My, What A Party.....

And Then Some Reflections On The Past

Santa Anna threw one fine party last weekend and those of you who didn't go will surely want to make plans to participate next year when the Comanche people will once again be special guests.

Funtier Days drew a larger crowd than usual and that can probably be attributed to the interest shown in our Comanche visitors.

The Chamber of Commerce and the Santa Anna Historical Development Organization put a lot of work into this years extravaganza and ended up putting on quite a show.

Linda Pelon, whose features on Comanche Indian Chief Santa Anna have been appearing in the NEWS, has had a great deal to do with our "Indian connection." Her interest in the Comanche and particularly Chief Santa Anna, was the spark that started the long chain of events that led to the Comanche interest in our town.

Her thesis research on the Penatubkah tribe who camped at "Santa Anna's Peak" long years ago, led her to our community and a friendship with many here. She says, "My role has been messenger and storyteller. It really amazes me it's taken till the late 20th century to get told."

The stories she has related and the interest they have sparked have led to a formal declaration of friendship between the Comanches and the people of Santa Anna.

To further seal that friendship the Comanche people who were here for the weekend made a visit Sunday morning to one of the early Comanche campsites on a ranch near here.

The landowner escorted them back into the pasture where they were allowed to examine the site. Thomas Wahnee, one of the most highly respected elders of the tribe and a leader in the Native American Church walked over much of the campsite and seemed to be genuinely moved as he told the group assembled there, "I feel the spirits of the Comanches."

The group found what they determined to be a religious altar site and from the center of the area, Wahnee "cedared" the site. This involved putting sacred cedar into the coals of a campfire to make smoke which blessed the site in a special commemoration.

From there the group moved into the treeline where grinding holes their ancestors had used have been found in huge stones. Here Mr. Wahnee and Mr. June Sovo conducted another blessing ceremony for their ancestors who had been here before them.

With four live coals, Mr. Sovo completed the ceremony dedication. At the same time he made the landowner a "keeper" for the Comanche tribe, having sacred responsibilities for care and guardianship of the site. This was signified by giving the landowner a sacred eagle feather, especially blessed by the Comanche religious leaders. (For those concerned about the use of eagle feathers, since the eagle is an endangered species, it was explained that no birds are killed. The feathers are taken from nests).

After completion of the ceremony with a special prayer, the Comanches then moved back to town and were taken on a sightseeing excursion to the top of Santa Anna's Peaks. Tex Wright escorted them on the tour which included gathering of wildflowers and a special medicine plant they observed on the mountain.

The Indian dancing was the featured attraction at the Funtier Days celebration and each performance was attended by a large overflowing crowd. Booths selling Indian artwork, jewelry, etc, were favorites for many Funtier goers.

A variety of booths for other interests were also available and, of course, lots of good food.

Many public participation activities took place on Saturday and some on Sunday afternoon. We have been unable to obtain results of all that went on but following are some we do have.

The training session for the May program was reported on, and also a report was given on the 4-H Scholarship meeting by La Nell.

Finish work on the new library is progressing slowly. We are working on the bookshelves for the children's area. The one made from shelves in the old library need two coats of paint. The ones made from new lumber need to be stained and varnished.

The library needs more volunteers. Illness, work, scouts, Funtier Days, school activities and other things have taken most of our volunteers. The past couple of weeks we have called in all our substitute librarians to keep the library open. If someone gets sick we will have to close the library during the hours that person was scheduled to work.

We appreciate Cam Slagle and James Ellerbe filling in at the library when they were needed. We need at least one person willing to volunteer at the library for one half day a week on a regular basis. We would like to have a couple of people we could call on when one of the regulars has to be out.

We are down to our last building volunteer. Well almost—we have one man who builds and a helper. There are a number of jobs that need to be done.

We need someone to install two light fixtures.

We need someone to put down the base molding.

We have lots of painting to do. There are 14 bookcases and cabinets that need painting or staining and varnishing.

We have asked several people about helping and we get answers like: "If I get some free time." "I really should do that." "Maybe after Funtier Days." Well, its after Funtier Days. With enough volunteers we could be ready to move in a few weeks. Without more help it will take several months.

I'm doing my part—are you? Call David and Betty Key at 348-3393 to volunteer or come by the library.

Pecan Tree Care

By: Marty Gibbs, CEA-AG
Each year pecan nut casebearers destroy a large portion of homeowners pecan crops. These casebearers are difficult to control since they must be treated prior to entering pecan nutlets. Therefore, under ideal conditions, the homeowner has a window of three to four days when they can successfully treat casebearers.

In Coleman County, pecan nut casebearers are predicted to begin entering nuts between May 28 and June 1. With the crazy weather patterns we are having and temperatures ranging from the mid 90's to the mid-40's, casebearer nut entry may vary greatly. It then becomes very important for homeowners to sample their nutlets found at each twig terminal. Once eggs are spotted, treatment consists of spraying the entire tree with an approved insecticide.

