

At Least 82 Dead After 3 British Trains Collide

Death Toll Expected To Rise Above 100

HARROW, England, Oct. 8 (AP) — Two collisions involving three trains killed at least 82 persons here today and piled wooden coaches 50 feet high in a mass wreckage.

ROK Infantry Retakes Hill As Wild Fighting Goes On

By GEORGE A. MCARTHUR SEUL, Oct. 8 (AP) — South Korean infantrymen, fighting with bayonets, tonight recaptured a vital shell-cratered peak overlooking the ancient invasion route to Seoul in a brutal battle that has raged since Monday night.

Officials of the government-operated railways said the death toll may top 120. More than 130 persons were treated at hospitals and hundreds received first aid.

When the known dead passed 80 about eight hours after the wreck, a railway official said: "If our worst fears prove right there will be another 40 dead in the wreckage we haven't been able to reach yet."

During the afternoon, a roaring artillery duel drove both sides away from the crest.

AP correspondent Milo Farneti reported from the front that the crest of White Horse Mountain was a shell-shattered no man's land. It had changed hands 12 times.

Some motorists complain they still can make only one light per change, although longer change cycle and double alternate change pattern increases the maximum non-stop speed through town from 14 to about 20 miles per hour.

Adlai Rally Plans To Be Made Today

Final plans for an area rally which will bring Speaker Sam Rayburn here for a Saturday night address are due to be made at a meeting tonight of the Howard County Stevenson-Sparkman Club.

Adlai Selects McCarthy As Target In Wisc.

By JACK BELL MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson carried his presidential campaign into the Wisconsin ballwick of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy today with the assertion that the "voice of the accuser" must not still all others in the land.

The Democratic nominee—in an apparent team operation with President Truman and Sen. John Sparkman, the vice presidential candidate—geared up a fresh onslaught on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and the Republican record on domestic and foreign policies.

He picked McCarthy—in advance text handed to newsmen—as the object for attack in a speech prepared for a University of Wisconsin Field House audience.

Democrats contend that McCarthy has done just that. And Stevenson told an enthusiastic overflow audience in Detroit's 4,500-seat Masonic Temple last night that McCarthy had failed to turn up a single Communist with "wild and reckless" charges.

Catching real Communist agents, like killing poisonous snakes or tigers, is not a job for amateurs or children, especially noisy ones, he said acerbically.

Stevenson's attack on McCarthy followed by only a few hours President Truman's accusation that Eisenhower had betrayed his life-long principles and his best friend by embracing "moral pigmies."

Additional Parking Meters Due In City

Big Spring is due to get some additional parking meters. City Commissioners Tuesday authorized installation of the clocks on three blocks where parking is now unrestricted. Meters will be put up between Second and Third on Gregg and between Second and Fourth on Johnson Street.

The commission approved second reading of an ordinance annexing a small portion of the Banks Addition in northwest part of the city. The land being annexed is part of the site for a group of defense rental houses and must be within the city limits to satisfy government loan requirements.

Introduced at the meeting was a letter from O. A. Gassaway, regional FIA official of Fort Worth, who said it was his understanding that the city is to pay for paving in and around Wray Terrace Addition. Commissioners denied that such is true, pointing out that they had agreed with the developer to include the paving in the year's paving program so that developer would have the benefit of lower unit cost resulting from the larger contract. All paving was to be at the developer's or other property owners' expense, they said.

City Manager H. W. Whitney and Attorney Walton Morrison informed the commission that FIA had been advised of the situation, and told that the city never pays the cost of installing paving, a property owner's responsibility. They have heard no more from the FIA official, Whitney and Morrison said.

The city manager was granted authority to purchase a new truck for use in the water department. No action was taken on a request for clarification of a zoning situation wherein a cafe operator desires to sell beer but finds only a portion of a business place within the beer zone.

Lewis Leaves Impression He Backs Stevenson

CINCINNATI (AP)—John L. Lewis still hasn't said, in so many words whom he favors for the nation's next President but he declared yesterday he didn't see how anyone could vote for a man "whom Taft may lead around by the collar."

The reference to Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio was taken to mean by 3,000 United Mine Workers delegates that Lewis, their long-time president, does not favor the candidacy of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential candidate.

Taft currently is on a speaking tour in behalf of Eisenhower and Democratic leaders have claimed Taft is bossing the Eisenhower campaign.

Lewis' speech yesterday started off the mine workers' convention, which is expected to last at least a week in Sen. Taft's home town.

Termining the Ohio senator "the articulate zombie of predatory and oppressive wealth in America," Lewis said: "I think it is beyond human comprehension that an American with a child to rear and a wife to protect should ever deign to support him, Taft, for public office or any other man whom Taft may lead around with a collar around his neck."

The United Mine Workers, as an organization, haven't come out in support of a presidential candidate since they went along with former President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1936. In the last three elections, however, Lewis has supported the Republican nominees.

A financial report submitted to the delegates showed the union had a balance of $34,032,833.48 on hand as of last June 30. Four years ago it was $13,184,834.

Sugar Cane Harvest Delayed By Rains

PAHOKEE, Fla. (AP)—Flood waters from heavy rains have covered about 10,000 acres of muckland along the southeastern shore of Lake Okeechobee.

Pumps were working around the clock today as farmers sought to drain off from four to six inches of rain which saturated this section of South Florida in a 24-hour period.

Officials of the U. S. Sugar Corp. said harvesting of sugar cane would be delayed. Vegetable crops were threatened.

More rain was forecast for today and tomorrow.

AND WHAT ABOUT CONFETTI Texas Politics Is Humorous As Blondes, Balloons Noted

By The Associated Press

Big grins and slight chuckles took over usually serious Texas politics Tuesday, at a giggle-a-minute pace. But it was still politics.

Take the scene at the State Fair of Texas. A pretty blonde in the Stevenson - Sparkman Democratic booth, busy sorting literature to hand out, had time to say a cherry "good morning" to passersby.

She apparently didn't know what was about to happen across the boulevard.

When the fair opened Saturday, the Democrats had a fair-sized white booth with large placards on all sides and painted red, white and blue. Big billboards went up, and Republicans launched a huge silver balloon with "Ike" printed on it. But still no blonde.

In Houston, Eisenhower-Supporter John Blaffer had let his enthusiasm for the Republican candidate get him in a slight jam.

Blaffer, an oil man, ordered some confetti to throw on a parade planned for Eisenhower next Tuesday when he is in Houston for a speech. But because of a tight schedule the parade has been cancelled.

Now Oilman Blaffer has his confetti—a whole truckload—and no place to throw it.

On a downtown Dallas street, a

Stevenson backer was telling an "undecided" voter why he should "stay with the Democrats."

"Remember those 35-cent steaks you didn't have the money to buy?" asked the Stevenson man. "Look what the Democrats have done for you!"

"Yeah," said the wavering Democrat, "but they ain't done nothing for me last year!"

The Dallas Morning News, supporting Eisenhower in the present campaign, joyfully announced that Adlai Stevenson was backing Ike.

Of course it was another man—not the Democratic Party's candidate.

The News quoted Caddo Mills Druggist Adlai Stevenson, 59, as saying "It was my name long before the Democratic nominee was born."

Both men were named for the same man—the nominee's grandfather—but are not kinsmen.

About the only serious news of the day, politically speaking, came from State Democratic Headquarters.

The Democrats announced Senator Tom Connally would introduce the presidential nominee when he speaks in Houston, Oct. 18. And Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, the Democrats said, would introduce Stevenson, Oct. 17, when he's in Dallas.

Speaker Rayburn also announced that in case of rain Stevenson would speak at the Sportatorium, a wrestling arena, instead of at the State Fair grounds.

Which led a wag to remark that any candidate that could get the "blame" for a rain in Texas would surely carry the state.

Arbitrator Upholds Firing Of Printer For Red Activities

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—A court-appointed arbitrator has upheld an employer who fired a union printer on the grounds he neglected duty by participating in pro-Communist propaganda during a vacation in Europe.

The arbitrator, Theodore W. Kheel, ruled yesterday in a dispute involving the Publishers Printing Co., and linotype operator Arthur Deutsch, a member of the AFL New York Typographical Union.

Kheel found that Deutsch toured Europe early this year, visited Moscow with a group of trade unionists, and upon his return repeated anti-American propaganda of the Communists in speeches before labor groups.

Deutsch hammered the company that employed him by his alleged activities, Kheel said as he quipped a document tending to show the firm might lose its eligibility to handle federal government printing.

President Will Lead Pancake Day Parade

SHENANDOAH, Ia. (AP)—It's Pancake Day in this town of 7,000 today, and there's a special feature this year: President Truman and Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio riding in the same parade.

That's not all, either. The two political heavyweights will deliver speeches from the same platform this afternoon—2 1/2 hours apart.

And, in keeping with tradition at the annual Harvest Festival popularly known as "Pancake Day," there'll be free pancakes for everyone.

General Chairman Howard Brannen estimated that a crowd of 50,000 would be on hand.

"Why, the pancakes alone will bring out 20,000," he said.

President Truman will ride at the head of the parade, Sen. Taft in the middle.

Plans were carefully laid to avoid any face-to-face meeting between the two.

The President's special train is due in at 10:30 (CST). The senator will arrive by air shortly before.

After the parade and a visit to the National Guard Armory for free pancakes, Mr. Truman will deliver his address at the high school football field. It's scheduled for 12:30 p. m.

Sen. Taft is expected to listen to the speech over the radio at the Elks Club. Paul Ferguson, heading the Taft reception committee, said two stenographers and a recording device would be ready to take down the President's words so Taft can make a rebuttal in his scheduled address at 3 p. m.

Texas Auto Dealers In El Paso Meet

EL PASO, Oct. 8 (AP)—A resolution asking an end to restrictions and controls on the auto industry was passed here yesterday by the closing session of the Texas Automotive Dealers Association.

The action followed criticism of the Office of Price Stabilization by James C. Moore general counsel of the National Automotive Dealers Association.

He said the OPS caused nothing but confusion throughout the industry.

"The dealers named E. A. Kinsel, Beaumont, president to succeed Harry E. Kelly, Austin, E. J. Pennington, Galveston, was named first vice president.

Others elected were Floyd Radel, Wichita Falls, second vice-president, and Frank Gillispie Sr., San Antonio, third vice-president.

Tom J. Crooks, San Antonio, was named manager and treasurer.

The retiring manager is W. A. Williams, Austin, who organized the association 35 years ago.

Directors, whose terms expired, were re-elected. They included H. D. Shepard, Plainview, and Tom J. Dromgoole, Laredo. Three new directors elected were Tom Davis, Odessa; C. B. Smith, Austin, and J. A. Welch, San Benito.

Shivers Urges New Changes In Election Code

AUSTIN, Oct. 8 (AP)—Further improvement of the Texas Election Code is needed despite long strides by last year's Legislature, Gov. Shivers said yesterday.

He asked the president of the State Bar Assn. to name a committee of attorneys to work on the faults in the new code and to make recommendations which the governor could make to the Legislature meeting in January.

Shivers listed eight major problems to be studied and said other discrepancies also made the need for revision of the code obvious.

"Among the provisions needing clarification, amplification or correction are the following," he wrote:

1. The law does not make it clear whether the deadline for candidates to file for a place on the ballot is also the deadline for payment of the filing fee.
2. The formula for determining filing fees cannot be applied to the office of lieutenant governor, and, therefore, there is doubt as to what the correct filing fee for this office should be.
3. Absentee voting for the second primary starts before the returns of the first primary are certified by the executive committee.
4. There is question whether the code provides for the cross-filing of candidates. If it does, the provisions governing it are obscure and inadequate.
5. The date on which reports of campaign expenditures must be in the secretary of state's office needs clarifying.
6. It is not clear whether a vacancy on the ballot must be filled if the nominee of a convention or primary withdraws.
7. It is not clear how many loyalty affidavits are required of the candidates. Is one required for the primary and also the general election?
8. Moving the primaries to an earlier date has been suggested.

Cattlemen, Trucks Are Indicted For Smuggling By U.S.

EL PASO, Oct. 8 (AP)—Eight cattlemen and trucks from West Texas were indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiring to smuggle cattle into this country from Mexico.

Holvey Williams, assistant U. S. Attorney, said 200 head of cattle brought across the Rio Grande have been identified.

The men indicted are Dillard (Dixie) Babb, Wayne Babb, Irving Babb, and Tom E. Grubb, rancher in the Sierra Blanca area; Leonard Wilkerson, Fred Wilkerson and H. L. Wilkerson, San Angelo truckers, and Joe T. Merchant, Midland cattle buyer.

According to the indictments, the men took part in the smuggling operation starting Oct. 1, 1951. Cattle were sold in Midland and San Angelo.

Cisco Man Killed In Truck, Train Mishap

EASTLAND, Oct. 8 (AP)—The collision of a truck and a Texas and Pacific passenger train killed a Cisco man and critically injured another here yesterday.

Ben B. Mize, about 25, died instantly. M. Moran, also of Cisco, was in critical condition. He was pinned in the wreckage for half an hour.

HST Tries To Ruin Reputation Of Ike

ABOARD NIXON TRAIN (AP)—Sen. Richard M. Nixon said last night President Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson "are trying to destroy the reputation and standing of a great American, Dwight Eisenhower, regardless of its cost to the prestige of America."

Speaking to a Republican rally at Canton, O., the Republican vice presidential nominee said, "They now blame Eisenhower for everything, for high prices, for tremendous losses to the Communists—even for Korea."

The California senator, on the first leg of a two-day whistle-stop tour of Ohio, said, "In the order of importance the Democratic lineup now reads: Truman, Acheson and Stevenson," and added: "Stevenson's failure to disavow these dishonest attacks against Gen. Eisenhower by Truman and Acheson has spelled his defeat." Nixon said it is essential to maintain a sound national economy in order to beat world communism.

"I charge that the record of Truman and Acheson—as well as that of Acheson's former assistant, Adlai Stevenson—gives the American people no hope for safety at home from the sinister threat of Communism. If we continue this team in office for another four years, there will be more Alger Hisses, more atomic spies, more crises."

The election of Eisenhower, the senator said, will be the signal for the general to rid the government of Communists "and the people who put them there."

At Canton, Nixon addressed a near-capacity crowd in the 6,000-seat Memorial Hall. A police-estimated crowd of 750 greeted the senator on his arrival at the railroad station.

Earlier, Nixon gave rear-platform talks at Coshocton, Steubenville, Denison, Newark and Zanesville. Fire Chief Walt Weaver estimated 6,000 persons surrounded Nixon's train platform at Coshocton.

On his swing through the state's Eastern coal-mining area, Nixon said the way to defeat communism "without a war is to win the battle going on for the minds and hearts of the people. It's a spiritual and moral offensive. You've got to get the crooks out of Washington. Eisenhower will restore sound morals."

Grunewald Talks, So Contempt Case Ordered Ousted

NEW YORK (AP)—Henry W. (The Dutchman) Grunewald's belated testimony before a federal grand jury in Brooklyn has won him dismissal of a government motion that he be cited for criminal contempt.

The contempt motion against the Washington mystery man was dismissed yesterday by Federal Judge Matthew T. Abruzzo, who acted at the request of the U. S. attorney's office.

Grunewald first was threatened with the contempt motion last August when he failed to answer a subpoena. He blamed his absence on illness.

But since that time he has given testimony at six appearances before the grand jury, which is probing tax corruption.

Dairymen Hear Discussion Of Milk Marketing Order

By FRANKLIN REYNOLDS
More than a score of dairymen, members of the Tri-County Milk Producers Association with membership over Howard, Dawson, Martin, Midland and Ector Counties, heard a discussion of the proposed federal milk marketing order which will be voted upon Friday at a Settles Hotel meeting yesterday.

