Summer Jobs Available For Local Young People

Several Santa Anna young people will have an opportunity to secure jobs this summer through a program sponsored by the West Central Texas Council of Governments.

The Manpower Program of the WCTCOG is making possible jobs for five or six young people aged 14 through 21 who wish to work for the City of Santa Anna for an eight to ten week period starting in June.

The work will include cleaning up of vacant lots in the town, with minimum wage paid to those employed.

Martha Shepard of the Manpower Program was in Santa Anna Monday to leave application blanks at City Hall and give information for those interested. She noted that eligibility is based on family size and need.

Young people interested in the work are asked to make application for the openings before school is out for the term.

The WCTCOG division already is benefitting our town, with one adult and one high school student working with the City, and another young woman, Suzette Cozart, receiving aid while attending LVN training.

City Sales Tax Shows Decrease

Santa Anna's city sales tax for the last period totaled $851.30, a decrease from the same period last year. The total for 1983 is also down 15.55 percent from the same period in 1982.

The collection period ending April 8 that includes receipts during the month of March was returned to the city last week, with the total for the year being $7,671.24. That compares with $9,084.09 in 1982.

More activities and events have been planned for the Funtier Days Celebration on Friday and Saturday, April 29 and 30.

Donating money for prizes have been Santa Anna National Bank [$25], Little Bit of Texas Family Fun Center at the entrance of Lake Brownwood State Park [$25], and Art Fabrics [$50]. More donations of any size are needed to make the project a success.

Among the new activities slated are a booth to sell homemade ice cream by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Volunteer Fire Department, and a baked goods booth by the New Gospel Church.

The Coleman County Historical Association will have a table set up to distribute forms for writing family history and be taking orders for the Coleman County History book that will be published this year.

Mountain Echoes

By Barbara Kingsbery

It's that time again - for Daylight Savings Time. Sunday morning, April 24, clocks will be turned ahead one hour for the change of time - continuing for six months.

Most local schedules remain the same hour the year around, causing almost no confusion.

There's just over one week until the big Funtier Days event in our community, and local folks are urged to get their frontier clothes out of the closet and ready for the weekend.

Hundreds of out of town people will be in the community during the two days, and we should be on hand to meet and greet the visitors and help make the event a festive occasion.

All sorts of help is needed for the event, and those willing to assist are asked to contact Jim Laubhan at Art Fabrics for an assignment.

This is the first community-wide event planned in Santa Anna in many years, and it is expected to be a very entertaining weekend for young and old alike.

I need to correct an error in last week's report of the City Council meeting. The Council did not pass the ordinance concerning removal of junk cars and cleaning up yards and streets - they discussed the current laws and had the first reading, one of the steps necessary for enforcement.

However all residents should be aware of the action that will be taken in the future and start now cleaning up around the community.

Memorials Are Given To Cemetery

Beverly Stockard McFadden of San Angelo made a donation in memory of the late Mrs. Tom (Anna Belle) Hays. Gifts in memory of the late Mary McClellan were from Gwendolyn Oakes Walker and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Stiles.

Trickham Dairyman Attends AMPI Meeting

Felton Martin of Trickham represented local dairymen at the Associated Milk Producers, Inc., (AMPI) annual meeting in San Antonio March 28 - 31.

AMPI is the nation's largest dairy cooperative with 33,000 dairy farm families in 20 central states. Owned and operated by the dairymen it serves, AMPI collects raw milk from dairy farmers and markets it to dairy processors.

Its members produce approximately 12 percent of the milk marketed in the United States. One-third of AMPI's total supply is produced by the 4,900 dairymen who make up the cooperative's Southern Region.

The 1200 elected officials at the San Antonio meeting reviewed AMPI operations and policy. Key sessions were devoted to examining economic challenges facing the dairy industry.

At the forefront of the discussion was the need for legislation to replace the USDA 50 cents per hundredweight assessment on all milk marketed. AMPI has actively opposed the assessment and stressed the need for "individual chapter news and advertisement.

A very delicious meal was served at noon by the Senior Citizens of Coleman. Tom Williams voiced the invocation.

In the afternoon, rules of AARP were discussed, also program planning and quiz games.

All enjoyed the very interesting and informative workshop.

Taxpayers can receive copies of Form 1040X and additional information by calling the IRS Tax Forms Information number in the local telephone directory under U.S. Government.

the government by paying taxes late can be an expensive decision.

