The mild weather we have had turned into a March "lion" Tuesday night when a hard blowing norther brought heavy dust to our community. The weather was clearer Wednesday morning except for dust in the air.

Let's hope we don't have more sand storms this spring!

When our subscribers have problems with their paper deliveries it is most times they DON'T get an issue. This week we had a different problem -- Mrs. Opal Stockard, who now lives in San Angelo, received three issues of the News. No doubt her address stencil got stuck in the machine and her name and address were stamped, and stamped and stamped!

As proud as we are of our newspaper, I hardly think it is worth reading three times.

Santa Anna Deputy Resigns Position

Bob Burleson, a Coleman County Sheriff's Deputy assigned to Santa Anna, resigned last week and has re-joined the Coleman Police Department.

According to Sheriff H. F. Fenton, Burleson cited better salary as his reason for leaving the post he had held the past five months. At the Coleman position he will be getting $54 per month more for a five-day week; at Santa Anna he was on 24-hour call with no overtime pay.

Sheriff Fenton will attempt to hire an additional deputy, but feels the low salary, starting at $788 per month, will make it almost impossible.

During the time Santa Anna is without a deputy, local people may call the Sheriff's office in Coleman, 625-2030, or Chief Deputy Wade Turner, 625-3039, or Deputy Eddie Odom, 625-3130. Sheriff Fenton may also be reached at the County Jail, 625-2846.

When there is no answer at those numbers, call the Coleman Police Department, 625-4141, where a 24-hour a day dispatcher will relay messages by radio to the Sheriff's office.

Burleson came to Santa Anna as deputy after the resignation of M. R. (Bud) Simmons.

Mountaineers Lose Game; Midway Wins Region Title

The 1981 basketball season came to an abrupt end for the Santa Anna Mountaineers Friday when they lost their first game in the Regional Tournament in Stephenville. The Krum High School team defeated the Santa Anna boys 59 - 39. The Krum team was later upset by the Priddy High School team, with Midway winning over Priddy Saturday night for the Regional title and a spot in the State meet in Austin this weekend.

