New Bleachers For Livestock Show, Thanks To Ag Students

Spectators at the Santa Anna Livestock Show and Youth Fair will be able to make use of some new steel bleachers constructed by members of Gary York's ag class. Shown here trying out one of two sets of the portable bleachers are, back row, Agriculture instructor, Gary York, and class members Candi Daniel, Wesley Dockery, Paul Martin, Bryce-Ellis and David Barstow. Seated at the front are Benny Guerrero, Billy Joe Diaz, Cody Martin, Billy Wayne Thomas and Scotty Yancy. The bleachers will be used during the stock show and later can be moved to the tennis courts for spectator use during tennis tournaments. According to Mr. York, the bleachers will probably be used on the visitor's side of Mountaineer Stadium to furnish extra seating during football games. The class also helped construct the new steel railings you may have observed at the school campus and parking lot across the street.

Saturday Is Show Time For Santa Anna Ag & 4-H County Show Starts Next Weekend, 17th

The Santa Anna Livestock Show and Youth Fair will be held this Saturday, January 9 at the Show Barns on the high school campus.

Changes are being made in times this year due to the Coleman County Show being held the following week-end. This will allow more time for the local show.

Arrival and weigh-in times will be as follows: Barrows 4 to 6 p.m. on Friday, January 8; and lambs and rabbits 8-9 a.m. on Saturday, January 9.

The show will begin with lambs and rabbits being shown first, starting at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday. The barrow judging is scheduled to begin at 1:00 p.m., however, if the lamb judging runs a little ahead of schedule, some hogs may be shown before the lunch break.

Show judges this year will be Jason Allen of Goldthwaite for lambs and barrows and Robert Beckhold of Early for rabbits.

A barbecue lunch will be served during a break to begin following the rabbit judging. Everyone is invited to come enjoy the lunch to be served in the ag building. There is no charge for the meal, but donations will be accepted from those wishing to contribute.

The youngsters will be taking their stock to the Coleman County show and sale next weekend, running from Sunday, January 17 through the sale on Tuesday, January 19.

Swine judging will begin at the county show at 1:00 p.m. Sunday, January 17, followed by the rabbit judging.

Lambs will be shown starting at 8:00 a.m. Monday, January 18. Steers will be shown following the lamb judging.

The annual event will culminate with the sale which will begin at noon on Tuesday, January 19 at Coleman Livestock Auction.

The show and sale of livestock by youngsters is made possible by donations from people and businesses in Coleman County. Donations may be made at the Santa Anna National Bank or to any Santa Anna Livestock Association member, or you may wish to purchase an animal project at the county sale. Members who may be contacted include Lane Guthrie, Rob Cheaney, Ronnie Daniel, Donald Carter, D. Carol Holt, Gary York and others.

Santa Anna Penatuhkah Comanche Chief

A series by Linda Pelon
German and Comanche Treaty Talks

(All information was abstracted from Tillig 1913:95-107)

Twenty chiefs participated in this council, including Santana (Santa Anna), Mopchucopce (Old Owl), and Pochanaguarhip (Buffalo Hump). Jim Shaw, Agent Neighbor's Delaware scout, served an interpreter to the Comanches. They all arrived at the prearranged place at the time of the midday sun. "Sitting down in solemn silence on buffalo skins spread out in a wide circle around the campfire, on the embers of which the pipe of peace was to be lighted.

Meusenbach's Address
(translation of a report published in the Magazin fur Literatur des Asulandes, 1847)
My Brethren:

I have come a long way to see you and to smoke the pipe of peace with you. I hope you will listen to the words that I am going to speak to you, for they are words of truth and sincerity, as it is the German's custom. My father's people, which are a martial people, brave and well armed, as you have seen, sent me out and I came with part of my people from far away from across the great waters; we have joined the Americans, they are our brothers, and we all live now under the same great father, the President.