Rhonda James, Mr. Jameson Married in Fort Worth March 26

Rhonda Jean James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayburn James of Fort Worth, became the bride of Wade Clark Jameson, in a ceremony at Springdale Baptist Church in Fort Worth on Saturday evening, March 26. Parents of the groom are Earl Jameson of Amarillo and Daisy Beaversdorf of Georgetown.

The Rev. Larry Wilson officiated at the ceremony.

Yellow tapers in white wrought iron candelabra formed the background for the ceremony. Arrangements of silk flowers in shades of yellow and beige centered the altar area.

Sandy Brewer was organist for the ceremony and Tim Daniel was pianist. Lance Thornburg and Lisa Herberger sang.

"Whither Thou Goest," "You and I," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Endless Love."

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Her formal gown of Alencon lace and organza featured a high neckline and inset of sheer organza on the bodice. Her fingertip-length veil of illusion was edged in lace and attached to a lace headpiece. Her bouquet was of silk roses, mums and carnations.

Renee Champain, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a long gown of yellow accordan pleats topped with a lace jacket. Brian Jameson, brother of the groom, was best man.

Ushers were Leslie James, brother of the bride, and Jerry Webb. Karen Molvain, cousin of the bride, registered guests as they entered the church.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. James wore a dress of dusty rose fabric, and the groom's mother was attired in a beige ensemble. Both had corsages of silk roses.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents hosted a reception, with the bride's cake a three-tiered confection served with pineapple punch from a fountain. The groom's table held a chocolate cake and coffee.

In the houseparty were Michelle James, Dana Kay Moore, Zana Deros, Connie Jameson, Jerri Webb and Dana Jameson.

After a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas, the couple are residing in Fort Worth where the bride is employed as a physical therapist at St. Joseph's Hospital and the groom is with A.D.T. Security. Both are former students at Tarrant County

wedding were grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene James of Trickham and Mr. and Mrs. August Richardson of Rising Star.

Local Writers Recognized At Self Culture Meeting

Mrs. Preston Bailey and Mrs. J. W. McClellan were co-hostesses for the Wednesday, April 13, meeting of the Self Culture Club. The meeting was held at the Mountain City Center and was held as "Literary Achievement Day" to honor local and area authors for their literary contributions.

Three local authors were present and were given medals as a tribute to their achievements. Mayor Edd Hartman spoke to the group and offered praise to those who have excelled in the field.

Three authors present were Leona Bruce, Gladys Hunter and Bobbie Seals. Mrs. Terry Sanders of Dallas was present to accept a medal for her mother, Mrs. Ford Barnes, who was unable to attend the meeting. Also unable to attend was Sandy Clifton, another local writer.

Books by the published authors were on display. Also mentioned in the tribute were the late Mrs. R. C. Gay, author of "Into the Setting Sun," and the late Earnest Lee Womack, who published a book of poetry. A former Santa Anna, Roy Holt of Copperas Cove, has also had several books published.

Also on the program was a display of dolls and miniatures by Mrs. W. H. Clifford, who told of the history of the dolls and doll collecting.

At the close of the meeting refreshments of cake and punch were served to the 16 members and seven visitors attending. The lace-laid table was centered with an arrangement of pink silk flowers and blue candles.

Guests present were Mayor and Mrs. Edd Hartman, Mrs. Terry Sanders, Mrs. Billy Barnes, Mrs. Bobbie Seals, Mrs. John Hunter and Mrs. T. J. McCaughan.

The meeting was the final one of the year for the club, with a trip planned in May to close the club year.

The first electronic computer was put into operation in 1946 and had to be kept in a place where the temperature was regulated. It used 18,000 vacuum tubes and was so large it filled an entire room.

The Mail Box

Dear Barbara:
I never do anything today that I think I can put off until tomorrow, and as we all know, "tomorrow" never comes.

Barbara, I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for helping me and the other members of the Buffalo Reunion Committee in getting the ball rolling in 1979 and 1980 for the first Buffalo School and Community Reunion. We thank you for all the pictures and write-ups you published in the Santa Anna News about the Buffalo Homecoming.

I personally thank you, Orabeth McIver and Sandra Guthrie for helping with the Sunday morning memorial services. Your songs and music was greatly appreciated by everyone and was very appropriate for the occasion.

I am now working on the history of the Buffalo School District C & B.I. This particular community was named Buffalo Flat in 1861 by Malcom Hunter, one of the early settlers on Mud Creek, near where Buffalo Branch empties into Mud Creek.

