Dog Ordinance To Be Discussed

The Santa Anna City Council will discuss the passing of a new dog ordinance this Thursday night (tonight) at their regularly scheduled City Council meeting. The ordinance defines terms and control of domestic animals. It states that no dog shall be permitted to run at-large within the City. All dogs should be confined on the premises owned or under the control of their owners at ALL TIMES. Dogs on a leash will not be considered as running at-large, provided the leash is attached to an immovable object or firmly grasped and at all times within the control of a person physically able to maintain control of the dog.

All dogs should be vaccinated against rabies after the age of three (3) months and owners must provide the City with a certificate of vaccination for each dog. After proving vaccination, owners must pay an annual license fee of two dollars ($2.00) to the City. The License fee will be good for one year, at which time it must be renewed.

An impoundment fee of $5 will be charged for the impoundment of any dog with a fee of $2 per day being charged for the feeding, care and handling of each dog. Owners of impounded dogs have the right to redeem their pet upon payment of any and all fees which may be due and payable for the impoundment of their pet. All impounded dogs should be redeemed within 6 days for licensed dogs and 3 days for unlicensed dogs. Any dog not redeemed within that time may either be sold or destroyed.

Any dog sold after impoundment may be redeemed from purchaser within 30 days after such dog is sold by paying the purchaser the amount of the purchase price paid to the Animal Control Officer, plus the license fee and vaccination charges, if any were incurred, and a charge of $1.00 per day for the number of days from the date the dog was sold. At the end of thirty (30) days from the date the dog is sold, the right to redeem will expire.

The entire ordinance will be printed in next week's paper.

Police Report

On Monday, the 31st of June, there were two reports of dogs being shot at by unknown person(s) by a pellet rifle. There was one incident involving a juvenile subject and unknown assailants using a pellet type weapon to shoot at a house causing some $15.00 in damage to a window screen and glass pane. These three cases are all currently being investigated and the Police Department does have a suspect in the first two incidents. Santa Anna Police Officer Craig Terry states that it is a violation of the Texas Penal Code to inflict injury, abuse, or any other inhumane treatment to an animal and does carry rather severe penalties under this section.

Much to the chagrin of some citizens on July 4th night, Officer Craig Terry had to stop several children from discharging fireworks within the city limits of Santa Anna as it is against the city ordinances and does carry a fine of from $1.00 up to $200.00 per violation. Some fireworks were confiscated, but were returned to the rightful owners the following day.

The radar unit was put into use on July 4th, to aid in slowing down traffic through town and several tickets were written on the 4th, 5th and 6th.

The first two weeks that Officer Terry was on the job, he only issued verbal warnings; however, he states that he will now start issuing violations.

Officer Terry would like to thank all the citizens for their cooperation with the police department on July 4th about the fireworks and also for helping to make our town accident free during the Operation Motorcade weekend which the D.P.S. incorporates during each holiday tenure.

Green Thumbers Attend Training Seminar

Green Thumb workers and host agency sponsors from a multi-county area met Thursday, June 26, 1986, at the West Central Texas Council of Governments in Abilene, Texas.

The training seminar featured "Room To Live," a traffic safety film presented by the Texas Department of Public Safety; Paula Rudnicki, Texas Department of Human Services, who gave a slide presentation "A Time To Mourn" and discussed elderly abuse; and a safety program presented by Green Thumb staff.

Green Thumb, an older worker program, is funded by the Department of Labor through Title V of the Older Americans Act. Sponsored by Texas Farmers Union, Green thumb provides part-time work opportunities for seniors in rural areas. Program operation began in 1970 and currently includes 126 counties employing over 1,000 older Texans who are placed with local non-profit organizations to provide needed community services.

Local Green Thumb workers and sponsors attending the seminar included Letha Martin and Evelyn McSwane.

