MOTORIST'S PRAYER

The following prayer, written by Dr. Frederic S. Fleming, rector of Trinity Church, New York, should prove valuable for all motorists:

"Grant me a steady hand and watchful eye, that no man shall be hurt when I pass by. Thou gavest life, and I pray no act of mine may take away or mar that gift of Thine. Shelter those, dear Lord, who bear me company from the evils of fire and all calamity.

Teach me to use my car for others' need, nor miss through love of speed the beauties of Thy world; that thus I may with joy and courtesy go safely on my way."

CHILDREN OF TODAY — THEIR MANNERS

One day on a busy street I overheard a debate as to whether city or rural children had the better manners. The subject so interested me that I set about to make some inquiries. Perhaps it would be of interest to review my findings.

First, I interviewed a number of public school teachers both in the rural and city schools.

The statement of Mrs. B. so well expresses the opinion of eighty-five per cent of the teachers that I quote her words as follows: "I have taught school over twelve years. During that time I have had the opportunity to observe many children—first, in a rural school and then in a large city school where there was a mixture of rural and city children. Two things of which I am definitely certain, taking the children as groups, (rural and city): For good manners, co-operation, and consideration of others, rural children rank far ahead of city reared children. Secondly, for what I would call 'polished manners,' that is, such things as the correct usage of silverware, proper dressing, etc., the city children excel but not nearly to so marked a degree as one might expect. In class behavior I much prefer rural reared children." This statement was repeated to me, in substance, again and again. It made me very proud of the rural children, as a whole, in our country.

My inquisitive footsteps took me next to the churches, both rural and urban. Here, again, the words of a teacher—a man—expressed the 'judgment' of those who have the responsibility for children's religious training. He said, and I quote with permission: "On numerous occasions my duty as superintendent made it necessary for me to have charge of parties and picnics for our Sunday school (city). The thing that distressed me most was the children's utter disregard for requests we made as to safety measures. They appeared to consider that they were fully capable of caring for themselves and needed no rules or regulations set by their elders for their safety. And when refreshments were served it was a case of 'first come, first served' and yet I know none of them lacked food at home. This happened every time we had some sort of social gathering. I noticed these conditions at most social gatherings of young city folk.

"Imagine my surprise, when a relative invited me to a picnic where five rural churches combined for an all day meeting, to see rural reared children with far more consideration for co-operating than city children. I noticed that they entered into the spirit of games with more enthusiasm and a better spirit. During the serving of refreshments I saw the larger children carrying the choicest morsels to parents, friends, and smaller members of families. This behavior was so markedly an improvement over what I was accustomed to that I asked their superintendent if the children had been drilled in good manners especially for that day. 'No,' he replied, 'I was just thinking how poorly they acted today against their usual behavior.' When I reported my visit to my own church I knew a lot of the young folks didn't believe me, but it was true."

More than seventy per cent of teachers in religious child training told me the same facts, in different words. From personal observation and work with both classes of children, I must agree with those whom I interviewed.

Talking this subject over with an eminent child specialist, he revealed some startling facts to me. To quote: "In recent years one of the most astonishing things in the world has come to my attention; that is, the startling increase in nervous disorders among children. 'In fact,' he went on, 'in the past ten years I have had some cases of complete nervous breakdown in children under the age of sixteen. Twenty years ago this was unheard of. It is my personal opinion that nervous conditions make people more self-centered and less considerate of the interests of others.'"

With these facts in mind I set about to find a remedy for bad manners, or more constructive means to develop good manners. Following are a few suggestions given me by people trained and experienced in child rearing. Good manners in children are obtained best by:

1. Example at home. Many authorities put as much as 60% of results to example and environment.
2. Good health.
3. Proper food.
4. At least nine hours of sound sleep, and more sleep if of nervous disposition.
5. Definite and worthwhile work. This develops self reliance and co-operation.
6. Out-of-doors exercise every day of the year.
7. Avoid constipation.
8. Healthful reading material that will encourage gallant and considerate emotions.
9. The use of a firm "NO" for bad habits, and a pleased and encouraging word for constructive practices.

TESTED RECIPES

With the long hot days of summer how we dread even to think of preparing meals. Hot weather saps vitality and even further discourages jaded appetites. Yet it is certain that we need wholesome food as much in summer as in winter. For summer fare here are some very interesting dishes, rich in food value and tempting to the appetite.

It is profitable to the family to have the very best possible refrigeration, even to the point of sacrifice if necessary to get it. In our hot Southern climate the refrigeration in the home is responsible largely for the health of the family. Refrigeration is the way to keep foods in a safe condition and to avoid the dangers found in tainted foods. Have as good refrigeration as you can afford. You cannot afford to do less. Here are some tempting summer dishes:

Orange Cheese Salad

For each serving arrange the following:

Make a center mound of 1/2 cup cottage cheese, which has been blended with a little orange juice. Circle with alternating rows of half slices of orange or orange segments and slices of unpeeled apple. Garnish with lettuce hearts. Top cheese with 5 raisins centered with maraschino cherry. Serve with any desired dressing. Mayonnaise mixed with equal parts of cream is delicious.

