Thoughts

OF A COUNTRY EDITOR

BY JOHN C. GREGG

WE HAVE PLENTY OF GOOD WATER

"We have plenty of good water" is a statement that very few towns in Texas can make, yet Santa Anna is blessed with a plentiful supply of as good water as will be found anywhere. Most every daily newspaper you pick up today states some other towns who are beginning to suffer for the lack of municipal water.

Although we have not been hit as hard as some towns are at present, we have tasted the shortage of water and know what towns suffer when they begin curtailing the use of water. We can be thankful for the efforts put forth during the past few years to guarantee us an adequate supply of water.

Now is our opportunity to show the world we have an adequate supply of water. A beautification program is underway, being sponsored by the Community Chamber of Commerce, and it is hoped that every household in the town will join in and make an attempt to beautify your premises. With plenty of water, it should not be too much trouble to help the looks of your place, at least a little. And in so doing, you might invite more people to move to Santa Anna.

A lot of people traveling across the country are always looking for newer, better places in which to live. Of primary importance to any person or town is an adequate supply of water. Anyone traveling through Santa Anna would be very likely to notice the green lawns, beautiful trees and flowers and other things that can only be made possible through the use of water, especially in this drought stricken part of the country. We have plenty of water and the rates are cheap enough that you can use all you want and not have a necessarily high water bill at the end of the month.

SO THE PEOPLE MAY KNOW

For the past several months your Santa Anna News has been carrying articles under the heading "So The People May Know" in an attempt to better inform our readers of some of the more important Publication Laws of the state. These laws have been passed because the lawmakers believe in the fundamental principles of democracy that a people can govern themselves only when they are adequately informed. When we started the series of articles we asked you the question "Are you, as a citizen, getting through your newspaper all the information that law says you should have, concerning the operation of your local government?" We can now answer that for you by saying that you are not. A large number of the laws are not being adhered to as they should be.

This week we are publishing the last of the series. We have a complete record of all the laws published and anyone wishing to look them over is invited to do so.

CONG. FISHER OPPOSES GOVERNMENT ENVELOPES

An article elsewhere in this issue of The News gives the remarks made by Congressman O. C. Fisher on the floor of the House of Representatives concerning the printing of envelopes by the Post Office Department. Newspapers all over the nation have been fighting this procedure for years and it seems that now it has a possibility of being brought to public attention. At the present time you can have the Post Office Department print your return address on stamped envelopes at less cost than the plain envelopes can possibly be bought by an ordinary printing firm. Coleman Rodeo To Begin Next Wednesday

The 16th annual Coleman Rodeo will begin next Wednesday, July 8 and continue through Saturday, July 11. The first feature attraction will be the big parade that will start at 5:00 p. m. on Wednesday and each succeeding day.

The rodeo performances will be held each night during the four days and will include all the rodeo attractions plus numerous specialty acts and a matched roping event. The Hardin-Simmons Cowboy Band will be in each parade and at the rodeo each night.

In this week's Santa Anna News a number of Coleman merchants send greetings and invitations to their Santa Anna friends to attend the rodeo.

Town To Close Saturday; Dollar Day Is Friday

Dollar Day will be on Friday, July 3, this month rather than on Saturday as is the monthly custom, because Saturday is a holiday (July 4) and the stores in town plan to be closed for the holiday.

Some stores are making their prices good for only the one day and others are making them good for all day Thursday and Friday.

Be sure to check all the advertisements and plan your week end shopping tours from the advertisements in this newspaper.

The machine will be located in the Stockard Building first door west of the Service Cafe. Every person in this area is urged to be in Santa Anna on one of the two days to have the free X-Ray made.

Most people who marry for money find out they could have borrowed it cheaper.

State X-Ray Machine Here Monday & Tues.

Badly Needed Rain Falls Here Monday

Slightly over one inch of badly needed rain fell in the Santa Anna area Monday and Monday night with more than three inches being reported in some parts of the county. Most of the area south of Santa Anna received from two to three inches rain and good rains fell in the part of the county north of town.

Prospects for this rain helping the maize crop seem to vary, but most agree that practically all of it will be helped some and the younger maize will be helped considerably. The rain was also good for the young cotton crop that did not seem to be suffering much at present, but would have began to in the near future.

The good rain makes the outlook for good crops much better than we have had in this part of the country in about four years.

Rites For James E. McClellan Held Monday, June 29

Funeral services were held at 5:00 p. m. Monday, June 29, at the First Presbyterian Church for James Edward McClellan, long-time resident of this vicinity. At 87 years of age, he was active almost to the last, being sick less than two weeks when death came.

He died at 7:00 p. m. in a Bangs rest home, where he had been a patient for several days. He was born June 9, 1866 in Lee County, Texas, and was married to Miss Celeste Robinson of Austin, Texas, on June 9, 1892. To this union were born ten children, eight of whom survive.

Dr. Ben H. Moore, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, officiated, assisted by Rev. M. L. Womack, a former pastor.

Most of his life Mr. McClellan had been a member of the Presbyterian Church and served with an unusual faithfulness and zeal. Also an unusual scholar of the Bible and church doctrines.

Mr. McClellan made his home the past nine years with his son, Jasper and family, where he and his wife, long deceased, reared a large family.

Children from a distance here for the services were: Mrs. S. E. Damon, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McClellan, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Tom McClellan of Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver McClellan, San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Otis Miller and Elizabeth Ann of College Station; and Mrs. H. B. Dieter of Koblenz, Germany, who came by plane. Others of the family from a distance were a grandson, Henning Dieter of Austin and a granddaughter, Mrs. Bartow Boylston and husband from Alke, S. C. Mrs. Boylston is the former Novelle McClellan. Frances McClellan of Ruidosa, New Mexico, was also present.

The ladies of the Presbyterian Church served both dinner and supper in their fellowship hall to all the bereaved.

Flower bearers were Walter Holt, Homer Vercher, T. J. McCaughan, Mark Davis, J. T. Oakes and Montie Guthrie.

Flowers bearers were: Mmes. Fern Hoke, Mark Davis, Lenton Oakes, David Keefer, Walter Holt and J. R. Close.

Burial was in the Santa Anna Cemetery with Hosch Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

By Dr. Charles M. Henner

(Editor's note: The following article was prepared by Dr. Charles H. Henner at the request of your editor. We wanted an expression from a qualified physician, urging the people of this area to have their chest X-Rayed when the State Health Department machine is in Santa Anna Monday and Tuesday, July 6 and 7. The machine will be located in the former Bell-Furniture Co. building, the first door west of the Service Cafe. We urge all of the citizens of this area to be sure and have the X-Ray made during the time the machine is here.)

On July 6 and 7 the State Health Department is giving $13 to each and every one who cares about his or her health, boy or girl, man or woman, young or old.

Thirteen dollars is what it costs you to have your chest X-Rayed ($10.00) and have the film read by a qualified chest specialist ($3.00).

Your chest does not have to hurt, you do not need to have a hacking cough, or a foul smelling breath, sunken eyes, shallow complexion, or be a rattling skeleton to have active tuberculosis bugs eating your lungs and like away. You can be a playful little grammar school boy, a pig-tailed girl, a gangling youth, a husky football player, a sweet, kissable sixteen-year-old, or an adult man or woman, young, middle-aged or old and doddering. "Little Looie", the Tubercle Bacillus eats 'em all, including you. Silently, without tale-tale sign, he riddles your lungs, leaving large cavities, sometimes as large as grapefruits, fills up these cavities with foul smelling rotten tissues and pus, and finally, after you have exposed your husband, wife, sweetheart, family and children, and in many cases given them the disease, then he comes out in the open and laughs at his betrayal of you and your invaluable health. This is the old-time Consumption, or Galloping Consumption, which oft-times enveloped entire families, leaving in it's wake death and sorrow.

Nowadays, because people have been warned, know how this insidious Commie works, know how to beat his dirty, deadly game, thousands upon thousands are living in good health where otherwise they and their children and friends would be wasting away on death beds or long since departed.

Nowadays we can turn a powerful X-Ray beam on the sulking bandit and show him up as though he were walking down the street, instead of hiding snugly in a cavity on your lung, working, growing, multiplying. Once discovered, by one or two shots a week and a handful of pills make "Little Looie" scream and cry "calf-ropes", then curl up and die.

July 6 and 7 in Santa Anna the annual Tuberculosis Rodeo will be held. $13.00 prizes free to anyone and everyone who registers. Come on in, get your $13. worth of excitement and free medical care, compliments of the good old State of Texas, the Santa Anna Lions Club and the Women's Auxiliary.