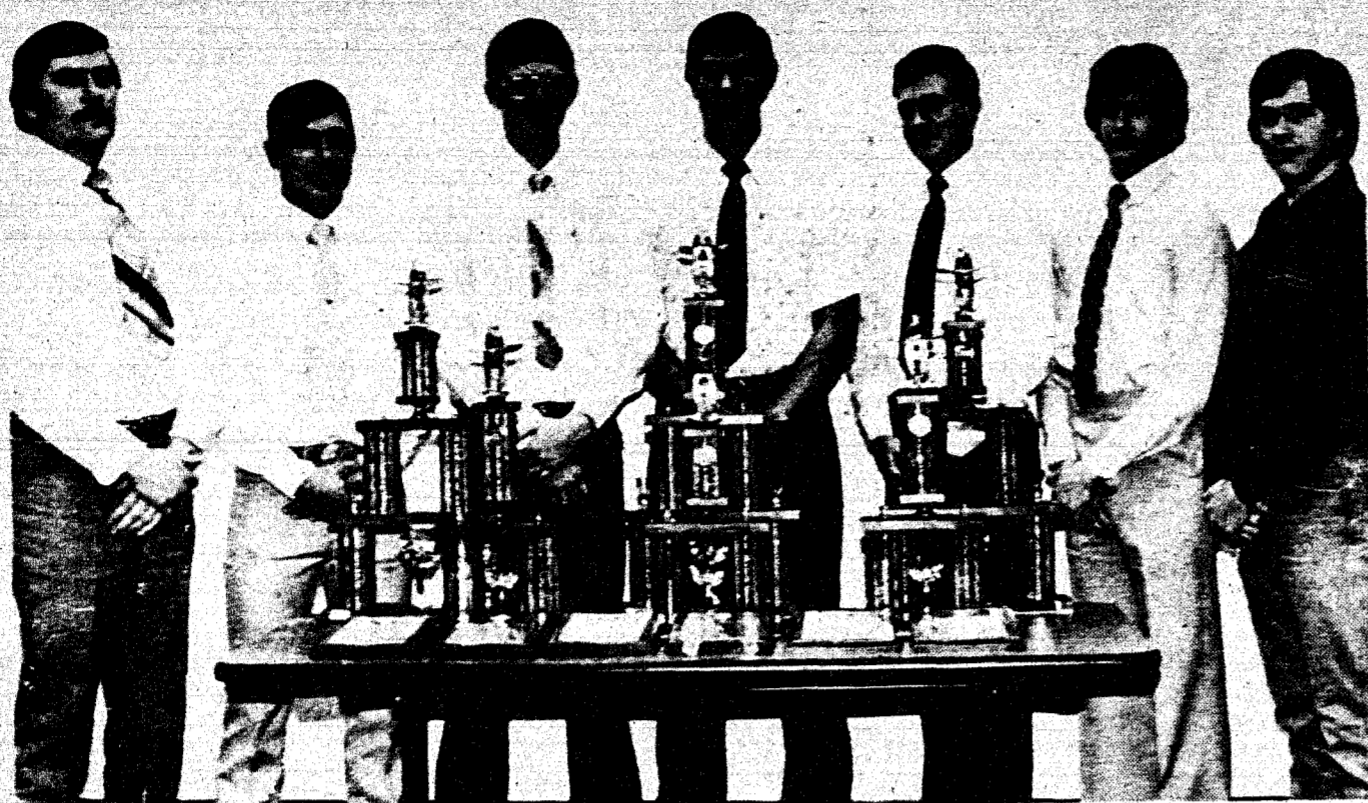

The Mountaineers were first to score in the game and had a one-point lead at the end of the first quarter. The Krum team went ahead to 31-15 at halftime, and stayed ahead of the Mountaineers the rest of the contest. The Krum team also won over Santa Anna last year in the semi-finals of the regional meet.

Jim Clifton led the Santa Anna scoring with 21 points, with Danny Guerrero scoring six and Bradley Wardlow, Dwayne Warnock and Rusty Buzzard each scoring four points.

The Mountaineers, coached by Charles Brewster and Barry Miles, ended the season with a fine 31-6 record.

Many Santa Anna people were on hand for the game and some remained for the Meridian - Graford game with Graford winning by a narrow margin. The Meridian team is coached by Santa Anna native David Horner.

eyes and answers
Weston A. Pettey, O.D.

NIGHT-DRIVING BLUR

Dear Dr. Pettey: I'm now sixty-five. But I've never been sick much; blood pressure is good; not fat. In the last year though I've noticed I can't see as well to drive at night. Is this normal?

In the usually accepted meaning of the word "normal," perhaps poorer night vision can be expected as one grows older. But, many factors can be involved in poor night seeing, and aging is only one of them. We know that cell changes, especially in the eye lens and cornea, begin as we age. A very slight clouding of these tissues takes place and little can be done to arrest this process when it occurs. That clouding causes light rays entering the eye to fade before reaching the retina.

Infections are a frequent cause, such as might be found in kidney, bladder, intestinal tract, nasal or sinus, or in other body parts. Even a bad cold is detrimental to good night vision. Blood vessel changes which occur with aging can also cause diminished night vision.

One of the most expected interferences is the pupil of the eye getting smaller. When younger, our pupils normally enlarge under lower illumination levels in order to take advantage of all available light. As time passes, there is less and less enlargement of the pupils and a definite accompanying interference in our night vision.

At first a fading, then the gradual ending of normal functioning seems built into all biological tissue and into all of nature's wonderful creations.

Finally, a little advice to you and others with fading night vision: Drive less at night; drive more slowly; keep your windshield and side glasses completely clean; be more alert than ever; stay in your driving lane; think ahead to the turn,

Agriculture Day is Today

COLLEGE STATION -- Texas Agricultural Day, March 19, provides all Texans an opportunity to reflect upon and be thankful for the food and fiber bounty that is ours.

Some 140,000 young Texans between the ages of 9 and 19 will be paying special attention to this day and remembering their heritage in agriculture, says Preston D. Sides, 4-H and youth specialist.

These young people, members of about 2,000 community based 4-H Clubs in Texas, are busy each day, Sides says, working toward the fulfillment of their motto, "To Make The Best Better."

"Other thought of a strictly a rural organization, 4-H today extends into the suburbs and central cities of the state while also continuing to serve the rural and small town youth. Although the youth organization's roots are firmly planted in agriculture, 4-H members of today are branching out and applying the basic knowledge and skills learned through their projects to other new and exciting endeavors," the specialist explains.

For example, number of 4-H'ers in Bastrop County are training dogs in a special and much needed skill, herding cattle. It takes a unique kind of training to teach the dogs to respond to voice commands but, once trained, the dogs perform a valuable service to the rancher, Sides says.

Using dogs as their projects, another 4-H program deals with basic training which leads a dog to be a guide for the blind. These guide dogs are highly prized and their proper training is critical, points out the specialist.

A group of 4-H'ers in West Texas practices sand painting as an art form during some of the summer months. Their paintings of varied colors of sand are the result of many months of work in collecting the sands and studying the art of sand painting.

