So far we have not had any information about the National Steer Roping finals results in Laramie, Wyoming last weekend. Ann Allen would have let us know if Guy had won the Championship, so I expect he ended the season in second place.

Arnold Felts, the leader by over $1,000 going into the finals, would have been hard to overtake.

We have a treat in store for our readers. We plan to start soon re-printing the "Bless This Mess" columns by Billie Wheatly. Billie, who was a regular contributor in 1977-78, had to quit writing for us when she took a full time job at Ranger Park Medical Center.

We will use the columns as space permits, and guarantee you will enjoy each one even if you have read it in an earlier issue.

Evant Elks Win Over S-Anna; Lometa To Play Here Friday

The Santa Anna Mountaineer football team lost their Friday night game to the Evant Elks by a narrow 7 - 6 margin, despite the heroic efforts by the team and a last quarter defensive effort that kept the Elks from scoring again.

The Mountaineers outplayed the Evant team everywhere except on the scoreboard, according to Coach Roger Goodwin, with Santa Anna making ten first downs to four for their opponents. Santa Anna also led in completed passes and in rushing yardage.

The Mountaineers played a better game than the previous week, holding their penalties to one for 15 yards. They did not lose a fumble during the contest, with Evant having two.

The Elks scored in the first quarter, while Santa Anna made their touchdown in the third quarter. The try for extra points failed. Halfback Tommy DeLeon gained 45 yards on 14 carries to lead the Mountaineers in yards gained.

The Mountaineers will host the Lometa team Friday night at 8 p.m., and it is expected to be the best team the Mountaineers have met this season. Santa Anna won over Lometa 8-0 last year, winning in the last 30 seconds of the game.

Coach Goodwin expects the Mountaineers to be in full strength Friday night after having Albert Collins and Ernest DeLeon out last week. The team is working hard, according to their coach, and he expects them to recover from the two losses.

There was a time when I envied the women whose husbands do something besides co-chasing for their livelihood. But no more! It took just one week of being a carpenter's helper to effect a cure. Give me a mad yearling with his head stuck in the fence any day.

Really, I guess I asked for it, but all I said was, 'If you don't get a garage built, you're going to wake up some morning and find your rig looks like it's had chicken pox!' Where I made my mistake was adding, 'I'll help you.' Most mothers have that fault.

Never buy new what you can get for a little cash and a lot of work. Therefore, Monday found us tearing down an old building in order to obtain material. The truth is, one of us spent the day tearing down, and the other one used it up pulling nails, loading trailer, looking for snakes and picking stickers.

It took two tubs of water to get rid of the evidence I collected that day.

Tuesday, bright and early, we're ready to commence. The trouble is we can't start until we dig these big holes for the posts to stand up in.

This was accomplished with a crowbar that weighed more than I do and a flat pan to dip the dirt out. Father provided the pan. The dipping out was a cinch, but the crowbar deal got kind of raunchy.

We're not an hour into it until I'm told I'm out there to dig, not to give advice. Well, if a hole is in the wrong place you don't just push it over a foot or two.

Wednesday found us with enough in the air to begin driving nails. That is, one of us drove nails, and the other one bent them in the middle.

No, he doesn't know why they bend, they just do! This is about where he splied my hammer.

It took twenty-seven years of marriage before I got a hammer that was all mine. It was found in the road and was presented to me as a gift, and if you lost it just forget it because possession is nine-tenths of the law, and I'm keeping it! I just wish you'd had a better handle in it.

Thursday reminded me of the Tower of Babel. We had to summon help because one of us was too puny to left her end of the rafters, and besides by now we're not speaking to each other so we needed a go-between.

'Ask you son if the board is supposed to be on the east or west side of the mark!'

He said tell you if it's as close as an inch either way to go ahead and nail it!'

The sun came up Friday morning on a shiny new top, and we started putting tin on the sides. The first hour got one thumb and the finger next to it. If you put your knee against the bottom and use one hand you can hold as good as ever.

It was still standing up Saturday, so we nailed a horseshoe over the door and decided it looked pretty good.

On the seventh day we rested. (4-13-78)

Self Culture Club Year Opened at Recent Meeting

The Self Culture Club began their year of study when Mrs. Earl Simmons was hostess for a morning coffee Wednesday, September 9.

The serving table was laid with white linen, and napkins were hand-embroidered made in the Caribbean Islands where the Simmons family lived for several years. A variety of pastries and breads were served with coffee and fruit juices.

The course of study for the year will be on South America. New yearbooks made by Mrs. Jim Spillman were shown. The cover is designed from the ancient Inca in muted Andean colors.

