Rural Heroism Nominees Sought

Nominations are now being sought for the 1985 Rural Heroism Award.

The award is designed to recognize individuals who have risked their lives at an accident scene to save another. The act of heroism must have taken place during 1984.

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council annually sponsors the award program to help promote rural safety, says Dr. Gary Nelson, safety engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, and a council member.

All nominations must be submitted by March 15 to Nelson at 303 Scoates Hall, Texas A&M University, College Station, TX 77843.

'Individuals who performed acts of life-savings heroism in a farm or ranch environment during 1984 are eligible for 'the award,' points out Nelson. 'The nomination should be a thorough report of the incident, including names of all persons involved, the location and date. News pictures and stories also will be helpful if available.

According to Nelson, highway or transportation accidents, industrial accidents or recreational accidents on public property are among those not considered eligible. However, exceptions may be made when the incident involves farm and ranch families or employees.

The recipient of the 1985 Rural Heroism Award will be announced at the annual meeting of the Texas Safety Association at the Shamrock Hilton Hotel in Houston on April 1.

Junior Miss Competition

Plans are being finalized for the West Texas Junior Miss Scholarship competition to be held in Abilene on April 26 and 27. The program will be in Cullen Auditorium on the campus of Abilene Christian University.

The Junior Miss Program has held scholarship competition nationwide since 1958. The program is sponsored locally by Western Horizon Chapter of the American Business Women's Association, a non-profit organization of working women dedicated to giving scholarships to girls beyond the high school level.

Attractive scholarships to the top 5 winners are being offered by McMurry College, Abilene Christian University, Hardin Simmons University and Western Horizon Chapter of ABWA. Other awards and prizes are being offered by local businesses. Young ladies will be iudged on five categories: Scholastic Achievement (15 percent); Physical Fitness (15 percent); Poise and Appearance (15 percent): Judges Interview (35 percent); and On-Stage Presentation of Talent (20 percent). Prizes or trophies will be awarded to the winner in each of the 5 categories.

Winner of the local contest is eligible to participate in the state contest in New Braunfels next August, where they will be competing for even more in scholarships. The national competition will be in Mobile, Alabama.

State sponsors are Texas Junior Miss, Inc., Zale's Jewelers and the Santa Antonion Restaurant Association. National sponsors are Coca Cola, Kraft Cheese, Hershey's Chocolates, Revion, Republic Airlines and Corning Glassware.

Deadline for contestants to enter is March 8. Letters regarding the competition have been mailed to the principals of all the high schools in the eleven-county area covered by the West Texas competition. These counties are Coke, Coleman, Fisher, Haskell, Jones, Knox, Mitchell, Nolan, Runnels, Taylor and Throckmorton.

The contest is open to girls who are now juniors in high school (seniors in the 1985-86 school year).

Rehearsals will be in Cullen Auditorium on Friday evening, April 26, and Saturday, April 27. The show will be in Cullen Auditorium, located on the campus of Abilene Christian University, on Saturday night, April 27. The public will be welcome for $3 per person.

Contestants need a sponsor, sponsorships sell for $50. The sponsor may be an individual, a business or an organization. We urge each girl to find her own sponsor if she can. If she can't and wants to participate, we will endeavor to help her find a sponsor. The sponsor has no other obligation besides the $50 entrance fee, which would be tax deductible since Junior Mss and American Business Women are non-profit organizations and the money is used to pay for scholarships. Each sponsor will receive two free tickets to the Saturday night performance and will be recognized publicly during the program and also in the souvenir program booklet.

Anyone wishing more information or desiring to enter the competition should contact LaVerne Story, Chairman Contestant Participation at (915) 677-9544, evenings or weekends.

Don's Diary

By Don Rutherford

One of Mom and Dad's neighbors died this week. Mr. Dink Payne went to his eternal reward on February 19, 1985.

The last time I saw Dink was at Christmas time. Dad and I went over to Dink and Jane's house and just talked for awhile.

When a sparrow falls, God notices. When one of God's own falls, He notices with love and hope given to those who need it most.

Dink will not be remembered for the books he wrote, for he didn't write any. He will not be remembered for some great invention, for he didn't invent anything. He will not be remembered for being a world wide traveler, for Dink was a homebody who didn't travel much.

He will be remembered for having time to talk to others. Everytime I was at home Dink always came over to speak to me and to my family.

He will be remembered for the family he left behind. Jane, Mary Nell, Dorthy, J. W., Jimmy, Roy and many great and even great great grandchildren will be remembered in this time of loss.

But most of all, Dink will be remembered for the significance he was to God. And in this rememberance, the family can have hope and joy even in their time of hurt and sorrow.

For you see, we are all called to splendor when the claims of the

COW POKES

Gospel are said to us and we respond to the claims.

One summons of God in this call to splendor is the summons of hope. There is truly a call to hope at a time

When Alexander the Great began his worldwide conquest effort one of his generals heard him say, 'I am' giving away everything but hope.' In Hebrews 6:9, we can read, 'Which hope we have as an anchor of the soul.

You say what can hope do for us in our troubled and tangled world?

For one thing hope can help us cope. Hope is that internal support system which sustains us when we are under pressure and face something bigger than we are or helps us move when a loved one is taken from us.

