"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

Prominent Citizen Called By Death

A shadow of gloom spread over the town and community Wednesday afternoon when the news of the sudden death of J. J. Kirkpatrick, was passed around.

Mr. Kirkpatrick, a member of a pioneer family, former merchant and businessman of Santa Anna, of recent years a farmer, died at his home here very suddenly Wednesday afternoon of a heart attack.

Mr. Kirkpatrick is survived by his wife, 2 sons and 3 daughters, besides a number of good friends.

The body was laid to rest in the local cemetery Thursday afternoon about the time this issue of the news went to press, following funeral services at the Methodist Church.

A better mention of Mr. Kirkpatrick will follow as soon as more data can be obtained.

THE FARM STRIKE

There is no ill in the agricultural belt of the Middle West that higher commodity prices won't cure overnight. And that goes for economic, spiritual and political ills.

Fundamentally our farmers are sound to the core. They are long-suffering and forbearing. But they are likewise human and the present "strike" of farmers in the Middle West and Northwest is easily comprehensible. That isn't saying that they are right in their action, to be sure; they may be extremely unwise, for all we know. But we hope we don't hear any silly sickening talk about "reds" and "communism" applied to them. They feel they have a just grievance against conditions, and they are expressing themselves rather demonstratively for the moment to call attention to their plight.

NRA's Buy Now

The latest move of the National Recovery Administration in its drive against business depression is the "Buy Now" campaign which is being carried on throughout the nation.

So many "buy now" and similar moves have been sponsored by various groups for selfish reasons, it is difficult to make the people believe that the NRA attempt is just another of those things designed to take from the pocket of one and placed to a large bank account of another.

Confidence in President Roosevelt and his program, however, has had a telling effect, and the NRA's "Buy Now" is being looked on with little skepticism.

The plan, in brief, is to get money into circulation and to create demand for all kinds of commodities by having them consumed by persons who need them. The plan is designed to work like clock wheels, the purchases of every individual stimulating trade on down the line until it returns to him.

For instance, if a citizen of Erath county buys a suit from a Stephenville merchant at a reasonable price, the merchant in turn buys another suit. The transaction likewise affects the wholesaler or jobber, and the factory is called on to make another suit. For material to make the suit the factory must call on the producer.

The various transactions call for added help, thus aiding the unemployment situation. The goods must be hauled, giving work not only to the railroads and trucks but to industries that furnish equipment. One purchase of a suit of clothes, then, affects practically every industry and tends to stimulate trade, put people to work and speed recovery.

This is explained by the Recovery Administration as the basic principle of the "buy now" move. It is stated plainly by the NRA that the move is not for the purpose of stimulating buying that will act as a boom-erang. The administration goes as far as to advise consumers not to buy what they do not need. It urges prudent buying.

From these facts it is seen that the "buy now" campaign is built on sound principles and that if it is carried out in the manner outlined by President Roosevelt and his advisors it will have a strong tendency to speed economic recovery.

Other phases of the NRA program may not be working effectively in towns the size of Stephenville, but apparently the "buy now" move is designed to recruit every citizen in the recovery army. —Stephenville Enterprise Tribune.

WHAT DO YOU SEE?

A neighboring editor delivers the following splendid sermon to his town. It is true of all small towns that are progressing today are progressing because they contain a live bunch of citizens who are not satisfied to have them do anything else. The article is as follows:

"Some of our good people are looking in the wrong end of the telescope with the result that everything appears, small and blurred. As they look through their wrongly focused telescope they see their town at the distance of a few years, 'just a whistling post.' We want to make this statement, and we want to make it plain, if our town ever becomes a whistling post, it will be because the people in it are whistling post people. And we're not one of them. Our vision of our town of the future is a prosperous, happy little town.

"We are not foolishly optimistic. We do not believe in the asinine brand of optimism that goes around braying that 'everything is lovely and the goose hangs high,' when we know that everything is not lovely and the goose does not hang high.

"We don't expect our town to become a big town. There isn't anything to make it a big town. And we don't want it to become a big town. We're just the kind of a small town guy that likes to come down on a morning and every few steps have someone holler, 'Hello, how are you this morning?' and we want to holler back, 'feelin' fine—now are you?'

And just because we are that kind of a guy, and because our faith in the future prosperity of our town, we are going to support every proposition that comes up for its progress, even if it does cost a little money.

