet weather which blanketed the region. With the well-fed deer moving very little, the hunters just had fewer targets.

There should be enough acorns on the ground to take the deer herd through the first part of December; by then the deer should be moving more and hunting should improve, Gore predicted.

The sub-par hunting was reflected by the relatively low 27 per cent success ratio for hunters on the Kerr Management Area. During the first 11 days of the season, the area has yielded only 29 deer, according to Area Manager Donnie Harmel.

All of the deer were in excellent condition and two were exceptional animals, Harmel said.

While the recent rains may have been uncomfortable for the hunter, it was a blessing for the Hill Country habitat since the moisture will stimulate plant growth which will carry deer through late winter stress, Harmel said.

schedules which the taxpayer needs to use. If additional information is needed before deciding what credits, exemptions, or deductions should be claimed, there are over 90 free special publications that can be ordered by mail using the order form in the tax package, or by calling the IRS number listed in the local telephone directory. If more convenient, they can also be picked up at most IRS offices.

S-Annan's Sister Buried Dec. 13

Funeral services were held Saturday, December 13, in San Antonio for Mrs. Felicia Hurlbut Perry, 76, of San Antonio, sister of Fred Hurlbut of Santa Anna. Mrs. Perry died December 11 in San Antonio after a long illness.

Born in Brownwood June 17, 1904, she was a homemaker and member of Central Christian Church in San Antonio.

Survivors are one daughter and one son; a sister; two brothers and six grandchildren.

Holiday Blood

Donations Now Being Sought

During the holidays, over 35 blood donors are needed each day, to donate, to meet patient needs. Blood donors are in short supply during this time of year, for two reasons—fewer companies are willing to sponsor employee blood drives because of their interrupted holiday work schedules, and fewer regular blood donors take time to give blood at the blood center.

These two factors make it very difficult to provide for the needs of patients during this time, and more people are needed to donate at the blood center. According to Shirley Goetz, director of Donor Resources, "People literally forget about the need for blood during the holidays. They're preoccupied. Unfortunately, the need for blood is stronger than ever."

The blood center points out one easy way to remember about holiday blood needs—the color red. Red is the color of Christmas; the color of ribbons, Rudolph's nose and Santa's suit. This traditional color of Christmas is also the color of blood.

Only volunteer blood donors can help prevent a holiday shortage of blood. Go by the Brownwood Regional Hospital on Monday's between noon and 6 p.m.

Residents to Receive IRS Income Tax Packages

Taxpayers will receive their Federal income tax packages within the next two weeks, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The IRS sends taxpayers either a 1040 or 1040A package, depending on the form the taxpayer filed last year. Taxpayers who need to file a different form this year, because of a change in tax status, can pick up the proper form and schedules from their local IRS office, or from one of the many post offices that stock them. Extra forms are also available by using the order blank in the back of the tax package.

Whether taxpayers use the form the IRS sends them or order a different one, the IRS encourages use of both the peel-off address label and pre-addressed, coded return envelope provided in the originally mailed tax package. The label and envelope speed up the processing of the return, lessen the chance of making mistakes, and produce a faster refund for the taxpayer.

If there is a mistake on the label's information—the taxpayer's name, address, and social security number—or if the envelope is marked with the incorrect form number, the IRS said the taxpayer should make the necessary changes in ink.

The tax package contains complete instructions for filling out the tax return and any

Trickham News

By Mrs. Oscar Boenicke

Rev. Mike Alexander, the Methodist minister, preached at 9:30 Sunday morning, and three members from the Mount View Methodist Church put their membership in the Trickham Church. Their church has disbanded since several members have moved to Bangs and Brownwood.

Rev. Swanner, the Baptist minister, will preach next Sunday at 11 a.m.

Saturday night the community supper was held at the Community Center. Each one seemed to enjoy it and games afterwards.

Tuesday, December 9, the Trickham Quilting Club held our annual Christmas party with 18 ladies present. Ruth Smith, our president, was in charge, and the program included two songs led by Mary Boenicke, "Joy to the World" and "Silent Night," with Gertrude Martin at the piano. Carrie Stacy led in prayer. Each lady went to the tree and got her gift and told who her secret pal was.

The secretary, Genia McIver, had names to draw for the new year. After this refreshments of cookies, candy, sandwiches, cake, salads, nuts, cheese balls, punch and coffee were served to all present.