The meeting was called by R. P. Mayfield, president of the Tri-County organization and a director of the 26-county Central West Texas Milk Producers Association. The order, if approved in Friday's referendum, will be applicable over the 26-county area.

Meeting with the dairymen were J. K. Webb of Miles, himself a dairyman and manager of the 26-county association, and Hobart E. Crone of Washington, the representative of the Dairy Branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who has been designated to hold the referendum, in which all dairymen who were engaged in milk production in July are eligible to vote.

Webb said that approximately 60 per cent of the more than 500 dairymen in the 26-county area are members of the association. Crone said the USDA has approved this association as having the authority to vote its membership as a bloc. This vote of 60 per cent of the dairymen, he explained, will not within itself assure that the order will be approved since two-thirds of the dairymen voting must approve it before it can be made effective.

However, Webb, Mayfield and others present said they were satisfied it will be approved. They said they know of enough dairymen who are not members of the association who will vote for it. These dairymen who are not members of the association will cast their ballots at certain designated county Production and Marketing Administration offices. For this area such non-member dairymen will vote at the Stanton PMA office Friday between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

There are only three or four milk producers in Howard County who are not members of the association. It was stated in the meeting.

Other PMA offices at which balloting will be conducted are those at Abilene, Ballinger, Brady, Brownwood, Comanche, Eastland and San Angelo. Among the cities in the 26-county area are, in addition to those listed, Big Spring, Breckenridge, Cisco, Coleman, Colorado City, Lamesa, Midland, Odessa, Ranger, Snyder, Stamford, Sweetwater and Winters.

The imposition of this proposed order, Miles pointed out, has nothing to do with the retail price of milk which is a matter over which the OPS will continue to have jurisdiction.

He also emphasized that the operation and enforcement of this order will not require any expenditure of tax funds as does a price support program. The expense incidental to the milk marketing order will be borne by the producers and processors.

Webb enumerated what he described as distinct advantages to the milk producers. This order, he said, will guarantee them a fair test for butterfat and grade, fair weights, a fair floor price, a fair opportunity to determine whether or not a surplus actually exists, and then he described the protection and security which it will throw around the individual dairyman to prevent discrimination against him on the part of a creamery operator.

The proposed order provides that if West Texas dairymen are not able to supply sufficient milk to meet the area demands the creamery operator wants to bring milk from outside the area. If, however, there is sufficient milk being produced in the area and the creamery operator wants to bring milk in from the outside in competition, he must either pay as much for that milk at the source as he would be required to pay for milk here, or if he buys such outside milk cheaper, he must pay the difference into the association's treasury for pro rata distribution to the producers in the area.

Webb says he believes the order will serve to bring more people into the dairy business in this 26-county West Texas area because they can be sure of a stabilized price and freedom from being discriminated against by processing plants. All dairymen will have the same assurance, whether or not they are members of the association of which he is manager.

"This order will give West Texas milk priority on the West Texas retail market," he explains. As to the milk that would otherwise be shipped in from other states in competition, Webb says there is no way to determine here after it has been semi-pasteurized at the point from which the shipment originates whether it is actually Grade A or Class B milk. But with this order, he states, the people of West Texas can have the assurance that the milk they will be getting will be Grade A all the way from the cow to the breakfast table.

Sparkman Enters Taft's Home State

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., (AP)—The Democratic vice presidential nominee made four brief appearances and a major address in West Virginia yesterday, then headed into neighboring Ohio for more campaigning today.

At Huntington, Sen. John J. Sparkman expressed doubt that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, GOP presidential nominee, can ever get his Republican team to work together should he win the election. The Alabamian called out the names of Sen. Joseph McCarthy, Sen. James K. Eastland and other Republican congressmen, then said:

"I wonder if Eisenhower really believes he is going to whip this bunch into a winning ball team should he ever be given the chance."

On his swing through Southern West Virginia earlier in the day, Sparkman ridiculed the Republican cry that it is time for a change.

"Any change the Republicans could make could only be one to the 'hard times of Hoover,'" he said.

Sparkman had a crowd of about 2,000 in the Huntington City Auditorium, a highly receptive crowd estimated by police at 1,500 at Logan and smaller groups at Beckley, Mullens and Pineville.

He was scheduled to speak to a Jackson-Jefferson dinner at Columbus, O., tonight at 9 p.m. (EST).

Sheriff's Farm Is Location Of Still

HODGENVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Somebody played a dirty trick on Wayne County Sheriff Joe Burnett.

A 220-gallon moonshine still was set up on the sheriff's farm, located about 10 miles northeast of here.

The sheriff and his tenant, Earl West, notified officers here yesterday the still—one of the largest ever discovered in Larue County, which Hodgenville is the county seat—had been found in a heavily wooded ravine in a remote section of the farm.

Raiding officers destroyed the steam-operated still, 43 barrels of mash, 500 pounds of corn meal, 200 pounds of sugar, 500 pounds of malt and 13 gallons of moonshine whisky. No arrests were made.

Red Hearings To Be Continued

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The House Committee on Un-American Activities will continue its inquiry into Communist infiltration among the professions in Southern California when its hearing resumes here Oct. 17.

The hearing was recessed yesterday after a week of testimony from 64 witnesses, including 22 doctors, 25 attorneys, six actors, four writers, a pharmacist, a film studio laborer, a social worker and an "organizational worker."

Of the eight women witnesses, three were actresses and three were attorneys.

Sixty-one of the witnesses refused to answer questions regarding membership in the Communist party.

Only three—two writers and an actor—were co-operative. They named some 30 writers and actors, chiefly in radio, as members of a Hollywood "cell" of the party.

After yesterday's session, Miss Betty Selden was fired from her job as a Los Angeles County social case worker, a post she had held for 17 years.

Hearst Assets Put At $40 Million Thus Far

LOS ANGELES (AP)—William Randolph Hearst's estate has been appraised at $40,499,214 on the basis of assets listed so far, but attorneys indicated today that still other assets to be listed will boost the gross value to 50 1/2 million dollars.

A previous inventory listed assets at $16,070,255, mostly stocks in oil companies and enterprises other than newspapers. The second inventory, filed yesterday in Superior Court, includes 66,667 shares of non-voting common stock of the Hearst Corp., valued at $40,000,200, 1951, at the age of 88. He left most of his estate to his widow, Mrs. Millicent V. Hearst, their five sons and charitable foundations.

Voluntary Hike In Money Spent For Medicine Urged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—An economist told the President's Health Commission today that Americans spend about the same amount for liquor, tobacco and smoking supplies as they do for health and medical services.

Emerson P. Schmidt, director of economic research for the U. S. Chamber of Commerce said 1951 spending for medical services totaled about $13,600,000,000. This included government as well as individual spending. In the same year, the bill for alcoholic beverages, tobacco and smoking supplies was around $13,200,000,000, Schmidt said.

The commission is holding hearings on the best ways of paying for health care. It was appointed by President Truman last November after Congress several times turned down administration proposals for a national health insurance program.

Schmidt said it may be possible to encourage individuals to give higher priority to their medical needs than to such material things as automobiles and tobacco. Thus, he said, they voluntarily would increase their spending for health needs.

But he added there still would be a problem for the indigent and others unable to pay for all the medical care they may need.

Nelson H. Cruikshank, director of social insurance activities of the American Federation of Labor, told the commission organized labor "has tested the voluntary (medical prepayment insurance) plans and . . . found them all wanting" except for some he noted.

"In the field of medical and hospital care, we feel that a nationwide system of insurance is the only economical and fair solution to the problem of financing medical care for all the American people," Cruikshank said.

But he said development of a national health insurance plan need not exclude encouragement for voluntary programs.

Cruikshank praised some of the comprehensive medical service programs unions have established or joined, and which he said are operating successfully.

But he criticized "commercial insurance" and medical society plans controlled exclusively by doctors, where the patient has no "effective" control over the size of the fees.

Deems Taylor Seeks To Annul Marriage

Papers in the action were sealed.

Principal 'Tries' To Help Reported By Taking Notes

HOUSTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—A Houston elementary school principal said he was only "trying to help" the reporter who accused the principal of snatching away his notes.

Joe Maranto, Houston Chronicle reporter, said he was at the Smiley Elementary School to get information about overcrowding. Maranto said classes were being held on the ground under a tree.

The principal, Andrew P. Davis, said that the school had only "normal overcrowding." He said that no classes other than physical education classes were held outside.

Davis said he had taken "some notes" from Maranto because Maranto had promised to have them checked by the school superintendent's office.

Maranto said Davis had asked for the notes, that the reporter refused but said he would check with the superintendent. Maranto said Davis then told him everything Davis had told him about overcrowded conditions was false and snatched the notes away.

John Rust Sr., W. E. West, Die In Angelo Tuesday

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 8 (AP)—Two West Texas pioneers, each 90 years old, died here yesterday.

They were John Y. Rust Sr., founder of the San Angelo Telephone Co., and William Ethan (Bill) West, Crockett County ranchman and banker.

Rust, who retired from active management in 1948, brought the telephone company here in 1899. It grew from 75 customers to 11,000 telephones.

West divided his extensive ranch holdings among his children in 1936 and became chairman of the board of directors of the Ozona National Bank. Some 25 years ago he had 107 sections and 3,000 cattle.

West came to West Texas from Navarro County in the 1870's. Rust was born in Virginia and came to Texas when he was 19. He was the father of Major Armistead Rust of San Angelo.

People are daffy! The moment fall begins most thoughts turn to winter. But tried-in-the-dirt gardeners are daffier still. When fall comes their thoughts turn not to snow, sleet and ice. Instead they think further ahead to soft, balmy breezes faintly scented with hyacinths and jonquils.

Spread plans: food in the bottom of the prepared hole or trench and cover with two inches of soil before setting the bulbs. Set the bulbs upright, according to the depth required (four inches for grape-hyacinths and crocuses, six inches for tulips, six and one-half to seven inches for hyacinths and eight inches for daffodils).

Soviet Congress Set To Hear Plan Report

By EDDY GILMORE
And THOMAS P. WHITNEY

MOSCOW (AP)—Delegates to the 19th all-Soviet Communist party congress were expected to get a full report today on Russia's production-boosting new five-year plan. They may also get around to discussing sweeping changes to be made in the party organization and its by-laws.

These two subjects were the next major items on the five-point agenda as the first big party convocation in 13 years went into its fourth day.

The report on the Soviet Union's fifth five-year plan, which extends from 1953 to the end of 1955, was to be presented by M. Z. Saburov, chairman of the State Planning Commission.

Advance reports show the plan envisages an immense buildup of Soviet economic strength, boosting the nation's production by 70 per cent over that of 1950. New goals have been set to boost steel output by 62 per cent, coal by 43 per cent and petroleum by 85 per cent by the end of 1955.

After approving the five-year plan, the 1,366 delegates will take up the new statute outlining the reorganization of the party administration.

This calls for abolition of the Politburo, a Central Committee agency under the leadership of Prime Minister Stalin to which world communism long has looked for guidance. Replacing it will be a Presidium which will "guide the work of the Central Committee be-

Fire Damage Heavy In N. Texas Town

KNOX CITY, Oct. 8 (AP)—An early-morning fire today destroyed three business houses in this North Texas town. Six persons were injured when an explosion occurred in a building. Damage from the fire and blast was estimated at $200,000.

Firemen said the blaze began about 2:50 a.m. in a frozen food locker plant in the back of a two-story brick building housing the City Grocery and Market. The locker plant, the grocery and the adjacent Hoge Pharmacy were leveled.

The six persons hurt were standing on top of the one-story pharmacy watching the fire when an explosion in the pharmacy split the roof. Dan Steaky, Knox City, with both legs broken, and Theodore Russell, Benjamin, with a broken hip, were taken to an Abilene hospital. Less seriously injured were John Nixon, Bill Dixon, Toby Lane and Ed Jetton, also of Monday.

Charles Reed, owner of the two-story brick building housing the grocery and locker plant, said he, his wife and four children were awakened by smoke at 2:50 a.m. in their apartment on the second floor. They fled through smoke to safety.

Fire departments from Knox City, Munday, Haskell, Rule, Rochester and Benjamin answered the alarm. The fire was not brought under control until about 6 a.m. They were unable to say what caused the blaze.

Reed estimated his loss at $100,000 and estimates of others brought the total to $200,000. Part of the loss was covered by insurance.

Power and telephone lines in Knox City, a town of about 1,500 population, were put out of commission by the fire.

Cotton Crop Forecast Is Below Goal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—The Agriculture Department, in a harvest-time report, today estimated this year's cotton crop a 14,413,000 bales.

This figure is 524,000 bales more than last month's forecast of 13,889,000 bales. It compares with 15,144,000 produced last year and 11,755,000 for the 10-year (1941-50) average.

The indicated crop is sharply below the government's production goal of 16 million bales—a goal that was designed to cover domestic and export needs for the marketing year and to add some cotton to reserve stocks.

Domestic and export requirements are not being forecast at around 13,750,000 bales.

Dry weather in some sections of the cotton belt cut production below what it would have been had conditions been more favorable.

Production of American-Egyptian type cotton was estimated at 79,800 bales compared with 47,200 year average.

Production of lint cotton was estimated at 280.2 pounds per harvested acre compared with 271.9 last year and 261.6 for the 10-year average.

Condition of the crop Oct. 1 was at 71 per cent of normal compared with 74 a year ago and 72 for the 10-year Oct. 1 average.

No estimate of cottonseed production will be made until after the full crop has been ginned. But if the ratio of lint to cottonseed is the same as the average for the past five years, production would be 5,858,000 tons compared with 6,325,000 last year.

No figures on the per cent of the planted acreage abandoned by states was given. The acreage for harvest, the Oct. 1 condition of the crop, the yield per acre, and production, respectively, by states included:

Arkansas 1,865,000, 70, 322 and 1,250,000; Louisiana 884,000, 80, 388 and 715,000; Oklahoma 1,100,000, 39, 94 and 215,000; Texas, 1,114,000, 81, 171 and 3,600,000; New Mexico 296,000, 93, 486 and 300,000.

Production of American-Egyptian cotton by states was estimated as follows: Texas 27,000 bales, New Mexico 12,000, Arizona 40,000.

Defense Secretary 'Riding Herd' On Armed Services

FORT WORTH, Oct. 8 (AP)—The Secretary of Defense is beginning to "ride herd on the military services," Lt. Col. Rush Gibbs said yesterday.

Gibbs is chairman of the Southwest A and M Forces Regional Council of the Munitions Board. He addressed a joint meeting of the council with the Southwest Regional Defense Mobilization Committee.

He said the Air Force, Army and Navy have learned to work together in the Southwest. He also reminded the groups that the last sessions of Congress "put teeth into the 1947 unification act."

Members of the two groups heard reports from representatives of governmental agencies on defense procurement activities.

New Freeway Sections Due To Be Opened

The first section of the six-lane LaPorte expressway will be opened to traffic Friday. The first section of the four-lane U. S. Highway 73, the Port Arthur super-highway, will be opened by early next week.

City To Seek Money For Rock Quarried Near Webb Air Base

Claim for $12,000 will be filed by the city against the federal government for rock quarried from the side of a mountain on what used to be Municipal Airport.

The city will request royalty payment at the rate of 10 cents per cubic yard for 120,000 yards of rock. The material, used in construction at Webb Air Force Base, was removed without permission of the city, officials said.

Commissioners Tuesday authorized Mayor G. W. Dabney to execute claim for the royalty payment.

$100,000 Damage Is Caused By Flames

HOUSTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—Damage was estimated at $100,000 in the wind-swept fire at the Alabama Catering Co. here yesterday.