You have lately made peace with the chiefs of that great father. That you may learn to know my people, your present neighbors, and live with them as brothers, I want to consult with you and make a special treaty of peace. Many of my countrymen live near the water that you call Guadaloupe (sic), and many more near another river that we call Pedemales. There they live close together in tents, huts and houses. Now, I intend to come with part of my people to the Llano and there make our homes forever. My countrymen are industrious and thrifty and know how to win from the earth many things that you like to eat and they will always have plenty for themselves and their brothers. But few who cultivate the soil, like to chase the fleeing deer or to kill the buffalo. We do not fear war, but we prefer peace, and if you are willing to wander with our people on the white path of peace, it will gladden the hearts of our wives and warriors, and we then wish that you should abandon the red warpath and tread on the path that is white and visit our people, our cities, villages and wigwams. When we are friends, we shall always share our meals with you, whenever you come to us hungry. If you choose the path of peace with us, you will always receive corn, white flour, sweet sugar and the brown water (coffee), also meat of different kind, and you can exchange for it your skins, horses and mules, and your squaws and children will know where to receive that, which will gladden their hearts, when they are hungry.

I now make the following proposition:

1. My countrymen have the permission to go and travel where they please, and no harm must be done to them, but you must protect them everywhere. On the other hand, your people can come to our wigwams and cities without fear and can go wherever they please and shall be protected as long as they wander on the white path.

2. You, the chiefs, and your people will assist us and report to us, when bad men and redfaces or other tribes steal our horses or intend other felonies, and we shall do the same, when you are attacked.

3. I am going to send men with the thing that steals the land (compasses), as the red men call it, and will survey the whole country of the San Saba as far as the Concho and other waters, so that we may know the boundaries and where we can go and till the soil. And if you are willing after consultation with your warriors, to make this treaty, then I will give you and your squaws many presents; or equal them with the white pieces of metal, that we call dollars, and give you as many as one thousand and more of them.

But I do not propose this treaty in order to drive you from your hunting grounds. My people are going to build their wigwams where there is the proper soil for the raising of corn and other plants and we shall dwell and live together like brothers, for it is but little of the land that we are going to occupy, and much will remain for you and your constant abodes. You do neither grow corn nor do you raise cattle or domestic animals, but live by hunting, striking your tents, made of buffalo skins, today in one place, tomorrow in another.

When the buffalo has gone northward, and the fleet deer deep into the forest, when you cannot kill anymore game with bow and arrow, when the grass is wither, when your horses have lost flesh and the north wind confines you in your wigwams, then come to my people and exchange what you have for the necessities of life. Many of you are often now hungry for days -- then you will always have plenty to eat, for my people will raise on little ground more than we need for our support.

Library Notes

Check It Out

Alice Anna Spillman

Run don't walk to the new library if you haven't seen it over the holidays. The walls of the main room are up and have a first coat of paint. The ceiling is finished. Fluorescent lights are working! Heating-cooling unit will be finished by Tuesday of this week. Walls and ceiling of the bath and workroom should be finished by the time you read this. Makers of these miracles are Montie, Rhet and Mitchell Guthrie and Tex Wright and Andrews Heating and Air Conditioning Contractors. City crews were kind enough to remove some of the trash gathered outside. Workers are needed to complete the clean-up and to finish the painting. This community will be proud of this library and you are the ones responsible for it's growth. Gifts have come from hundreds including memorials, large and small gifts of money—everyone important! money dropped into containers, food donations—work at bake sales, quilt donated, work to sell tickets, book sales and books to sell and making Christmas window to win a Chamber of Commerce award. Those who helped with open houses, who have worked without pay to build, gifts of paintings for the walls, those who picked up supplies, cleaned up, worked on cataloguing books, the Midland Church who supplied the ceiling tiles, McCoys and Kohler for donated supplies and I'm sure I've overlooked other types of help. Give yourself a big pat on the back!

After the clean-up, the next step will be carpet and floor cover for the bath—then the bookshelves. One of the couples who volunteered work on the library is Billie and W. U. Gatlin. Did you read that their sons, Steve, Rudy and Larry Gatlin finished their touring concert in December? This trio started in the late 1970's and have achieved great fame. Larry is now going to appear in a Broadway play. Good luck to all.