This is a photo of a new sandbox that has been added to the City Park. The sandbox was designed and the construction supervised by Curtis Puckett as part of his requirements needed to obtain his Eagle Award. An Eagle Award is one of the highest honors that can be obtained as a member of the Boys Scouts of America, of which Curtis is a member of the Santa Anna Boy Scout Troop 230. Sand was added to the box on Wednesday morning by Curtis and his workers.

Thoughts From Our Pastors

By Rudy Juarez

Pastor of Seventh Day Adventist Church

Humility and submission are necessary before one may begin receiving "true" wisdom and salvation. Exposure to divine truth without these prerequisites can cause pride and hardness of heart, rather than softening and subduing the heart of the sinner, and drawing him to Christ. We must contrast the "submissive" spirit of the disciples with that of the spiritual leaders of Christ's day.

John Chapter 1 records the experience of the disciples being drawn to Christ. As John the Baptist was preaching at the Jordan River, Christ stood among the listeners; suddenly John pointed him out as the Lamb of God. When Christ turned again toward Nazareth, Andrew and John followed him. They were eager to know more of this man the Baptist had identified as the Messiah. Aware they were following him, Jesus turned and asked, "What seek ye?" Perhaps a bit embarrassed, they asked Jesus where He dwelt. From the first, they came to him as learners, not with the criticizing, doubting spirit that would evidence the leadership over the next 3 1/2 years. How one comes to Christ is everything. In time these men and ten more with them would sacrifice careers, homes and time with their families to learn at the feet of Jesus.

In the months to come, all but Judas would remain submissive to the Messiah. Though Jesus corrected and reproved them, they continued with Him. Through disappointment and hardship they remained teachable. By submission to Him, they learned of heavenly things.

The disciples were not totally surrendered when they first came to Christ, but their humble, submissive spirit allowed them to be educated and converted, until after Calvary, they were measured as mature men.

As God deals with the individual, so He deals with the Church. As long as ministry and laity are humble and submissive, the process of education and redemption will continue. The problem with our church (Laodicea) today is that she has no need. Evidently she has become proud and cynical as were the pharisees. She forgets that "God hath chosen the weak thing of the world to confound them that are wise." Intellect as the heart, must bow to the unsearchable ways of the great I AM.

Down But Not Out

By DON RUTHERFORD

Simon Peter is a study of contradictions. His life is one of greatness and yet one of failure. He has the personality of a courageous lion and yet one of a shameful denial. He is a man of self-sacrifice and yet one who would seek his own comfort.

The Big Fisherman is one who fell but rose again. He is the reed turned into a rock. He is one who was down but not out.

Simon Peter was a fisherman in Capernaum. He lived with his wife and mother-in-law there. He had a good business and was well respected.

Simon Peter was a typical young commercial fisherman. He had strong hands and sometimes used them in violence. His temper was as wild as the Sea of Galilee. He was moody at times. He had a sharp tongue and had an opinion on every subject. He was not always right but he was always vocal.

One day Jesus was passing by Peter's boat. He called out to Peter to leave this business and become a fisherman for men. Peter was accustomed to being free and doing what he pleased. He must have sacrificed a lot to become a disciple and be controlled by Christ. In fact he questioned "We have left all, what shall we have?" Nevertheless he went with Jesus.

We see Peter in Matthew 14:29-30 displaying a lot of faith. The Sea of Galilee even today is subject to sudden and violent storms. The Golan Heights are just a little north and over these mountains comes sudden and fast currents. On this one occasion the disciples are out in their boat. A sudden storm has them all calling out in fear. Suddenly they see Jesus coming to them on the water. Simon Peter, being the man he was jumped out of the boat to be with Jesus. But he then began to see the waves, took his eyes off Jesus and began to sink. Sometimes we have enough faith to get out the boat, but then we see the waves, take our eyes off Jesus and begin to sink. It is not that we do not have faith but sometimes our faith is placed wrong.

The limpet is a small shellfish that is found clinging to a rock. The limpet clings to the rock in the calm and in the storm. He is always clinging. My, we need sometimes simply to cling.