"Other innovative 4-H'ers near Pearland are using sand in another way. They are using discarded Christmas trees to rebuild the sand dunes destroyed by hurricanes. By staking the trees along a chosen line in the beach area, they encourage nature to rebuild the dunes and thus prevent beach erosion and some low-land flooding when another storm comes along," Sides says.

They are using different techniques but accomplishing their goals in the 4-H manner of achievements.

First Case Of Screwworms

Noted in El Paso

MISSION, TEXAS...Sterile screwworm flies are being distributed in the El Paso area as a result of the first screwworm find in the United States since August 27 of last year.

Dr. James E. Novy, director of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Screwworm Laboratory, says the El Paso sample was collected by Guy Johnsen, DVM, from a dog February 27. It arrived at the Lab and was identified March 2.

The need for lab identification of a sample of any worms found in a wound of any warm blooded animal is necessary. Free postage paid sample submission kits are available from County Agents, feed stores, livestock inspectors or from the Lab at Mission.

The El Paso case confirms the necessity of constantly checking for other outbreaks. The goal of having no confirmed cases in 1981 is no longer possible, but efforts should be made to confine any outbreaks.

Last year only two confirmed cases were reported in the United States, one of which was in Coleman County. The extremely wet weather may contribute to reproduction of the screwworm flies during the spring months.

Livestock producers throughout the border area between Mexico and Texas are urged to be especially watchful for any suspected screwworm cases.

March Deadline Announced For Crop Insurance

"Producers in Coleman, Concho, McCulloch and Runnels counties have until March 31 to apply for FCIC coverage on cotton and grain sorghum. The same deadline also applies to cotton producers in Glasscock, Midland, Reagan and Tom Green counties and to grain sorghum producers in Brown County," said Marcus Kocich, FCIC district director.

A March deadline has been announced on applications for Federal Crop Insurance protection in nine area counties.

"This is the first year

all-risk insurance protection has been available to farmers in most of these counties. The program has helped many farmers in other counties. Besides providing a stable cash flow even if disaster strikes, it can also be used as collateral for bank loans or as a backstop for forward contracting," Kocich added.

The FCIC program is a part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Information, applications and policy servicing is available from private insurance agents throughout the counties or from the FCIC district offices in Lubbock and Waco.

Special Rules Apply For Blind Persons

Blind people who apply for social security disability benefits should be aware of several requirements that are different from the requirements other disability applicants must meet.

In the social security law, blindness is defined as central visual acuity of 20/200 or less in the better eye with the use of corrective lenses or reduction in visual field to 20 degrees or less.

People who meet the test of blindness do not have to meet the test of recent work as do other disabled people. However, to get benefits on their own social security record, they do need to have worked long enough under social security. The exact amount of work credit needed depends on the person's age at the time he or she becomes disabled.

Another difference is that blind workers 55 or older can qualify for disability checks if they cannot perform work requiring skills or abilities comparable to work they did regularly before 55. For other disabled workers and blind workers under 55, the test is inability to perform substantial gainful activity in any kind of job.

There is also a difference in the measure used to determine if a blind person is able to perform substantial gainful activity and can continue to receive disability payments. A blind beneficiary's ability to perform substantial gainful activity is normally demonstrated by ability to earn more than $416.67 a month in 1980. For other disabled beneficiaries, the level generally is $300 in 1980.

Even though a person's vision may not meet the definition of blindness, he or she can be considered disabled if the regular disability definition is met—the inability to work because of a severe physical or mental impairment that has lasted, or is expected to last, 12 months or more or result in death.

New Brucellosis Program Aids Cattle Raisers

A year of revised regulations in the Texas brucellosis program is highlighted by a sharp increase in vaccination of heifer calves, promising research developments, and improved cooperation with producers and other segments of the livestock industry.

Commissioners of the Texas Animal Health Commission adopted major changes in the Texas program a year ago. The new program has six basic thrusts:

1. To provide a practical and affordable program for the Texas cowman that meets scientific criteria for control for Blind People, contains more detailed information about disability benefits. Free copies can be obtained from any social security office.

