Most of us will NEVER criticize rainy weather, but we have really had lots of it. Nearly every day some rain has fallen, and right now some sunshine would really look good.

David Pinkerton called last week to say he and his family have not left Santa Anna. Although he has resigned his coaching and teaching position in the junior high school, he and his family still plan to make their home here while he works with A&B Valve Co., an oil field-related business.

We're glad to keep these good folks in our town.

Emergency Response System Offers Help For Many Folks

January was a banner month for the Emergency Response Center with 19 installations in as many different homes in Coleman County. Many of these homes are located in rural areas, several miles from doctors, hospitals and ambulance service.

People enrolled in the program are issued a "sender unit" that is delivered to their home, attached to the telephone, and detailed instructions are given on the operation of the unit. All of this is provided with no cost to the subscriber.

In addition to a HELP button located on the unit, each individual is given a small electronic "call box" to attach to his or her belt or on a yarn cord around the neck. The "call box" has a signaling radius of 200 feet around your home, allowing great mobility. The help button on both the sender unit and the call box will activate the sender unit which notifies the Emergency Response Center's 24-hour service that help is needed.

The Emergency Response program in Coleman County is founded to be of assistance to people living alone in their homes, especially the ill or elderly. The service is available to anyone who is 65 years of age or over, whose monthly income is not over $588 per month, has a disability such as heart patients, pulmonary disease patients, individuals subject to dizzy spells, etc. The Department of Human Resources determines whether you meet these guidelines.

When the call button is activated, the Response Center quickly telephones the subscriber to confirm the emergency. If the patient answers and requests help, is sent immediately. If the call is not answered, ERS assumes the subscriber needs help and cannot reach the telephone. Appropriate action is then taken to send help.

The program is a new one but becoming popular with local citizens. Mrs. Jewell Pieratt was the first Santa Anna subscriber, with others being David Neal, Marcia Manley, Lottie Brown, Era Taylor, Lily Fox and Ernest McCoy. There are also subscribers in Novice, Gouldbusk, Leaday and other areas outside of Coleman.

Amon Johnston, coordinator for the Lifeline program, encourages anyone interested to contact him for more information. He can be found at 625-3390 in Coleman.

Basketball Apply For Food Stamps At S-Security Office

In practice games the past week, Santa Anna lost to Wylie High School, a Class AA District Champion, 59-53. Clifton scored 29 points and tied with Buzzard and Wardlow as leading rebounder. Guerrero scored 11 points.

The Mountaineers won 47-46 over the Wall team Friday night, with Clifton scoring 19 points and Guerrero adding 12. Buzzard and Wardlow each scored six points. Wardlow led in rebounds, and Buzzard and Wardlow each had two steals.

Coaching the Mountaineers this year is Charles Brewster. Assistant coach is Barry Miles.

The Mountaineers are entering the play-offs with a 31-5 record for the season.

If a fly lands on your nose, they say, somebody has something to tell you.

The Food Stamp Act of 1977 requires social security offices to take food stamp applications from certain supplemental security income (SSI) recipients and applications. The purpose of this provision is to increase the participation of aged, blind, and disabled persons in the food stamp program by making it easier for them to apply.

Since last August, social security offices have been taking food stamp applications from people receiving or applying for SSI benefits, provided they live in a household where everyone else is either receiving or applying for SSI. This additional service being provided by social security personnel will enable many people to apply for food stamps and SSI at the same time instead of having to go to two different offices.

Persons not receiving or applying for benefits under SSI or not living in household where everyone either gets SSI or is applying for it must apply for food stamps at the local food stamp office.

A food stamp household may consist of a single person who lives alone or a boarder who lives with others and pays "reasonable compensation" for meals. A household may also be a group of people if they live together and purchase and prepare their meals together.

The food stamp operates through the various state public assistance agencies under agreements with the Department of Agriculture. And the program, free food stamps are given to people with low incomes to help them buy food. The amount of food stamps a household is eligible for depends on the number of people in the household and their income, assets, and expenses.

