HOME TOWN TALK

By BEDDY

One point in connection with the city hall project that apparently should be made plain...

The city's policy has been and the city manager has pledged that it will continue to pay a MINIMUM wage of a dollar per hour for skilled labor.

This, obviously, would not affect the regular wage scales required by carpenters, brick masons, plumbers and others who have local unions.

Any contractor bidding for the city hall job would, naturally, have to figure labor at the existing local wage scales.

He would also have to figure on using local men. However, in no case would the city allow a skilled laborer to work for less than a dollar per hour.

City officials asked that we make this matter clear for information of local craftsmen.

NEWS ITEM: Colorado, May 7.—Representing Colorado at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Lubbock May 14, 15 and 16 will be the Colorado Municipal Band, under direction of Roy Heister, and an entrant in the "My Home Town" contest.

Big Spring has a band that goes under the name of the Municipal Band. It is not, however, supported by the municipality. It is, in fact, not supported at all.

Through the coming summer months it would mean a lot to the community to have a well-trained band play free public concerts.

Not to speak of the numerous occasions such as the W. T. C. C. convention and conventions which meet here from time to time—we need a band often.

Wouldn't we have looked great at Lubbock bidding for the new convention without a band?

The most equitable method of supporting a band is through a small tax. But a good one ought to be maintained some way.

1930 Republican Nominee For Governor at Lions Luncheon

Col. W. E. (Bill) Talbot, republican candidate for governor last summer, agency manager of the Southland Life Insurance Company, and apostle for purchase by Texans of Texas manufactured products, was the principal speaker Friday at the regular luncheon of the Lions Club, held at the Settler hotel.

Dallas F. Whaley, district agent of the Southland company; E. W. Kinney, district manager of P. M. Bratton Company, Fort Worth, Frigidates distributor; Dr. James H. Barcus, and J. C. Hinds, superintendent of the Great West Refining Co., were guests of the club in addition to Col. Talbot.

When Col. Talbot was conducting his three weeks' campaign as the Republican nominee for governor he stressed the idea of "Texans for Texas." In his speeches, he stressed the importance of Texas patronizing Texas manufacturers and producers. Since that time he has carried his campaign for the promotion of Texas industrial circles to every city in Texas. His talk today was along that line.

"It is deplorable," he declared, "that Texas ranks thirty-ninth in per capita wealth, although this state takes the lead in production of thirty-one commodities."

"It is the case of Texans feeding the cow and the other fellow milking her."

He discussed the condition of the cotton market, declaring that Russia did not purchase a bale from the United States last year, and that previously war-torn European countries had rehabilitated to such an extent that American markets had been injured.

He stressed the statement that "we can do anything unless the people want it."

"The help for Texas industries must come from Texas. Texans must ask for Texas products in every instance if the lasting prosperity in industrial and agricultural circles is to be widespread."

Discussing the decrease in population of smaller towns, Col. Talbot cited two reasons why residents had drifted to larger cities. One of them was that the citizens had quit patronizing home merchants. The other was that the towns had failed to bring in new industries, "smokestacks and payrolls."

Col. Talbot's plan is to "buy in Texas, then Texas, then the South, and then the United States."

When Texans consume Texas products to such an extent that replacement of industries must follow, then the manufacturer will be able to advertise nationally. Texas made goods, Col. Talbot said.

Col. Talbot has a complete list of every product manufactured in Texas and the name of the manufacturer. He cited example after example where he had been able to bring a Texas buyer and a Texas manufacturer together.

Farmers' Queen

Rebecca Stepp of Trenton was named Goddess of Agriculture at the 26th Farmers' fair at the University of Missouri.

Members of crews on two fast express trains reported fine records for speed via the Texas & Pacific this week.

One train, ten cars of cantaloupes, made the El Paso to Fort Worth in 21 hours 3 minutes, leaving El Paso at 10:32 p. m. Tuesday and reaching Fort Worth at 12:15 p. m. Wednesday.

Another, carrying seven cars of cantaloupes and two cars of silks reported worth $86,500 per car, traveled the distance in 15 hours 50 minutes, leaving El Paso at 10:25 p. m. Thursday and reaching Fort Worth at 12:15 p. m. Friday.

The trip from here to Baird was made in 2 hours 20 minutes.

Engineers and trainmen are anxiously awaiting the annual cantaloupe freight movement from Arizona and California. The first "block" of cantaloupes was due here today, they said. Cantaloupe trains are read here at the Southern Ice & Utilities company's large plant.

Agreement Reached As to Fokker Planes

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Agreement on a method of procedure in inspection and maintenance of a series of Fokker planes temporarily withdrawn from passenger service was reached today by Anthony Fokker, and Congress Department officials.

The program, announced by Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of Commerce for aeronautics, involves certain reconditioning and maintenance items.

"While it is difficult to fortell," Young said, "how much time will be required to carry out the program, the department wishes to emphasize that the work will be undertaken without delay."

Most every newspaper reader is familiar with the surname of this man, for the past 22 years president of the Mennen company, Newark, N. J.

Recently he was a special guest of the West Texas Druggists Association in its convention here, having come from San Antonio with William Ochs, head of the San Antonio Drug company.

At the Behrens Drug company luncheon during the convention he was presented with the hat you see him wearing in the picture, this old hat, declared to have been the highest priced Stetson available when it was first purchased years ago, has a purported history that is interesting and Mr. Mennen had placed it in a private museum he said to have been inflicted during a fight in Roy Bean's store at Langtry in 1891—the place where Bean held forth as "The Law West of the Pecos."

The picture above recently was sent to Shine Phillips by Mr. Mennen. It is appearing in several nationally and internationally circulated drug journals.

272 Scouts To Attend Camp

Three Periods of Week Already Assured; Aid for Lads Asked

Total number of Boy Scouts of the Buffalo Trails Area who have notified officials they will attend the annual summer camp, to be held this year on the Kingston ranch in Madera canyon, has reached 272, Marcos J. Williamson, area field executive said Friday on returning from a trip to Pecos, Barstow, Midland and Stanton.

The camping period for each boy will be one week. The first period, to begin June 8, already has 92 boys signed. Eighty-two will attend the second week and 98 the third week.

Mr. Williamson urged those in a position to give boys opportunity of learning their camp fee of $7 for the week to notify him, at the Chamber of Commerce or Dr. W. F. Hart at his office in the Petroleum building.

A new camp feature this year will be marksmanship. It is conducted in safety under direction of a representative of the National Rifle Association.

Boy Scouts will assist the police department in rounding up stray dogs, running free without license tags in violation of the city ordinance, Marcos J. Williamson, scout field executive, said Friday. A request from Chief E. A. Long for assistance will be answered. In this way Scouts will be added to their list of "community camp" turns.

Mr. Williamson reminded the public that scouts always are anxious to do good turns for the community.

Lad Walks To Garland After Wreck; Asks To Rest; Expires

DALLAS, May 8 (AP)—Wilbert Short, 17, Sulphur Springs, died at Garland today after a truck in which he and two other youths rode overturned near there.

A coroner's verdict said death resulted from "drinking poisonous liquor."

Short walked to Garland after the wreck, found that his injuries were not serious and asked permission to rest for a while in the Garland jail.

Officers found him dead when they attempted to awaken him.

Fire Following Blast Destroys Block in Houston

HOUSTON, May 8 (AP)—Fire, precipitated by an explosion in the West Gray section of Houston destroyed a block of business houses and caused damage estimated at $30,000.

The blast lifted the roof off a bakery, blew Joe Lala, 36, out the back door, painfully burning and injuring him. The flames spread quickly. Cause was not determined.

Effort To Cap Wild Well Set For Today

GLADEWATER, May 8 (AP)—Gen. Harroun, Sinclair oil company production superintendent, said here today that an attempt would be made to cap the wild Sinclair No. 1 Cole well before late today.

He said a new capping device was being constructed at Kilgore. The well recently claimed nine lives when an explosion was followed by fire. The flames were extinguished Wednesday. The well continued flowing out of control.

More Bills Are Returned

Ten indictments bring session's total to eighteen

Indictments returned by the May term grand jury were increased to eighteen Thursday afternoon when ten true bills were brought in by the body. Eight indictments had been returned prior to Thursday's report.

Immediately after reporting Thursday, the grand jury adjourned until May 18, unless urgent business arises before that date.

Of the ten indictments returned Thursday, only two of them were made public by county officials.

Mack Williams was indicted for burglary, and N. L. Diffie and G. C. Wiley were jointly indicted for the same offense.

Of the remaining eight, three were for forgery, two for violation of the Deam law, one for burning mortgaged property, and two for aggravated assault. The aggravated assault cases will be sent to county court for trial. District Judge Fritz R. Smith dismissed the petit jury for the first week today.

Troopers Guard As Conferes Seek To End Mine Trouble

EVARTS, Ky., May 8 (AP)—Conferences toward permanent settlement of labor difficulties progress here today as an imposing array of state troopers stood guard. At Harland a grand jury resumed inquiry into troubles which so far have claimed five lives.

E. H. Childers, superintendent of the Black Mountain mine, center of the disturbance, said a number of men had returned to work. Troubles also were reported breaking at the Pamey mine in another part of the county.

Houston Zookeeper To Become Citizen

HOUSTON, May 8 (AP)—Zookeeper Hines Nagel, locally termed "the man without a country" for some time, will have a country pretty soon, and that by invitation.

The government brought deportation proceedings against Nagel, more than 20 years a resident of the United States but not naturalized, and for a time things looked bleak for the stout animal trainer.

The proceedings were dropped the other day, and Nagel said: "The federal government has been kind enough to invite me to become a citizen, now that the deportation charges have been dropped, and I'm tickled pink to take them up."

The immigration office notified me I could become a citizen in 90 days. Well, in just exactly 90 days from now I'm going to be a citizen.

Many Attend Beef Feeders' Session Here

Buster Cauble's Calf, Weighing 952 Pounds, Placed First

A large crowd was in attendance today at the livestock field day being held at the United States Government experiment station here, seeing Hereford calves and yearling steers which have been subjected to feeding experiments during the winter, and purchasing stock of members of the Feeder Club, a sub-division of the Four-H Club.

The morning session was spent in judging twenty calves of the club members, and auctioning them to local buyers.

Buster Cauble's 952-pound animal won first place, and brought $10.50 per hundred pounds when auctioned. It was purchased by the Hereford-water Cotton Oil Company. Two calves, of Woodrow Robinson, weighing 718 and 718 pounds, respectively, sold for $10.50. They were purchased by the White House Grocery of Big Spring, through J. B. Pickle.

An 826-pound animal of Barker Cauble placed second. Hubert Hayward's 750-pound Hereford placed third, while that of R. L. Powell was fourth. Powell's calf weighed 782 pounds.

Six premiums, amounting to $40 will be paid the winners. Prizes of $15, $10 and $5 are offered by the Chamber of Commerce on the college plan of grading. Similar prizes are offered by the Cooperative Gin & Supply Company for production or total gain. The prize winners had not been decided this afternoon.

In addition to these premiums, a bonus of $25.20 had been made up by spectators to be prorated among owners of calves, not in the winning class.

The animals were graded by A. L. Smith, beef specialist of Texas A.M. College, and Roy Weiman, head buyer for Swift and Company.

They were auctioned by Col. Smiley of Big Spring. The program for the morning was dispensed with. At the close of the sale a luncheon was served at the farm.

The afternoon session opened with a talk by Ollie Webb, assistant to the president of the Texas & Pacific Railway. He was followed by J. M. Jones, chief of the division of range animal husbandry, Texas Agricultural Experiment station.

This afternoon's program included a statement of the feed lot performance of three lots of cattle which have been fed at the experiment farm, as well as some brief discussions upon the subject of beef cattle feeding by livestock specialists of the U. S. department of agriculture and Texas A.M. College.

A meat-culling demonstration by Roy W. Snyder, meat specialist of Texas A.M. College, extension agent of the U. S. department of agriculture, will bring the program to a close.

The yearling steers which have been fed by the farm, employes this winter were on exhibit. The steers have been fed in three lots during a period of 140 days. One lot has received a ration of ground milo heads, cottonseed meal and alfalfa; another lot, ground milo heads, cottonseed meal, cane fodder and alfalfa hay; and the third lot has received ground milo heads, cottonseed meal, cottonseed hulls, and alfalfa hay.

The yearlings will be judged and placed by Mr. Weiman this afternoon. They will be shipped to East Worth markets.

A number of prominent Hereford breeders, including I. B. Cauble of Howard county, and John M. Gist of Odessa, were in attendance.

Among visiting college officials and agricultural experts were G. W. Burpes, Texas Livestock Marketing Association of the Federal Farm Board, Fort Worth; A. L. Smith, beef specialist, A.M. college; Roy W. Sanders, meat specialist, A.M. college; M. T. Payne, state boys club agent, A.M. college; T. B. Wood, district agricultural agent, A.M. College; E. R. Eudaly, A.M. College; Ollie Webb, assistant to the president of the Texas & Pacific Railway; J. M. Jones, chief of the division of range animal husbandry, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station; John Simpson, assistant agricultural

Norris Denounces Prize Editorial

MCCOOK, Neb., May 8 (UP)—The Pulitzer prize-winning editorial "The Gentlemen From Nebraska" was denounced by United States Senator George W. Norris, whose reelection inspired the editorial as "an insult to the patriotism and intelligence of every Nebraska citizen."

The editorial, written by Charles S. Ryckman, editor of the Freeman, Neb. Tribune, was read by Senator Norris for the first time last night. Ryckman's editorial, which was recently announced as the winner of the $500 prize for the best editorial of 1930, was an analytical study of the background of Senator Norris' power in Nebraska. It dealt in part:

"Every time Norris, half the power trust or lambasts the social lobby, Nebraska gets the same amusement out of his antics that a small boy gets out of slicing a dog on an alley cat. When he shies a brickbat at a president, Nebraska has as much fun as a kid pushing over an outhouse."

The editorial called Norris "an instrument of revenge" for Nebraska people against eastern interests. "It is a sad commentary," the Nebraska senator said today, "on the intelligence of any committee that finds in it (the editorial) any literary merit."

Black-Draught Equal To The Expectations of a Bristol Man Who Tried It.

"I had heard of it so much. I thought there must be some good in it,"—a reference to Theford's Black-Draught by Mr. W. J. Rogers, a well-known Bristol man, residing in that city at 1308 Penn Avenue. Mr. Rogers said he had been using Black-Draught fifteen years, when needed, and considered it "a splendid remedy."

"One day," said Mr. Rogers, "when I needed a laxative, I decided to try Black-Draught, and I have been glad ever since that I did, as I found it to be as recommended—effective medicine for biliousness and constipation."

"I have to be out a lot, with the position I hold, and seem to be easily constipated. This makes me have dizzy spells, my head feels dull and I feel tired and worn-out. But after I take a few doses of Black-Draught, I feel fine, full of pep. Black-Draught has been quite a help to me."

Thousands of others have reported the relief of many disagreeable symptoms, due to constipation, indigestion, biliousness, following their use of this medicine.

