$20,000,000 Suit Filed By H. L. Doherty

Kansas City Star, Defendant, Backed Governor's Gas Rate Fight

KANSAS CITY, July 10 (UP)—Henry L. Doherty, head of the Cities Service company, filed a million dollar libel suit against the Kansas City Star. The paper and Governor Harry Woodring had been conducting a campaign for reduced gas rates in Kansas. The suits were filed in Jackson county, Missouri. The company asks for $20,000,000 in damages.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 10 (UP)—Unruffled by the scathing verbal broadside Henry L. Doherty aimed at them, leaders in the Kansas Gas rate fight today pressed their campaign with calm determination.

Harry Woodring, dynamic young governor of Kansas, who came to grips with the billion dollar Cities Service organization over its rates in nearly 100 cities and towns of his state, marshaled governmental agencies at Topeka for the struggle with Doherty.

"We will succeed in a perfectly legal and orderly way," Woodring said in answer to a telegram from Doherty describing the campaign as one of "persecution, extortion and misdirection."

The Kansas City Star, which threw its support behind Woodring, reiterated the demand that gas rates be reduced and prepared to meet a $200,000 libel suit filed by Doherty's attorneys.

Attention must not be directed from the main issue—that of exorbitant gas rates—by personalities of legal smoke screens," said George Longan, publisher of the Star.

The struggle over Kansas gas rates flared into open warfare when Woodring instructed the state public service commission and the attorney general of Kansas to proceed with every legal power at their command to force a reduction.

"The customer figured, he declared, that talking hard times was not going to get anybody any business and very likely would help lose what's left."

If some more folks would follow this fellow's guidance, some of our expert bellyachers might change their tune. Then it'd be lot more pleasant to live around here, even if no more stuff were bought.

Midcontinent Oil Pools May Be Shut Down

Oklahoma City Producing Company Leads in Movement

TULSA, Okla., July 10 (UP)—The midcontinent oil industry, suffering from a two-year depression, is moving for a temporary halt in its activities, reports indicated this afternoon.

Under the influence of a crude oil market rocking downward to the lowest prices in history, Oklahoma and Kansas operators took under consideration proposals to shut down flush fields pending a recovery.

Announcement of actual shut down in the Oklahoma City field was made this afternoon by Anderson-Pritchard Corporation. The company said its 26 producers with a daily potential of 225,000 barrels would cease to flow tonight.

Meanwhile, the crude price continued to go lower. The Shell Petroleum company announced a price of 6 cents a barrel of oil from the Yates pool. Several oil companies have posted prices of 5 to 6 cents in recent days.

At Wichita, Kansas, operators agreed to meet Saturday to discuss a proposal to shut down all Kansas wells. Kansas oil men said they preferred a shut down until crude prices make it worth while to produce.

Officials of Sinclair and Champion companies said they would oppose the plan to be considered tomorrow. The field operators operate to produce.

Oil Men Not Overjoyed By Session Call

Limited Approval Expressed By Some: Price 'Unwarranted'

Limited approval was given Governor Sterling's call for a special session of the legislature by some oil men yesterday; others, in commenting on the drastic cut in the price of West Texas crude from 37.40 to 29 cents a barrel before the governor's call, was announced, disapproved of any attempt at regulatory measures, holding the belief that supply and demand alone can govern and that the industry must work out its own problems slowly to regain stability.

"Terminating the price cut 'grassily unfair and unwarranted,' A. R. Eppenger, head of the Eppenger Drilling Company, which has deep wells in the oil business, said. 'I never have suffered from a price cut,' he said. 'It is a matter of supply and demand. The price must be what the market will bear. I am strictly opposed to an appointive oil commission to replace the present body.'"

M. D. Bryant, president of the Western Oil and Royalty Company, said: "I think that Governor Sterling is justified in calling a special session for oil legislation at this time, and feel that with his knowledge of the oil business a workable bill can be drafted for the consideration of the legislature. However, it is my opinion that no prorator order in East Texas will be favored unless a fair price for oil is posted generally."