I have 110 names of families who lived in this community and I know that I have missed some. Maybe when I contact members of these families for their family history they may give me more names. I may want to impose on you some more when I get into the early 1900's, especially during the 1920's and 30's during the Fry oil boom.

Thanks, thanks and more thanks for your cooperation with the Santa Anna News.

Thanks, W. N. "Pete" Curry
Rt. 5, Box 189

Dear Barbara,
I would like to write a letter complimenting the ones who are in charge of the Santa Anna Cemetery and for the ones who do the work of keeping the grounds clean and especially to the ones that pruned and topped the trees.

We, who have loved ones there should feel very proud to be part of the Association. The cemetery has looked nice for several years and we should be grateful to Ken and Coyita Bowker, Bill and Doris Griffin and who ever else helped to get the Association started.

The Cemetery is prettier than ever this year.

Sincerely,

Pik Program Popular With Nation, Area Farmers

COLLEGE STATION—Now that the wraps have been pulled off the PIK (payment-in-kind) sign-up, it is clear that farmers "went for" this latest government farm program.

Consequently, the high level of participation in the program, as announced by USDA officials March 22, should bolster farm prices by getting rid of surplus stocks of commodities that have plagued the marketplace for the past several years.

"We have the potential for a substantial drawdown in surplus stocks of farm commodities due to the large number of farmers signing up for PIK," said Dr. Ron Knutson, an economist in marketing and policy with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. The PIK program revolves around paying farmers with surplus commodities if they sign up to take a portion of their cropland out of production. So it reduces current stocks plus should reduce 1983 production.

"The potential effects of PIK have already caused positive reactions in some commodity markets," Knutson pointed out. "Whether this trend continues will depend largely on weather conditions this crop year and the level of export demand."

Knutson noted two keys to future market trends. The first is the yield that can be anticipated from land remaining in production, since this is the highest quality cropland. Weather conditions will have a big impact.

The second key to the future price prospects, he said, is the export picture. While the strong PIK participation may make it more difficult for U. S. farmers to sell in the export market, the potential for shorter supplies of farm products next fall may prompt some importing countries to buy now rather than wait and face possible higher prices.

If PIK works as planned, what kind of farm program can farmers expect in the future?

"If highly successful,

PIK will likely not be used again next year," said Knutson. It's effectiveness in reducing production this year could mean that we'll see it again when surpluses become a problem.

One strategy for moving toward the freer market concept involves "self-help" programs in which farmers would automatically share a portion of the costs of government programs when surpluses arise, Knutson said.

Coleman County

Estimates from Jerry May of the ASCS office in Coleman is that funds to be realized from the PIK program will total $1,599,696, with the entitlement date on wheat June 15, and grain sorghum September 1, and on cotton October 1.

Wheat represents the largest share of the PIK totals, at $905,019. For wheat, 240,315 bushels are in the PIK program, plus 18,262 bushels already under loan, bringing the total bushels to 258,577.

Corn will include 454 bushels, for $12,712 under PIK. Grain sorghum will include 79,085 cwt, with 68,118 cwt being through PIK and the other already under loan for estimates of $347,974. Cotton will have 398,681 pounds under PIK, plus 284,834 pounds already under loan, for a total of 683,515 pounds, with funds estimated at $333,991.

Under the contracts on corn-sorghum, 34 percent of acreage will be idled, as compared to 39 percent national and 34.8 percent in the state.

In the oats-barley contracts, only five percent of the acreage will be idled. Under wheat contracts, 40 percent of acreage will be idled, as compared to 35 percent national and 41 percent state.

For the cotton program 39 percent of the acreage will be idled, as compared to 44 percent national and 43.4 percent state.

Base acreage enrolled, including 20 percent ARP, 10-30 PIK and whole base bids, there will be 18,631 acres for corn-sorghum, 7,340 acres for oats-barley, 45,856 acres for wheat and 9,918 acres for cotton in the contract program.

Cotton Declines In Crop Sales

Texas farmers face about $800 million less from crop sales last year compared to 1981, with cotton sales taking the sharpest nosedive—from $1.4 billion to $875 million.