Our dear friend, Mrs. Lucille Wylie sent three new books for the library The Novel James Michener, Scarlett—the sequel to Gone With the Wind and one that got away before I got the name. Mrs. Carmen Donham brought the books over. Both ladies have been faithful in support of the library.

Everyone at our house received a book for Christmas. Did you? Either way you probably are ready for another. Visit the library. A new supply of 15 books came from Interlibrary Loan at Abilene. Remember that there are lots of magazine too.

Thoughts From Our Pastors

Don Elrod
First Methodist Church

The following article was written by Dr. Walter Underwood, who was the pastor of St. Luke Methodist of Houston. Dr. Underwood wrote this after 30 years of observing and experiencing the adjustments of new ministers to new congregations. I dedicate this to all the new pastors.

PASTOR-PEOPLE "TEN COMMANDMENTS"

1. Never say to the minister, "That's not the way Brother _____ did it." The new minister doesn't want to do it the way Brother _____ did it, and his way will be better for him.
2. Don't refer to the former minister, either to praise him or to criticize him. The new minister knows the former minister perhaps better than you do. He is already familiar with his strengths and his weaknesses and doesn't need to be told about either.
3. Don't expect the new minister to remember your name after only one introduction. For several months repeat your name to him when you see him until you are sure that he knows you. It will help him to remember you if you will tell him where you work, or what job you have in the church.
4. Always speak to the minister first. Don't expect him to speak first; and then when he doesn't tell your friend: "My pastor doesn't know me."
5. Adjust to the new minister. Don't expect him to adjust to you. He may have a blue car instead of a white one, and may wear a brown suit instead of a black one. His strong points may be different. In the course of a lifetime, the layman is exposed to many men with diverse gifts and thus receives a well-rounded pastoral leadership.
6. Invite the minister to your home, for dinner or just coffee. He will get to know you and your family and you will get to know him best in the informal setting of your home.
7. Let the minister know where there is a need. I do not know of a single minister who would deliberately avoid a place of need. I have known a few people who delight in not telling the minister of a need so they can criticize him for not being there. He is neither a mind reader nor a seer. If you need him let him know.
8. Don't blame the minister for the poverty of your own spiritual resources. The person who says, "I don't go to church because I don't like the minister" is not only revealing his own lack of dedication but the shallowness of his personal commitment.
9. Pray for the new minister. He needs your prayers as much as you need his. If you pray for him, he will be aware of it and your prayers will lead you to be in your place on Sunday with a receptive heart and an open mind.
10. Remember to what and to whom you owe your loyalty. The minister asks only that you be loyal to Christ and to the church. If you do that, then all other loyalties will fall into their proper place.

You give but little when you give of your possessions. It is when you give of yourself that you truly give.
—Kahlil Gibran

Extension Service Offers Seminar on Farm and Ranch Management

By Carol Katzer, CEA-HE
Women who are interested in learning more about managing their farm/ranch business, regardless of their current role, will have a rare opportunity to do so in early 1993. The Texas Agriculture Extension Service will offer the first annual sessions of a new program, "Women in Agriculture: Management Development Seminars" in January and February. Many education programs dealing with farm management are attending primarily by men. "Women may not feel comfortable attending, much less asking questions about the basics of topics covered," said Danny Klinefelter, Extension Service economist and management specialist.

"This program is designed with those women in mind," he said. "Younger and older farm wives; women landowners and those who run the business on their own will all benefit from this exciting new educational event."

Women in Agriculture: Management Development Seminars will be held in two locations in 1993. The first conference will be January 12-13 in San Antonio at the Wyndham San Antonio. The second seminar will be February 18-19 in Lubbock at the Sheraton.