"We're not the whistling post type." —Winters Enterprise.

Liberty Hallowe'en Carnival

The young people of the Liberty Community entertained through the P-T. A. with a Hallowe'en Carnival at the Liberty School House Friday night. The large crowd present had the young people to thank for such a pleasant evening.

Every alternate month the young people take charge of the P-T. A. entertainment and on this occasion it was their purpose to raise money to buy lights for the school and church.

No charge was made for admission into the Spook House which was the upper story of the school building, the entrance of which was presided over by Gus Morgan, a visitor from Santa Anna. Miss Ruth Polk conducted the victims through dark alcoves, the abodes of ghosts, goblins, and dead men, the horrors of whose passages were intensified by the tortures inflicted by Robert and Maurice Curry, John Walker Taylor, Weldon Priest, and Alton Straine.

Down stairs were booths presided over by other young people: Miss Martin, our new teacher, dispensed kisses at her booth at depression prices of 2c each. Mrs. Harding did herself proud as hawk for this booth.

Other booths which added interest and entertainment to the occasion were Dead Man's, Great Western Hold-Up, Swimming Match, Four Sents for Two, Fortune Tellers, and Fishing Pond, presided over respectively by Edna Smith, Janus Smith, E. W. Polk, Jr., and Bill Hawood; Larue Curry, Lonella Taylor and Eunice McGeary.

In the Primary rooms refreshments which consisted of pies, pop corn, candy, hamburgers and coffee were served by Misses Pearl Hughes and Ruth McGeary, and Mesdames Oleta Smith and Carter Duggins.

The community attended almost one hundred per cent and were very generous in their patronage and expressions of appreciation.

Next month, with the assistance of the older people the P-T. A. is planning to put on the "Hickville Fashion Show." This arrangement permits the young people to put on the Christmas Program. We hope it will be a big Christmas Tree with all the trimmings. With Miss Ruth Polk as chairman of this division, we are confident of success. —Contributed.

AN AMAZING VISION

The most amazing story which science has told us in a long time comes from Dr. Charles H. Mayo, famous physician, who is quoted as saying that a death ray capable of destroying all disease will soon be perfected.

Think of blasting pneumonia and tuberculosis and typhus germs with an electrical shock, not to mention the common cold bacterial! Surely when that day comes mankind will live in a new world, one which will be revolutionized economically and culturally as well as in health conditions.

Yet the prediction carries a weight of conviction not only because of the eminence of Dr. Mayo, but because of the marvels being demonstrated in many fields through the use of rays. By means of them elements are being changed into other elements—as particles within an atom are knocked out—and the development of living bodies is being radically affected.

This is a marvelous day in science. While most old conceptions of the nature of the universe, accepted until 20 years ago, are now in the discard, nevertheless this very destruction of former ideas has opened the way to research and discovery which seemingly has brought man vastly nearer an understanding of ultimate reality than he has ever been before. —Houston Chronicle.

New Banker Here

M. A. Edwards, who is to have charge of the newly organized Santa Anna National Bank, when ready for operation, moved here with his family this week from Mingus, where he has been in the banking business the past several years. The deposits and other affairs of the Mingus bank were transferred to the Strawn National Bank, and the bank at Mingus has been discontinued.

The Edwards family is composed of himself, wife and small son, who have come to Santa Anna expecting to make this their future home. They come bearing the reputation of being a fine family of people, and the Santa Anna News is delighted to introduce them to the good people of Santa Anna and the citizenship round about. We welcome them to our midst, and trust they will find life here all they expect and that they will not be disappointed in a business way.

Mr. Edwards will be found at the bank, and has hopes of receiving the necessary papers, authorizing the new bank to begin business at an early date. He was a bit disappointed at not having them here early this week. The delay is in Washington, D. C., where the Comptroller's office is said to be snowed under with work.

Studies in Nature

The seventh grade is studying nature. One very interesting thing we have studied is the life and habits of spiders.

The Trap Door spider was an interesting thing we have studied. This spider digs a very deep hole in the ground and fixes a trap door, to catch anything that dares to walk over the door.

Another thing we have studied is the animals of the Atlantic and Gulf coast regions.

This told of alligators, deer, and waterfowls as well as many other wild animals.

SPORTS

At Liberty School the boys and girls play ball and have sports.