Mrs. Simmons presided at the business meeting. It was voted to send Harry Crews a note of thanks for repairing the screen door at the City Library. Mrs. Norval Wylie and Mrs. Sidney Tucker were appointed to choose medals or other awards for outstanding students in the public school and Seventh-day Adventist school. Approval was also given for the purchase of a metal filing case for Self Culture Club records to be kept at the City Library.

Mrs. Spillman gave an introduction to the year's study, telling of the archaeology of South America and the various ethnic peoples who have lived there. With no written languages among the tribes until the conquest of the land by the Spanish in the 15th Century, only legendary accounts can be found. However, the high level of civilization, the artistic development of the people, and the shiploads of gold beautifully made into jewelry and decorations, prove the high development of the Inca and other tribes. Also, the marvels of Macchu Picchu and other architectural places are not equaled in the world, and there are known to be hundreds of treasures not yet found.

Due to the resources of South America, economists predict that in the future, Brazil will become one of the world's Superpowers.

Present for the meeting were the ones mentioned and also Mmes. Joe C. Barnes, Preston Bailey, Hardy Blue, C. D. Bruce, Wesley Isenhower, J. C. Matthews, G. A. Morgan, W. F. McCary, J. W. McClellan, J. E. Sparkman and Fred Williams.

Changes Our Empty Lamps Into Full Lamps

Let every youth consider the parable of the ten virgins. All had lamps, that is, an outward semblance of religion; but only five of them had the inward piety. Five of them were wanting in the oil of grace. The Spirit of the life of Christ Jesus, the Holy Spirit, was not abiding in their hearts. Without the oil of grace, of what use was it to bear about a lamp of profession? However high may be the profession, however high may be the position held by a professor of religion, if the oil of grace is wanting, he has nothing with which to feed his lamp, and it cannot send forth clear, shining rays of light....

The reason why the Bridegroom delays is because He is long-suffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance. O the precious long-suffering of our merciful Saviour! O that each of the dear youth would appreciate the value of the soul that has been purchased at infinite cost on Calvary! O that each one would place a proper estimate upon the capabilities that have been given him in God! Through Christ you may climb the ladder of progress, and bring every power under the control of Jesus... In spirit, in thought, in word, and in action, you may make manifest that you are moved by the Spirit of Christ, and your life may wield a power of influence over others.

We are living in altogether too solemn a period of the world's history to be careless and negligent... You must pray, believe, and obey. In your own strength you can do nothing; but in the grace of Jesus Christ, you can employ your powers in such a way as to bring the greatest good to your own soul, and the greatest blessing to the souls of others. Lay hold of Jesus, and you will diligently work the works of Christ, and will finally receive the eternal reward.

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED
CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS
SPECIAL ELECTION
NOVEMBER 3, 1981

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 8 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to authorize cities, towns and other taxing units to grant exemptions from ad valorem taxes on an unproductive, underdeveloped or blighted area in order to encourage its development. The amendment would also allow the legislature to authorize a city or town to issue bonds or notes to finance this development and to pledge future increases in ad valorem tax revenues from the property in such areas to repay these bonds or notes.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to authorize cities, towns, and other taxing units to encourage the improvement, development, or redevelopment of certain areas through property tax relief and the issuance of bonds and notes."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 117 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize a person to receive a patent to land from the Commissioner of the General Land Office under certain conditions. Application for the patent must be made within five years from approval of the amendment. The land must be surveyed, public free school land not previously patentable. The person must have a properly recorded deed to the land, which he acquired without knowledge of the patent defect and which title he and his predecessors in interest have held for at least 50 years. The person and his predecessors in interest must have continuously claimed the land and paid the taxes for at least 50 years.

This amendment does not apply to beach land, submerged land, or islands. An applicant may not use this provision to resolve a boundary dispute. This amendment will not apply to land which has been determined to be state-owned by a court of competent jurisdiction or that has a productive state mineral lease on the effective date of the amendment.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the commissioner of the General Land Office to issue patents for certain public free school land held in good faith under color of title for at least 50 years as of November 15, 1981."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 38 proposes a constitutional amendment that would enable the legislature to grant to a state finance management committee the authority to manage state funds. Funds constitutionally dedicated to specific purposes would not be subject to committee management. The committee would be composed of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, Chairman of the Senate State Affairs Committee, and the Chairman of the House of Representatives Ways and Means Committee.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to allow the legislature to grant to a state finance management committee the power to manage the expenditure of certain appropriated funds."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 6 proposes a constitutional amendment that would provide that one-half of the surplus tax revenues above the spending limit provided by Article VIII, Section 22, of the Texas Constitution would be placed in a Water Assistance Fund to be used as provided by law, including projects for water development and conservation, water quality enhancement, and flood control purposes or any combination of these purposes.