West Texas fields accepted production in 1923 and 1929 when they could have drained off their oil at prices of around 15 per barrel. We have done our part for the oil business, but so far those controlling the oil business have done little for us. I am strictly opposed to an appointive oil commission to replace the present body."

University Big Loser Royalty revenues have been slashed to the bone by the crude reduction. One of the big losses will be the University of Texas on whose lands in Reagan, Pecos, Borden and Crane counties about 12,000 barrels of oil was produced in May. A year ago its royalties monthly amounted to around $250,000; they slumped to $22,000 in May, and with 12-cent oil in all areas save Reagan, where the price is slightly higher, the monthly income will be reduced to around $33,000. The last legislature enacted a law permitting producers of oil on university land to pay their royalties temporarily shut in the wells by agreement, and it is believed that the university will favor this plan, if it does not.

It is believed that the university will favor this plan, if it does not. The plan includes the displaying of a slogan, probably "Use Air Mail in Advertisements," on placards, and an envelope. An effort is being made to get merchants to have mail stamps and envelopes put on their bills. The plan is being pushed by a committee of business men.

Committee Forms Framework For 60-Day Campaign Here

A committee planning a campaign to build up air mail postage convened Thursday morning in Big Spring to plan a 60-day campaign to be waged from July 19 to September 19. The meeting was held in the Settles hotel.

The plan includes the displaying of a slogan, probably "Use Air Mail in Advertisements," on placards, and an envelope. An effort is being made to get merchants to have mail stamps and envelopes put on their bills. The plan is being pushed by a committee of business men.

Committee members were: R. W. Henry, Ira Thurston, Calvin Roy, Joe Kuykendall, Jess Maxwell, D. C. Carter, C. P. Woods, E. F. Fairbank, and Shinn Phillips. C. T. Watson, manager of the chamber of commerce, met and worked with the body.

Italy Favors Disarmament

Stimson Visits Grandi, Mussolini's Foreign Minister

By ROBERT J. BENDER, United Press Staff Correspondent. Copyright, 1931, by United Press. ROME, July 10 (UP)—Italy, it became known on high authority, strongly favors a broad disarmament plan.

It is ready to cooperate with President Hoover's moves for armistices. This information, extremely significant in the U. S. moves to control the staggering costs of big armies and navies as an aid to world rehabilitation, coincided with nearly an hour's visit of U. S. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson to Foreign Minister Dino Grandi at the foreign office.

Neither revealed the subject of their conference but it was assumed that the meeting marked the opening of a series of conferences between Stimson and European statesmen designed to align "old world powers" behind the president's moves.

Broad Plan Italy is advocating a broad, disarmament plan, finally became a definite policy. It is almost futile to expect payment of reparations when the nation possesses nothing with which to pay.

Suffering It was pointed out that both big and little powers are suffering by wasting vast sums for military purposes, and Italy sees only economic benefits in the mad efforts which European nations make to rearm. Italy is seeking to secure any plan that would result in effective reduction of armaments. Italy believes that would mean economic progress without affecting any nation's administration. Italy believes that would be to reverse the military burden.

Convention In Dress Thrown Overboard By Friday Visitor Here

Just a study in blue? Alden Freeman, author, political reformer aviation enthusiast, and Consul General for Haiti in Miami, stopped at the airport here an hour Friday morning.

Yeah, Mr. Freeman had on his complete costume, all four pieces, a polo shirt, sandals and tie. That shirt sort of pale blue silk. And those sandals, just a few shades deeper in blue.

Mr. Freeman came from Atlanta by plane. He is traveling from his Miami Beach home to Santa Barbara, Calif., where he has another home. This home, with its $200,000 botanical gardens he is presenting to the city. He is making some alterations before the gift is complete, however.

During Fiesta Week, late in August, he will be the guest of the city as he turns his property over to it. After that he plans an airplane trip around South America with a party of friends.

"I'm 68 years old on the ground and 19 in the air," he Freeman.

Will Durant, the philosopher, is paying for Mr. Freeman's passage via American Airways. Why? Because, Mr. Freeman took Durant under his wing some 20 years ago. Invested $35,000 in him. One of Durant's books brought $2,000,000. Just a 1400 remembrance from Will.