A representative of the Brownwood office visits Santa Anna once a month on the second Thursday from 1:00-2:30 p.m. The representative can be found at the Mountain City Center.

leading to eventual eradication of brucellosis;

2. Significant increase in the use of the reduced dose of Strain 19 vaccine;

3. Expanded and improved laboratories;

4. Improved surveillance;

5. Individual herd plans;

6. Meet federal regulations for interstate movement of breeding cattle.

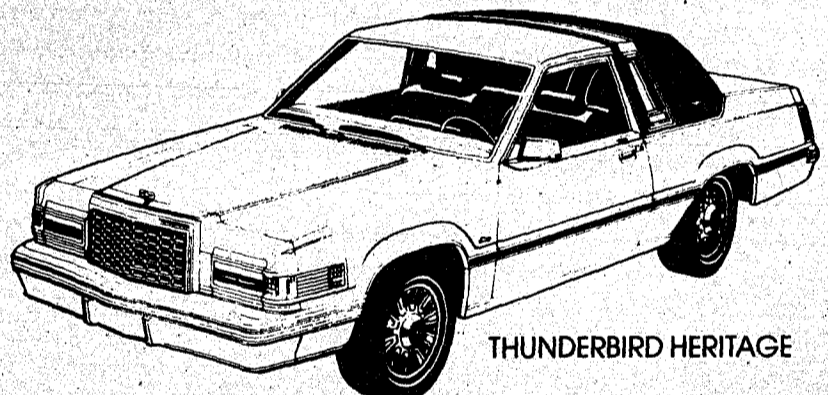

Brucellosis is a highly contagious disease, affecting mainly livestock, and centering in the reproductive organs. It causes abortions, sterility, weakened calves, and partial loss of milk. In humans, it is called undulant fever.

There had been an almost 100 percent increase in vaccination of heifer calves during the last calendar quarter which is credited to the approval of the reduced dose of Strain 19 vaccine. Vaccination is the key

Postal Rate Increase In Effect March 22

Postage rates will increase next week, with first class mail costing 18 cents for the first ounce instead of 15 cents. Postal cards will now be 12 cents instead of ten.

All letters and cards post-marked after midnight March 21 will require the new postage rate. Increases will also be charged on most other classes of mail and in services offered by the postal service.

The local post office has a supply of three cent and two cent stamps to be affixed along with the present postage for the new rate. A new purple stamp with the letter B worth 18 cents will soon be available and in use until a new 18 cent stamp is printed.

The stamp with a letter instead of a numeral is only the second such stamp ever issued by the Postal Service. The first one, bearing the letter A, was used briefly three years ago when the 15 cent rate went into effect.

The Mail Box

Dear Sir:

Please help, I'm trying to find my biological mother. Her name was Elsie Musick Simmons. In 1950 my adoptive father came to Santa Anna and talked to her. She was a waitress.

It was a round rock house made into a barbecue cafe. I was told she married John Lake, and lived in San Antonio.

In 1950 she was married but I do not know their name.

I have a beautiful family and they need a grandmother. My adoptive parents are both dead.

If this person is alive or dead, I have to know. I was born May 24, 1933 in Abilene and adopted by John William and Ruth Thomas.

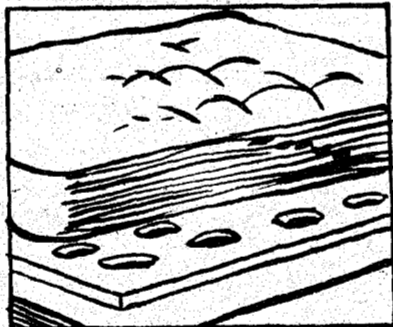

A girl needs a mother when her parents have died. Thank you.

Lazarus Raised To Testify To God's Glory

When Jesus heard that, he said, This sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God might be glorified thereby. John 11:4.

Christ's two-day delay after hearing that Lazarus was sick was not neglect or a denial on His part This should be an encouragement to us We are to rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for Him. The answer to our prayers may not come as quickly as we desire, and it may not be just what we have asked; but He who knows what is for the highest good of His children will bestow a much greater good than we have asked, if we do not become faithless and discouraged.

Christ had not only the loved ones at Bethany to think of; He had the training of His disciples to consider. They were to be His representatives to the world, that the Father's blessing might include all. For their sake He permitted Lazarus to die. Had He restored him from illness to health, the miracle that is the most positive evidence of His divine character would not have been performed.

Had Christ been in the sick-room, Lazarus would not have died; for Satan would have had no power over him. In the presence of the Lifegiver, death could not have aimed his dart at Lazarus He permitted Lazarus to pass under the dominion of death, and the suffering sisters saw their brother laid in the grave. Christ knew that as they looked on the face of their dead brother, their faith in their Redeemer would be severely tried. Thus He was pruning the branches, that they might bring forth more fruit. He knew that because of the struggle through which they were now passing, their faith would shine with far greater power.

To all who are reaching out to feel the guiding hand of God, the moment of greatest discouragement is the time when divine help is nearest ... From every temptation and every trial He will bring them forth with firmer faith and a richer experience.