The amendment also provides $500,000,000 of the general credit of the state to guarantee bonds issued in commercial markets by local political subdivisions, including cities, counties, and special districts. The amendment allows amounts to be established to decrease or retire state debt, which is defined as that debt secured by the full faith and credit of the state. The amendment would raise the interest that could be paid on authorized, but unissued, bonds guaranteed by the full faith and credit of the state from 6% to 12%.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the use of a portion of the excess revenues of the state for water development, water conservation, water quality enhancement, and flood control purposes; authorizing the use of the state's credit, not to exceed five hundred million dollars, to guarantee the bonds of cities, counties, towns, and other units of local government in the financing of projects for such purposes; increasing the interest rate that may be paid on previously approved, but unissued, state bonds; and authorizing a program to retire state bonds."

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 49 proposes a constitutional amendment that would exempt livestock and poultry from taxation. Currently, farm products in the hands of the producer and family supplies for home and farm use are exempt.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to provide for the inclusion of livestock and poultry with farm products as exempt from taxation."

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 81 authorizes the governing body of a county, city, school district or other political subdivisions to exempt from taxation a portion of the market value of a residence homestead. The portion exempted may be as much as 40% for 1982-1984; 30% for 1985-1987; and 20% for 1988 and after. The amount of an exemption may not be less than $5,000 unless the legislature by general law prescribes other monetary restrictions on the amount of the exemption. An eligible adult is allowed to receive other applicable exemptions provided by law. An exception is made where ad valorem tax has previously been pledged for the payment of debt.

The amendment further directs the legislature to require that notice be given to property owners of a reasonable estimate of tax on their property in certain situations.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing a political subdivision to provide property tax relief for owners of residence homesteads and changing certain property tax administrative procedures."

PROPOSITION NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 4 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Veterans' Land Board to issue and sell an additional $250,000,000 in bonds increasing the Veterans' Land Fund's total bond issuance authorization from $700,000,000 to $950,000,000. The amendment would increase the maximum interest payable by the state on these bonds from 6% to 10%, and permit an even higher rate, if specified by the legislature.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of additional bonds to finance the veterans' land program and to increase the maximum interest rate allowable on veterans' land fund bonds."

Arts Festival In Brownwood This Weekend

Final plans are being made for The Pecan Valley Art Festival which will be held at Festival Park in Brownwood September 19 and 20.

Thus far approximately 60 artists and craftsmen from throughout the state have been accepted for the two-day event.

More than 4,000 attended the festival last year.

Larger crowds from throughout Texas are expected this year according to co-chairmen George and Helen Crews. Crews said, "Many improvements have been made to our facilities at Festival Park. We now have permanent booths for our concessions and other facilities have been designed to more efficiently serve a larger number of people."

Eloise Trigg, who is in charge of signing artists for the event, indicates that the art and crafts available for purchase will be of the highest caliber. "We have a large number of artists returning to our show because of the response they had for their work last year," said Trigg. "The art and crafts for sale at the festival will be affordable and of the best quality. People from our community and the surrounding area should take advantage of an event of this type to purchase works of art for their homes and as gifts for family and friends," she added.

Once again this year there will be plenty of good food and beverage during both days of the festival. According to Susan DeGraffenreed emphasis is being placed on families spending the day at the festival and having lunch on the grounds. Food booths are being sponsored this year by Altrusa Club, Brownwood State Home and School, A&M Mother's Club, Alpha Theta and Church of Jesus

Dear Barbara,
The nicest things happen to me. I must tell you about the last one.

I spent the weekend with a niece in Farmers Branch, Dallas. I found almost a neighbor to be William E. Ragsdale and his lovely wife Ruth.

I visited in their home -- I was William's first teacher in 1920 - 21. They had kept me posted through Christmas cards and notes for 50 years, I know.

William is a little older and bigger, but to me the same sweet little fellow I knew then.

And would you believe he gave me 20 issues of the Santa Anna News. So far I have had time to read only a few.

Was sorry about Doris (Kelley) death. I was away at the time.

I spent 10 weeks away from home this summer, in and out of the state. It is so wonderful at the age of 88. You are still wanted - enough to make it possible for me to go and come. I enjoyed it all very much.