Ice-Box Cake

1/4 cup orange juice.
2 tablespoons gelatine.
Snak five minutes and pour over hot water. Add:
1/3 cup sugar, dissolved in 1/2 cup boiling water.

CONQUER THE HEAT WAVES

Summer heat yields to the full-flavored, stimulation of Iced Lipton's Tea. Try a glass when the sun has got you down and note how much better you feel... immediately.

LIPTON'S TEA

1/2 cup orange juice.
Cool. Mix:
12 marshmallows cut into eights
1/2 cup orange pieces.
Let stand while gelatine mixture cooks. When gelatine begins to stiffen, beat until fluffy. Fold in orange pieces and marshmallows and nuts.
1 cup whipping cream, beaten stiff.
Line bottom of round pan (angle food choker pan will do) with jelly. Spread half of mixture on top with maraschino cherry. Sprinkle with any desired dressing. Mayonnaise mixed with equal parts of cream is delicious.

Neath the Headlines

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, accompanied by Mrs. Lindbergh, flew to Copenhagen, Denmark Sunday from Berlin to prepare to exhibit his artificial heart before a medical congress. The Colonel started assembling the mechanical heart apparatus invented by him and Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute, Monday in order to show it at the convention which opens August 9. He and his wife ended a twelve day stay in Germany Sunday without meeting Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, although they sat almost within speaking distance of each other at the Olympic games. The Colonel stated that Germany led the world in lighter-than-air craft and that the country has thoroughly developed Diesel motors for aviation purposes.

Nine men died Saturday night when they inhaled carbon monoxide gas in the kitchen of one of the Union Collieries at Duquoin, Illinois five miles south of Duquoin. The nine, all miners or mine officials, had gone down to fight a fire which started when a transformer blew up and ignited oil.

Two nights and a day without food turned 700 defiant convicts who staged a fatal riot Friday into an orderly body of prisoners Saturday. Convinced there would be no food until quiet was restored, the convicts gradually became silent. The repeated crash of broken glass, profane shouting at guards, and noisy cell demonstrations died away.

Samuel Frank, whose mail order canvass of prospective wives landed him in jail in Oakland, California, said Sunday that school teachers predominated on his list of 13,000 would-be-brides. Nurses ranked next numerically, declared Frank, 42 year veteran, who said he was a former Fort Worth minister and Denver, Colorado educator. Unemployed old maids came third. Ages of the 13,000 candidates ranged from 11 to 103 years. He said friends at Modesto, Texas, sent a letter to Governor Allred stating he wanted to find a Southern girl for a wife. The letter was published—thus, the amazing results!

Mrs. Eleanor Holm Jarrett, American backstroke swimming champion, who was kicked off the United States Olympic team for drinking, went profusely in the press box Saturday at the United States sound of athletes marched past Hitler's reviewing loge in Berlin.

"So what?" was the startling reply of Gladys MacKnight, 17, to Chief of Police Cornelius O'Neill, when he asked her if she hacked her mother to death last Friday night after the two had quarreled. Later O'Neill called her "the most cold blooded girl" he had ever seen after she calmly confessed she had committed the murder while her young sweetheart, Donald Wightman, 18, radio religious hour singer, cried "Hit her again." The pair blamed a late supper which delayed their tennis game for the quarrel between mother and daughter which preceded the slaying in the kitchen of the MacKnight home. The girl's ungovernable temper had been the cause of repeated verbal clashes between the two. The girl confessed only after being shown Wightman's signed statement.

How ancient Pueblo Indian peoples buried their dead in their living rooms was described recently by Dr. D. D. Brand, head of the University of New Mexico anthropology department. After a field trip of exploration in the Pueblo ruins of northern and central Chihuahua, Mexico, he said he had excavated more than a dozen burials. The people simply scooped holes about 14 inches deep in the floors of their homes and put their dead into them. With the departed they placed the usual number of pots, grinding implements and personal effects, filled in the grave with earth and went right on about their daily tasks in the same room.

Santa Anna City Council Considering Limiting Ordinance

War May Be Declared On Out-Of-Town Firms Who Move Into The City For The Cream Of The Season, And Then Out Again, Flooding The Country With Cheap Merchandise

Our City Council has under consideration the passing of an ordinance to better protect home merchants who are permanently located and bonafide citizens against the encroaching of itinerant and short term business who drop into the town a few months during the main money season, competing with the legitimate business by unloading a cheap class of shoddy merchandise on the public, having circulars printed in Dallas, Temple and other places where they keep regular set ups for such business, only changing the names of the merchants, the town and dates, making it appear they are "Here To Stay" and when tax paying time rolls around, they are not to be found.