In Mark 14:67-71 we see Simon Peter at a low point in his life. Jesus has been taken away to be killed. The other disciples have fled for their lives. Peter is left alone in the city streets. A little girl asks him, "Are you not one of them?" With profanity, Peter denies even knowing Jesus. About that time the rooster crows. And Peter weeps. At that point Peter is down. He realizes he has done exactly what Jesus said he would do.

In John 21:1-23 we see Peter again. This time he is not down but is challenged by Jesus to be responsible. This morning, right after the resurrection, Jesus gives Peter a final exam. Three times he asks Peter "Do you love me?" Peter's triple confession, "Yes, Lord you know I love you," succeeds his threefold denial. Satisfied with Peter's outburst of passionate, burning love, Jesus recommissioned Peter for future service. Daniel McLean says: "Peter's sun had been eclipsed but never put out, and is shone with love as soon as the shadow was gone."

We should never let one mistake or failure condemn us to a lifetime of guilt and remorse.

Think on these men. Disraeli's first speech in the House of Commons was such a flop that the average man would have never tried again. But he was not average and became one of the world's best speechmakers. Galileo was the laughing stock because of his theories. But time proved him to be right. Rudyard Kipling applied for a job with a California newspaper. The editor made fun of his name and told him to give up on writing. We know what Rudyard Kipling did for the literary world. E. Stanley Jones, when he tried to preach his first sermon, drew a blank from his mind. He went on to be such a world reknown preacher and writer. These men were down but not out.

THINK ABOUT IT: "When the outlook is dark try the uplook!"—John Wesley.

Fire Ant Battle Rages On

COLLEGE STATION—The battle against the imported fire ant rages on—and it's an uphill battle.

Fire ants now infest about 115 of the state's counties, and earlier visions of eradicating this persistent pest have faded. Now the battle seems to be one of containment.

Brought into this country from South America, the imported fire ant is a fierce competitor and is more aggressive than other ant species, points out Dr. Bart Drees, an entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System. The defensive nature of the ants is readily demonstrated as they swarm anything that disturbs their mound.

Fire Ant stings produce a burning sensation and a pustule usually forms soon after the sting. The sting is not serious unless the person stung is hypersensitive, Drees explains. Several hypersensitive persons have died from fire ant stings. The biggest hazard with fire stings is the possibility of a secondary infection if the pustule pops and is not kept clean until it heals.

MOUNDS, MOUNDS, AND MORE MOUNDS

Recent rains over the state have seemed to cause a proliferation of fire ant mounds, but that can be attributed to the fact that the ants are simply rebuilding mounds collapsed from the rain, says Drees.

Imported fire ants prefer to build their mounds in open, sunny areas, and mounds in clay soils may reach a foot-and-a-half in height. Fire ant colonies frequently locate around stumps; in rotten logs, bales of hay and electrical boxes; and under other objects that offer some protection. The ants will rapidly reinfest land disturbed by construction, farming operations, floodings and pesticide use.

Fire ants mainly consume insect material, but they also sip sugary juices from aphids; feed on plant materials which contain oils, such as okra buds and soybean and grain seeds; and occasionally feed on dead animals and protein-containing products such as broken eggs. Worker ants return to the mound with food and feed the colony's queen and brood. Only larval ants that are nearly mature will eat solid food; the remainder feed only on liquids, according to the entomologist.

CONTROL PRODUCTS PLENTIFUL

As far as fire ant control is concerned, a whole arsenal of materials is available, including individual mound treatments, baits and, of course, home remedies.

More than 65 different products are now available for controlling the fire ants. All work differently and vary greatly in cost. There seems to be a product for about every type of situation, Drees points out.

Spraying surfaces for foraging ants is common in and around the home, and products for this purpose contain carbaryl, chlorpyrifos, diazinon, isofenofos, propoxuf or resmethrin. These sprays can be used as spot treatments and to establish a barrier around areas or objects such as gardens, patios, electrical boxes and bee hives.