We had a pretty Christmas tree, and the tables were pretty. Thanks to Genia McIver and Ruth Smith. I set up a Manger scene to show the real Christmas spirit. We were glad to have Tavy Ford and Minnie Wilson with us. Other ladies present were Edna Laughlin, Daisy McClatchy, Russie James, Leona Henderson, Lyndall Moore, Ethel Storm, Estell Fellers, Carrie Stacy, Lou Vaughn, Gertrude Martin, Sug Stearns, Ruth Smith, Genia McIver, Mary Boenicke, Oma Lee Dockery and Ilene Haynes.

Marvin and Ruth Smith went to Midkiff and spent Thursday night with their daughter and family, Anna and Wayne Munn and boys, Todd and Dean. Friday they went to Kermit on business and came home Saturday evening.

Betsy and Sally McIver spent Friday night and Saturday with their grandparents, the Grady McIvers.

Sunday night Grady and Genia McIver and myself ate supper with the Smiths. Monday night Russie James and Lou Vaughn visited me awhile.

R. C. Stearns of Snyder visited his mother, Florence Stearns, Thursday and Friday. Monday evening Florence visited Alice Wells and daughter, Barbara Kirkpatrick, at Coleman.

Russie James and Oma Lee Dockery went to the Heart of Texas Art Guild meeting at Adams Street Community Center in Brownwood for a luncheon and demonstration Saturday. Sunday Roberta and Pat McShan and Pat Jr. and Shannon Watson of Brownwood had dinner with Russie and visited until after supper with her.

Tommy Stacy is home with his parents, the Del Ray Stacys and family in Brownwood, for the Christmas holidays until January 2. He has been in Hawaii for some time but hopes to be in Texas when he goes back. He visited his grandparents, the Walter Stacys, Friday.

Visitors with Lou Vaughn Tuesday night were Marvin and Ruth Smith, Genia and Grady McIver, Russie James, Oma Lee Dockery and Lyndall Moore. Saturday H. B. and Ernestine Dockery of Brownwood, Barbara Dockery, Lynne and Kelli visited, and Sunday evening I visited Lou.

Hilburn and Leona Henderson visited at Holiday Care Center at Coleman with O. J. Martin and Mrs. Artie Irby, also visited at Bangs with Stafford and Mamie Stevens and at the Bangs Rest Home with Carrie McClatchy. Eveline Herring visited Leona one evening last week.

Bro Anthony Thebodeaux and wife were dinner guests with me Sunday. They came home with me from church. He preaches each Sunday morning at the First Christian Church in Santa Anna, and preaches a good sermon each Sunday morning.

I attended the Santa Anna - Bangs AARP meeting in Santa Anna this Monday at noon at the annex of First Methodist Church. There were 42 present. We had a good meeting and everyone enjoyed a good dinner. Only two had birthdays this month. Tom Williams led the pledge to the flag and the birthday song, and prayer by Mr. Ross of

Jessa Fowler, 96, Buried Last Week

Beware of Eye-Threatening Toys

If gifts for children are on your holiday shopping list, the Texas Society to Prevent Blindness urges that you select them with safety in mind.

"Over 26,000 eye injuries have been caused by toys in the past five years," reports Clymer L. Wright, Society president. "Last year alone some 6,000 children had toy related eye injuries. According to figures from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, the major causes were toy guns and toy weapons with projectiles (116), sling shots and sling propelled toys (137) and gas, air or spring operated guns (a whopping 1,335 injuries)."

"It's sad that the toys that caused these and other injuries were purchased, for the most part, by parents who had wanted their gifts to bring pleasure to their children, not the pain that they did. Some children even suffered permanent vision loss from their injuries. But such unfortunate occurrences can be prevented this year if parents will select toys and games for their child's enjoyment from an eye-safety point of view."

Wright made these recommendations for toy selection. Avoid toys with projectiles or sharp edges; they have a built-in threat to the eyes. Avoid toys with detachable or removeable parts that can fly into the eyes; this warning also includes mobiles for infant cribs. Look for sturdy construction using shatterproof and non-flammable materials; be sure gears and springs are completely enclosed. It is better to pay more for one quality-constructed toy than a couple of cheap ones that are dangerous because they break so easily. Make sure the child is old enough to handle the toy safely; three quarters of all toy-caused eye accidents occur to children under 15 years of age. Last year 1,913 youngsters in this age group suffered eye injuries from BB guns, darts and bows and arrows. Thoroughly explain the safety risks and dangers of chemistry sets to older children and be sure the child understands them. Also, after you purchase the toys, watch what your children do with them; most accidents occur when youngsters are not supervised. Find out—are the children rough housing too much when using less eye-hazardous items as toy cars and trucks, even skateboards, all of which caused eye accidents last year? Are the children taking a "safe" toy and making it unsafe—for example, by pulling rubber tops off darts? Are older children keeping their more complex toys and games out of the reach of younger family members?