Lt. Col J. J. Gregg, Jr. Featured In Army Newspaper Recently

Following is an article from The Fort Eustis Sentinel, a weekly newspaper published at the base where Lt. Col. J. J. Gregg, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gregg of Santa Anna, is stationed. It was published under the head of "Know Your Leaders".

Lt. Col Joseph J. Gregg, post Inspector General since Nov. 1951, has served the Army in many corners of the world. Commissioned a second lieutenant in the New Mexican National Guard in Jan 1941, he was assigned to the 104th Anti-Tank Bn, redesignated the 804th Tank Destroyer Bn at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. He went to Ireland, England and Africa with the 804th, returning to the U. S. when the African campaign was over in 1943.

In Jan., 1944, Col. Gregg became an Inspector General. In Dec., 1944, he was transferred to the India, Burma Theatre as Advanced Section IG at Ledo, India.

Col. Gregg returned home in 1946. In the summer of 1949 he was assigned overseas once again with the Military Advisory Group in Korea. His first assignment was as Senior Advisor to the 1st Infantry Regt. of the 7th ROK Div. In December, 1949, he became assistant advisor to the IG of the Korean Army, with station at Seoul. From Aug., 1950, until his departure from Korea in September, 1951, he was senior advisor to the Korean Adjutant General.

Col. Gregg was with the ROK Army during the initial phases of the invasion of South Korea. During the period of time that the forces were compressed in the Fusan Perimeter, he helped the Korean Army to organize the selective service and induction system that was used in rebuilding the Korean Army. Personnel administration for Koreans assigned to the American units was performed by the Korean Army Adjutant General under his supervision.

The Republic of Korea honored him with the Distinguished Military Service Medal, and he received commendations from the ROK Minister of National Defense and the Chief of Staff of the Korean Army.

Use Caution When Using Insecticides

With spring house-cleaning and the anti-moth battle under way, housewives all over Texas have been using insecticide sprays. Because most of these are poisonous and some are inflammable, special precautions noted on the labels should be observed, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox,

State Health Officer.

Common sense safety rules include protection of food, dishes, silverware and cooking utensils from moth, mosquito or fly sprays. If you spill concentrated insecticide solutions on yourself, wash off immediately with soap and water.

Don't expose yourself or members of your family unnecessarily to insecticide dust or spray mists. Provide extra ventilation by opening doors and windows when extensive jobs are being done.

Care should be taken not to spray liquid insecticides into electrical outlets or on exposed electrical connections because of danger of short circuits. Don't apply oil-base sprays near fire, flame or sparks and don't smoke while applying them.

Special precautions should be taken to store insecticides where children will not be able to reach them. Never put into a kitchen cupboard where they might be mistaken for food.

Deer Herd Test Ready To Begin

Austin — First steps already have been taken to comply with the new state law authorizing possible experimental harvest of a limited number of female deer as a means of balancing deer herds in three Hill Country counties.

The Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission said Eugene Walker, Wildlife Biologist who has been specializing in big game management, has been assigned to the new project. He will shortly move with his family from Austin to establish headquarters in Kerrville.

Under the law, passed by the 1953 Legislature, closely supervised harvesting of surplus deer is permitted in Gillespie, Mason and Kerr counties. The experiment is authorized for four years beginning this year.

The Executive Secretary said it was uncertain as to whether the program could be advanced in time to permit actual starting of the supervised harvest during the 1953 big game season, opening November 16.

The plan was sponsored by ranchers and wildlife technicians as a means of stabilizing the deer population. The Executive Secretary explained that there is only so much food available and that excess population of big game works to the general detriment of the herds. He pointed out that many sates have found regulated taking of female deer, where the sex ratio is out of balance, to be sound conservation practice.

Under the program authorized by the Legislature, final decision shall be permitted is left up to the County Commissioners'

Court. Meanwhile, herd surveys will be made, meetings arranged with interested land owners and the ground generally laid for the new undertaking.

Lockjaw Increases In Summer Months

Austin — Increasing numbers of lockjaw will develop between now and fall, State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox warned today, despite known measures of prevention.

Lockjaw, or tetanus, cases jump in summertime because exposures in the form of cuts, scratches, or puncture wounds are more frequent in warm weather when people are out-of-doors.

The germs of lockjaw are commonly found in soil — especially manured soil. They enter through a skin break and emit a deadly toxin which causes jaw and neck muscles to contract so severely that jaws involuntarily close, vice-like.

Slowly the muscle constriction spreads to other body muscles until the victim is bent like a bow. A fatal case of the disease has been traced to a scratch from a rose thorn.

Lockjaw germs are spore-formers, which means they can live for years outside an animal body. Its life processes lie dormant in a tiny seed-like pod, sitting about on the ground until finally, perhaps through a silver or nail scratch, it gets back into live tissue.

The wound may heal, but inside, protected as it is from air, the spore will begin "revegetating" and emitting deadly toxin.

Farmers are especially vulnerable to lockjaw, Dr. Cox cautioned, because the primary source of lockjaw germs is the intestinal tract of farm animals. They are passed onto the ground in animal dejecta, easily available for re-entry into a human body when that body is cut or scratched or otherwise wounded.

Exposures to lockjaw are so common that it is mere common sense for everyone to maintain a high level of protection via immunization. Dr. Cox called this method of gaining immunity "simple and convenient." He said immunizing shots should be given children early in life, at the discretion of the family physician.

"You can't go to a doctor with every little scratch," he emphasized, "so the best way to handle it is to take an immunizing series of shots, and keep the immunity level high with periodic 'booster' shots."

Visiting with Mrs. B. M. McCain and Louie were Mrs. McCain's sister, Mrs. Jack Smith of Brownwood and her niece, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Mashburn of Austin.

Cat Curb Effectuated With Shot-Gun

Austin — Between-season shooting that helps keep the hunter's eyes sharp and also helps protect game birds is described in the current issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine. The article by Edward D. Hyman is entitled "Don't Put That Gun Away."

Hyman tells about varmint shooting which is permitted to varying degrees in most counties and emphasizes the need for cracking down as follows:

"One of the greatest game destroying predators, the wild house cat, can be found in any part of Texas, usually in large numbers.

"For many reasons, the wild house cat has become a real threat to our game birds. Young quail, being much easier to catch than mice and rats, have made the call of the wild sound like sweet music to the thousands of farm cats which have deserted the barns for the meadows.

"Another reason cats have become so numerous in the field is that many city dwellers, when they find Tabby with a litter of kittens, take the unwanted new additions of the household out to the country and turn them loose in some farmer's field to fend for themselves.

"This they do very well! The farmer could tell you, in a few short and possibly unprintable words, the effect they have on quail population and frequently his young chickens."

Hyman points out that Texans pursuing varmint hunting had better check the local game warden to determine which predators are most prevalent in different areas.

Mr. and Mrs. John Allen Todd and Frank returned Sunday to their home at Dumas, after a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Todd. John Allen and Frank came early last week and Mrs. Todd, who is attending Canyon State College, came Thursday night and they visited her people at Goldthwaite. Mr. and Mrs. Roger George and son of Brady visited Saturday with them in the Todd home here.

Mrs. Bill French returned home Sunday night from Tyler, where she had been to attend the funeral services for her brother-in-law, Thomas Woods, who died last week of acute leukemia, after only a three weeks illness. He was buried at Lindale. Mr. Woods was well known here, having been reared in this vicinity.

The OASIS on your route

The traveler of ancient times sought rest and refreshment at an oasis on his route.

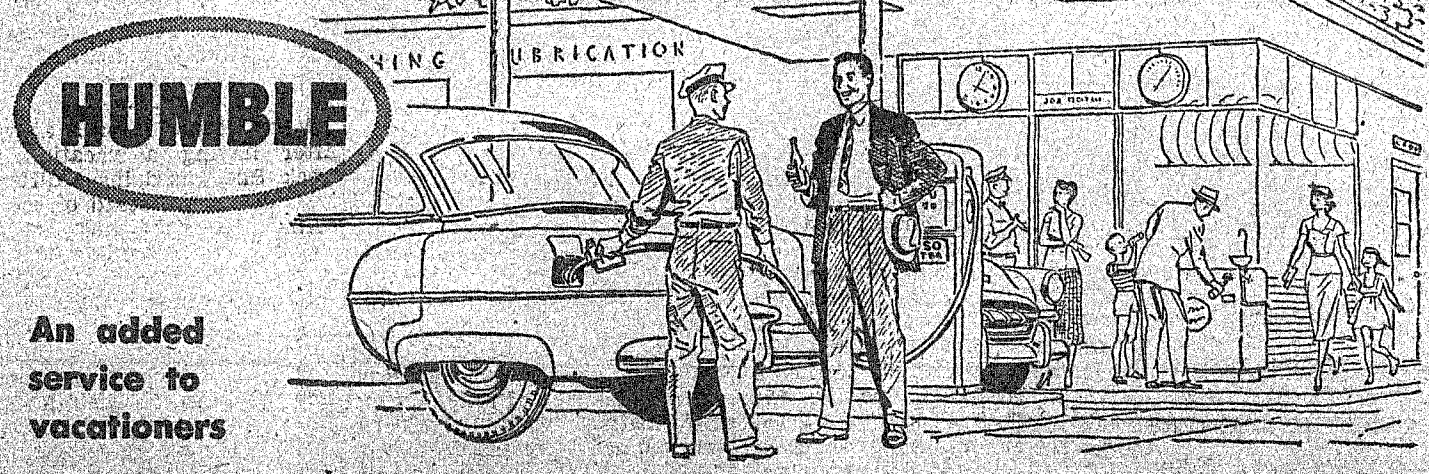

So does the traveler of modern times . . . he stops at an oasis that prepares his automobile for another hundred miles or more of driving . . . at an oasis that provides ice water and a chance to stretch . . . at an oasis that offers clean and sanitary rest rooms . . . at an oasis where our traveler can give and get a friendly greeting.