Mr. Freeman made it clear that he took to his Gandhi-like costume not only to be comfortable but to regain his health, which has been declining due to political persecution, he said.

Keenly alive to all that is going on in the world, Mr. Freeman talked rapidly and intensely, displaying a wide and appreciative knowledge of literature and politics.

"The only way to get along in politics is to make enemies and keep them bitter," he said.

"Only two things interest him to fight the good fight for the public weal and to demonstrate by personal example what four men are to wear 'those binding garments'."

Woman Hiker Is Attacked

Man Held In Dalhart For Grim Upon Expectant Mother

DALHART, Texas, July 10 (UP)—Aubrey Adams today faced charges of attempted criminal assault following an attack on Mrs. Kathleen Clark, hitch-hiker through the Panhandle of Texas in an effort to reach her father in Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Clark, who will become a mother in November, told officers here she was beaten and attacked in the old slaughter house in West Dalhart. She said of being deserted by her husband, of passing her clothes for a scant $30, and of jealously guarding her remaining pieces of money as she hitch-hiked toward her father's home.

Adams was arrested on a street here and identified by Mrs. Clark as her assailant.

He was free today under $750 bond made at Channing, county seat of Hartley county.

Pure Launches Movement To Shut In Wells

Company With Sixteen Producers In Howard Asks Others To Join

SAN ANGELO, July 10 (UP)—Pure Oil Company has ordered its pumping wells in Howard and Upton counties shut in, has proposed that owners of offsets do likewise, and most of them have agreed, it was learned here today.

"Some oil men thought the movement was likely to spread to most wells in Permian basin because of the price reduction to ten cents per barrel. This was considered below cost of production except in favored areas such as Yates field in Pecos county and Hobbs field in New Mexico."

Atlantic, Simms, Sun, Continental and Gulf were reported to have shut down offsets to Pure Company's wells in Howard county and Gulf and Staniel in Upton county.

Pure has sixteen wells in Howard, which averaged 178 barrels daily in the week ending July 1 and two wells in Upton county averaging 42 barrels.

The convicts had been "ya-aahing" ever since their baseball team defeated that of the Houston police department, and for once the police department "heard itself as others saw it," as the Houston Herald stated.

Home Town Talk by Beddy

Today we heard about a local business man getting out of a barber chair with only a shave instead of taking a haircut too; simply because the barber got so talking about how short-a-piece business was, how fast the town was "going up" and "cussing things out in general."

The customer figured, he declared, that talking hard times was not going to get anybody any business and very likely would help lose what's left.

Careful Preparation of Engine Goes Far Toward Making Post And Gatty Outstanding Success

By LEON H. DURST
(Copyright, 1931, by The Associated Press.)

Part VII
Wiley Post was happy when the way was smoothed for the opportunity to make real the "biggest thing he could think of—that bug to go around the world."

With assurance of the financial backing of F. C. Hall, his Oklahoma friend, and the spontaneous cooperation of his navigator, Harold Gatty, Post went to work for earnest shaping things for the arduous he had "dreamed of for over four years."

The big moment had arrived for the young man who, as a farmer boy, had expressed his aviation bent by whitening out airplane models.

To Post the task of getting his sleek monoplane, "Winnie Mae," in condition was the main objective. It was primarily the job of the meticulous Gatty to fuse with maps, charts, logbooks and all those things a good navigator requires.

To make perfect his plane Wiley spent a month at the air factory on the Pacific Coast where he once worked as chief test pilot. The 425-horsepower, supercharged motor of his "Winnie Mae" was to be what he termed both his "masochist and good luck charm."

Nine Cylinders
Upon its throbbing nine cylinders he lavished the mass of mechanical he gleaned from his working on all sorts of engines. He even reached back to utilize that experience born of barnstorming days when he thrilled country crowds with his wing walking and parachute leaps and gave the right touch to erratic engines.

It was only a shell of the engine that carried him to victory in the 1929 national race atop Mt. Denali from the Pacific Coast to Chicago. It had been replaced only after they had both repaired, etched and lacquered it.

