

Commission Moves To Curtail Drilling

Registration Schedule Issued For High School Pupils; Staff For 1931-32 Session Announced

Well, it's been a great summer if you feel that way about it.

We do, even though most everyone has considered himself in pretty hard circumstances which he still had a job or not. Most everybody has.

There are several score of men who want to work and need to work but cannot find steady jobs. Cotton picking is about to get in full swing here. The wages will not—cannot—be very high. But a lot of people can earn a little to buy grub if they want to.

A lot of our people seem to be greatly alarmed over prospect of an acute unemployment condition this winter. There is no denying the fact that this winter is due to be a hard one for some people. The community is going to have to take care of some families.

The first thing to be certain of is that administration of charity is concentrated under a central agency. Otherwise, duplication of efforts will occur, with attendant waste.

It is necessary that persons trained in charity work be in charge of investigation of cases reported. Most of us are anxious to do anything we can for a family when it is reported in need of assistance. But most of us are not experienced in determining the exact needs of all cases.

The best way to help people, and the community too, is to report all cases coming to our attention to the Salvation Army, telephone 4071. This organization has been in charge of the charity work done with Community Chest funds and has done a good job of it. We can rest assured that available charity funds will be used more wisely when cases are handled by the Salvation Army workers than by numerous individual efforts.

Every person in town who can spare anything at all should put his donation into the Chest and thus do his part for the needy. If we can afford to furnish food or other necessities to individual cases coming to our attention we can afford to put a like amount into the Community Chest and thus form a fund entirely sufficient to help all worthy people.

This is a great day for us. Any day that marks the opening of a football season is a great one. We hope this season will see the birth of a new and more wholesome spirit in the community toward the high school football team.

The team deserves support simply because it is the home town team. It has not had the support in the past that it should have had. Perhaps there are many reasons for this but the condition has existed nevertheless.

There are many ways of helping the boys. Of course attendance at games is one. Another is cooperation with the coaches in maintaining the proper discipline on the squad. Every loyal fan should walk the log if any player has his pants so see breaking training. This is best for the boy and the team.

Let's all hop in and help make this a more enjoyable place to live by doing our part toward creating a fine, sportsmanlike football spirit.

As we said in the beginning it has been a great summer. Things have been quiet all right. The crowd has dwindled some. But we're all still here, finding something to live on and knowing that we have a lot of awfully good neighbors and friends in our home town.

Yep, times are hard all right. But if you'll watch closely you'll find that a lot of people will find a little cash to spend for pleasure as well as necessities. To many of us depression has become a mental fact more than an actual condition.

Cotton and oil have gone "wax down." The city now has only 10,000 people instead of nearly 14,000. But the folks that remain are the stayers.

And Big Spring, at that, right now is in better shape than most any other place—far better than some of them. Besides, Big Spring has more prospects for the future than most any other place.

The stayers in Big Spring will be glad if it provided they all help do something about taking advantage of the city's opportunities.

Schedule for registration of high school students was issued Friday by Principal George Gentry. The session will open Monday morning. Supt. W. C. Blankenship announced the teaching staff for the year. Assignments to various buildings will be changed in but a few instances, he said.

Mr. Blankenship said that this year a new ruling that calls for every employe of the schools, including all teachers, to obtain a health certificate from a medical doctor, is being followed 100 per cent.

Several resignations have been received since school closed last spring. They will not be replaced unless it is found necessary later.

Those who have resigned are Frank Boyle, Mrs. Frank Eiler, Miss Verda Ruth Graham, Mrs. C. A. Cowan, Mrs. Grady Acuff and Mrs. J. Lloyd.

The teaching staff follows:

Mahatma Gandhi Lands In France

MARSEILLES, France, Sept. 11 (AP)—Mahatma Gandhi, landing on European soil for the first time in fifteen years, said that the British government was facing such a staggering domestic problem that it was unlikely to refuse India self-government.

Refusal would mean the renewal of civil disobedience campaigns and a boycott of British goods. Frenchmen stared at his blond hair. He told customs inspectors he had no tobacco, alcohol, firearms, narcotics, nothing but spinning wheels, goat milk, hampers, and a reputation. His companion, the Pandit Malaviya, 70, had only mud and water from the river Ganges. He made sacred images from mud.

MacDonald Urges Emergency Measure

LONDON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Premier Ramsay MacDonald, opening the debate on the government's drastic economy bill before the House of Commons, said that procedure by orders in council without waiting for parliamentary approval was necessary for speedy solution of the financial crisis. He promised to use the method for only a month.

Chancellor Philip Snowden's emergency taxation measures took effect today. Most of the government employes from cabinet ministers to policemen get a cut in on October 1.