Today's oasis is the service station on the American highway.

It makes your trip. It provides your contact with the country through which you're driving. On its driveway you feel at home; you get the impression wherever you stop, that this is your America.

Not one service station, but thousands of them. All along the highways you'll find them staffed and equipped to give your car the expert care it requires, to make your brief visits on their driveways comfortable and pleasant.

The service station where you buy gasoline and motor oil is your chief contact with the American oil industry. It is probably an individual enterprise; and it competes to give you better service and better products than another station down the street or on the other side of town. No small part of the oil industry's progress in the service of the motorist finds final expression on service station driveways.

Our
WASHINGTON
Letter
By Congressman
O. C. FISHER

The drought in Texas continued to be the top problem on the domestic front so far as many Texas Congressmen are concerned. Last week the House committee on Agriculture spent two days hearing witnesses describe the worst drought in recorded history. Penrose Metcalfe, head of the Sheep & Goat Raisers, told of the parched ranges, the exhausted credit and the empty feed bins. R. J. Nunnally of Sabinal told of the same conditions, aggravated by the lowest cattle prices in years.

Nunnally urged a government purchase program whereby surplus cattle in the disaster area would be bought, slaughtered and the meat consumed at home or abroad. One suggestion was that the meat be traded to Korea for Korean currency instead of trading American dollars for that native currency. It was pointed out by Congressman Bob Poage that the United States, in its military and civilian operations in Korea, is forced to buy a considerable amount of Korean currency. Why not, he asked, trade surplus American meat instead of American dollars, for that currency? It was said this could actually save the American taxpayers some money. True D. Morse, Undersecretary of Agriculture, indicated there has been no decision made on this issue in that Department.

Among all the relief suggestions that have been made before committees and before the Department of Agriculture, no one has yet suggested a recurrence of the old Henry Wallace cattle slaughter program whereby the animals were killed and no use made of the meat.

On Friday of last week President Eisenhower declared the drought section as a "major disaster area" in Texas, and left it up to Secretary of Agriculture Benson to decide what should be done in the way of relief. In my conversations with the Secretary, he has expressed deep sympathy for the problem and promised some early decisions. I have urged that cottonseed feed, owned by the government, be sold to consumers in the disaster area at not more than $52 per ton, delivered, and that an emergency credit plan be devised whereby long-term loans at low interest rates could be made to disaster victims to enable them to work and grow themselves out of their dilemma. Meanwhile, the House passed a bill, previously unanimously approved by the Senate which gives 37 million bushels of government-owned wheat to drought-stricken Pakistan. It was an outright gift. I voted against it in protest against a policy of apparently recognizing drought disasters as being more serious when they occur in foreign lands than right here at home. In reminding the House that our citizens do not ask for gifts but only for feed at reasonable prices and loans with reasonable rates and terms in keeping with extraordinary conditions, I stated: "This legislation should serve to remind all of us that drought victims are not to be found only in Pakistan. We have victims right here at home—victims who are helping pick up the check which makes this gift to Pakistan possible."

LET'S TALK
LIVESTOCK
BY TED GOULDY

Fort Worth — Lighter receipts of livestock and some clouds and showers in the territory gave the cattle trade a stimulus at Fort Worth Monday. Most cattle and calves were 50 cents to $1 higher and some cows and some calves were $1 to $1.50 above the low time last week. Receipts at Fort Worth were 20 percent under a week earlier and the nation's 12 major markets reported 11 percent fewer cattle and calves.

Hog prices were firm with top hogs at $26, and sows at $20 to $23. Pigs drew $20 downward. Most classes of sheep and lambs were steady, except feeder lambs were slow and some sales weaker.

Good and choice fed steers and yearlings cashed at $17 to $22, and common and medium sorts sold from $9 to $16, with cull yearlings at $6 to $8.

Fat cows sold from $3 to $12-50, some heiferish kinds upwards to $13 to $14. Cannors and cutters drew mostly $6 to $8. Bulls sold from $7 to $13, odd head reaching $13.50.

Good and choice slaughter calves cleared at $13 to $18.50, while common and medium butcher calves sold from $9 to $13, and culls sold for $6 to $9.

Good and choice stocker steer calves drew $12 to $16.00, and stocker steer yearlings moved at $10 to $15. Heifer calves and heifer yearlings sold generally $2 to $3 under comparable steers. Stocker cows were considerably more active at $7 to $10.

Good and choice fat lambs sold for $17 to $23, and common to medium sorts drew $10 to $14, with culls from $5 to $10. Stocker and feeder lambs bulked at $10 to $15. Stocker ewes drew $5 to $7, slaughter ewes sold from $3.50 to $4.50.

Fat yearlings wethers sold from $10 to $14, and feeder yearlings cashed at $10 down. Old wethers sold from $6 to $8, and two-year-olds cashed at $10 down.

M/Sgt. and Mrs. Shag Garrett and children of O'Donnell, arrived before the week end and he left Sunday morning with the S. A. National Guard to make the camp at Ft. Hood. In his absence, Mrs. Garrett will be visiting in the home of her mother, Mrs. Frank Turner, and with his mother, Mrs. Kate Garrett in Brownwood.

Marie Rouse is back at work after having a vacation last week. She was doing a different kind of work instead of resting. With some good help, and by working early and late, she managed to get quite a lot of papering and painting done at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vercher have returned to their home in Ft. Worth after spending most of their two weeks vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Priddy and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Vercher at Shield. Martha Priddy of Howard Payne also visited with the home folks, while they were here.

They celebrated at the depot the other day because old No. 6 came in on time. Then they discovered the train was a day late.

Safety Committee
Warns Against Grass Fires

College Station — The continued hot, dry weather is not only cutting down the potential crop production of the state but the danger from grass and woodland fires poses a real threat to the livestock feed that is produced on the pastures and ranges. This forage is needed now as never before not only to feed livestock but in areas where the drought has not been broken fires could practically wipe out many range plant species.

The State Farm and Ranch Safety Committee headed by J. Walter Hammond of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation and E. C. Martin of the Agricultural Extension Service strongly urges every citizen of the state to be doubly careful with fire as long as the dry weather continues. They point out that most fires are caused by carelessness and the failure on the part of people to observe fire safety rules. Grass and other plants along the highways, in parks, woodlands, pastures and ranges are all dry enough to burn and motorists are specifically asked to make sure that matches, cigarettes, cigars and pipe ashes are dead before they are thrown on to material which will burn.

The agricultural leaders point out that the livestock industry of the state is basically dependent upon grasslands for its existence and with livestock prices what they are at the present, every producer must depend more than ever on grass to keep down costs. A blackened range caused by carelessness could be the final blow that would put a producer or producers out of business. On June 1, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics reported the condition of range and pasture feed in Texas as 75 percent of normal — the lowest reported condition on this date since 1925. This fact is all the more reason, say the leaders, why range and pasture fires must be kept under control.

In order to protect our cheapest source of livestock feed, the committee urges community and county groups to organize for the specific purpose of fighting grass fires. They believe the local neighborhood groups should be coordinated on a community and county basis so that if necessary, an effective fighting force could be gotten together in the shortest possible time in case of a major fire. All equipment should be inventoried so no time would be lost in getting the right equipment to a fire.

They point out that ranges and pastures should be protected with wire guards. Hazards that might cause fires should be eliminated. Glass bottles have started fires. They act as a magnifying glass and when the sun's rays reach the proper angle, almost any bottle may concentrate the heat from the sun sufficiently to ignite dry grass.