Owner I. S. Rubin said the blaze apparently started in an accumulation of grease in the smoke stack over the barbecue pit.

One person was injured when a pumper truck going to the fire collided with an automobile. The driver of the car, Mrs. Rose Lee, 32, was tossed out and suffered head injuries.

for God one minute for Nation

THIS IS OUR MINUTE IN TIME.

It may not come again.

This is our minute to think, not to dream. To speak, not to listen. To lead, not to follow.

Each of us — you, your family, your friends and neighbors, can . . . must do something to fill this minute with greatness.

Soon our country will select its leadership for the next few years. It is important that we select wisely. It is important that each of us register a choice by voting. But voting alone is not enough.

Let's do something more. Because only by "something more" can our leadership be made truly wise and this minute made great.

Our duty and our privilege are simple.

We need Faith —

To bring God to the Halls of Government; to restore Him to the Councils of Business; to return Him to the Front Room of Life. Let's do as wise men of old have always done. Let's spend our minute with God.

And as we reach for the ballot or the voting machine lever . . . let's reach into our hearts and find a prayer. Then, truly, this minute . . . our minute . . . will be great, that peace and happiness may visit our children.

Another shallow location in the Cornet-2900 area of northeast Howard was staked.

clarifying support for every Republican candidate "whether that man is the blackest of reactionaries, a diehard isolationist, or even a moral scoundrel."

And there he tied into Eisenhower for failing, the President said, to defend Gen. George C. Marshall, World War II chief of staff and former secretary of state, against attacks by McCarthy and Jenner. He did not mention the senators by name.

"Eisenhower early in the campaign told a news conference that he had no sympathy with anyone who questioned Marshall's integrity or patriotism."

Truman contended at Colorado Springs that Eisenhower was trying to win votes "by playing upon the casualties and sacrifices in Korea."

Truman said the man who is President has the "awful responsibility" of deciding to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

"Let me tell you, too," he said, "that is a decision that a President has to make for himself—he can't pass the buck."

Last night at Denver, Truman said that his argument that it would be a mistake "to send a professional military man to the White House" was supported by Eisenhower's own language of four years ago.

He quoted the general as saying in 1948, in rejecting suggestions of a nomination, that nothing at that time qualified for political life a man who has "spent his adult years in the military forces."

And, added the President, "that statement is as true today as it was then."

He declared that it would be "a great mistake to send a professional military man to the White House."

Eisenhower removed himself from presidential consideration in 1948 in a letter to a New Hampshire booster, Leonard V. Flander, publisher of the Manchester Evening Leader.

"It is my conviction that the necessary and wise subordination of the military to civil power will be best sustained... when lifelong professional soldiers, in the absence of some obvious and overriding reason, abstain from seeking high political office."

"Nothing in the international or domestic situation especially qualifies for the most important office in the world a man whose adult years have been spent in the country's military forces. At least this is true in my case."

Eighteen men whose papers are being processed by the Big Spring draft board will be inducted into the armed forces Thursday. They were to have left for Abilene by bus at 2:45 p.m. today.

Seventeen of the men are from Big Spring, and one is a transfer from the draft board at Lexington, Nebraska. Big Spring Jaycees were to be in charge of the send off program.

Those being drafted are Nathan E. Richardson, Billy Joe Maxwell, Kenneth G. Hutchings, Stuart E. Henderson, Manuel DeLoera, Billy D. Fuchser, Bruce L. Key, Louis E. Stallings, Bill H. Montgomery, Woodrow Willard Pratt, Max L. Thomas, Fred Biggers, Bobby Lee Hedrick, Earlie R. Rose, Billy Joe Mitchell, George Miles Jr., and Joe Thomas. Vidal Garcia is the transfer from another draft board.

Louise Block, local clerk, said that she did not know where the men would be sent from Abilene. Most of the local draftees are sent to Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio, however.

Two Men Transferred To Officers' Custody

Two men charged with non-child support were transferred from the Howard County jail to the custody of law enforcement officers from other states this morning. One of the men is destined for Missouri, and the other will be taken to Oklahoma City.

Thomas Dewitt Jones, who is being taken to Missouri, was arrested Monday evening by Deputy Dub Weatherford.

The arrest was made after a call from a Missouri sheriff.

Lloyd Rumbough, enroute to Oklahoma City, was arrested Tuesday morning by Deputy A. C. Abernathy.

Both men had been traced to Big Spring by their wives. Neither had lived here very long.

STEVENSON

McCarthy and Sen. William E. Jenner, Indiana Republican seeking re-election.

Both senators have attacked Marshall's integrity and patriotism, Jenner calling the general a "front for traitors."

To this evidence that Stevenson and Truman were working with the same signals was added the sign that Sparkman was running in the same back field.

Touring West Virginia's coalfield areas, Sparkman plugged away at the theme that the Democratic had brought this country prosperity which it would lose if the Illinois governor lashed out in his Madison speech against what he said was talk by the Republicans about "American division, weakness, hesitation and fear."

In an obvious reference to what he regards as GOP campaign tactics, he declared:

"Some, perhaps, find it politically profitable to cultivate the vineyards of anxiety. I would warn them lest they reap the grapes of wrath."

"I believe that our people have begun to tire of hearing how weak they are, how feeble is their faith, how urgent it is to limit and surrender their freedom. I would say: Enough of this weakness and cowardice."

Asserting that America has discovered "a new resolution in the face of adversity and a new serenity in the face of crisis," Stevenson added:

"I have said elsewhere in the campaign that this election is a struggle between accusation and fear, and confidence and faith. I say to you today that we need not dwell in fear."

Fire Causes Damage

DeLuxe Cleaners, 501 Scoury, was damaged by fire which originated in a clothes tumbler this morning, firemen reported.

Back of the establishment and a garage at the rear of the building were burned. A match inside the tumbler apparently ignited as the machine was being operated, firemen said. A pair of trousers also were burned.

and Berkeley. At San Francisco at 9:10 p.m. (12:00 p.m., EST) the GOP candidate will make his first big bid for California's 32 electoral votes.

Eisenhower was shown a dispatch yesterday quoting President Truman as saying that the GOP candidate "has betrayed his principles by publicly endorsing every Republican candidate in the country, regardless of 'whether that man is the blackest of reactionaries, a die-hard isolationist or even a moral scoundrel.'"

Eisenhower flushed and exclaimed: "Isn't that something!" but he refused to say anything further.

However, his advisors immediately arranged to get a report on the Truman speech for detailed study.

Adams said in his statement Truman was using "extravagant language" to "conceal the truth."

Merchants Buy Circus Tickets For Children

Merchants in Big Spring have subscribed to approximately 2,000 tickets for the Shrine Circus, to be held at the local baseball park Oct. 22-23. Tickets will be used to provide free admittance to school children.

Frank Lee, advance agent for the circus, said today that it is the aim of the Shrine Club to provide free tickets for every school child in Howard County if enough merchants will subscribe.

The three-ring circus is now appearing in Dallas at the State Fair under the title "Variety Club's International Circus." Lee said, "The Dallas appearance is the only one this year where the circus dropped the Shrine title."

Actual tickets to the circus have not yet been printed. The price will be 50 cents for children and $1 for adults. Lee said tickets would be available in downtown locations a few days before the show.

Lee also said that several of the featured attractions in the Shrine Circus appeared in the movie, "Greatest Show on Earth," now showing at the Ritz.

The circus show is two hours, he said. The acts include Dolly Jacobs and her trio of elephants, Mell Hall on the unicycle, the Malko Troupe on the trapezes, the Cliftons on the trampoline, the high wire Skytones, and the Ted Wayne Troupe on the teeterboard.

Horses, wild animals, elephants and clown will fill out the entertainment. Two aerial ballets will also be staged.

$1,000 Bond Is Set In Case Of Forgery

Bond of $1,000 was set for J. W. Fisk today in Justice of the Peace W. O. Leonard's Court. Fisk was arrested Sunday on charges of forgery.

Hoyt Halford, deputy sheriff, who brought complaint, said Fisk signed a check with the name J. Z. Smith at Paul's Liquor Store. Fisk did not make the bond and was still in jail this morning.

Photographic Group Will Meet Thursday

"Filters for Picture Improvement" will be the topic for discussion at Thursday night's meeting of the Big Spring Amateur Photographic Society. The session is set for 8 p.m. Thursday at the YMCA.

The discussion, which will be illustrated with slides, will be of particular interest to amateur photography.

It will be devoted mostly to the use of filters in black and white photography, with some mention of sky control with color film.

Two Women Are Fined On Charges Of DWI

Two women were fined in County Judge Walter Grice's Court this morning on charges of driving while intoxicated. They were Rose Morgan Brandon and Kay Reynolds.

Miss Brandon, arrested on West 15th, was fined $100 and costs of court. Miss Reynolds, arrested on West 3rd, was given a $50 fine plus costs of court. Both had their driver's licenses revoked for six months. City police made the arrests.

vans and other trucks were pressed into service to help carry the injured to hospitals.

Volunteer rescue workers claved at the wreckage with their bare hands to remove victims.

Bodies of the dead were lined up alongside the tracks. One passenger likened the scene to that of a wartime air raid. Clouds of burning steam robed through the batt led coaches, adding to the panic of passengers trying to grope their way to safety.

William Ingham of Wembley, riding in the fourth carriage of the London-Manchester Express, said, "It just felt to pieces around us."

The carriage just seemed to float up into the air. Then there was a crash and our coach was on the platform, or what was left of it."

Mrs. Elsie Webber, the tobacco vendor on the station platform, said the double impact almost knocked her little shop down.

"I ran out and saw smoke" and steam coming all over the place," she said. "The station was all twisted. There was wreckage piled 15 feet around my stand."

A flying chunk of debris smashed the station clock, fixing the exact time of the crash—8:19 a.m.

The great mound of wreckage in the station was made up of an undetermined number of coaches from the three trains. The coal tender of one locomotive was perched on top.

Two Traffic Mishaps Reported On Tuesday

Two traffic mishaps occurred in the 1000 block of West Third within a 15-minute period Tuesday evening.

Shortly after 6 p.m., vehicles operated by Jessie Archer, Ackery, and Charles A. Parrish, Artesia, N. M., were in collision. About 6:15 p.m. cars driven by Ethel Adele Hickson and William Ed Davis, both of Big Spring were involved in a mishap.

Top Cabot Sales Officials Tour Carbon Black Plant

Top sales officials of the Cabot companies, on a tour of production facilities, had a look at the Dixon plant here Wednesday.

Headed by Owen Brown, Boston, Mass., sales manager, the group came here in a chartered plane. From an early morning flight from regional headquarters in Pampa, Texas, the party had flown over West Texas properties of the concern.

Inspection of the Dixon plant, the only oil furnace type in this area, followed lunch here. Afterwards the flight was resumed to inspect Louisiana facilities. The group will continue to New Orleans and then members will return to their various stations from there.

Others in the party were Ray P. Rossman, Boston, assistant sales manager; Fred H. Amon, George J. Duffy, R. C. Mason of Boston; W. D. Anderson, New York; P. H. Delacour, R. S. Gorrie, Canada; B. E. Dougherty Jr., California; D. B. Doherty, C. P. Louthan, Don Simon, and W. Whitaker, Akron, Ohio; J. Kerston, California; T. Curly, Mexico; C. Stroth and B. F. Wilkes, New Jersey.

With them were W. L. Lovins, Charley Wooley, W. S. Dixon, for whom the plant here is named, Sam Coco and R. E. Dobbin. They were met by A. R. (Dave) Davenport, superintendent of the Cabot plant.

UN Postpones Truce Talks Indefinitely

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The Allies today indefinitely postponed Korean armistice negotiations and bluntly told the Reds the next move was up to them.

The dramatic action was taken on "higher authority," Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters said without elaboration.

The postponement was taken until the Communists either accept an Allied proposal for settling the stalemate over prisoner of war exchange or make "a constructive proposal of their own."

What may prove to be the final break in the talks, started 15 months ago, resulted from a deadlock in the knotty problem of prisoner of war exchange, last unresolved item on the agenda.

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior Allied negotiator, said the Allies would return to the truce site any time the Reds were ready to accept one of three alternate Allied plans for settling the POW question or were willing to make "a constructive proposal" in writing.

Hospital Show Set

The Odessa Sheriff's posse will present a variety program for VA Hospital patients Thursday. The show is set for 7 p.m. in the hospital recreation room.

KOREA

In 42 hours of almost continuous fighting.

White Horse, and nearby Arrowhead ridge, guard the sprawling Chorwon Valley and the gateway to the South. The peaks have been the main target of the Red offensive.

Farnett said the battered remnants of a Red battalion were dug in on one slope. South Koreans were just off the peak on the other side.

Big guns of both sides pounded the crest ceaselessly.

The hard-fighting South Koreans fell back from the ridgeline shortly after noon, Chinese reached the top, and were driven off by artillery. The savage battle still was raging.

Farnett said the Chinese may have lost as many as 3,000 men in the White Horse-Arrowhead sector alone.

Allied big guns ripped into one group of 1,000 Chinese reinforcements. Spotters said half the Reds were killed or wounded.

The Chinese assault force that smashed up White Horse today was powered by a wedge of 300 men driver's licenses revoked for six months. City police made the arrests.

At the crest the opposing sides with grenades, bayonets, gun butts and fists.

The South Koreans held off the Red infantrymen but had to give ground when the big Red guns opened up. When the Chinese reached the crest, Allied guns began a withering barrage.

There were bitter battles on a smaller scale on Arrowhead, Finger Ridge, and at other isolated points across the 155-mile battlefield.

Wherever the infantry clashed, Allied and Communist artillery joined in. In the 24 hours ended at 6 p.m. yesterday the Communists had fired 93,000 rounds—almost double their previous high for a single day.

The Communists also brought tanks into action near White Horse and again near Kumgong.

From a strong position, Arrowhead fought off about 450 Chinese before dusk last night. More Reds pushed into the valley between White Horse and Arrowhead just before midnight. A French counterattack drove them off.

Fighting flared for nine hours around Finger Ridge.

Russians May Have Downed U.S. Bomber

TOKYO, (AP)—A B-29 Superfort disappeared yesterday shortly after radar picked up an unidentified plane approaching it from the direction of the Russian-held Kuriles, the Far East Air Forces said today.

The Air Force said radar tracks of the two planes merged.

It did not say the unidentified plane was Russian or that the Superfort was attacked.

The FEAF reported armed F-84 Thunderjet fighters were guarding planes searching for the missing B-29. It disappeared off Eastern Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island, which is separated by a narrow strait from the Kuriles.

The spokesman said a voice distress call in English, presumably from the bomber, was heard and then a crew member shouted:

"Let's get the hell out of here."

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Wed., Oct. 8, 1952 11

The newspaper Asahi said Japanese police reported a plane, belching black smoke, crashed into the sea near Nemuro, Northeast Hokkaido, at about 2:20 p.m. yesterday. They said the plane hit in Russian-controlled territory.

The spokesman refused comment on that.

The Air Force said the Japan

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

One of the few lads who landed a track scholarship at Howard County Junior College is Johnny Randolph of Lamesa, who also plans to play basketball at the local school.

Randolph is the durable youngster who consistently beat Our Town's Carl Preston by a yard or two in the half mile run last season. Preston's champions insisted he would have prevailed in those duels, had he benefited from competitive running his junior year in high school. (Carl was ill most of that year.) Randolph's backers, of course, need only point to the record and that speaks very well for him.

But that as it may, the two are scholastics now and should give HCJC great strength in the middle distance races next spring. In addition, HC will have Ben Hitt to compete in the half mile, as well as the relay races.