Hope can revive us when we tend to mope. Hope can energize a listless and non-purposed life. Hope can revive in us that spirit to achieve even after we fail. Hope can take us from the valley to the mountain top. Hope seems to release vital chemicals in the body which actually helps the body to sparkle even in the darkness surrounding our souls.

Hope can broaden our scope. Life becomes a day to day process without hope for today and hope for tomorrow. Hope can open our eyes to see things beyond normal eyesight. Hope can clear our vision as we see our problems not only in our eyes but through and in the eyes

Hope can put a knot at the end of our rope that allows us to hold on. Hope is that guide which can lead us into the future. For we do not know what the future holds but, we do know who holds the future.

Hope and faith go hand in hand. One time there were three little boys giving their definition of faith. One said, 'Faith is taking hold of God.' Another said, 'Faith is holding on to God.' The other said, 'Faith is not letting go.' They were all right in their definitions.

In times of darkness, allow the Light of God to foster in your heart

There are 'stars' named after many States and 'puzzles' after quite a few. And nearly all of these as well as hundreds of other patchworks are simply combinations of squares and triangles, diamonds and oblongs.

Each Missouri puzzle block is built of 25 3 inch squares; 12 of these are two triangles sewed together, four are tiny nine patches, four three patches and five plain squares. Putting these Logether is the 'puzzle' but not such a bad one if the diagram is kept before you. Then putting together the finished 15 inch blocks may again be the question, solved in a most unusual manner. For this we suggest strips of white cut 3 2-3 x 9 3-8 inches with a square of blue the size of our large white square pattern at either end. This will finish exactly as long as you block, make a large white octagon for fancy quilting and with a block of blue at each corner. Corner intersection blocks could be tiny nine patches again, and then we'd guarantee that your finished coverlet would 'puzzle' even the old time quiltmakers as well as being a very lovely coverlet.

Allow 3 yards of red, 4 of blue and 6 of white for the plan described above in full sized quilt.

EAT THOSE WORDS

These days, you can't believe everything you hear. But sometimes, people lean too far the other way - especially when it comes to advertising.

A recent case in point: Del Monte Corp. sponsored a national advertising campaign saying its vegetables were "nutritious as fresh-cooked." Many people scoffed - everybody knew fresh vegetables were more nutritious than canned or frozen.

Wrong, according to six prominent nutritionists. ABC-TV's "Good Morning America" show investigated Del Monte's claim with six nutritionists at major universities around the country. And what they found surprised them. By the time fresh vegetables get to consumers, they aren't really fresh. They are probably five days old or more. Canned vegetables, on the other hand, are canned the same day they are picked. By the time fresh and canned vegetables hit your plate, the nutritionists said, they're equally nutritious, A

PLANETARIUM TRIP

Students at the Santa Anna Adventist School recently went on a field trip to the Abilene Planetarium. The lecture on the space shuttle and the light display of the stars were spectacular. This made a good conclusion to the Astronomy Unit the students had been studying in science class. Along with our study of Astronomy, we have been working on the Star Honor. When this is completed, students will receive a special honor patch. While in Abilene, the students took time to stop at the Fine Arts Museum. They were displaying an Indian Art Collection with many sand paintings. This exhibit especially caught the interest of the students because they had recently completed the Indian Lore Honor in the Pathfinder Club.

The group had a very rewarding time and felt that the time was spent well. They would like to thank the Abilene Public School System and compliment them on their excellent planetarium.

The field of candidates for the April school board election in Santa Anna remains at five. Current board member Bill Martin along with Gary Absher, Danny Kellar, Wade Jones and Don Bible are the present contenders for the two positions open. Current board president Max Eubank is not seeking reelection. Others may file through the March 6 filing deadline.

At the February school board meeting, the contract of Santa Anna High School principal Dale Freeman was extended by the board of trustees, giving Freeman a two-year contract. The action was in executive session at the conclusion of the last regular meeting. The salary of superintendent Gerald Brister was also set after an executive

During the regular meeting, led by Max Eubank, board president, the group approved a request for an ultrasound machine to be used for minor injuries in the athletic department, and the bid of Lydick Roofing Company of Brownwood was accepted for repair to several buildings on the school campus.

Superintendent Brister reviewed legislation that will affect the local school district and also briefly reviewed future building needs for the school system.

Replacement of the heating and air conditioning units at the high school was discussed but no action taken. Bills and accounts for the past month were reviewed and approved for payment.

The next regular session of the school board will be Tuesday, March

In other school news, Santa Anna Senior Monique Spillman competed in the Region Insterscholastic League solo and ensemble contest Saturday in San Angelo. Miss Spillman, who performed a flute solo in the Class I (advanced) division, received Division I ratings. This rating qualifies Miss Spillman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Spillman of Santa Anna, for the state competition held June 1-3.

In addition to the excitement regarding 'Soccer in Santa Anna,' other Santa Anna sportsters will be participating in a Tennis Tournament in Junction on March 1 and 2. Mr. Smith will accompany Chris DeLeon, Ramon Vasquez, Greg Vasquez, Johnny Vasquez, Doug Warnock, Irma Castillo, Jeanene Jones Nola Hugh, Stephanie Hartman and Staci Gunter to the weekend tournament.

Finally, many gifted students will be participating in a Math Contest in Abilene on March 2. The group includes Monique Spillman, Jeannie phototototototototototo