Trash should be burned in a closed incinerator and no fire should be started that cannot be controlled. Motorists are urged to be on the lookout for fires and to report them if found. A small fire can usually be put out before it has a chance to spread but if unchecked, it may be out of control before it is discovered.

The leaders believe the situation is critical enough in many sections of the state to warrant action now. Don't wait, they say, until scarce livestock feed is lost before commencing a grass fire control program.

Mrs. Bill Darr, the former Mary Field Mathews, and her two children of Alton, Ill., arrived Monday for a visit with her father, J. C. Mathews, and Mrs. Mathews. She has her orders from Washington to sail July 14 for Japan to join her husband.

Roy Voss, who has been a patient in the Veterans Hospital at Temple for several years, is here for a two weeks stay among old friends and relatives. He was a pleasant caller at the News Office Monday morning and renewed his subscription to The News. He is looking very well and gets about quite well.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Golston returned at Sunday noon from Quanah, where they had gone on Thursday to attend an old settlers reunion.

Local Council Of Church Women Has Regular Meeting

On Monday afternoon, June 29th, the Santa Anna Council of Church Women met in the annex of the First Christian Church at 3 p. m. with the women of that church as hosts.

Because of sorrow and sickness in the community, and the rain, the attendance was not as good as usual and two numbers on the program were omitted because the ones to give them could not be present.

Miss Kathryn Baxter greeted the guests at the door. Linda Moore played variations of religious melodies as a prelude to worship and the accompaniment for the singing by the group of "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," after which "The Lord's Prayer" was repeated.

Mrs. Norval Wylie gave an interesting devotional based on Matthew Gospel with appropriate comments.

Mrs. Preston Bailey, who for several months past, has directed a study of Africa for the Woman's Council gave a highlight review of the studies which was well received.

At the conclusion of the program a short business session was held with Miss Betty Blue, president of the Council of Church Women, presiding. Mrs. L. O. Garrett read the minutes of last meeting. It was announced the next meeting, August 31, the fifth Monday in that month will be with the Methodist Ladies.

Mrs. Garrett conducted a mixer by having those present draw the names of husbands and wives of the Bible, as refreshment partners. Mrs. D. H. Moore, refreshment chairman, was assisted in serving generous slices of angel food cake, and tall Fosteria glasses of lime-pineapple punch, by Mrs. Clifford Stephenson, Mrs. Garrett, Mrs. J. B. Scott and Linda Moore.

Trickham Home Dem. Met At Club Room

The Trickham H. D. Club had their regular meeting on Wednesday, June 24th, in the club room with the president, Mrs. Charles Flemings, presiding.

The meeting opened with singing led by a visitor, Mrs. John Perry of the Santa Anna Club.

Mrs. Oscar Boenicke gave the Council Report and Mrs. Harry Wilson reported on the upholstery school.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Harry Wilson, Bond Featherston, Oscar Boenicke, Charlie Flemings, Rachel Cupps, Albert Dean and Felton Martin—members, and the following visitors, Mrs. John Perry, Misses Peggy and Margie Flemings and Linda Driskill, by the hostess, Mrs. Bond Featherston.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Standley had all their family with them on Father's Day, when all together enjoyed a six o'clock dinner. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Rainbolt, Sr., of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Scott and sons, Coleman; Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Ralstin and Chiquita of Santa Monica, California. Mr. and Mrs. Ralstin returned home on Thursday of last week and Chiquita remained for the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Standley.

Campbell Family Get-To-Gether

Mrs. Tennie Campbell had the pleasure of having all her family at home with her last Sunday. Those from a distance were: her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Sims of Cushing, Oklahoma; Mrs. Sims daughter, Mrs. Ray Fisher and baby of San Angelo and Mrs. Billy Joe Sims of Brownwood. Santa Anna members of the family present were: Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Campbell and Linda; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Campbell and Johnny Pat; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Campbell and Carolee and a friend of Carolee's Linda Lawrence.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Grant and Kenneth moved their household goods to Ft. Worth the first part of the week, where Mr. Grant has been employed for the past year.

Holt - Hughes

On Tuesday, June 23rd, Miss Nancy Lou Holt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holt of Coleman, became the bride of Lt. Martin Hughes, Jr., son of Mrs. Martin Hughes and the late Mr. Hughes, of Levi, Ky. They were married in the Battalion East Avenue Chapel, Ft. Hood, Texas. Rev. O. L. Savage performed the double ring ceremony at 7 o'clock in the evening. The couple's only attendants were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Holt.

The bride, a granddaughter of Mrs. John Pearce, of Santa Anna, is well known here.

After a wedding trip to Kentucky, the couple will make their home at Killeen. The bride is Post Librarian at Ft. Hood, where the groom is stationed.

Mankin - Watson

Miss Shirley Katherine Mankin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Mankin of Coleman, became the bride of James F. Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Watson of Santa Anna, on Sunday, June 21st. The ceremony was performed in Dallas. The couple returned to Santa Anna last week and have an apartment with Mrs. F. Z. Payne. The groom is employed in the oil fields in this vicinity.

Texans Warned Of Gun Danger

Austin — The first fatality of the 1953 game harvest prompted the Chief Clerk of the Game and Fish Commission to remind Texans of the hazards afield.

According to Game Warden M. S. Dry of Eastland, the victim was a 37-year-old Ranger woman, who was shot while squirrel hunting. His information was that she was with another woman and the latter's sons, age seven and ten.

Dry's report stated they were maneuvering to shoot at a squirrel. It kept moving around a tree. Finally, one of the women handed a .22 rifle to the ten-year-old boy. In releasing the safety, the lad accidentally discharged the gun. The bullet killed the woman instantly.

Game wardens are helping the Commission maintain a record of the hunting toll in the hope that publicity of the tragedies will help make Texans more safety-conscious.

Prospects For Increase In Local Cotton Acreage

Cotton acreage under crop control allotments for most West Texas counties will be increased if a three-year average on cotton acres in cultivation is substituted for the present formula which is based on a five-year average.

Hearings are due to start in Washington before congressional committees during the coming week on House Bill 5655 and Senate Bill 2106, which propose the substitution widely supported by many western cotton growers.

Information developed by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce from records published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture show that all but 20 of 117 cotton-growing counties in West Texas would gain acreage by passage of these bills, largely because of new acreage put into cotton production during recent years.

The law now provides that allotments be based on an average acreage of five crop years — 1947, 1948, 1950, 1951 and 1952. The year of 1949 was specifically omitted.

The new proposal would change the basis to the three years of 1951, 1952 and 1953.

West Texas as a whole would gain 688,900 acres for 1954 if the new formula is approved by Congress. The WTCC urges every grower to give his Congressman his opinion of the more desirable formula.

Coleman County would be allotted 55,400 acres on the proposed three-year basis and 38,325 on the present five-year basis.

The big trouble with drink is that it makes too many people see double and act single.

Pulling out your watch to see what time it is won't stop a speaker nowadays. You got to shake the thing like you don't believe it's running.

There would be fewer accidents if drivers would keep their eyes on the car behind the car in front of them.

News Of The Local Christian Church

All services and activities of the church are being carried on as usual with an encouraging attendance and interest considering the hot weather we have been having.

Rev. E. H. Wylie our faithful pastor for many years, resigned recently because of continued ill health. His resignation was accepted with regrets. The church board has recently been reorganized with a full corps of elders, deacons and junior deacons.

Mr. George Richardson, who for 15 years has been the faithful superintendent of the Sunday School, has resigned and Doug Moore has been elected to that position.

On Wednesday night, June 24th, Rev. Thurman Morgan of Ft. Worth met with the church officials and other interested members at the church looking toward the placing of a T. C. U. student as pastor of the church. Arrangements were made for a student from Brite College of the Bible to serve us.

He will arrive on Friday, July 10, and preach twice on Sunday, July 12th.

Under this arrangement, students can leave for their appointments Friday noon and return for classes Tuesday morning.

All members of the congregation are reminded of the revival meeting to be held at the church, July 26-August 2nd with Rev. Phil Runner doing the preaching. Our new pastor will be here a part of that time.

Local Students Attend Southwestern College Assembly

Georgetown — Five Santa Anna High School students were among the more than 150 students from throughout Central Texas who attended the Senior Assembly held at Southwestern University in Georgetown, June 22-27.

The local students were Miss June Little, daughter of Mrs. A. B. Little; Miss Lois Shields, daughter of Mrs. E. D. Shields; Miss Mary Stiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Stiles; Wagon Upchurch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Upchurch of Route 1; and Miss Nancy Wylie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Wylie of Santa Anna.

The Assembly, which is sponsored each year by the Central Texas Conference of the Methodist Church, gives high school students the opportunity for fellowship, inspiration, and discussion under the guidance of leading Methodist ministers and teachers.