I believe that homeowners need to think long and hard before treating for casebearers. Unless homeowners water or fertilize sufficiently or use enough zinc to fill out a pecan crop, the casebearer may help more than it hurts. Producing a few well-filled pecans is better than lots of pecans only partially filled out. We also know that treatment with casebearers with most insecticides increases the problem with yellow aphids and honeydew which is probably of greater importance to homeowners than the number of pecans they produce.

There are two Bt products currently labeled which could be used to provide 50-70% casebearer control without reducing natural enemies. Homeowners should consider low-impact herbicides as well as the option of no-treatment especially if they do not use all the pecans they produce.

For more information, contact Marty Gibbs at the County Extension Office (625-4519). Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages, regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Karthauser Weds Llewellyn in Church Ceremony

St. Timothy Cumberland Presbyterian Church was the scene for the double ring ceremony that united in marriage Martha Jane Karthauser of Eules, Texas, and David Arthur Llewellyn of Plano, Texas. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David T. Karthauser of Fort Worth and Santa Anna, and the groom is the son of Patricia Llewellyn of Chicago, Illinois and Dan Llewellyn of Conroe, Texas.

The ceremony took place before an altar that was decorated with a floral arrangement of fresh Gladiolas, roses, carnations and gerbera daisies. The altar arrangement was flanked by 2-seven light candelabras accented with Star Gazer lily blossoms and roses as well. The use of fresh foliage on white Grecian columns and soft bows of white tulle on the pews set the scene for the romantic ceremony. The family pews were marked with tulle and teal ribbon bows and floral accents. The unity candle, which was decorated with a copy of the wedding invitation and small white bows, pearls, magenta ribbons stood at one side of the altar. The mother's of the bride and groom lighted their part of the candle in turn as they took their place for the service.

The bride wore a traditional long white gown designed by Sam Martin. The gown featured a high neckline with a sheer insert adorned with venice lace and pearls. The long sleeves, also with sheer inserts adorned with venice lace and pearls, ended with a point over the wrist. The sleeves also featured a triple row of ruffles that stood out from the shoulder and added an extra accent that framed the neckline. The dress had a full six foot train that featured tiers of ruffles cascading from a bow at the hipline spiraling out to the end of the chapel train. The finger-tip veil was fastened onto a close fitting cap embroidered with pearls and featuring ruffles. The bride's long blonde hair was arranged with many tiny braids doubled back which was gathered at the back of her bridal cap and adorned with baby's breath flowers. For her bouquet, Martha carried a cascading bouquet featuring fresh Star Gazer lily blossoms, roses, carnations, English ivy and baby's breath, accented with teal and magenta streamers. She was escorted to the altar by her father.

The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Melissa Johnston of Santa Fe, Texas. She wore a tea length gown of teal silk and carried a colonial style bouquet of fresh Star Gazer lily blossoms, roses and baby's breath. The junior bridesmaids were the bride's nieces, Katherine Johnston of Santa Fe, Texas and Meaghan Karthauser of Flower Mound, Texas. They wore identical dresses of magenta silk organza fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and full ruffled short sleeves. The bodice ended with a point at the waistline where it was attached to a full gathered skirt and tied with a sash of the same material. The girl's dresses were made by the groom's sister, Kerry Knollin of Oceanside, California. The girls hair was caught together at the back with a hairpiece fashioned with magenta and teal rosettes with the magenta and teal streamers. They also carried colonial bouquets consisting of teal roses and baby's breath.

The flower girl was Ellen Johnston, the bride's niece of Santa Fe, Texas. She wore a flowered dress made similar to the junior bridesmaids, with magenta and teal flowers in the pattern. She wore a had ring of magenta and teal rosettes and baby's breath with magenta streamers. She carried a white basket trimmed with teal flowers and magenta bows, and filled with rose petals which she sprinkled in the path of the bride.

The groom wore a cutaway morning suit with a rose boutonniere in his lapel. His best man was James Miller of Austin, Texas. Junior groomsmen were nephews of the bride, Zachary Karthauser of Flower Mound, Texas and James Lee Karthauser of Kerrville, Texas. Ushers were the brothers of the groom, Don Llewellyn and Richard Llewellyn, both of Chicago, Illinois. All the gentlemen plus the fathers of the bride and groom wore tuxedos with carnation boutonnieres.

The ring bearers were nephews of the bride, Daniel Johnston of Santa Fe, Texas, and Dugan Karthauser of Kerrville, Texas. They work dark suits with a carnation boutonniere and carried ring pillows of white satin trimmed with white lace and teal flowers with white and teal streamers.