A third location will be added in 1994 in the Dallas area. These two-day conference will begin with registration at 9 a.m. on the first day and conclude after lunch on the second. Information will be presented by keynote speakers, in smaller workshop settings and in informal sharing sessions. There will be a wide variety of workshop topics, ranging from financial management, record keeping and marketing to those more family oriented. Each workshop will be repeated.

Workshop topics will include: Managing Family/Business Relationships, Your Farm/Ranch in the Year 2000: How Big?, Basic ASCS Information, Understanding and Working with Lenders, Thinking Globally and the North American Free Trade Agreement, Agriculture and Environmental Regulation, Developing a Management Information/Recordkeeping System, Understanding Financial Statements, The Essentials of Labor Laws, Estate Planning, Protecting Your Farm and Your Future: The Role of Insurance, and Marketing Basics.

Participants in the Women in Agriculture: Management Development Seminars can expect to learn practical management and marketing skills, gain confidence in participating in new roles on the farm and meet other women with similar interests.

The cost of the conference is $95 which includes three meals, breaks and all conference materials. The Wyndham San Antonio is on I-10 just north of the Loop. The Sheraton in Lubbock is located at the Civic Center.

For more information, or to register, you can contact the Coleman County Extension Office at (915) 625-4519.

State Agency Offers Interest-Free Home Improvement Loans

The Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs (TDHCA) has announced that $1 million is available statewide for home improvement loans. Eligible low income homeowners may borrow up to $15,000 and pay no interest.

The purpose of the program is to assist homeowners in making permanent structural improvements to their home. Eligible improvements must enhance the livability of a home or correct a health or safety problem.

"The Home Improvement Loan Program will help Texans who have always wanted to improve their home, but have never had the opportunity. The monthly payment of a home improvement loan is very affordable because the borrower has a great period of time to pay back the loan and is not charged interest," said Paul R. Rodriguez, chairman of the board, Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs.

The term of the loans varies and depends on the amount of money borrowed. Loans between $1,500 and $5,000 have a maximum term of 10 years; loans more than $5,000 and less than $10,000 have a maximum term of 20 years. The minimum monthly payment for a loan is $25.

In order to be eligible, the borrower must meet qualifying guidelines, have a sufficient income to afford monthly payments and make no more than 80 percent of the area median income.

The 72nd Legislature created TDHCA by merging the former Texas Housing Agency and the former Texas Department of Community Affairs. The Community Development Block Grant was also transferred from the Texas Department of Commerce to TDHCA.

The Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs is dedicated to helping Texans to achieve an improved quality of life through the development of better communities.

Persons interested in the Home Improvement Loan Program may call the department's toll-free number, 1-800-792-1119.

Recognizing Those Who Have Helped Shape Local History

Mr. & Mrs. Casey O. Herring

Casey O. Herring, the son of the late Ben and Bernice Casey Herring, was born and raised in Coleman County. He attended school at Buffalo.

Evaline Baugh Cupps was born to Elmer and Pauline Baugh Cupps in the Cleveland community. She spent her school days at the Cleveland School.

She was the first born of nine children and grew up helping to care of her younger brothers and sisters. Her family continues to be close-knit and gathers every year at Easter for their annual Cupps Family Easter Picnic. They have done this for 52 years with immediate family, friends and relatives attending each year. Of Evaline's seven living sibling, two live within several miles of her in the Crossroads community, three live in the area, one resides in Fort Worth and one in San Angelo.

Casey and Evaline were married in May of 1934 in Santa Anna. They began their married life in a house belonging to her family. Later they moved to the community of Liberty before moving to the Crossroads community where they continue to live.

Casey has worked at several jobs over the years including the Santa Anna Tile Plant, building airplane parts in Brady at what is now known as Loadcraft and in the oilfield. In his retirement years, he is now farming, ranching and taking care of his oil interests.

Evaline cooked for several years at the Crossroads School when her older children were in school there. She is a housewife and helps in the farming and ranching activities.