The local food stamp office is responsible for informing the applicant about his or her eligibility.

There is sound reason for limiting social security involvement in taking food stamp applications to people who receive or are applying for SSI. Much of the information needed to determine eligibility for SSI benefits is the same information needed to verify eligibility for food stamps. Because of this, the two applications can be taken without a much greater investment of time and effort than one application would require. The Social Security Administration does not obtain the same kind of information from people who apply for social security benefits because financial need is not a criterion for these payments.

Almost all social security matters can be handled by phone. For general information or to report a change, call toll free 800-392-1603. Medicare questions or filing of medicare claims can be taken care of by calling toll free 800-442-2620. If you wish to file an application to establish your eligibility you may call collect 915-646-7533 in Brownwood.

A representative of the Brownwood office visits Santa Anna once a month on the second Thursday from 1:00-2:30 p.m. The representative can be found at the Mt. City Center.

Rep. Lynn Nabers On NCSL Committee

State Representative Lynn Nabers (D) of Brownwood has been named to the membership of the legislative committee headed by Speaker of the House Bill Clayton. Clayton said he was re-appointing Nabers to the Law and Justice Committee of the State Federal Assembly of the National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL) for a two year term. The committee, composed of legislative leaders from all 50 states, focuses attention on national domestic assistance programs and policies involving constitutional issues and amendments; criminal justice systems, including police, courts and corrections systems; and goals for criminal justice systems; economic and consumer protection programs and mechanisms; and national trade revision. The committee will explore issues within its expertise that are of national importance to the legislative process. Nabers, chairman of the House Criminal Justice Committee, leads a file of exper-

Spring and Summer Have More Poisonings

Galveston- The child is screaming and coughing. Mother runs to the garage and finds the child coughing, gagging, and having difficulty breathing and falls unconscious to the floor from a pan where his dad was washing greasy car parts with gasoline. An unusual occurrence? "No," says Michael Ellis, director of the Texas State Poison Center. "Spring and summer always brings us an increase in the number of poisonings. Gasoline and other petroleum distillates were contacted over 19,000 times for a poisoning emergency and some 11,000 times for general information about preventing poisonings. "The poison inquiries are primarily about children," Ellis said, "in fact, about 70% of all our calls involve the child who is 5 years old or younger. This is the prime age for small objects found down low to go directly in the mouth." And what about our child who drank the gasoline? "Gasoline and other petroleum distillates such as furniture polishes, lamp oils, lighter fluid, ect. present us with considerable problems. "If these products get into the lung of the child, the lung can be coated with the liquid and asphyxiation and death over a several day period occurs all too frequently." And there isn't much we can do about the situation." March 15-21 is National Poison Prevention Week and a good time to check for poor storage of poisons. Although the ingestion of foreign substances occurs quite frequently in the young child, luckily true 'poisonings' do not occur nearly as frequently. "Rushing the patient to the hospital emergency room after they have ingested a foreign substance, is not the best approach to the problem." About 85% of the time patient can be treated at home and does not require medical attention. Call the Poison Center First, and let them help you determine whether medical attention is necessary. In this way the patient is traumatized to a minimal degree if no medical attention is required. Since a poisoning emergency occurs whenever you are least expecting it, the telephone number of the Poison center is a very important number to keep handy. In Galveston the telephone number is 1-713-765-1420. It is answered 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Keep the number handy, remember, children act fast, so do poisons.

Texas A&M's engineering school is country's largest COLLEGE STATION— An analysis of fall enrollment figures at Texas A&M University shows its College of Engineering is the first engineering school in the nation to surpass 10,000 students. Engineering continues to be the largest academic unit on campus as well, with the College of Business Administration ranked next, followed closely by the College of Agriculture.

Dr. Robert H. Page, dean of engineering, credited the college's growth to the superb job market for engineering graduates. He said the engineering program at Texas A&M has grown 27 percent in the past two years.