Galveston Is Downed In 16th

GALVESTON, May 8.—Black Hill Harris weakened in the sixteenth inning yesterday and Fort Worth slipped over two runs to break up the first extra inning game of the season here 4-2.

Both Dick McCabe and Harris pitched masterful ball, being airtight in the pinches. Harris had himself to blame for not winning by a shutout for in the sixth after Moore walked, Harris threw Dalrymple's sacrifice past first base into deep right field, and both talked. The Cats counted in the sixteenth after Brown and Perry hit and another hit mixed in with an error, brought them across the plate.

Safety Amendments Given Truck Bills

AUSTIN, May 8 (UP)—"Safety First" seems also to be the slogan of legislators who have devoted much time this session to truck bills. As to some of the safety first features: As amended in the senate the bill would require every truck to have as a part of its equipment a first class fire extinguisher. Truck drivers would be required to sound their horns before approaching nearer than 200 feet of other vehicles. A senate amendment provided that brakes on trucks should function so that machines, traveling at 20 miles per hour, could be stopped still within 45 feet of the point where brakes were applied. The senate took cognizance of the necessity of certain emergency trucks being exempted from speed limitations, and wrote into the bill a provision which would allow them to operate at 40 miles per hour when on an emergency "run." However, it would limit the weight of such trucks to 6,000 pounds. Each commercial truck driver would be requested to procure a driver's license. Efforts were made to require persons transporting explosives and inflammable substances to procure special permits at $25 each, valid for one trip only, but that failed.

Governor To Be Speaker At State Bankers' Meeting

SAN ANGELO, Texas, May 8 (UP)—Governor Ross Sterling will address the Texas Bankers Association convention here May 12, the opening day, according to an announcement of the complete program here by George E. Webb, general chairman in charge of local arrangements.

A full three day program of business has been arranged, ending with committee reports, resolutions, selection of meeting place and election of treasurer and president.

The session will convene at 9:30 o'clock May 12. Following the invocation by the Rev. Grady Timmons, San Angelo Methodist pastor, Mayor Brown F. Lee of San Angelo will welcome the visitors. John G. McAdams, president of Winters, Texas, will make his report. Governor Sterling will speak in the morning. Speakers and their subjects the first day include: W. A. ### Saturday Night Matinee Picture

Charles Murray, Nita Morlan and George Sidney are stars in "Caught Cheating," a woe of a picture that will be the feature attraction of tomorrow (Saturday) night's matinee bill, opening at 11:30 p. m. at the Ritz.

Mother's Day Program Plans For Churches

Special music has been prepared by several of the churches for a Mother's Day program Sunday. At the First Methodist Church there will be solos at the morning service by Mrs. V. H. Fiewellen, Mrs. Joe Faucett and Herbert Keston. The male quartet will also render a number. The minister, the Rev. W. G. Bailey, will speak on "What Is Man?"

At the Christian Church E. B. Bethel will sing a solo at the morning service, "Mother, My Dear." The choir, directed by Mrs. L. A. Eubanks, will sing an anthem "Songs My Mother Used to Sing." Mrs. Willard Read will sing the solo parts. The minister, the Rev. D. R. Lindley, will preach a Mother's Day message.

At the evening service the male quartet of the church, Steve Baker, Virgil Smith, C. M. Shaw, and Dr. C. D. Baxley, will sing "On Calvary."

At the Presbyterian Church, the Rev. John Thorns, of the Presbyterian Church of Coahoma, will speak at both services in the absence of the pastor and will deliver a mother's day message in the morning.

Mrs. M. N. Meiner will sing a solo at the morning service and the choir will sing an anthem. The congregation will sing several of the old fashioned hymns sung by their mothers.

The Rev. R. E. Day is expected to return to Big Spring tomorrow. He will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist Church Sunday morning.

The evening service will be devoted to a Mother's Day program being prepared by Mrs. R. L. Goumion. The program will consist of musical numbers, readings by children of the congregation and a pantomime, "Mothers of Men." Mr. Oomillon will be the reader and Mrs. Bruce Frazier will have charge of the music, assisted by Mrs. Larson Lloyd.

The program will be as follows: Song, "Come Thou Almighty King"—Choir. Scripture—Prayer—Quizie Bee King. Mother's Day—Zillah Mae Ford. Children's Messages—Nora Gene Taylor, Dorothy Deen Hayward, Patsy Ruth Stalcup, Margarette Hatcher, Betty Lynn Hatcher, Anna Elmer Douglas, Margarette Jenkins, Letta Mae Miller, Max Adams, R. E. Blount, Jr., "Mother Is Never Too Weary"—Marcelle Martin.

The Love In Mother's Heart—Billie Mae Fahrenkamp. Song, "Why We Love Mother"—Emogene Lay, Francis Bledsoe, Corina Mittel, Francis Douglas, Dora Ann Hayward, Edith Johnson, Lois Whiteshead, Betty Ann Jenkins, Dorothy Lay, Josephine Mittel, Betty Womack, Lottie Lee Williams, Emily Stalcup, Billie Meser, W. T. Bolt, James Williams, W. L. Grant, Robbie McNew, Ralph Lamar, Sid Robertson, Jack Hutcheson, Ray Wilson, J. C. Clark, W. D. Cornelison.

"Mother"—Marguerite Reed. Duet, "Bringin' Blossoms"—Alta Mary Stalcup, Billie Frances Grant. "Great Mothers"—Hazel Smith. Trio, "The Song That Mother Sang"—J. C. Douglas, Trust Grant, Earl Furr.

"Just Like Mother"—June Hines. Song, "Helping Mother"—Juniors. "Mothers Hairpin"—Betty Carol Wood. Song, "God Bless Our Mothers Day"—Choir.

Pantomime, "Mothers of Men"—Mmes. R. E. Day, George Gentry, R. E. Blount, W. R. Hines, Homer McNew, W. G. Orenbaum, Mary Louise Burns, Ruth Cornelison, Joyce Blankenship, Bettie Lou Ammon, Fay Dell Whaley, L. A. Wright, Billie Haywood, R. E. Blount, Jr., Chas. Scoggins. Benediction—Rev. Day.

During the recent convention of the Sixteenth District of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Big Spring, the members drew up three resolutions expressing their stand on various questions.

Mrs. George W. Davis was made chairman of the committee to draft resolutions expressing the thanks of the organization for the stand which Senator Morris Shepherd has taken against home brew. To assist her were named Mmes. R. L. Owen, C. E. Talbot, J. M. Choate, W. R. Settles, Travis Reed and J. M. Manuel.

The contents of the resolutions follow: Whereas the Search and Seizure Law is a vicious law, put over by the wets, therefore be it resolved that we go on record as being opposed to the present Search and Seizure Law and that we petition Governor Ross Sterling to submit its repeal at next special call of the legislature.

Whereas more than fifty years ago the original Crusaders were saloons from 10,000 towns by an avalanche of prayer and public sentiment and organized the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and whereas today a wet organization of wealthy men has had the discourtesy to adopt the same name, Crusaders, and is working to bring back liquor, therefore be it resolved, since the word Crusaders is sacred to all Christian workers and the cross of Christ is synonymous with the name, Crusader, and since the wet organization calling themselves crusaders wear no cross and since the Christian emblem of true Christian workers is nowhere visible on the shield or efforts of the wets, nor is there likely to be, and since these wets have "taken the Holy or Heaven to fight the devil's battle," therefore be it resolved that we protest against misuse of the sacred name, Crusaders, and go on record as unalterably opposed to activities of such an organization and pledge ourselves to work to counteract the activities of the wets that thereby we may claim the youth of our land for prohibition.

Whereas our honored and bloodied Senator, Morris Shepherd, author of the national constitutional resolution for prohibition in the senate, which was carried by a vote of 65 to 26, has presented to Congress a resolution for abolition of home brew, therefore be it resolved that the convention of the sixteenth district of the W.C.T.U. here assembled, May 6, express their appreciation and give united cooperation in their endorsement of this most constructive act to make the United States of America a dry nation.

of the South's bolting again. Traylor has never been in politics and his public record is an open book; the voters are growing more dis- gusted daily with professional poli- ticians.

Add to those attributes, the fact that Traylor has recently leaped into international prominence through his work on the Bank for Interna- tional Settlements, and one can readily see that he would be a candi- date who undoubtedly could defeat Hoover.

Already one nationally-known poli- tical commentator has mentioned Traylor as a prospective Democratic choice. In the next few months he will be heard about considerably.

Texas Democrats could make one of the smartest moves in their history by insisting that their delegates to the next national convention go pledged to support Traylor.

HOW'S your HEALTH

It is a sound belief in medical circles that the more there is written about a disease, the less positive knowledge there is about it.

Though this appears like a paradox, it is in fact easy to understand. Positive information can be largely stated; conjectures, hypotheses, suppositions must necessarily be accumulative and hence valuable.

There are "tons" of medical literature on arthritis. And yet, in the strictly modern sense of scientific knowledge, there is relatively little known about the disease.

Arthritis is defined as a disease of uncertain origin, affecting the structure of one or more of the joints, producing deformity and loss of function.

Arthritis is one of the oldest disease conditions of which there is any record. It affected animals long before man appeared on earth. The fossil remains of reptiles bear witness to the existence of this condition.

Men of the old stone age suffered from arthritis and the disease affected the Egyptians.

Dr. Ralph Pemberton, who has made numerous studies on the subject, observes that arthritis afflicted the Greeks and the Romans, and that this affliction led in part, at least, to the establishment of the natural bathing and watering spas found in old Egypt.

Arthritis is a very widespread and common disease. It is responsible for a great deal of disability and crippling and represents a large economic problem, in so far as many of those afflicted with arthritis cannot work and become a burden to themselves and to society.

The amount of disability caused by arthritis is several times greater than that caused by tuberculosis.

There has recently been organized in this country a committee for the study of arthritis. This committee has already done good work in clarifying the problem.

A Hope to End War

World Peace committee that in- cludes many men of great repute for all of its participants. Under the leadership of State William R. Castle put his finger on the one hand, material fact that holds out real hope for those who believe in an enduring world peace.

The secretary, making his speech at Indianapolis, expressed himself thus:

"Certainly the nations are beginning more clearly to realize that war today means defeat for all participants. It means defeat because it means sooner or later a world-wide economic depression such as we have at the present time. During war there is a tremendous stimulation and industry, a stimulation which raises production far beyond normal consumption, and the readjustment is a long and very painful process—as many of us know too well."

As a matter of fact, this simple and important fact was presented to the world more than a century ago. An accident of invention kept people from recognizing its truth.

The end of the Napoleonic wars found France badly beaten and England victorious. Yet to all outward appearances England was a beaten nation. She had rolled up a national debt of unprecedented size. Her tax- ation was almost unbearable. Commerce and industry were crippled. The great fleet was supreme on the seas, but the treasury that supported the fleet was empty.

The parallel between England's condition then and in 1918 is in- structive. England's quick recovery from the Napoleonic wars was due wholly to the rise of the factory. Steam power was a new thing in the world. By trebling productive powers and making huge new markets available, it made it possible for Britain to liquidate her terrific war debt and go on to a greater pros- perity than she had ever dreamed of before.

Since 1918 no such new factor or has appeared. England again victorious in a frightfully expensive war, is being forced to admit the truth of Mr. Castle's remark—that there can be no victor in modern warfare. Yet the same lesson would have been learned a century ago if it had not been for the steam engine and the great British coal fields.

The instructive truth was hidden then. Today it cannot be ignored. In that fact there lies more hope for world peace than in all the slick- sounding treaties and international agreements ever projected.

By ROBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—No better indication of the apparent shortage of outstanding screen talent can be had than the increasing frequency with which studios call for each other for the loan of stars and featured players.

It would seem that these aren't enough bright lights to go around, so they go around quite a bit.

Conrad Nagel, who has been under contract to MGM for many years but the average fan is justified in the impression that he works for all the studios. Nagel has been borrowed more than any other player.

The lending of talent is, in most cases, decidedly advantageous to both actor and studio. The more pictures he does, the more studios work for, the water is the distribution of his fame and voice to the fan.

His studio, which might keep him on salary, gets the benefit of lack of a vehicle, not only reaps a profit from his services, but also benefits from the build-up given its star by rivals' pictures.

A West Texan in the White House

San Angelo Times
With politically-minded West- Texas interested in the in- creasingly good chances for a man from this section to be the next speaker of the House of Representa- tive, little attention has been paid to the fact that a former resident of this country might possibly be the successor to President Herbert Hoover.

The man is Melvin Traylor, one of the nation's leading financiers and a former "Bullinger" banker. His chances for the presidency are no where near as remote as might be supposed at first thought of the two- thirds majority plan prevailing at Democratic conventions, chances for a "dark horse" are always good. In the last three Democratic conventions two of such candidates have been chosen . . . James M. Cox and John W. Davis. If the Democ- rats get dandelioned on Roosevelt, Ritchie Young and the other men now prominently mentioned, the dark horse are going to come to the fore. None would stand a better chance than Traylor.

Traylor is a business man; the country wants a business man in the White House after the de- pressor. Traylor now lives in Chicago; after the miserable showing made by New York City, the Democ- rats will do well to turn to the Corp Belt. Traylor was born in Ken- cucky and got his start in business in Texas; there would be no danger

MYSTERIOUS WAY

SYNOPSIS: "Limy Doc" Simon, Gunman Gryde, "Spider" Schiller and Chink Dorson, who had kidnaped John Wayne's daughter, are tracked by him to Eng- land. They are unaware that he knows their identities and seeks revenge for the death of his daughter, caused by their treat- ment. Wayne has dropped his family name, St. Clair, the better to carry out his purpose. The detective, Mr. and Mrs. William, summon him to England after discovering Simon, Gryde and Mr. Machado in charge of a nursing home which the pair have entered, singly, as patients. In England, Wayne discovers the murder of Schiller, who has been posing as an English gentleman, by Dorson. The quarrel presu- mably being over the loot in the kidnaping case. Thus dies one of the men Wayne had marked for death, the murderer being like- wise doomed by a similar vow.

"The Best Place To Buy or Sell"
J. B. Pickle, Prop.
No. 1—1901 S. Scurry—Phone 576
No. 2—Camp Coleman

crossed a wide-lawn, apparently un- seen by any, and stepped over the broad low window-sill of the open window of what I correctly sus- cepted to be the doctor's consulting- room.

It had been my intention, in the event of such success as I had achieved, to sit me down in an arm- chair, light a cigarette, and recline at my ease until such time as Char- ters should enter his consulting- room.

I did not carry out this program in full.

I had seated myself in the deep and comfortable arm-chair which faced his desk, when, glancing idly round the beautiful old room, my eyes fell upon, and promptly noted, the great heavy velvet curtains which hung on either side of the window by which I had entered.

An impulse urged me to conceal myself behind one of them, and study my man before he saw me.

Exactly what I might gain by this I did not know.

Probably the idea was the result and product of William's training, and of the years spent in the atmosphere and environment of crookdom. I did not so much argue, as feel, that it would be a sound thing to do, probably giving me some advantage over my vic- tim, or rather the man whom I hoped would be my victim.