STEVENS PROMISING HAND IN CAGE GAME

Randolph's buddy, Don Stevens, also from Lamesa, is going to make a fine basketball player for HCJC.

He was the innocent party in that furore which occurred during the District 1-AAA basketball race last season, when his eligibility was questioned, and the whole problem had to be threshed out at a meeting of the district's executive committee.

It developed Stevens' coach had used him in a practice game or two before he actually became eligible for varsity competition. Lamesa was eventually certified as the champion, however.

Ironically enough, Stevens' parents, who resided at Lamesa before they moved to Lamesa, considered the possibility of moving to Big Spring before transferring to Lamesa.

TAPE RECORDERS POPULAR WITH SCOUTS

More and more football scouts are now using tape recorders rather than notebooks and pencils on their missions.

They reason they think and talk faster than they can write and have all the time they need to organize their reports when they play back the recordings.

They're saying now Jimmy Phelan, the head coach of the Dallas Texans, had best be looking for a soft spot.

His troubles weren't of his own making, since he wasn't given the material to field a winner. Still, he's the fall guy.

Another Dallas football coach, Rusty Russell of SMU, is supposed to be on his last legs, too. SMU supporters don't compromise with defeat for long, not in this day of high priced football.

Heads may roll at Arkansas University, too, unless the Porkers start doing better.

UCLA's answer to TCU's Spread Formation was a hard charging eight-man line, which concentrated on dealing the tailback misery. And it happened just about the time some of the sporting gentry was suggesting that grid legislation was the only thing that would slow the Spread.

THURSDAY NIGHT

Shorthorns Play Seagraves Club

Having tasted victory last week and found it to their liking, the Big Spring High School football reserves will try to make it two in a row Thursday night in Seagraves.

The Shorthorns have their work cut out for them in that one, since they will be playing the Seagraves regulars.

Seagraves has had trouble in notching wins this season but is due to field a more seasoned outfit than Big Spring.

Seagraves has lost to Slaton, 18-

14; and Tahoka, 18-7.

Seagraves' strength lies in fine line play. A standout performer for the team is a youngster by the name of Courzings, who sparkled against both Tahoka and Slaton.

The Shorthorns defeated Snyder's Bees, 20-7, after losing to Stanton and Sweetwater.

Tommy McAdams directs the Dogie attack and gets able assistance from such boys as Ronnie Wooten, Sonny Wimberly, Nugent Reid and others.

McKown On Way To New Passing Records At TCU

FORT WORTH, Oct. 8 (AP)—Ray McKown, the "Dumas Dandy," is on the way to a bunch of records this football season.

If he maintains his present pace, the jack-of-all-trades in the Texas Christian backfield will surpass the great records of Lindy Berry and Davey O'Brien, Horned Frog stars of the past.

In three games this year McKown has completed 40 of 75 passes for 547 yards. He also has gained 110 yards rushing for a total offense of 657—an average of 219 yards per game. By continuing at that pace the young man from Dumas could be the first TCU player to rack up more than 2,000 yards in many a season.

Fowler May Not Play This Week

FORSAN—The Forsan Buffaloes will not be at full strength when they play the powerful Mertzon Green Hornets in a District Eight six-man football game here Friday night.

Jerry Fowler, star back who scored twice against Sterling City last week end is due to miss the contest due to an injured elbow.

It was first believed Fowler would be out for the season but the injury was not as serious as first believed. He was released Sunday from a hospital in Big Spring.

Linam Regains Fight Crown

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 8 (AP)—Bert Linam, 172 rugged Austin slugger, regained his Texas welterweight boxing title here last night with a 12-round decision over Machele Garcia, 146½, Corpus Christi.

Linam finished strong and crumpled Garcia with a sharp left hook to the body in the tenth round. The title had been vacant since Linam entered the Navy last year.

Linam was decked in the first by a right to the jaw.

Knott Will Seek Third Win Friday

KNOTT—The fast improving Knott Billies, with two victories in four starts to date, will try to improve upon that mark in a non-conference six-man contest Friday night.

The Billies, who shellacked Gall, 71-0, last week end, invade Sterling City for an exhibition with the rugged Eagles.

Knott returns to district competition Oct. 17, at which time it plays Loop here.

Negro Grid Star Gets Life In Pen

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 8 (AP)—A Negro high school football star from Burk Burnett was sentenced yesterday to life imprisonment on his guilty plea to the robbery beating of a woman storekeeper. Marlin Wayne Bishop, 17, told officers he attacked Mrs. May Dalton, 44, in her grocery store at Burk Burnett on Aug. 22. He said he needed money because his five brothers robbed him about football playing while they worked to support the family.

Mrs. Dalton was beaten with an iron pipe. She had two broken arms, a compound skull fracture and a broken shoulder. Bishop was an all-state tackle selection in 1951 at Washington High School in Wichita Falls.

Eves Must Help Ole Casey Against Foes

Kuazva Call Was Decisive

NEW YORK (AP)—Two main conclusions may be drawn from the World Series which ended yesterday with Brooklyn again in mourning for the sixth time.

The first is that Mickey Mantle, a 20-year-old from Oklahoma, is destined to become recognized with a few more seasons as the greatest baseball player in the history of the game. The kid can't miss. There's no defense against him.

The second, equally inescapable, is that Casey Stengel, the bemused manager of the New York Yankees, gets advance information from the elves before he makes each move. It would be difficult to prove that he isn't the smartest pilot the game has seen. His coaches are convinced that he is.

Mantle's contributions to his club's 4-2 Series clincher yesterday at Ebbets Field were more spectacular than Stengel's. Everyone in the arena saw the "Phenom" clout the home run and the single in successive innings—the first left-handed, the second right-handed—to put victory beyond reach of the Dodgers.

Nobody saw the wheels whirling in Casey's head when he waved in Ben Kuzava, to pitch to Duke Snider, the hottest of the Dodgers, with the bases filled and only one out in the seventh inning. But they were whirring, all right, and it is almost certain that Stengel knew the blond southpaw from Wya-dotte, Mich., would stop the National Leaguers lead there on.

Provided he does not go into the service, Mantle will be still better next year. In only his second season the kid has done everything for the Yanks that Joe DiMaggio did, in an inspirational way.

There was some debate last night whether Mantle or Johnny Mize, the old codger, was the outstanding Yankee in the Series. In this spectator's opinion, it was no contest.

Mize, it is true, came in when things were not looking too good midway of the series and made a number of tremendous contributions to the Yanks' victory. In fact, he kept them back in the contention when they appeared to be licked.

But Mantle was in there all the way, scaring Brooklyn pitchers to death and fielding like an angel. He led the assault which enabled the Yanks to tie it at 1-1 behind Vic Raschl on Thursday. He provided the insurance second run in Allie Reynolds' Saturday shutout by tripling in the ninth and scoring on Pee-wee Reese's error.

His home run on Monday proved the winning run in the 5-2 Yankee victory which sent the playoff to the seventh game, and he killed the Dodgers completely dead with his two big ones yesterday.

In all, the Mick propelled 10 hits in 29 appearances for an average of .345. By an amazing coincidence, this was exactly what Reese and Duke Snider did for the Brooklyn cause.

Snider, for a time, looked like the hero of the Series. In fact, the big swinger from California battled the Yanks right down to the wire while others on his company failed to last. But in the end he had to yield honors to Mantle.

The most unfortunate figure was Joe Black, the big Negro rookie who rocketed the Dodgers in front with a beautifully pitched triumph over Reynolds in the opening game but was turned back by Allie's shutout in the fourth. Manager Charlie Drayton obstinately held Black out of Monday's Yankee equalizer in order to have him well rested for yesterday's big one—and then Joe didn't have it!

Black sat the Yanks down very smartly for the first three innings yesterday, and we like to feel, as an expert second-guesser, that he would have done the same thing the previous day if Drayton had only put him in to protect a 1-0 lead in the last three innings.

Teacher Roy, who came in after Black had given up, didn't have a thing except a long time between pitches.

And that was the point at which Stengel wheeled out his secret weapon, Kuzava, the only pitcher in the park who wasn't about to collapse of the blind staggers. Casey used the same tactics against the New York Giants a year ago. It was Kuzava, perhaps the most obscure southpaw in modern history, who snuffed out the final three Giants last year.

HIS BIG THRILL

Mantle Was Big Guns, Say Bums

By RALPH RODEN
BROOKLYN (AP)—Moon-faced Johnny Mize grinned: "It's on ice."

The good-natured 39-year-old slugger of the perennial World Champion New York Yankees was massaging his aging feet in the dressing room when Gene Woodling hauled in Pee-wee Reese's fly for the final out of the thrilling 1952 World Series.

While the Yanks boisterously celebrated the winning of their fourth straight championship, the vanquished Brooklyn Dodgers were bemoaning the loss of their club's sixth fall classic in as many attempts.

A damp-eyed Jackie Robinson expressed the general opinion of the crestfallen National League standard bearers.

"It was that Mantle, that Mickey Mantle killed us."

"If it hadn't been for him I think this would have been a very different series."

"We came so close, we had so many opportunities. But Mantle was the difference."

Joe Black, Brooklyn's brilliant rookie righthander who started three of the games, winning the first and losing two including yesterday's 4-2 clincher, gloomily observed:

"I gnaws at you. It tears you inside. We got so many men on base. We kept saying to ourselves 'this is it,' and then there was that let down."

"It would have been better if we'd had our brains knocked out, lost 10-0. We would have felt better about it."

Mantle, surrounded by well wishers, was uncertain over the type of pitches he belted that decided the issue.

"I hit a curve or slider for my home run (in the sixth) and a similar pitch for my single (in the seventh)." The homer broke a 2-2 tie and the single drove in an insurance run.

"Winning the series was a greater thrill than my homers, yes even greater than my grand slammer against the White Sox during the regular season," Mantle said.

Jubilant Casey Stengel, at the Yankee helm the past four seasons, held court all over the room.

Old Case praised Mantle and relief pitcher Bob Kuzava, assured one and all that he was not retiring and then launched into a description of the game.

"Our first pitcher (Ed Lopat) he did real good but they crossed us up on a couple of bunts (Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella bunted in succession in the fourth after a single by Duke Snider). "The next pitcher (Allie Reynolds) pitched real good but he got a little tired and so did our next one (Vic Raschl) and that fella (Kuzava) came in there and really took me out of a jam."

Series Reeked With Thrills Throughout

By WILL GRIMSLEY
BROOKLYN (AP)—Things you'll always remember about the 1952 World Series, one of the most dramatic of them all:

First game: Joe Black, Brooklyn's giant rookie, blowing his fast one past Yankees bats... sitting in the locker room afterwards, calmly chewing gum and looking cool as an ice cube... "Nervous?" he says. "I was scared to death."

Second game: The roof falls on Brooklyn's young Carl Erskine, but Carl falls first... in one of the weirdest accidents in series annals, the Dodger righthander climbs a ladder an hour before gametime... he tumbles, bangs an old football knee and puts a knot on his head... Yankees add to the damage in a 7-1 victory.

Third game: Brooklyn wins, 5-3, and Dreesen says, "Legs won for us—we stole the game right out from under them with our base-running..." The hapless victim: the Yanks' squat catcher, Yogi Berra... Pirate-bolt, the Dodgers' Pee-wee Reese and Jackie Robinson steal second and third in the ninth inning, then scamper home on a passed ball... Berra, thumb on his catching hand bleeding, stands there dazed as the two runs score... "All my fault," says Yogi.

Fourth game: It's Black against Reynolds again but this time Reynolds is the master... Jackie Robinson, one of the game's great hitters, three times looking sheepishly at third called strikes... "Can't hit 'em when you can't see 'em," says Jackie. "But nobody'll ever do that to me again."

Fifth game: The lightning thriller at Yankee Stadium goes to the audacious Dodgers, 6-5... Johnny Mize's third home run in as many days—a three-run blast into the rightfield stands that sends a seat-shaking roar through the stadium... "But it's Duke Snider's day... Snider hits second homer, then wins the game in the 11th with a ringing double.

Sixth game: Vic Raschl and Allie Reynolds, Yankees two big slugers, double team Dodgers, 3-2... Two more home runs by Duke Snider, bracketing him with Ruth and Gehrig as only players to hit four home runs in one series... "Good, gosh, is that true?" asks the Duke, unbelieving.

Seventh game: Mickey Mantle's towering home run in the sixth and his single in the seventh, scoring another run... "Those Yankees didn't miss DiMaggio a bit—that Mantle killed us," says a morose Jackie Robinson in the Brooklyn dressing room.

back they will meet all year in the Brownwood game, that would be Leonard Fry, who completed 13 in 26 passes against Austin last week. Fry's favorite receivers are Bobby Carlisle, Jimmy Ellis and Marshall Gregory.

The Lions used the Spread extensively against Austin, with good results. Scout reports point out that they are well coached and are in top physical trim.

There's no better running back in high school circles anywhere than Ray Masters, 185-pound Junior fullback with the Lions, according to reports.

The Steers will continue to stress defense in their workouts this afternoon.

COOK LEAVES SCHOOL

Richard Hughes Goes Up To Steer Varsity Team

Richard Hughes, a tackle, has been promoted to the Big Spring High School A football team, Coach Carl Coleman announced this morning.

Hughes will replace Louis Stipp, who will miss the Brownwood contest this week end due to a charley horse in his leg.

Hughes has shown much progress with the B team. He is due to see considerable action with the Steers.

The Steers suffered a blow when it was learned Jerry Cook, junior linebacker and fullback, was moving from Big Spring to Nebraska. Cook had developed fast and was being counted on heavily in the remaining Steer game. He is due to leave school Thursday.

The Steers worked on defense against wide sweeping stuff in workouts Tuesday. In addition, the locals, who will go all out in efforts to score a win over the heavily favored Brownwood club, spent considerable time on their own passing game.

Passers were having some difficulty in seeking out their receivers.

It's anticipated that the Steers will be facing the best all-around back they will meet all year in the Brownwood game, that would be Leonard Fry, who completed 13 in 26 passes against Austin last week. Fry's favorite receivers are Bobby Carlisle, Jimmy Ellis and Marshall Gregory.

Gottlob Proves Top Threat In Lone Star Conference

By The Associated Press
Donald (Cotton) Gottlob is minus four carrying the ball but he has been such a terrific passer that he's the total offense leader of the Lone Star Conference.

The Sam Houston State star has completed 42 of 74 passes for 750 yards and six touchdowns. He is 210 yards ahead of Bill Lierman of Lamar Tech, who is second in total offense with 536 yards—223 rushing and 313 passing.

Sam Houston State still tops the conference in team offense with an average of 441.6 yards per game in three games. East Texas State is second with 402 yards per contest.

East Texas took over team defense leadership, however, as the Bearkats were knocked from the state's undefeated list, 33-25, by Sul Ross last week. East Texas has allowed an average of only 224 yards in 3 games.

The Lions boast the best rushing defense, an average of 34.3 yards, but Sam Houston's 30.7 average on pass defense is still tops.

Best runner in the circuit is Sonny Mobley of Sul Ross who has galloped 475 yards in 68 tries. His teammate, Don Bingham, is second with 416 in 40 efforts.

Pence Dacus of Southwest Texas, idle last week, held on to his second place in passing. Dacus has accounted for 352 yards in completing 31 of 63 passes.

Bob Frederick of Lamar Tech punted three times last week and boosted his average of 38.1 yards on 12 kicks, slightly better than the 37.2 average posted by Gay Walker of Sul Ross in 16 boots.

George Riley of East Texas tallied three times last week as the Lions routed Southwestern Oklahoma, 65-0, to catch Lamar Tech's Sammy Carpenter in the league scoring race. Both have 30 points. Lloyd Corder of East Texas has 25.