The bride's mother wore a tea length dress of royal purple silk featuring a high neckline with soft gathers around the neck and also around the waistline caught together at intervals to make a drapery effect. The sleeveless jacket over the long sleeved dress was decorated with silver embroidered flowers. The groom's mother wore a cream colored pleated chiffon shirt with a jacket appliqued with flowers of pale magenta and teal. Both mothers had a corsage of small pink tipped roses.

The minister who officiated was the Rev. Dr. William Rustenhaven and who with his wife, Delores, was celebrating their 38th wedding anniversary.

Rev. Rustenhaven may be remembered in this community as he was the minister at Whon early in his career.

The organist was Kathy Hartwell, and the soloists were Darlene Karthauser of Kerrville, who sang "For All We Know", and "The Wedding Song" and Brian Allen, who sang, "The Lord's Prayer" and "I'll Be Here".

Hostesses were Jessica Adams, Marinell DeGraffenreid, Kathryn Flood, Darlene Karthauser, sister-in-law of the bride of Kerrville, Texas, Dorian Karthauser, sister-in-law of the bride of Flower Mound, Texas, Kerry Knollin, sister of the groom of Oceanside, California, Jeannine Kurth, Mildred Kurth, Pam Miller and Lynn Tuminaro.

At the reception in the church's fellowship room, the bride's table was dressed in white satin and bridal lace skirting which was draped with organza and decorated with teal satin bows. The bride's was a three tiered white cake which had lemon filling and was decorated with crystal columns and confectionery Star Gazer lilies and pearl florals. The punch was served from a silver punch bowl on a round table decorated in magenta and white satin. The groom's cake was two-tiered chocolate fudge, drizzled with white chocolate, covered with white and dark chocolate dipped strawberries. The cake was the centerpiece of a round table also draped with teal lace. The wedding and reception services were provided by Pam Moore, owner of Weddings Perfect in Bedford.

For the grand exit at the church, the junior bridesmaids and the flower girl passed out magenta rosettes filled with birdseed, from white baskets.

The bride and groom exited the church between rows of guests and were sprayed with birdseed as they entered a 1929 Bentley limousine.

After the reception at the church, the families and a few friends met at

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR WASTE DISCHARGE PERMIT RENEWAL

CITY OF SANTA ANNA, P.O. Box 249, Santa Anna, Texas 76878-0249 has applied to the Texas Water Commission for renewal of Permit No. 10274-02 which authorizes a discharge of backwash water effluent at a volume not to exceed an average flow of 20,000 gallons per day from the surface water treatment facilities. The plant site is in the vicinity of Lakes Sealy and San Tana, approximately 3.5 miles northeast of the City of Santa Anna in Coleman County, Texas. The effluent is discharged into Mud Creek; thence to Jim Ned Creek; thence to Lake Brownwood in Segment No. 1418 of the Colorado River Basin.

In accordance with the Texas Surface Water Quality Standards, the Commission staff must determine the existing uses for the receiving water in the area of the proposed discharge. The unclassified receiving waters of Mud Creek have no significant aquatic life uses. The designated uses for Segment No. 1418 are contact recreation, high quality aquatic life uses and public water supply. The effluent limitations in the draft permit will maintain and protect the existing instream uses. All determinations are preliminary and subject to additional review and/or revision.

The Executive Director of the Texas Water Commission has prepared a draft permit which, if approved by the Commission, will enforce existing applicable rules and regulations. It is proposed that the expiration date of the renewed permit be specified as midnight, five years after date of Commission approval.

Trickham News

Rev. Sam Bowden preached Sunday at church, his family was with him, and we had two visitors which we always enjoy, and would like to say come again. Rev. Bowden resigned here since he has accepted a full time church at Pleasant Grove. We will miss him and his family but certainly wish them the best of luck.

Ben Bilbrey of Goldsmith visited on Thursday with his mother, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Barton.

There were four ladies at the community center on Monday for quilting. They are working on a quilt for Bobbie Dean.

John Thomas Brocke of Brooksmith visited on Wednesday afternoon with an aunt, Mrs. Novella Stearns.

Michael Guthrie spent Friday night with his aunt, Mrs. Annie Lou Vaughn. Rodney and Cella Guthrie were Saturday dinner guests and Mrs. Joyce Kirk visited later awhile. Allen Jones, Debbie and boys and a friend, Steven Staley of Holiday and Whitney Gunter of Glen Cove spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jones.

The eighty-four party was held at the usual time Thursday night with twenty-one present. Ray and Bobbie Dean hosted. In talking with Bobbie Dean she told me her mother, Mrs. Ina Windham suffered a heart attack around three weeks ago, and she would like for her friends to know she is home and seems to be doing great.