The seventh, eighth and ninth grade boys have a basketball. We are playing this year's rules. We are expecting to play a good many games. We have a good team.

The fourth, fifth, and sixth grade boys are going to enter in the Interscholastic League in Indoor baseball.

The first, second and third have a volleyball.

The trustees fixed our courts.

NEWS ITEMS

The trustees came to Liberty and worked one day. They fixed four new swings. They fixed up the larger boys' basketball goals and also the smaller boys' goals.

Our school has a new teacher. Her name is Miss Iris Martin. Her home is in Brownwood, but she is staying with Mrs. Taylor.

We had a Hallowe'en party at Liberty School Friday night. We made a sum with which we want to buy lamps. We charged for everything in order to raise funds for this purpose. We also had many people here and hope each had a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Folk visited our school one afternoon last week. We had other visitors to visit our school.

We are going to clean off the school ground Tuesday of this week. We have planned our desks in the high school room and will furnish them later. This was a hard job, but we made a fairly good job of it.

The seventh grade has made some very pretty salt maps in their study of Europe.

We are illustrating our nature books with free hand drawing.

One of our girls is making a pretty butterfly book.

BANANA VS. HOT DOG

Is the banana a vegetable? What is a hot dog? The following amusing story, says Kablegram, is a Japanese schoolboy's way of trying to show the similarity and dissimilarity between these two important items of diet.

The banana are a great remarkable fruit. He are constructed in the same architectural style as the honorable sausage. Difference being, skin of sausage are habitually consumed, while it are not advisable to eat rapping of banana.

Perhaps are also intrinsing the following differences between the two objects. Banana are held aloft while consuming, sausage are usually left in reclining position. Banana are first green in-culler, then gradual turn yellowish.

Sausage start out with indefinite culler (resemble terrier cotta) and retain same hue indefinitely. Sausage depend for creation upon human being of stuffing moshine, while banana are pristine product of honorable mother nature. Both article resemble the other in that neither have pit or colonel of any kind.

In case of sausage both conclusions are attached to other sausages, honorable banana on opposite hand are joined on one end to the stem, other termination are entirely loose.

Finally, banana are strictly member of the vagitable kingdom, while affiliation of sausage is often undecided. —Pathfinder.

Rain and Cooler Weather

Rain began falling here early Thursday morning and the temperature dropped several degrees.

At noon Thursday one inch of moisture had fallen and the mercury was headed for the freezing point.

If general, the rain is a great benefit to this country. Stock water was scarce, and small grain was very much in need of moisture.

SCARLET FEVER

Austin, Texas, October 17.—The State Department of Health has just issued a warning in regard to scarlet fever.

Scarlet fever is a very contagious and serious disease. Grown people may catch scarlet fever, but children under 15 years are most likely to have it.

If your child is going to have scarlet fever, the first signs you may notice are that he seems tired, restless and out of sorts.

The doctor is required by law to report the case to the local health officer. Do your part by following carefully the quarantine instructions which the health officer will give you.

or fatal case of scarlet fever may develop from contact with some one who has only a light attack.

BUSINESS IS BUSINESS

Whoever looks at business as something to play with is afflicted with astigmatism.

Business has come to be a very carefully scintized-occupation. It is subject to rules quiet as definite as are the laws of engineering or medicine.

A few years ago we went on a business debauch. We started to celebrate the flow of wealth into the United States and concluded that "easy money" would be with us forever.

Realizing how exacting and scientific business has become, we are specializing in stressing the essentials and avoiding technicalities.

Let us send you our catalog telling you something about the opportunities there are in business.

HOME ECONOMICS III GIRLS ENJOY SUNRISE BREAKFAST

The Home Economics III girls, in continuing their study of entertainment, decided to put what they had learned from books into practice and at the same time have a "jolly good time" themselves. Consequently, it was decided that the thing to do was to have a sunrise breakfast.

The girls all met at the City Hall at six-thirty o'clock Wednesday morning, October 25, 1933 with the exception of about five or six girls a few minutes late who were left to come up by themselves. From here, they went on up to the mountain side and "warmed up" by climbing the "Old Scout Trail" in the west mountain. Upon reaching the top, the committees, which had been previously assigned their tasks, began the work of the preparation for breakfast. The following menu was prepared:

- Fruit: Apples, Bananas, Oranges
Fried Bacon Scrambled eggs
Bread
Cocoa
After eating all they could,

THE TALLEST MAN ON THE FOOTBALL TEAM

Coch Binton, when asked by a scribbler who was the tallest man on his team, answered in this way, "Scott Wallace is." He seemed to be in no doubt.