Granular products containing chlorpyrifos or isofenofos can be applied to turf areas with a seeder or fertilizer spreader. After the application, the treated area must be watered thoroughly. These granular products are long-acting and will kill foraging worker ants.

Mound treatments are aimed at killing the queen ant and her brood to eliminate reproduction, explains the entomologist. Mound drench products contain chlorpyrifos, diazinon or isofenofos. They can be sprinkled on top of and around the mound and generally do not produce immediate results.

Granules containing chlorpyrifos or diazinon also can be sprinkled with one or more gallons of water.

Dust products containing acephate can be applied to mounds and act like a tracking powder. Or they can be drenched into the mound with water.

FAST-ACTING CONTROLS

For more immediate results in controlling fire ants, Drees recommends products containing methyl chloroform (often shown as 1,1,1-trichloroethane on the product label). When poured into the mound, the liquid immediately turns into a gas and kills all ants within a minute. However, the vapor soon dissipates and leaves no residue to kill foraging ants returning to the mound.

Aerosols containing pyrethrum or tetramethrin also produce immediate results and work well in treating fire ant mounds in indoor areas where picnics or other activities are planned.

New bait products such as Amdro, logic and Pro-Drone are for treating individual mounds through broadcast applications. These products contain insecticides on bait particles of toasted corn grits coated with soybean oil. With these products, worker ants pick up the bait and bring it back to the mound where they feed it to the queen and the brood. Amdro can kill ants in a mound in about a week. Logic and ProDrone are insect growth regulators that prevent queen ants from producing more worker ants and thus cause a slow decline in the ant colony. Several weeks to a year may pass before a total colony is eliminated, notes Drees.

DO HOME REMEDIES WORK?

What about home remedies? For a cheap, environmentally safe treatment, pour several gallons of hot, boiling water over the mound. Shoveling one mound on top of another has been thought to force colonies to "fight each other to the death." However, this technique is not always effective.

Other home remedies include petroleum products, soaps, ashes, battery acids and bleach. Most of these are effective, dangerous or serious pollutants, says the entomologist.

Mites now marketed for fire ant control also are not very effective, adds Drees. They will readily attack humans, producing a severe skin rash.

Devices such as electronic probes, microwave units and explosive devices are exempt from required registration by the Environmental Protection Agency since no chemicals are involved. In most cases, their effectiveness has not been scientifically documented.

Armed with all of today's information for controlling fire ants, what is the best approach?

First evaluate your fire ant situation, suggests Drees. If total elimination is desired, intensive and costly efforts may be justified. If only large mounds are to be reduced, another approach is in order. In pastures, broadcasting a bait in combination with dragging heavy objects over mounds will reduce fire ant problems. Baits can also be used in turfgrass areas.

JILL AND SAM HOSCH participated in the SHAP Circuit horse shows held in Amarillo June 7-13. The Circuit consisted of 6 AQHA approved shows during its 7 day run.

Jill and her horse, Be Red Chick, were named Circuit Champions in Showmanship, Western Pleasure, and Western Horsemanship. They were also runner-up in Trail.

Sam and his horse, April Split, won Western Pleasure during the Sunday show and had several other placings from 3rd through 7th in both Pleasure and Horsemanship.

Jill and Sam are the children of Pascal and Joyce Hosch of Tulia and the grandchildren of Mrs. Pat Hosch of Santa Anna.

Few products are cleared for fire ant control in home gardens, notes Drees. Applying diazinon to control soil insects also kills foraging worker ants. Mounds can be treated with a hot water drench, shoveled out of the garden or treated with a product containing methyl chloroform.

Amdro should not be used in a garden but can be broadcast around where foraging ants will find it and take it to the queen and brood. Spraying around the garden with diazinon or chlorpyrifos also will keep foraging ants out.

Grandmother asked her doctor, after his long examination, what her chances were of being around to see her youngest granddaughter walk down the aisle. "Look Grandma," the doctor said, "Let's face it, you're not getting any younger." "Look Doc," she replied, "I don't want to get any younger, just fix me up so I can get older."