The couple are the parents of four children, Charlene Schulle of Bangs, Pam Morgan of Stephenville and Kenneth Herring and Dale Herring, of Santa Anna. They have 13 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Casey recalls the time he was in downtown Santa Anna and saw the famed Bonnie and Clyde. The famous couple were living north of the mountain. When asked if they ever robbed a bank in this area, Casey said "No, I guess they didn't want to rob a bank where they lived and could be recognized easily."

Longevity runs in the family with both Casey and Evaline having two aunts and an uncle still living.

Casey was a member of the board which organized the Soil Conservation Service in the area and served on that board until it disbanded.

They are members of the Cleveland Church of Christ.

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Activity in Capitol halls slowed over the Christmas and New Year holidays, but speculation remained at high speed over who Gov. Ann Richards will name as U.S. Senator.

Still lingering in discussions is the possibility that Richards will eventually name herself, by appointing a "caretaker" to serve until she wins the upcoming special election.

According to well-orchestrated leaks from the governor's office, candidates still on her "short list" are Congressmen Mike Andrews of Houston and Jim Chapman of Sulphur Springs, Railroad Commissioner Bob Krueger, Secretary of State John Hannah, and Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle.

Both Andrews and Chapman have the federal experience, obviously; Krueger, who lost '78 and '84 Senate races, has a statewide organization and name ID.

Caretaker Strategy

The presence of Hannah and Earle on her list lend credence to those predicting Richards will name a caretaker to hold the seat while she runs as the Democratic Party's anointed candidate.

Neither has much statewide recognition, and only a little organization and campaign money; to choose either when better prepared candidates abound would be a clear signal that Richards will be a candidate this spring.

Both Hannah and Earle are long-time Richards' cronies who have done much to elevate her in Texas politics.

Sen. Ronnie Earle?

Earle, who as DA heads the Public Integrity Unit which investigates state government wrongdoing, and then-county commissioner Richards were allies in Austin's courthouse crowd in the 1970s.

When Richards challenged incumbent state Treasurer Warren G. Harding in 1982, Earle prosecuted him, he copped a plea and quit the race; Richards won.

In 1983, Earle prosecuted Attorney General Jim Mattox, known to be on a collision course with Richards. Mattox was acquitted, then collided with her in the '90 gubernatorial primary. Richards won.

Some believe the governor was relieved when Earle prosecuted House Speaker Gib Lewis, sometimes a obstacle to her legislative program. Lewis pled guilty and will retire this month.

The Tennessee Signal

One sign of the times came last week when Tenn. Gov. Ned McWherter appointed his deputy as a "caretaker" for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Vice President-elect Al Gore.

One certainty: Any poll will show that Richards is the most popular Democrat in state government.

But thus far, the governor has failed in her stated game plan to give the appointment advantage to a Democrat who can win in May.

Meanwhile, Republicans are officially lining up to run, diluting the edge Richards could give to a Democrat; the pressure for her to act is building.

As one observer said: "We're all on hold until we see who gets the appointment. Anyone who campaigns for anyone other than the governor's candidate is making a bad career move."

College Information Hotline '93

The Texas Association of College Admission Counselors (TACAC) and First City, Texas will co-sponsor a toll-free Hotline--1-800-253-8989, available to all Texas students and their parents on Saturday, January 9 and Sunday, January 10, 1993, from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Parents and students will be able to call in questions about college selection, admission, testing and financial aid. The phones will be answered by college admission directors, high school guidance counselors and financial aid personnel. Spanish-speaking counselors will be available to answer questions.

Please take advantage of this free opportunity to get your questions answered.

VA Offers Toll Free Phone For Vets

Veterans and dependents in Texas seeking information on VA benefits now can call 1-800-827-1000 toll-free and be automatically connected to a benefits counselor at the VA regional office in Waco.

Lois High, Director of VA's Waco Regional Office, said: "Veterans benefits information now will be more readily available by phone for veterans and their families."

The single, nationwide number, which went into effect October 26, replaces a series of 800 numbers and is good anywhere in the United States, Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands.