Wallace has been playing on the Santa Anna Football Team since he was a freshman. When information was asked for, as to whether Scott had been the tallest man on the team ever since he has been playing, the answer was given in the affirmative. It seems though, that he beat Clifford Wheeler, who has played on the team until this year, only one-half an inch.

However Wallace mustn't be considered too tall, because he is only six feet, two and one-half inches.

HOME ECONOMICS MEETING IS HELD AT BRADY

The Home Economics Club planned to send five girls to Brady, Friday, October 27, but were unable to find a sponsor for them, as their sponsor, Miss Hays, couldn't go.

Santa Anna Home Economics Club plans to send some of their students the next time they have a district meeting.

The girls who were asked by Miss Hays to go were Alberta Banks, Frances Gregg, Lenora Golston, Annette Shield and Mary Lee Ford.

ENGLISH II CLASSES USING NEW BOOKS

Instead of the "Literature and Living" used in previous years, the English II classes are studying "Literature and Life."

The students have covered their books and are doing their best to keep them looking neat and new for the students next year.

The books have been ordered by the school and are furnished free to the pupils. Before this, the pupils had to buy them.

Don'ts In School and Out

Don't race for your home room; let the room come to you. Don't throw things at the wastebasket; the floor is easier to hit.

Don't talk when the bell rings; you'll strain your voice trying to speak louder than the sound of the bell.

Don't eat or munch candy or food in class; your class activities will interfere with your digestion.

Don't bend over the table at mealtime; have the table raised to meet your chin.

Don't be absent without a necessary cause; think of the anguish and loneliness your absence brings to the hearts of your instructors and classmates.

Don't drink your coffee from a saucer; it stretches your mouth.

Don't heed anything I may have said in this column; I really didn't mean any of it.

WHICH ARE YOU?

If a student studies, he's a bookworm; if he doesn't, he's a slacker. If he flunks, he's unlucky, if he passes he's a cribber. If he knows his lessons, he's a smart aleck; if he doesn't, he's a dumbbell. If he has ideas, he's a crank; if he doesn't, he's a numbskull. If he spends his money, he's a spendthrift; if he doesn't, he's a tightwad. If he's quiet, he's a high-hatter; if he's sociable, he's a pain. If he talks, he's a chatter-box; if he doesn't, he's an oyster. If he's religious, he's a fanatic; if he's not he's a heathen. If he dies rich, he's a skinflint; if he doesn't, he's a pauper. Now I ask you very confidentially--which are you?

Volley Ball and Net Arrive

As such interest was taken in volleyball last year, a new net and ball were ordered for this year. Volley ball is an exciting game, in which a large number of the students may participate. If they will, SAHS can have a good team, that, perhaps, will bring victory to our school in volleyball as is brought in other athletics. The more sports a school has, the more victories it can win!

(Invert the second column)
Juanita Pittman; Golda Hardy; Sam Forehand; Louise Wilford; Willis Burney; Ora Alice Newman; Rosalie Nell; Floyd Gilbreath; Mildred McDonald; Inez Tucker; Frances Gregg; Winston Hall; Gladys Creamer; Jack Howard; Julian Kelley; Zelda Ruth Moseley; Doris Spencer.

A congenial smile for everybody.

An agreeable, dignified junior. A straightforward freshman. "I believe in self-defense."

Another intelligent, reliable girl.

A well-liked girl. A personified arguer. She won in a blushing contest. Has an air of intelligence. Mischievous Floyd, the paper was expert.

A gay and popular freshman. A willing, determined junior. "A square? What's that?"

Loquacious, and can she yell. "Let's talk about something to eat."

Queer, likable, clever.

Quiet, studious, attractive.

Use the Three Minute Period

So often teachers are heard to scold, "That is not your bell. It is only a signal for teachers to assign classes their lesson. You go right on studying!"

What do they mean? It is an unwelcome but true fact that all over the study hall books are slammed to after the first bell, while students sit idly gazing around or getting into some sort of mischief.