Such merchandising is rotten in its class and disturbs legitimate business. Most of such stocks are a conglomeration or accumulation of stocks gathered from store to store, many of them selected from bankrupt stocks, no telling how old, devaluated, or how worthless, and the prices put on such junk leaves the impression the home merchant who stays on the job year after year, supports our schools, churches and other industries, often times, having to pay their taxes in monthly installments, keep up a little payroll in the town, go into the enumeration columns to help build up our civil population, have to be embarrassed by people who are not advised and familiar with the circumstance, making sarcastic remarks about them selling merchandise out of range and too high. This writer visits many towns and cities in Texas, often when in other places we have occasion to inspect stocks of merchandise and probably make small purchases, and we find that legitimate merchandise is sold as cheap in Santa Anna as is sold in other places, and in many instances much cheaper. We also admit that, in some instances, where stocks of merchandise have been purchased under the hammer, so to speak, through bankrupt sales and volunteer assignments, stocks have been re-assembled and big sales advertised, certain items can be purchased very cheap, but that does not represent legitimate merchandising, and cannot be compared with merchandise of a more permanent nature.

We do not have before us a copy of the Civil Statutes, pertaining to such procedure, but if there is not a law on our statutes protecting merchants in these smaller towns from the invasion of such procedure, there should be, and for our part, we would like to offer a word of encouragement to our City Council to pass such an ordinance in Santa Anna. This writer lives in Santa Anna, was not sentenced here but came here upon our own election, purchased a business, entered the business field honorably and have tried to live and rear our family here surrounded by an elevated environment, and we have no sympathy with grafters who only drop in periodically and try to get away with only the cream.

155 Attend Trench Silo Demonstration

The trench silo offers an opportunity for succulent feed throughout the year, said E. E. Eudaly, Extension Dairyman, who addressed 155 farmers from all parts of Coleman County Monday afternoon at the home of Howard Kingsbery, who was filling a trench silo with banded hegar.

A trench not only furnishes the cheapest form of silo, said Mr. Eudaly, but eliminates the danger of loss from wind, fire, and rats. Such things as the stalks of grain sorghums that have been headed are usually a loss to the farmer but by the use of the trench silo, can be very valuable for livestock feed.

Coleman County Organizes F. F. A.

Vocational agriculture teachers of Coleman County met Wednesday, Aug. 5, at Coleman High School and organized an F. F. A. district for Coleman County. In the past the vocational teachers of this county have gone to Brownwood for their district meetings but with new departments at Novice, Talpa, Valera, and Buffalo there are enough departments in the county for a county district. Dool and Cross Plains are expected to join the Coleman District.

State Tax Rate Set At 62 Cents

The tax is divided into Confederate pension levy, seven cents; levy for state general purposes, 35 cents; and levy for state school purposes, 20 cents.

Curios Collected At Coleman C. Of C.

COLEMAN, Aug. 7.—Curios and objects of interest from all over the world are being collected in the offices of the Chamber of Commerce here by Secretary S. W. Cooper and his assistants to be placed in the replica of old Fort Camp Colorado, which is being erected at the city park north of town.

Sheriff Frank Mills who sends a large part of his spare time investigating Indian legends and Indian graves, has donated his entire collection of Indian relics, old guns, and other curios to the museum. Included in his collection are five mounted displays of Indian arrowheads. In one case he has collected the smallest and most valuable prints of his collection. A mounted star, an arrowhead, a cross, and a general mounted display complete the arrowhead exhibit. All of the implements are in excellent condition and many are perfect examples of Indian handiwork. Other items are a firestone, eight tomahawks, a stone bird-rod, a peace pipe, a large spear head, brackets crudely fashioned from iron, beads, hide shavers, and an Indian war club.

Probably the most interesting group is the one of old weapons, including guns, knives, razors, pistols and other guns, which Sheriff Mills has collected from all over the country. This includes an old telescope that was used during the Mexican war, two razor cases, a back knife, a stained-wood handle hunting knife, two bone handled hunting knives, one hoof handled knife, a dagger with pearl knobs on the handle, a hand made hunting knife, a machete and two bayonets in cases. Most of the knives are of interest chiefly because of their age, but some are artistic and beautifully made.

Five old pistols, eight revolvers, four derringers, four rifles and five shot guns are in the firearms collection. In the group of shotguns is a sword-off shotgun which was once used by the Rangers stationed at Camp Colorado. In the other weapons a flint and steel pistol, a two cap and ball pistol, a 45 Smith and Wesson (the first cartridge gun), and a pearl handled revolver, with the guns are five bullet molds and a primer. Shackles, handcuffs, thumbcuffs, and wrist irons are in a group by themselves, as are a branding iron, a sashon, an ox yoke, saber, Indian buckskin riding suit, and a courtesy card taken from a thug's car.

J. J. Arthur, Jr., of Coleman added several items of interest, an Indian war club, three cases of butterflys brought over from Africa, an Indian machete, mounted cougar and porcupine, and old colins.

Mrs. Karl Wallace of Coleman presented an old picture of the twentieth legislature. John Elkins, a Mrs. Barnett, and Mrs. M. A. Sackett gave pictures of early-day Coleman County residents.