An Englishman watched his first American football game. He looked intently as the team gathered into a huddle after each play. His American host asked what he thought of the proceedings. "Not a bad sport," remarked the visitor, "But they do seem to engage in an excessive number of committee meetings."

When a robbery suspect was arraigned, the court asked him if he could speak English. The man said "a little." "What can you say in English?" asked the judge. "Give me all your money," replied the suspect.

A WORD FROM THE MAYOR

In the last few months there were many questions asked concerning our Police Department that I, nor no one else, could answer. I had mixed emotions and we have every right to express our emotions whether pro or con. We agree and disagree, yet we can in our disagreeing look ahead, join in our goals to work even harder to meet the needs of our community. What has happened is history. I hope that through this experience we do not divide ourselves and let our personal feelings separate us to the point where we cannot function as adults. We have hired Mr. Craig Terry as a temporary policeman. I encourage all of our community to support and work with him and welcome him to Santa Anna. I have a lot of faith in our people. We are strong. Our dreams can be achieved only as we work together. Let us look ahead and join our efforts to make Santa Anna what it can be.

West Texas Boys Ranch Alumni Reunion

On August 9-10, West Texas Boys Ranch will be alive with the sounds of some familiar voices. Oh, the voices have gotten deeper through the years, but the Ranch never, ever forgets.

On those dates, a large contingent of former Boys Ranchers and ex-staff members will descend upon their former home to renew old acquaintances, make some new friends, and show off families of their own, as they congregate at the 40th Anniversary Boys Ranch Reunion.

Activities will get under way on Saturday, August 9, with registration and check-in starting at 10 a.m. Lunch will be served at 12 noon and a Boy Rodeo will follow shortly thereafter. At 5:30 p.m., a barbecue supper will be served, followed by a fellowship from 6:30 to 9:00 p.m. This will be a time to swap tales of past escapades and to catch up on what's gone on during the intervening years.

On Sunday, the former boys and their families are invited to attend worship services with the current boys in the chapel at 11:00 a.m. As always, the public is invited to attend the services at the Ranch.

Lunch will immediately follow church services, and, beginning at 1:30 a slide and photo display will be open for everyone to view and remember old times. The photos date back to the early days of the Ranch and many former boys will be shown.

At approximately 3 p.m., the organizational meeting of the Boys Ranch Alumni Association will get underway. Jimmy Marshall of Waco is currently serving as ad hoc chairman of the group until an official slate of officers is selected at this meeting. The purpose of the group will be to plan periodic reunions, establish a directory of former boys, facilitate correspondence among the former boys and, most importantly, to create a support group for current boys from people who have had the Boys Ranch experience and have made it in the outside world.

"I would like to get at least 20-25 former boys to be very active in the Association," said Marshall. "That would give us a strong base to work from. Of course, I'll take more if I can get them."

Our greatest role and challenge will be to let these boys know that they aren't the only ones who have gone through some of the things that

Soccer Camp Tips On Choosing A Nursing Home

There will be a soccer camp that will be conducted the week of July 14th at Scott Soccer Complex in Brownwood. Camp hours will be from 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Monday thru Friday. The cost for the camp is $85 per player.

Instructors for the camp will be Misuil Isopos, Hardin Simmons Coach; John Gonzales, Temple High School Coach; and Tim O'Leary, Waco Midway High School Coach. The camp is open to all players ages 6 thru 18, boys and girls. Players will be grouped according to age and ability. The focus of this camp will be to develop skills; both teams and individual.

Tee-shirts, soft drinks and snacks will be supplied as part of camp fees. Registrants should bring a sack lunch.

For further information please contact Richard Jones at 643-4084 or Bob Burleson at 625-3354.

A Coaching Clinic will also be held at the Scott Soccer Complex in Brownwood for all Youth Coaches on Tuesday, July 15th or Thursday, July 17th, beginning at 7:00 p.m. each night. Coaches will be divided into groups according to age of team and experience. A "G" Coaches certificate will be awarded at this clinic. All area coaches are encouraged to attend this clinic on either night.