"We spent as much money on it,"

Post said, "as a few engines would cost, but we wouldn't trade it for two new ones, I'm sure."

To gain more speed he worked out his own fuel carrying arrangement and altered the wing adjustment. The fuselage and five wing tanks served as gasoline receptacles. This moved the weight sufficiently to the front to permit what Post said would be easier handling, even balance and better speed flying position.

"A slight negative angle of incidence to the wings was made to give more speed and at the same time balance the load better."

Fully loaded, the ship weighed about 6,000 pounds with a range of 3,400 miles on the 540 gallons of gas and 21 gallons of oil which she carried.

Spare parts assembled were valve springs, bearings for engine, rocker arms and spark plugs.

Post saw no need of carrying other parachute or life raft. The food was limited to just a "few lunches." Wiley sized up the situation this way:

Compasses
"If we come down in the ocean, well, it'll be all over. Food won't do us any good."

Compasses for pilot and navigator were packed, as well as other conventional instruments. There was also an "artificial horizon" and a "directional gyro" to aid in for and other blind flying. Above the place for Navigator Gatty in the back, a glass fitted hatch was cut in the wing to let in the sky.

Satisfied the plane was in the prime of perfection, Post and Gatty headed for Roosevelt Field after about a day's sojourn in Washington.

Wiley went to the capital seeking permission to fly over Russia. This had been granted, however, while they were en route. Wiley jokingly said, upon hearing this information, there was not much for them to do "but to let President Hoover have a chance to look over a couple of ambitious men."

In 10 Days
To capital reporters Post said they were "going to fly around the world in ten days, and maybe less."

Post said plans showed 107 hours of flying time would be required. This was prophetic, the actual flying time being only a few hours less.

Wiley and his partner lollered at Roosevelt Field several weeks waiting for Dr. James Kimball, of the U. S. weather bureau, to say all was well. Mechanics marveled at the mechanism of the "Winnie Mae."

Then came the big moment, the dawn of June 3. To Harbor Grace, N. F., they attacked. Mid-afternoon four Wiley Post Berlin-ghand over the Atlantic, real action in tempo with a long cherished dream.

(Tomorrow: Wiley Post curves his niche high in aviation's shining hall of fame.)

I have an idea that if the people could have their way through your valuable paper that maybe I could help to settle the question of where the location of the city hall and fire station should be. I might help some.

Now let us take the location of the old ward school building. We do not use the building and it is a good and should be sold and the money that we get for the lot and building might be applied on the school bonds that are drawing interest. If we do that it would stop the interest. Now suppose that the city purchases the building and tear down the building and cut the lot down to grade. It would give work to a lot of men that have families in the city and we then could build the city hall and fire station on the lot. And there is where the people want the building.

I understand that new postoffice building will be built on the rail way lot south of the postoffice. And it looks that now, as all the

Famous Painting To Be Exhibited Sunday Morning

A rare treat is in store for the members of this church Sunday morning. Rev. Hughes urged visitors to come and view the astonishing piece of artistry. "The World's Greatest Tragedy" is a large painting which was 22 years in the making, during which time seven trips were made to the Holy Land to secure sketches and information. The picture is a depiction of the march to Golgotha's hill and shows Christ bearing the weight of a heavy cross.

Fifty-four other persons appear in this painting, which has been valued at $75,000.

Dr. Rembrandt is the seventh great descendant of the Master Painter and is the only one in his family since the world-famous original. Dr. Rembrandt himself is a renowned painter and has done several other works which won praise from critical connoisseurs of art. He is a native of Holland but has been in this country since 1878 and is considered one of the greatest painters in America.

A message delivered in conjunction with the exhibition by Dr. Rembrandt has drawn praise from such prominent pastors in Baptist churches as Dr. J. E. Gates of San Antonio, Dr. T. V. Neal of El Paso, Dr. M. A. Johnson of Abilene, and the late Dr. S. P. Brooks of Dallas University.

Charles W. Dickerson, 608 B. H. Street, left Thursday on the T & M special car going west. He will return as soon as his business trip is completed.