Storm Center

REV. D. H. HEARD

The former pastor of the First Baptist church here, now pastor at Jonesboro, Ark., is the center of trouble in the church here, reported to have been caused by charges made by an evangelist, Rev. Jeffers. Two groups of members of his church have visited Big Spring recently and are understood to have returned home with affidavits, one group attempting to prove charges against the pastor, the other seeking to disprove them. State militiamen patrolled the Jonesboro streets last night, officers fearing violence in view of the turmoil created throughout the city.

Ciscoan Plans Introducing Long Plan From Floor Later

AUSTIN, Sept. 11 (AP)—The special house committee for drafting a cotton acreage bill prepared a report recommending the Olsen bill, restricting the acreage for the next two years to one-third of the cultivated area and advising the tabling of all other bills, including the Long no-cotton plan.

Representative Victor Gilbert of Cisco, plans to introduce the Long plan from the floor.

The senate agricultural committee continued hearings on several bills. The senate's proponents of reduction favor a measure similar to Olsen's. Senator Clint Small said that Long proponents were hoping for a delay to increase chances for its adoption. Opponents claim the Olsen bill to be unenforceable.

The senate reversed its former decision and agreed to take pay for the called session.

C. E. Johnson Faces Charge At Ft. Worth

Assault To Murder Is Alleged; Boy's Bond Set At $2500

FORT WORTH, Sept. 11 (AP)—C. E. Johnson, 23, of Big Spring, was charged here today with assault to murder and his bond set at $2,500. He admitted shooting Mrs. H. A. Elliott, 45, at her home here yesterday.

Mrs. Elliott was reported improving.

Both Johnson and Mrs. Elliott said that the shooting followed an argument over Mrs. Elliott's daughter, Mrs. Stella Cozens, of 2943 May street, with whom Johnson had been going before her marriage several months ago.

One of two bullets fired from a .38-caliber revolver at Mrs. Elliott as she was running to another room to get a pistol, according to Johnson, struck her in the back. The lead lodged in her stomach. The woman also was struck over the head by Johnson with a pistol butt just before he fired.

Calls Police, Surrenders
The Big Spring man, who had been in Fort Worth about a month, called police and surrendered. Johnson is unemployed.

"Mrs. Elliott threatened to kill me. I fired in self-defense," said Johnson.

Police who went to the scene about 10 o'clock, found Johnson on the front porch of the residence. Mrs. Elliott was lying in the porch swing. Johnson handed over a pistol and talked of the shooting on the way to central police station. There he was questioned later by Willis McGregor, assistant district attorney.

Johnson, who has been staying with relatives on Greer avenue, went to the Elliott home at 8 o'clock Thursday morning. At the climax of the argument, Mrs. Elliott started to another room for her pistol, he related.

Talks Freely At Hospital
"I struck her over the head with my own gun, but that didn't stop her, so I fired twice at her back, as she kept running for the gun. She ran out on the porch and lay in the swing. I went out and bathed her face, then called police."

An ambulance of Robertson-Muller-Harper took Mrs. Elliott to St. Joseph's Hospital. She is not considered in a critical condition, and talked freely to reporters.

Mrs. Elliott stated, "Johnson and my daughter, Stella, now 20, had grown up together. They were in school together. Johnson had been courting her for several years. When she was married several months ago to O. E. Cozens, Johnson objected. This morning he called me on the telephone and told me about the matter and he wanted to come over and talk to me about the matter."

"He had threatened my daughter and I told him this morning not to come over—that I wanted him to stay away. He came to the house anyway, getting there about an hour after my telephone call. When he got there I was painting a chair on the back porch. I went inside and fixed him a drink of cold water, which he asked for. As I turned to put the pitcher in the ice box, he fired without warning."

"I ran and he clubbed me with his pistol. Then as I ran out the door he fired again."

Mrs. Elliott fell in the front yard and cried out to neighbors. She said she heard Johnson using the telephone in the house.

Mrs. Elliott said, "I told Johnson that if Stella preferred the other man to him it ought to be all right."

Mrs. Elliott's husband, an engineer on the Texas and Pacific railroad, was located and is supposed to be on his way to Fort Worth. His run is from Big Spring to Toyah.

Mrs. Cozens went to a business college and was a stenographer until her marriage. She and her husband live with his parents on May street.

The Elliotts have a second daughter, Mrs. Morris Gay, 22, who lives on a ranch 12 miles from Big Spring.

Mrs. Elliott said that if no action is brought against Johnson, it will be because of his mother, "one of the sweetest women I ever have known." She explained, however, that she would leave any such action up to her mother.

150 Reported Killed At Belize, British Honduras, By Hurricane; Two Storms Sweeping Caribbean

By The Associated Press

Two hurricanes were sweeping the Caribbean area today. One was reported to have killed from 150 to 200 people, including several American priests, injuring hundreds, and leaving half the population homeless at Belize, British Honduras.

At least one was killed and much damage done at San Juan, Porto Rico, by the other storm now sweeping toward Haiti. It was expected to reach Santo Domingo tonight. Belize radio communication lines were stopped. San Juan was cut off from the rest of Porto Rico.