They have gone through. I know that's how I felt when I was here. They need to know that the Ranch is not the end of the road. It's only the beginning."

Ex-boys considering attending the reunion and or joining the Alumni Association, should contact Lee Brewer at (915)949-1936.

Accent On Health Tips On Choosing A Nursing Home

Choosing the right nursing home for an aged or disabled relative may be one of the most difficult choices a family has to face, according to the Texas Department of Health (TDH). And more families each year are seeking help in making that choice, since the number of persons needing residential care is growing.

About 100,000, or 5 percent of persons 65 and older in Texas, require residential care away from their own home.

The TDH Bureau of Long Term Care is responsible for licensing about 1,000 nursing homes in Texas, certifying those which provide services for Medicaid and Medicare recipients, and investigating all complaints. The bureau continually monitors the quality of care in all nursing homes by conducting routine, unannounced inspections.

The bureau also operates a toll-free information phone in Austin (1-800-252-9106) for anyone who needs detailed information about nursing home standards, types of care, lists of homes in given areas, and inspection records of specific homes. Also, anyone wishing to lodge a complaint about a nursing home may do so by calling the information number.

Persons trying to choose a nursing home are advised to take the following steps:

+Get a list of licensed facilities, either from the nearest local health department office or by calling the statewide toll-free number. +Examine the list to find the homes offering the types and level of care needed.

+Note the homes which are most convenient to family members.

+Ask if the family doctor will continue to provide care in any given nursing home, or select an attending physician from lists provided by the nursing homes.

+Ask questions when calling an individual nursing home. Find out: (a)if it has any openings; (b)what levels of care it offers; (c)whether it accepts Medicare or Medicaid patients; (d)what restrictions there are on the types of patients admitted; (e)what the daily rates pay for; (f)what services cost extra; and (g)if there is a volunteer program.

+Visit several homes and look for the following: (a)good visible resident care; (b)friendly, competent staff; (c)healthy, appetizing meals; and (d)clean, odor-free environment.

After selecting the two or three most likely suitable homes, make a second visit on a weekend, preferably during a meal, before making a final decision.

These and other tips are discussed in a booklet entitled "Choosing a Nursing Home in Texas." The booklet is available from local offices or from the Bureau of Long Term Care by phoning (1-800-252-9106).

ANIMALS ASLEEP

Most animals need to sleep or rest every day, just as you do. Some animals are long sleepers. They don't have many enemies. They are usually predators that hunt other animals for food. Other animals are short sleepers. They must stay awake to watch out for hungry enemies that would like to make a meal of them.

Below are pictures of five animals and five interesting sleep facts. Draw a line from the animal to the fact that fits it.

- A. Usually sleeps in a hole in the ground, but may sleep in a tree.
- B. Crawls into a den and sleeps away most of the winter. But unlike a true hibernator, if something disturbs it, or if the weather warms up, it will quickly wake up.
- C. Usually sleeps three or four hours at one time. May sleep standing up or lying down.
- D. May sleep up to 16 hours a day.
- E. Needs to be so alert that it never goes into a deep sleep: It just takes short naps.

Answers: 1 (rabbit) - E; 2 (elephant) - A; 3 (fox) - B; 4 (cat) - C; 5 (dog) - D.

Make a Milk-Carton Lion

by Peter Hamilton Kent

When this lion roars, you'll have a great place to store treasures. To make this lion, just follow these directions:

1. Cut off part of a clean, empty 1/2 gallon milk carton. (See Drawing A.)

2. From orange paper, cut out a circle 8 3/4" in diameter. Make 1" deep cuts around the edge (Drawing B).
3. Cut out a mouth (Drawing B).

4. Make white paper teeth and tape them inside the mouth. Then draw a face on your lion (Drawing C).
5. Cover the milk carton with orange paper. Draw on 2 legs. Then glue on white paper claws (Drawing C).