If each pupil in high school could realize that as much as thirty minutes are wasted in a day by each individual who indulges in this sort of thing, many of them would not do it. Numbers of times students go to class after study hall and miss some test question simply because they did not study after the first bell rang. In consideration of these facts, let's start using the three minute period to study.

Mountaineers VS. Eagles

Santa Anna Mountaineers downed the fighting Goldthwaite eleven last Friday, October 27. The Mountaineers came to life in the last half to score a 31-6 victory over the Eagles. The Eagles scored their 6 points in the first half, and outplayed the Mountaineers off their feet.

Spectacular runs were made by Walthall, Zachary, and Cheaney. Jennings also showed up well. Walthall ran 70 yds. off tackle for one touchdown; Zachary returned a punt 70 yards for a touchdown; and Cheaney returned a punt 75 yds. for a touchdown. Cheaney also ran 20 yards for another touchdown. Zachary made another on a pass. Hays, who played stellar defense, converted the only extra point all afternoon.

With a 31-6 victory over the Goldthwaite team on their hands, the Mountaineers will probably be hard to handle in the second conference game with Ballinger next Friday, November 3, 1933.

Most Popular Book in Library

If you were to ask some of the librarians of SAHS what book in the library is most popular, you would hear a quick reply. Henderson's "Practical Physics." We wonder why.

Mr. Scarborough is trying a new method of teaching. Instead of the regular assigning of lessons in the text-book, Mr. Henderson's workbook is being used as a guide, and references given in the different physics books contained by the library. Consequently, the thirty or forty industrious students are always seeking "Practical Physics" for a solution to their ponderous problems.

Girls Physical Education

Mondays and Wednesdays find the girls taking physical education under the supervision of Miss Hays, vocational home economics instructor.

On Monday, the first thirty minutes of the period is used in a study on health, while the last fifteen minutes is spent outside. Every Wednesday the girls play some of the following games: tennis, baseball, volley ball, and basketball.

The girls are already training in these games for Inter-scholastic League work.

Singing in Chapel

Students and teachers assembled in the auditorium Friday morning at the chapel period and enjoyed a period of singing. Mr. Locke led the singing, while Ora Alice Newman played the piano. This is the first time this year the school has had such a sing-song, but shall be looking forward to many more.

BASKETBALL

Basketball is an interesting feature of SAHS. A team has not yet been organized, but will be soon. Last year's team won many victories as well as the championship. It is sure that with the competent leader, Miss Hays, and with the determined effort of the girls, they can win again this year. Many of the girls have already been practicing, which is proof of their enthusiasm.

JUNIOR NEWS

Three dollars and nineteen cents was the profit from the selling of candy, chewing gum, and cold drinks at the game Friday and from the rummage sale Saturday. About $35.00 has been made since the beginning of school, while $33.00 was left in the bank last year. This makes a total of nearly seventy dollars in the class fund. The juniors are very sorry to lose one of their most cooperative members, Mary Alice Lawrence, who is moving to Baird.

In taking up their study of child guidance, Home Economics III really cares for a small child during the day. The class decided upon Joy Bland, who accommodated last year's class. the old "run-around."

10.—To have no time for the fellow who would rather obstruct a plan that might cost him a $500-a-year loss than to support a plan that would enable 10,000,000 people to eat regularly.

11.—To stop talking about "interference with natural economic laws," "inevitable business cycles," etc., and to realize that nobody ever got a wrecked truck out of a ditch by citing precedents.

12.—To remember that we were all demanding action—and we finally got it.

13.—To realize when in a critical mood toward Little Nira that nobody has suggested a better plan for quick action.

14.—To be willing to take it on the nose for a year (if absolutely necessary) to cure a national headache.

15.—To keep ever foremost in the mind, when talking of the sacrifice being asked of me, that after all, I'm not asked to put on a uniform, go to France, dodge shrapnel, sleep in the mud and get what comfort I can out of the fact that a girl named Nellie is knitting me a pair of socks.

16.—To work more and talk less, always realizing that it is impossible to pull a drowning man out of a well by throwing him a plate of boloney.

17.—To remember that the only difference between a slacker in this crisis and a slacker in the World War is that the slacker in the World War had more good reasons for being scared stiff.

18.—To remember that we were all shouting for "a president who would do something."