Estimated crop sales totaled almost $3.8 billion in 1982 but were down due to poor prices caused by huge stockpiles of most farm commodities, together with sagging domestic demand and decreased exports, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Weather losses were heavy in some areas, particularly in the South Plains. Grain sorghum was the second leading cash crop with receipts of $619 million followed by wheat at $499 million.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK RECEIPTS GOOD

Sales of livestock products which totaled some $5.1 billion made up more than half of Texas' agricultural receipts last year, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Overall, cash receipts from meat animals were down about $300 million from 1981 while dairy product receipts increased a little and poultry and egg receipts dropped $10,000. Cattle and calves sold for $3.8 billion; sheep, $54 million; goats, $11 million; and hogs, $113 million. Traditionally, Texas ranks first in sales from marketing of cattle and calves, sheep and wool, and goats and mohair.

of Texas A&M's Wildlife and Fisheries Sciences Department.

Career opportunities are opening up because ranches are supplementing their programs with hunting and fishing leases and because large corporations are beginning to provide recreational retreats for their employees, said Slack.

Gardening Is Farming

It's time for gardeners to stop gardening and start 'farming' says a horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Gardeners are, in reality, 'urban agriculturists' and therefore should relate to farming. Conservative estimates indicate that about half of Texas' population is involved in growing fruits and vegetables at home.

These urban agriculturists should look at their backyard plots as a small farm. They encounter many of the same problems as do farmers, and they make many of the same decisions regarding varieties, planting dates and other matters.

Private industry providing jobs for wildlife specialists

COLLEGE STATION—Private industries are opening up new career opportunities for wildlife and fisheries specialists who like the great outdoors and want to preserve what many believe is an important part of the American way of life.

At Texas A&M University, which has one of the leading wildlife and fisheries sciences programs in the country, officials say there is a growing demand for wildlife experts to manage private recreational hunting and fishing resorts.

"In a time when the economy is not doing well and the number of federal and state jobs has decreased, our graduates are doing OK," says Dr. Doug Slack

Spring Turkey Season Is Now Underway

AUSTIN - Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials remind hunters that the spring turkey gobbler hunting season continues through May 1 in Many Texas counties. In Six East Texas counties the season will run through April 17.

Officials believe this season will be an excellent opportunity, especially for first-time spring hunters, since turkey populations are high in most areas. They also recommend that hunters brush up on their calling skills and be sure they have enough camouflage to trick the wily gobblers. Unlike fall hunting, when most turkeys are taken by deer hunters shooting from stands, spring hunting is more difficult and usually requires calling to get the gobbler within range. The spring gobbler season is held after most breeding activity has occurred, and more gobblers are available than are needed for breeding, officials said. Therefore, the spring season offers hunting opportunities which have little or no effect on the turkey population. The statewide season limit is one gobbler per hunter. Bearded hens may not be taken during this season.

Treated Garbage Fed to Swine

Food waste to be fed to swine in Texas should be treated properly before feeding to prevent disease problems, says a swine veterinarian with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Regulations prohibit the feeding of garbage to swine unless heat treated at a licensed facility.

Treatment consists of boiling food waste for at least 30 minutes. Food waste from ordinary household operations fed to swine on the same premises is exempt.

When planting a flower garden, be sure to find out the mature height of the plants and place low-growing ones in front and tall varieties in the rear.

Air Force Seeks Servicemen

The Air Force needs nearly 2,000 people with prior military service before September 30, 1983, according to Staff Sergeant Vicki Colbert, Air Force spokesperson here.

"Former servicemen trained in aircraft maintenance systems, avionics, weapons, and munitions specialties are critically needed by the Air Force along with intelligence, computer programming and site development specialists," Sergeant Colbert said. Recruiters may offer these specialists their former rank back if they have not been out of the service more than four years. "Other specialists are needed but are not on the critical skills list," Colbert said. All people with prior service interested in reenlisting in the Air Force should call her at (817) 261-2946 to determine if their specialty is on the critical list.

The faculty and student body of the Santa Anna High School are delighted this week to be housed in the magnificent new school building.

The large auditorium was first used last Friday night, when the Parent-Teachers Association put on a fine play to a well filled house. A number of people visited the new building Saturday afternoon and inspected it. Considerable praise has been given the school board for their faithful services and success in procuring the splendid new building.

Sunday morning the churches over the city dismissed their morning services and attended the dedicatory services in the auditorium of the new building.

Conservation In Lawn Care

Conservation-conscious homeowners can take steps to reduce the water and energy demands of lawn care without lowering lawn standards, says a turfgrass specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Such steps include reducing fertilizer applications to two to three pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn per year, returning or composting grass clippings, mowing regularly to reduce thatch buildup caused by grass clippings, watering properly, reducing pesticide use to only essential applications, and using adapted, low-maintenance turfgrasses.