Rising from my chair and straightening its cushions, I stepped behind the curtain that was nearest to the desk, settled myself as comfortably as I could, and draped the curtain in front of me.

Fortunately it was not only voluminous, but hung from a cur- tain-pole that stood out a foot from the top of the window.

I was comfortably ensconced, completely hidden, both from with- in and without, and perfectly safe, but could see nothing. This disability I remedied later, by taking out my pocket-knife and cutting a small slit in a fold of the curtain where it bulged in toward me, when Charters was out of the room.

I reflected, undoubtedly my impulses had been a sound one. I might, if I chose, hide in the house until a real air of mystery would surround my discovery; I might, if lucky, by remaining where I was, overhear with benefit to my plans conversation between Charters and Machado or Gryde; I might, by waiting, watching, and listening, learn which of his female staff were "Frisco Fanny and Louie the Lady," beloved by William to be respectively his own and his son's wife.

And at least I could choose my own dramatic comment for con- fronting him, and starting that reign of terror which I hoped to inaugurate.

According to his daily custom, exactly as William H. Williams had told me, the man Charters bustled into the room and set about his afternoon's work.

Nor was it long before I was lis- tening, with breathless interest, and boiling indignation, to what was obviously a plot between him and the relative of one of his patients for the murder of that patient.

Not for nothing had I associated with, listened to, and watched some of the worst and wickedest criminals in the world.

These two—the faces of both of whom I could, now, thanks to the cut in the curtain, clearly un- derstand each other, and their conversation and was a marvel of conciseness and compression.

When the woman scribbled some- thing on a scrap of paper and Charters, having glanced at it, crumpled it and threw it into the waste-paper basket, I knew that I had the key to whatever, otherwise cryptic, cipher it might contain.

(Late that night I recovered it and found that the woman had merely written upon it the figure one, and four moughts. Ten thou- sand. The price of a girl's life, as I knew from what I'd heard. And it was then that I thanked the im- pulse—or the Power—that had sent me, melodramatically play-acting if you will, behind my curtain.)

Later, when Charters was alone, his face turned from the, his eyes covered by his hand, I stepped silently from my hiding-place and, as he looked up, was between him and the window.

To the hour of his death he must have believed that I had that moment stepped silently into the room from the lawn without.

I thank God that it was not so.

The morning after my arrival at the Monastery, entering the dining- room to display myself to my fel- low-patients, and to play my show- part of a person irresponsible and eccentric to the point of lunacy, I came face to face—and I know I can scarcely write the word with unflinching hand— with the man whose name I had heard to move the curtain, and did not cut the tiny slit until she had gone out of the room.

"Rosemary!" I gasped, in utter amazement, utter incredulity. "Had I become insane indeed?"

For the girl, sitting and smiling opposite to me, was Rosemary's self as Rosemary must have been had she lived.

I had not seen her face when she was in the consulting-room, for I had, at that early moment, feared to move the curtain, and did not cut the tiny slit until she had gone out of the room.

This was a girl who might be of any age from 18 to 21 or 22, and so amazingly, so miraculously like Rosemary that, at the age of 12, she must have been Rosemary's indistinguishable twin and double—or as I say, had Rosemary lived, thus must she have been to the last detail.

Almost I went to her and took her in my arms.

Almost—and for the first time since Rosemary died—I broke down and lost control of voice and lips and tears.

Colleagues May Honor Senator J. W. E. H. Beck

AUSTIN, Texas, May 8 (AP)—Friends of Senator J. W. E. H. Beck of DeKalb, chairman of the senate finance committee, have started a move to elect him pres- ident pro tem ad interim of the Tex- as senate.

There was some speculation as to who would serve as president pro tem of the senate during the 43rd session. Edgar Witt, lieuten- ant governor, and the senate's pre- siding officer, on numerous occa- sions allowed members of the senate to try their hands at presiding.

Senator Berkeley of Alpine, au- thor of the cigaret tax amendment, has taken the chair possibly more than any of the other members out- side of Senator Hardin of Stephen- son county.

Senator Purif of Dallas, the "rap- id fire" type of presiding officer, is a great hand at putting over his points when his presides as a Sen- ator Hochbrook of Galveston.

To date Texas' only woman sen- ator, Miss Margie Neal of Carthage, has not taken over the gavel to pre- side.

Original Play by Mrs. Lee Weathers Put On By Children

The program at the South Ward P.T.A. which met yesterday afternoon at the school consisted of an original composition by Mrs. Lee Weathers, entitled, "Musical Dreams."

During the business session Mrs. Emory Duff resigned as president, and Mrs. Wayne Rice, first vice-president, was voted in as new president. Mrs. A. L. Cone, who is leaving the city, resigned as secretary and Mrs. Arthur Atkins was elected as secretary.

The program was opened with a reading by Debra McAlister, "What Music Means to Me." The following children took part in the play: Mary, Jacqueline Fawcett, Kathleen Underwood, fairy Jane Lay Miller, Miss Muffet, Dorothy Lay, Bo-Peep, Nettie Jean Carter, Miss Ethelton, Audrey Cone, Jack and Jill, Hester Brown and Carol Wydos; Jack Horner, John Phillip Miller, Boy Blue, Andy Brewer, Puss-in-Boots, Billie Hugh Fletcher; Indians, Janice Slaughter, Ina Barnard, Coryn Murdoch, Betty Dooley, Marj Williams, Delilah Williams, Dorothy Ward, Rita May Bigney, Lydia Ann, Duff, Betty Tessier, Martha Cochran, Virginia Queen, Mildred Barlow, soldiers, Earl McAlpine, Handell Elkins, Ollie Mince, Wendell Woods, Grady Goolby, Dick Jamieson, Bob Schultz, Donald Grooms, boys chorus, Harold Neel, W. D. Hardesty, Dan Greenwood, Hugh Hallett, Morris Bates, Bobbie Jean Ryles, Roy Knarpe.

The mystery package was won by Miss Paxton's room for having the most mothers present.

The association voted to allow Mrs. Ada Ramsey to run the cafeteria next September if she wishes to do so.

MILK SHOULD BE ADDED TO WAFFLE BATTER GRADUALLY

This Method Insures a Smooth, Light, Lumpless Batter

Every cook knows that it is risky to pour all the milk at once into the bowl when making waffles. In spite of vigorous stirring the batter will invariably contain lumps.

Realizing this, Hills Bros. in San Francisco, perfected and patented a process that roasts every coffee berry evenly. By automatic control, only a few pounds at a time pass through the roasters, in which heat is also automatically controlled. When the coffee finally leaves the roasters, it is perfectly uniform in color and roast and gives a delicious flavor in the cup that no other coffee can equal.

Relic of Past Preserved in Hitching Post

There's a useless ornament on the courthouse curbing that means more to the oldtimers of Big Spring today than any other decoration on the whole lawn.

It dates back to the days of horse-drawn vehicles. It dates farther back than that—to the days of a horse-drawn water supply.

The ornament is the iron hitching post on the east side. Everybody has seen it there.

But not everybody knows that it is a piece of iron pipe from a water well dug on the courthouse square, in the city's attempt to get artesian water.

The well was located south of the present fire station. Its success meant much to the city. That was before the days of the Alderman family who built the water works; all the water Big Spring had for domestic purposes was bought from a carrier who peddled it up and down the streets in barrels.

The well-diggers struck only salt. Clay Read recalls the incident. It was 400 feet of solid clean salt, he says. Yet it was not the salt that discouraged Big Spring; it was an accident to the digging apparatus. Something mysteriously happened to cut the rope and the bit fell into the well and the well was abandoned.

For a while the water ran up down the street until its salinity began to affect the trees near the Pottion place where the Crawford Hotel now is. To save the trees and to keep from making an unnecessarily deep gully across the street, the well was plugged and forgotten.

Mr. Read says that if they had gone deeper they might have struck oil. As it is, a fine bed of salt is known to be there. As it was, the town had to wait until the Aldermans came and bought up the present site of the City Park and found water enough for the city out there.

Garden Club Hears Talk On Flower Boxes

The Home Garden Club met at the clubhouse Thursday afternoon and studied the planting of flower boxes and porch boxes.

Mrs. Morgan suggested that the ferns were good for boxes not exposed to the strong winds; that all boxes should contain a trailing vine, such as vines or wandering Jew, to fall over the outside and soften the outlines. She suggested that foliage plants, or evergreens be planted in boxes on the north side rather than flower plants which required much sunshine.

For blooming plants, nasturtiums, petunias, geraniums and lantana were named for boxes. The speaker also reminded her listeners that the boxes should be painted the color of the house and that the flowers should provide the contrasting note. In a few cases the boxes could be painted with the contrasting shade, but the idea is that the contents of the boxes be the conspicuous note and that the boxes be inconspicuous.

Simple Lunches to Tempt Fickle School Appetites

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON, Director, Home Economics Dept., H. J. Heins Company. Planning luncheon for the children—and having it ready when they come—home hungry from school—is a problem that constantly confronts millions of women. And about this time of year the task becomes a even harder, since fresh spring fruits and vegetables are not yet procurable in most markets, and children are tiring of the foods served through the long winter months.

The school lunch is a most important meal, too. While little surprises—in the way of new dishes, or cold omelets dressed up a bit—are invaluable in making it a bright and happy occasion, the menu must be well-balanced, and should include a generous amount of the milk so necessary for growing children.

Below are a number of easily prepared lunches that have been worked out with busy mothers in mind. And they have been carefully planned to appeal to the children, too.

Cream of Tomato Soup. Buttered Toast. Pineapple Pinwheel Salad. Rolls. Milk.

Creamed Eggs on Toast. Apple Butter. Muffins or Rolls. Milk or Cocoa.

Cooked Spaghetti in Tomato Sauce. Waldorf Salad. Brown Bread Sandwiches Made with Sandwich Relish. Milk.

Sunshine Girls Give Park Picnic

Spend Evening Enjoying Reminiscences With Mrs. McDowell

One of the most delightful of the many courtesies shown Mrs. J. I. McDowell during her brief visit in Big Spring was a weiner roast given at the City Park Tuesday evening.

Present and former members of the Sunshine girls Sunday school sang in the First Presbyterian church, with the Bible Study class, met for an evening of reminiscing. Mrs. McDowell claims the distinction of having members of her class feel that "once a member always a member," so as the years passed the class membership never decreased.

Consensus of the gathering was that in a faithful and very efficient teacher Mrs. McDowell influenced many into useful paths of activity, the work of the class as a whole having always abounded in deeds of loving kindness, in words of good cheer and virtually radiated sunshine to many small, dark corners.

Those who participated in this happy occasion were: Misses Agnes Currie, Elizabeth Crain, Elsie Jeanette Barnett, Bertrice Earley, Naomi Lee, Irene Knauis, Alms Ruechart, Ethel Bradley, Gertrude McIntyre, Andrea Walker, Yallie True, Mesdames J. I. McDowell, W. W. Crenshaw, C. W. Cunningham, T. S. Currie, Harry Covert, Harry Covert, Jr., R. V. Tucker, Robert Parks, Herbert Stanley, Florence McNew, Dalton Mitchell, L. C. Dahme, James Little, Marshall McGree, J. P. Watkins, O. Dubberly, J. R. Debridge, J. V. Davis, Emory Duff, McDonald.

Mrs. Harry Hart and son, Harry, Jr., and Mrs. M. K. House left this afternoon for Abilene to spend Mother's Day with their mothers and grandparents.

Dr. Rea, prominent American Specialist in the science of internal medicine, authorized by the State official Medical Examiners, Citizens National Military Training Camps. Has special diploma in diseases of children. Treating diseases without surgical operation.

Dr. Rea specializes in stomach, liver and intestinal diseases, as complicated with other diseases. He does not operate for chronic appendicitis, gall stones, stomach ulcers, tonsils, small tumors, skin cancer, tubercular glands, hemorrhoids, varicose veins treated with the hypodermic injection method. Very effective and quickly done.

Dr. Rea is an experienced practitioner in medicine and applies his efforts in the interest of those diseases he is best qualified to treat. He has one of the largest individual practices in the State, and has had years of experience in diagnosing and treating special diseases. He insists that there is only one way to treat disease and that is the "real" way, and that when the disease is once fully understood, the most important question is to treat it successfully, which can only be done by one who is experienced and has the necessary medicines and equipment available.

If failing and not getting any better see Dr. Rea at this time, delays do not help your cause; they just prolong your illness. Consultation and examination free to those interested. Married women come with their husbands and children with their parents.

Water Bucket

The Mike Hicks case is driving 'em crazy. Hicks is at Roscoe one day, and Sweetwater the next, so they say. He has been going to school at Roscoe, and working out with the Sweetwater football club this spring. He has one of those off again, on again, gone again Finigan complexes it seems. Now the status seems to be that the great gridster will spend the rest of his high school life in his native village of Roscoe, leaving Sweetwater to fill his shoes if that desire is held. He has been elected captain of the 1931 Roscoe Plowboys, and it's against the rules for the captain of the 1931 Roscoe Plowboys to play in the Sweetwater backfield. So it seems that Hicks, after breaking into print with usual regularity for these many months, again will give Roscoe the benefit of his prowess upon the gridiron. It is just as well if Hicks isn't in a Big Spring uniform next year we would much prefer he remain at Roscoe for the rest of his days.

We understand, though our source of information may be wrong, that Cecil Reid and Ruby Smith are representing the local high school at the state meet at Austin. Reid is Bill Stevens' mile man, and not a bad one at that. The girl happens to be the district tennis champion, and departs for Austin with a strong racket under her arm. Reid should be not become imbued with the same kind of feeling that the basketball aggregation did when it invaded Austin, should do well in the state mile engagement. There may be better runners, but they won't have any prettier stride than the lengthy athletes can boast of.

The City League schedule will get back underway this afternoon with the Mexican Tigers playing their third straight contest of the week. They will clash with Coahuila at some time between 5 and 8:30 p. m. Sunday afternoon Coahuila and the Bankers will meet at Coahuila. A couple of negro baseball teams will occupy the local ball emporium Saturday and Sunday. Should the Tigers manage to take Coahuila, like they took the Bankers and Escobedo's nine they will be looking into the environment of the top berth of the City League ladder. Just who will do the mound duty for the Mexicans today is rather problematical. In the last week they have used three—Yanex, Salgado and Lopez.

The timely casualty of the night contest was brought down on the shoulders of Bruce Nesbitt, left fielder. He misjudged a high fly, fell down, and as a result has a crick in his neck. Carlo Madison developed a charleyhorse when called out on a close decision at first. Stan played all, or nearly all, of the men he selected for the game. The lights bothered all of them, so they said.

But they didn't bother the apt receipts to any great extent.

Ex-Soldier Will Be Honored for Heroism

SAN ANTONIO, May 8 (UP)—A soldier's medal, first to be awarded locally, has been received at Eighth Corps area headquarters and will be presented to Cleophas C. Burnett, former member of the Sixty-Second Service Squadron, at Brooks Field at a date to be arranged.

Burnett, who now resides in Tulsa, Oklahoma, was awarded the medal for saving two young women from drowning in a San Antonio swimming pool August 14, 1928.