Benefits counselors in Waco will be available at the toll-free number between 7:45 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

For callers in Waco, the local number 772-3060 should be used to reach benefits counselors.

Dr. High said, "We are doing all we can to bring VA services closer to the people we serve."

Nothing is worth more than this day.

Republican Racehorses

The serious Republican candidates include:

- State Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison, who has teamed with consultant Karl Rove and may announce her candidacy this week.
- U.S. Rep. Jack Fields, R-Houston, who hired John Weaver and the Campaign Services Group of Austin for his campaign.
- U.S. Rep. Joe Barton, R-Ennis, who has the Woodlands firm of David Hill at work on his candidacy.

Klan to Protest Holiday

Civil rights groups are mobilizing for a counterdemonstration against Ku Klux Klan's planned rally at the State Capitol this month in opposition to a state holiday honoring Martin Luther King Jr.

The People's Anti-Racist Coalition has established an "anti-Klan hot line" that will provide information on meetings to organize the counterdemonstration.

The Jan. 16 rally in Austin is expected to draw about 60 Klan members who want the King holiday repealed in Texas.

The holiday honoring the slain civil rights leader was observed in 1992 in Texas for the first time. This year the holiday will be observed on Jan. 18.

Riverboat Gambling Bill

One of the issues Texas lawmakers will consider when they convene Jan. 12 in regular session is a riverboat gambling bill.

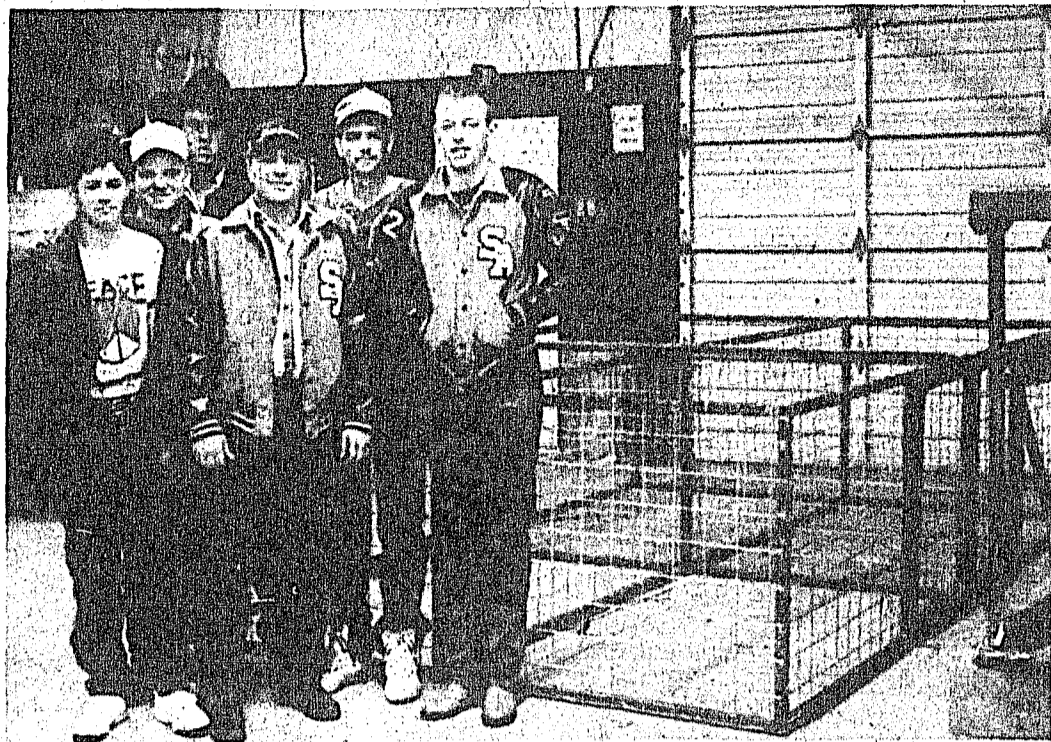

The measure, by Rep. Debra Danberg, D-Houston, would legalize casino-style gambling on boats in the coastal counties.