Trickham News

By Mrs. Oscar Boenicke

Rev. Mike Alexander, the Methodist minister, preached at 9:30 last Sunday. Next Sunday Rev. Swanner, the Baptist minister, will preach at 11 a.m.

The community supper will be held next Saturday night at the Trickham Community Center at 6:30 p.m. Games will be played after supper. Hope everyone will be there ready to eat at 6:30.

I returned home last Tuesday morning from Odessa and Amarillo. At Odessa I visited Martha Elder and her mother, and also visited Bryan Elder at the nursing home. He is not any better, but may be holding his own. He knew us and was glad to see us but cannot talk.

I had a nice visit with my sister, Ethel Shield, from Saturday until Monday morning, also Alice and Forest Skinner and daughter, Laura, who all live together. Ethel wanted me to tell her friends and cousins hello for her. She is able to walk with a walker. I attended Sunday School and church with them last Sunday. She does good for a 91-year-old lady.

Thanks to Gertrude Martin for finishing my news last week and mailing it.

We had a good rain while I was gone -- 2.5 inches, and an inch since I came home.

My nephew and wife, Bill and Doris Shield from Bonham, came Wednesday morning and stayed until Thursday morning with me. Rankin McIver visited us Wednesday night awhile.

Visitors with the Rankin McIvers were her daughter, Darla Beal and girls from California, who are visiting now, and Janet and Mark Thompson and Joy of Abilene who visited during the weekend. Marvin and Ruth Smith visited Wednesday, and Dr. Norman Fry and his wife Sara and his mother, Mrs. Fry, visited them Friday.

The Frys and their children, Susan and Jeff, from Midland were here several days last week at their home here. I am sorry I missed seeing them. They tried to call me, but I was working outside and did not hear the phone. They came to get their garden planted here.

Rankin McIver went Sunday evening to Brownwood to the hospital to visit Jesse Earl York. He has been in the hospital pretty sick but is better and hopes to come better and was dismissed from the hospital Monday.

Visitors with the Walter Stacys last week were Marvin and Ruth Smith, Lou Vaughn, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Young and girls of Santa Anna. O. T. Stacy spent the day Saturday, and their granddaughter and husband, Charm and Jim Bode of Temple, visited Saturday. I visited them Sunday evening.

Visitors with Russie James Sunday were Roberta and Pat McShan and Pat Jr. and Shannon Watson of Brownwood and Cindy Hoffman of Lubbock and Karen Cason of Brownwood. Lou Vaughn also had dinner with them.

Visitors with Ilene Haynes were Jerry Haynes and Britt of Odessa who spent the weekend with her.

Mary Lea Mitchell reported her son-in-law, Loyd Mock of Post, is much better after a heart attack, and thought he would go back to work this Monday.

Last Wednesday night visitors with Oma Lee Dockery were Grady and Genia McIver, Hilburn and Leona Henderson, Betty Henderson, Lou Vaughn, and Russie James, who all met and played games.

Clarissa and Rodney Henderson spent the weekend with their grandparents, the Hilburn Hendersons, and Donnie and Chris came after church Sunday and had dinner with them and stayed until after supper and took the children home.

Visitors with Lou Vaughn have been Charm and Jim Bode of Temple who visited Saturday morning, and H. B. Dockery of Brownwood who had lunch with Lou Saturday. Sunday night Russie James and Lou Vaughn visited Mary Lea Mitchell.

Visitors with the Grady McIvers were Brad McIver who spent Friday night and Saturday with them, and Doyno McIver and Terry McIver had dinner with them Saturday. Royce and Wanda McIver spent Saturday night and Sunday, and Terry also visited. Grady Clay and Betsy and Sally had dinner with them Sunday. Orabeth McIver was sick and Reece stayed with her.

Florence Stearns is staying at Abilene helping out with her grandson, Gregory Wells, who was burned in a house fire in Coleman. Florence also stays at Coleman some with Barbara and children while she goes and stays with her brother and her mother, who is at the hospital there with him.