Burnett has asked that the presentation take place at Brooks field and for the ceremony will be made by Lieut. Col. Henry H. Claggett, Brooks field commander.

The reward was announced soon after the rescue, but the design for the medal was just recently approved.

Quinn Rainfall For Month Above 4 Inches

QUANAH, May 8 (UP)—Total rainfall during April for Quanah and vicinity amounted to 4.10 inches, with 1.30 inches falling on the 29th.

April's precipitation brings the total many are for the last seven months beginning October 1 to 14.4 inches. Of this amount 5.01 inches have fallen this year and 19.15 inches during closing three months of 1930. This does not include 8.30 inches of snow which fell during March.

The last season is in the ground in many years, and agricultural prospects are very bright throughout this section. Wheat and other grains are in excellent condition. Farmers are setting fields in shape for cotton and feed plantings, and some fields have already been planted.

Sugar Enables Houston Port to Break Records

HOUSTON, May 8 (UP)—Since the beginning of 1931 sugar has meant more to Houston as a sweetener for coffee or a topping for griddle cakes.

It has enabled the port of Houston to shatter all monthly records for customs collections. During the current 30 days these collections totaled more than $300,000 and $17,000 of this amount was contributed by one shipment of sugar consisting of 65,000 bags.

First Aid Kit Urged For Every Automobile

EL PASO, May 8 (UP)—A first aid kit should be carried in every automobile, in the opinion of W. E. Longfellow, first aid life saving official of the Red Cross.

More than 1,000,000 persons probably will be injured in automobiles this year and between 20,000 and 40,000 killed, he said, and a first aid kit will save the lives of some.

He advises a generally accepted antiseptic, a stimulant for shock, a roll of bandage, some adhesive plaster and a small pair of scissors as additions to the automobile's standard equipment.

Longfellow has studied first aid in police and fire departments throughout the United States, and during the World War assisted the government with first aid problems.

Brady Council Seeks To Prevent Floods

BRADY, Texas, May 8 (UP)—Plans are being considered by E. L. Jones, mayor, and members of the city council to prevent further flood trouble from the occasional destructive visits of the meandering and ordinarily harmless Brady Creek to the public square.

The present plan is to spend about $2,000 to $4,000 to cut the brush and straighten some of the banks in the stream thus aiding in the flood control. A committee was appointed to consider the plan.

Three men, who Simonson had picked up in El Paso, were later arrested charged with theft of the car. They were lodged in jail.

Fort Crockett Planes Practice With Kelly

SAN ANTONIO, May 8 (UP)—Thirty-six planes from the Third Attack group at Fort Crockett recently spent a day practicing with Kelly field planes, preparatory to taking part in the annual air corps maneuvers to be held in the east. On May 12 the Third Attack planes and 120 planes from Kelly Field will take off for Chicago, Dayton, New York and Washington to join an air fleet which will total 672 planes.

Can Birds Alight On Wires Without Shock

EL PASO, May 8 (UP)—Can birds which alight on electrically-charged, uninsulated wires be shocked? The answer is: They can—under certain conditions. For example, if they're too affectionate.

Recently a pigeon was brought to the office of an electrical company here, sans tail and wing feathers, all burned away, and indisputably lifeless. Evidence was the bird had taken a bath, and feathers still wet, had alighted on a high-tension line, alongside a row of his fellows. On another parallel line was another row of pigeons. Engineers were not prepared to say a "necking" party took place, but explained the pigeon who was all wet got too close to another on the opposite wire. An electrical current was made, and a neat electrician con summated.

Such contacts and closed currents, it was explained, frequently occur among pigeons and larger birds.

HOME-TOWN TALK

By REDDY

A tall, bespectacled man walked into the city secretary's office yesterday morning as your humble servant happened to be hanging around.

He was the representative of the firm that annually makes the complete audit of the city's books and accounts.

He pulled out the completed audit. City Manager Smith came in to ask the city secretary for some papers. "We're going to try to build a city hall and don't plan to raise the tax rate," said the city manager to the auditor.

"All of which this report shows you can do," the auditor replied forthwith.

The conversation ended there and the auditor went ahead with his conference with City Secretary Stewart.

But the auditor's response to the impromptu remark of the city manager struck us as being additional weight to the figures submitted to the board of city development and the citizenship by the city manager, showing why and how the proposed city hall bond issue can be voted and issued without raising the tax rate or valuations.

As mentioned a few days ago in this column many of us need to acquaint ourselves more fully with workings of our city government.

Following publication of the statement that this bond issue could be floated without raising the tax rate or valuations a lot of people scratched their heads and asked "how in thunder can you build a city hall without any money?"

Which, of course, was clear off the track.

No, sir! You can't build a city hall for nothing—it will take exactly $250,000.

But, fortunately, the city is in a position to issue bonds to that amount without increasing the present city tax rate or increasing property valuations for tax purposes.

Midland is following the practice that the city of Big Spring proposes following if the city hall bonds are voted. Native rock from a stone quarry 15 miles east of Midland is being used as chert for the new street paving program there. Local officials propose building a reinforced concrete structure and using rock from nearby quarry, hauled by local labor and used in the construction by local labor.

Midland's policy of choosing "local labor" is to require that all who receive jobs must have been a resident of the county since January 1.

Mrs. Joyce Fisher, president of the City Federation, informs us our statement yesterday, that the Federation planned "abandoning" the clubhouse on the courthouse block, as well as the library there is inaccurate.

She tells us the federation has plans for forming a County Federation and enlarging the library, and that there are no definite plans for disposing of the clubhouse. If it were disposed of in bedsteadness against, of course, would be cared for.

Let us hope a much larger library will be formed here. It is nothing short of pitiful that we have no facilities for a library of the size and usefulness that a city of this size merits.

Far be it from us to belittle the valiant efforts of the Federation. It has led the way in initiative and labor in many instances and has already pioneered the library. And right here we pledge any co-operation or assistance we may participate in to a position to offer in enlarging and strengthening the library.

Baby Hurt Fatally, Mother and Children Injured In Crash

DALLAS, May 7 (AP)—Harold Dean Foltz, five months old, died at a hospital here today, after his mother, Mrs. Harry Foltz, and three other children, Doris, Anna and Doland, were in a serious condition as a result of an automobile collision on the Fort Worth-Dallas pike.

All lived at Borger.

Harry Foltz, Mrs. Foltz's husband, was riding in another machine, was uninjured.

Girl In Feeder Club Ranks

Nellie Mae Robinson of the Robinson chapel community east of here is the only girl who will exhibit a baby beef Friday at the Feeder Day rally at the government experiment farm. She is shown here with "Wilks," ten months old Hereford calf, which will be among those judged and sold at auction Friday.

Four months ago Nellie Mae Robinson bought from the Wilkinson ranch in western Howard county this Hereford calf. She named him "Wilks," a nickname for the animal's native ranch.

"Wilks" weighed 410 pounds at six months and was purchased for $30. He now weighs about 800 pounds.

This 100 per cent increase in weight of the baby beef was brought about by feeding home grown feeds, including 1,545 1-2 pounds of ground milo, 1,389 1-4 pounds of ground hagar, 312 1-4 pounds of cotton seed meal—which cost a total of $29.93.

Miss Robinson will have this calf on exhibition tomorrow at the government farm when all 4-H Club feeders will show their fat calves, which will be judged and auctioned.

RELATION OF CREDIT TO GOOD CITIZENSHIP EUBANKS' TOPIC BEFORE CLASS AT HIGH SCHOOL

An obligation honestly consummated is proof of good citizenship, declared L. A. Eubanks, manager of the Retail Merchants Association and a prominent figure among credit men of the country, in an address Thursday before the Citizenship Class taught at high school Superintendent W. C. Blankenship.

It was one of a series of addresses by local business and professional men before this class.

Mr. Eubanks said:

All laws are based on the rights of the people. Citizenship is based on the complying with the laws of a country. Then if citizenship is based on the laws and laws are based on rights, then honor comes in. Honor means honesty. To be a good citizen you must be honest and here is where credit makes its appearance. We have two types of citizens, good and bad. The country is basically sound because the majority of the people are the good, upright, honorable law-abiding type and this class is the credit using and credit granting people. Honesty and integrity are the basic laws of civilization and the United States of America was founded by a civilized people that were honest with themselves and their fellow man. Then we find that an obligation honestly consummated is proof of good citizenship.

Founded On Credit

America was founded by credit. Columbus got a loan from a lady financier so that he could make the trip across the uncharted waters and discover this country. Credits have continued in America until this day. Without credit we are bankrupt. Our present financial condition is not caused by over-production or by machinery taking the place of labor but by the pinch-

I.C.C. Examiner Unable to Say When T.P.N. Recommendation Will Be Given to Commission

(Special To The Herald)

WASHINGTON, May 7—Examiner John H. Davis, of the interstate commerce commission, who presided at the hearing at Lubbock on the application of the Texas Pacific Northern on proposed railway construction from Big Spring to Vega, was unable to predict to what date he would be ready to present to the commission, although briefs filed in the application have all been in the hands of the federal body since April 1.

In view of the volume of testimony presented by several score witnesses, and the size of the briefs subsequently submitted the examiner feels that additional time is required to study the situation. It is not expected, therefore, that any definite action can be taken before midsummer.

For some time after the reports are placed in the hands of the commission, interveners will be permitted to file exceptions in case they are dissatisfied with the report, and after these are all received an oral argument on the application will be held in Washington.

Bond Issue Kept Alive In Face of Adverse Ballot

AUSTIN, May 7 (AP)—The proposed amendment to the constitution for submission of a highway bond issue failed of the necessary two-thirds majority for passage in the house Wednesday by 12 votes. There were 83 yeas and 53 nays recorded.

Immediately before the vote was closed Representative Beck of Fort Worth, one of the leading advocates for the bond issue, changed his vote from yeas to nays and when the vote was announced he moved to reconsider and spread on the journal, keeping the resolution alive for further action.

Two members, Representatives Long of Wichita Falls and Sherrill of Bellevue voted present. Sherrill, committed to vote for the resolution, had paired with Long and declined to break the pair. After Long had been forced to attend the session by Adj. Gen. William Sterling and Ranger Wheatley.

Long was accused of "hiding out" to keep from breaking the pair. He said he was at his residence and that Adj. General Sterling and Wheatley almost broke his door down trying to gain entrance to his apartment. Long said Sterling declared he was acting under authority of a resolution passed by the House directing the arrest of members not attending the session. Long said Sterling stated he also had an opinion from the attorney general's office saying he had authority to compel Long to attend.

Long retorted the argument from T. H. McGregor of Austin, one of the chief opponents of the bond issue. The session grew stormy when Representative Petch offered a resolution directing the speaker to issue warrants for the arrest of absent members who were not ill. This aroused opposition from several advocates of the resolution. The house passed itself under call immediately after lunch and Petch claimed the sergeant-at-arms had "read" two members who had paired, but that they refused to attend.

Petch withdrew the resolution after Representatives Anderson and Mayton of San Antonio, and others moved their attacks on the tactics of bond issue proponents.

Beck indicated an effort would be made to bring the bond issue up again when proponents had marshaled their forces.

Representative Barron of Sherman had paired with Representative Adkins of Gilmer. Barron did not vote. He said Adkins was in a hospital.

Several attempts by opponents to amend the resolution failed.

One proposed that $180,000,000 be inserted in the amendment as its share of the $112,000,000 issue proposed to reimburse counties for funds expended on the state highway system. It was tabled, 70 to 41.

An amendment by Representative Laird of Lufkin directing the legislature from appropriating funds from general revenue to pay the bonds was defeated. Laird contended the amendment would prevent the legislature from levying a tax on real or personal property to pay the bonds, but that it contained nothing to prevent the legislature from making appropriations from the general revenues after the money had been collected.

Another amendment by Laird to hold the election in November, 1932, instead of 1931, also was defeated, bond advocates asserting the need for relief was so pressing that the election should be held as soon as possible. Laird declared thousands of persons had not paid their poll taxes and that any vote in 1932 would not be fair.

Representative Burns of Brady offered an amendment to tie the $112,000,000 construction issues together so that one part could not be adopted, and the other defeated. It was tabled, 74 to 29.

Voting for submission were: Adams of Houston, Adams of Jasper, Adamson of Denison, Abritton of Yorktown, Anderson of San Antonio, Bedford of Galveston, Boyd of Decatur, Bradley of Houston, Bryant of Memphis, Burns of Huntsville, Carpenter of Bay City, Caven of Marshall, Coltrin of Matlock, Cox of Paris, Cunningham of Eastland, Daniel of Crockett, Davis of Brownwood, Dodd of Nash, Dovel of Luling, Dunlap of Kingsville, Duval of Fort Worth, Dwyer of San Antonio, Finn of Sunset, Forbes of Weatherford, Ford of McGregor, Gilbert of Cisco, Grogan of Liberty, Hatchett of Wichita Falls, Harless of El Paso, Harrison of Brookshire, Rerick of Engle, Hill of Laredo, Hines of Linden, Holden of Lancaster, Holland of Houston, Howley of Albany, Hubbard of New Boston, Jackson of El Paso, Jones of Center, Jones of Jourdanton, Johnson of Carrizo Springs, Johnson of Dalhart, Johnson, Omaha, Justice of Corsicana, Kayton of San An-

Under direction of Mrs. E. B. Stanfield this group of primary pupils of Ackerly school has attracted much attention in public gatherings of Howard and Dawson counties. The leader, shown facing the other members, is little Miss Jackie Watts. She is also a soloist, at the age of six years. Other members, from left to right, are: Lavergne Cooksey, Totsy Raspberry, Quannah Gene Fendergrass, Dea Margaret Coleman, Catherine Reese, Marie Green, V. L. Butts, Dean Coleman, Wanda Hinson, Elva Ruth Graham, R. A. Guthrie, Hattie Crain and Raymond Green, who also plays a ukulele and sings. All these youngsters are six years of age except five, who are seven and eight. They recently played in Lamesa and have been invited to Big Spring.

Field Day At U.S. Farm Will Attract Many

Feeder Club Herefords To Be Auctioned; Test of Feeds Ends

Annual field day will be observed Friday at the United States government experiment farm, one mile north of Big Spring, with a huge display of Hereford calves which have been fed by 4-H Club boys and officials of the farm during the winter months.

The day's program will open at 9:30 a. m., and will close in the afternoon with a most exciting demonstration by Roy W. Snyder, extension meat specialist of A. & M. College. Local butchers have been issued an invitation to attend this part of the program in particular.

The day will be featured by auction of 20 Hereford calves which have been fed by nine members of the Feeder Club, composed of eight boys and one girl. The calves will be on display at the farm prior to the auction. All of the calves, it is expected, will be sold locally and record prices are expected.

A thirty Hereford yearlings, which have been fed in three lots by the government farm officials, will not be sold at auction, but will be shipped to Fort Worth markets. It was announced today by Fred Keating, manager of the farm.

Afternoon

The afternoon's program, which will follow a luncheon, will be featured by the talks by J. N. Jones, head of the animal husbandry department of Texas A. & M. College, and Ollis Webb, assistant to the president of the Texas & Pacific Railway. There will be other short talks.