The number of dead and damage at Belize was difficult to ascertain. The navy department at Washington ordered Marine planes to leave Managua, Nicaragua, for Belize, four hundred miles away, with $2,500 worth of medical supplies. The miper, Swan, was signaling from Trujillo for relief.

Church Row Brings Out Militiamen

Evangelist Says Will Defy Order To Keep Off Personalties

JONESBORO, Ark., Sept. 11 (AP)—Lieut. James A. Puckett, second in command of 75 national guardsmen here to assist civil authorities in case further disorder arises from a factional controversy in the First Baptist church said Capt. Harry Eldridge had suggested to Governor Farnell that he declare martial law.

Rev. Joe Jeffers conducting a revival here, had denounced Rev. D. H. Heard, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Yesterday on the city hall lawn Jeffers prayed that a thunderbolt strike Mayor H. J. Bosler. A free for all fight followed. Last night guardsmen with fixed bayonets watched as Jeffers denounced Rev. Heard and several prominent citizens before a crowd of 5,000.

Jeffers said today he would defy Capt. Eldridge's instructions that he avoid personalities.

In Little Rock Governor Farnell said he would not declare martial law in Jonesboro unless the situation got out of control.

Mr. Jeffers and his followers to the city hall to protest to the mayor, H. J. Bosler, the arrest on assault and battery charges of three of their number after a fight at the First Baptist church last night. The mayor as well as Chief of Police Craig were manhandled by Jeffers' followers who gathered on the city hall lawn today for a prayer meeting which Jeffers sought to hold while waiting for the trial of his followers to begin. The trial was postponed until Saturday.

Mayor Bosler refused permission for the service, but granted Jeffers' request for a "moment of prayer." Police said the evangelist then launched into a lengthy supplication in which he prayed that a bolt of lightning strike the mayor dead for interfering with the services.

Bosler then interrupted him and ordered that he lead his followers from the city hall lawn. A Jeffers follower sprang at the mayor and threw him to the ground. When Chief of Police Craig pulled him away, he was subdued only when a policeman threatened to strike him with the butt of a revolver.

The disorder at the city hall followed a fight last night at the First Baptist church between factions supporting Dr. D. H. Heard, pastor of the church, and Mr. Jeffers. Three followers of Mr. Jeffers were arrested at the church and several hundred of his followers serenaded them with hymns under leadership of Mr. Jeffers.

Their Appeal Denied
The disturbance last night followed an unsuccessful attempt by Jeffers' followers to have the members of the First Baptist church consider in conference the charges against the 21 dismissed members.

The Heard group voted down the proposal. A charge of misconduct was made against Dr. Heard by Mr. Jeffers during his revival meeting.

Two Killed In Wreck On S.P.

Locomotive Turns Over; Engineer and Fireman Victims

AUSTIN, Sept. 11 (AP)—The engine and fireman of a Southern Pacific passenger train were killed near here yesterday when the engine left the rails and turned over. Two other persons were injured, neither fatally.

The dead: Donald McColl, 67, veteran engineer. J. E. Roberson, 64, fireman. Erno Feller, mail clerk, and J. R. Copeland, baggage master on the train, were injured.

The 30 passengers escaped unharm.

Cause Undetermined
Cause of the accident was not determined last night. J. H. Walsh, division superintendent for the railroad, said it was "an act of providence," and could accuse no reason for the wreck. McColl was a resident of Austin ten days ago. He was working as a substitute for the regular fireman.

The baggage car and three other cars were pulled off the tracks but did not overturn. The front of the baggage car rose in the air as the engine left the tracks and overturned.

Officials of the railroad and county officials were investigating the cause of the accident.

Feller and Copeland were bruised and battered when the baggage car settled back to the ground.

Landers Finds His Syrup Worth Much More Than Cotton

Farmers interested in what to raise in the place of cotton will gain inspiration from the project carried out on the farm of A. A. Landers of the Moore community. Much has been said concerning the syrup manufacturing effort of Landers and his neighbors, but the first comparative figures on the value of the cane and cotton follow.

Landers has manufactured 1,500 gallons of syrup for his neighbors and has 25 acres of seeded ribbon cane of his own which he estimates will produce 75 gallons of syrup. A total of 2135 gallons of syrup valued at 75 cents a gallon, a price which he has been receiving for his product, would bring a total of $1,601.25. The same acreage planted to cotton estimated at a half

4-H Boy Double Lists Maize Land; Yield Is Doubled

Lemoine Irvin, 4-H club boy of the Richland community, used a day's labor with four horses to double list the five acres where he planted his own milo maize.

His father only single listed his maize land.

The boy's five acres, in the same field and planted the same day with identical cultivation since then, will produce 2,400 pounds per acre compared with about 1,200 pounds for his father's crop, according to the father.