The Mount View community lost their Methodist Church, so the community gave them a big table and some benches and dish pans out of their community center to the Trickham Community Center, and they will meet with us now. Some of their members moved to Bangs and Brownwood, and they did not have enough members left to carry on the church.

Friendship Night Observed By E-Star Chapter

Monday night, March 9, was Friendship Night at the Santa Anna Eastern Star meeting. Billie Guthrie, worthy matron, and Montie Guthrie, worthy patron, presided, and Mrs. Guthrie gave a report on the Time and Talent membership.

It was reported Rose Bass and Zuda Henderson are on the sick list.

Mrs. Guthrie led the friendship program with all members taking part.

After the meeting closed, the group assembled in the fellowship hall where Mrs. Lois Avants and Mrs. Viola Morris served sandwiches, cake, nuts, coffee and hot punch to the ones present.

The next meeting will be April 13.

We will be glad to have them.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Rider of Santa Anna visited the G. K. Stearns Sunday night.

I had a telephone call this Monday night from Abilene from some good friends visiting there a few days, Mr. and Mrs. Warner Colvin of California. They will visit me Thursday evening and night and will go to Bangs Friday to visit Fay Whitley. They used to live neighbors to Oscar and me, and they come to see us each time they come to Texas. We have been friends all these years.

The objectives and activities of the institute will be to operate an annual talent search, sponsor programs for select students, conduct research, provide teacher in-service training and expand professional training.

Brucellosis Vaccination Endorsed By TFB

Calfhood vaccination with reduced dosage is a basic approach to controlling the livestock disease brucellosis, according to Donnie Neff of Santa Anna, chairman of the Coleman County Farm Bureau Beef Cattle Committee, and Felton Martin of Trickham, chairman of the Coleman County Farm Bureau Dairy Committee.

Vaccinating heifer calves between four to 12 months of age simplifies control, the livestock leaders said.

"This will provide for the opportunity for more freedom in movement of cattle, it gives added protection to herds, and it will prove to be good protection for a cattleman's investment," Neff said.

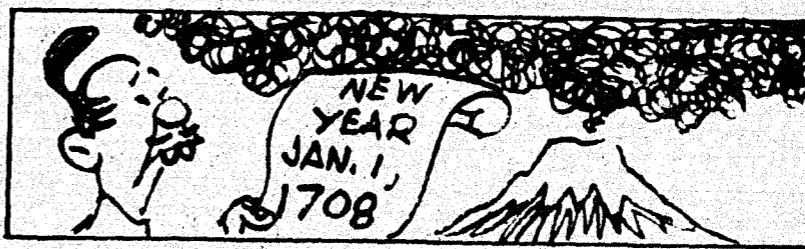

Under the new brucellosis plan, calves need only a once-in-a-lifetime vaccination. Vaccine is free. Also the vaccination virtually removes the chance of reactors, the livestock leaders said.

Cattlemen are urged to consult with their veterinarian for more information about this approach, the vaccination age, and the management program best suited to their operations.

The Texas Animal Health Commission, Texas Veterinary Medical Association, and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service have been conducting a series of training workshops for veterinarians who will be administering the vaccine. The veterinarians are responsible for applying official ear tags and tattoos and keeping and reporting official records.

The Coleman County Farm Bureau is promoting participation in the program and will offer other information to those requesting it.

The last recorded eruption of Japan's Mount Fuji lasted from November 24, 1707, to January 22, 1708.

Coleman County Turkey Season In April-May

Spring turkey gobbler hunting offers a special brand of recreation attractive only to the true outdoorsman.

It's advisable if not essential to rise early, wear camouflaged clothing and use a turkey call to expect a shot at a wily spring gobbler.

But for those dedicated enough to accept the regimen, spring turkey hunting can be one of the more fascinating and satisfying of all hunting's many forms.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has expanded the number of counties offering a spring season for 1981. All or portions of 72 counties will have 16-day spring seasons.

In the western half of the state which is the domain of the Rio Grande turkey, there are 64 counties with a spring season. In East Texas, a number of counties have a season in only portion of the county.