Other contributors to the collection were S. W. Cooper, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Sidney Sackett, R. R. Terry of Flisk, Mr. Turner of Novice, Hugh Wheat, Henry Sackett, a Mrs. Beach, J. E. Dunn, George Havens, Mrs. W. R. Kelley of Santa Anna, Mrs. R. C. Gay of Santa Anna, Mrs. John R. Bannister of Santa Anna, W. J. Strickland of Coleman, Mrs. George Sparkman, Mrs. Fred Maedgen, R. L. Bates of Novice, W. H. Elkins, C. Kingsbery of Santa Anna, Lois Roberts, G. G. Walker, Mrs. Hays Coffey, Mrs. J. A. Walde, Wayland Gordon, and Mrs. M. A. Sackett. W. J. Strickland made the only large presentation of arrowheads outside of those collected by Sheriff Mills. George Havens, 14-year-old youngster made the next largest individual donation. The articles range from pictures and paintings to animal bones, with over three hundred articles in the group.

SCHOOL OPENING DATE SET

At a meeting of the School Board Tuesday evening, among other things coming up for consideration, was the setting of the date for the opening of the ensuing term of school. The date for the opening was set for Monday, September 7th, and a further detailed announcement will be published later. Begin your preparations now for the opening of school.

Santa Anna and Coleman Day at Ft. Worth Mon.

All Citizens Of Santa Anna and Coleman County Are Urged To Attend The Santa Anna and Coleman County Day at The Centennial Monday, Aug. 10.

Next Monday, August 10, has been designated as Santa Anna day at the Frontier Centennial at Fort Worth. It has also been designated as Coleman and Coleman County Day.

Mayor E. D. McDonald, J. T. Garrett and J. J. Gregg have been appointed as a committee to advertise the fact, and solicit as many as possible to join in the group to attend.

This date was set by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and other towns in West Texas have responded nicely to the invitations to attend these special days. Some towns have furnished as many as 150 automobiles in their caravan to the Frontier Centennial. Let's have as many as possible to join us here Monday morning at seven o'clock and drive to the great show. All who do not get here to join in the party assemble at the Trading Post, seven miles out of Fort Worth to form a party. A committee of Fort Worth businessmen will meet us there and accompany us into the grounds, and show us every courtesy possible.

Special programs and broadcasts will be given in honor of Coleman, Santa Anna and Coleman county during the day. The gates will swing open for our reception at eleven o'clock Monday morning and the show will continue until a late hour that night. Those who desire may stay over for the night, others will likely return home after the night performances.

Any one who will join the party and help make Coleman County Day a success at the Frontier Centennial, will be welcomed by the committee, and if you will report to some one of the committee prior to our departure we will see that you are properly enrolled to receive courtesies during the day.

If you plan to attend the Frontier Centennial during the summer, let us urge you to join in this party and help your neighbors put over a big showing for Coleman County.

Dr. Sealy On Road To Recovery

A very nice letter from Dr. T. Richard Sealy, who has been in the Mayo Clinic and hospital in Rochester, Minn., the past two weeks, states that he is recuperating from a major operation, and thinks it will not be long until he will be sufficiently recovered to return home.

The doctor writes us a lengthy letter, but did not do so for publication, but we are glad to convey a message to his friends that he is on the road to recovery and is praying that the time will soon be with him when he can return to his post of relieving suffering humanity, as has been his life and study since boyhood.

Cantrell-Burden

Miss Myrtle Louise Cantrell, R. N. and Homer Alvin Burden were united in marriage Tuesday night, August 4, in Coleman at the Baptist manse, with Rev. O. L. Savage, pastor of the Coleman First Baptist Church, officiating. Mrs. Burden was reared in the Buckner Orphans Home at Dallas and was graduated this spring from the Sealy Hospital School of Nursing as salutatorian of her class.

Mr. Burden is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Burden and is employed at Charles Evans' Garage.

Mr. and Mrs. Hays Heffer accompanied the couple, who are at home in the Fred Turner apartments.

Texas Ex-Rangers Guests of Centennial

DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 7.—Relics of the determined band of hard-riding, straight-shooting men who extended the reign of law and order through the No Man's Land of the Texas Frontier in the 1870's and 80's are going to meet again in colorful reunion.

Members of the Texas Ex-Rangers Association will be guests of honor at the Texas Centennial Exposition from August 20 to 24, inclusive. They are to be "bedded" in the rustic State Ranger building on the grounds. Their meals will be served by the Exposition management.

Wives of the members also have been invited, although they cannot be cared for on the Exposition grounds.

On August 20 members of the Association will register at the Ranger building, which is in charge of Major George Black, president of the organization.

From 10 a. m. to noon, August 21, there will be a business session, and election of officers. From 2 to 4 p. m. there will be an informal reception for visitors.

At 6:30 p. m. there will be a reception for Governor James V. Allred and other visiting notables, including King Vidor, Miss Jean Parker and other members of the cast of the historical picture, "The Texas Rangers."