Four-State Meet Begins Oct. 24

TEXARKANA, Oct. 8 (AP)—The Four-State Invitation Golf Tournament will be held at Texarkana Country Club, Oct. 24-26, with Raleigh Selby of New London returning to defending his championship.

Entries include Charley Coe of Oklahoma City, captain of the Walker Cup team, and members of the North Texas State College golf team, national collegiate champions.

Golfers will compete from Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Texas.

Harlingen May Be Scene Of Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 8 (AP)—M. P. Wilson has been appointed by Fred Corcoran, tournament manager of the Ladies Professional Golf Association, to arrange women's open tournaments in this section of the country.

Wilson, director of the recent Betty Jameson Tournament here, said Harlingen and Monterrey had expressed interest in sponsoring women's open tournaments next year.

Wilson is permanent director of the Texas Open and also is a director of the Texas Golf Association.

Arlington Back Leads Scorers

By The Associated Press
The leading scorer in the Pioneer Conference is Kenneth Varva of Arlington State who has made four touchdowns and 15 conversions for 39 points.

His four-game total has helped keep Arlington State undefeated. Varva also is the conference leading pass receiver with six catches for 179 yards, an average of 20.8.

Two other Arlington State backs are leading Pioneer Conference divisions. Sam Howard heads the passers with 27 completions in 57 tries. His throws average 19.1 yards for a total of 459. Halfback Johnny Cozart is the leading punt returner with eight returns good for 221 yards.

The San Angelo Rams also are in the undefeated class. They have played only three games but have the best running average with 868 yards, an average of 289 per game. Arlington State has a total offense gain of 1,404 yards in four games.

San Angelo's quarterback Gene Henderson, replaced Caddo Sanders of Ranger last week as the leading conference runner. Henderson carried 24 times for 280 yards, an average of 11.75 per run.

The leader in kickoff returns is Tarleton State's Frank Earney, who has carried two back for 60 yards.

End Buck Martin paced the 1951 Georgia Tech football team in pass receiving with 37 caught for 506 yards, and in scoring with 9 touchdowns.

Despite Trinity Tilt, Christians Not Easing Off

FOR WORTH—Pleased but not satisfied with last week's performance against the University of Arkansas, the T.C.U. Horned Frogs will continue to drive hard this week. Coach L. R. (Dutch) Meyer reported there would be no letup on the practice field.

After three rugged games, the Christians will journey to San Antonio this week end for a Saturday night duel with an ancient rival, the Trinity Tigers. The Purple will take nothing for granted in that battle and will go all out from the opening whistle.

"We looked a great deal better against Arkansas," Meyer admitted. "We blocked hard, ran our plays right and hustled every minute. However, there is still a lot of room for improvement. We were never able to tack on the 'cinching' score and we still made some mistakes. We'll be driving every minute this week."

After losses to Kansas (6-13) and to U.C.L.A. (6-14), the 13 points the Purple counted against Arkansas were their first of the season. Too, they piled up the fine total of 377 net yards and 19 first downs. But best of all, they were able to get over the payoff line twice. The Frogs feel that they may have broken the dam that kept them from the goal line in the first two battles.

Meyer indicated that he would continue to work a lot with his double-wing formation. The old standby, given a new twist or two, caught Arkansas by surprise and marked up a bit of important yardage. However, Meyer has no idea of abandoning his spread formation. That setup worked well too against Arkansas and with better blocking, can still be dangerous.

This week's game with Trinity will be the first between the two schools since 1923. However, in the early days of Texas football they met often, starting in 1902. In fact, they have played 20 games with T.C.U. winning 15, Trinity 3 and two ending in ties. Trinity won the last meeting between them, 16-10 in 1923.

The San Antonio invasion will be a sort of "sentimental journey," Bill James, the Trinity athletic director, was a member of the famed North Side High team of Fort Worth back in 1915 and later went on to Centre College with such stars as Matty Bell and the late Bo McMillin. Later, James coached at T.C.U., Texas and Texas A. & M. He has long been a close friend of Coach Meyer of the Frogs.

Football Ratings For Games This Week

EXPLANATION—The Power Index provides a direct comparison of the relative strength of any two teams for this season to date. Thus, a 30.0 team has been 100 rating points ahead of a 20.0 team in their respective records, in which average scoring method of equal rating of opposition. However, this does not mean that a 30.0 team should defeat a 20.0 team 10 to 0 in the future, because the ratings have not been adjusted for such inequities as scoring factors as home team advantage, injuries, lineup changes, etc. Therefore, they are not to be construed in any way as gambling information. The Dunkel system correlates records of all college teams and was started in 1927.

Rodney Williams May Prove To Be Another Doc Mobley

ABILENE, Oct. 8 (AP)—Hardin Simmons may have another Doc Mobley on the way.

Ten years ago Mobley set a national rushing mark in football with 1,281 yards. This has since been broken—in fact Frank Goode of Hardin-Simmons rushed to 1,309 yards last season only to rank second in the nation.

But Goode departed last season and no one appeared likely to take his place at Hardin-Simmons as the season opened. But two weeks ago Sophomore Rodney Williams got his first chance as a Hardin-Simmons ball carrier. It was against Tulsa and the 178-pound runner rolled up 125 yards in 15 tries.

Against Trinity last week he got 163 yards in 28 runs. Thus Williams now has a record of 288 yards in 46 carries.

Williams hails from Austin, the city which furnished Wilton (Hook) Davis, who led the nation in 1947 with 1,173 yards. Mobley had returned from the armed forces to claim the best rushing mark again in 1946 with 1,262 yards.

Williams earned a letter as a defensive man last season after being out the initial part of the season with a fractured ankle.

The Austin flash did not see service in the Cowboys' opening game with Arizona State of Tempe, but in two games he has averaged 144 yards, which at the rate he is going would give him 1,296 yards for the season. The Cowboys have seven games remaining including Midwestern, Saturday's foe.

10 MILLION OF THEM
Refugees Causing Reich Discontent

By BRACK CURRY
BONN, Germany (AP)—What if 30 million people in New England were homeless refugees?
Western Germany faces a comparable problem with refugees there now numbering the fantastic total of 10 million. This is over a fifth of the total population.
American and German officials see these millions of stranded people as a potential tinderbox for revolution.

Already, failure to integrate the refugees into the life of West Germany has led to a wave of discontent. Large numbers of refugees are threatening to take the law into their own hands and march into more prosperous areas of West Germany unless their plight is eased.
The West German government is so alarmed over the flood of refugees that officials recently made a heart-breaking decision: to tell the East Germans to stay put under Soviet oppression.

In a special broadcast beamed to the East, the government said those whose lives are in danger must "hold on to the earth of the fatherland" and keep up a core of resistance against communism.
Government officials say West Germany has spent the equivalent of six billion dollars since 1945 on the care of refugees. The United States has chipped in additional millions.

Still the plight of the refugee in Germany is desperate.
The government says "In spite of enormous sums spent... only 35 per cent of them have become fully integrated, another 45 per cent have been provided with some kind of work, but are far from feeling integrated, while the remaining 20 per cent are still without work and without hope of becoming integrated in the future."
The bulk of the refugees—8,200,000—consists of Germans herded out of areas east of the Oder-Neisse line or from such countries as Poland, Hungary, Romania and Czechoslovakia.

In addition, there are some 1,700,000 who have bolted to the West from Soviet-occupied East Germany or East Berlin.
One of the chief causes of the misery of these new citizens is their uneven distribution. American officials say the refugee population is mainly concentrated in the agricultural states of Bavaria, Schleswig-Holstein and Lower Saxony.

Flowers Is Named To Post With SCD
J. T. Flowers, an irrigation farmer who lives just east of the Valley View School in Midland County, was elected supervisor from Zone 4 of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District last night.
He succeeds Warren Skaggs, Midland rancher, and will serve five years.
More than 75 persons attended the meeting and election which was held at the Valley View School.
The program included musical selections by the FFA band from the Midland High School. Among the speakers were Charlie Green, Midland County agriculture agent; Charlie E. Champion, Midland County Production and Marketing Administration administrative officer, and Ben Osborn, work unit conservatist with the Midland unit of the Soil Conservation Service. A conservation film "Neighbors of the Land" was shown.
Combined with the other program was a Midland County Farm Bureau meeting and a discussion of rural telephone service. A representative of the Texas Employment Commission was present to make a survey of the need for cotton harvest hands in the area.
Refreshments were served by the recently organized Valley View 4-H Club.
Film Producer Files Suit For Divorce
SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Film producer Samuel P. Spiegel has sued his wife Lynn for divorce on charges of adultery and extreme cruelty.
The complaint, filed yesterday, contends there is no community property and asks that Mrs. Spiegel be enjoined from filing any lawsuit as a result of their marriage.
Spiegel, who produced "The African Queen," for which Humphrey Bogart won an Academy Award, is known professionally as S. P. Eagle. The couple married in Las Vegas, Nev., in 1948 and separated last January.

Russian Jet Fighters Fire On US Plane

BERLIN, Oct. 8 (AP)—Two Soviet jet fighters fired several machine-gun bursts—apparently as a warning—across the path of a U. S. Air Force ambulance plane en route to Berlin to pick up patients today. The American plane escaped in a cloud and landed here unhit.

After interviewing the plane's crew, Maj. Gen. Lemuel B. Mathewson, U. S. commandant in Berlin, said an immediate protest would be made to the Soviet high command.

The plane, a two-engine DC3, was en route to Berlin with an Army nurse aboard to evacuate Army patients for special treatment at base hospitals in West Germany.

The crew reported the two Soviet MIG-15 jets swooped on them and fired several machine-gun bursts across their path.

The American pilot "flew directly into cloud cover which happened to be at hand and got away," Gen. Mathewson said.

Gen. Mathewson indicated the plane was abiding by the four-power rules at the time of the incident and was flying at the proper altitude and within the boundaries of the corridor reserved for Allied flights.

Yank's Adopted Son From Korea Now In College

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—In-soo Skippy Kwak, 19, formerly of Korea, is a new member of the West Virginia University freshman class.

The gate to a university education and maybe a degree in medicine was opened to Skippy seven years ago when he met Sgt. Gus Farr of Hinton, W. Va.

A forlorn little waif of 12, Skippy was sitting by a roadside in the rain when Gus first met him in Korea. Skippy became Gus' mascot. Gus ordered books from home and began teaching English to the youngster.

In a couple of years Farr sent Skippy home to Hinton, joined him there later and completed formal adoption of the youth. Skippy went on to school and Gus re-entered service.

Today Skippy is much closer to his goal of becoming a doctor—thanks to Sgt. Gus Farr.

And Gus? He was killed last month fighting to free the native country of his adopted son.

Rotary Urged To Pitch In On C-Chest Drive

Rotary Club members Tuesday were urged to pitch in on the current Community Chest campaign—either as workers or contributors.

Doing the urging were E. I. M. Wasson, general drive chairman, A. Swartz, a special gifts team captain and three local youngsters, representing the Chest's participating agencies.

Both Wasson and Swartz called the Chest campaign a tough task, but pointed to its importance to the youth of the community. Wasson in particular called attention to the difficulty of conducting a worthwhile endeavor in the face of numerous "turn-downs" to requests for assistance and contributions.

Young speakers were Robert Angel, Don Anderson and Ellen Gray. Angel described the YMCA's program as a supplement to training youth receives in school and church. It develops Christian leadership and gives young people the opportunity to "learn by doing," he said.

Anderson told of his experiences as a Scout from Tenderfoot to Eagle rank. Some 600 boys now participate in the activities of the 24 local Scout units, he stated.

Miss Gray, a Girl Scout, outlined opportunities for friendship, training and development afforded by her organization. Girl Scout work provides "opportunity unlimited" for gaining friends, learning how to work with people, develop skills in arts, crafts, homemaking and other fields, she declared.

Guests at the Tuesday program were Cal Swanson, New York; J. H. Lemons, O'Donnell; Buddy Pulliam, Midland; E. Kancher, Amarillo; and Elroy Miller, Snyder.

James Fryar and his grand champion Duroc barrow at the annual Howard County 4-H Club and FFA Pig Show are ample evidence that Howard County can produce top market hogs. The winning 4-H Club member raised this pig. The old-timers use to say "the pig is the strongest thing on earth. They've raised more mortgages than anything else." Normal years when Howard County produces a big grain crop, the county should follow with a big pork crop. This area probably has the best climate in Texas for swine production when feed is available. # Bigger Tax Bite Of Farm Income Planned By Snyder

If Secretary of the Treasury Snyder has his way it is apparent that the government is going to take a much greater bite out of the average farm and ranch income, and that the family had better head at least one of the kids for a school of business administration instead of A&M College.

Yes, bookkeeping is finally catching up with the farmer and livestock producer, particularly if the operator is on a cash basis for income tax purposes.

In letters to the chairmen of the House and Senate tax-writing committees, Snyder points out that a number of the livestock producers have requested that they be permitted to change from an accrual to a cash basis. He indicates that all these requests are going to be refused, because he says: "The accrual basis now being used by them better reflects their income than the cash basis which they desire to use, and (2) because the requests are not being made for any business reason but solely in order to obtain a tax windfall."

In other words, Snyder makes it plain that he is opposed to the plan which permits the livestock grower to pay a lower tax.

If the Treasury Department has its way the cost of raising a calf, a lamb, a pig or a colt into a full-grown animal must be capitalized. Growing livestock into mature animals is to be a problem in mathematics as well as genetics and feeding.

This means that the "building" of a calf into a cow must be charged to investment instead of expense, just like building a barn. When a farmer erects a barn he buys materials, and labor, employs an architect but it is not expense. It is all charged into his cost of the building and is capitalized. "Building" a cow is to be treated the same for income tax purposes.

BOOKKEEPING NIGHTMARE
John Snyder, secretary of the Treasury, wants to arrive at the cost of raising a cow by some method of bookkeeping. He wants the feed that goes into the calf, the wages of the ranch labor which goes into taking care of the calf, the lease on the land the calf runs upon, the fees of the veterinarian, the blackleg and Bangs vaccine, instead of appearing on the ranch and farm books as expenses to get into another column and at the end of the year added to the capital invested in the changing of a calf into a cow.

Aside from the bookkeeping, this means that the portion of ranch expenses which can be attributed to "building" a calf into a cow, cannot be deducted from operating expenses of the ranch or farm. These expenses become capital. As such, they are to be eliminated as a part of the operating expense of the business.

When the calf is sold—as a beef animal or as "a new cattle structure" built out of feed, grass and care, the total sales price is taxed as a capital gain. Capital gains are computed at half the normal rate or not to exceed a rate of 26 per cent.

A SEVERE TAX LOAD
Accountants rub their hands in glee when they contemplate what this will do to livestock operations on the farm. The producer loses, for tax purposes, most of what has been considered normal expense. The operating costs of his business are no longer to be deducted from his gross income.

Keeping books on farm operations is a complicated operation at best. If a ranchman or a farmer must be prepared to prove the percentage of his farm labor that is used in raising his calves (which must be capitalized) as against the part which is used to preserve the life and livelihood of his cows (and can be charged off to operational expenses) there will be created a bookkeepers' Valhalla.

If this proposed legislation becomes a law accounting will rival animal husbandry as a must course at every agricultural college in the nation!

Local accountants say ranchmen should contact their congressmen and senators asking them to oppose the Treasury's request for new legislation on this subject.

Some accountants believe the safest course for the livestock industry to pursue is for the Treasury to establish a uniform accounting system for livestock with a permanent set of unit livestock values.