Years Ago in the News

The following stories are from the March 2, 1928 issue of the NEWS:

E. E. Englehard, representing the Groller Society of Dallas, presented the Santa Anna school with three nice world maps in globe shape last week, one to the school and the others went to little Miss Claudis Rountree, age 13, seventh grade, and Master Eddie Vaughn Mills, 10 years old and in fourth grade, each making 100 percent grade on the test applied. The test was of historical and educational interest, but these Santa Anna school children don't mind meeting such a test.

Flowering Trees More Than Shade

Many trees are planted in towns and cities for more than shade or fruit. Often, they are planted for the beautiful flowers they produce. Flowering is one of the ways trees record the seasons.

However, the flowering of a particular tree is not automatic each year. It is influenced by several factors both physiological and ecological. A tree will not flower until it reaches its physiological maturity, which may be in just a few years or after twenty or more years. Only then will the tree flower.

Environmentally, many things influence the flowering of a tree. Transplant shock may prevent a tree from flowering for a year or more. Late frosts or freezes just before or during budbreak can kill the flower buds. This is not uncommon in Texas, where freezes often occur in March and early April.

Environmental conditions that favor the best growth for a tree - adequate sunlight, soil moisture, nutrition, root space and proper temperatures - also favor flowering.

Flowers on trees come in all shapes and sizes. Some trees, such as the southern magnolia, are known for their large, fragrant, and showy flowers. Other trees produce flowers which are hardly noticed due to their small size or their color which blends with the surroundings.

Sassafras trees produce very small, inconspicuous flowers that most people have never seen, though the tree is common in much of Texas. On the other hand, what are called flowers may not actually be the flowers. The flowering dogwood, known throughout East Texas, has flowers, but the actual flowers are very small and greenish-yellow or white. They are surrounded by four large bracts, which are modified leaves. The bracts, colored either white or pink depending upon the variety, are what most people refer to as the flower.

Trees record different seasons of the year with their flowers. Early spring is announced with the flowers of eastern redbuds and most fruit trees, such as peach, pear and plum. These species flower before their leaves appear. They usually are the first signs of a welcome spring.

The key to maintaining your home lies in the care you give it. Here, from the experts at Home Owners Warranty (HOW), are some simple tips that could save you costly repairs.

- To prevent grease and soap from clogging your drains do this once a month: run hot water through; add three tablespoons of washing soda, a little hot water; let stand 15 minutes; flush with hot water.

- If doors stick, first check hinges to make sure they're aligned and tightly affixed. Then sand the edge that catches.
- Save energy: clean or replace heating/air conditioning filters twice a season, more if you've lots of traffic.

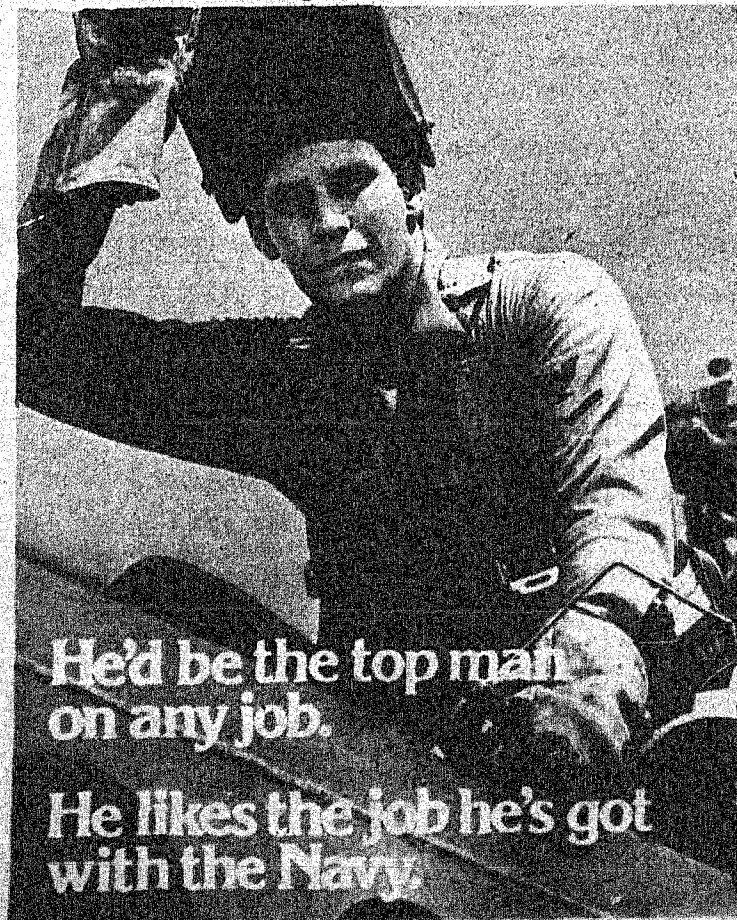

These are just a few of the tips in HOW's free booklet "Protect Your Investment". Write for yours to Home Owners Warranty, 2000 L Street N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036, the people who provide home buyers with an insured two-year builder warranty plus eight additional years of insurance against major structural defects.