Daily Milk Delivery Planned For Santa Anna

Rex Haughawaut, owner and operator of Rex's Ice Company, this week announces plans to start a daily home milk delivery for Santa Anna. This is something we have not enjoyed here since about the beginning of World War Two.

Mr. Haughawaut wants everyone interested in the daily milk delivery to telephone him (see advertisement elsewhere in this issue) and let him know whether you are interested or not and approximately how much milk you would want each day. He will also deliver any of the other commodities he sells as he delivers the milk. If enough Santa Anna families are interested in the new adventure, he will start it as soon as possible.

Mrs. Lillie Ray and her granddaughter, Martha Ann Ray, left for Tyler last week, where they are visiting in the home of Mrs. Ray's daughter, Mrs. Warren Douglas and Mr. Douglas.

When your outgo exceeds your income your upkeep is your downfall.

Jumping to conclusions does not always end in happy landings.

Today the world isn't worrying so much about who's who, as it is what's what.

The hard of hearing are not so unfortunate as it might seem. They miss a lot of small talk.

DRAFT LAW AND REGULATIONS

The rights of men registered with a draft board are guarded by appeal regulations. Appeals from local board decisions are heard by four state appeal boards.

Both the national and state directors of Selective Service may appeal from the determination of a local board at any time.

A man registered with a board, any person who claims to be his dependent, his employer under certain circumstances, and others may appeal to the appeal board from any classification except a determination of physical or mental condition.

The registered man and others named in the above paragraph, in most cases, are allowed only 10 days from date a notice of classification is mailed to file the appeal. Regulations allow a longer period, from 30 to 60 days, when the man is in certain U. S. territories, foreign countries, or on the high seas.

The local board may allow appeals beyond these time limits if it is satisfied that the failure of the person to appeal within the period was due to lack of understanding or to some cause beyond control of the person.

The person who desires to appeal must file written notice with the board. The notice need not be any particular form but must state the registrant's name, and identity of person appealing. If a registrant is registered with a Texas board and is working or living in California, for example, he may appeal to a California appeal board if he wishes.

If the registrant is placed in a class available for military service (1-A) by the appeal board, and there is a dissenting vote, he may appeal to the President of the United States.

Keep The Figure Trim With Milk

Austin — On a diet? Then try plain ice cream. But no "fluffs" or "frills" please.

This was the advice this week of George M. Clarke, executive vice-president of the Dairy Products Institute, which this month is sponsoring June Dairy Month in Texas.

Clarke said that recent nutrition studies at Cornell University showed that plain ice cream made an excellent lunch for a reducer.

But be sure, he warned, it's just plain ice cream without chocolate sauce, nuts, whipped cream or syrups.

A dish of ice cream, he pointed out, contains between 200 and 400 calories, the amount depending on the size of the scoop and the richness of the cream.

These figures are well within the limits of a lunchtime allowance for those trying to "keep that figure" or those trying to reduce.

Tests conducted by Dr. A. C. Dahlberg of the Cornell Experiment Station have proved conclusively that an ice cream lunch has high nutritional value in protein and important minerals and vitamins — yet won't add to the waist line, Clarke said.

Too, a dish of ice cream is ideal for reducers with a limited lunch period. "Since ice cream can be obtained at any restaurant or soda fountain, it's an easy answer for those who have not the time to search through a long menu seeking non-fattening foods," he explained.

Wardens Save Prize Catfish

Austin — Hey, there, you fisherman with the trot line on the east shore of Lake Travis; you who found a twelve pound blue catfish wired to your line!

Here's how that happened:

Game Warden Supervisor John R. Wood of Brownwood, and Game Warden Gene Ashley of Austin, were dragging Travis for illegal fishing equipment when they checked your line with the legal thirty hooks. That big cat was barely hanging by skin on its cheek. They boated it and used galvanized wire to make it secure to the line.

By the way, Sir, the wardens suggest you should sharpen hooks and also watch the rust.

Wood didn't feel too badly about the incident. He's a Boy Scout Executive. Anyway, all wardens try to watch out for the good deeds. Better public relations, you know.

Anglers Snub Edible Drum

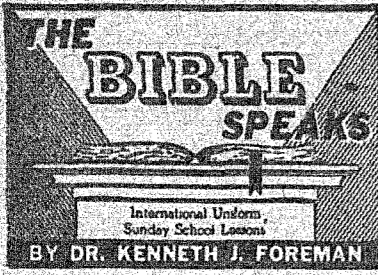

Rockport — The Chief Marine Biologist of the Game and Fish Commission suggested that Gulf coast fishermen are passing up a good proposition in not catching drum fish.

He quoted Marine Biologist Ernest Simmons as reporting that an overpopulation of drum, particularly in the Laguna Madre, is menacing the existence of more popular species such as trout and redfish.

The Chief Marine Biologist said drum, especially those under ten pounds, have a high table value. He added that the smaller drum are just as good fighters as trout. Reid suggested guides, boat owner and tourist court operators could cooperate against drum.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Fletcher and Adrian of Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thigpen of Ft. Worth have been visiting a few days here with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thigpens and Ralph. The Fletchers also visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Fletcher.

Fred Shields, who has been quite ill and a patient in the Santa Anna Hospital for nearly a week, was moved to his home on Saturday considerably improved and is able to be up and around.

God Is Righteous

Lesson for July 5, 1953

MAYBE it is because righteous is not a singable word. (Is there any rhyme for it?) Maybe it is because the word has a hard ring to it in some ears. It seems to suggest something rigid and un-beautiful, like a poker or a fence-post. Anyway, for some reason or other, we do not hear much about God's being righteous. Words like "love" or "mercy" are used more often. We hear of the high and holy God, the almighty, or we hear of the loving Father of all. But we do not hear often enough of the God who first and last and always is the righteous God.

Dr. Foreman

A Righteous God Or None

The Bible's God is a righteous God. But the writers of the Bible did not shiver when they wrote that word. They did not believe and tremble, they believed and were glad. In fact, nobody who gives the question the serious thought it deserves would be interested in God if he were not righteous. An un-righteous God would be no God at all but a kind of devil. Righteousness means being right, first of all. It means seeing things as they are, seeing past the surface to the heart of things. No one who sees men and character dimly or crookedly can be righteous.

But righteousness is more than being right. It means being right-in-action. It includes being just and fair, though it is more than that, too. Some one might be fair because the rules compelled him to be. He might be fair to others so that they in turn would be fair to him. Righteousness means not only justice in act, but justice in desire. It means the love of justice and not only the practice of it. Righteousness—the Bible word—in addition means dependability. The original meaning of the word was simply "straight."

Justice For All

God is like man in one respect. His actions speak louder than his words. The writers of the Bible, Old Testament and New, more often speak of God's righteous acts than of his righteous words. It remained for the Apostle Paul to sum up the case for God's righteousness. It is shown, he says—demonstrated, that is to say—in two ways. These two ways are enlarged on in the early chapters of Romans as well as elsewhere in Paul's writings.

First of all, the justice of God expresses His righteousness. God is no " respecter of persons," in other words, He plays no favorites. Paul's own people, the Jews, had misunderstood what it meant to be the "chosen" people. They had supposed it meant they were God's favorites, though the prophets had long tried to explain that "chosen" meant chosen for service, appointed. Some people today think that "Nordics" or Americans or some other group is God's chosen people. His favorites, His pets so to speak. No, the Bible teaching is that in God's sight all men stand on an equal footing.

Redemption For All

If this were all that could be said, we of the human race would be in a hopeless hole. As Paul shows, the fact that God treats all men alike in the long run, is no comfort at all; it only means that the verdict "GUILTY" must be pronounced on us all. Comparing what we are with what we ought to be, not even we ourselves can honestly say much for ourselves. If God's righteousness were nothing but an even-handed justice, it would be a searing flame. But it is more. The other way God shows His righteousness is in His mercy, in His coming to us in Christ. He has made salvation—that is, the setting-free from the deadly whirling wheeling of sin and destruction—He made this free to all. He forces mercy on no one. But if He offered mercy and forgiveness only to a selected few—for that matter, only to a selected many—then while He might be called merciful He could hardly be called righteous. If God saved everyone, regardless He would still not be righteous. He saves those who have faith, that is, those who humbly accept what they realize they can never earn—the transforming love of God. For one of the glorious things about God is that He is not only righteous—He shares His righteousness.

what did Mr. Smith do to make the probating of his estate so complicated?

When Albert Charles Smith was born, the attending physician filed a birth certificate with that name. During his school "Al."

Mr. Smith went to college, and decided that his name would look more distinguished if he wrote it "A. Charles Smith," and he was so regarded. His college diploma carried that name.