At 7 p. m., in front of the Ranger building a statue of The Texas Ranger will be unveiled by Governor Allred. It is the work of Erno Albert Silva, Spanish artist. Capt. William E. McMurray, famous Ranger, went to Hollywood. The artist used him in creating the statue as typifying the Texas Ranger. In it the Rangers are expressed on their own terms as men of action.

At 8:15 p. m. o'clock there will be a theater party at the Majestic Theater for the world premiere showing of "The Texas Rangers." High officials of Paramount and members of the cast will fly to the Exposition from Hollywood for this occasion.

On Saturday, August 22 reports of various committees of the Association will be heard, unfinished business will be dispatched, and the membership will be free to make a detailed inspection of the Exposition grounds as honor guests.

Porcupine Prought To News Thursday

George Richardson brought in a porcupine Thursday morning, which was killed on his Home Creek farm seven miles southwest of town. The little animal or large size rodent was the first of its kind this editor ever saw, and we have concluded, since viewing this one, that we have no desire to associate with such animals. They are not of a vicious nature, and are said to live chiefly on bark and leaves.

Cotton Pickers In Demand In Valley

HARLINGEN, August 7. — Through the Valley Morning Star the Rio Grande valley received today its appeal for 2,000 cotton pickers.

All available relief workers have been put to the task of harvesting the remaining 40,000 bales still in the fields, the newspaper said, and a serious shortage of pickers remains.

Previous appeals said the price for pickers rose to 75 cents a hundred and that speed was necessary to realize the highest possible yield.

The valley has harvested 35,000 bales.

TALK IN MODERN TREND

Not long ago, in England, an association was organized to revive the lost art of conversation. It is doubtful if such an organization would have much influence here. A few Americans may still talk in the old way, but few have the patience to listen to them.

Americans talk much faster than they did two decades ago, a shorthand expert says. But then 20 years ago Englishmen criticized our rapid and brusque talk. Now we are doing our own criticizing and are pausing to wonder if indeed we do not talk too rapidly. We think and we talk in "headline." Even some novels are of the staccato style, but they have had wide popularity, and then have been most expressive as well.

If we talk more rapidly, it is because we are of the times, which also are swifter. There are so many things to divert us that we seem not to have the time to speak slowly and in well-rounded sentences. If we have a thought, we "get it over" in the shortest sentence possible, and it may be only a phrase and not a sentence. The period has usurped the role of the semicolon and the dash oftentimes takes the place of a finished sentence.

It may be that the telephone contributed much to our "faster" way of speaking, and even to the elimination of words that were not essential. No doubt we have lost the old art of conversation, but even if it were restored, how general would be its acceptance? Who would listen? It may even be that we have learned to talk faster so we can get a word in "edgeways," and though we do talk more rapidly we do not say more, but what we do say is said without loss of time.

Perhaps we have lost poise and dignity because of our methods of speech. Certainly we use up more energy and rasp our own and others' nerves by our "jabbering." Nevertheless, let some one in a large company try some of that conversation which was classed as an art and he will not be heard.

WATCH'EM SMILE

Have you noticed the happy expression on the face of so many elderly people here of late? It is a real joy to see so many of those old souls made to smile again.

There is a large number of elderly people, some worthy and deserving, others just folks, now receiving old age assistance checks each month. It is so commendable in our state and federal governments to provide for these elderly people in their declining days, after they "earned" the unprofitable state of life. We rejoice to see them receive the benefits they so richly deserve and need. Those who are fortunate enough not to be in need should feel good to see their more unfortunate neighbors provided for, that the remainder of their lives can be spent in more pleasant surroundings.

We imagine we can hear so many return thanks in their humble petitions for this great government that has been so thoughtful in providing a means that will enable them to live without embarrassment in their further declining days.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

NERVE WRECKERS

Americans, and especially those who reside in our metropolitan areas, are in danger of becoming a race of neurotics, in the opinion of leading neurologists.

Nerve-wracking noise, the bustle and bustle of modern business, the dodging of vehicular traffic and a hundred and one other apertures to present day modes of living—all of them are consolidating themselves in a program of human destruction that rapidly grows worse with each succeeding day. The modern city dweller keeps late hours and does not get sufficient rest. Instead of partaking of a leisurely luncheon, he grabs a sandwich and dashes away to close another big deal. In the morning, he gulps his breakfast and runs to get to his job on time. On nights when he is not obliged to make the theatre, or meet some other social obligation he might partake of a leisurely dinner—but not any too often.

There seems to be no basis for expecting relief from this widespread condition of nervousness. The pace set in modern business was created by the men so engaged. The pursuit of the dollar must go on, probably with increasing rapidity. Those who would relax in the interest of their health must sacrifice some of the so-called luxuries of life. And this, a majority are unwilling or too touchless of their own welfare to do.

TEXAS LEGENDS AND FOLKLORE

By Olive M. Johnson (Director of Speech Arts North Texas State Teachers College)

Quaint Remedies And Superstitions

Among the curious superstitions held by early settlers of Texas was their belief in mad stones, a kind of light-colored, porous rock out of the stomach of a white deer...