The Navy's more than ships at sea and sailors in uniform. It's a skilled workforce of trained men and women working in highly technical fields.

From welders to nuclear-trained engineers, some of the best people in their fields are in the Navy. And that makes us proud.

Today over 75% of all Navy jobs are in technical fields, and a strong Navy depends upon the experience of its career men and women. People who not only believe in being the best at what they do, but also believe it means more when it's done for their country.

Trickham News

By Mrs. O. R. Boenicke

The Trickham Union Church took on a new look lately. A steeple has been put on the Church and it looks nice. There was no preaching here Sunday, only Sunday School. Rankin and Natalie McIver went to Amarillo Friday and spent the weekend with his daughter Sherrie and husband Jim Blake. They had a nice trip and visit with them. Rankin visited his sister, Ethel, while there. Saturday night will be game night at the Community Center at 6:30 p.m. Thursday night of last week 22 attended the 84 party at Charito and Thelma Flemings, and everyone seemed to have a nice time.

Mrs. Artie Fry went to Santa Anna with me Sunday and we attended church at the First Christian Church and she also had dinner with me. Saturday Walter and Carrie Stacy visited me and Saturday evening Winnie Haynes visited me.

My brother, Bryan Shield went to his home in Albuquerque, N. M. after spending most of a week with me. He left Thursday evening of last week.

Russle James is still suffering a lot with shingles. Her sister, Lyndall Moore, is with her.

Marjorie Sullivan visited Lou Vaughn Tuesday morning, and Sunday evening her sister, Mary Ola Woods of Bangs visited her.

Marjorie stayed until Wednesday with her parents, the Walter Stacys.

Mary Lea Mitchell had all her family with last weekend. Lea and Loyd Mock, Jennie and James of Post, and Betty and Damon Miller and all their family and grandchild of Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Chales Browster went to Ahlone Friday and took Brad and Sherri, their son and his wife, to Lubbock for Brad to take the exam for him to get in dental school.

Candice Henderson spent the day last Saturday with her grandparents, the Hilburn Hendersons.

Last Wednesday Keetle Haynes had a heart attack and is in the Coleman hospital. She is some better but will have to be there awhile. Genia and Grady McIver have been going to see her often. We hope she will be much better soon.

Mr. Arvil McClure and daughter-in-law and son visited the G. K. Stearns Monday night. Last week Melinda Hickman's name was left off the list of people who had visited the G. K. Stearns.

Visitors with Oma Lee Dockery last week were Marvin and Ruth Smith, Dee Dee Stewardson and Earnestine Dockery. On Sunday Hene Haynes had dinner with her, and that evening Oma Lee and Hene visited at Santa Anna with Ina Sec Deer.

Donnie and Sherry York of Ozona spent the weekend with his parents, the J. E. Yorks, and Hene Haynes visited them on Saturday.

Tuesday evening Leota, my niece, and I visited Florence Stearns, and Sunday Florence visited with Winnie Haynes.

We are having some pretty spring weather, but hope we get a good rain this week.

Annual Spring Cleaning An outdated Activity

COLLEGE STATION. The annual rite of spring cleaning may be a thing of the past, but that doesn't mean women are doing fewer household chores.

"The average amount of time women spend in household activities has changed very little in the past fifty years," says Lynn White, a home economics specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas

A&M University System. According to White, research shows that homemakers as a whole spend 47-52 hours a week in household activities. Employed wives spend 28-35 hours per week on household activities in addition to their forty-hour work week.

"Major appliances, easy-care clothes and convenience foods have not led to a decrease in the total time spent on household work," says White, "although they have changed the way in which time is spent."

Employed women spend less time than housewives in all types of household work except shopping. Some researchers suggest that the "recreational" aspects of shopping accounts for the extra time devoted to it by the whole family, says White.