"Pick eye-safe toys this Christmas and show your children how to use them properly," Wright concluded. "In that way the gift you buy with hope of seeing your child's eyes light up on Christmas morning will never be the cause of dimming that light."

The Texas Society to Prevent Blindness is an affiliate of the National Society to Prevent Blindness, the oldest voluntary health agency nationally engaged in preventing blindness through community service pro-

Sociologist finds that Texas women outnumber the men

COLLEGE STATION —

Texans can expect to see more of the state's wealth controlled by women who survive their husbands, says a Texas A&M University sociologist.

"Between 1960 and 1970, the number of widows in Texas increased by about 100,000, and the number of widowers declined by more than 2,000, notes Dr. R. L. Skrabanek. "Texas had 540,000 widows and only 80,000 widowers in 1976, and the number of widows appears likely to increase."

Skrabanek also found that single females outnumbered single males, and that has implications for marriage and voting patterns as well.

"The fact that females outnumbered males in Texas indicates that the state's population is maturing in composition and that industrialization is rapidly modifying what was a predominately rural state," he said.

The largest bird in the Western Hemisphere is the Rhea, a South American relative of the ostrich. It has a long feathered neck, long feathered legs and three toes on each foot.

'Blue Shelled' Eggs the Same In Nutrition

Despite some claims, "blue shelled" eggs are no more nutritious and are no lower in cholesterol than ordinary white or brown shelled eggs.

The myths originated mainly with the Araucana breed of chickens in Chile, says Dr. Dave Mellor, poultry marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. The Araucana chicken is the best known breed producing blue shelled eggs. Actually, the eggs vary in color from light green to dark olive, so some people have tabbed the Araucana the "Easter egg chicken."

In tests at Texas A&M University and other universities, blue shelled eggs have always had as much or more cholesterol than commercial table eggs or any other egg for that matter, points out Mellor. Actually, in one Texas A&M test, Araucana, quail, pheasant, and White Leghorn eggs all had the same cholesterol content based on amount of cholesterol per unit weight of egg.

Blue shelled eggs are usually more expensive to produce than commercial table eggs, notes Mellor. People willing to pay a high price for these eggs should recognize that the Texas Egg Law requires that all eggs be graded, have a clean, sound shell and be maintained under 60 degrees F.

DRIVELINE

WARNING! We know it's tempting these days, but please don't make a habit of carrying extra cans or bottles of gasoline in your car trunk. It's a quick way of converting a rear-end collision into a fiery fatality. Plastic containers may deteriorate, puncture or leak. And, we might add, it is illegal in Texas to carry gasoline in anything but metal containers.

CONSUMER TIPS. Little things make a difference . . . If your oil is not quite down to the "add oil" mark on your dip stick, then don't add a can; your engine will just blow off the extra anyway . . . The next time you buy a new battery, check out the completely sealed models that never need water. They cost more, but they'll save you a lot of hassles checking the water level later on . . . and if your power steering squeals when turning full left or full right, chances are you may just need to fill up the power steering fluid tank found under the hood . . .

The longest taxi ride on record lasted from September 9 to October 6, 1976. Two New Jersey women hired a cab to drive them 6,752 miles from Hoboken through 15 states and back. The fare, set in advance, was $2,500.00.

"Do radial tires really help improve gas mileage?"
 — M.B., Conroe

Yes. Because of their special construction, radial tires produce less friction with the road surface. Therefore, it takes less power to roll along on them. Experts say gasoline savings can range from five to seven percent.

ANCIENT HISTORY: The first car ever reported stolen was in St. Louis in 1905.

World's Largest Car: a custom made "extended" Cadillac built in 1976. The super Caddy is 26 feet 7 inches long, weighs 9,000 pounds, and carries 43 gallons of gas. It is fitted with circular couches, tv and stereo, a bar, a refrigerator, a video tape recorder, and three anti-theft systems.

Salty tap water harmful to health, says researcher

COLLEGE STATION — That glass of EPA-certified sparkling clear water that quenches your thirst needs more treatment, claims a Texas A&M University researcher.

Tap water may — by Environmental Protection Agency standards — be free of organic extras but can be loaded with minerals some people don't need and can be harmful, says Dr. Harold Wolf.

"In some places, the concentration of sodium chloride is so high that anyone who drinks it regularly doesn't need to use any table salt at all for seasoning," said Wolf. He points out that research has shown too much salt in the diet contributes to heart disease, but officials who warn about cigarette smoking and cholesterol fail to emphasize the problems of excessive salt intake.