"It is a convincing demonstration to me that deep, thorough preparation of the tight lands of Howard county is necessary for maximum yield," said W. N. Irvin, the boy's dad.

"My sweetheart smokes 'em ..."

"NOW, you know, Bob was raised in a tobacco country. He has worked in two cigarette factories; and I have heard him say all of them are just the same. He says there are a lot of pipes and things like that running through the roofs of the factories and sometimes they look different, but that the way cigarettes are made is all the same.

"Bob says all tobaccos receive the same sort of drying—heat treatment, he called it. In one factory, he says, they may talk about 'baking' the tobaccos and in another they call it another name. He says what they actually do is to 'dry' the tobaccos—reduce the moisture in them—and that the machine that they all use is called a 'Dryer.'

"But when it comes to the quality of tobacco, that's quite a different story, so Bob says; some factories use mild, ripe tobacco, while others think that thick heavy tobacco is good enough. Bob knows tobacco and he tells me that it takes good tobacco—mild and ripe—to make a cigarette as good as CHESTERFIELD.

"You know how it is when a piece of fruit tastes just right—not raw or sharp or too ripe or tasteless—just pleasing and satisfying. Well, that's the way it is with CHESTERFIELD—they just suit me right down to the ground—they satisfy."

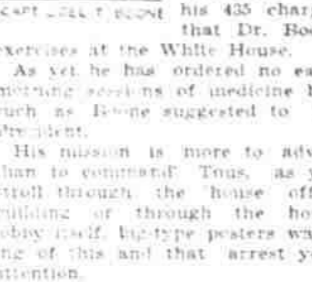

— And HIS sweetheart smokes 'em too!

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON — The President of the United States is not alone in having his own private physician to see that he keeps physically fit.
The house of representatives has its doctor from the navy—just like "Doc" Boone at the White House.
Dr. George Calver, how ever, can hardly be said to wield the same authority over his 425 charges at the White House.
As yet he has ordered no early morning sessions of medicine ball such as Boone suggested to the president in his letter.
His mission is more to advise than to command. Thus, as you stroll through the house office building or through the house lobby itself, by type posters warning of this and that, arrest your attention.
There are so many of them at times that one can't escape reading them.

DR. GEORGE CALVER

HOT-AIR CHECKER
The good doctor bids his charges to "avoid excessive fatigue." If "flu" breaks out he comes along with a list of general suggestions as to the best way of avoiding the malady.
In the house chamber he has set up a little box-like instrument which carefully records the temperature, and he checks it carefully to make sure the atmospheric conditions under which congressmen work are correct.
He holds himself in readiness for any emergency. Members have been known to collapse on the floor of the house.
Martin Madden of Illinois was stricken one day while in the chamber and died shortly thereafter.
As a matter of fact, Dr. Calver's appointment is a result of these several prostrations in the chamber.
Fred Britten of Illinois, the naval committee chairman, put through the resolution calling for the doctor's appointment.
Frayed nerves cause many to seek him out. At the close of the last session of congress he was treating a score or more of such cases.

NO OFF HOURS
Many of the members call on the doctor off hours. He attends them and their families at home. If "flu" or colds are rampant, he is a very busy man; for he must do double duty.
A pleasant mid-mannered and popular man, Dr. Calver looks little like the conventional physician.
It is easy to mistake him for a member of congress as he goes about the business of medicine in the hot work of the capital.
Incidentally, Dr. Calver has at his disposal in the house expert advice should he ever need it.
Swack of Pennsylvania, Sirovich of New York and Summers of Washington were general practitioners before coming to congress. Woodruff of Michigan practiced dental surgery.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS
Men of Foresight
Waco News-Tribune:
TWO MEN, one a banker, one a lawyer, neither of whose names probably will head the cotton control bill that will be passed by this month's session of the legislature, now are getting credit for foresight on a proposal that was taken lightly when they brought it up.
They are M. C. Parrish, former house member from Travis county, and Senator Oliver Cunningham of Abilene.
Mr. Parrish offered the first cotton acreage bill in Texas. His measure was offered in February, 1927, and killed by committee February 3. Just now, when the best bill in sight is one to require rotation of crops, it will be of keen interest to recall just what Mr. Parrish's bill proposed, four and a half years ago.
"In order to conserve the fertility of the soil and protect it from deterioration and final destruction hereafter it shall be unlawful for any owner, lessor or tenant of any land in cotton for a second year in succession on a similar one having for its purpose conservation of the soil by crop rotation, will be taken up by some future legislature which will be more friendly toward farm relief measures than the attitude manifested by the present legislature."
And after Governor Sterling called this session, his friends called attention to the prophetic statement.
The other man is Senator Oliver Cunningham of Abilene. Senator Cunningham sponsored the cotton regulation and rotation bill back in the regular session this year, and saw it killed by other members. It was more or less of a joke then.
Now Senator Parrish and Cunningham are called back to face the grim reality of the situation, have suggested that Senator Cunningham deserve credit that has not yet been accorded his effort, his foresight, and his conscientious attempt to meet the situation that arose through failure of the legislature to follow his urgings.