Mrs. Annie Lou Vaughn visited on Wednesday with Mrs. Gertrude Martin.

Donnie and Sherry York of Ozona spent Friday with Nikki and I and we made a drive down through the Hill Country to look at the wildflowers, there wasn't many bluebonnets but a lot of other kinds, beautiful colors, and I think where they were the most

Turneys' Granddaughter To Participate In Summer Program

Ingrid Terry, a student at Brownwood Middle School has been selected to participate in Northwestern State University's 1993 ADVANCE Summer Residential Program for Young Scholars. This program, administered by NSU in conjunction with Duke University's Talent Identification Program is open to seventh through eleventh graders who test in the top 1% academically of their middle and high schools.

Talented schools chosen to participate in the ADVANCE Program generally are tested in the seventh grade and achieve scores comparable to college-bound 11th and 12th graders on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or the American College Testing Program Assessment (ACT).

The summer program provides an opportunity for talented young students to study intensive, fast paced courses in one of 25 subjects ranging from Robotics to Photography. This summer more than 250 students from approximately 12 states are expected to attend the program. Each participant enrolls in one, three week course at the Northwestern State University campus in Natchitoches, Louisiana.

While at ADVANCE, Ingrid, the daughter of Becki Terry will enroll in Biology.

Ingrid is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Turney of Santa Anna. Her father in Ralph Terry of Coleman and her paternal grandmother is Mrs. John Terry.

Whon News

By Mrs. Tom Rutherford

We are thankful for the good rains we have received here during the week. At my place I had 2 inches and 3 tenths during the week. More thankful no storms or damage done. Although reports are on Saturday night we did have hail but no damage.

Mr. Graham Fitzpatrick is back home after being with his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce and Katie Halomon at Longview for a few days. He reported a very nice visit with them and also was with his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jacky Bullion at Glen Rose during his visiting time. Mr. Bruce Estes has visited with Graham since his return home.

Mr. Roy Emmerson of Bangs has been with Mr. Loyd Rutherford during the past week.

We were saddened to hear of the death of Mr. Cecil Avant on Saturday night. He has made his home in Hamlin for several years and has been in awfully bad health for some time. Has been a patient in an Abilene hospital where he passed away. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tom and Mary Avant. The family lived in the Whon community for years. He lost his wife years past. They were the parents of a son who lives in San Angelo. Services for Mr. Cecil Avant, age 84, were held in Hamlin Monday at 1 p.m. Burial followed by his wife in a San Angelo cemetery Monday afternoon. I have precious memories of growing up and attending school at Whon with the Avant family. Like other families they grew up and scattered. Mr. J. T. Avant of Santa Anna is a brother. Also Mr. Charley Martin Avant of Gouldbusk. And a sister Mrs. Bell Farris of Coleman are local members of the family. Our sympathy to the families of Cecil.

Thanks to Mr. Don Fitzpatrick for stopping and visiting with me Saturday morning. He also was checking on his father, Graham Fitzpatrick while here.

Mrs. Hally Bullard of El Paso who is an aunt of Mrs. Paul Johnson of our community is here visiting with the family. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson and children are employed on the Massey Ranch and are not residents of our community and have been here for several months. We welcome them and look forward to more news from the family. The children attend school in Santa Anna. I understand the family moved here from New Mexico. Sorry I have been so long getting in touch with them and look forward to having more news from the family. Thanks so much.

I visited briefly the past Tuesday morning with my son, Mr. and Mrs. Hilary and Belva Rutherford in Coleman. We are so thankful to report Hilary is doing well following two back surgeries since November. He has not returned to his work yet but he seems to be recovering well and he and Belva are really enjoying their new home in Coleman.

Mr. James Avant of Coleman and Mr. Douglas Avant of Brady were with their mother, Mrs. Pearl Avant in Santa Anna on Tuesday. The boys enjoyed lunch with her on Tuesday but check on her regularly.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred and Josie Bible of Killeen were with their daughter Mr. and Mrs. Rex and Tincy Turney in Santa Anna during the past weekend.

Talked with Tommy Stansberry and he is recovering real well from his wreck of several months back. Not in high gear yet but doing real well recovering from the terrific car wreck several months past.

IRS Offers Asylum For Honest Non-filers

If you haven't filed your tax return, you won't have to worry if you take action today (Thursday).

The Abilene IRS office will be staffed from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. today to help taxpayers with their non-filed returns at the Internal Revenue Service office, Room 2113 of the U.S. Post Office Building on North 3rd and Pine Streets.

Whether the case of not filing is a death in the family, a job layoff, a fire or other personal crisis, the IRS will not prosecute late taxpayers who voluntarily file non-fraudulent returns now.

If a person has not filed for fear of owing more taxes than can be paid, he or she may qualify for a monthly installment plan.