Mrs. Roy Casey of Trickham exhibited a very freak Sunflower head in this office Saturday. The Sunflower head was a quadruplet, four perfect heads well formed. The sunflower grew in the Casey yard, from selected seed...

Mrs. Eugene Wallace and children of Newport, Arkansas, returned to their home Friday morning after spending the week in the J. E. Ford home.

For stiles, the rhyme "Sty, sty leave my eye and catch the first person who passes by" was in universal use. For stammering, the best cure was to rub the victim's face, especially near the mouth...

The settlers believed in joint snakes and hoop snakes, many an old settler declaring that he had seen snakes unloint and then join up again. Here is the testimony of one concerning a hoop snake.

"He curls himself into a hoop, takes his tail in his mouth, raises up like a wheel, and here he comes hell-raising." It was the belief that a snake would straighten himself with tall foremost, which he drove like a spike into his victim.

Mrs. E. W. Polk and children returned home last Wednesday after spending the first part of the week in Dallas attending the Texas Centennial and visiting relatives.

Holy City Exhibits Of Religious Relics

DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 7.—One of the largest as well as finest religious art exhibits ever shown in this country is assembled in the Holy City at the head of the Midway at the Texas Centennial Central Exposition. Included in the exhibit are more than 200 authentic shrines of the Holy Land.

The Lord's Last Supper, another art treasure, also executed by Bartilo is the only one of its kind in the world. Made of colored mother of pearl it delineates the detail of the Leonardo d'Vinci painting in the most minute conception. This carving is over 200 years old and contains over 3000 separate pieces of mother of pearl.

More than a million people visited the Holy Land exhibit during its two years' showing at the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago and the unanimous expression of its many appreciative admirers was, "It is the next best thing to a trip to the Holy Land itself."

TRICKHAM ROAD WORK TO BEGIN WEDNESDAY

Work under a WPA project to improve 15 miles of the Brownwood-Trickham road will be resumed Wednesday in precinct 1. The road is being put in all-weather condition by caliche topping, and will provide a direct route from the Trickham section to Brownwood.

Improvement of the road in the county WPA program was started a few weeks ago, but the project has been closed down for several days. The work is directed by Commissioner E. S. Thompson.

Expenses Vary In Coleman Election

Variation From .0051 To 88 Cents; County Clerk Spent Most

COLEMAN, Aug. 7.—Coleman County office seekers spent sums varying from .0051 to 88 cents per vote in the recent primary. Six candidates who filed for the office of county clerk reported expenditures of $958.05. Individual expenditures ranged from $5 to $247.50.

Rush Johnson, Coleman's "silent" constable, reported an expenditure of $5 for his campaign and received 971 votes to defeat his only opponent. His vote cost approximately .0051 cents each, while his opponent spent $29.10 in his vote garnering and received only 641, or about four and one-half cents each.

The greatest expenditure was made by E. E. Evans, candidate for county clerk. He paid out $247.50 for votes and had a return of 348, or a total cost for each vote of 71 cents. Others in the same race spent varying amounts down to $68.25, this being the reported expense of Mrs. Ora West, runner-up in the county clerk race.

John Malchoff, running for sheriff, made the greatest per vote outlay of all campaigners. He received only 280 votes after expending $245.50. This represented approximately 88 cents spent for each vote received. Others in the race were Frank Mills, present holder of the office, and P. F. Dyches. Dyches spent $197.97 for a total vote count of 1,271. Mills received 3,192 votes after expending $108.50. Mills received more than two votes to each gathered by his opponents, their total vote amounting to 3,102, while his reached 3,192. Mills' vote cost approximately three cents each.

The county attorney's race brought the closest race for "per vote" honors. Billy Baker, incumbent, spent $159 to gain 2,779 votes for .0572 for each vote. John T. Williamson brought a total of 1,875 votes after expending $106.85. His votes cost .002 less than Baker's, per vote cost being .0570. The sheriff's race brought the greatest difference between vote costs. Frank Mills paid slightly over three cents per vote, while John Malchoff paid 88 cents each for his votes.

Attractive Flower Garden Demonstrated By Virginia Dibrell

Back yard flower gardens are so attractive and if well planned there will be blooming flowers from the early spring till late fall. Miss Virginia Dibrell, yard demonstrator, of the Rae-Echo club and first prize winner in the first year groups in the county-wide contest, has a most attractive flower garden. This flower garden has been planned and planted so as to have a continuous set of blooming flowers since the Iris bloomed the second week in March. As each flower completes its blooming season, it is removed and another one is planted in its place.

Miss Dibrell has chosen flowers for variety in the height and colors. Some of the very low growing plants are: Petunias, excellent for dry climate; blue Ageratum, a Mexican flower; blue periwinkles; sensitive plant; and Moss roses. For some taller plants the following were planted: zinnias, excellent in dry weather, Amaryllis, day lilies and gladiolas; for variety in colors: snapdragons; larkspur, for early blooming; nasturtiums; and Marigolds. With a large variety in colors, heights, and blooming season, Miss Dibrell's back yard flower garden will be gay and pretty till frost.