MOON of DELIGHT
by Margaret Bell Houston

STENOGRAPHER: Juanita is hurt when Kirk seems to believe the gossip concerning Eric Ledbetter's conquest of the veiled cigarette girl in Davitt's gambling parlors. How well she remembers Eric's efforts, his efforts to discover her identity! For only she and the marquessa, her chaperone, know that Juanita, who accepted socially by Nelly, Kirk's grandmother, as Senorita Flores, is in reality this girl-called Moon of Delight. Despite the marquessa's false story that Juanita is engaged to a nobleman, Kirk tells Juanita he'll marry her. At Nelly's Blook home Juanita does not understand that the coded messages the marquessa sends to Davitt involve plans to rob their hostess, and others. Planning to attend Bobby Cranshaw's dinner, Juanita and the marquessa go with Kirk to his New Orleans home.

Chapter 29
LEDBETTER REMEMBERS
KIRK, riding with Juanita and the marquessa to Bobby Cranshaw's dinner, hoped that the evening would bring a change in Juanita's attitude toward him.
Silly, he thought, that this foolish gossip about the Moon—what was it they called her?—the Moon of Delight—could sway her so. At the alcoholic mirth at Adrian's dinner at Tarpon Point, Kirk's name had been jokingly linked with the Moon. Had Emma Jean had seen Juanita talking with Emma Jean—had Emma Jean told her that he was one of the Moon's lovers, and that she been trying to make him confess?
Could it be that Juanita was trying to draw him out about the girl in Davitt's place?
Kirk had thought that night at Tarpon Point, when the Moon was mentioned that Juanita had been lightly jealous of her, and he had enjoyed the belief.
Now he knew that her emotion had been a deeper thing than doubt—it was conviction—some strange conviction—that had swayed and changed her.
She had meant to tell him about this man in Barcelona, had not wanted to tell him, had decided that after all it was not necessary. It was not necessary to confide in him. Kirk, at all, since she did not intend to marry him. Yet she had meant that morning to marry him? Why couldn't she be frank with him?
Kirk did not sit next to Juanita at dinner. On one side was Cerise DuBois and on the other side Phyllis Carver. Juanita, of course, sat at Bobby's right. On her left was a vacant chair.
Bobby had been unable to wait dinner on the tardy guest, inasmuch as they were all going to La Petite Theatre afterward.
Naida was staring in something Trigger had written. Trigger would see that the dinner party arrived on time. Naida and Dick were not at the dinner.
No one asked who was the late member of the party. Every one seemed to know. Kirk surmised only vaguely, being occupied with other things—chiefly watching Juanita who sat opposite him and striving to reply coherently to Cerise and Phyllis.
Cerise, fortunately, had something in common with Adrian on her other side, for Adrian too had been robbed—on one of the nights

"Don't run," Molly had said. "If you meet him, face him."
Molly's words had been with her ever since Ledbetter had come in at the door. She contrived to smile now, playing with the flowers that had been beside her plate. "He was drunk," Molly had said. "He won't remember."
But he did remember.
"Whoever gave you lilies of the valley and violets doesn't understand you," Ledbetter remarked, observing the lace-trimmed nosegay in her hands. "You should have orchids—black orchids."
"I should hate them," said Juanita. "They don't sound like flowers."
Ledbetter laid down his fork. "Help me," he begged. "Don't you remember me? . . . You've been in Madrid, surely. Perhaps in Istanbul. Look at me. Don't you remember?"
She looked at him.
"One does not forget eyes like yours, Senorita."
"But eyes like yours, Eric," remarked Rod Stevens from across the table, "may not leave so indelible a mark. The lady does not remember you. You only embarrass her."
"Go after him," said Emma Jean to Rod. "He's been making love to Juanita ever since he sat down. Me on his other side he's hardly said a word to. And I remember him."
Kirk thought, "I believe Juanita knows him. I believe she's met him somewhere."
"It will come to me," said Ledbetter. "Faces I may forget, but voices—I will come to me."
He began to eat his dinner. Juanita looked at Kirk and away.