More Powerful than Any Gasoline

Why many motors develop as high as 20% more power with Esso
Esso will not develop the same power increase in every car. But, generally speaking, the higher the compression of your motor, the more extra power you get from Esso.
Most modern motors, those built within the last three or four years, are of the high-compression type and enjoy a decided power increase from Esso.
Actual tests show that the difference in power between popular gasolines and Esso in this type of motor may run as high as 20%.

A phenomenal success in 20 foreign countries, Esso was perfected in America by the world's leading petroleum technicians. It contains Ethyl—but it is far more than an ordinary Ethyl fuel.
Make a ten-day test of this new fuel. Find out for yourself what your car can do with Esso. Then change back to any other type of gasoline—if you can.

TOO WARM? HERE ARE SOME WAYS TO KEEP COOL

In Chicago they stand on cakes of ice to keep cool. Or at least Traffic Policeman James Brennan does. He is shown atop a cake of ice on one of Chicago's busiest corners.

Hot? Who wouldn't be with the mercury soaring to around the 100 mark? But New York's millions are finding a way to keep cool. They flock to the beaches. The above picture showing a section of the hundreds of thousands of bathers at Gony Island proves that. This is a typical Sunday crowd.

At Coronado Beach, Cal., they beat the heat wave by going aquaplaning. Steve Patrick is holding Mrs. D. W. Heath who in turn is supporting Mary Sullivan.

NEW YORK GANGSTER INDICTED

"Dutch" Schultz (left), alleged New York "beer baron" and racketeer, was captured, and his lieutenant, Daniel Iamascia, was fatally wounded by New York police in a gun fight as Schultz and eight henchmen left an upper Fifth avenue apartment. Schultz is shown with Detective Stephen Di Rosa when he was arraigned for assault and carrying weapons. He was indicted by these counts.

RESPIRATOR SAVES CHILD'S LIFE

May life be spared because of infant's paralysis, Louise Mohr was placed on a respirator in a New York hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y. After receiving oxygen artificially through action of the respirator for a short time she seemed very much alive when this picture was taken.

Harris Flings On Wrong Club Hollerson Plays Lead For Beaumont in Second Half

By BILL PARRER Associated Press Sports Writer DALLAS, July 10.—A pet discussion among Texas leaguers as they idle in dugouts waiting for game time, is how many games could Bill Harris win for Houston or Beaumont if he belonged to either of these clubs instead of the Galveston Buccaneers. Harris, the Texas leaguer who will deny that Harris is one of the really good pitchers of the league; much superior to some who have night mound percentages. It is the consensus that Harris, on any 500 percentage club, would be a cinch for twenty-five victories. As it is, Harris through July 8, had won 7 and lost 12 for Galveston. Harris' own usually be counted in to hurt winning baseball if he calls four, five and six hit games winning baseball. Harris seldom gets a run from his nates. In his last three games, Harris has pitched exceptionally well, but the Bucs failed to score a run in any of his games. Thus Harris lost all three. It takes a stout heart to keep trying. Black Bill Harris intends to stay on the firing line until the Buccaneers get him a run. The man promising to play the lead for Beaumont in the second half pennant race, including setting of the first hit with Houston, is George Hollerson. Recently secured from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast league, Hollerson's pitching has been unimpeachable with one exception since joining the Exporters. Through July 8 he had won three and lost one. Manager Phil Baker is enthused over Hollerson's start. It appears certain Hollerson will oppose Jerome "Dizzy" Dean in one of the first two games between Houston and Beaumont July 25-26 when first games of the first half play-off will be undecided. If Hollerson continues the way he has started, the Exporters will be double tough in the final portion of the race. If Hollerson can oppose and defeat Dean in one of the crucial first half play-off games, Beaumont will probably elect him mayor.