CALLS IT WINDFALL
At several points in his lengthy letters to the two congressional committees Snyder refers to the cash basis as a tax "windfall" for the livestock breeders who are lucky enough to be using it instead of the accrual basis. At one point he writes: "The result is that farmers and ranchers using the accrual basis are now paying tax on the true amounts of their capital gains, whereas those on the cash basis are receiving windfalls which not only wipe out their capital gains but also a part of their income from other sources."

The Secretary of the Treasury estimates that perhaps 75 per cent of the cattle ranchers are now on the accrual basis and that a relatively small percentage of the farmers who raise some dairy or breeding cattle are also on that basis.

Following this estimate Snyder says: "However, the windfall now available to users of the cash basis has led to a large and increasing number of requests from farmers and ranchers now on the accrual basis for permission of the accrual basis for permission of the change to the cash basis."

"It is the duty of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to deny the requests of the livestock raisers to change from the accrual to the cash basis," Snyder writes.

In seeking legislation that will place all livestock breeders on the accrual basis or its tax-yielding equivalent, the Secretary of the Treasury says the option of the cash basis or accrual basis is "a tax situation which deserves serious legislative consideration. The problem is of such importance that I feel it should promptly be brought to the attention of the congressional committees concerned with taxation... it is clear that this matter requires legislative consideration not only for the protection of the revenues but also in the interest of equity among taxpayers... in view of widespread interest in this matter, it is considered desirable that the Department's position be made known without delay."

Water Washes 10,000 Farms Away Annually

CORPUS CHRISTI, (SC)—Ten thousand farms of 100 acres each in the United States are being carried away by water erosion alone each year, Congressman John E. Lyle said in a Kiwanis Club address here, in pointing out that only seven inches of topsoil covering the American continent stand between the people of this country and extinction.

"Soil and water are our greatest natural resources, they must be conserved if they are to support the population of more than 200 million this country will have before many years," Lyle stated.

He said that four of every five gallons of water that falls annually in this country is carried off into the sea.

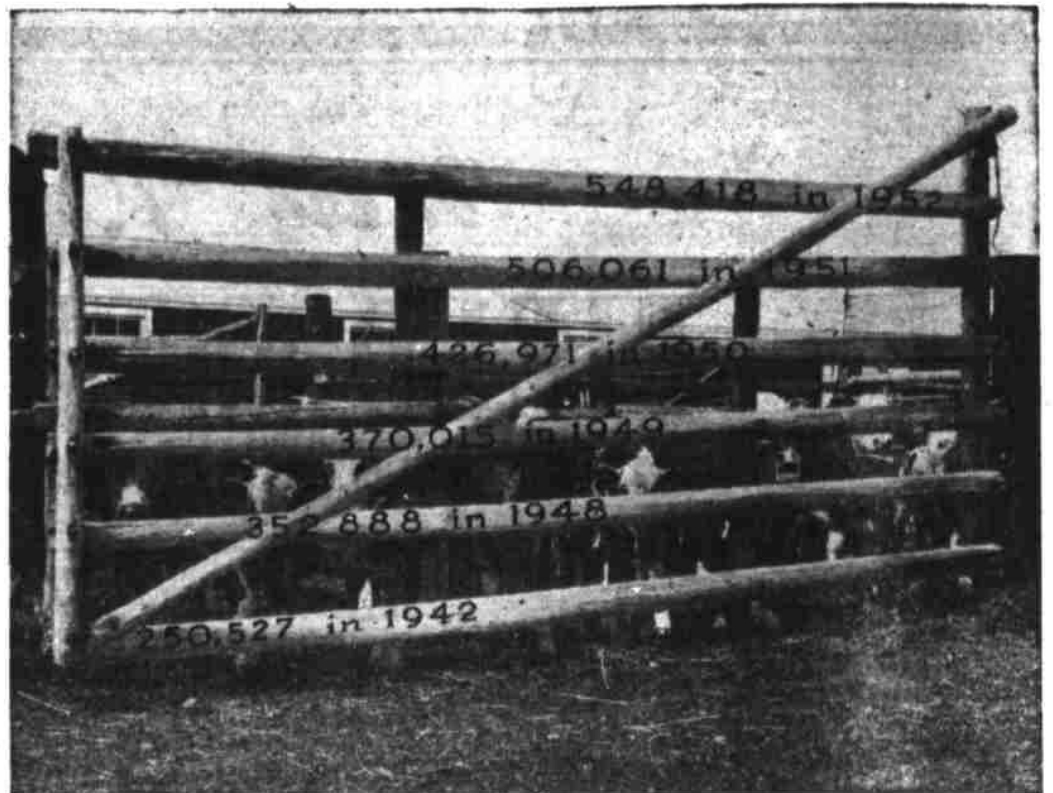

The congressman concluded:

"People should not depend upon the White House for solutions to their problems. Solutions should be found in the millions of little white houses all over the nation."

There's still time for planting winter cover crops. Weatherproof the soil with a blanket of green and hold the winter rains where they fall.

The period from October 5-11 has been designated as National Fire Prevention Week. Will it be observed on your farm, and in your community?

Farm accidents reach a peak during the harvest season. Don't take chances by trying to do too much in one day or by taking short cuts that could lead to disaster.

The Breed Is Growing

While Hereford numbers may be down in this area because of the drought, across the nation as a whole the breed is increasing rapidly. Multiply the calves seen through the gate by 50,000 and you will have an idea of the record number of registrations issued during the fiscal year by the American Hereford Association. The total of 548,418 registrations set another world's record.

Droughts Need Not Be So Disastrous

In discussing the tremendous financial loss to Texas farmers and ranchers because of the drought, the Dallas Morning News comments: "There is something wrong with an industry that can be damaged so badly by one summer's drought."

Farmers have been quick to adopt the newer methods of cultivation, the Dallas News points out, but at the same time, and according to the Soil Conservation Service specialists they have not been equally as fast on the trigger in adopting the newer methods of conservation farming.

"Texas businessmen, including those of the biggest cities, must not forget that the farmer and rancher are still basic in the Texas economy. And this means there is urgent need of a basically sound crop-growing and livestock industry," continues the News.

All of which, in the opinion of the Dallas News, in substance and effect adds up to the conclusion that future droughts are not as likely to be so devastating if there is a diversified farming program of grass, row crops and livestock, with a little more emphasis on the grass and livestock.

West Texas bankers have expressed the same thought.

Cotton producers are urged to destroy all cotton stalks as soon as possible after the harvest is completed. Early stalk destruction is one of the best known methods for controlling cotton insects.

The high temperatures and the lack of moisture have created a situation that is tailor-made for fires. Carelessness on the part of motorists or any citizen could lead to damages even more serious than those caused by the drought.

Ira Driver's Steer-Roping Friend Swapped That White-Handled Pistol

By FRANKLIN REYNOLDS

"Just for the fun of it I think I'll let her tell my fortune," said Butch Cassidy, a Texan who had been christened George Leroy Parker.

"The place was Argentina, the year was 1906, and the fortune teller could speak English, and so—'What th' hell!'"

The Gypsy crystal gazer could only guess at his past. He knew that only too well, anyway. But she nailed his future to the facts. He had a white-handled Colts .45 Peacemaker stuck down in his waistband. She pointed to the ivory handles of the sixshooter. "That gun will kill you," she said.

Butch laughed. That was a joke. Wasn't it his gun? He'd never let any man, particularly one not trusted as a friend, ever get a hand on that gun. True, he hadn't owned the gun very long, just a few weeks. It had a seven and one-half inch barrel. He'd traded one just like it, but with a five and one-half inch barrel, for it to W. D. "Billy" Connell at a baile in Buenos Aires.

Billy Connell was a West Texas cowboy, from Midland and El Paso, who at the time was in the Argentine on a steer roping and rodeoing expedition accompanied by Ira J. Driver, now of Big Spring; Len Driver, Ira's brother; Asa Draper; Spence Jowell; Joe Gardner; Clay McGonigal; Wiley Hill, and the famous black-skinned cowboy, Bill Pickett, who was the first man who ever bulldogged a steer for exhibition. Incidentally, it should be mentioned that Pickett really "bulldogged" them. This rodeo feature he created has turned out to be literally "steer wrestling," but with Pickett it was real bulldogging. He'd fasten his teeth into the animal just like a real bulldog would do.

Mr. Driver doesn't remember the pistol trade between Cassidy and Connell, but he says he does remember that Connell had a good Winchester 30-30 that might have gotten the Americans into a lot of trouble one day when they were having a little misunderstanding with the South American natives, if Driver hadn't prevented its use.

Parker, alias Cassidy was in Argentina because of his health, and because he and his partner, Harry Longbaugh, alias The Sundance Kid, were men who were ambitious to quickly and easily acquire a substantial share of the world's gold reserves. In other words, if they had stayed in the United States some peace officer would have killed them, or some mob would have strung them from a convenient cottonwood limb, and in South America there were banks and trains to be robbed that had never been robbed before.

STOLEN HORSES
Cassidy was received at the Wyoming State Penitentiary as No. 187 on July 15, 1894 to serve two years for stealing horses. At this time he was 27 years old, a well-proportioned man a little less than six feet tall. He had light complexion, blue eyes and medium chestnut hair. On January 19, 1896, he was released on a pardon issued by Governor W. A. Richards.

Soon after his release he tied in with Longbaugh, and not long after that they were joined by Harvey Logan, alias Kid Curry, later a member of the Black Jack Ketchum gang. While this trio was punching cows for the old WS outfit in New Mexico they cooked up the idea of robbing the First National Bank at Winnemucca, Nevada; did it and escaped under fire with $32,000. They struck out for Fort Worth and on the way picked up Ben Kilpatrick, a San Angelo badman, and Ben Carver of Bandera County. Detectives got on their trail at Fort Worth and the gang split up. But somewhere Cassidy, Longbaugh and Logan got together again and reunited, and on the morning of July 3, 1901, the three of them robbed a Great Northern train near Wagner, Montana. The loot this time was $100,000—but sadly it was in unsigned currency consigned to a bank in Helena.

Again they were in flight. In Nashville, Tennessee, Cassidy and Longbaugh attempted a holdup and then barely managed to escape the police by commandeering an ice wagon and engaging in a running gun battle with the officers, Longbaugh handling the reins and Cassidy handling the sixshooters.

SOLDIERS ON TRAIL
Next they turned up in Argentina, where many another Texan had preceded them in a search for a new start. After swapping pistols with Connell and seeing the fortune teller, the two went into the mountain fastness of Chile where they met determined opposition. The army was mobilized.

Following a bank robbery a battalion of cavalry struck their trail and stayed on it. The two American outlaws were in a strange country. They were riding tired horses. They were pushed hard. There was but one thing to do—to make the finish a grand and glorious one! To go out under a cloud of powder smoke a mile high!

The two took refuge behind a crumbling adobe wall and gave battle to the Chilean cavalrymen. Twenty-three of the soldiers yielded up their ghosts, and another score were wounded. Neither of the outlaws had been scratched as the soldiers observed later.

Then came the end of the trail. Their supply of cartridges had been exhausted. Each of them had one bullet left. They probably looked at each other and nodded a mutual understanding.

"So long," Cassidy probably said very simply.

"See you in hell," Longbaugh might have replied.

Cassidy looked down into the muzzle of his own gun, but he probably didn't see it. The chances are that his eyes were fixed on those ivory handles that had once known the touch of Ira Driver's comadre, Billy Connell, and likely Butch Cassidy laughed and fixed his last mortal thoughts on the prophetic words of that fortune teller as he died.

There the soldiers found them, side by side as they had loved and lived, ridden and robbed, and fought and killed.

EXPENSIVE TRIP
Ira Driver doesn't remember that pistol trade although he was probably around close when it happened, but he does remember that trip—and South America.

He remembers Argentina as a wonderful cattle country but he isn't anxious to see it again. He went there because a couple of Englishmen offered to put up half the money for the steer roping. Bill Pickett bulldogging and bronze riding show the Americans could put on. The Midland County cowboys were to get half the profits.

"I got back to Midland with just about what I left Midland with," Driver recalls. There wasn't any chance to make money, he says, because everything down there cost so much. They had to buy horses and steers and pay high rent on the grounds where the shows were held. He also has never forgotten that the sponsoring English gentlemen were great entertainers and that they threw some rather expensive and expensive parties while promoting the shows, all of which had to be deducted before an accounting on profits could be undertaken. "They charged us pretty high for everything," Driver says.

The Big Spring man remembers, too, that unexpectedly there was a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in South America and this group contributed to the troubles of the Texans.

He says he believes those South American steers were the biggest cattle he ever saw. Most of them, he describes as being part Durham and shades; He has to spread his hands pretty far apart to show a listener just what wide backs they had. And they were man-fighters, ready to attack horse and rider with their long, wicked horns just the second a rope touched them.

"We quickly out-roped any native who wanted to contest against us," Driver says, "although we had one of them who was pretty good and he stayed with us all the time we were there." Driver also recalls that the Argentinians had a different way of roping steers, using an entirely different type of saddle, with their rope made fast to a ring at the side of the horse.

HORSES NO GOOD
The South Americans argued that a horse could pull more with a rope fastened to this ring than when the rope was around a saddle horn. To settle the argument the other Driver brother, Len, and one of the Vaqueros decided upon a test. One end of the rope was in the vaquero's steer-roping ring and the other around Len's saddle horn.

"When Len hit the end of the rope," Ira Driver recalls, "he really turned that other horse upside-down and then dragged him off."

Driver says the South American horses of that day weren't any good for roping those heavy steers. As he pictures them they were heavy-boned Spanish horses but too slow for fast steer work.

"The Texans didn't take their horses to South America because the Englishmen either didn't have, or wouldn't put up, that much money. They bought and trained the heavy-boned Spanish horses after their arrival—and they left the horses down there when they came home."

The Texans were gone about six months, "and we had a lot of fun," Driver says. "We nearly got whipped a couple of times and I don't care if I never see South America again, but it was good cattle country."

And as he tells about the trip you get the impression that if he could rename Argentina, he would probably call it "The Land of the Big Steers."

(Author's note. The other members of Butch Cassidy's Hole-in-The-Wall Gang also died with their boots on. Harvey Logan made it to British Honduras where officers killed him. Sutton County Sheriff Carver in Sonora, Texas, April 2, 1901, and Express Messenger Davis Trousdale killed Ben Kilpatrick in an attempted train robbery near Dryden, Texas, March 13, 1912, soon after Kilpatrick had been released from a penitentiary).

Soil Conditioners Call For Caution

Farmers, gardeners and others interested in trying out the new chemical "soil conditioners" are advised by Dr. J. B. Page, soil physicist for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, to use them only experimentally.