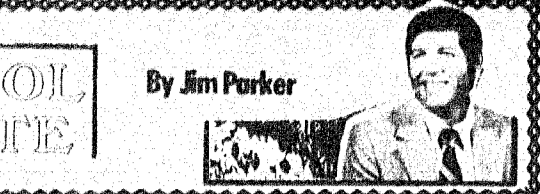

Husbands contribute an average of only about 1.7 hours a day to household work. But they significantly increase their time in food preparation and dishwashing as the wife's hours of employment increase.

Family composition also affects the time a woman spends in household work. For example, one study found that as the age of the youngest child increases, the mother's time for care of family members decreases, reports White.

Teenagers contribute an average of about two hours a day to household production, and tend to absorb the reduced food preparation time of employed homemakers.

"So the trend toward smaller families with fewer teenagers present to help may account for the fact that husbands are helping more with food preparation," says White.

Home economics researchers have been studying household production since the 1920's. Continuing research of this type is important for determining the value of household production and understanding the impact of family lifestyles on individuals and the economy.

CAPITOL UPDATE

By Jim Parker

The most controversial and significant legislation acted on by the House of Representatives to date has been the trucking deregulation issue disposed of last week.

My immediate reaction in these type issues is to get the government out and allow the free enterprise market system to work; however, in reality, that feeling must, I think, be tempered with the understanding that some sectors of the economy are so important to the public good that the government has a strong interest in regulation for that public good. Public utilities are a good example and I think motor freight in Texas is another example.

Our entire economy, national, state and local, is predicated upon a transportation system for the shipment of goods in the stream of commerce and merits some regulation to assure that at least minimum standards are maintained.

My ultimate decision was to retain the regulatory aspect under the Railroad Commission but to ease the entry of persons wishing to be in the trucking business.

My real dilemma came about as a result of the proposed amendment by Representative Simpson that was touted as a "Farm and Ranch Exemption" amendment. The amendment proposed to exempt the same agricultural commodities exempted by the Federal Intercompact Commodities Act and sounded really good until one began to inquire as to the actual commodities concerned. Very conveniently, and probably intentionally, the members were not given a list of exempted items but through a certain amount of diligence I was able to obtain a listing and discovered that the amendment was in no way a producer's amendment but was in fact a processor's amendment masquerading under the disguise of "agricultural relief." The amendment would have exempted all packers, processors, canners, etc. and would have allowed them to "shirthead" onto the agricultural aspect. I voted "no" on the amendment.

Virtually all members of the House appear to be cognizant of the plight of the ag economy and desirous of making beneficial changes; however, there always seems to be some sector of the economy that wants to get a free ride along with ag interest. Of course, the best example is urban developers who take advantage of ag use and valorem tax evaluation to hold property, in many cases worth millions of dollars per acre, and pay little or no tax because they harvest 100 bales of hay from it per year.

These situations not only defeat the intent of the law but further bruise and mangle the general public's perception of legislation attempting to assist the hard hit agricultural sector.

I am proud to convey the fact that we did become aware of this yet additional attempt to ride the ag interest issue and were able to defeat the attempt; and ultimately we have a very good agricultural product freight exemption section which was proposed and carried successfully by Representative Joe Hanna.

More and more each day, it becomes apparent the degree of importance of being aware of what is going on and having all the input possible prior to making a decision.

See you next week.

Historical Notes

By Ralph Terry

The Coleman County Historical Commission had its regular meeting Wednesday, April 20, in Coleman. This meeting place has worked out better due to the size of the commission at this time and is easier for some to get to as it is on the ground floor. At this meeting, reports were given on the progress of the History of Coleman County book, decisions made on the cost of memorials, business pages, and the like.

THE HISTORY OF COLEMAN COUNTY AND ITS PEOPLE BOOK...

It appears that more and more people will be working up their history for this important book that the historical commission is working on.

As this book will be of large size, covering the entire county in some detail, it will be regretful if anyone was not included in it...therefore, I hope that everyone that is now in Coleman County will write a history, no matter if the story is short or long, no matter if the family has been here 125 years or 1 year...and by the way, if my math is correct, Coleman County is 125 years old this year. It would be a shame if your grandchildren or their grandchildren knew little about you, only because your family failed to write anything down about their family history.

DO IT NOW...I know that many of you are working on yours, but this reminder is for those who have not started or have not intended to do it...PLEASE WORK UP A HISTORY! If you think someone has done yours already, make sure! They may have only written it up on their line, not your part of that line...get with others in your family and talk about what you want to say in the history, or at least make sure that your family is covered.

