Mountain Echoes

By Barbara

W. T. Hays was a man who stood tall among others. Literally, as he was a big six-foot-four, and figuratively, as he was one of the finest persons I have ever known.

When he bought The Santa Anna News from Johnny Valentine in June 1969, I was part of the "equipment," staying on as editor and office manager while he continued editing and managing the Brown County Gazette.

During the years we worked together I learned to respect and admire him, and give him credit for any success I have in the newspaper business.

We have lost a good friend this week.

Former Publisher Dies

Rites Held Monday in Bangs

Funeral services were held at Bangs First Baptist Church Monday for W. T. Hays Jr., 67, former publisher of The Santa Anna News and a long-time civic leader of Bangs. Mr. Hays died in Brownwood Regional Hospital early Sunday, January 24, after a five-month illness.

A native of Montague, he was born February 26, 1914 and attended school in Saint Jo and Bowie. He moved to Bangs in 1964 where he purchased an interest in the Brown County Gazette from the late Forrest Kyle, later becoming the sole owner of the publication. In 1969 he bought The Santa Anna News, operating both publications until July 1979 when he sold them to Woodson Newspapers, Inc. of Brownwood. He continued in business here with Hays Printing Co.

A veteran of the newspaper business, he had worked with publications in Texas and Oklahoma and from 1950 to 1962 was superintendent of the composing room for the student publications at the University of Texas at Austin. He was a U. S. Army veteran.

Besides his active business career, Hays was a former member of Bangs City Council and director of First State Bank of Bangs. He was serving as a

Broken Water Line Disrupts Service

Residents in most of the town were without water Wednesday when a break near the pump station at Lake Brownwood caused all the water to drain from the storage tank on top of the east mountain. The break occurred during the night Tuesday, and residents arose to find only air in their water lines.

Although work is still underway to repair the break in a concrete line at Lake Brownwood, an emergency system went into operation to pump water from the Santa Anna City Lake for town consumption.

Dispite the inconvenience of the day, there were no fires or other major mishaps.

W. T. HAYS

Trustee of Bangs Independent School District at the time of his death, and was a member of the Bangs Masonic Lodge and Bangs Lions Club.

A deacon at Bangs First Baptist Church, he served many years as choir director and a Sunday school teacher.

He married Lenora Belle Cannon May 9, 1936 in Lawton, Oklahoma.

City officials are having problems controlling stray dogs in town as some local residents are not cooperating with the round-up.

Several dogs that were impounded in the animal shelter near downtown were let loose last week. Some of the dogs were in the pens for observation, and officials are concerned about having them released without permission.

Local residents are warned to not open the gates or release impounded dogs.

Whon News

By Mrs. Tom Rutherford

We are experiencing beautiful weather following several days of very bad weather. Even though we did receive snow, the farmers and ranchers sure would love to receive a good rain. The grain and pastures need a drink of water.

Hugh Massey of Abilene stopped in Whon Monday morning at the Whon Post Office and was greeting several of the community friends. Mr. Massey has purchased the Ford Barnes ranch south of Whon and we understand his foreman, Amon Ott, probably of Coleman, is living on the Massey Ranch. We welcome Amon into the community. Those who have met him speak well of him.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Vinson were in Fort Worth the first of last week to see a specialist for Mrs. Vinson who has back problems. One night while away, Mr. and Mrs. Vinson visited their son, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Vinson and boys in Hurst. Then they spent a night with Mrs. Vinson's sister, Mrs. Kuner in Springtown. All friends of Mrs. Vinson wish her relief from her pain.

Mrs. Graham Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Neil Fitzpatrick and children of Odessa and Mrs. Don Fitzpatrick and children of Santa Anna visited Mrs. Fitzpatrick's mother, Mrs. Mary Snowden, last Tuesday afternoon in a Brady Rest home. Mrs. Snowden was thrilled to see her great-grandchildren, and one was visiting her for the first time.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morris and their grandchildren, Jeffery and Jennifer Morris, visited last Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Elwayne Perkins and children on their farm near Owens, north of Brownwood. Mr. and Mrs. Perkins live at Grand Prairie but come to their farm regularly.

Hilary Rutherford and son Rocky and Mack Hambright, Loyd Rutherford and son Todd were on the farm with the Tom Rutherfords Saturday. The men were working and vaccinating cattle.

Etoile Cozart of Brownwood was on his farm here several times during the week, checking on his cattle.

Floyd Morris was transacting business at San Saba during the past week and while the snow was on the ground. He reported much more snow on toward San Saba during the recent snowfall.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Shields of Santa Anna visited with Mrs. Lily Fox in Santa Anna during the past week.

Self Culture Club Has Meeting

Last Wednesday

The Self Culture Club met January 20 in the City Library with Mrs. C. D. Bruce and Mrs. Wesley Isenhower as hostesses.

The tea table was centered with a large brandy snifter holding yellow flowers and a yellow candle, placed on an heirloom crochet doily belonging to Mrs. Isenhower. Mrs. Jim Spillman served spiced tea and Mrs. Earl Simmons served hot lemonade from yellow pottery pots, and party foods were on the table.

Plans were made to observe Book Week in April as the club did last year, having busloads of school children brought to the Library for stories and refreshments. Mrs. Spillman, Mrs. J. E. Sparkman and Mrs. Norman Walters were named to the committee. The members approved the large bookcase recently donated to the Library, with J. R. Haynes constructing the shelves.

Roll call was answered with foods of South America. Reaching from north of the equator almost to the South Pole, the continent produces the widest variety of foods and there is nowhere any hunger.

Mrs. Joe Barnes was speaker for the day and told of the great differences in foods, fibers and design of the different peoples of South America. The many tribes have their ethnic differences, though beef is a universal food except in the high Andes, where llamas and other indigenous animals provide proteins.

Though Spanish is the common language, the largest country, Argentina, uses Portuguese. Almost the whole continent was ruled by European countries from 1500 until 1800.

Mrs. Barnes had been most impressed with the heights of the Andes during her tour of South America. Unlike the Rockies, the Andes rise almost from sea level.

Sixteen members and a guest, Letha Martin, were present.

B-wood Woman Wins Suit Over Disease-infected Cattle

A total of $30,000 was awarded to Mrs. Ruth Jones of Brownwood last week in a jury trial in Judge Gordon Griffin's 35th District Court in Brownwood. The suit involved selling brucellosis-infected cattle to Mrs. Jones. She specified she wanted brucellosis-free cattle.

The suit was brought by Mrs. Jones against Bill Stewart of Brownwood as well as Steve Kemp, Fort Worth, Virgil Mitchell and Dr. Bill Stevens of Palestine.

Mrs. Jones requested Stewart to buy the brucellosis free cattle. Kemp and Mitchell entered into contract to buy the cattle for Stewart to go to Mrs. Jones. The cattle were purchased and tested at a sale in Palestine by Dr. Stevens.

Of the $30,000 awarded, Mrs. Jones received $15,000 in damages, $5,000 in court costs, and $10,000 in punitive damages.

In testimony during the trial, it was shown the cattle for Mrs. Jones had been exposed to cattle which were infected with brucellosis, and that additional testing revealed the cattle for Mrs. Jones were also infected with the disease.

Brucellosis is a highly contagious disease of livestock which results in abortions and loss of milk. There is a cooperative federal-state program for control and eventual eradication of the disease in effect. The Texas Animal Health Commission administers the Texas Brucellosis program.

Of the $20,000 in damages and court costs, Dr. Stevens was ordered to pay 15 percent or $3,000. Kemp and Mitchell were ordered to pay 42.5 percent each of the $20,000 as well as the $10,000 in punitive damages.