Pardon Board Opposes Goodwin Commutation

AUSTIN, July 10.—Governor Sterling said that the pardon board had advised against commutation to life imprisonment of the death sentence of Dave Goodwin from Howie county Goodwin's electrocution is scheduled for August 10. He was convicted of killing Lloyd Elliott, young hog rancher in February of 1930. The board's report said it found "no equity in behalf of a murderer who after threats and with malice aforethought kills an unarmed victim and conceals the body." Fort Worth's trading Pitcher Henry Hardaway to Pueblo for Carl Frey, had hitting outfielder probably means the passing from the Texas league of Eddie Moore, veteran center field guardian for the Cats and one of the most popular players in the circuit. Frey, until two weeks ago, led the Western league hitters and was far ahead in the race for base stealing honors. That Frey will replace Moore in center field seems certain. Eddie is still a fine defensive man, but his hitting this year has been a weak link in Fort Worth's pennant chain. Eddie has also slowed down a bit on the base paths. In justice to Eddie, he has been ill several times since the season started, but at times remained in the lineup, giving his best, although he was everything but a well man. Two years ago, Moore was ranked as the best all-around outfielder in the Texas league. If Moore passes on, Larry Cox will be the only outfielder remaining who started the season with Fort Worth. Parker Perry, who opened in left field for the Cats, is now with Shreveport.

Columbus got over here in a sailing boat and it took him longer to tie his boat to the shore when he got here than it took Post and Gatty to fly around the globe. Yesterday is good for just one thing; to look back on and see our mistakes. Today is the time to act so as not to repeat those mistakes. "Human Progress" may be a breath-taking process at times and all of us may become a little scared when we wonder where the end will be, but said progress is marching down a one-way street and you can't stop the parade. Oil

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) tually take the lead in it. The law becomes effective in August 90 days after adjournment of the legislature. In contending that none of the price cuts this year have been warranted on the point set by that statistically the industry is in better shape than a year ago, that production is lower, despite the flood of East Texas crude, oil has been withdrawn from instead of run to storage and gasoline stocks are below the point set by a federal edict. Yet oil in sight acts as a menace, and many maintain that any further attempts at artificial stabilization merely will prolong the depression. They argue that the law of supply and demand always prevails, that the industry suffers and cite that no industry for long can operate below the cost of production. Manipulations Charged. Critics again have been for failure to impose a tariff or an embargo on imports and some charged that continued price cutting is aimed at eliminating the industry by the majority of independent refiners and that the most recent cut was intended to force a special session of the legislature to attempt relief measures. Some predict that large companies producing, transporting, refining and marketing their own oil will make big profits in 1931 owing to the depression of trade. AUGUSTS MUST CARRY TWO RED LANTERNS

BOUGHT OATS' EXTRACT

DENVER, (INS)—The supreme court of Colorado recently upheld the right of a wife to sue the pharmacy which sold intoxicating liquor to her husband and collect for damage resulting from the use of the intoxicant. The supreme court reversed the decision of a district court at Colorado Springs and Henderson's attorneys Henderson testified that he began buying jamoke ginger from a drug store in 1925. Later, when the federal government stopped the sale of ginger, he bought "extract" of ginger.

MEXICO CITY (INS)—Two red lanterns in addition to regulation car lights must be carried by motorists who travel on Mexican highways at night, according to decrees issued by the Department of Communications.

These lanterns are to be placed five yards in front and five yards in the rear of every car when the driver is forced to stop on a federal highway at night. Head and taillights must also be kept on. Violation means a fine of $25. In connection with these precautionary measures, it was pointed out that 14,000 persons have been killed in automobile accidents in Mexico and its vicinity in twenty years.

WICHITA, Kan., July 10, (UP)—A meeting of Kansas oil operators to agree on the shutting in of all Kansas oil wells today was called for Saturday in Wichita. Leaders in the impromptu meeting this morning which issued the state call were: Lloyd Lockhart, of Slick, Pryor and Lockhart, largest crude producers in the state; George Bruce of the Aladdin Petroleum company; W. H. Lassen, William Ainsworth and Elmer R. Corn. Oil men at the meeting said they had interviewed practically every producer in Wichita and many opposed the state, and that the majority preferred a shut down until crude prices make it worth while to produce again. They declared that Kansas has tried proration observing it fairly, "the state is being made the goat" in a proration that fails to get anywhere.