Starting out in business, Mr. Smith took a job that required him to write his signature many times a day. To simplify the work, he signed his name "A. C. Smith." His bank account and telephone number were recorded that way. Mr. Smith lost part of his identity, since there were 11 A. C. Smiths listed in his telephone book.

Mr. Smith decided to get married, and he rushed to the Clerk of District Court to get his license. Without giving the matter much thought, he told the clerk his name was "Charles Smith." The name was recorded on his marriage certificate.

Mr. Smith bought a house, and the lawyer who handled the transaction asked for his full name. The deed was filed under the name "Albert Charles Smith."

A life insurance agent had previously written a policy for Mr. Smith under the name, "Al C. Smith." During his middle life Mr. Smith took out other policies from another agent, and all of them carried the name,

"Albert C. Smith." He took a position with a railroad and appeared on the pension roll as "A. C. Smith."

Mr. Smith owned some securities and several pieces of real estate, and they were listed under various combinations of his name.

Then Mr. Smith made his will under the name of "Albert C. Smith." A year later he died. That is when his attorney started work to find out who Mr. Smith was. Mr. Smith's heirs now probably will have to sign affidavits to show that all of the names he used during his lifetime belong to Albert Charles Smith, and that he had interests in the properties listed under the various combinations of his name.

What's in your name? Every person should use the name appearing on his birth certificate and should make sure that all documents which have a legal bearing, such as school diplomas, deeds to property, certificates of stock and bond ownership, and insurance policies, carry the same name. This often will avoid complications in the probating of an estate.

A NEW LOOK AT THE DROUTH

The Southwest — and Texas in particular — is still locked in the searing hot grip of the drouth.

No one is more conscious of this fact, nor feels its effects more than our state farmers and ranchers. Every day, untold thousands more dollars in crop and beef production are paid in tribute to the merciless sun.

The drouth made its appearance over three years ago. Record high temperatures in June ushered in the threat much earlier than last year. What will be its effect on yields and dollar gains in 1953?

Although it is too early to accurately predict actual money losses, a look at the cotton and cattle situation gives an advance picture as to what we may expect.

Judging from conditions of late June, Texas farmers will be fortunate if their 1953 cotton production equals last year's 3,808,000 bales. And last year was far from being "normal" since the state is capable of raising nearly 6 million bales.

Without immediate additional moisture in our cotton areas, we may expect the present production outlook of some 3,800,000 bales to fall off even more before the official U.S.D.A. forecast is released August 8.

The cattle situation is grim. All cattle shipping points report unusually heavy movements as ranchers continue to unload beef from ranges growing increasingly unfit for grazing.

Receipts of cattle at the Fort Worth market in recent weeks have been from 50 to 90 per cent above those of a year ago. And in most cases, the stock is low-grade slaughter cows, yearlings and stocker yearlings. The same is true of all 12 major cattle shipping points in Texas.

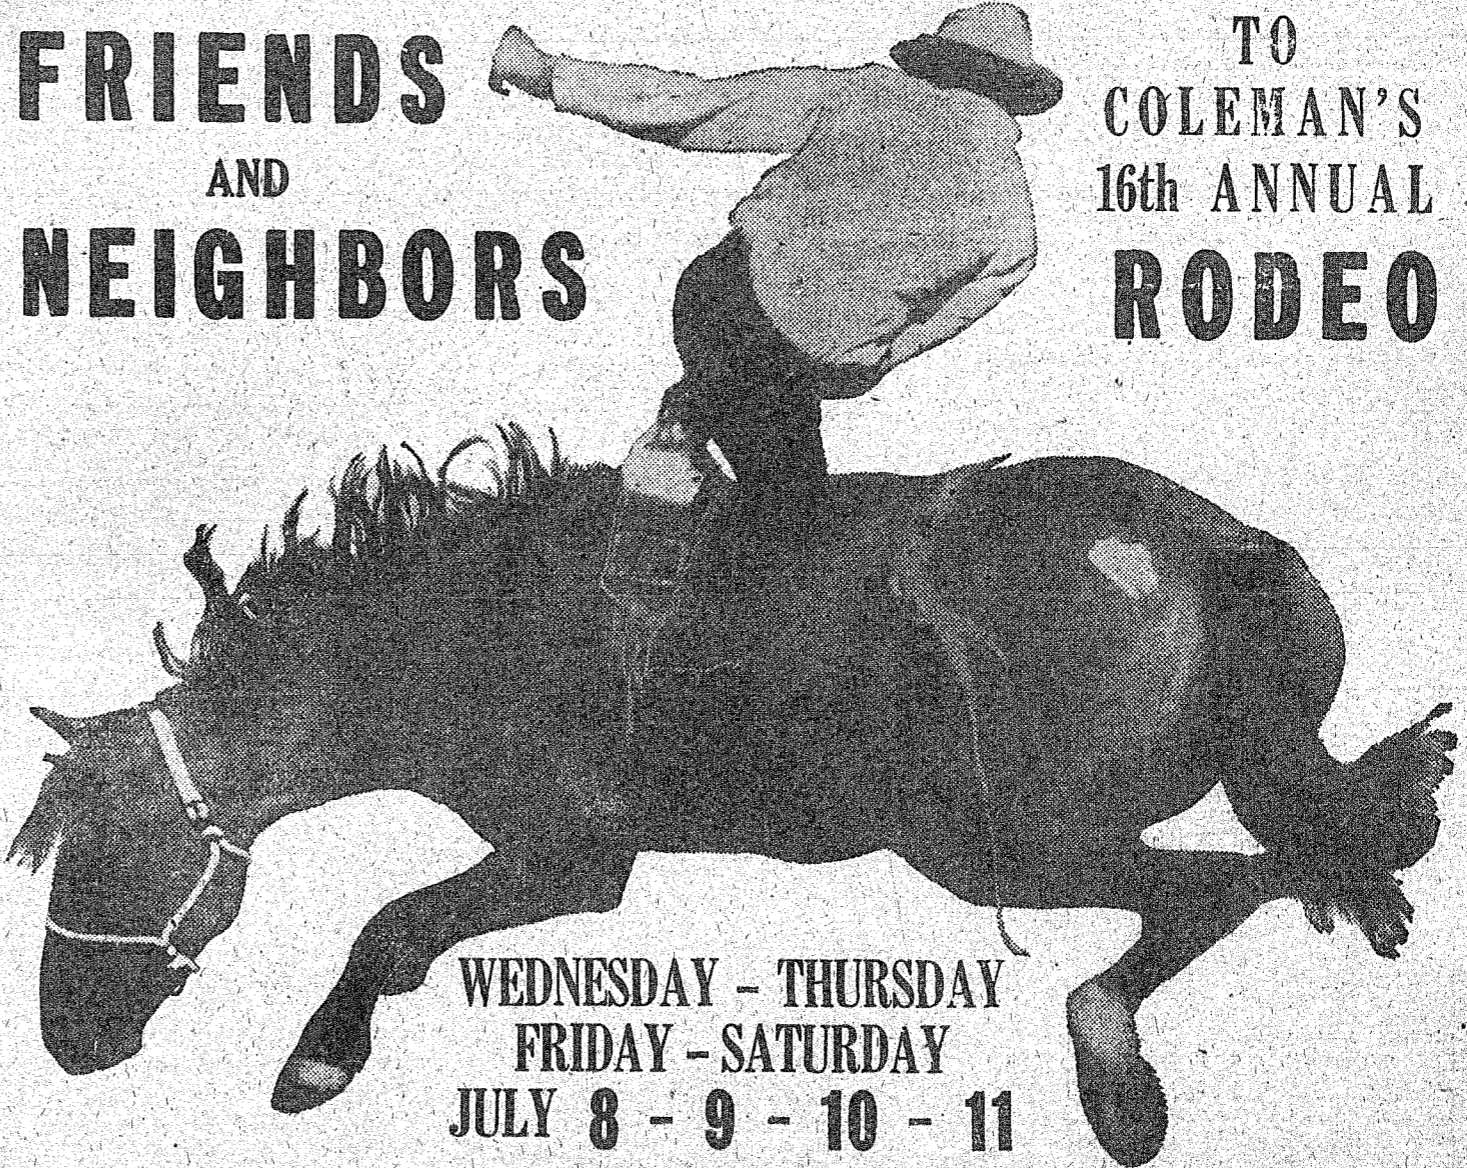

One day last month, cattle receipts at a large Texas market totaled 10,500 head — the greatest number received at that point since August 8, 1934.