The bag limit for all counties is one gobbler per hunter for the season.

To determine the exact locations for turkey hunting, consult the TPWD's regulations booklet which is available where hunting licenses are sold.

In Coleman County the season will be April 18 - May 3.

SS Recipients to Get Money's Worth

If you're wondering whether you'll get your money's worth from today's Social Security system, the answer is, in general, "yes."

On January 1, 1981, Social Security payroll-tax rates increased from 6.13 percent of earnings to 6.75 percent, and the earnings base upon which workers and employers pay the payroll tax will also rise from $25,000 to $29,700. These tax increases were legislated in 1977, in an effort by Congress to strengthen the financing of Social Security.

The rising tax rates have led many people to ask: Will I get back in Social Security benefits the higher amounts that I will pay in taxes? Will Social Security continue to be a good value? The answer, for the most part, is yes!

Let us explain why this is so. Employers and employees each contribute to Social Security in equal amounts. The combined payroll tax really finances four different kinds of social insurance benefits: retirement benefits, survivors and disability benefits and hospital insurance for those age 65 and over and for the long term disabled.

As under any insurance plan, people who suffer the insured risks will receive more than those who do not. For example, if your automobile is never damaged in an accident, or if your house or apartment never catches fire, obviously you will receive less of a return from your automobile and fire insurance than someone who did experience those things. But we buy insurance precisely because we can't predict the future. We don't know if we will live to a very old age, or if the inflation rate will further escalate to erode our savings, or if our paychecks will stop due to disability or death. For example, 42 percent of today's young men will die or become disabled before age 65. For young women the figure is 28 percent. Therefore, we protect ourselves against risks in an affordable way.

That's what Social Security does: it protects you throughout your life against a number of different risks that you could not foresee as a young man or woman.

A person who had high earnings has usually had opportunities to add to Social Security retirement benefits with private pensions or savings to maintain a certain standard of living in the retirement years. But people who have had low earnings during their work career, usually have not been able to afford to do the same. Many look to Social Security as all or a major part of their income. Therefore, benefits are calculated to take this into account. The benefits for lower paid workers represent a higher rate of replacement of their earnings. This is one of the main differences between social insurance and individually purchased private insurance. Similarly, if you marry and have children to support, you would need relatively higher benefits; and Social Security pays more to workers with dependents than to single individuals.

In other words, different workers, depending upon their circumstances, will receive different benefits from Social Security because it is a social insurance program. Even those workers who, upon reaching retirement age, have always earned the maximum and have never married or become disabled, were potentially protected in ways other than their own retirement benefits, because of the provisions in Social Security that would have benefited them if they had married, earned less, or become disabled.

With relatively few exceptions, workers, including those who just entered the work force, generally can expect to pay. Some people, such as highly paid workers who never marry, may expect benefits that are not worth as much as the taxes they can expect to pay.

Let's focus for the moment solely on the cash benefits payable to retired workers. A worker who retired at the end of 1979 at age 65 paid over his or her working career no more than $11,203 in Social Security taxes. That same person would recoup those tax payments in a little over 17 months as a Social Security beneficiary. If you consider that the average man age 65 can expect to live until age 79, and the average woman age 65 can expect to live until age 83, then it is easy for you to see that the average worker retiring now can expect to receive far more in lifetime Social Security benefits than he or she ever paid in taxes, even if you adjust the payments for interest.

But what about average young workers, you may ask? Will they get back what they paid into Social Security? Given the present system, the answer is in general, "yes." In fact, the average young working man with dependents can expect to receive benefits with a value more than three times the value of what he can expect to pay in taxes under a reasonable set of actuarial assumptions. A working woman who never marries, and who has average earnings, can expect to receive benefits worth more than two times the value of her expected taxes.