Kirk's eyes had said, "Do you want to go? Do you want me to take you away?"
"What must he think of her, always disturbed by something? Always wanting to escape—from Adrian, from some situation?"
She saw the marquessa watching her also, carefully avoiding the wine. Juanita straightened herself, flashed a smile at Kirk. The dinner was nearly over.
Trigger himself marshaled the girls toward the stair, imploring them not to dawdle over their wraps and lipstick. Ledbetter watched Juanita as she went with the rest.
By Jove, where . . . All in black . . . flowers. He almost had it. Fitz caught his arm, drew him aside.
"Take a tip," said Fitz. "Don't go behind the scenes, after the show. Ledbetter's glance narrowed slightly. "You mean?"
"I mean Dick. He's behaving like the devil. I don't think he knows

Patented, continuous process takes guesswork out of coffee roasting

Controlled Roasting produces same fine flavor in every pound of Hills Bros Coffee

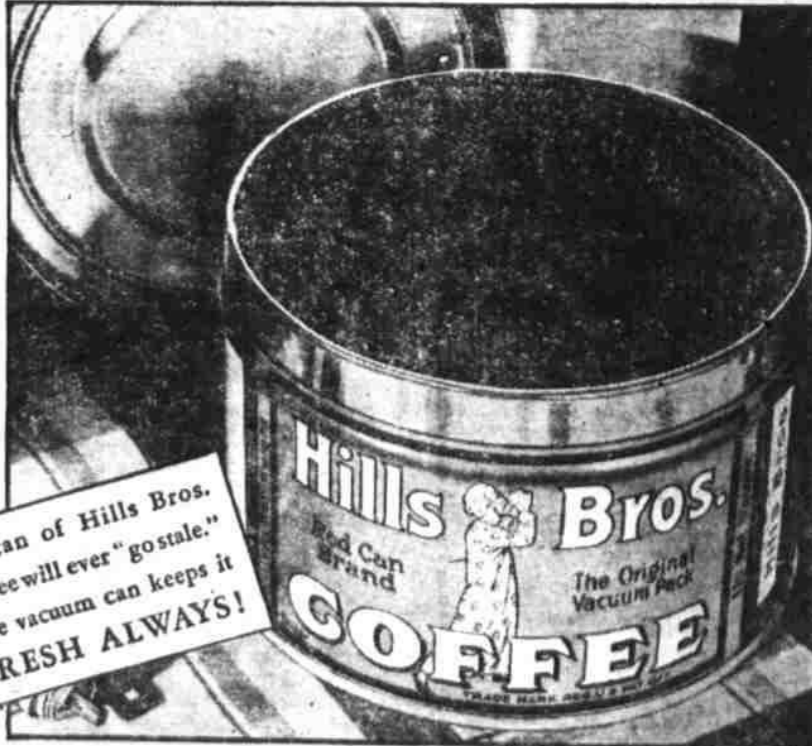

"A little at a time"—instead of in bulk—is the secret

Instead of roasting in bulk, which requires guesswork, Hills Bros. roast a little at a time. The rare blend of Hills Bros. Coffee passes through the roasters evenly, continuously. This automatic, patented process—Controlled Roasting—does away with guesswork, and insures exactness. It develops every berry to the fullest—a rich, refreshing flavor!

Every can of Hills Bros. Coffee has the same flavor, and every can is fresh! Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed and kept out of Hills Bros.' vacuum cans. Ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee can't go stale—can't lose its aroma and flavor!

Pour a cup of Hills Bros. Coffee. One breath of its tempting aroma, and you drain the cup and pour another. After that—perhaps another. This is coffee! Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

Mrs. H. B. Hurley entertained the members of the Petroleum Bridge Club at her home at Continental Oil Camp No. 1, Thursday afternoon with a delightful bridge party.

Zinnias from the hostess' garden were the floral decorations. A pretty salad course was served to the guests. Miss Lynn Jones assisted the hostess with the serving.

Mrs. McDonald made high score and received a hand-embroidered linen vanity set. Mrs. Johnson was consoled for low score with a linen guest towel.

Mrs. I. F. Pettet, of McCamey, and Mrs. Norman Weiss, of Santa Barbara, Mexico, were the only visitors.

Mrs. Repps Guitar Honoree at Lovely Afternoon Party

Mrs. B. F. Willis entertained at bridge Thursday afternoon honoring Mrs. Repps Guitar, whose mother was one of her intimate friends.

Miss Sarah Boswell, of Ft. Worth, was also in the receiving line with Mrs. Guitar.

The house was beautifully decorated with summer flowers and a cool color scheme of green was carried out in the plate luncheon which followed the games.

Mrs. Robert Parks made high score. The guests in addition to the honoree, were Meses. Parks, Robert Middleton, Seth Parsons, Robert Currie, H. E. Clay, Sidney W. House, Grover Cunningham and Misses Mamie Hair, Agnes Currie, Martha Edwards and Mary Gene Duherty.

Diphtheria Conference Is Announced for Tomorrow

A diphtheria immunization program has been planned for the public, especially school children, to be held Saturday at the courthouse at 2 o'clock.

Diphtheria immunization will be offered at its usual low cost, $1.30. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the Howard County Health Committee will meet to outline the work for the coming year. The public is invited to attend these meetings and to learn what is being done.