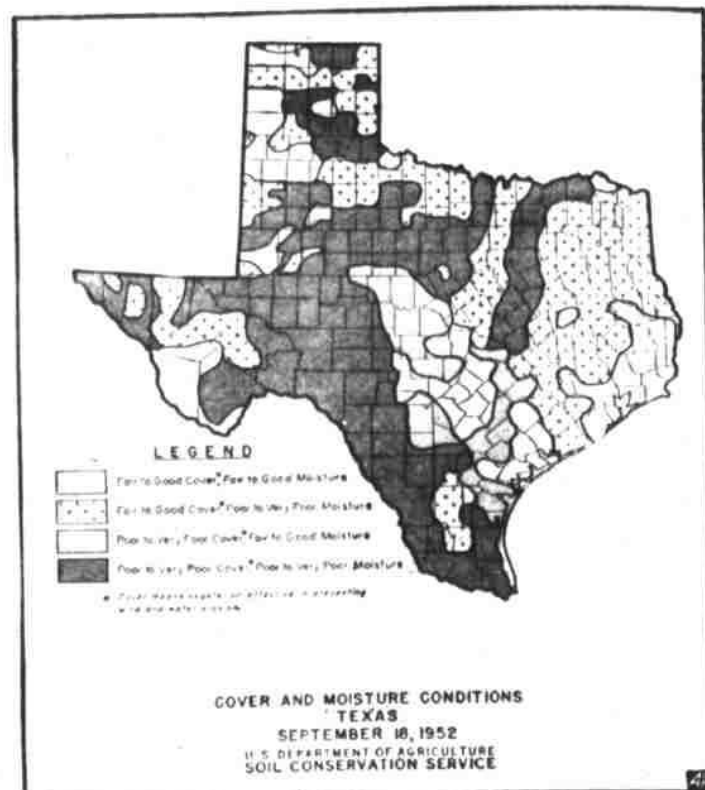

He points out that research work dealing with the conditioners is being conducted at many different locations over the country but since the materials are only now becoming available in quantity, additional information is needed before recommendations can be made. The work being done by the Texas Station is a part of a south-wide project.

Dr. Page says the "soil conditioners" are chemicals prepared for the purpose of binding and stabilizing small soil particles into larger particles which resist breakdown by water. He is quick to add that the natural organic materials have the same effect on soils and at the same time, leave other beneficial results in addition to the formation of the desired soil aggregates.

The scientist points out that research up to date has shown that expenditures of from $300 to $500 per acre must be made to get the required amounts of the conditioners in the soil.

He says work to date indicates that the conditioners are most effective on soils with high clay and silt content. They are not effective on soils high in sand content and soils already good structurally are helped little by the addition of the chemicals.

Dr. Page cautions purchasers against buying quantities of the materials until more is known about them. He adds, since the products offered for sale are new, many have not been adequately tested. Therefore, he suggests that buyers try only those products which have been tested and on which reports have been made.

Another "Biggest" For Texas

As this Soil Conservation Service map shows, Texas has another "biggest"—the biggest drought in a four-state area and one that has struck farmers and ranchers for losses so tremendous they cannot even be closely estimated. Conservationists say recent rains have moistened but have not broken this drought since in some areas there was a heavy runoff that probably did more harm than good. Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana have also had their droughts, but all three states are reported to generally be in much better condition than Texas.

Goodlett Points Out Need For Better Care Of Range

By W. S. GOODLETT
Area Conservationist
Soil Conservation Service

The range land in the Big Spring area will emerge from the drought in very much the same condition that existed at the beginning. Much of the grass has been dormant for two years due to the lack of moisture during the growing season, using the ability that nature gave the plants to take care of just such emergencies. The range lands that were in good condition at the start of the drought had those grasses that have always been in this country which have deep roots and ones adapted to the climate and soil. Those in poor condition had a vegetation composed of shallow rooted plants that died out early in the drought and will become established again from seed left on the land, being a high per cent annuals.

Livestock men should be extremely careful not to overuse the range land when moisture is received. The plants will emerge from the drought in a weak condition and should be allowed to produce seed the first growing season. This means complete deferment from grazing. One of the major purposes of complete rest is to allow the good grasses to gain vigor and produce seed to increase the number of plants. While grazing, the livestock select the most desirable plants leaving the undesirable to remain vigorous and spread. Range land in good or excellent condition may be maintained by light stocking rates.

Lowered plant vigor causes a decided decrease in production, which in turn makes over-use more severe if the livestock numbers are not adjusted in accordance with reduction in forage produced. Such a condition often leads the rancher to believe that rainfall is insufficient to produce good grass. However, in most cases it is accelerated water losses that make rainfall seem scanty. Realizing that the drought that now exists or we just came through is the largest ever recorded, plans must be made to overcome the short period that always comes to West Texas when little or no rainfall is received. Normally, enough moisture is received to produce a good growth of grass if there is sufficient amount of vegetation left on the ground to control excessive water losses, and if the vegetation has sufficient vigor to respond to small showers that are generally lost through evaporation on depleted ranges.

There will not be any need for re-seeding large acreages of range land due to the drought. Ranges that had good grass at the start of the drought can be restored to a state of high production through good range management while those that need to be seeded are still in that condition.

The soil conservation districts stress the use of each acre of agricultural land within its capabilities and the treatment of each acre of agricultural land in accordance with its needs for protection and improvement. Several thousand acres in the Big Spring area are being planted to cotton that should be returned to permanent grass. This acreage is scattered to the extent that when the land is used properly, a livestock program on the farms would be necessary to utilize the forage produced which would result in a deviation from a one crop system, and, at the same time maintain and improve the soil. Our land, whether it is range or cultivated land, is like a bank account; it can be drawn on just so long without a deposit being made.

Farmers and stockmen are urged to secure the planting seed and prepare the land for planting an increased acreage of winter grazing crops. Some areas of the state now have sufficient moisture to insure a stand. Dry planting is recommended in the other areas.

There's still time for planting winter legumes. For a good grazing crop, mix a legume with the small grain.

Ample reserves of feed, especially roughages, and a balance between livestock numbers and the available feed including range and pasture forages can help prevent much of the trouble caused by a prolonged drought.

Twenty-four outstanding 4-H Club members—two from each Extension district—will receive the State Fair Award of Honor medal at a Recognition Banquet to be held in Dallas on the evening of October 3.

Fire Prevention Week, on a national basis, will be observed from October 5-11. It's a good time to remove the hazards that might cause fires and to plan community programs for preventing fires.

Riding

THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

Among the other livestock achievements of which Texans can brag is a $200,000 black bull.

Murchison and Ljungdahl of Burnett have paid Shadow Isle Farms, Red Bank, New Jersey, $100,000 for a one-half (undivided) interest in the 1948 international grand champion Aberdeen-Angus sire, Prince Sunbeam 249th, which is not only a world's record bull but also a world's record price. At the same time Prince Sunbeam is one of six living international grand champion bulls, and will be the first international grand champion Angus bull to ever put a foot on Texas soil. Under the sale agreement he will spend six months in New Jersey and six months in Texas.

Murchison is the Dallas millionaire oil man who buys whatever he sees that he wants — if it's for sale. Recently he admitted he knew nothing whatsoever about cattle but he wanted to go into the livestock business anyway — and did. That's when he offered Ljungdahl, a former 4-H clubber, Kansas University agriculture graduate, and animal husbandry teacher, a partnership.

As a calf Prince Sunbeam 249th was sold to the Ellerslie herd in Virginia at the record price of $60,000, and when this herd was dispersed in 1949 he was bought by Shadow Isle for the then world's record auction price of $51,000. In the two years he has been at Shadow Isle farms, he has sired over an estimated $250,000 worth of cattle. He is now seven years old.

All of which revives the eternal question: Leaving income tax and oil royalties out of consideration what is a bull actually worth?

The first cotton ever grown on the South Plains was from the pioneer farm of S. S. Rush in Lubbock County, on school land that was valued at that time at $1.75 an acre.

When he and his bride moved from East Texas to the Plains, the worried parents sent along with them a great many jars of jams and jellies. To keep these from breaking because of the jolting of the prairie schooner these jars were packed in cotton seed.

Rush decided to use the seed and planted 50 acres of cotton. It produced 26 bales. This was in 1901. A man at Floydada built a home made gin. Rush's neighbors helped him haul the cotton to the gin and helped gin it once they were there. Then they loaded the 26 bales on the same wagons and returned home. The pioneer cotton farmer needed a market. There wasn't one.

Again the neighbors came to his aid, loaded the cotton again and hauled it to the nearest railroad point, Colorado City. This was a haul of 140 miles. They came down off the Cap Rock at a point between Post and Lamesa.

At Colorado City he found some buyers but when he told them he had grown the cotton up on the Plains in Lubbock County they were about to have him arrested for stealing it because they knew "damn well" cotton wouldn't grow up on those Plains, and he just had to be a liar and a thief.

But Rush had his witnesses and one of them happened to be one of Colorado City's leading merchants at the time.

Once the truth of his story was verified the cotton was sold and the rush for cotton-growing land was on. Wind erosion of West Texas top soil has been steadily increased year by year ever since.

Raymond Pope of Welch, Oklahoma, who in association with Frank Buttram, Oklahoma City oil millionaire, established the Brangus (Brahma-Angus cross) breed, and then founded the American Brangus Breeders Association, at their Clear Creek Ranch, is also a believer in improved pastures and more adaptable grasses.

Pope not only believes in providing better grasses for his own Brangus but for the cattle of all breeds of others. Not only is he raising fine beef but he is also raising the seed for pasture improvement.

The Oklahoma Crop Improvement Association, with headquarters at Oklahoma A&M College, Stillwater, has certified Pope as an approved producer of Kentucky 31 Fescue seed. He has 150 acres of this grass for seed harvest, which is the second largest planting for the seed in the state.

Fescue is a grass that has excellent value as a spring and early summer pasture in areas of Eastern Oklahoma where rainfall is rather plentiful. It is quite palatable and is relished by livestock.

Morris Patterson, who has a ranch in the Osage Hills of Oklahoma, is planning on seeding a portion of his range in Fescue and Ladino clover. He says he thinks the Fescue is a wonderful grass and that it is certainly building beef on the Oklahoma cattle that are grazing it.

Because of the increased pink bollworm infestation in this area even with a short crop, cotton farmers will be interested in knowing that plans are now well underway to set up an extensive $250,000 research program in South Texas.

Leaders of the cotton industry are behind the drive to co-ordinate and set up programs of study. Their determination to enlarge upon the research program is born of fears that the pink bollworm menace has reached alarming proportions. The heretofore quite effective federal-state co-operative control program has not accomplished hoped-for results because the unusual weather during the past 12 months has been on the side of the pink bollworm and hasn't as fully as heretofore cooperated with the man-designed program to control if not eradicate the pest.

Farmers in the Howard County area can do much to protect their 1953 cotton against the ravages of the pink bollworm by co-operating and being helpful in every possible way with the USDA's Division of Pink Bollworm Control this year. In this connection it might be well for every cotton farmer who can get around to it, to drop in and have a short talk with the inspector in this area who is Bert Badger with offices in the basement of the Big Spring Post Office.

Help Prevent Grass Fires, Says Lewter

County Agent Durward Lewter has some advice for Howard County farmers "and it's sounder than it may appear when a man looks out across the drouth-seared pastures," he says.

This advice is based upon the thought of helping "prevent grass fires." Lewter says that since we haven't been able to keep Texas green this year, we can at least save what we have. He points out that the grass fire season is on and that most grass fires are caused by smokers, incendiaries and the careless burning of trash by rural residents themselves.

"There is some dry grass in spots," he comments, "even if it is hard to find. And there probably has never been a time when it will burn more readily or faster."

The high temperatures and lack of rain over most of the Southwest, he points out, have created a situation that is tailor-made for grass fires. A cigarette carelessly tossed out of an automobile could lead to damages even more serious than those caused by the drouth.

"There isn't so much here in Howard County that will burn," he admits, "but Howard County people travel around and there is dry grass in other areas that could be destroyed. So let's be careful here at home and extremely careful when we get in those areas where they do have some dry grass left."

The secret in cooking older chickens is a long, slow cooking process in water or steam. Two to four hours are required depending on the age and size of the bird.

They Win FFA Honors

Cal Johnson, left, Texas director of the Sears Foundation, and E. R. Alexander, head teacher trainer at A&M College, have been selected for their outstanding work among Texas Future Farmers of America and will receive the Honorary American Farmer Degree, the highest national FFA honor, at the national FFA convention in Kansas City, Oct. 14. The American Farmer Degree will also be awarded to 35 members of the Texas Association of Future Farmers. Johnson's recognition is given in appreciation to the Sears Foundation's livestock program which he directs for the FFA. Alexander was chosen because of his outstanding leadership in the field of agriculture education during the past 25 years.

In The Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District 655,903 Acres Of Cover Crops Are Needed

Last year this land in this soil conservation district was blown down to the hardpan exposing the stalks from the cotton crops of 1949, 1950 and 1951. It is almost "dead" land as classified by the conservationists. Without cover crops planted now hundreds of thousands of acres may be reduced to this state by the coming winds.

Land protected as this is with rye cannot blow. It will store up more soil moisture and will conserve this moisture. The residue from the crop will enrich the land and will contribute bountifully to higher production next year. Rye is one of the crops recommended for protecting and building the soil.

Good Herefords and good grazing is a winning hand in the game of farming. Another recommended cover is a mixture of hairy vetch and rye such as is fattening these Herefords while also protecting the soil and building it with the crop residue and manure. Others of the suggested cover crops will also provide forage for cattle.

Don't plow up your feed crops no matter how poor they may be, don't even graze them, warn the conservationists. Leave them for protection and soil-building and help them accomplish these two important jobs by drilling in other approved cover crops down the middle of these rows.

Suggested Cover Crops Are:

- Austrian Winter Peas
- Dixie Wonder Peas
- Hairy Vetch with Rye or Wheat
- Rye
- Wheat

No PMA assistance on cover crop plantings this fall is available. Every landowner must come into the program as a volunteer and at his own expense. Cover crops can be planted until October 15. It is estimated that approximately 100,000 acres in this district that has never blown before will blow this coming winter and spring unless protected with an adequate cover crop. Don't let the winds recklessly dissipate your basic wealth. The area faces the most severe erosion it has ever known unless protected with cover crops. At the same time cover crops will increase and conserve soil moisture and will increase 1953 production.

Plant cover crops. Seed and fertilizers are available. Consult the nearest office of the Soil Conservation Service or your county agricultural agent.

Cover crops planted before October 15 will protect your land, build your land, give you a seed crop and provide your livestock with grazing. Your topsoil is your basic wealth. You put your money where it can't blow away. Why not fix your money-making investment so that it cannot be blown away. Conservationists say the erosion this winter and spring will be the worst this area has ever known if the 655,903 acres subject to blowing is not planted to cover crops.

Soil conservation is everyone's business! We need your help. We ask your co-operation for the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District.

Farm Bureau Membership Campaign Gets Underway

The annual membership drive of the Howard County Farm Bureau is scheduled for the week of Oct. 10-17, and during that week solicitors will be busy, with their goal the enrollment of every farm and ranch family in the county.

The membership of the bureau in the county is now in excess of 700 and the goal set by President Cecil Leatherwood and the directors is at least 150 more. In some instances memberships are bought by both the husband and wife, a plan which gives the family two votes instead of one in the election of bureau officers and the formulation of bureau policy and program.

In announcing the membership drive Leatherwood has emphasized the importance of having every farm and ranch family enrolled. The county bureau, he explains, is the county unit of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, while the latter in turn is the state-wide unit of the American Farm Bureau Federation. The TFBF represents agricultural interests in Austin on the state level, while the AFBF represents farm and ranch interests on the national and international levels before Congress and other government departments and agencies in Washington.

Describing the close relationships existing between agriculture and government, Leatherwood stresses the point that the individual votes of farm and ranch people is not enough. "We are in the minority in the population," he explains. "Farm and ranch families constitute only 15 per cent of the total population of this country, and in a few more years we will be only 12 per cent. We and our problems have been misrepresented to the people in the cities and industrial centers, and these people have a lot of voting strength in the legislatures and in Congress. We need to have somebody there to speak for us, to be watchful of our interests, and that is just exactly what the state and national organizations do."

The president of the Howard County bureau points out that because of the fight made by the Texas Farm Bureau Federation at the last session of the Legislature, Howard County is due to receive another 10.2 miles of farm to market roads in the next two years. He estimates that this representation in Austin has also saved Howard County farmers $62,149 on gasoline tax during a normal crop year. He says that as a result of the fight made by the American Farm Bureau Federation in Washington against the OPS beef price rollback proposal the farmers and ranchers of Howard County have been saved a minimum of $181,080 annually.