LILLIE AND LINWOOD BISHOP
Married in 1930

Linwood Bishops To Mark 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Linwood E. Bishop will be honored with a reception Wednesday, December 24, in observance of their 50th wedding anniversary. The reception will be hosted by their children in the multipurpose room of the Northside Church of Christ building at 508 Avenue B, Santa Anna from 2 to 4 p.m.

Lillie Price and Linwood Bishop were married December 16, 1930 in the home of his brother, H.J. Bishop, in Brownwood where he was at that time employed by the Renfro Drug Co. The following September he enrolled in Abilene Christian College as a ministerial student and they both worked in order to live and pay for this education. He preached his first gospel sermon in December 1931 and has since that time devoted his entire life to that ministry, and she has been his faithful wife, co-worker and friend. Their ministry for Christ has been scattered across the land from coast to coast and from border to border. They have done extended service with churches of Christ in Texas, New Mexico, California and Montana and he has preached and lectured in many other states. They have lived in Santa Anna since October 1977.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop are the parents of three children, Kenneth D. Bishop of Cupertino, California, Linda Chere Hobbs of Grand Prairie and Linwood E. Bishop Jr. of Houston. They are also the very proud grandparents of six grandchildren.

All friends and relatives of the Bishops are invited to attend the reception, even if only for a few minutes.

In ancient Egypt, nail color indicated a woman's social rank. Only the palest shades were permitted lower class women, and God help the woman who painted her talons brighter than the Queen's.

S-S Benefits Available For Blind People

Blind persons comprise a special category of people eligible for social security disability benefits. Under the law, blindness is defined either as central visual acuity of 20/200 or less in the better eye with the use of corrective lenses, or visual field reduction to 20 degrees or less.

While the inability to engage in any substantial gainful activity is an important criterion in determining eligibility for disability benefits based on blindness, the rule has been liberalized somewhat for blind workers 55 to 65 who are insured under social security. These people can become entitled to benefits if they are unable to perform work requiring skills or abilities comparable to work they did regularly before age 55, or before they became blind, whichever is later.

This provision means that older blind persons can establish basic entitlement to disability benefits even while they are working. As long as the work in which they are currently engaged is significantly different from previous work, benefits can continue. If the present work is comparable to that previously done and otherwise is substantial and gainful, payments cannot be made for months the person is employed.

As with other disability benefits, payments to blind beneficiaries generally cannot begin until after a waiting period of 5 full months of disability. However, a son or daughter disabled before age 22 may be eligible for benefits as soon as one parent or, in some cases, a grandparent begins getting retirement or disability benefits or dies after working long enough under social security to be insured.

Some persons who lose their vision as the result of an industrial accident become eligible for workers' compensation and social security disability benefits as long as the total family benefits under both programs do not exceed 80 percent of the person's full earnings, including any amounts above the maximum covered by social security. Where necessary to meet this limitation, the social security benefit is reduced; however, the adjusted combined benefit always is at least as much as the social security payment alone.

As is the case with disability beneficiaries in general, blind beneficiaries are granted a 9-month trial work period to encourage them to return to work. This means that any decision as to whether a beneficiary's work is substantial and gainful usually is delayed until the individual has worked for at least 9 months, not necessarily consecutively. The trial work period assures beneficiaries they will be given an opportunity to test their ability to hold a job without having to worry that their benefits will be discontinued.

Should the trial work period demonstrate the beneficiary's ability to do substantial gainful work despite the impairment, payments are continued for an additional 3 month period of adjustment. Of course, if the beneficiary still is unable to perform substantial gainful work at the end of the trial work period, benefits are continued.

Occasionally, a blind beneficiary may return to work only to become disabled once more. If this happens within 5 years, benefits can start again with the first full month of disability; a second waiting period is not required.

Other provisions of the law governing social security disability insurance also apply differently to blind persons than to other disabled individuals. For additional information about social security disability insurance, as well as for information about supplemental security income payments for blind persons and vocational rehabilitation services, contact any social security office.

Almost all social security matters can be handled by phone. For general information or to report a change, call toll free 800-392-1603. Medicare questions or filing of medicare claims can be taken care of by calling toll free 800-442-2620. If you wish to file an application to establish your eligibility you may call collect 915-646-7533 in Brownwood.

A representative of the Brownwood office visits Santa Anna once a month on the second Thursday from 1:00 - 2:30 p.m. The representative can be found at the Mountain City Center.