These two commodities alone — cotton and cattle — indicate it is time for farmers and ranchers to tighten their belts. Once again we may have to look for disaster relief from the federal government. The movement is underway now to secure help for our stricken agriculture. If aid is secured from a sympathetic government, we will once more surmount the mounting obstacle of drouth.

USE YOUR LEGAL NAME.
AVOID TROUBLE

What's in a name?
Legally, this is a practical and important question. Many people do not use their legal names, and this is apt to cause confusion and extra expense in legal proceedings. Every grown person should use the name given him by his parents and appearing on his birth certificate for all business and legal matters.

Take the hypothetical case of Albert Charles Smith. When he died and his lawyer filed the petition of probate for his estate, the petition was entitled, "In the Matter of the Estate of Albert Charles Smith, also known as Al C. Smith, also known as Charles Smith, also known as A. Charles Smith, and also known as A. C. Smith."

Cong. Fisher Opposes Printing By P. O. Dept.

Statement of Congressman O. C. Fisher in Support of H. R. 573 and H. R. 2688 before the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service, June 25, 1953.

Mr. Chairman, I want to thank you and members of the Committee for the opportunity to present to you a brief statement in support of H. R. 573 and H. R. 2688. The broad purpose of these bills is to restrict the merchandising of printing by the Post Office Department. Opposition to Government printing is mainly a matter of principle rather than monetary consideration.

This Committee has recommended serious restrictions on the size and weight of parcel post packages based on the premise that the Post Office Department is competing with private industry. As Mr. Charles B. Curtis, Vice Chairman and General Manager of the Citizen's Committee for the Hoover Report, said in July of 1947, the matter of printing envelopes by the Post Office is the same sort of competition which costs the tax-payers many millions of dollars.

When the Post Office Department started this service, around 1880, printing plants were scattered over wide areas, and there were Post Offices in nearly every hamlet and village in the country and there was no way to get printed envelopes. But that has changed. The printing plants have served and are now serving the people adequately.

This Committee has held many hearings on bills to increase postal rates because of the Post Office deficits. My position is that if we are not going to prohibit the printing of the return address by the Post Office Department, which is competing with private business and which is setting up an unfair price yardstick, then let us insist upon a price which is comparable to private industry. Certainly, with another anticipated Post Office deficit, we should not be too concerned if this particular service returns more than the cost to the Post Office Department.

It is said by those who oppose this legislation that the people who buy these stamped envelopes can buy them so much cheaper from the Government. The question involved, then, is how far are you going in having the Government perform services as against private enterprise.

There is no magic trick to the Government's ability to undersell every printer. The small local printer cannot buy paper in vast quantities as does the Government; he is not exempt from taxation and social security; he must pay rent and other operating costs; and certainly he must make a profit or else go out of business. I am opposed to this Government service which is in direct competition with a large segment of small industry in America.

Texas Longhorn Caverns Third Largest In World

Burnet — Texas Longhorn Cavern, third largest cave in the world, is finally about to come of age as one of the state's prime tourist attractions, H. H. (Hob) Galloway, manager of the cavern, declared Saturday.

Cavern visitors will total more than 250,000 long before the cave's 21st anniversary as a public showplace, Mr. Galloway predicted after studying attendance figures for past years. In fact, the quarter-millionth visitor probably will pass through the famous Sam Bass entranceway some time in July, he said.

When the cavern was first opened for public inspection by the State of Texas back in the fall of 1932, after four years of development, few people even knew about it except the folks who lived in this area — like Mr. Galloway and his boyhood friends who used to play hide and seek in the dark reaches of the cave.

"We were a little off the beaten track then," recalled Mr. Galloway, who is also president of a bank, former mayor and a director of the Burnet Chamber of Commerce.

But today heavy tourist traffic streams down U. S. Highway 281, a direct Canada-to-Mexico route. And many tourists take time out to visit the cavern, reached by a paved road which enters Longhorn Cavern State Park at a point four miles south of Burnet.

"We're getting people from every state in the union now," Mr. Galloway said, "and you'd be surprised how many Texans visit the cavern and are amazed when they see what a spectacular natural wonder it is."

"We figure it's really unusual when a Texan is amazed at something that's in Texas."

This summer, Mr. Galloway estimates that more than 5,000 tourists and resorters a month will visit the cavern.

Two miles of the cavern have been developed and modern illumination installed to bring out all its natural subterranean beauty. Guides relate all of the cave's romantic legends of Indians, desperadoes and buried treasure.

Visitors are royally entertained and filled with cavern lore at the same time.

News From The State Health Department

Austin — Taking note of the approach of the great patriotic national holiday, July 4th, which this country has celebrated for one hundred and seventy-seven years, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, calls the attention of the citizens of Texas to some of the dangers of careless celebrating. Each year on the 5th of July, one always reads of the appalling number of accidents which occurred over the Fourth.

It is not alone the wounds received from explosives that increase our death toll. Injuries from automobile accidents, splinters, nails and other penetrating wounds in which dirt may be carried into the skin, heighten the hazard of tetanus or lockjaw. Such wounds should be promptly treated by a physician.

If the days pleasure includes a swim, caution should be used and no attempt made to do more than your strength will permit. If a drowning takes place, artificial respiration should be started at once and continued until a doctor arrives.

Automobile accidents have usually one of three causes — exceeding the speed limit, driving on the wrong side or failing to grant the right-of way. It can be seen that the chief factor in auto accidents is the judgment of the driver. Caution should guide the holiday activities so that the day may be remembered with joy instead of sorrow.

Oil Helps Farmers In Many Ways

Even the Wright brothers may not have foreseen it, but this fiftieth anniversary year of the world's first powered flight finds aircraft firmly established as a multi-purpose implement of agriculture. Some 5,500 planes and nearly 2,000 commercial operators now engage in far-flung activities of weed and pest control, seeding, fertilizing, and leaf-stripping treatment.

In the United States aerial spraying has freed almost 3 million acres of range land from grasshopper threats. Aerial operations to control weeds and brush in millions of acres of pastures have aided the advance of grassland farming.

Aircraft find many other farm and ranch uses. Among them are:

the checking of crops and fallow lands, the chasing of birds from rice fields, and frost protection of fruit. Farmers and ranchers fly more than 12,000 of their privately-owned planes for these related purposes.

Aerial farming has several deep roots in petroleum. By developing high quality aviation fuels in large supply, oil companies have helped the solution of many problems of aircraft performance. Oil industry research has made petroleum a source of many deadly poisons needed for aerial spraying and dusting. Oil also serves as the carrier in many aerial sprays.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON-SERMON

The Lesson-Sermon in Christian Science churches this week is entitled "God". The Golden Text: "Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee, in heaven above, or on earth beneath, who keepest covenant and mercy with thy servants that walk before thee with all their heart" (I Kings 8:23).

Throughout the Psalms are found praises to God for His loving care, and one of these is included in the Lesson-Sermon: "Oh how great is thy goodness — which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men!" (31:19).

That this trust in the Father is warranted is proved countless times every day throughout the world — with the dissolving of discord, sin, and pain, through prayer. The acceptance of God's goodness is requisite, according to this citation in the Lesson-Sermon from the Christian Science textbook: "Not materially but spiritually we know Him as divine Mind, as Life, Truth, and Love. We shall obey and adore in proportion as we apprehend the divine nature and love Him understandingly, warning no more over the corporeality, but rejoicing in the affluence of our God" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 140).

TFBF Head Expresses Appreciation

Waco — J. Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, expressed his gratitude June 18 to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson for the decision to grant emergency loans on wheat stored on the ground. The USDA announced that the government would make these loans available in an effort to stabilize the declining grain market.

In a telegram to Benson, the head of the state farm organization stated that the decision would mean millions of dollars to wheat growers in the winter wheat belt of the southwest. Hammond had initiated action on the loan storage problem the previous week by asking the USDA to make loans available for grain stored in the open.

The price of wheat dropped as much as 10 cents per bushel a day — the limit for any one day — before the Farm Bureau President made his urgent request to the USDA. Prices had been declining steadily since the announcement by grain elevator men that storage for commodity loans was not available.

Hammond contended that storage was available, and that the announcement by the elevator operators had further depressed prices. The price of wheat shot up again 10 cents a bushel — the limit — on the day the USDA announced that the emergency loans would be made. A similar situation arose in 1949, and buyers were flooding the elevators with wheat bought at 30 cents below the loan figure. This was after an announcement by elevator men that no storage space was available because of a huge carry-over from the 1948 crop.

After exhausting all known means to alleviate the situation, in 1949, Hammond appealed directly to President Truman to permit loans on wheat piled in the open — hitherto thought impracticable. Secretary of Agriculture Brannon announced next day that loans would be made on such a basis. Almost immediately, the elevators were opened to farmers and very little wheat was actually piled on the ground.