I noticed Jess Howard's picture in the last issue -- I wish for him a pleasant retirement. Also friends like Ford Barnes and Jewel Schrader -- my roommate at Shields. I do hope they have recovered by now.

And saw where Merle Woodward had visited. She was such a lovely person -- and Lee, too, while we lived in Pampa. And as I read more, I am sure I will find other friends I have known and loved.

I would love to visit in Santa Anna but as I do not drive that far, I will not ask to be driven although I drive here, wherever I want to go.

Here I have written so much more than I intended to, but I will say anyone coming this way, I live 27 miles east of Hillsboro on 22, 15 short miles from Corsicana (West 22). Do call or stop by. And tell Julian (Kelley) and Talmadge (Turner) they might call or write!

My love to all my Santa Anna friends, and thanks to you, Barbara.

Mrs. Jess (Oderra) Hunter
P.S. I am in excellent health -- no problems.

Dear Barbara,
Enclosed you will find a check for renewal of my subscription. I think it is about time, however I have not received papers in September.

The sun is shining today, of that we are all thankful after a week of nothing but rain and cloudy skies. It has been cool (light jacket weather) all week.

We enjoy reading the S.A. News and miss it when we do not get it. Even if we do get it a week late, it is still news to us. Best regards to all the good people down that way.

Yours truly,
Patsy (Scott) Granad

Why gas is plentiful:

50% of the Gas

There are thousands of square miles of natural gas formations in these nine basins. Industry experts estimate that these basins hold 50% of the nation's remaining onshore reserves. Lone Star's pipeline system extends to eight of them, which should give you a nice warm feeling for many a long winter. It's another reason to be glad you're served by the Lone Star system.

Gas. It's plentiful, efficient and right for the times.

OCTOBER WEDDING— Sue Baker of Blanket has announced the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Belinda, to James O. Coyle, son of S. D. Fellers and the late Nell Fellers of Trickham. The bride-elect, daughter of the late Walter N. Baker, is a 1978 graduate of Blanket High School. She is employed by the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce. Her fiancé, is a 1979 graduate of Santa Anna High School. The wedding is planned October 16 in the home of the bride-elect's brother, Freddie Schoen of Early.

Re-recording Required For All Cattle Brands

Texas livestock producers must re-record all brands and marks on their livestock with the county clerk's office in the counties where they raise livestock, beginning August 30, says Don C. King, secretary-general manager of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

The law provides for a six-month re-registration period. After February 28, 1982, any unrecorded brand becomes available for use on a "First come" basis.

The Texas brand law, passed in 1971, was the subject of a recent ruling by Texas Attorney General Mark White that says owners of marks and brands must re-register them during the same six-month period every 10 years, without regard to when they originally recorded them. A small fee is charged for each re-recording by the county clerk.

The law also notes that it is illegal to brand livestock without first properly recording the brand with the county clerk in the county in which the livestock are held, King said.

The primary objective of the brand law is to provide the county clerks with an accurate, updated report of marks and brands every 10 years.

Producers operating in several counties must re-record their marks and brands in each county because the county clerk has the responsibility for recording this information in his or her county only.

In the event it cannot be determined from existing records who first recorded the mark and brand in a county, then the person who has been using such means of livestock identification the longest shall have the right to have them recorded in his or her name. There is no limit to the number of marks and/or brands a person can record in a county as long as the requirements of the law are met.

Minors may have marks and brands separate from that of the father, mother or guardian, but they must also be re-recorded.

The county clerk of each county will publish a notice announcing the re-recording of livestock brands order in some newspaper of general circulation in the county for a period of 30 days.

The county clerk must make sure that no more than one brand of a kind be recorded on the same location of the animal. This eliminates the chance of two or more people in the county duplicating the same brand and location. Further, the county clerk must make certain that the brand location on the animal be designated.

King encouraged all livestock producers to use marks and brands and to re-register these promptly.

A properly applied, legally recorded brand is proof of ownership and increases the chances of recovering a stray, missing or stolen animal, and is a deterrent to thefts as well. Information collected from county clerks and through brand inspection at livestock auction markets and terminals on a weekly basis has proven invaluable in the recovery of stolen and strayed livestock, King said. In 1980, TSCRA field inspectors, working with a computer in Fort Worth, and other state and law enforcement agencies, recovered or accounted for livestock and ranch property with an estimated total market value of $1.13 million.

For more information, livestock producers may contact their county clerk's office or TSCRA at 1301 W. Seventh St., Fort Worth, Texas 76102 or 817/332-7064.