Mr. Jones will go into detail regarding the results of the feeding program which has been strictly observed by employees of the farm this year.

During the morning M. T. Payne, state boys' club agent, will speak on the past played by club boys in the breeder-feeder movement.

A. I. Smith, extension beef cattle specialist of A. & M. College, will judge the calves which have been fed by the club members. Short talks will be made by I. B. Caudle, prominent Hereford breeder of Howard county, and John Simpson, assistant Texas and Pacific railway agricultural agent.

Hubert Hayward of Coshoma, club member, will open the day's program with a talk on the purpose of the Feeder Club and show. Each of the club members will make reports of their feeding operations.

The auction of the club members' calves will be held at 10:30 o'clock in the morning.

A large crowd of Howard County farmers and Big Spring business men are expected to visit the farm during the day.

The government farm cattle and those fed by the club boys will be on exhibit at all hours during the day.

Among prominent men who will be here for the field day are E. W. Barnes of the Federal Farm, Beef, Fort Worth, and Ray Womack, cattleshayer for Swift & Co.

Mr. Earne will grade the experiment farm animals and place a valuation on them.

Development of Potash Deposits State's Object

AUSTIN, May 7 (INS)—R. E. Gragg, state labor commissioner, announced today representatives of his department had been detailed to negotiate for immediate opening of potash fields adjacent to Odessa, in Ector, Midland and Crane counties.

This was the first step, he said, in his movement to develop every means of bringing more avenues of employment to Texas workers.

It is known, according to a statement from Gragg, that a large development company holds leases on tracts near Odessa containing well defined deposits of potash. Representatives of the labor department were dispatched to confer with holders of the leases, in an attempt to induce them to begin operations immediately. He pointed out that conditions of world trade indicate there is an ever-increasing demand for potash and all of its by-products and these products do not come in competition with other American products.

The labor commissioner said his efforts to catalogue the undeveloped natural resources of the state and to compile a list of industrial and manufacturing enterprises needed have elicited prompt and definite information. He is now undertaking the task of bringing these opportunities to the attention of investors, he said. The task he has set for himself, Gragg declared, has evoked widespread interest.

Giant X-Ray Tube May Aid Cancer Work

Dr. Lauritsen Supervises Assembling of New Apparatus

BY JAMES E. HILLMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Calif., May 7.—Research work to be carried on with the second million-volt X-ray tube constructed at California Institute of Technology here, may bring scientists a step nearer in their efforts to combat cancer. The giant tube is 14 feet long and about three feet in diameter. It is a replica of the world's largest X-ray tube also at the institute.

Dr. C. C. Lauritsen, scientist, supervised the assembling of the new X-ray apparatus, as well as the original tube.

The second X-ray apparatus was constructed to enable scientists and leading physicians to carry on extensive experiments which they hoped will result in success. The original tube was made primarily for the study of high-potential X-rays. Scientists and physicians, however, discovered from experiments the powerful rays could penetrate a tumor in any part of the body. Hence the second tube was assembled to permit further experiments in cancer research, leaving the first tube free for high-potential X-ray experiments.

Dr. Lauritsen directed the pumping out of the new tube to produce a vacuum. This was done with a mercury vapor pump which worked so efficiently that when the last stages of vacuum were reached there was only one-one-hundredth of an atmosphere of atmosphere left in the giant tube, thus creating almost a perfect vacuum. So powerful are the rays which emanate from the X-ray tube that it is hung in a concrete vault with walls nearly a foot thick, sheathed with lead two inches thick. Extreme caution is necessary in experimenting with the strong X-rays, as it is possible to create a 35-foot arc of electricity from the four 250,000-volt transformers which supply power for the tube. More hazardous, however, are the high-potential rays created by the tube. In order to guard those working with the instrument from stray rays, the vault is lined with lead. Lead absorbs the powerful rays more readily than other metals.

Students Get Message From Dying Prexy

Dr. S. P. Brooks Signing Diplomas for Baylor Graduates

WACO, Texas, May 7 (UP)—From his death-bed in the Baptist Sanitarium here, Dr. S. P. Brooks, 67-year-old president of Baylor University today issued to the student body a "message from prexy."

Dr. Brooks, suffering with cancer infection and given only two weeks to live, told Dean W. S. Allen to "tell the students I had a good night, but don't tell them I'm better for I have 'internal information' to the contrary."

Out on the campus the words sped from mouth to mouth as students gathered under the oak trees that shade the campus of the first institution of higher learning. A feeling of suspense replaced chatter of baseball and track prospects. Quietly students passed to and from classes.

The veteran educator began the task of signing 428 diplomas at the rate of 60 per day despite warning from his physicians that he needed all his strength to fight off the deadly disease. But smiling grimly Dr. Brooks said "I can't disappoint the graduates," said Dr. Brooks' condition was practically unchanged.

At noon physicians "said" Dr. Brooks' condition was practically unchanged.

Local Child Suffers Second Injury While Going After Flowers

Flowers apparently bear a jinx for Lincoln Hinch, Jr., 3 1/2 year old, son of L. A. Hinch, manager of the Montgomery Ward & Company store here.

The child is in Dallas suffering from a fractured leg and a minor concussion caused when he was struck by an automobile on the Fort Worth-Dallas pike Wednesday as he left the Hinch car to gather blue bonnets for his father.

Lincoln had just recovered from fracture of the collar bone, received when he fell while gathering roses.

Mr. Hinch, who with his family had spent several days in Fort Worth and Dallas on business and visiting relatives, returned here Wednesday. Mrs. Hinch is with the injured child.

The Auto Supply & Repair Co., 216-18 W. 3rd street, is being opened for business by Eck Lovelace and John Price, who have been connected with the automobile service business here for more than ten years.

Fred Eaker will be in charge of the mechanical department. A filling station and stocks of tires and accessories will be offered. Tube vulcanizing service also is included in the firm's operations.

Three Men Perish When Ship Rams Tub Boat

NEW YORK, May 7 (AP)—Three men were believed to have perished today when an eastern steamship liner New York rammed and sank the tugboat Trimount in a heavy fog in Long Island Sound.

The missing were tugboat crewmen.

Sterilization of Mentally Defective Urged By Texas Medical Men at Convention

BEAUMONT, Texas, May 7.—Sterilization of the mentally defective was advocated before the public health section of the Texas State Medical Association, in an annual convention here yesterday, by Dr. O. L. Norworthy of San Antonio, Dr. John S. Turner of Dallas, and others.

The sterilization operation is safe, easy, painless and painless under local anesthesia, the section was told. America spends huge sums up-bredding hogs, cattle, dogs and even garden seed, Dr. Turner pointed out, but has done little toward purification of the blood stream of her citizens.

The section adopted a resolution calling on the house of delegates, executive body of the association, to appoint a committee to investigate state sterilization.

"How we can control cancer" was the topic of today's most important general lecture, given by Dr. John C. Kloodgood of Baltimore. "Sectional meetings are being held by various divisions of doctors. Approximately 700 members of the association are attending.

The convention closes today. Amarillo, Fort Worth and Waco are chief bidders for next year's meeting.

Two Indicted On Pro Count

Eight True Bills Returned By May Term Grand Jury

The Howard county grand jury indicted S. L. Everhart and L. W. Shidley by indictment on charges of possession for sale and sale of intoxicating liquor, following their arrest Tuesday.

The two men were among several arrested by members of the sheriff's department, assisted by federal officers in a raid conducted Tuesday.

Each of the men was indicted for selling liquor to M. M. Wood and C. E. Repper. They were arrested this morning and new bonds arranged.

The indictments were among eight returned by the grand jury Wednesday afternoon. The body was back in session today.

J. B. Green, negro, was indicted for assault with intent to murder. He was charged he shot Marshall Gordon with a pistol.

L. C. McElroy and Jess McElroy were indicted for chicken theft. Another indictment charging chicken theft was returned, but the party has not been arrested.

Theodore Adair and Judd Washington, negroes, were indicted for aggravated assault as an aftermath of a fight. They will be tried in county court.

Another indictment charging automobile theft was returned against a man not under arrest.

Judge Fritz R. Smith was heard on non-jury cases in district court today. The petit jury, which reported for the first time during the May term, Wednesday, again was dismissed until Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

Grounding Of Ships Fought

Fokker Says Prejudiced Engineer Recommended Hasty Order

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—Anthony H. G. Fokker, designer of 35 planes which were temporarily removed from passenger service by order of the commerce department indicated that he would not be satisfied with the department's order to restore the planes to service after an inspection.

He said the aviation industry must have protection from "hasty" tactics in the future and the General Motors Company, leading stockholders in the American branch of the Fokker company, was understood to be supporting him in this contention.

Fokker said the department's action in banning the planes from passenger service was taken on the advice of two young engineers, one of whom "was plainly hostile and prejudiced."

The department's order, made public Monday said certain questions in regard to maintenance of the planes had arisen. It said there was no reflection on the design of the craft.

"I am fighting for the future of the aeronautics industry," Fokker said today just before entering the other conference with commerce department officials.

"If the federal government can at any moment tie up transportation by grounding planes in a hasty manner it will be a terrible blow for American aviation. We must have protection from such tactics in the future."

Refinery To Be Built In Jones County Oil Pool

ABILENE, TEXAS, May 1 (UP)—Construction has been started by E. W. Moutray, pioneer West Texas independent oil operator, on a gasoline and light oil refinery near Hawley, in southern Jones county to handle his own, and other production in that area.

The plant will be located on a 5-acre tract, and will have capacity of 1,000 barrels of crude oil a day, Moutray said. Manufacture of gasoline, and all specifications of light oils will be included in the plant's output, but no lubricating oils will be made, he said.

The initial construction cost will approximate $25,000, equipment to include newly invented and packed towers, and a gathering to the Hawley oil field.

Under present development, the total production of the Hawley field is estimated at 1,000 barrels daily, this production coming from the upper and lower Tanshill sands. The plant will be near the Ungren and Prater's No. 1 well, which recently flowed more than 800 barrels of oil in seven hours under test. Humble is taking restricted production in the field, at the rate of twelve barrels per day per well.

Moutray is president of the Ewmo Oil Corporation, the Goshute Oil Company, with production in Young county; and vice-president of the Wood petroleum company, which absorbed the old Moutray Oil Company. With his associates, he has 22 producing wells in Callahan, Throckmorton and Jones counties. He came here three years ago from Cisco, and was formerly associated with the Humphreys in the Mexia-Corsicana field. Moutray said he expected the new plant would be in operation within 30 days.

Fifty Automobiles To Bring Oklahoma Delegation to W.T.C.C.

LUBBOCK, TEXAS, May 1 (INS)—A motorcade of approximately fifty automobiles loaded with officials and members of the Western Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce will come to Lubbock, May 15 to attend the West Texas Chamber of Commerce annual convention, according to advices from W. J. Milburn, Sagre, Okla., manager of the Oklahoma organization.

The Oklahomans are coming, Milburn said, to evidence their goodwill and friendship for West Texas; to learn of the plan, followed in operating the West Texas chamber and to offer their cooperation in matters of mutual interest. They will be accompanied by a band and will stage a parade immediately upon arrival.

Less Demand Shown For U.S. Cotton Than For India's Product

NEW YORK, May 1 (UP)—While American cotton is moving into world consumption at a low rate and stocks of the American staple are consequently large, Indian cotton is moving into consumption in relatively heavy volume and stocks of Indian cotton are materially less than those of a year or two ago, according to the New York Cotton Exchange service. It appears probable that the world carryover of Indian cotton next July will be 400,000 or 500,000 bales less than last July and 600,000 or 700,000 less than two years ago, while the world carryover of American cotton will be the largest since 1931.

Indian bales, compared with 158,000 last year, 155,000 two years ago, 167,000 three years ago, says the exchange service. In the same month, exports by India totaled 433,000 bales against 494,000 last year, 507,000 two years ago and 524,000 three years ago. This made the total distribution by domestic consumption plus exports 618,000 in February this year, against 665,000 last year, 516,000 two years ago and 491,000 three years ago. In the seven months of the season from Aug. 1, to Feb. 28, the total distribution by India was 3,057,000 bales this year against 3,458,000 last year, 2,947,000 two years ago and 2,621,000 three years ago.

District Meet Of WCTU In Session Here

State President Appears on Program; Dr. Hunt Speaks Tonight

First annual convention of the Sixteenth district of the Texas Women's Christian Temperance Union was held today at the Presbyterian Church, with the district president, Mrs. Thomas D. Murphy, as presiding officer. The theme of the convention was "Observance and Enforcement, Not Repeal."

Mrs. Claude de Van Watts, Austin, state president of the organization, was present and made several talks during the sessions. Among her remarks, she said that a wet mother was an abnormal mother and that the two strongest organizations of women in Texas today, the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs and the Parent-Teacher Associations received their training in the old W.C.T.U. and deserved to be called its daughters.

In response to a question concerning the indifference of West Texas to the organization, she replied that West Texas had always had a strong dry vote and for that reason it had not been so well worked, until recently.

Mrs. Watts said that this was her second trip to West Texas. Her first trip was during the war when she sold Liberty Bonds in Post.

The unsettled condition of the weather made the turnout of delegates to the convention smaller than was expected. Pecos, which is 20 years old and oldest organization of the district, sent no delegates. Balmorhea, the youngest union sent Mrs. Geo. Berkstresser, Mrs. Nell B. Westerman and Mrs. N. C. Hulster.

Devotional
The meeting was opened with a devotional by the Rev. John Thorns of Coahoma. Mrs. L. S. Patterson, president of the hostess union, gave the address of welcome assisted by Mrs. W. R. Settles, treasurer of the district. Mrs. J. M. White, of Midland, made the response.

One of the most interesting features of the day's program consisted of reminiscences of Frances E. Willard, founder of the W.C.T.U. by two people in the district who had seen and heard her. Mrs. Willard talk. They were Mrs. Homer Markham of Big Spring, and T. S. Nettleton, of Midland. Both made enjoyable talks.

Mrs. W. O. Smith, of Dallas, one of the state directors, who is in charge of fairs and exhibits, gave a talk on "My Crusader Mother" which was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. George W. Davis, of Big Spring, director of publicity for the district, spoke on "Christian Citizenship."

The closing hour of the morning meeting was devoted to reports from the district officers and delegates of local unions. Mrs. Thomas D. Murphy, president of Midland; Mrs. A. M. Gant, of Midland, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. R. Settles, treasurer; and Mrs. George W. Davis, director of publicity, gave district reports; told of the need of the union for money, how the dollar dues were divided and the importance of keeping an eye on the politics of the city as well as the nation, in regard to the prohibition question.

Mrs. Ella G. White, of Balmorhea, made a report. Mrs. John Thorns, of Coahoma, reported for the union in Coahoma.

The morning session was dismissed for a luncheon honoring the visitors at the Settles Hotel.

Memorial Service
The afternoon meeting opened with a memorial service, followed by an address by Mrs. Claude de Van Watts, state president, stressing the need of increased membership and more work by the individual unions.