News From The State Health Dept.

Austin — Commenting on the unusually high incidence of dysentery in Texas at the present time, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer described dysentery as being an infectious disease characterized by diarrhea, pain in the abdomen, and toxemia. It is caused by a specific bacteria or germ. These germs cause inflammation of the lining of the intestinal tract which produces pain throughout the abdomen and the discharge of many loose stools that frequently contain blood and mucous. Toxemia results from absorption of the poisonous substances produced by the germs.

"The germs gain entrance to the body through the mouth," Dr. Cox said, "and then make their way to the intestines in the same manner in which food does. When they reach the intestine they find conditions favorable to their growth, and there they establish themselves at the expense of the person infected and produce their harmful effects."

Dr. Cox warned that dysentery affects young children more often and more seriously than adults, frequently resulting fatally; however, he said it may occur at any age. It is usually more prevalent during the summer season, and the great number of cases now being reported are unusual for spring.

"The germ is always expelled with the excreta of persons sick with dysentery and may continue to be expelled for some time after the patient recovers from the disease. These persons who still discharge the germs after they recover are called carriers, and they occur more frequently in this disease than in the majority of other infectious diseases.

"Food protection and adequate sanitary measures are more urgently needed now than ever before if we control the potential possibilities of epidemic dysentery in this State."

Take Precautions Against Burglary When On Vacation

Austin — A warning to take precautions against a burglary when you start a vacation trip was issued today by the Texas Division of the American Automobile Association.

According to a statement by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the FBI, there are 47 burglaries every hour each day in the United States. The FBI chief said thieves are particularly fond of the vacation season when they can enter a house undisturbed.

The AAA advises that all prospective vacationers check this list to see that they have done everything possible to discourage prowlers from entering their homes while they're away:

1. Stop all deliveries of milk and your daily newspaper by phone or letter; don't leave a tell-tale note to advertise your departure.
2. Lock windows and doors and put your valuables in a safe-deposit box.
3. Arrange to have the lawn mowed if you're going to be away more than a week.
4. Leave the shades up as though you were at home.
5. Tell your neighbors and the police you'll be away; then a light or any unusual activity around your house will alert them.
6. Ask a neighbor to pick up any advertising pamphlets.
7. Wait until you return before notifying the society editor of your trip; burglars love to be notified in advance.
8. Remove anything stealable from the yard; garden tools, bicycles, wagons and toys, and lawn furniture.

The AAA says if the vacationer will heed these suggestions, the summer vacation trip will be more enjoyable and free from worry about a possible window being left open or a piece of valuable jewelry carelessly left on the dresser.

Rotary Hoe Popular With Cotton Producer

Texas cotton producers last year equipped almost four times as many tractors with rotary hoes as in 1949. The number jumped from 7,000 in 1949 to 26,000 in 1952. That word comes from Fred C. Elliott, cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and he says, the popularity of this equipment is due to its labor-saving value.

Reports from many of the 133 counties in which rotary hoes were used last year show that savings up to 60 percent were made on the chopping and hoeing bills in some sections of the state, Elliott says, hoeing and chopping account for about one-fourth of all the man hours required to produce a cotton crop and any practice, he adds, which will reduce this heavy labor load will leave more money for the producer after harvest.

The rotary hoe is especially good, says Elliott, for controlling the early weed growth, but the equipment must be properly adjusted and the tractor operated at the right ground speed for best results. The tractor should be operated in third gear at speeds up to five or six miles an hour. An experienced operator, under favorable conditions, can do a good job at even faster speeds, says the specialist.

The picker wheels should be set so they will break the surface crust to a depth of one-half to three-fourths of an inch. When properly adjusted, the picker wheels break up the surface crust and also tears up the soil so that seedling weeds and grass are exposed to the action of the sun and wind before they have a chance to come through the ground and before their root systems become established.

Don't make the mistake of reducing the ground speed of the tractor just because the stand of young cotton appears to be taking a beating. Elliott points out that tests made by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and demonstrations conducted by farmers show that damage does not occur if the rotary hoe is properly adjusted. For the cotton seed, he explains, was planted well below the regulated depth at which the picker wheels should be run and thus very little or no damage will occur.

Two other mechanical practices which have been successfully used in some parts of the state for cutting the hoeing and chopping bill are cross-cultivation and using a mechanical cotton chopper.

Local county agents can supply additional information on labor saving practices which may be used to cut the cost of producing cotton says Elliott.

Mrs. Barry Sullivan and her three boys, Barry, Patrick and Michael of Austin, left there by car Saturday driving to San Francisco, California. From there they will continue the journey by plane to Japan to join M/Sgt. Sullivan, the husband and father, who has recently been assigned to the far eastern headquarters in Tokyo. Mrs. Sullivan is the former Zelde Ruth Moseley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Moseley of Santa Anna, a frequent and recent visitor here.

Mr. and Mrs. K. I. Davis have returned to their home in Los Angeles, California, after visiting here in the home of her mother, Mrs. T. T. Perry and other relatives. Mrs. Perry, who has been sick, is doing better.

Quail Comeback Seen Probable

Austin — Officials of the Texas Game and Fish Commission, noting exceptional interest in Texas' depressed quail population at the annual game warden schools, assured the field men that public cooperation definitely can expedite rallying the bobwhites.

Warden concern over the quail problem, which became acute during the prolonged drought which apparently reached its peak last year, highlighted the annual classroom routine held in two periods at Bastrop State Park.

Commission authorities, particularly the Assistant Director of Wildlife Restoration (Ernest G. Marsh) emphasized that while there are mysterious cycle angles involved, quail propagation is controlled to a great extent by man-made conditions.

"The answer rests squarely upon proper conditions, which means food, cover and water," said the Assistant Director of Wildlife Restoration. "These may be provided by nature or they may be provided by the very civilization which has created so many hardships for quail as well as all species of wildlife."

It was concluded that the wardens, many of whom have distinguished themselves for conservation and restoration efforts, can do a good job working directly with the populace. They may help encourage joint movements by hunters and landowners to provide a favorable habitat for the quail. The birds which have long been a favorite in the annual fall shooting sport.

With this food, cover and water effort extended to the once prolific quail areas, the Assistant Director said the quail very likely will comeback in good time. "It is surprising," he said, "how the necessary brood stock will be found available and adequate when conditions become favorable again for reproduction."

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Williamson left early last week for Temple, where he is a patient in the veterans hospital. On Sunday, before they left, they had all their family together here. Mr. Williamson is scheduled to undergo throat surgery on Thursday of this week.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Bad Case of the "Zutters"

Our copyboy is out sick. So the editor (me) is taking over some of his chores—which include running the addressing machine on "mailing-out night."

Last week I didn't have the usual number of papers left over for sale at the office. Couldn't figure what had happened—until Chub Zimmer called to ask why he'd gotten 58 copies.

Then I realized—"Zimmer" is the last name the machine prints. Guess I forgot to turn it off... and it just kept grinding out Chub's name on all the remaining copies. That machine just didn't know when to stop.

From where I sit, people are like that sometimes. They often don't know when to stop. Like those who are prejudiced against someone with an accent, perhaps... or against someone who likes a cool bottle of beer with his supper. So, in these columns I try to persuade everyone to "throw the switch" on prejudice so it won't get repeated.

past few years a lot of discussion has been brought before the public reminding them of the big deficit in operation of the postal department. Naturally this deficit if taken care of out of tax money that all of us pay into the government. It has been claimed that the printing of the envelopes does not necessarily cost the government anything. This writer does not see how this can possibly be true, when they print them and deliver them at a cost far below what they can be bought plain for.

We want to compliment Congressman Fisher for the stand he is taking and hope that this is one deficit operation that can be removed from the operation of the Post Office Department.

QUESTION

Is it true that adding Fluorine to water prevents tooth decay?

ANSWER

Unquestionably so. Results of five year experiments show that in Grand Rapids, Michigan the new group of six year olds had 50% less tooth decay than their predecessors. In New York two neighboring towns were placed on trial — one city had fluorinated water while the other did not. Previously both towns used the same water supply. On the fifth year check on dental decay, the fluorinated water drinking children were forty percent less affected.

Considerable Red Tape Removed On Migratory Workers

If Texas cotton cannot be harvested by local labor this year and farmers are forced to contract for Mexican Nationals to get the job done, they will find a considerable amount of red tape snipped from old procedures, the Texas Employment Commission announced this week.

Effective July 1, the procedure, which originally took from five to six weeks to obtain Mexican Nationals, will be shortened to the extent that farmers will be able to get these workers in a week or ten days, TEC said.

Farmers desiring information concerning the contracting of Mexican Nationals should go to their nearest local Employment Commission office.