The issue becomes slightly more complicated, however, if you consider what employers contribute in Social Security taxes. Many reputable authorities believe that the payroll taxes paid by employers should not be considered a contribution that is earmarked for an individual employee's benefit. Rather they view the employer tax as a contribution to the general system of Social Security, which distributes the benefits to individuals according to the different risks I alluded to above. In fact, the 1979 Advisory Council on Social Security tax should be viewed as a general tax available to Social Security rather than as a fringe benefit attributable to a particular employee.

On average, young workers as a group still can expect to receive benefits from Social Security that are worth more than the taxes they and their employers can expect to pay. For example, if we take those in the age group 20-24, they and their dependents can, on average, expect to receive benefits with value roughly 15 percent greater than their payroll taxes and their employers' payroll taxes combined. This calculation includes appropriate adjustment for interest that could be earned elsewhere. And if you consider only the taxes the young workers themselves would pay, then they would get back 130 percent more in benefits. Again these figures are projections based on a reasonable set of assumptions as to the mortality experience of the

Bad Weather Contributes To Water Fatalities

AUSTIN—A springtime fishing trip at Cedar Creek Lake in Henderson County ended in tragedy for an Irving man and his five-year-old son in 1980 after their boat capsized in high winds.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department water safety officials said both drowned or were overcome by hypothermia. The incident was somewhat typical of water related fatalities recorded during March, as wind and rough water were contributing causes in 12 of the 16 boating fatalities.

The wind was blowing up to 30 miles per hour and the water temperature was 50 degrees at the time of the double fatality, according to investigating Game Wardens Mark Davis and Mike Warren.

Statistics for March 1980 showed that 10 of the month's fatalities involved boats 15 feet or smaller in length, and hypothermia (freezing to death) was a contributing factor in 12 cases.

The department advises fishermen and boaters to take notice of weather forecasts when planning a lake or bay outing in small boats. If small craft warnings have been posted, launching should be delayed.

Each person aboard a boat in Texas is required to have a personal flotation device (life preserver) close at hand, and all boat passengers 12 years and younger must wear a PFD

Peter's Sifting Resulted in His Conversion

And the Lord said, Simon, Simon, behold Satan hath desired to have you, that he may sift you as wheat; but I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not; and when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren. Luke 22: 31, 32.

The reason so many of Christ's professed disciples fall into grievous temptation is that they have not a correct knowledge of themselves. Here is where Peter was so thoroughly sifted by the enemy. If we could understand our own weakness, we should see so much to do for ourselves that we would humble our hearts under the mighty hand of God. Hanging our helpless souls upon Christ, we would supplement our ignorance with His wisdom, our weakness with His strength, our frailty with His enduring might. Peter fell because he did not know his own frailty. He thought himself strong...

Had Peter walked humbly with God, hiding self in Christ; had he earnestly looked for divine help; had he been less self-confident; had he received the Lord's instruction and practiced it, he would have been watching unto prayer.... Had he closely examined himself, the Lord would have given him divine help and there would have been no need of Satan's sifting.... There is no power in the whole satanic force that can disable the soul that trusts, in simple confidence, in the wisdom that comes from God.

The watch-care of Christ for Peter was the cause of his restoration. Satan could do nothing against the all-powerful intercession of Christ. And the prayer that Christ offered for Peter He offers in behalf of all who are humble and contrite in heart... Peter sinned against light and knowledge, and against great and exalted privileges. It was self-confidence that caused him to fail, and it is this same evil that is now working in human hearts. It may be our purpose to be right and to do right, but we shall most surely err unless we are constant learners in the school of Christ. Our only safety is in walking humbly with God.

Miss Becky Allen, daughter of steer roping director James R. Allen, worked the publicity, promotional and educational booth during the PRCA convention at Denver.

Publicity, Promotions For PRCA Steer Roping

PRCA single steer ropers have established a promotions and publicity campaign in an effort to educate the general public as well as rodeo fans and committees that are not familiar with the event.

In the exhibition hall at the National Rodeo Finals in Oklahoma City in December and during the 34th annual PRCA convention in Denver, the steer ropers set up booths to further the educational, publicity and promotional efforts. The booths featured video tapes of the National Finals Steer Roping, brochures titled "I Like Single Steer Roping ...and we think you will like it too," and offered T-shirts and caps for sale with "I Like PRCA Single Steer Roping," printed on the front, along with a drawing of single steer roping action.