The meeting was concluded with a business session.
The evening service will commence at 7 o'clock with a Loyal Temperance Union Conference, which will be conducted by Mrs. J. W. Adams, state secretary.

The evening feature will be given by Dr. J. W. Hunt, of McMurry College, of Abilene, who will speak at 8 o'clock.

The following out of town visitors had registered by noon: Mrs. W. O. Smith, Dallas; Geo. Berkstresser, Nell B. Westerman and N. C. Hulster, of Balmorhea; A. J. Norwood, B. W. Brunsom, J. C. Gossett, Henry Adams, Geo. E. Brown, J. M. White, C. F. Cowden, and J. M. King, of Midland; The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. John Thorns, Coahoma; T. S. Nettleton, Midland; Moses P. T. O'Connell, Walter L. Hothe, B. L. McNeish, A. W. Caniff, O. P. Clark and S. N. Dill, of Sweetwater.

C. P. ROGERS TO AUSTIN
C. P. Rogers, local attorney, left today for Austin where he will argue the appeal of Jim Martin, given a 99 year sentence in this county for the murder of LaVelle Gipson, before the board of criminal appeals.

The appeal is based on errors allegedly made by District Attorney George Mahon in his argument of the case.

A New Living Room For $19

Mrs. Akin Simpson Tells How She Achieved A Blue And Silver Room At That Price

Mrs. Akin Simpson, of Luther, won the third prize in Class No. 1 of the Living Room Contest, spending under $50. She spent $19.10.

She improved her room by rearranging the furniture and removing a large trunk to provide more room. She made her room lighter by painting a dark ceiling ivory and making the walls lighter in color.

In all her competitors in the Luther Home Demonstration Club spent a total of $34.95. Mrs. S. L. Lockhart and Mrs. Lawrence Anderson won first and second prizes in this same class last year.

Mrs. Simpson describes what she did in her own words:

"My living room is a southwest room with a window on the porch and another on the west side. It was originally furnished with a library table along the east wall, a large wardrobe trunk against the west wall; a duofold sofa-corner in the northwest corner and a chiffoniere against the north wall.

"I began by putting the table between the two windows and removing the trunk. The duofold, I put against the north wall parallel with it.

"The walls and ceiling were in bad condition. The paper was old and had soiled spots on it but was well fastened to the wall. The first thing we did was to cover the soiled places with newspaper. Then I put on a coat of blue kalsomine and with a sponge daubed the blue with silver gray making a pleasing effect. The unpapered ceiling was painted with cream kalsomine.

"I bought moulding and painted it cream. This door and window facing had a light coat of cream paint. We used putty on them for a filler and gave them another coat of cream paint and also painted the boards.

"The doors needed casing stops so they were added.

"I had had all kinds of pictures on the library table. They were removed and I put on it a gasoline lamp, a small calendar, some books, children's story books and some other little things for children. I took out the old pillow and wall pictures and added a new pillow and chair cushions and new pictures to harmonize with the walls.

"My husband made an end table and magazine rack combined out of the top of an old kitchen safe. I bought varnish for it and he also varnished two straight chairs.

"I had a mirror which hadn't been framed. I tried to get it framed in town but could not, so because it was an oval shape. My husband made me a frame for it out of cotton rope which he rolled and painted. We painted it grey.

"My mother gave me the gasoline lamp, valued at $10. My husband's mother gave me a picture. My neighbor, Mr. Lockhart, gave me a cord for my pillow.

"My improvements amounted to $19.10 in all. Itemized they are: kalsomine for walls and ceiling $2.50; putty for doors, 20 cents; cretone for pillows, 47 cents; moulding and door casing stops $3.70; varnish, 40 cents; sponge, 25 cents; picture $1.55; lamp supplies, $2.

Kennedy of Koss, Laird of Lufkin, Lameter of Henderson, McGee of Tyler, McGregor of Austin, Moffett of Chillicothe, Pope of Corpus Christi, Ramsey of San Augustine, Satterwhite of Odessa, Scott of Sweetwater, Smith of Quitman, Stephens of Sulphur Springs, Stevenson of Junction, Terwater of Hale Center, Terrell of Alto, Vaughn of Greenville, Vestch of Joshua, West of Jonesboro, Wiggs of Paris, Wyatt of Stephenville, Young of Wellington.

Present and not voting: Brice of Sulphur Springs, Long of Wichita Falls, Sherrill of Bellevue.

At Roosevelt
Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York will probably be the next Democratic nominee for president, the new congressman from this district says. He declares his recent trip through the East convinced him that the New Yorker will be a heavy favorite when the Democrats meet.

"Roosevelt is a capable man and would make a splendid president," Congressman Thomason says, although he indicates that he is not decided yet in his own opinion as to who would be the best candidate the party could name.

Opportunity
The Democrats have an excellent opportunity to name the next president regardless of whether Hoover is renominated, Mr. Thomason declares.

Congressman and Mrs. Thomason are leaving this week for Europe, members of a party of mayors and their wives who will be guests of the French government on a trip to Paris. The French government is extending the courtesy in return for the hospitality shown Coats and Bellé, the French fliers, when they made a tour of the United States last year. The mayors of all the cities where they were entertained and the mayors of all cities in this country named "Paris" have been invited. Congressman Thomason was mayor of El Paso at the time of the fliers' visit there.

Retains Secretary
Congressman Thomason's office has been organized in Washington and is open daily, attending to matters for citizens of this district. He retained Mrs. Kate George, secretary to Congressman Claude Hudspeth for many years, as his secretary.

Citizens of the district having business with the government are invited by the congressman to write or wire him at Washington. He said his office there would give immediate attention to all such communications.

When terrific power is induced into the tube, the X-rays produced can be detected through the thick walls of the vault, and the lead lining of the chamber. If the full force of the X-ray tube were to be exerted it would probably destroy everything within many feet.

Dr. Millikan
Dr. Robert A. Millikan, eminent scientist, and astronomer, commented on recent research work carried on with the original tube. Dr. Millikan stated that the new tube although similar to the first one, was designed for cancer research. If further tests prove satisfactory in combatting cancer, tubes of similar type probably will be installed in hospitals throughout the United States, he said.

"For several months research to determine the suitability of high potential X-rays for therapeutic work has been carried on at the California Institute of Technology," Dr. Millikan said. "In this research the original high-potential X-ray installation designed by Dr. C. C. Lauritzen in the high-tension laboratory was used under the direct supervision of several well-known California physicians.

"Preliminary results were sufficiently satisfactory to the medical board to justify further expansion of facilities and plans for the erection of radiation laboratory next to the high-tension laboratory, housing the X-ray have been completed. Without interfering with other work in progress, the second tube, which will be used exclusively for therapeutic investigation, has been installed in the high-tension laboratory," Millikan stated.

600,000 Volts
The new apparatus will allow the original X-ray tube to be used to conduct research work for which it was built, namely, to investigate the X-ray region around 600,000 volts and for physical and biological research," Millikan added.

He stated further that the institute does not claim to have discovered a "cancer cure." He pointed out that the aim was in perfecting and experimenting with the equipment assembled, although there have been some cases treated which were selected by the medical board.

"The California Institute of Technology has nothing to do with the medical applications of the tube, aside from furnishing the equipment and supervising its maintenance and operation. A few patients selected by the medical board as suitable subjects have been given treatment, but the institute has no authority to accept other persons," Dr. Millikan declared.

Project Thoroughly Discussed In Tuesday Mass Meeting

Following thorough discussion of the proposition a crowd of citizens which completely filled the district courtroom Tuesday evening voted unanimously to begin circulation of petitions asking the board of city commissioners to call an election for the purpose of voting on a proposed bond issue of $200,000 with which to erect a city hall, fire station and auditorium building.

The action followed talks by a number of citizens including Rev. S. H. Hughes, L. S. McDowell, Dr. E. O. Ellington, J. A. Yarbrough, Shino Phillips, B. Reagan, City Manager V. H. Smitham, Sam Lamar, E. J. Mary, Ray Wilcox, E. E. Kuykendall and others.

Mr. Phillips said the board of city commissioners of which he is chairman had been confronted with the problem of relieving unemployment in the city. Paving more streets was considered, he said, but abandoned because property owners were not in a position at this time to pay their portion of paving costs.

Stranger Heard

W. T. Strange, Jr., local architect, outlined the typing of building that could be constructed at a cost of not more than $200,000, displaying a rough sketch of exterior and interior measurements, plan and design. He said he had prepared the sketches of his own volition without obligation upon any one.

"I don't think we should build this structure unless there is a demand for it and the state with the people," said Mr. Strange.

The architect declared that "building material costs are now lower than at any time since the world war and that savings could be made because of this condition," indications are, however, he added, that costs of some material soon will be on the upgrade, due to demand created by the government.

"100,000,000 building program and larger eastern projects such as the Empire state building and John D. Rockefeller, Jr.'s radio village, which will call for 125,000 tons of steel.

Large Crowd Of Citizens Favor Action

That an auditorium of larger capacity than 1,500 be included. He declared the bringing of large conventions to the city means business for the merchants.

Mr. Smitham said he had been advised that the San Angelo auditorium, which will seat 1,500 had been filled but twice and that many citizens there felt a smaller auditorium would have sufficed.

Why Compare?

"We'll be bigger and better than San Angelo," Sam Lamar interjected.

C. T. Watson asked whether new property not now on the tax rolls would add in making a bond issue possible without raising the tax rate. Mr. Smitham answered that five pieces of new property would reach total tax value of $367,000 but this had not been taken into consideration in his figures, thus allowing for decreases in valuations of other property.

"We'll soon have a new railroad," Mr. Lamar said.

Mr. Phillips called on members of the audience to speak.

Dr. E. O. Ellington said that perhaps he had been a little too strong in his support of bond issues in the past but could not see why, with need of the building so obvious, it should not be built, when tax rates would not be increased.

Mr. Mary

E. J. Tracy, superintendent of the Corder Oil Company refinery, noted that his company paid practically all its taxes to Howard county instead of the city declared, however, that he hoped the building would be erected. He said his company was interested in athletics and suggested an effort be made to arrange the auditorium so that basketball could be played in it.

H. Clay Reed said that "I object to the comparison of Big Spring with San Angelo. If San Angelo had an auditorium seating 1,500 we need one that will seat 2,000."

J. A. Yarbrough, a leader among employees of the T. & P. shops, said he believed practically all of that body would favor the issue, adding that they had not understood as yet why the city hall, auditorium and fire station had been left off the improvement program voted in March of last year.

Mr. McDowell
L. S. McDowell said that he hadn't given much thought to the project but that he favored action being taken "for more reasons than one. We need to provide employment for men of our city. There is no question of the need for an auditorium. In view of the fact that our tax levy would not grow I can't see why there ought to be any objection."

B. Reagan, who arrived late, said a city hall was needed and that the present fire station was in the most dangerous place it could be located. "I'd hate to see taxes increased to a point where it would be cheaper to rent a house than to own it," he added, saying he was not present at the board of city development meeting when it voted to recommend the project.

"I don't believe it would be safe at all to go into the matter with the idea that it would not increase taxes. We ought to feel like there

The University of Pennsylvania's sweeping athletic reforms are effecting this spring, so far appear to have brought about a very satisfactory reaction. Without lowering any of the Red and Blue's ancient prestige on the fields of sporting combat.

Around Philadelphia they talk about "going amateur" and being obliged to "play her students."
Naturally the new order of things has its critics. It is entirely possible that in time the abolition of training tables and spring football practice will be remembered. But on the whole, the house-cleaning has had the effect of raising Penn's morale.

Freud of the discord and actual strife that marked the last football season, it seems certain the boys will have a better account of themselves under the guidance of Prof. Harvey J.
Harvey. The football coach's pressure methods of the past have disappeared.

From what I have been told, we probably will need to brush up on blocking when the call for football goes out next September.
Remarks of Har...

We haven't done a thing this spring except to leave a football team on two months' leave. We want to kick it around in the spring time. We will have no organized work until fall.

There won't be anything radical about our football. Of course we will use the Warner system. That is what I learned under Pop and with some variations it is what I have been using anyway. Out of that about all you can say for me is that I'm on the ground getting acquainted with the boys and mapping out a program for the fall.

Looks like Lineman Still in his early thirties, big and the part of the great lineman he filled while at the University of

on the varsity, the last three years as tackle. He has been the impression he had made on Bill Alexander, Georgia Tech's coach, in the game at Atlanta in 1920.

"Bill doesn't remember it any more vividly than I do," responded Harman. "That was without doubt the toughest game of football I ever played."

to increased physical effort by a proportionate increase in the rate and intensity of movement.

Thus, while in acute tuberculosis the appendix is surgically removed and the disease literally ended right then and there, in tuberculosis of the lungs whatever surgical procedure is followed is not designed to remove the diseased part, but rather to assist the body in better mustering its defense forces against the tubercular process.

There are several different operations performed in the treatment of tuberculosis of the lungs. Whichever one is chosen depends upon the condition of the patient and the stage and form of his disease.

But no matter which operation is performed its ultimate objective is primarily to secure added rest, for the lung affected and to help the body's in healing process.

Hollywood Sights

By ROBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., a young man who has achieved stardom long before the age when his father reached top billing, really made his screen debut formally as "Dr.
Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Young Doug was 13 then, relates William McGann, blue-eyed Irish director who served the elder Fairbanks as cameraman and as a directional position, in all the reins of young Doug's starring vehicle, "I Like Your Nerve."

That first screen bit of the youngster was made when McGann, who is the Fairbanks home to take some pictures, found young Doug eager to emulate the portrayal of John Barrymore in the dual Jekyll-Hyde role.

McGann first photographed him
"straight," then an mopey, dissolving the one into the other. The bit of film is still treasured by Doug, Jr. It preceded by several years his formal entrance to the acting profession.

ALIKE BUT DIFFERENT
"Like father, like son," applies highly to the McGann estimation of the two Fairbankses.

Both are fond of practical jokes, bubbling over with humor on the set. But Doug, Jr., has more serious moments than his father.

The father's passion for directing his own films is mirrored in the son's. He is an intellectual pursuer, writing and directing.

Both have extremely winning personalities. "Inglorious Sinner" and "The Two McGanns" feature Doug, Jr. as the better actor.
Doug, Sr., of course, never pretended to be a dramatic actor.

Independence is another characteristic of both. Doug, Jr., is constantly in fear that he will be suspected of imitating his father.

His present picture is of the type that made Doug, Sr. famous—light adventurous comedy. But he has the air of any "business" which reminds of his father's style.

SYNOPSIS: When John Wayne

the search for the truth.

Chapter 27
A GUE FROM "UNCLE" Patience and gradually the William couple made headway with Uncle and his friends, until at length they were accepted without question as a gang consisting of one wise guy and a smart job, of the exclusive aristocracy of crook-dom, who took no one into their confidence and made a very great deal of money.

Long before we got even a clew that was more than a mere suspicion as to the identity of the "gang" we were pursuing, I had attained the honor of meeting all the most distinguished denizens of the underworld.

Rising to higher levels, we also made the useful acquaintance of politicians, lawyers and politicians, and I came to know such eminent citizens as Philip Clark Morgan, A.
Hollis, Attorney Patrick O'Connell, Frank Hanky, Dirk, Hanna, and Bathhouse John Conklin.