SALE OF THE COLEMAN COUNTY HISTORY BOOK

As I hope you know, this book is being sold by a prepay basis...only the number that we receive in advance will be printed, so if you want a copy of the book, get your payment in as soon as possible, before you forget to do it...this sale will be going on for several months; until the copy is taken to the publisher...businesses may want a copy as well as individuals, especially those businesses with waiting rooms or anyplace that customers have to stay a while. Buy a copy today.

Some of you have written histories that do cover the entire family. Let everyone in your family know about purchasing a book, they will probably want a copy, but some may not even know about it. Let everyone know what we are doing, write or talk to all family members...we do appreciate this work.

I don't mean to sound like a salesman, but we will not be able to publish the book, if we do not have sufficient sales on the book. Even though this book is being put together by the historical Commission, it will be through the efforts of hundreds of people, each doing a part and each given credit for their part, but we must sell many books before we can afford a good looking book at a reasonable cost.

Again, I only want everyone to know about it. The book sale is going very well at this point. If you want a copy, the cost is $42 in Coleman County and $45 out of the county (extra $3 is for postage), mail your check to CCHC, P.O. Box 958, Coleman, Texas 76834. MEMORIALS AND BUSINESS PAGES

We will be selling pages in the book to take up expenses that arise. These pages will be for MEMORIALS, which are pages that the family might buy as a memorial to a loved one(s), family groups, or anything that you or your family or group might want to have as a memorial. There will be a charge for these pages. If you are interested in having a memorial page, please contact me as soon as possible.

Another page that will have to be paid for is a page devoted to a BUSINESS. We would require that a history be given of the business and having a business page would advertise your business.

Pictures could be used in both MEMORIAL and BUSINESS pages. In fact, it would be preferred. Contact me if you are interested or need more information on these special pages.

Remember the deadline to turn your family history is June 15, 1983, or let us know if you are working on it, but cannot meet that deadline. If you need a guide to help in writing your history, send a SASE to CCHC, P.O. Box 958, Coleman, Texas 76834, or come by Ralph Terry Studio on College.

I realize that this column has turned into a history

Local Graduate Student Publishes Article

A Santa Anna graduate student at Baylor University and an associate professor at the university have teamed up to write and publish an article in their field of science.

Larry Don Benton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Benton, is in his third year of graduate studies at Baylor University, also serving as a graduate assistant in the Chemistry Department.

His co-writer for the highly technical article was Kenneth W. Busch, associate professor of analytical chemistry in the Chemistry Department. Dr. Busch is a graduate of Florida State Atlantic University and holds his PhD in analytical spectroscopy from Florida State University.

Benton, a graduate of Santa Anna High School,

earned his BS degree at Howard Payne University in 1980 and is working toward his PhD in analytical chemistry. His research interests include atomic spectroscopy, applications of microcomputers and microprocessors in the control of instrumentation, and applications of information theory to spectroscopy.

The article, published in the 1983 edition of Analytical Chemistry and copyrighted by the American Chemical Society, is entitled Multiplex Methods in Atomic Spectroscopy. The article deals with electronic multiwave-length detection methods for photographic detection.

CRIME STOPPERS

Drug traffickers are robbing our kids of their future. Over 17,000 Texas high school seniors are daily drug users... an alarming statistic that merely scratches the surface.

Kids from age twelve to seventeen are the victims. Their innocence earns these criminals easy money. Now is the time to shut down this business in Texas. It won't be easy. Dealers are just the bottom of the drug dealing pyramid. These pushers get their drugs from the kingpins... those at the top of the network... the drug traffickers.

Drug dealing to minors is a hideous crime and those criminals must be stopped. A joint effort by law enforcement and concerned citizens is necessary in declaring war on drug traffickers.

There are no absolute answers but a major step has been taken. A statewide anti-crime hotline is answered 24-hours a day. This hotline is designed to aid law enforcement in a crackdown on drug traffickers.

For the month of February, the Crime Stoppers Advisory Council is focusing its statewide "Crime of the Month" on drug trafficking. Any citizen having information about major drug trafficking is asked to call Texas Crime Stoppers at 1-800-252-TIPS. Cash rewards are available for information leading to the arrest and indictment of criminals. Citizens do not have to reveal their names, just their information, and they will be given a unique code number for identification purposes.

Call 1-800-252-TIPS today with any information on major drug trafficking in Texas. Help stop this growing menace to young people of our state.