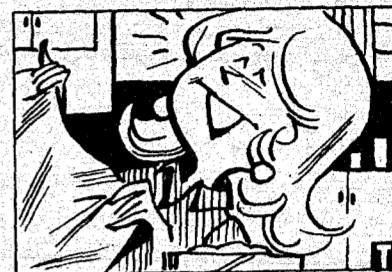

The brochure lists such information as the history and background of single steer roping, one of rodeo's original events; rodeos that currently include the event; arena size required; the fact that the steer ropers will themselves furnish cattle for the event at little or no cost should a rodeo committee wish to include the event in the future; the legality of single steer roping; a guarantee that world champions and other well-known world class steer ropers will appear during regular performances; the offer of single steer roping demonstrations; the amount of money spent by steer ropers to the benefit of a town where the event is included in the rodeo.

James Allen of Santa Anna is PRCA Steer Roping Director and heading the promotional campaign. At the Denver meeting he was assisted by his daughter, Becky, at the booth. The Allen's have a vital interest in the sport as James has been one of the top steer ropers for several years and son Guy is the reigning World Champion, having also held the title in 1977.

Hints for HOMEMAKERS TIPS TO HELP YOU

The United States Department of Agriculture is forecasting double-digit increases in the cost of grocery items during 1981.

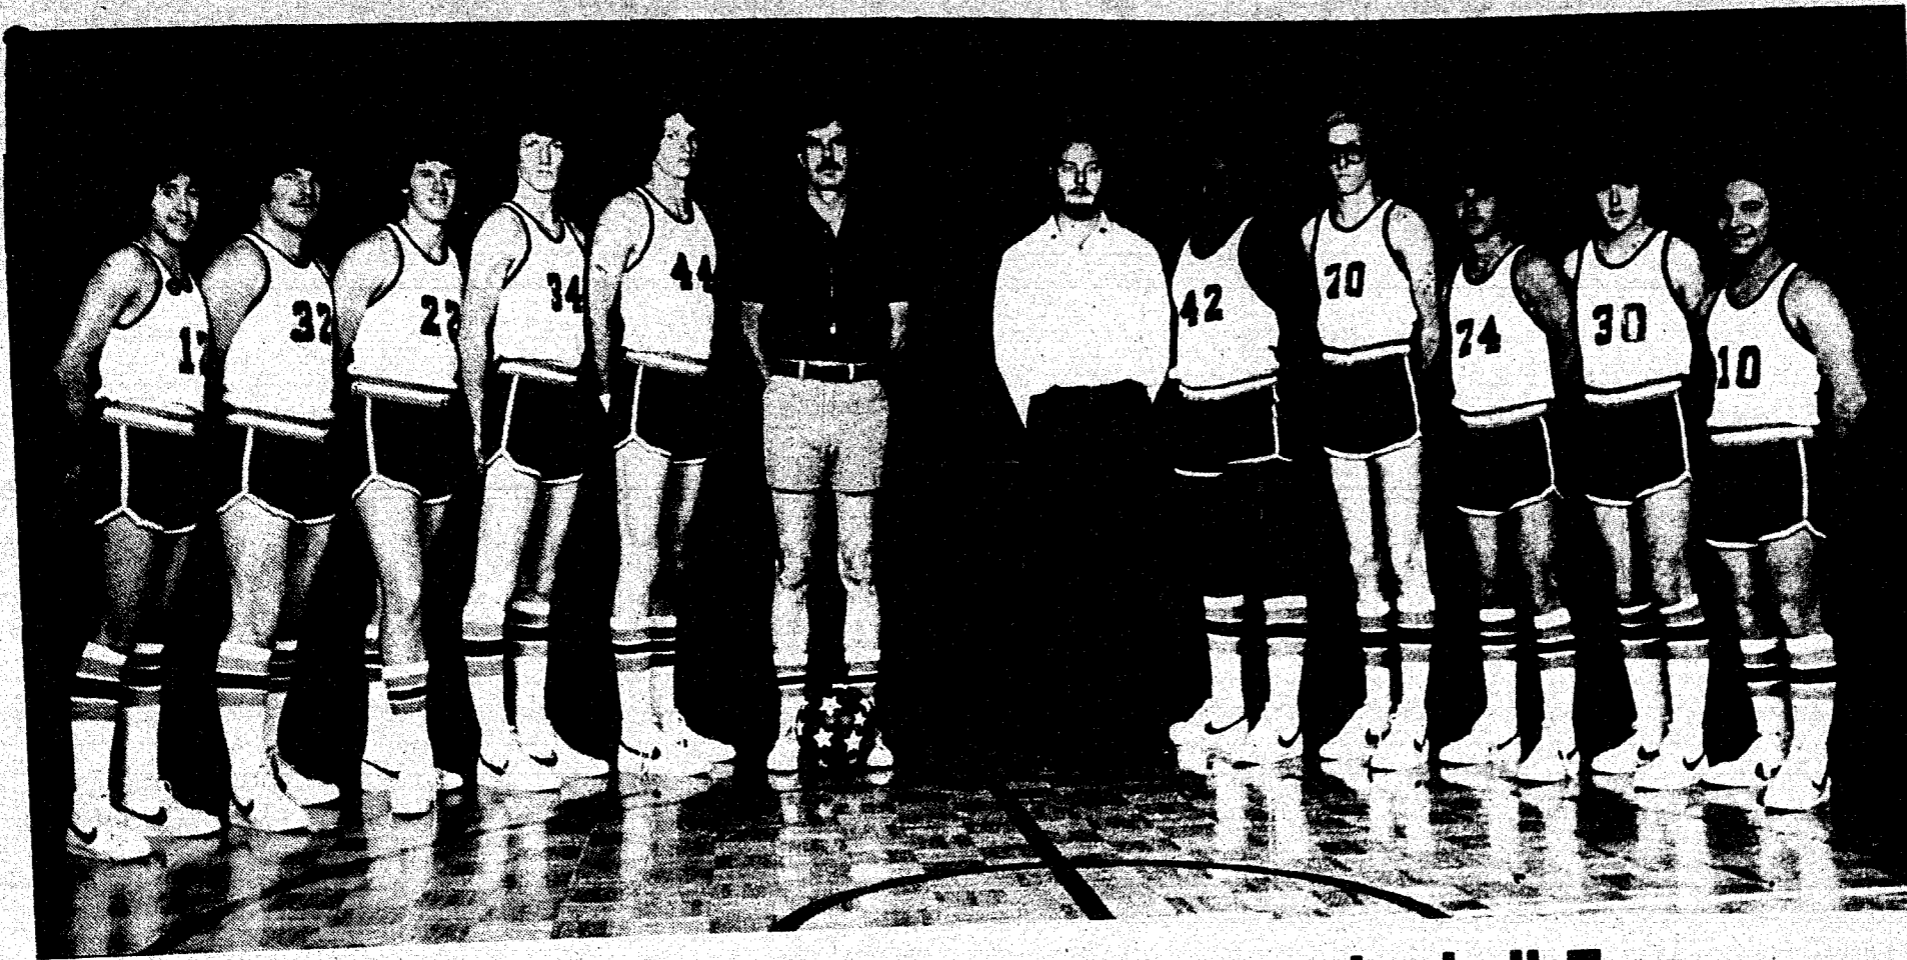

Fortunately, there are some products that offer improved quality and value without a corollary increase in price. The new "Glad" 3 Ply Trash Bags, for example, are tougher than the regular "Glad" 2 Ply Bags but are available at the same price.

Consumers concerned about energy conservation may be glad to know that those three-ply bags use a plastic that is made from a special process that helps slash energy requirements by up to 75 percent.