We worked Chicago chiefly by reason of our hopes founded on the encyclopedic knowledge of Uncle, but we spent weary weeks and months in New York, San Francisco, and other cities, which the web of our clues enveloped.

On one occasion we all set off to Boston, and there to Rio de Janeiro, on the trail of a gang of white-slavers, known to us kidnaping-for-ransom as a side line.

It was in the lovely city of Rio de Janeiro that William made the acquaintance of the individual who was unconsciously to lead us to success.

This was a brilliantly clever and unscrupulous doctor, a Portuguese named Marcel Machado, who occasionally traded his dope peddling on a large scale and the removal by untraceable poisons, of his patients' inconvenient friends or enemies, highly insured relatives, or aged and wealthy testators.

Disappearing from Rio this man fled to Chicago, where he went to live, and in due course, appeared at Uncle's.

KEEPING YOUNG
Perhaps the most prevalent opinion that young people have of old people is that they are narrow minded and cranky.

Yet there are many old people who are considered very active and spry for their age and who pride themselves on being as young as they ever were.

Which type do you want to be when you grow old? The latter, of course! Then now is the time to think seriously about what you are to be when you become old. Now is the time to begin to train yourself into that type of person.

Probably the first essential is broadmindedness. Avoid becoming narrow in your thoughts or "set" in your ways of thinking and acting.

One of the chief reasons, youngsters, that old people are cranky is because the latter thinks nothing is permissible unless it was done when they were young. Train yourself to conceive new thoughts. Do not be adverse to every new thing.

This is to be done by looking into the future and seeing the changes that are to be made. Some people only think in present and look backward. Such people have become old whether they are twenty or eighty. He has either come to a standstill or is retreating in life.

New things—the things that later, retire youth—no longer appeal to him. It is the forward looking people with minds that are active and alert to remain young.

Begin looking into the future
now and prepare yourself physically and mentally that you may always be young.

MOTHER'S DAY

The formal setting aside of Mother's Day in this country is a recent thing although the idea may be traced back to ancient times. The wearing of the carnations originated in memory of William McKinley, the twenty-fifth president of the United States, who always wore this flower in honor of his mother.

A Philadelphia Sunday School planned a special Mother's Day.
On May 9 President Wilson issued a proclamation setting aside the second Sunday in May as a "Public expression of our love and reverence for the mothers of our country." This was a beginning of an annual Mother's Day.

Mother's Day is now widely celebrated through the country.
Schools usually celebrate it on Friday and business organizations on Saturday before the second Sunday of May. In some states some deserving prisoners are pardoned on Mother's Day. Although we recently celebrated it only one day, we should make every day a Mother's Day; as far as our love and appreciation is concerned. The best friends we will ever have will be our mothers. We whose mothers are living should give them their flowers while they are living. There is one thing we are all blessed with, and that is a Mother.

Programs Given
At Assemblies
Are Interesting

For the past week the student body of Big Spring High School has enjoyed programs given each day at the regular assembly period by the different lunch club of this city.

Tuesday the Rotary Club had charge and introduced the program to the student body. Mr. T.
Strange and Shine Phillips gave very interesting talks.

The Wednesday Luncheon Club had charge Wednesday and after the members introduced themselves, giving their name and occupation, H. E. Robbins gave an account of his trip to the Broadway of America, towns to Hot Springs. Mr. Strange explained some plans for city municipal building.

Hour at Miss Huggins' Excuses Of Every Kind Presented By Pupils DESK LETS YOU SEE MUCH

"Oh where in the world is my excuse from home? Oh, here it is! Miss Huggins, you have no idea what a headache I had yesterday!
It was something fierce, Ma'am!"
How come? Oh I suppose it was sitting up so late studying the other night (?)

"Hi there! What do you want with my excuse? Not the second period? That's when you have Math! You did! Well, I want to everyday, but I'm afraid to. My maama just will not write me an excuse unless she knows where I am—which is seldom."

"Oh, Miss Huggins, will it be necessary to get a tardy excuse?
I was only three minutes late! Oh we heard the fire alarm and stopped to watch the fire truck go by.
Isn't that excuse enough? Oh, thanks a lot I'll tell 'em just how it was when I get up to home room."

"I want to get my excuse changed from unexcused to excused. You see I forgot my excuse from home this morning. But when I got my report card with a sixty-eight on it,
I remembered that that extra three points would fix me up okay; so I got Maama to write me an excuse at noon. Oh thank you, Miss Huggins.
I really needed those three points."

"Are we late again? Impossible!
Yesterday I set our clock at home exactly with the school clock, and today it is thirty minutes off. Ma'am?
Why I couldn't have been getting minutes walking two blocks!
No Ma'am I didn't stop any time."

FIRST ANNUAL MAY FETE
PESENTED SUCCESSFULLY

In a setting far more beautiful than most people expected of the high school auditorium, the first annual May fete of the Big Spring high school was presented for the approval of a multitude of patrons.
The stage was transformed into a garden scene through the use of grass cloth, trellises entwined with greenery, paper wisteria and roses, potted rose plants, and garden furniture. The pillars of the auditorium were made beautiful with festoons of ivy and streamers of rainbow colored crepe paper.

The trumpeters, Charles Bussey and William Dehlinger, who were dressed in royal blue and green tunics, sounded their bugles to formally begin the program. Steve D. Ford, Jr., Royal Announcer, was dressed in rich purple and white.
He announced each princess as she was heralded by the trumpeters.
The eight princesses were becomingly gowned in pastel length carnian party dresses of pastel gandy. Their beauty of figure, grace, and poise of carriage, as well as the distinctiveness of their types, added much to the splendor of the whole occasion.

Princess Vera of the House of Mae of the House of Ford, came into the hall. She was immediately preceded by Ruby Joyce and Dora Ann Blankenship, Camille Inkman and De Lys Davenport, flower girls, who nonchalantly strewed rose petals in the path of the queen. The weight of the queen's train required the use of nine demure little misses as train-bearers. Those children who served in that capacity were Anne Bell and Mary Nell Edwards, Robbie Louise Finer, Janet Robb, Josephine Thompson, Jerry Hodges, Louise Ann Bennett, Mary Gebe Lees, Lorena Espokes.

While the May Queen proceeded down the length of the hall the spot lights revealed the beauty of the costume. Her dress and slippers were of pastel green. Her train was heavily embroidered with gold sequins in a fish design. The yellow-green hue of the chiffon train presented greatly the ever-changing color of water, and the pastel shades introduced in the wide border at the end of the train might have been interpreted as the growth of colorful plants under the sea. The Queen's sceptre was made of emeralds and rhinestones and was designed to match the crown. The little piece of jewelry worn by Her Majesty was a wide wristlet of rhinestones and was designed to match the crown. The really piece of jewelry worn by Her Majesty was a wide wristlet of rhinestones and emeralds which was made and presented to her by Miss Kitty Wingo, director of the pageant.

MISS WINGO'S THANKS
" It was a stupendous task to put on a May Fete," Miss Wingo director, said in an interview Monday. "And I could not but accomplish my part of it without the whole-hearted cooperation of the girls who participated in it. For their hard work and loyalty, I wish to thank them. I wish to thank them also for the lovely flowers they gave me."
Miss Wingo also thanked her advisers to Misses Clara Cox, Frank Kirk, Dais and Mrs.
Frank Etter whose assistance was invaluable in working out the details of the program; to Frank Boyle for his work with the lighting effects; to the teachers who helped by encouraging their students to take part and by allowing some irregularities in their routine for a few days; to Mr.
Blankenship for his splendid cooperation in the staging of the program and to Mr. Gearty for his time spent in preparation for the program; to Mr. Olsen, Mr.
Wood, and Mr. Wright for building the steps leading up to the stage and for the beautiful May Fete which were used; to Tommie Hutto, Elmer Pardue, Hob
Kidwell, Beverly Rockhold, Brownie Henshaw, and the other boys who aided in the decoration; to Mesdames Earl Rock-hold, Edwards, Piner for the help they gave in decorating the stage and auditorium, and to all the parents, who spent time, money and work to make the event a success.

Debenport and Evelyn of the House of Merrill were gowned in canary yellow which set off their Spanish type of beauty. Pale blue roquais which accentuated their blonde beauty were worn by the Princesses Mary of the House of Petty and Mary Gene of the House of Dubberly. Princess Lucille of the House of Ritz looked very charming and graceful in a gown of green while Princess Louise of the House of Flowers wore a pale pink which set off her blonde beauty charmingly. Orchid was worn by the Princesses Louise of the House of Hayes and Lucille of the House of Bishop which added greatly to their beauty. The jewels favored by the princesses were crystals, their only other ornaments being beautiful wrist cor-dages.

About Things

(By Lucille Rix)
By LUCILLE RIX
"And so the first Queen of May was crowned and everyone lived happily ever afterward." At least I guess everyone is happy. You'll certainly have to hand it to Miss Wingo. She really did something that no one else would have attempted with such a little help.
And from the talk about the village the May Fete seems to have been very successful. Everything looked good to me. It was very entertaining because it was so different from anything we've had in a long time and there were so many girls and so few boys. All of which goes to show that girls can put anything over if they try hard enough.

Owing to the fact that all of the girls have been exceedingly busy with the May Fete and the boys with the various jobs for Boys' Week, there hasn't been so very much time for classes this week.
Anyone would think that school hasn't been keeping so good, but no one has time enough to even relax, now what do you think about that?

Another thing that kept up from school was getting material for the essays that all of the Seniors are supposed to write—but aren't going to. All in all, it's been a very busy week, but I could stand many more just like it.

We had lots of entertainment last week too. The Luncheon Club of the city presented their comedians and kings to the High School student body and a good time was had by all. They even presented a big problem to us.

If there's anything we need more than an auditorium, I can't think just what it would be. And especially after everyone was so crowded at the Friday night entertainment. As the saying goes the auditorium lives never again. Too bad that we couldn't have had a large municipal auditorium. A whole lot more of the doting mothers and fathers could have seen their dear daughters had such a thing been true.

Tommie Hutto and Jake Pickles had a very exciting battle, duel or something that took effect Wednesday at chapel hour. From what I could gather about it the object was to hit each other in the neck, but owing to the fact that they both were blindfolded the blows fell everywhere but on the desired spot.

I went on a big picnic Friday night—Quite a few of the members of the Royal Court were there.
Really, I've never seen so much food, but due to the number of extremely hungry boys, the food didn't last long. Some one—we won't mention his or her name—acted rather peculiarly, that is, our board of censors decided that he or she did. The only time that "it" acted socially was when the lunch was unpacked. And my, my, such a clamor was never seen before and probably will never be seen again.
Even crooked the dainty little finger. Can you imagine that?

Seems that Riby Smith is going to just keep right on going in this thing called tennis. Such swatting ability is something to be proud of. Guess she'll go down to Austin and outwrest everyone down there. It won't hurt our feelings a little bit. We hope that she does but if she doesn't she's done something anyway and we offer her our heartiest congratulations.

There was quite a bit of competition for the offices of commissioners and the office of mayor among the young gentlemen of our school last week. Such speeches! Some of the boys just can't help it if they happen to think up some witty saying, the causes such people as Mr.
Blankenship and Mr. Gebe Lee to double up from laughter. They can't help it if they're good nature caught them there and there's nothing they can do about it. Some of them were silly, but a few of them really meant business.

It must be a great feeling to be a commissioner, a city policeman, or a mayor! Just think of the thrill one would get to walk up to Mr.
"Tiny" Reed or Dr. Wofford Hardy and find him for reckless driving and vagrancy. I believe the commissioners had such a thrill as this.
They probably brought ice cream cones with the money. Well that's a pretty good way to do away with surplus money—if one happens to have it. I'm not guilty.

Of course there must be a great thrill in arresting people, but just imagine getting to wear a Go-Devil hat and having your picture made in it—and after all that even get the blooming countenance in the daily paper! What a life! What a life!

Zillah Mae Ford Crowned Queen Of High School May Fete

Three Hundred High School Girls Take Part In Lovely Pageant Honoring Queen

Coronation Ceremonies Followed by Colorful and Original Pantomimes Ending in Three Maypole Dances

BY O. R. P.

A beautiful custom originated Friday evening when, in the High School auditorium, the pupils of the Big Spring high school crowned their May queen and spent the evening in a May fete of spring dances and sports review, before her majesty.

Zillah Mae Ford was the pretty and popular queen, whose identity was kept a secret until the programs were distributed just before the ceremonies commenced.

She and her princesses were selected by a vote of the faculty as representative senior girls. Miss Kitty Wingo was the faculty member responsible for most of the hard work behind the scenes and the planning beforehand.

The lower and upper halls of the high school building were crowded with eager parents and impatient school children almost an hour before the doors were opened. The chairs of the auditorium, which in reality, nothing more than a gymnasium, were arranged around the walls of the room with the space in the center devoted to the performers. The auditorium was far too small to hold the crowd. It is hoped that some arrangement can be made for the May fete, if it does become an annual custom, to be held out of doors. It would be a lovely and colorful picture and would become an increasingly popular attraction.

The chairs of the Friday evening's performance lay partly in its informality. The numbers consisted of a variety of pantomimes, would have been monotonous if they had remained on the same level, either of beauty, dignity or attractiveness. They did not and the audience had no chance to grow tired before the end.

The burlesque of Robin Hood in his Sherwood Forest of four easily-upset trees, was approved by the obvious fun of the players in giving H. The solemnity of the Indian spring of 1820 was enhanced by the lowered lights and the dignity of the players, in addition to the beautiful rendering of "By The Waters of Minnetonka" by Pauline Metton.

Whether the best number on the program was the Scotch Highland Fling or the Military Huzz, was hard to decide. The dancing in both was excellent and above the average of the evening. It was plain to see, also, that the physical education class had had the most practice of any group on the floor. Its drill movements had an army-like precision.

The princesses, who were Vera Debenport, Mary Peley, Louise Hayes, Mary Gene Duberly, Lucille Rix, Louise Fawcett, Evelyn Merrill and Lucille Bishop, were as lovely a group of girls as one could ask for. Lucille Rix was as graceful as a flower. Some of them rather looked as though they were walking a tight rope. We could not help thinking what a good practice this was for the weddings to come, and much more trying on one's composure.

His highness, the archbishop, William Clayton of the House of Blankenship, was the only unbecomingly-looking member of the cast. He stuck it out for the honor of the school, though he will probably never get as much sympathy as he deserves.

The little flower girls, Ruby Joyce and Dora Ann Blankenship, De Lya Davenport and Camille Johnson, were the most original performers of the evening. Their purpose was more to be seen than to see, but they lost no opportunity in sitting up the parents as they proceeded leisurely down the auditorium.

Of all the difficult roles well performed, we want to give credit to the train-bearers, Anna Bell Edwards, Robbie Louise Piner, Janet Robb, Josephine Timmons, Jerry Hodges, Louise Ann Bennett, Mary Gene Lee, Lorena Brooks and Mary Nell Edwards. Handling well one of these heavy trains without separating it from the queen and without falling to properly display it to all onlookers speaks well for the cooperation of these youngsters. The gracious queen also showed poise and tact, that will be of value to her in the future in her dealings with her train-bearers.