Peacocks and Pearls Served On Greek Tables

It seems that the cooking business must have started back in the Garden of Eden when the first apple was eaten raw. One supposes that Madam Eve became bored with the monotony of eating apples the same way all the time, and one day tossed a glossy checked one into the hot ashes or a pot of boiling water to see what would happen. It made a great hit with Adam, and flattered, Madam Eve from thenceforward tested her originality in preparing apple dishes.

At any rate, the subject of food has retained its popularity through out the ages. Mrs. Myra Oliver Douglas declares, who is to conduct a free cooking school for women readers of the Daily Herald beginning Sept. 29. She has found that all the "old fellows" of forgotten centuries were great eaters. They would have sneered in open contempt for the lowly hot dog stand and the sandwich-and-glass-of-milk lunch. And extravagant—the most luxurious hostess of today has nothing on Cleopatra's dish of a melted pearl, weighing seventy-four carats and valued at six million staterces. And there was a spendthrift son of Aesopus, who dissolved his sweetheart's pearl earring in vinegar, and "quaffed a cool five thousand at a draught."

Peacock Graced Tables And whereas the proud and glittering peacock today struts around in the zoo or ornaments handsome country estates, the colorful bird was used by the Greeks for food. They were killed, skinned and cooked. Then the gorgeous cover of plumage was replaced when the bird was served on the table.

Louis XIV of France was a king who liked to dine well and long. The Duchesse D'Orleans relates that she had frequently seen him consume four plates of different soups, a whole pheasant, a partridge, a large plate of salad, a large portion of mutton, two good slices of ham, a plateful of sweet meats, fruit and preserves. Still, in his old age, he became miserably when his physician cut him off from just one of his favorite dishes.

Britons Strong The old English seem to have had good, plain appetites. Four and five hundred years ago they had four meals daily—breakfast at seven, dinner at ten, supper at four, and "livery" at eight. The Britons lived mostly out of doors. Their stomachs were strong and they were able to digest strong dishes—whale, porcupine, seal, and grampus. They used in many ways spoils of the chase, wild owls especially. In Pepy's Diary, he describes one of his company dinners—"a brace of stewed carps, six roasted chickens, jowl of salmon hot for the first course; a tansy, a sweet dish made of eggs, and cream; two neat's tongues and cheese."

All of which probably took the cooks or housekeepers many long hours of weary labor to prepare. Modern recipes are no longer cumbersome. Mrs. Douglas points out, and she will emphasize in her cooking school short steps in cooking, general "up-to-dateness," and methods which will cut short the

Bridal Shower And Fortunes Feature Party

Mr. and Mrs. Slaughter Honor Mr. and Mrs. B. Martin

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Slaughter were host and hostess for a very hospitable bridal shower Thursday evening honoring Mr. and Mrs. Boynton Martin. Mr. Martin is an employee of the Slaughter Pilling Station.

The evening was devoted to games and stunts. At the close there was a special fortune telling contest staged in which Pauline Schubert was the fortune teller. When the honorees had their fortunes told, they were informed that a surprise awaited them; this turned out to be the gifts of the evening.

A blue and pink color scheme was carried out with novelty place favors. During the refreshment hour a lovely bridal cake with a miniature bride and groom was cut and served with punch and pineapple whip to the guests.

Those enjoying this novel party were Mrs. Cliff Woods, Misses Helen, Mildred and Evelyn Creath, Pauline Hart, Mayme Leach, Josephine Tripp, Norah Pearl Marchbank, Ina Deason, Lucille Barry, Pauline Schubert, Billie Sikes; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Davis and Messrs. and Garland Early. Gifts were sent by Mrs. R. E. Slaughter and Mrs. Jess Slaughter, who could not attend.

Nearly $4,500,000 is being spent on new hotels and a golf course in Bermuda.

Many women in Paris are wearing Turkish trousers. Time and labor the housewife must spend in her kitchen.

Pajamas and Surprise Shower Feature Party

Mrs. Larson Lloyd entertained the members of the Ace-High Bridge Club at her home Thursday morning with a very enjoyable pajama bridge-breakfast.

Two courses were served, cleverly carrying out the color scheme of ochre and yellow.

The meeting was also a surprise shower for Mrs. Warner Neece, who made high score for the afternoon and received, in token of that, a dainty luncheon set. She received many useful gifts from those present and club members who could not attend.

No guests were present. The members were Meses. D. M. McKinney, Joy Stripling, Stanley Wheeler, Warner Neece, Alfred Collins, L. T. Sledge, Lindsey Marchbanks and Leon Smith.

New Member Initiated Into Camp

Mmes Boyles and McElrath Hostesses For Royal Neighbors

The Royal Neighbors held their regular meeting Thursday afternoon in the Seltos Hotel Lodgerooms with initiation ceremonies for Mrs. Emma Byers.