6. For the tail, braid three 16" strands of gold and/or brown yarn. Knot each end of the braid about 1" from the end.
7. Cut a hole near the bottom of the back of the milk carton. Poke one end of the tail in the hole.
8. Tape the lion's face to the top of the milk carton. Now pop your treasures in the lion's mouth.

THE STATES PATCHWORK QUILT PARADE

A QUILT FOR NEW JERSEY
Autumn Leaves
The Maple was chosen by New Jersey as a state flower or symbol, so we have interpreted it into patchwork for their state quilt design. Glorious Autumn coloring is suggested, although green in two values with white would make a dainty version for many bedrooms. When four Autumn colors are used, keep the two stronger one, as flame and orange placed diagonally and the two lighter one, tan or yellow and apricot, forming a line of color across the quilt in the other direction.
White lattice strips cut four inches wide by the length of your finished block about 10 1/2 inches with four-inch squares of the gold at all corners makes a lovely quilt plan. Thirty pieced blocks, five wide by six long, with four-inch border and set strips would finish a top about 76 x 90. Three-fourths yard each of the four leaf colors, one yard of gold and four and one-half of white or unbleached is the yardage estimate for a full-size quilt.

Each block is made by piecing the little nine patches for each leaf and joining with the long white oblong and gold center square. Stems may be all gold, or each the color of its leaf.

How Much FAT?

Fat's not all bad—or all good. Some fat is needed for good health. Besides being an important source of energy, fats aid in the absorption and transport of fat soluble vitamins A, D, E and K in the body. Also, fat makes food taste better and can keep hunger pangs away.

Nutrition experts say that about 30 to 35 percent of our calories can come from fat. Fifteen to 20 percent of calories should come from protein and 45 to 55 percent from carbohydrates. So if you're the average woman who consumes 1800 calories a day, 540 to 630 calories should come from fat. That's the equivalent of 5 or 6 tablespoons of concentrated fats such as oils, butter, margarine, lard, shortening or bacon.

If you butter your toast, fry your eggs, season your vegetables, baste your meats and add salad dressing to your salad, you can easily get 5 or 6 tablespoons of fat. And that's not even counting the "hidden" fats in baked goods and processed foods.

As a result, most of us could cut back some of our fat intake and still be getting enough of its positive effects for good health.

Bug Bite Hazards

An insect repellent can make the difference between pleasure and pain in the outdoors.

In addition to the usual itching and swelling, mosquitoes, ticks, and other biting bugs can cause, they can also be a real health hazard. They can spread serious illnesses such as encephalitis, Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever and Lyme Disease.

Here are some tips to keep mosquitoes from biting:

- Use a good repellent, such as Cutter Insect Repellent. It should be applied to all exposed skin before going outdoors. Non-synthetic clothes can also be sprayed with it for more complete protection.
- Dump out pails and open containers after rain. Get rid of old tires or puncture them to drain water. Mosquito eggs must be in water to hatch and these containers make ideal breeding grounds.
- Fill drain areas where water stands: gutters, ditches and low areas in your yard. Mosquitoes even like holes in trees that collect water.

HELP SLOW YOUR ELECTRIC METER DOWN THIS SUMMER.

Set Your Thermostat at 78° or Higher.

The recommended thermostat setting for summer cooling is 78° or higher. Portable fans or ceiling fans can help you feel comfortable at higher thermostat settings. Don't forget to turn fans off when you leave the room.

Tightly Seal Air Leaks in Your Home.

Make sure all cracks around windows, doors, pipes and wiring are tightly sealed with proper caulking and weatherstripping. Also, R-30 insulation in the ceiling, and R-16 insulation in the walls is recommended to adequately insulate your home.

Check Your Filter Regularly.

A dirty filter could keep your air conditioning system from operating as efficiently as possible. Clean permanent filters according to manufacturer's instructions, and replace non-permanent filters.

For more information on how to help slow your electric meter down this summer, call your local WTU office.