"We need better roads in this county," Leatherwood comments. "Three hundred and 42 Howard County farm and ranch families live on dirt roads and more than one mile from a paved road. The only way that I know that we can get these roads is to have the representatives of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation continuously working for us there in Austin, and the only way we can keep them there is by supporting them with our memberships in the county bureau."

Included in the farm bureau program at all levels, Leatherwood says, are fair prices for farm products; the right of an individual to work; the national farm pro-

The First To Sign Up Again

When President Cecil Leatherwood (left) of the Howard County Farm Bureau decided to give Secretary-Treasurer Bob Middleton (seated) a chance to be the first to renew his membership in the drive that opens this month, he took Gene O'Daniel, and Mrs. Mae Wolf of the county Extension Service office, along for influence. After Middleton had signed his check and application he turned to Gene and asked if the Coahoma rancher had signed up yet. When Gene nodded his head negatively Bob filled out another check for Gene to sign and Mrs. Wolf returned to the office with two first memberships instead of one. Here she is ready to hand Middleton a gate sign with his name painted on it. These signs are provided for all members.

gram to place farmers on a parity with other groups and to conserve soil and other natural resources; fair prices at the market place instead of direct government payments to farmers; reduction of unjustified spreads between producers and consumers; elimination of overlapping and duplication, and establishing economy, efficiency and decentralization of farm programs, and expanding foreign trade and market research.

Also, support of county agents, experiment stations, schools, health work, land grant colleges, vocational agriculture, soil conservation, rural electrification, Veterans Farm Training Program, and other services to farm people; more and better farm-to-market roads; support of 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America; adequate farm credit at fair interest rates; equitable freight rates for Texas; more widespread private ownership of farm lands and less government ownership of these teachers to provide equal educational opportunities for farm children. "The federal and state governments today can't hear anything except the voices of the organized," Leatherwood asserted. "The groups from which the farmer buys are organized, and the groups to which he sells are organized. So it is that the farmer's only chance is for an organization himself. The farm bureau is his voice."

Picture Of A Dream With Inter-Planetary Camera

When a flying saucer, presumably from Mars, fell in the area between Lomax and Elbow recently, the Field and Range photographer rushed out and searched it. Among the most unusual scientific equipment found undamaged in the wreckage was a camera for taking pictures of dreams. He galloped to the Cauble home to report his discovery, but finding Rexie asleep got permission from Mrs. Cauble to set the instrument, the only one of its kind on earth, up and photograph Rexie's dreams. When the negative was developed this is what it showed—fat Herefords, plenty of grass, running streams and trees that sprang up out of the sandhills in a flash. All of which only goes to prove that at least one of Howard County's leading Hereford breeders has found a way to escape from the drought.

Cheese Cake, Easy To Make And Bake

The budget-wise homemaker will be interested in an inexpensive cheese cake. The foods and nutrition specialists, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, point out that cheese cake is a traditional "Old World" delicacy perfectly adapted to American menus and kitchen methods.

The specialists recommend the Easy-Do Cheese Cake which fits right into an economical food budget. For those who are interested, they suggest the following recipe:

EASY-DO CHEESE CAKE
6 Servings
1 cup fine graham crackers or bread crumbs
2-3 cup sugar
3-4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup melted butter
2 tablespoons chopped nuts, if desired
2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 cups creamed cottage cheese
1 1/2 cups light cream or top milk
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Mix together crumbs, cinnamon, butter and 3 tablespoons of the sugar. Mix 1/2 cup of crumb mixture with nut meats for topping, press the remainder to bottom and sides of 8-inch spring form or layer cake pan. Beat eggs until thick and lemon-colored, gradually beating in remaining sugar. Add salt, flour, cottage cheese and cream; beat with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed; add lemon juice and blend well. Strain mixture through fine sieve, pour into pan, top with crumb-nut mixture. Bake in 350 degrees oven 35 minutes. Turn off heat, open oven door and allow cake to cool an hour. Chill. Remove from pan.

Best Of Chili Made By "Taste And Tell"

Chili is a favorite dish for many families in this country. A nourishing, tasty food that can serve as a main dish for an important meal, or an item of delicacy for special treats, chili has so many different recipes as there are people who cook.

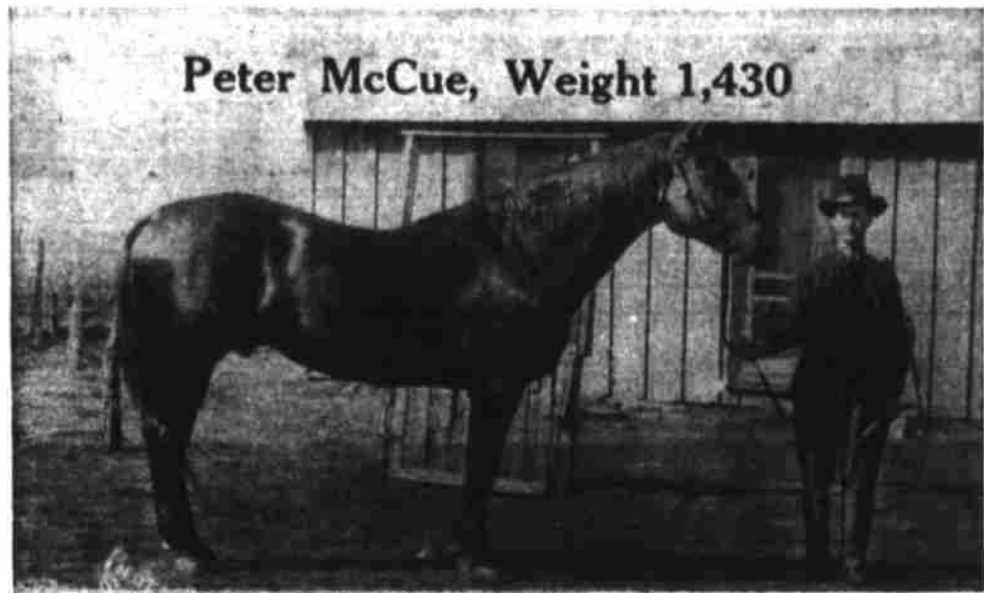

Louise Mason, foods and nutrition specialist for the Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A. and M. College, says people's taste for chili differ so much as their method of cooking. "Taste and tell," is her suggestion for becoming a good chili maker. Develop your own methods for seasoning.

The specialist suggests for nutritive value in chili, the use of one-third or one-fourth as much pork as beef. If you prepare your meat at home, chop or grind it coarsely. "You don't want your chili made of finely ground hamburger, so use meat in chewy-size pieces," she advises.

For a highly seasoned chili use freshly ground pepper pulp and comino seed for characteristic flavor. Onions and garlic are essential but beans are optional. Grate a little cheese on top of each serving, and be sure no grease is floating around.

The specialist suggests for a supper with chili as the main dish, try a tossed green salad, sour pickles, tortillas or crackers, and coffee. If you have dessert, make it fresh fruit or pecan pralines.

If you are interested in canning a supply of chili, ask your county home demonstration agent for directions.

A Great Old Horse

More than 90 per cent of today's Quarter Horses are descendants of this grand old Thoroughbred, Peter McCue, an Illinois-foaled horse that was brought into Texas by John Wilkens of San Antonio. This picture, with Milo Burlingame, now of Albuquerque at the halter, was made at Cheyenne, Oklahoma, back in Territorial Days while Burlingame was running a saloon in that little Western Oklahoma cowtown. The great Peter McCue had been sold for a feed bill in San'tone and Burlingame and some of his friends, among them the Trammels and Newmans, sent to San'tone and got the horse and by so doing established the modern Quarter Horse breed and saved this illustrious sire from oblivion. At Cheyenne the stallion was handled by Tom Caudill, a bachelor whose cabin is seen in the background. Peter McCue's greatest descendant was probably Joe Hancock, a horse foaled by a Percheron mare after she had been bred to John Wilkens, a son of Peter McCue. Peter McCue was registered with the American Jockey Club as a Thoroughbred and as a Thoroughbred was raced on the major American tracks.

Working Budget Is Family Saving Plan

Setting up a budget and making it work is a family affair. Eula Newman, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, points out that in successful families all members help make the budget and agree on how the money is to be spent.

A budget is simply a spending and saving plan which gives a family control over disposal of its income.

Mrs. Newman suggests a trial budget for a month or two. Allow space for income, which may be the same or different each month, depending on salary or self employment. The next three columns should be headed fixed obligations, living expenses and emergencies.

Under fixed obligations list rent, if any, payment on mortgages, contributions, installments and life insurance. The entire family may decide on the amounts to set aside for living expenses and contributions. If all members of the family are allowed opinions, they will more readily realize the need for systematic management of the income.

If at all possible, each child should have an allowance, no matter how small. This will teach each to appreciate the limitations of money.

When each member of the family gets the consideration due him, a closer feeling of fellowship results and this is invaluable according to the specialist.

Grow a fall garden to save on the food bill and to add variety and essential vitamins to the family diet. Use about 25 per cent more seed and treat them before planting to insure a better stand.

agricultural fillers reese Because of the drouth, perennial pastures have taken a terrific beating and livestock should not be permitted to graze them until the plants have had a chance to come back.

Reports from over the state continue to show the value of soil tests in soil improvement and as the basis for increasing crop production.

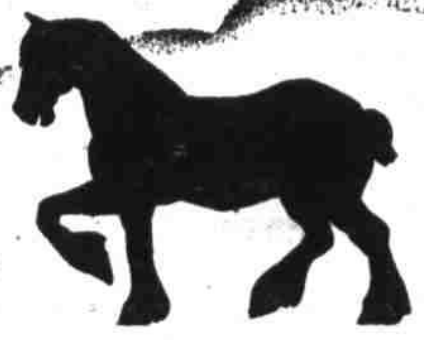

For maximum egg production, a hen needs from 12 to 14 hours of light each day. The use of artificial lights in the laying house is a practice that will pay dividends during the next few months.

The number of home freezers on Texas farms and ranches continues to increase and as a result, homemakers are shifting from canning to freezing as a method of preserving food supplies.

A Few Men Have Too Much Influence On Beef Types

E. D. Knight of Lewisburg, West Virginia, writing in the Shorthorn World, points out that there is a very grave danger in one man exerting too much influence on breed type if he is permitted to judge too many shows.

Says Knight:

"The desire to win in major competition can become a vicious influence if too few judges officiate at the important shows, because exhibitors then attempt to conform to the judges and to breed and show animals that can win under these judges, which are not necessarily the kind their own judgment tells them they should be raising or the kind that necessarily will most benefit the breed. This reminds me a bit of the card player who plays too much with the same people and learns their weaknesses and plays his opponents instead of his cards. Even though his play was originally sound he tends by this practice 'to lose his game,' and if when he gets into play with a different group, he usually takes a rare shellacking.

"To summarize our present judging system, it has two basic faults. First, big shows like big name judges, of which there are never enough to go around, so the same judges officiate at too many of the same shows. If those who are responsible for the policy of such shows would reach out and take a chance on less well known judges, not only would they obtain the essential diversity, but they would discover many a qualified man who was hiding his light under a bushel, and eventually the present shortage of known qualified judges would cease to be. If those shows which more or less constitute a circuit would further co-operate to see that an actual diversity in the circuit was obtained instead of merely switching judges around so that with few exceptions the same group still continued to judge the same circuit year after year, then the matter of obtaining the essential true diversity of opinion would be achieved.

"Second, some big shows, and many lesser shows, find a judge who suits them and continue to have him officiate year after year. The result of this unfortunate practice is that the small breeder who makes only this one show becomes unduly influenced by the opinion of one individual, and can easily be led astray in his entire breeding program. Except for the fact that this judge is from another province and a certain number of animals from outside the locality are exhibited, the effect of such practice is like having a purely local show with the same local judge each year.

"In my opinion having the same judge at a show year after year, regardless of his integrity, knowledge and ability nullifies many of the benefits of the exhibition. I feel that this practice violates every concept of sound livestock judging. If I were to elect one judge whose opinion I valued above all others, and who, for his integrity and knowledge I valued above all others, I still do not feel that such moral right to influence the development of a breed of livestock to the extent that must inevitably result from his year after year judging, particularly at a major show.

LAND GRANT JUDGES

"Some of my best and most highly respected friends are on the staffs of animal husbandry departments in various agricultural colleges. I do not for one minute discount the magnificent job in animal husbandry that the land grant colleges are doing all over our nation. They deserve far more blessings and co-operation from the livestock breeders than they are obtaining. But they are easy to get as judges, and in my opinion, we are using them too much. It is convenient to be able to call on a teaching staff member or an extension man, particularly if he refuses to charge a fee and his expenses are paid or partly paid by his employer, which is frequently the case. Most of these men consider this as part of their jobs, and cheerfully co-operate when show officials impose upon them. I know, because I have been guilty myself on several occasions. Most of them do a consistently acceptable judging job, particularly the younger ones. Some of the old timers, who possess the intuitive spark which is the born — otherwise rarely acquired — essential to a truly great judge, have developed opinions that are actually profound.

"However, there is one pitfall to which I believe livestock judges employed in the field of education are most susceptible than those drawn from other walks of life. Benevolent paternalism is generally considered to be a form of oligarchy in which the relationship of the government to the governed is suggestive of that existing between a father and his dependent children. Livestock judges engaged in the educational branch of animal husbandry, who, as time passes, begin to feel in loco parentis toward others whom they seek to guide, besides their students, need only the support and co-operation of the officials of an exhibition organization in order to create with the best of intentions an oligarchy which sets itself up to chart the course of improvement of a breed or breeds of livestock, according to its own ideas rather than necessarily those of the breeders involved.

"Any organization regardless of the purity of its intent and the high degree of integrity and impartiality of its operation, which attempts to influence the growth and progress of a breed or breeds of livestock by substituting the opinions and judgement of a few people no matter how well informed and capable, for the diversified opinions of a broad representative cross section of the breeders themselves, can easily, in my opinion, undermine precisely the monument they are attempting to erect. The power is not given to a few men to possess that much insight into the future.

"To go back a moment to the intuitive spark, which I earlier stated must be born in a man to allow him to become a truly great judge, this instinctive insight permits the person so endowed to recognize certain indefinable attributes of class and quality, and discern certain faults not readily obvious in an animal, almost at a glance. Those persons who by choice, almost by 'call' espouse the profession of breeding and exhibiting livestock are the ones most likely to possess this gift of intuition. Certainly it achieves its fullest fruition through long years spent in barn and pasture, and frequently it is passed on by the father to those of his offspring who elect to follow his profession. We have many of such people in the ranks of the breeders. More of them should be judging."

Fair Visitor

A Denton County Fair visitor who traveled a long way from Brownwood shows how tired she is. "Little Tyke" is from the Cinderella Jersey Farm and carried out her rest period while mama competed in the fair's dairy show. Tyke was too young to compete herself, but came along just for the ride—and because she would have gotten hungry at home by herself.

Longest Ranch Road In Texas

From this intersection with Highway 87 just south of Big Spring, Ranch Road 33, the longest ranch road in Texas and paved all the way, extends through Garden City, Big Lake and on into Crockett County and across to Eldorado, a distance of 141 miles. The highway shown from Eldorado to San Angelo is a segment of Highway 277 and not an extension of the ranch road. A significant feature of this road is that it is one of seven road projects contracted immediately after World War II, and now forms a part of the 15,000-mile system that has subsequently been constructed. Today it carries an average of 575 vehicles a day as compared to 101 before the paving was completed. It is one of the most important highways to Big Spring.