Mrs. Boyles and Mrs. McElrath were hostesses for the social hour and entertained the group with games and refreshments. Miss Fannie Mae Russell was a visitor. The members present were Meses Della Bugg, Jewell Williams, Mabel Hall, Ortry Bostler, Ruby Petty, Mary Lawrence, Lizzie B. ### SPORT SLANTS

By Alan Gould

Red Cagle will roam the grid-irons again this fall and winter for the dear old New York Giants. Things haven't been quite so good lately down around Wall street, where the redhead galloped in to make a financial career for himself and he showed no hesitation in signing an attractive contract to tote the ball again for the professional football outfit.

One of the Red's running mates this year will be a newcomer to the professional ranks, Johnny Kitmiller, the "Flying Dutchman" who was developed as a first class ball-carrier by Capt. John J. McEwan at the University of Oregon.

But the ballyhoo in the program is such that I had to find out from Portland's eagle-eyed observer, K. H. Gregory, that Kitmiller is not in a condition of shinning, and that he is assigned jersey No. 13.

LUCKY 13
So far as the gridiron Giants are concerned, No. 13 is their lucky number and Kitmiller is welcome to it. Dr. Harry March, the club president, wrote to Gregory:

"Since we have been playing, it has been worn by the great Jim Thorpe, and you'd hardly call him an unlucky football player; Glenn Killinger, the dashing quarterback of Beadke's 1921 Penna State team; by Wally Koppiah and Jack Hagerty, so nothing but honor attaches to our No. 13."

"Incidentally, we lose Hagerty this fall, which is how No. 13 comes to be vacant for Kitmiller. He leaves us to become backfield coach for Capt. John J. McEwan at Holy Cross."

"We get most of our boys from small colleges, because there they have to play one hour of hard football. Most of the big schools give 'em 15 minutes, and they think they are overworked heroes."

"The situation was pretty well summed up by a certain coach when he said: 'The difference between post-graduate professional football and the college game is that pro football is motion, and college football is emotion.'"

"That's a good line, and hasn't been printed."

HABE PASSES 600
Habe Ruth's production of home runs has been at the rate of about 100 every two years since he got down to the serious business of bust'em out of the parks of the American League.

He passed the 600 mark this season and if he can add another 100 to the collection, as he feels confident of doing, the record books will have a permanent entry for your lifetime and mine, especially since the less-lively ball now is cutting down the chances of any other slugger overhauling the Babe.

For no reason whatever we have obtained from a prominent statistician the landmarks in the Babe's long-range campaign. Here they are:

No.	Date Made	Pitcher & Club
100	Sept. 6, 1915	Warhop, N. Y.
200	Sept. 24, 1920	Shaw, Detroit
300	May 12, 1925	Pilette, Detroit
400	Sept. 8, 1925	Ross, Boston
500	Sept. 2, 1927	Walberg, Phil.
600	Aug. 11, 1929	Hudlin, Clevel.
700	Aug. 27, 1931	Blaicholder, St. Louis

Mexicans Arrested On Adultery Charge; Negro Held In Attack
Mike Gomez and Miguella Alford, Mexicans, were Friday held in the county jail facing charges of adultery. Late Friday afternoon they had not asked for their examining trial.

In another cell of the county jail Theodore Adell, negro, faces charges of rape. He is alleged to have criminally attacked a negro girl Tuesday evening.

In the hands of her husband. "After he tried to kill me, and he is lying if he says it was in self-defense," she declared. "I was in my own home and I never went near the pistol. It was found by the police in the highboy in my bedroom when they came."

Her daughter was graduated from Central High School two years ago and had returned to work after the marriage. Mrs. Elliott explained.

C. E. Johnson, the youth held in Fort Worth in connection with the slaying of Mrs. H. A. Elliott, is a son of C. E. Johnson. The boy was brought up here and is a former high school football star.

The Elliotts also formerly resided here. Acquaintances of young Johnson and Mrs. Cozzens, daughter of Mrs. Elliott, said the pair had been sweethearts for five or six years prior to her marriage recently.

Charges brought against Rev. Heard in Jonesboro.

It was understood the visitors were given access to church records. One charge made at Jonesboro, it was said, was that Rev. Heard misappropriated money from the local church's building fund. The records showed, it was declared, that Rev. Heard had no connection personally with the handling of that fund. Affidavits also were obtained here. It was learned, for the purpose of refuting other charges of misconduct by Rev. Heard.

The visitors were understood to have offered to pay expenses of any one from here who knew anything that could prove or disprove charges, and who would go to Jonesboro. No one agreed to go, it was learned.

Rev. Heard, his wife and son, were given church letters of fellowship before they left Big Spring. It was stated, Rev. Heard also was given salary for six weeks after a meeting of the church, called by Rev. Heard, at which he tendered his resignation as pastor. The resignation was offered after motion to give Rev. Heard a letter of fellowship and extend six weeks' salary had been adopted. It was declared.

No charges were preferred but the owner of the car does want his machine back so the warty three "without a dime between them" turned back for a little town in Oklahoma.