Sponsors say the riverboat owners will not ask cities for special treatment, like cruise ships often do, and will pay a hefty $2.50 head tax.

Other Highlights

• State Rep. Ciro Rodriguez, D-San Antonio, has filed a revolving-door bill that would prevent former junior college trustees from doing business with their college for one year after leaving service as a board member.

• Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock's special assistant for health and human services, DeeAnn Friedholm, is the new state Medicaid director and deputy commissioner of the Health and Human Services Commission.

SAHS Girls Come From Behind To Beat May, Mountaineers Lose In Overtime

The Lady Mountaineers came from behind to win a close non-district game against May at Perry Gym Tuesday night. May outscored the Ladies in the first three periods of play to hold a 38-28 lead going into the final period, but Santa Anna found its spot and poured in 23 points to 11 for May in the fourth quarter and came away the winners with a score of 51-49. Christie Beal led the Ladies with 23 points.

The Santa Anna boys lost to May in a close thriller, 66-64. It took an overtime period for the Tigers to overcome the stubborn Mountaineers. May was ahead 32-30 at halftime, but the Mountaineers pulled ahead to lead 47-43 at the end of the third period. Vicente Frausto led the Mountaineer shooters with 24 points.

Loaded Up & Headed Out

Shown above is one of many trucks that have left out hauling bales of cotton ginned at the Santa Anna Co-Op Gin, operated this season by G.W. Loyd of Mozelle. According to Loyd, there have been about 500 bales ginned at the local gin this season with producers hauling cotton from all over Coleman County and some from Calahan County. Harris Farms of Calahan County brought in the first cotton to be baled here. Loyd stated that area cotton farmers saw a below average crop this year due to wet weather and weevils. Many farmers "disastered" their crop. He added that they will probably gin a few more bales if the weather clears but the ginning season is pretty well over locally.

A History Of Coleman County In The Texas House Of Representatives

By Bob Turner, State Representative

Representative Bob Turner

As a sitting member of the Texas House of Representatives and a lifelong resident of Coleman county, I became curious and interested in the previous members of the Texas House who have called Coleman county home. Let me share the information that I have obtained.

After quite a bit of research, it appears that a total of nine Coleman countians have served in the Texas House of Representatives over the years. The county had its first state representative in the 23rd session of the Legislature in 1893-94. This member was Mr. M. L. McFarland, and he served only one term. Mr. William R. McClellan then served in the Texas House from Coleman county in the 26th and 27th sessions, from 1899 to 1902, then after skipping the 28th session, was re-elected to serve one more term in the 29th legislature from 1905 to 1906.

In 1915 Mr. Henry H. Sackett was elected from Coleman county, and served in the 34th, 35th and 36th legislatures, ending in 1920.

He skipped one session, and again was elected to his fourth two year term in the 38th legislature in 1923. Mr. Sackett was replaced by another Coleman countian, Mr. Allen L. Pearce in 1925. Representative Pearce served during the 39th and 40th sessions, which ended in 1928. In 1933, Mr. J. W. Golson was elected and served in one session, which was the 43rd legislature. Mr. Ross K. Prescott was elected to represent Coleman county in 1937 and served in only the 45th session.

In 1947, Judge Charles L. South was elected to the state house from Coleman, and served during the 50th state legislative session.

Then in 1991, Bob Turner, of Voss, was elected in a special election and served all but two months of the 72nd legislative session, and has since been re-elected to a second term, to begin in January 1993, which is the beginning date of the 73rd legislature.

Coleman county has been a part of several different legislative districts, as the make-up and population of the state has changed.

During some of these various configurations and alignments, we have been represented by individuals from Runnels, Brown, Comanche, and other counties. One of these out-of-county representatives, Ben Barnes of Brownwood became Speaker of the House, a position he held from 1954 to 1968, and later went on to become Lt Governor of the state.