H. D. CLUB MAKES FINAL PLANS FOR ENCAMPMENT

The County Home Demonstration Council met at the New Moore Hotel Saturday afternoon to make final plans for the annual encampment to be held on the Gill Ranch near Whom, Aug. 12-13. It was decided that every one would meet at the camp grounds Wednesday morning by 10:00 to get things set up before lunch. Each lady is to bring a picnic lunch for Wednesday and barbecue is to be furnished for the meat that meal.

The entertainment committee reported that after lunch Wednesday the women who attended the Short Course are to make their reports on demonstrations and programs attended. There will be also games, songs, and stunts by the various clubs late that afternoon and night. Wednesday night has been designated as the "Open House" and everyone is invited to be out to join in the fun with the club women that night.

Thursday morning from 10 to 11:30, Mrs. H. J. Starnes, of Brooksmith is to give a demonstration on dress designing, which should be of vital interest to all the club ladies in the county. The morning will be finished up with group games and singing. Any clubs who have stunts that they want to put on at the encampment will please notify Mrs. Harry Wilson, Trickham, chairman of the entertainment committee.

The foods committee reported that each club was to furnish the following things for the camp if any of their members expect to attend: 1 lb. butter; 1 qt. salad dressing; 2 bowls, 1 table cloth; 1 qt. cream, 1 qt. pickles, 1 head of lettuce or cabbage, 1 qt. of jellie or preserves.

Then each person who attends is to bring: 1-2 doz. eggs, 1-2 doz. tomatoes, cup towel, 1 dressed chicken, 6 potatoes, 1 can of string beans, 1 cake or cookies, 25c in money.

For each child under 12 that is coming one half of the above supplies should be brought and 15c in money. Ladies coming for lunch on the second day only are requested to bring a picnic lunch.

The clubs are to have their achievement events sometime in September or the first part of October. Each club is to report the date set for their achievement event at the September meeting of the Council. Bedroom and yard improvements are to be stressed in the events this year with emphasis on quality of articles rather than quantity.

There were 25 women present representing 14 clubs. The next meeting of the council will be on Saturday, Sept. 5th.

PAIR THAT FORCED CHILD TO DRINK WHISKY BEATEN

DALLAS, Aug. 7.—Two men were charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor and beaten by angry fellow inmates of the city jail today in connection with what the state claims was the forcing of a two-and-a-half-year-old girl to drink three glasses of whisky. The men, arrested yesterday, were placed in solitary confinement after they were beaten severely by the other prisoners.

The pair, Emmett Sigler and Joe Thurmon, were knocked to the floor and kicked and struck repeatedly. Jailers rescued them and put them in the single cells for their protection.

Miss Louise Billings left for her home in Houston Saturday by way of San Antonio after several days visit in the home of her sister, Mrs. Rex Golston, and family.

"Trench Mouth" Is Highly Infectious

AUSTIN, July 7.—"Trench Mouth," known scientifically as "Vincent's infection" of the mouth, is a germ disease and highly infectious. It became so common during the World War and incapacitated so many soldiers as to have earned the name "Trench Mouth."

"This disease is transmitted in the same manner as a cold; that is, by direct contact with the mouth of an infected person or indirectly through the use of insufficiently cleaned eating utensils, dishes, glasses, and other articles that have been used by persons who have the disease," said Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer.

"While 'trench mouth' may occur as a mild infection, it can, and often does, develop into serious illness. It occasionally ends fatally. Neglect of the hygiene of the mouth and teeth makes the mucous membranes of the gums and throat a favorite breeding ground for the organisms causing this disease. It can be prevented by keeping the mouth and teeth clean and in a healthy condition and avoiding the use of articles that may carry the disease germs.

The early symptoms of 'trench mouth' usually include drowsiness and burning of the gums and throat. Later symptoms include bleeding and sore gums, bad breath, and mouth ulcers. As any of these conditions may be due to some other cause, a dentist or the family physician should be consulted promptly. If diagnosis is made and treatment started early, it is possible to check this infection before it develops into a severe form."

TRENCH MOUTH DEMONSTRATION WELL ATTENDED

Approximately 150 attended the trench silo demonstration at the Howard Kingsbery farm near Leady Monday afternoon. It was the first trench silo demonstration ever seen, and we got sold on the idea. More will be found elsewhere about the demonstration if the reporters succeed in preparing the article.

Mozelle School Makes State Record In Agriculture Work

South Coleman School Is Ranked Second High In Texas For Achievements In This Line Of Instruction During Past Term

Mozelle high school was classified as the second high ranking Texas school in which vocational agriculture is taught last week at a state Future Farmers of America convention held at Stephenville, W. T. Bowers, superintendent of the Mozelle school said while in Coleman Wednesday afternoon.

The three high ranking schools selected were judged by their accomplishments in the vocational agriculture line during the past school year. Mozelle's record was made under a handicap, with students attending school in a temporary building and working with incomplete equipment.

Mr. Bowers pointed out. Next year, he stated, they will have a complete set up in that department and hope to better the record which they have already set.