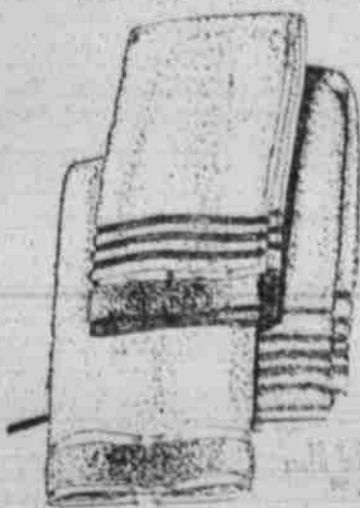

WILLIE PETERS says: He noticed high prices makes heaps of prosperity and that low prices result in lots of poverty; he pays top prices and uses Cosden Liquid Gas as a matter of course.

Bloc Seeks Soil Conservation As Topic Of Session

AUSTIN, Texas, July 10.—Although Governor R. S. S. ...

Should the governor consent to submit soil conservation, as well as oil conservation, it was regarded as probable that the Olson cotton acreage reduction bill would be reintroduced.

Proponents of the measure, however, contended the present legislative condition in the cotton industry made enactment of this or a similar law a public necessity if agriculture was to be lifted from the doldrums and the farmers again routed along the road to prosperity.

Conservation of soil as well as conservation of oil should be submitted as a subject for legislation, according to J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, who became the failure of law string Methods to produce the desired results.

Both oil and cotton producers are proceeding as a demoralized mob, wastefully producing and thereby dissipating the natural resources of the state in a manner detrimental to the economic and social welfare of our people and our state.

The cases of soil and oil are virtually parallel. The chief distinction is that vastly more people depend upon the soil and more lives are affected by the price of cotton than by that of oil.

Mrs. W. H. Paes, of Houston, Ky., and daughter, Mrs. J. J. Paes, and daughter, Louise, and son, Houston, of Evansville, Ind., are visiting in a party.

Mrs. B. W. Christian returned this week from a four month tour in London, where she visited her daughter Mrs. Eva Lawson.

farm that could be planted to cotton, the total reduction to be not more than 50 per cent of the acreage planted to cotton the previous year. The bill would not become effective until at least five other cotton growing states had passed and made effective similar bills.

The main argument against the Olson bill was that it would interfere, if passed, with the right of an individual to the free and unobstructed use of his property; was impractical; would abridge the right of contract and was clearly unconstitutional and was impossible to enforce.

Proponents of the measure, however, contended the present legislative condition in the cotton industry made enactment of this or a similar law a public necessity if agriculture was to be lifted from the doldrums and the farmers again routed along the road to prosperity.

Largest Producer To Continue Operations

Home Town Talk

Well, the legislature has been called for Tuesday noon.

Many people look to the special session as the last hope for speedy upturn in the oil business.

At least one local business man said, when he learned the call had been made that "that is the last straw. We're sunk now sure enough, if that bunch is going to get back together."

Right in the face of 10-cent oil, something none of us would have dreamed of two years ago would even be a possibility.

At least one local business man said, when he learned the call had been made that "that is the last straw. We're sunk now sure enough, if that bunch is going to get back together."

After all, most every producer in this field has long since paid for his properties out of production.

What is some of the larger ones are reported right now to be in the market for some good production in this field.

Which means a lot, insofar as determining whether a policy of further reduction in production is to follow the new market crash.

HOW'S your HEALTH?

DIET AND THE TETH
There is constantly mounting evidence showing that the condition of one's teeth largely depends upon heredity and upon diet and that the hereditary factor depends largely upon the diet of the pregnant mother.

Dental caries and related disease of the gums and jaws are among the most common of human ailments. Our school children, for example, suffer from conditions dependent on diet and heredity, and often their teeth are in such a condition that they are unable to perform their normal function.

For centuries science has proposed numerous theories to explain the prevalence of dental disease.
Most of these theories have not stood up under careful scientific investigation.