A Visit To Windsor Castle

By Barbara Kingsbery

On our last day in downtown London last August, Suzanne Kingsbery and I made a trip to Windsor Castle, about 25 miles from the city. We had spent the night at the Grosvenor Hotel, which adjoins the city's transportation center, so we got a bus that went directly to the castle.

Located in the little town of Windsor, the castle sprawls across a low hill, the compound surrounded by a rock wall. Acres of rock buildings range from Roman to Gothic style, depending on the time in which they were built, some as early as the 10th century. Each monarch has added to the compound, with the present English royal family having country living quarters there and visiting on frequent weekends or vacations.

We toured the State Apartments that are used for some official functions. The living quarters of the royal family are not open to the public, however.

The formal decor is very ornate, with much gold leaf, intricately-carved woodwork and elegant tapestries. Paintings by Van Dyke, Reubens and other masters were on every wall, and autographed photos of internationally-famous people were on display.

Among the interesting displays was the Queen's doll house, an intricate structure about six feet tall, that had three stories of tiny rooms, complete with dishes and accessories, all decorated in the opulence of the palace itself. Other toys and accessories of Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret were also displayed.

As at other places we toured, there were hundreds of tourists, and we joined many others in a picnic lunch on the grass outside the castle wall, enjoying a traditional British meat pie bought at a bakery in the little town that reaches to the gates of the castle.

Attendants at the castle were friendly and courteous, answering questions asked by the tourists. The complex and surrounding gardens were perfectly kept, with flowers blooming in profusion. The royal family's quarters within the complex are surrounded by another high rock wall and what at one time might have been a moat, but now is a lovely flower garden. The Queen's banner was not flying from the castle, indicating she was not "at home" that day.

Our bus ride to and from the city of London was interesting, giving us a view of the English countryside. The sport of polo, hunting and jumping was evident as there were several large stables along the route, and beautiful horses were grazing in the green fields and pastures along the way.

The weather was lovely during our visit in England, with only a day or so with cloudy or damp weather. We were told that the previous month had recorded the most rainfall for July in England for several hundred years.

Self Culture Club Has Recent Meeting

The Self Culture club met in the Community center last Wednesday, with Mrs. Joe Barnes and Mrs. J. W. McClellan as hostesses. The tea table was laid with a pale green linen cloth, with a brass basket of daisies as centerpiece. Fruit Punch and cookies were served.

Continuing the year's study of the Middle Ages, the members answered roll call with names of notable people of that time. Giving a sampling of the history of Europe.

The president, Mrs. Earl Simmons, reported on the club trip to Fort Worth last month when fourteen members and guests toured the Kimball Museum, visiting the display of historical treasures from China Mrs. Norman Walters, chairman of the history committee, told of her progress in collecting records of the past years of the club. Activities for the Library Week next month were planned, the group deciding to sponsor three school grades in visiting the City Library, with the member assisting in the displays. Mrs. Jim Spillman, Mrs. Ethel Williams and Mrs. Wendell Sparkman will make arrangements.

The April meeting will be a luncheon, the place announced later.

For the program of the day, Mrs. Sidney Tucker told of life in Europe in the Middle Ages, and Mrs. Gus Morgan Jr., gave a resume of the Medieval World from the fall of Rome to the Renaissance. Fourteen members were present.

Children from the ages of six months to six years outgrow their shoes on an average of once every fifty-six days.

Santa Anna Rancher Receives Recognition

The Texas Section, Society for Range Management, at its State meeting in San Antonio recognized William T. (Bill) Gustavus for his Grazing Management System. Bill operates a 1744 acre ranch located about 18 miles south of Santa Anna. The Excellence in Grazing Management Award is given each year to encourage better range management. Gustavus' management is based on key species such as sideoats Grama, Green Sprangletop, Little Bluestem, and Texas Cupgrass. Trend indicators reflect an improvement in cover and high quality plant species.

Flexibility is very important in Bill's operation. His registered cow-calf herd is supplemented by purchase, fitting out and selling of registered bulls. Quality livestock is more important to Gustavus than numbers. This flexibility has enabled him to adjust rapidly to plant growth, climatic conditions, markets, etc. Pastures and cropland are used as need for supplemental grazing, or utilized for hay production during good rainfall years.

Brush management has been carried out in planned patterns to provide cover and protection for deer, turkey, and quail. The wildlife resource is important to Gustavus. Proper harvest of game animals has been stressed as an important tool in wildlife management. Opened areas have increased carrying capacity for cattle, deer, turkey, and quail. Cross-fences and water have been installed to provide a total of 33 separate grazing units.

Technical assistance is provided to Gustavus as a cooperator with the Central Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District, and the Coleman office of the Soil Conservation Service.