Laxity in the enforcement of law is the result of a multiplicity of laws, the most of which are either foolish or attempts to erect minor offenses into capital crimes. It is common remark that the laws in England are enforced without unnecessary delay and with certain punishment. Which is true enough. But our British cousins reached this enviable position by ridding the books of a lot of foolish statutes. In the old days, and not so very long ago either, men were put in prison for minor offenses and kept there for years because they would not pay their full dues. A conspicuous example being John Bunyan, the author of "Pilgrim's Progress." If our laws dealt only with actual crimes, such as murder, rape, arson and theft, their enforcement would be a matter of course. But when we undertake to promote morality by legislative enactment, we weaken the whole structure and thereby enlarge criminality. Respect for law on the part of the people grows out of respectable laws. —Hamilton Herald-Record.

Planes Vie With Gulf-Dymaxion In Thrilling Air Pageant Throng

By Don Mockler
(Feature Writer, "U. S. Air Services")

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., (Special)—With the calm and efficient hand of Captain Alford J. Williams at the controls as Director of Events, the aeronautical extravaganza staged for charity and billed as the National Air Pageant held here October 7 and 8, came to a glorious conclusion Sunday night. More than 75,000 New Yorkers have had their first real taste of aviation activity on their "home grounds" since the races here in 1925.

As a special Pageant feature Captain Williams took his Curtiss "Gulfhawk" into the air on both days and introduced "painting aerobatics in the air," accomplished by a unique chemical smoke tank arrangement, allowing detailed study of the intricate maneuvers performed by this outstanding airman.

The Pageant attracted several hundred civilian fliers, in addition to 27 ships of the 8th Pursuit Group, 11 planes of the 2nd Bombardment Group, and 30 ships of the East Coast Expeditionary Force of the U. S. Marines.

As the Manager of the Aviation Department of the Gulf Refining Company, Al Williams had seen to it that the full airport service facilities of Gulf were placed at the disposal of the Pageant participants, and the Gulf airport trailer, special trucks, field cars, etc., were busy twelve hours both days of the Pageant.

James Wedell, holder of the land plane speed record of 305 mph, was prepared to defend his record against all comers, and incidentally to try and establish a new record but was forced down on his first attempt when his motor cowlings loosened, damaging his propeller.

Captain Williams had been commissioned by an anonymous patron of aviation to offer a silver trophy and a $2,500 purse to the flier establishing a new speed record.

Speaking of the unknown donor Captain Williams stated that "this American aviation altruist, has in mind the sole thought of providing a definite objective toward which this country's plane designers, builders and fliers might strive."

"I consider that this gesture is one of the finest and most important that has ever been made in the name of aviation."

Major Ernst Udet, German ace, was excellent in his aerobatic work. An outstanding performance was staged by Roy Hunt, who with motor dead, came down from 10,000 feet, doing a series of outside and inside loops, spins, rolls, and dives.

Major Alexander P. Galloway, in an amphibian of his own design, established an unofficial amphibian speed record of 176 mph.

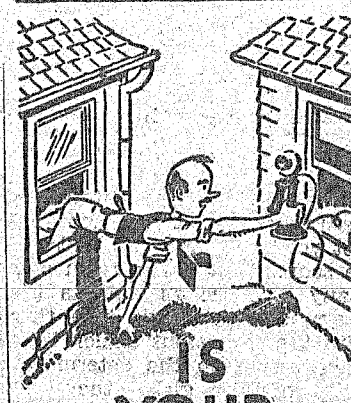

Despite the air features, attention was diverted to the ground every time the Gulf-Dymaxion came past the stands. This car, illustrated above, embodies the streamlining lessons taught by aerodynamics. With a top-speed of 120 mph, it produces thirty miles to a gallon of fuel. Its single rear-wheel steering makes it especially flexible in any traffic situation.

As the aerial bombs late at night signalled the close of the Pageant, Captain Williams expressed his personal appreciation to Mrs. Roosevelt and all the members of the many volunteer committees who had worked with him during weeks of intensive effort to bring the involved program of the National Air Pageant to a successful conclusion.

I promise:

- 2.—To give the iron ear to the fellow who has all those reasons why it won't work.

- 5.—To realize that patriotism is patriotism even when there are no bugles.
- 6.—To regard the Blue Eagle as a Blue Eagle and not as a chiselheaded woodpecker.