The queen was beautifully dressed in a sea-green costume, symbolic of spring, with slippers to match. Her train, of chiffon embroidered with sequins in a large fish design of soft harmonizing colors, was lent for the occasion by Mrs. Wilburn Barcus, who gave it as the queen of the Cotton Palace in Waco. The queen's crown was a lovely and becoming headpiece of white and green rhinestones.

S.S.S. Club Girls Elect Judith Pickle As New President

Royal Neighbors Given Recital By Mr. and Mrs. Lotz

A musical recital, given by C. A. Lotz and his pupils and several readings, was the occasion of a special gathering of the Royal Neighbors Thursday evening in the Lodge Rooms at the Settles Hotel, which were beautifully decorated with canterbury bells and Indian blankets and other spring wild flowers.

The program opened with a song of greeting to the Royal Neighbors and their friends, "Purple Ribbons". The following additional numbers composed the program: quartet, "Good News"; Song, "My Carolina Home"; Mr. and Mrs. Lotz. Quartet, "Street Parade"; Reading, "America" by Mary Pond. Solo, by Jean Hardy Fiewellen, with Mrs. Chas. Morris accompanist. Harmonica selections, by Walter Moore. Original monologue, by Miss Jeanette Pickle.

The hostesses were: Mesdames Croft, Morris, W. A. Miller, Cordell, Herring, Myers, Delinger, Shive, Paulsen, Throop Eubanks, Franklin, Chaid and Blankenship. A profusion of wild flowers was used in decorations. Delicious refreshments were served to the following club members and guests: Mmes. W. G. Bailey, J. A. Myers, W. A. Underwood, Wats, R. E. Morris, A. D. Franklin, Bob Eubanks, W. A. Miller, W. D. McDonald, Jack Rodgers, G. E. Fleeman, Arthur Finkle, A. C. Yeager, W. G. Riggs, Felton, Smith, Victor Fiewellen, B. P. Lovelace, J. J. Throop, W. O. Thompson, J. J. Short, F. H. Miller, Schull, A. G. Hall, W. I. Dalton, E. F. Houser, Joe Pickle, Tennis Franklin, John Horn, J. Rudder, Fox Stripling, Sarah Deata, Pete Johnson, Muggrove, Stockton, Mike Williamson, James Currie, J. A. Kinard, J. M. Manuel, R. B. Zinn, L. W. Brock, Dr. Davis, Hattie Crosscut, Edith Row Cordell, E. H. Settles, W. M. Paulsen, D. F. Painter, Stem, Shaw, C. E. Shive, Harwell, E. M. LaBett, G. R. Haley, J. Lusk, G. S. True, H. F. Williamson, C. E. Talbert, John Chaney, C. M. Frances, R. King, Chas. Morris, J. M. Fawcett, D. E. Bishop, H. W. Shorter, Tingle, C. M. Watson and Miss Verbena Barnes.

There is no doubt but that the book's popularity in Texas was made its author's name even better known than it is. The combination of the rise to fame and fortune of a beautiful girl plus the story of a city whom every Texan knows and is interested in makes for an irresistible pull on the curiosity.

Mrs. Pierce is the daughter of Judge Barry Miller, who has been lieutenant-governor of Texas for three terms. Mrs. Pierce's husband, in his lifetime worked on the New York Sun and Mrs. Pierce still makes New York her home.

The spring issue of this quarterly is made more attractive with pen and ink drawings, the frontispiece being a sketch of Sam Houston's home in Independence. The other illustrations represent stage setting for Kathleen Wilkerson's prize-winning play, "Jute."

The permission to reprint the play "Jute," in full provided "The Southwest Review" with a headline that is no small distinction in itself. Flora Lowrey's introduction on the work of the Dallas negro playboys give the play a background in the Southwest that makes it vivid reading.

The contents of this number have a wide range—Bowie knives to architecture. Bowie knives speak for themselves, unless one is rather curious as to their origin, in which case, we refer him to this article. The articles on architecture are strictly native to the Southwest and therefore strictly out of the ordinary. They grew out of an article "An Indigenuous Architecture" by David R. Williams, a Dallas architect, published in this magazine several months ago.

Roscoe DeWitt, president of the North Texas Chapter of the A. I. U., has contributed to this series, also Ralph Bryan, of Dallas, and S. Herbert Hare, of Kansas City, who is a member of the American City Planning Institute.

The articles are illustrated by four photographs of old Texas houses of individuality. These photographs are eloquent in themselves. "Whether in State Legislation" is a new note, struck by George C. Hooper, of S. M. U.

Spring Brides and Bridal Showers Play an Important Role in Week's Activities

Many Lovely and Attractive Parties Tendered Local Newlyweds Before They Leave to Reside Elsewhere

Spring showers for April brides have been as abundant lately as the heavenly showers for which the month is famous. Mrs. Robert F. Schermerhorn, who was Miss Dorothy Oxshere before her marriage, and Mrs. Chas. H. Connell, who was Miss Cora Ashley, and Mrs. Lloyd Wasson who was Miss Muriel McCleskey, have been the recipients of several attractive parties during the week.

One of the daintiest parties was given Friday evening by Miss Lola Belle Stewart and Mrs. Randall Pickle at Miss Stewart's home at 1110 Johnson street. Mrs. Lloyd Wasson was named as honoree. Most of the spring's crop of brides composed the guest list of this party.

The hostesses carried out a spring color scheme of green and white in all their party accessories and in the delicious punch and cake.

The honoree received many lovely and useful gifts, among them a check for $50 from her father. The following guests who could not attend sent gifts also: Mmes. Monroe Johnson, George Handley, Elmo Wasson, Vivian Nichols and Misses Evelyn Merrill, Valera Silgh, Polly Webb, and Charlene Moseley.

Those attending the party were: Mmes. Clarence Wear, Warner Neese, Larson Lloyd, Ralph Rix, Joe McGee, Robert Schermerhorn, L. E. Misses Elizabeth Northington, Mamie Hall, Lucille Halsey, Lucille Rix, Ozell Orr, Nell Davis, Katherine Bettie, Cecil Ivand and Mabel Eddy. The mothers of the bride and groom, Mrs. I. E. Wasson and Mrs. N. W. McCleskey, were also present.

Miss Hair's Party. Mamie Hair gave a delightful bridge party Thursday evening honoring Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Connell at her home on Runnels street.

Pink and white was the color scheme this hostess used throughout the party decorations, with pink verbenas as her house flower. Mr. and Mrs. Connell were presented with a set of sherbet glasses as an honor prize. Mrs. Kilway made high score for the women during the evening and was given a candy dish. Mr. Garner made high for the men and was given a deck of cards.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Connell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Schermerhorn, Mr. and Mrs. Warner Neese, Mr. and Mrs. Larson, Bruce Frazier, Albert Fisher, Grover Cunningham, Ira Thurman and Gaston Cunningham.

Mrs. Grover Cunningham was the only guest.

Those present were Mmes. Homer McNew, C. W. Cunningham, Bruce Frazier, Albert Fisher, Grover Cunningham, Ira Thurman and Gaston Cunningham.

W. Carroll Barnett, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Barnett, has been transferred from Bartlesville, Okla., to Paola, Kansas. Mr. Barnett is with the Phillips Petroleum Co.

Entertains For Relative And Friends At Bridge

Mrs. Betty Parsons entertained at bridge Friday afternoon honoring Mrs. Horace Reagan, her new sister-in-law, and Mrs. Albert S. Barnett of Dallas. The house was decorated with yellow iris and lavender wild flowers.

Mrs. Reagan and Mrs. Barnett were presented with guest prizes. Mrs. Shine Phillips received a prize for making high score and Mrs. Faw for high cut.

Those present were Mmes. Horace Reagan, Albert S. Barnett, Homer McNew, Shine Phillips, J. D. Biles, Garland Woodward, Ira Thurman, Fred Keating, Robert Piner, M. M. Edwards, H. S. Faw and Miss Clara Pool.

Railroads Awaiting Federal Court Action On Rate Reductions

CHICAGO, May 1. (UP)—Railroads and shippers are awaiting federal action on the carriers' latest move to prevent revision of grain freight rates by the ICC.

A petition, signed by 82 railroads, was on file in U. S. district court asking a temporary injunction against the commission to block a revision order effective June 1, 1931, which the carriers contend will reduce grain freight rates by 13 per cent. Similar suits will be started in other courts. A. B. Enoch, Rock Island railroad attorney, indicated.

The railroads would suffer a $20,000,000 decrease in annual gross revenues under the proposed revision, the petition said. The original revision order, dated July 1, 1930, and was to become effective last fall. Three times, the carriers obtained postponements on the plea that they lacked time to prepare new rate charts.

General effect of the rate revision, according to the commerce commission order, is to reduce the rate applicable to both wheat and coarse grains and their direct products, such as flour and meal, for both domestic and export shipments to the primary markets. The prescribed rates, generally, represent substantial reductions on wheat and coarse grain rates. The order said.

Cinco de Mayo Big Spring Mexican To Celebrate French Defeat With Dance at Lodge Hall.

Mexicans of Big Spring will observe Cinco de Mayo Tuesday. Their celebration of the day sixty-nine years ago when the Mexicans defeated the French, will consist of a dance and speeches at the Mexican W. O. W. Hall on May 5, 1932. The French were occupying Mexico to enforce collection of a debt. The United States demanded their withdrawal on the grounds that the Monroe doctrine was being violated.

Maximilian, the brother of Emperor Joseph of Austria, refused to leave, however. He took chances on remaining on Mexican soil, hoping to gain through dissension of the Mexicans. The plan failed.

Under the leadership of Ignacio Zaragoza, the French were defeated. Maximilian was captured and shot.

Since that time the fifth of May has been observed as a national holiday by the Mexicans.

Four Wells To Be Killed In White House Secret Service Man Accompanies Boy Hero Home

SAN ANGELO, Texas, May 5. (UP)—Killing of production in the four wells in the White House secret service man accompanied the boy hero home. The wells will be killed in the oil-gas ratio in the other wells. Ranging in depth from 825 to 825 feet, the deep wells in the Big Lake field flow oil that averages 60 gravity and is almost a light still-crack kerosene. It is a gasoline. Until the Continental Oil company several days ago obtained production at Seal Beach, California, the Reagan wells were the deepest producers of oil and gas in the world.

It was presumed that one of the wells that Group No. 1 Oil Corporation (Texas) has agreed to shut in its No. 2-B University, the largest gusher of the nine, which increased to an estimated 20,000 barrels and around 175,000 cubic feet of gas daily before it was killed with fluid April 6. It is probable that the Texas No. 3-F University producing around 140 barrels daily at 6,634 feet, will be killed when No. 4-B University again is placed on production. No. 1-B with a peak of 9,514 barrels at a total depth of 8,587 feet before it was killed April 15 for reconditioning is now pulling tubing to run specially made 2 1/2 inch pipe. This pipe will serve for tubing. A total of 234 tons of tubing had been drilled Friday morning, leaving 55 tons in the well.

The shutting in of Texas No. 3-D University together with the recent killing of No. 2-B University would reduce Texas gas production 190,000,000 cubic feet, leaving the company's daily gas production around 66,000,000 cubic feet, providing No. 4-B makes as much gas when it is placed on production as before. It is probable that its gas yield will be reduced.

It is understood that Big Lake Oil Company will probably will its No. 3-C University, producing a daily average of around 1,750 barrels from 6,603 feet, and No. 2-C would reduce that company's gas production by 16,000,000 cubic feet daily. The Texas Public Service Company is preparing to place in service pipe lines from the Big Lake field that will have a combined capacity of around 25,000,000 cubic feet daily, but still slightly less than one-fourth the total amount of gas that will be available daily if the four wells previously mentioned are shut in. The 75-mile, 12-inch line to San Angelo has been testing for several days and the 40-mile, 18-inch line to Rio Pecos is virtually completed. The Big Spring line has a capacity of approximately 18,500,000 cubic feet daily and the Rio Pecos line will

Damage Suit On Wednesday Slate

The damage suit of M. M. Dighton against the Big Spring Refinery and the Texas & Pacific Railway Co., which has been on the civil docket for several terms, is scheduled to be called for trial in district court Wednesday morning.

Denton seeks approximately $4,000 for damage allegedly done to his farm by an overflow of oil from the refinery.

The grand jury was still in session today, with a number of witnesses being called. It is probable the first group of indictments will be returned Wednesday.

Judge Fritz R. Smith was hearing non-jury civil cases today. The petit jury for the first week of the May term will report Wednesday morning.

Forsan Man Again Object Of Charges

J. H. Harrison, Forsan, was back in jail today charged with a statutory offense against his thirteen year old stepdaughter, Verlene Dearman. A new charge was filed against Harrison.

He was arrested several weeks ago and similar charges were filed against him. In an examining trial held before Justice of the Peace Cecil C. Collins, the step-daughter was the chief witness. He was held without bond. Last week in habeas corpus proceedings filed before Judge Fritz R. Smith, the girl changed her testimony, and the man was ordered released from jail by Judge Smith. He also dismissed charges against him. The girl was placed under bond for appearance before the May term grand jury.

She appeared before the body Monday afternoon. Harrison's arrest and the new charge following completion of her testimony before the grand jury.

Engagement Of Ann Agnell Announced

Mrs. Della Agnell and daughter, Anna, arrived in Big Spring yesterday from Dallas. Mrs. Agnell drove down Saturday morning to be a guest at a bridge luncheon announced by her daughter's engagement to Walter C. Hornaday of Dallas.

The following story from the Sunday Dallas News describes the luncheon. The honoree's picture appeared in connection with the story.

The engagement of Miss Ann Agnell and Walter C. Hornaday was announced Saturday afternoon at a bridge luncheon given by Miss Madelyn Mays in her home, 724 Lipswood street. The home was decorated and the luncheon tables were centered with mounds of sweet peas in pastel shades. Favors were tiny cards with Hornaday-Agnell, June 5, 1931, engraved on them, these tied with white satin ribbons to sprays of orange blossoms. A gift was presented to the honoree.

Places were marked for the honoree, the hostess, Mrs. John Crawford, Mrs. C. Shelton, Jr., Mrs. Horace Haynes, Mrs. Janice Edwards, Mrs. Jack Patton, Mrs. Otis Garrett, Mrs. Boyd Scott, Mrs. Miles Dort, Mrs. J. Allen Phillips, Mrs. John McCool, Mrs. Fred Miers, Mrs. Irwin Ferrite, Mrs. Gordon Buzard, Mrs. Bernice Gandy, Mrs. Cecil Reddick, Miss Lena Schlapke, Miss Mary Bell, Miss Glenn Perry, Miss Ba Berta Mason, Miss Mary Lee Mangrum and Miss Merle Bailey.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Della Agnell of Big Spring, mother of the honoree. Following the luncheon Miss Agnell, accompanied by her mother, left for Big Spring for a short visit. Upon her return she will be entertained with many parties prior to the wedding.