The State of Texas is now completing its 72nd legislative session, or 144 years, since each Legislative session is for a period of two years, and each member is elected to a two year term. Each new Legislature is sworn in on the second Tuesday of January, of each odd numbered year. One exception to this was the first legislature, which served only one year, and was sworn into session on February 16, 1846. Keep in mind, however, that in 1846, Coleman county was not yet a county.

An added note that perhaps is of interest, is that Coleman county has also had two members of the State Senate. Mr. H. L.

Sims served two terms in the state Senate in the 1880's. Then, Mr. Walter C. Woodward served in the state Senate for several terms in the late 1920's and early 1930's.

One of the nine Coleman countians who served in the Texas House of Representatives later went on to serve one term in the U.S. U.S. Congress. This member was Judge Charles L. South. Congressman South was defeated in his bid for a second term in the National Congress.

Not knowing how much of a political historian any of you who read this article may be, no doubt the level of interest varies.

However, it seems that this is an important portion of the history of Coleman, and Coleman county.

I cannot tell now exactly where I shall erect the wigwags and houses of my people, but it will be near or at the water, that you call Llano. I wish you to consider well what I say.

When my people has lived with you for some time, and when we know each other better, then it may happen that some wish to marry. Soon our warriors will learn your language. If they then wish to wed a girl of your tribe, I do not see any obstacle, and our people will be so much better friends.

When we agree on this treaty, I shall go and fetch the presents and will be ready to sign the treaty solemnly, at the latest when the disk of the moon has rounded twice. I hope that you will agree with me, and I conjure the earth, our common mother, and I have not spoken with a divided tongue. I have no more to say to my brethren. I hear what they are going to reply.

Farmers & Ranchers Receiving Ag Census Forms

By Marty Gibbs, CEA-AG
Farmers and ranchers across the nation will be receiving a report form for the 1992 Census of Agriculture. This important census takes place only once every five years. It serves as the nations only uniform, comprehensive information source on agriculture production, inventories, sales and expenses for all counties, states and the U.S.

The Bureau of the Census takes the census for a variety of purposes. Congress uses the information to develop or change legislation. U.S. Department of Agriculture uses the information to establish programs and determine eligibility for these programs. Farm organizations use the information to develop farm programs and policies. Agribusinesses use census data to determine sales territories and the most effective location for retail outlets. Farmers and ranchers use the data to spot trends that will help them decide what crops to grow or livestock to raise.

For those with a stake in agriculture, the census is the best source of information on farmland use, kinds and acreages of crops produced, value of products sold, acres applied with fertilizers and pesticides, number and types of livestock raised, and cost of fuels and energy consumed. Financial data generated by the census includes interest expenses, values of machinery and equipment, and farm related income. The 1992 Census of Agriculture also asks questions about direct sales, number of hired workers, and the number of injuries and deaths that occurred on the farm.

The Census Bureau went to great lengths to determine the right questions to ask on the report form. The agency sought the advice of farm organizations, farm suppliers, farmer cooperatives, Land-Grant Universities, Congress, State Departments of Agriculture, Governors and other Federal agencies. Forms were also tested by over 40,000 farmers who determined the best wording.

Because of its importance to our Nation, Title 13 of the U. S. Code requires farmers and ranchers to answer the census. Completed census forms are confidential. They may be seen only by sworn Census Bureau employees and may be used only for statistical purposes. Other government agencies, such as the Internal Revenue Service, cannot obtain the individual reports. Even the copy retained by the individual agriculture producer is immune from legal processes.

In the fall of 1993, the Census Bureau will begin publishing final results of the census. The results will be available through the U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402, as well as many depository libraries.

Questions about the report forms can be answered by local county extension agents, Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service Executive Directors, or you may write the Bureau of the Census, 1201 East 10th St., Jeffersonville, IN 47133. You may also call the Census Bureau at 1-800-233-6132.

Agriculture producers who did not receive a census form should write the Bureau of the Census at the address listed above. Completed census forms are due by February 1993.