In recent years, however, a number of different theories have been advanced. Some of these theories are based on the fact that the teeth are in such a condition that they are unable to perform their normal function. This is due to the fact that the teeth are in such a condition that they are unable to perform their normal function. This is due to the fact that the teeth are in such a condition that they are unable to perform their normal function.

before he'd let him touch a single penny of his school money. What did you do to change Pierre like that?"

"It must have been my play; that did it. You see, I've written a play for Pierre." He laughed as he indicated the manuscript.

"Your play?" Ann had never heard of it. "Oh, how wonderful! And has Pierre known that you were writing a play for him?"

Old Tony laughed triumphantly. "He didn't know about it until yesterday afternoon. You see, I got the idea about three months ago when Bruce first talked to Pierre about this Nevada gold mining scheme. I got to thinking about all that might happen if Pierre should let Bruce have his money, and so I wrote a play about it. Yesterday when I gave Pierre his inheritance, I read my play to him."

"Oh-h-h, so that's what happened to him?"

The old actor held up his manuscript. "I brought this copy over this afternoon for Pierre to take with him."

"But won't you tell me about your play, Father Tony?"

The old actor looked down at his manuscript. "Would you like to hear it?"

"Oh, I'd love to! What is the title?"

"Well, I gave him his inheritance—it was his twentieth birthday."

"Yes, but you must have said or done more than that. I know from Pierre's manner that something had happened to him. Why, he even told Bruce he'd see him in hell."

"Of course I know," Ann returned gently. "You and Pierre's mother used to call it your theatre. But what happened to Pierre?"

"Well, first I took the boy to that little nook behind the willows—you know the place?"

"Of course I know," Ann returned gently. "You and Pierre's mother used to call it your theatre. But what happened to Pierre?"

"Well, I gave him his inheritance—it was his twentieth birthday."

"Yes, but you must have said or done more than that. I know from Pierre's manner that something had happened to him. Why, he even told Bruce he'd see him in hell."

Railroad Income Declines

THE RAILROADS AT TEXAS have hope the latest figures from the department of the interior will show a different picture. During the first quarter of the year, according to the railroad commission, passenger revenue declined 21.2 per cent from the same period last year. Freight revenue was smaller, but was big enough to worry the officials, the decline being 2.9 per cent. Mail revenue dropped 33 per cent and express revenue 23.2 per cent. The general revenue figure was 22.6 per cent under a year ago.

The St. Louis-San Francisco line of the roads to try the tightest passenger fare as a means of increasing travel, found that the increase was not sufficient to warrant continuance, and was granted the right to restore the old fare. The Texas and Pacific, however, found the experiment decidedly worthwhile, the road having received approximately 40 per cent of its lost passenger business as a result. No report was available from the Texas-Mexican, which has been experimenting with the same fare. One short stretch of the Southern Pacific is also using that rate.

The railroads, faced by heavy losses in revenues, look the way to increase passenger fares, but are increasing expenditures. The result is a decrease in operating expenses. The first quarter was 22.6 per cent under the decline in operating revenue.

NATIONAL BANK AND TRUST CO. OF TEXAS. IN BIG SPRING and HOWARD COUNTY ESTABLISHED IN 1890. UNITED STATES DEPOSITORY. THE OLD RELIABLE THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Sales Effect Of Fags Tax

AUSTIN, July 6.—What effect the tax of three cents per package on cigarettes, authorized by the last session of the legislature, will have on the sale of the "fags" in Texas was a matter of conjecture among state officials. The tax will be effective at midnight, August 21.

When the tax was up for consideration in the legislature, representatives were variedly estimated between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000. Since that time the estimate has dropped to around the $5,000,000 mark with several officials and members of the legislature estimating the receipts at approximately $4,000,000.

One-half the receipts from the tax will go to the general revenue fund to bolster it against the annual demands made on it and the other half will be credited to the public free school fund. The tax originally was sponsored by members of the educational bloc in the house but was defeated when the house refused to print it in minority report.

That the tax undoubtedly would decrease the amount of tax on cigarettes was admitted by all who pointed out the fact that many individuals have expressed the opinion of having the cigarettes delivered to them direct from the manufacturer, thus avoiding the retailer's mark.