C. B. Edwards, Mozelle vocational agriculture instructor, received the Master's degree from Oklahoma A. & M. college this summer and is considered one of the best trained men in the state in this work.

GETTING ACCURATE TIME

Where and how does correct time originate? Have you ever wondered? One outstanding source is an observatory at Pootung, a skycraper in New York City, the only one of its kind in the world.

The observatory belongs to a watch company, which built and runs it. Rising thirty-eight stories above one of the busiest spots along Fifth Avenue, at 47th street, the observatory sits snugly in the sky, surrounded by a score or more of stone gargoyles.

The winds shriek about it in winter, the rains melt it, the sun warms it, and millions of people pass by far below without ever seeing or hardly knowing it exists.

No new planets in our solar system will ever be discovered by this observatory, and no great stars millions of light-years away in the universe will ever be seen through its telescope.

For observations of nebulae, planets or stars is the object. It is interested only in time.

At regular intervals the telescope in the observatory is trained along the meridian that imaginary straight line between the poles, and when the stars cross the meridian their time of crossing is checked. When hundreds of them have been checked their "mean" time is ascertained. And this is called sidereal time, or the time of the stars.

In minutes and seconds sidereal time is three minutes 55.555 seconds faster daily than solar time, or the time of the sun. Naval Observatory time is sidereal time in the beginning, and then three minutes and 55.555 seconds are lopped off to make it Standard time.

So, when the alarm clock goes off seemingly too early in the morning, blame it upon sidereal time and the stars.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS ENDEMIC IN TEXAS

AUSTIN, Texas, July 28.—Texas is practically free of infantile paralysis while that dread disease and particular foe of young children is reaching epidemic proportions in Alabama and adjoining states. Reports to the State Health Department disclose that there have been only 18 cases from 16 widely separated counties in every geographical section of the State since January 1. Only one case in Texas was reported last week from the entire State. There were 36 cases of the disease in Texas during the first six months of last year.

"The disease is endemic in Texas," Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer said, "and rarely ever assumes epidemic proportion."

"Children under five are more susceptible to the disease and all children under 12 should be watched for suspicious symptoms. There are important things to do when a child shows symptoms. A physician should be called at once and physicians should report all cases to the health authorities immediately. When the disease occurs all cases should be isolated for 21 days. All milk should be boiled unless it is pasteurized."

"Children should not visit homes where the disease exists or there are symptoms of it. Flies should be killed and their breeding places destroyed. Promptness in diagnosis of poliomyelitis is important in preventing spread of the disease."

Opportunity knocks at every door, but it usually ducks before most of us can open the door.

FANTASTIC STORY OF CABEZA DE VACA TOLD

DALLAS, Texas, July 28.—Four hundred and eight years ago the thunderous green surf of the Gulf cast a curious cargo upon the white sands of Galveston Beach. It was a crude raft, fashioned of palmetto logs caked with pitch and lashed together with green things made of horsehide. Sails were fashioned of white linen shirts of Spanish noblemen.

There were only sixteen men aboard the raft when it broke itself against the shores of Texas, and of that number only four were ever to come out of the wild and barbarous land alive.

Cabeza de Vaca, treasurer to the King of Spain; Dorantes, Castillo, and the first Negro to enter the land of the Texas, Estavanco, the Moorish slave.

The shipwrecked party found an Indian dog, gathered some wild onions, and added the last of their corn grins. The first few ever concocted by a white man in Texas was cooked and eaten, and then the conquistadors, who were all that was left of the Panfilo Narvez expedition who had landed on the coast of Florida early that spring, set about rebuilding their raft.

But fate and the waters were against them. They piled all their clothes, their armor, their weapons and provisions upon the reconstructed raft and tried to launch it, only to be tossed back upon the beach by the waves, their goods and chattels at the bottom of the Gulf. The conquerors, who had set out to make conquest of the New World, were conquered by it.

It was the year 1528, and winter biting cold.

The Indians came and made them captive and the saga of seven years of torture, servitude, and slavery began. These were the first men to explore Texas, and from their story when they reached Spanish settlements in 1534 came the legend of the Seven Golden Cities of the Cibola, the mirage toward which many gallant men were to struggle during the next century.

The fantastic story of Cabeza de Vaca and his three companions is one of the outstanding dramatic moments in the Cavalcade of Texas, the Texas Centennial Exposition's greatest show, which is now playing nightly performances each week to packed houses at the Exposition.

Santa Anniars, Get In On This!

The people in Santa Anna should be aroused more than is presently indicated over the approaching Coleman County Day at the Frontier Centennial in Fort Worth next Monday. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the program, and is offering a wonderful opportunity for Santa Anna to get some worthwhile advertising. We should take advantage of the opportunity, take a day off from our business and attend. People in the rural communities are especially invited and urged to join us on the trip. Notify some one on the committee if you plan to go.

Jesse Hunter, former Santa Anna druggist, who has been in Gladewater for the past few years, was here the first of the week visiting relatives.
